2*dly*, I anſwer, That this Epiſtle was writ, not only to the Metropolis of Epheſus, but to he faithful in Chriſt Jeſus in the general, and more eſpecially to thoſe of the leſſer Aſia; among whom many might have been converted by Apollos, and others, and St. Paul might have only heard of it; he preaching only at Epheſus, and they of Aſia hearing the Goſpel, only by their reſort unto him there. See the Note on Acts 19. 10. Yea, he inſinuates, that this Epiſtle was read at Laodicea; and gives Order for the reading of t at Coloſſe, Col. 4. 16. See the Note there; t both which places he had never been, Col. . 1. And

3*dly*, From the Epiſtle of St. Paul to Timothy it appears, That a dangerous, and almoſt Epidemical Apoſtacy from the Purity of the Chriſtian Faith, happen'd among the Jewiſh Churches in Aſia; which verified St. Paul's Prediction concerning them, That after his departure, not only grievous Wolves ſhould enter in among them; but that among themſelves ſhould ariſe Men ſpeaking perverſe things, to draw away Diſciples after them, Acts 20. 29, 30. and made it proper for him, after eight Years abſence, to give Thanks to God for the ſtedfaſtneſs in the Faith, which he had heard of in the reſt. See 1 Theſſ. 3. 6.

Ver. 17. Πνεῦμα σοφίας, the Spirit of Wiſdom.] St. Paul having aſſerted the Neceſſity of the Revelation of the Spirit, that we may know the things that are freely given us of God, they being not naturally to be perceived; 1 Cor. 6. 2.---12. doth therefore pray, that the Spirit of Wiſdom, Knowledge, and Revelation, may be imparted to Chriſtians for that end.

Ver. 19. Τὸ ὑπερβάλλον μέγεθος τῆς δυνάμεως αὐτοῦ, the exceeding greatneſs of his Power.] Some interpret theſe two Verſes, of the Power of God, working Faith in Believers, making it equal to that which effected the Reſurrection of our Lord, and thence concluding, that we are meerly Paſſive, in the whole Work of our Converſion: But as this Power is not conſiſtent with Perſwaſion, and a rational Choice, and if it were exerted, would not render it praiſe-worthy in us to turn to God; nor could it truly, and properly be ſaid, that we turned, but only that we were turned to God: ſo is not this Expoſition agreeable to the Words: For the Apoſtle ſpeaks not of the Power exerciſed on us, to render us Believers, but of the Power which ſhall be exerciſed on us who believe already: Not of the Power exerciſed upon our Souls, to raiſe them from a Death in Sin; but of the Power to be exerciſed upon our Bodies, to give them a glorious Reſurrection to Eternal Life.

Ibid. Καὶ τί τὸ ὑπερβάλλον μέγεθος, and what is the exceeding Greatneſs of his Power towards us.] The Apoſtle doth not here pray as Mr. L. ſuggeſts in his Paraphraſe, that the Epheſians might have the Spirit of Wiſdom and Revelation, that they might know the exceeding Greatneſs of that Power God had employed already in bringing them to the Faith, for that they knew already; it being the mighty Power of thoſe Miracles they had ſeen done before their Eyes, which induced the Gentiles to believe, Rom. 15. 18, 19. But he prays, that by theſe Means they might know, what at preſent they had no Experience of, viz. how glorious was the Object of their Hope, how great their future Inheritance, and how excellent was the Power God would ſhew in raiſing them up from the Dead, as he had done Chriſt, to the enjoyment of it.

Ver. 21. οὐ μόνον ἐν τῷ αἰῶνι τούτῳ, not only in this World.] By comparing theſe Words with Coloſſ. 2. 10. where Chriſt is ſaid to be the Head of all Principality and Power; and with Phil. 2. 9. where God is ſaid to have given him a Name above every Name; I am inclined to think theſe Words only ſignify, that our Lord Chriſt is exalted above all Power that is, or ever ſhall be; for, Not to be done in this World, nor in the World to come, Matt. 12. 32. is never to be done, Luke 12. 32. See Note on Matt. 12. 32. Note alſo, that the Word ὄνομα, Name, doth alſo ſignify Perſons. See the Note on Acts 1. 15. And that Men of great Power and Dignity, are ſtiled both in Scripture, and in other Writers, Anſhe Haſhem, οἱ ἄνδρες οἱ ὀνομαστοὶ, Men of Name, that is, Renown; ſo are the Gyants ſtiled, Gen. 6. 4. and the Princes of the Congregation, Numb. 16. 2. So that to be exalted above every Name that is named, is to be advanced even in his Human Nature, above Men and Angels of the higheſt Power and Dignity: Tho' after the Controverſy aroſe concerning the Deity of Chriſt, the Fathers, to avoid the Argument of the Arians, from theſe Words, chuſe rather to interpret this of the Name of Son, mentioned by St. Paul in theſe Words, Heb. 1. 6. To which of the Angels, ſaid he, thou art my Son ? So Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact in locum, and Epiphanius, Hær. 69. p. 325. ( See the Note on Heb. 1. 4. )

Ibid. A Name above every Name, ] That the Word ὄνομα doth alſo ſignify Perſons : See Note on Acts 2. 15. And Men of great Power and Dignity, are ſtiled both in Scripture, and in other Writers, Anſhe Haſhem, οἱ ἄνδρες οἱ ὀνόμαστοι, Men of Name, i. e. Renown. So are the Giants called, Gen. 6. 4. And the Princes of the Congregation, Num. 16. 2. ſo that to be exalted above every Name, that is named, is to be advanced, even in his human Nature, above Men and Angels of the higheſt Dignity, by being exalted to the right Hand of the Father, Heb. 1. 4, 5. After the Dignity of Chriſt was conteſted by the Arian the Fathers, to avoid their Argument fro theſe Words, choſe rather to interpret thi of the Name of the Son mention'd by S Paul, Heb. 1. 6. To which of the Angels fai he, thou art my Son ? So Theodoret, Oecumen us, Theophylact on this place, and Epiphaniu Hær. 69. p. 325. tho' the Words, v. 20. H hath raiſed him from the Dead, and ſet him on h right Hand on heavenly Places, ſtrongly plea for the firſt Interpretation.

Ver. 23. Πάντα ἐν πᾶσι, all in all. ] Fo he aſcended up on high, that he migh fill the Members of his Church, with Gifts neceſſary for the Edification of h Saints, till they came to the fulneſs of the mea ſure of the ſtature of Chriſt, Chap. 4. 10, 1 12. In him all fulneſs dwells, and we are πεπλ ρωμένοι, filled full in him, who is the Head Principalities and Powers, Col. 2. 9, 10.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. AND you [ alſo ] hath he [raiſed, and] quickened [ with,
and by Chriſt, Chap. 1. 20. and 2. 5. ] who a were [a] dead in treſpaſſes and ſins.

2. Wherein [ in which ſins ] in time paſt
b ye walked, [living] [b] according to the courſe
c [ and faſhion ] of this [ evil ] World, [c] according to [ the Suggeſtions of ] the Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit which [ even ] now worketh in the Children of Diſobedience, [ the Heathen World. ]

3. Among whom alſo we all [ who are Gentiles, ] had our Converſation in times paſt, in the luſts of our fleſh, fulfilling the deſires of the fleſh, and of the mind, [ or of our d hearts, ] and were by [d] nature [ indeed, by birth among Heathens, and in our natural Eſtate before Chriſt, ] the Children of Wrath, even as others [ of the Gentiles were. ]

4. [ This, I ſay, was our former ſtate ; ] But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love, wherewith he loved us [ Gentiles ; ]

5. Even when we were [ thus ] dead in e ſins, [e] hath quickened us together with Chriſt, [ through his rich Grace ; for ] by grace ye are ſaved, [ i. e. are brought into a ſtate of Salvation. ]

6. And hath raiſed us up together, [ not only by a Spiritual Conformity to his Reſurrection, Rom. 6. 5. 11. but alſo by an Aſſurance of a like Reſurrection, 1 Pet. 1. 3. He being riſen as the firſt Fruits, 1 Cor. 15. 20. and the firſt born from the Dead, Coloſſ. 1. 18. ] and made us ſit together in heavenly places in Chriſt Jeſus, [ our Head thus raiſed and exalted, and thus aſcended into Heaven, as our fore-runner, Heb. 6. 20. and 10. 13. 14. ]

7. That in, [ and through ] the Ages to come, he might [ by this means, ] ſhew the ex ceeding riches of his grace, in [ this ] h kindneſs to us through Chriſt Jeſus.

8. [ I ſay, the riches of his grace ; ] For [f] b grace are ye ſaved through faith [ in Chriſt, and that [ faith is ] not of [ and from ] you ſelves, it is the gift of God, [ the Objects our Faith being only made known by Divine R velation, 1 Cor. 2. and only confirmed and made credible to us, by the Teſtimony which Go hath given to them. ]

9. Not of Works [ done before Faith by us, leſt any man ſhould boaſt, [ as doing a thing which might antecedently deſerve, or ma him meet to be acquainted with, and made pa taker of this ſaving grace. ]

10. [Not of Works, for this Reaſon alſo ; For we are his Workmanſhip, created i Chriſt Jeſus to good Works, which God hath before ordained [ οἷς προητοίμασεν (ſub ἡμᾶς ὁ Θεὸς, to which God hath before prepare us, ] that we ſhould walk in them.

11. Wherefore, remember, that ye bein [ were ] in times paſt Gentiles in the fleſh who are called the Uncircumciſion, by tha [ Nation of the Jews, ] which is called th Circumciſion, [ by reaſon of their Circumciſion made with Hands.

12. [ And ] That at that time ye wer without [ the knowledge of ] Chriſt, bein Aliens from the Common-wealth of Iſrael [ to whom the Meſſiah primarily belonged, and Strangers from the Covenants of Promiſe, [ made to their Fore-Fathers, ] [h] having no [ firm and lively ] hope [ of ſpiritua and future Bleſſings, ] and [ being ] withou [ the knowledge of the true ] God in th World.

13. Bu

13. But now in Chriſt Jeſus, ye who ometimes were afar off [ from God, and from he Bleſſings imparted to the Jews ; ] are made [k] igh [ to God, as they were ] by the Blood f Chriſt.

14. For he is our peace- [ maker, ] who ath made both [ Jew and Gentile ] one, [ as to he Privileges of the Goſpel ; John 10. 16. Gal. . 28. ] and hath broken down the [l] middle-Vall of Partition betwixt us, [i. e. aboliſhed he Ceremonial Law, which was a partition-wall etwixt Jew and Gentile. ]

15. Having aboliſhed in [ or by ] his [ own ] leſh, [ that which made ] the enmity [ betwixt ew and Gentile ; ] even the Law of Com-nandments, [ conſiſting ] in Ordinances, [ pe-liar to the Jews ; ] for to make in himſelf or create ] of two, [m] one new Man, [ to whom their Head, they are both united into one dy, thus ] making [n] Peace [ betwixt both ]

16. And that he might reconcile both un- God, in one Body by the Croſs, having ain the enmity [ betwixt both to God ] there-y, [ or upon it ; for when we were enemies, we ere reconciled to God by the death of his Son ; om. 5. 10. 2 Cor. 5. 18. Col. 1. 21. Or, ving ſlain, that is, aboliſhed by his Croſs thoſe rdinances which were ὑπεναντία ἡμῖν, contrary to , Coloſſ. 2. 14. as excluding us from the So-ety of God's People, and cauſing the Enmity betwixt the Jews and Gentiles, v. 15. ]

17. And [ having procured this Reconciliation, he [ came, and [ἐλθὼν εὐηγγελίζετο, he coming by his Apoſtles, ] preached Peace to you [ Gentiles ] which were afar off, and to them that were near, [ i. e. Jews. ]

to God* ] [o] we both [ Jew, and Gentile, ] have o acceſs by one Spirit [ of Adoption conferred upon us ] to the Father, [ and are enabled to come unto him as our Father, Rom. 8. 15. ]

19. Now therefore ye [ Gentiles, ] are no more [ to be reckoned as ] [p] ſtrangers p and foreigners ; but [ as ] fellow-Citizens with the Saints, and of the houſhold of God.

20. And are built upon the foundation of the Apoſtles [ of the New, ] and the Prophets [ of the Old Covenant, ] Jeſus Chriſt himſelf being the chief Corner-Stone ; [ who ſupports and cements the whole Building, both of Believing Jews and Gentiles, and unites both into one Body by his Spirit ; Pſal. 117. 22. ]

21. In whom all the building [ being thus ] fitly framed together, [ or compacted, ] groweth into one holy Temple in the Lord. [ They then belong not to this Building, whoſe Bodies are not an holy Temple to the Lord. ]

builded together, for [q] an Habitation of God q through the Spirit.

Νεκροὺς ταῖς ἁμαρτίαις, dead in ſins. ] They who interpret is Phraſe thus, You who are dead to s by baptiſm, ſeem not to have looked to e fifth Verſe, where they who are here ſaid be dead in treſpaſſes and ſins, are ſaid to be ickened ; or to the parallel place, Col. 2. 13. here it is ſaid, you who were dead in ſins, d the circumciſion of the fleſh, he hath quicken- ; nor indeed to the Phraſe, which is ne-er uſed in the Plural Number in that Senſe, ut only in the Singular, viz. Rom. 6. 2. nd 10. 11.

He alſo hath aiſed up your Head, and placed him, and n him your Nature in heavenly Places, and hath, in a manner, raiſed you up, and made u ſit together with him there, v. 6. You being hence aſſured, that all his living Members ſhall be raiſed up to live for ever with him ; for if we believe that Chriſt is riſen, we muſt believe that them who ſleep in Jeſus, will God bring with him, to be for ever with the Lord, 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. 17. And to him that overcometh, ſaith Chriſt, will I give to ſit down with me, on my Throne, even as I have overcome, and am ſet down with my Father on his Throne, Rev. 3. 21.

Ver. 2. Κατὰ τὸν αἰῶνα, according to the b
courſe of this world : ] That is, according to the Life which Men of this World, deſtitute of Faith in Chriſt, do live : For as Phavori-nus ſaith ἄιων, the Word Age, is ἡ ζωὴ, καὶ ὁ βίος,
the life of Man, or τὸ μέτρον τῆς ἀνθρωπίνης ζωῆς, the Meaſure of human Life. Thus, τὸν αἰῶνα διάγειν, in Iſocrates, and Zenophon, is to paſs the time of Life, τελευτῆσαι τὸν αἰῶνα, in Herodotus and Sophocles, is to end this Life, or to die.

Ibid. Κατὰ τὸν Ἄρχοντα τῆς ἐξουσίας τοῦ ἀέρος, according to the Prince of the Power of the Air. ] It was the Opinion both of Jews and Heathens, εἶναι τὸν ἀέρα ψυχῶν ἔμπλεον, that the Air was full of Spirits, called Dæmons, as (a) Diogenes ſaith, in the Life of Pythagoras: And the Jews in the Pirk Avoth teach, à terra uſque ad firmamentum omnia eſſe plena turmis & præfectis, that from the Earth to the Firmament, all things were full of theſe Companies, and Rulers; and that there was a Prince over them who was called ὁ Κοσμοκράτωρ the Governour of the World, that is of the Darkneſs of it; See Note on Chap. 6. v. 12. This evil Spirit is here ſaid ἐνεργεῖν, inwardly to work in the Children of Diſobedience; and elſewhere, to lead them Captive at his his Will, 2 Tim. 2. 26. and their Converſion is ſtiled a Recovery of them, from the power of Satan, Acts 26. 18. And hence we may rationally conclude, That the good Spirit doth alſo inwardly work in pious Perſons, enabling them to will and to do; it being unreaſonable to conceive, the evil Spirit ſhould have more power over thoſe wicked Men, in whom he dwells, than the good Spirit hath in thoſe pious Perſons, in whoſe Hearts he is ſaid to dwell.

d Ver. 3. Καὶ ἦμεν τέκνα φύσει ὀργῆς, and were by nature Children of Wrath.] The Ancient Fathers generally affirm, That Sin cannot owe its Original purely to that Nature in which we were born, but only τῷ αὐτεξουσίῳ, i. e. to the choice or conſent of the Will; and that they who make us to be Sinners, meerly by the Derivation of our Natures from our Progenitors, do make God, the Author of our Nature, to be the Author of our Sin. The ſame they ſeem to do, who ſay that Sin is propagated by Generation, and that an Infant is therefore properly by Birth a Sinner, it being God who hath eſtabliſhed that Order in the Generation of Mankind; which neither he that begets, nor he that is begotten can correct, and by whoſe Benediction Mankind encreaſe and multiply; and Reaſon will inſtruct us, that to be born or not, is not in our power; and that what is not in our power to avoid, can never be our Crime, nor render us obnoxious to the Eternal Wrath of God.

Moreover, the Circumſtances of the Text demonſtrate, That the Apoſtle here intendeth no ſuch thing, becauſe he ſpeaks of Perſons dead in [actual] treſpaſſes and ſins, in which in times paſt they had walked, according to the courſe of the [Heathen] World, and the Sug geſtions of Satan; of Men, who had their co

Ver. 5. Συνεζωοποίησε τῷ Χριστῷ, hath quickened us together with Chriſt.] Not only by giving us a new Birth, or Renovation of Life, but an Aſſurance alſo of Eternal Life; for becauſe I live, ſaith Chriſt, you ſhall live alſo, John 14. 19. We ſhall be ſaved by his Life, Rom. 5. 10.

Ver. 8. Τῇ γὰρ χάριτί ἐστε σεσωσμένοι, for by Grace ye are ſaved.] That we may underſtand aright how we are here, and in other places, ſaid to be ſaved by Grace and Mercy, and not by Works: It may deſerve to be obſerved,

1. That though the Apoſtle here ſaith, By grace ye are ſaved, not of works; yet, leſt any Man ſhould hence be tempted to infer, That Chriſtians may be ſaved without doing Works of Righteouſneſs, when they have time and opportunity to do them; he expreſly adds, and that by way of Reaſon of what he had aſſerted, that, We are his workmanſhip, created in Chriſt Jeſus to good Works, which God hath ordained that we ſhould walk in them. Since then to walk in Righteouſneſs, according to the import of that Phraſe in Scripture, implies, That the Tenor of our Lives be ſpent in Works of Righteouſneſs; ſurely we cannot reaſonably hope to be accepted by God, if we neglect the very End for which we are created in Chriſt Jeſus, or decline that Way in which God hath ordained us to walk. Hence the Apoſtle tells the ſame Epheſians, That if they had been taught the Chriſtian Faith, as the Truth was in Jeſus; they knew themſelves obliged to put off the old man, and to put on the New, which after God is created in righteouſneſs, and true holineſs; and that it was their duty to walk as Children of Light, proving what is acceptable to the Lord, and bringing forth thoſe Fruits of the Spirit, which are in all goodneſs, righteouſneſs and truth, Chap. 4. 21, 22. Chap. 5. 8, 9.

Note, 2*dly*, That when the Apoſtle ſaith, We are ſaved not by works, his meaning is not to exclude all Works from having any Influence on our Salvation; but only to exclude thoſe Works which are done antecedently to Faith, and to the Renovation of the Holy Ghoſt, or antecedently to their being called by the Goſpel to Salvation: This is apparent from the Reaſon here aſſign'd, why we are not ſaved by Works, viz. Becauſe we were not fitted, or prepared to do good Works, till we were firſt in Chriſt; which as it doth exclude good Works performed before Faith in Chriſt; ſo doth it as effectually eſtabliſh thoſe which are afterwards to be performed, by virtue of the new Nature given to us, and the renewing of the Holy Ghoſt.

Object. And whereas ſome object againſt this Anſwer, That the Apoſtle ſaith, we are ſaved by Grace, not of Works, leſt any Man ſhould boaſt, which boaſting doth not ſeem to be excluded, if our Salvation doth any way depend on Works done by us, whether they be Legal, or Evangelical, done before, or after Faith.

Anſwer. To this I anſwer, That though Salvation doth depend upon Good Works, or on ſincere Obedience to be performed by us after Faith; yet is all Boaſting utterly excluded: (1.) Becauſe the Good Works we do, proceed not from ourſelves, but purely from the Grace and Spirit of God; for it is God that worketh in us both to will, and to do, of his good Pleaſure. As therefore the Apoſtle ſaith, of the Gift of Tongues, and Healing, and the like, which were ſo frequent in the Church of Corinth, and were Occaſions of their Boaſting; Who maketh thee to differ in theſe things from others? Or what Gift haſt thou which thou haſt not received? And if thou haſt received it, wherefore doſt thou boaſt, as if it were thine own, and thou hadſt not received it? 1 Cor. 4. 7. So may we here: What Good Work doſt thou, which thou haſt not received Grace, and the good Spirit to perform? And if thou haſt received Strength from God, for the Performance of them, wherefore doſt thou boaſt? This being the Apoſtle's Rule, that we can boaſt of nothing but that which we have not received, or which is purely from ourſelves.

2*dly*, Though God is pleaſed to make the doing good Works a neceſſary Condition of Salvation, ſo that without them we ſhall not obtain it; yet is all Boaſting utterly excluded, becauſe it is of Grace, that our imperfect Works are counted good, and that they are at all rewarded by God. For 'tis alone through that New Covenant, which God hath eſtabliſhed in Chriſt Jeſus, that all the Imperfections which adhere to our beſt Performances, are pardoned; ſeeing the Covenant of Works requires perfect Obedience, and tendereth no Pardon to the leaſt Offence. Now upon what account can any of us boaſt of doing that, which in it ſelf deſerveth Condemnation, though through Grace it finds Acceptance? Boaſting, ſaith the Apoſtle, is not excluded by the Law of Works, Rom. 3. 27. and 4. 4. Becauſe to him that worketh the Reward is not reckoned of Grace, but of Debt, Rom. 11. 6. Grace, and Works that deſerve Juſtification and Salvation, being perfectly oppoſite to one another. Where therefore the Reward is ſtill of Grace, and not of Debt; where it is given on the account of Works imperfect, which deſerve nothing from God, there Boaſting is excluded. Note,

3*dly*, That when the Apoſtle ſaith, We are ſaved by Grace, there the Word ſaved, dot not ſignify the final and compleat Salvatior which we ſhall enjoy in Heaven; but onl our being placed in the way of Salvatior and put into that Eſtate, in which if u continue grounded and ſettled in the Fait and be not moved from the Hope of the Goſpe Col. 1. 23. we ſhall undoubtedly be ſave That this may be the Senſe of theſe Ex preſſions, We are ſaved by Grace, and accor ing to his Mercy he ſaved us, Tit. 3. 5. car not be doubted, if we conſider that th is frequently the Import of this Phraſe i other places, as when 'tis ſaid at the Cor verſion of Zachæus, This Day Salvation come to this Houſe, Luke 19. 3. that Ba tiſm doth ſave us, 1 Pet, 3. 21. that the were added to the Church οἱ σωζόμενοι the ſave Acts 2. 47. See John 4. 22. Rom. 8. 24. Cor. 1. 18. That this muſt be the prop Import of it in theſe places, is evident fron this Conſideration, That the Perſons whom the Apoſtle here ſpeaks, were n actually and compleatly ſaved, but onl by embracing the Goſpel, which is ſtile the Word, the Goſpel of Salvation, the Pow of God through Faith to Salvation, were pl ced in that Way which leadeth to etern Life, and which is called the Way of Sa vation. It being therefore of God's fre Grace and Mercy that any Church, or Na tion, is called to the Knowledge of Salv tion, and hath the Word of Life reveale to them, it being by that Faith, which the Gift of God, that they are juſtified, an ſo placed in the Way of Salvation, and b his free Gift that they enjoy the Hol Spirit, by which they are enabled work out their Salvation; they may we be ſaid to be ſaved by Grace, throug Faith, according to thoſe Words of th ſame Apoſtle, 2 Tim. 1. 9. He hath ſave us, and called us with an holy Calling, n according to our Works, but according to b Purpoſe, and Grace which was given us Chriſt. But then this hinders not our com pleat Salvation at the Great Day, fron being conferred upon us, with reſpect our Works, by him who hath declared He will render to every one according to h Works: Glory, Honour, and Immortality, every one that worketh Good, and that by patien continuance in well-doing, ſeeketh for it, Ron 2. 6, 7.

Ver. 10. Προητοίμασεν, He hath before prepa red us.] i. e. Before we do them, by givin us the knowledge of his Will, and the aſſi ſtance of his Spirit to perform them: i. our entire Renovation, or new Creation, b which alone we are enabled to do Work good and acceptable in his Sight, is fron God, who by Chriſt Jeſus hath given us th knowledge of our Duty, and by his Grac and Spirit hath enabled us for the perfor

Relation, as having owned them as his hildren, and Family, and entered into Conant to be their God, and by his more pecial Preſence with them; for the Sche-chinah, or the glorious Preſence, dwelt among them in the Holy Place. Now all theſe Privileges, ſaith the Apoſtle, are equally conferred upon the Gentiles, they are now made near to God, v. 13. have acceſs to him, v. 18. are fellow-Citizens of the Saints, and of the Family of God, v. 19. the Schechinah dwells in them as in a Temple, and they are made an habitation of God through the Spirit, v. 21. 22.

l Ver. 14. Τὸ μεσότοιχον, the middle Wall.] This refers to that Partition-Wall in the Temple, which ſeparated the Court of the Gentiles, from that into which the Jews entered, on which was written, That no Alien might go into it; it being, ſaith (g) Joſephus, a Sanction of Antiochus, μὴ δεῖν ἀλλόφυλον ἐντὸς τοῦ ἁγίου προσιέναι, that no Alien ſhould enter into the Court of the Sanctuary, which was encloſed with the Sept: And this Inſcription was writ in Greek and Latin.

m Ver. 15. Εἰς ἕνα καινὸν ἄνθρωπον, into one new Man.] As being both to walk in newneſs of Life; and by the new Law of Chriſtianity, and by Chriſt's new Commandments of Love.

n Ibid. Εἰρήνην, Peace.] This Peace Chriſt hath made between Jew and Gentile, by aboliſhing the Ceremonial Law which made the Enmity; and with God, by reconciling both to him by his Death.

V. 16. Ἐν αὐτῷ,] I. e. ἐν τῷ σταυρῷ, By the Croſs; ſo Chryſoſtome, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact read. Other Copies read, ἐν ἑαυτῷ in himſelf: But this Reading, ſaith St. Jerome, is only of the Latin Copies, and it ſeems to have had its riſe from the former Verſe; ſee Examen Millii.

o Ver. 18. Οἱ ἀμφότεροι, we both.] Hence we learn, (1.) That Chriſt not only reconciled Jew and Gentile to one another, but that he reconciled both to God; for by him we have προσαγωγὴν, acceſs to the Father, a freedom of acceſs to God, v. 18. and Chap. 3. 12. Now where this Phraſe in the New Teſtament is uſed with reſpect to Chriſt, it ſtill imports the freedom of Acceſs, vouchſafed to them who formerly were by their Sins excluded from God's gracious Preſence; this is obtained, ſay theſe Words, by virtue of his Blood, making our Peace by him, reconciling us to God by his Croſs, and bringing them near to God who were afar off. How is he our Peace? Becauſe the Chaſtiſement which procured our Peace was upon him, Iſa. 53. 5. How did he reconcile us to God? But by the Croſs, i. e. by bearing our ſins in his Body on the Croſs, 1 Pet. 2. 24. By virtue of this Blood, the Gentiles, who formerly were Aliens, are made near to God; they who were Strangers, were made God's Domeſticks; they who emphatically were Sinners, Gal. 2. 15. were made fellow-Citizens of the Saints; they who were Children of Wrath, v. 2. to them is God reconciled: And after all this, can it be reaſonably denied, that Chriſt hath pacified God to the Gentiles by his Blood? Or doth not all this import a Reconciliation on God's part to them?

(g) Antiq. l. 12. c. 3. de Bello Jud. l. 5. c. 14.

To ſhew the Reaſon of this Reconciliation, let it be noted, That God being an holy God, none were to come into his Preſence, who had any Pollution or Defilement on them upon pain of Death; till they were ſanctified or cleanſed from it by ſome Purification, or Atonement made for them to God. He dwelt in the Camp of Iſrael; and ſo thoſe Lepers which were ſo unclean as to pollute the Camp, were driven from it, Lev. 13. 46. Numb. 5. 2, 3. 2 Kings 15. 5. and thoſe Sin-Offerings, which were polluted with the Sins of the whole Congregation, were carried out of the Camp, Lev. 16. 21. 22. Heb. 13. 11.

God dwelt more eſpecially in the Temple, and therefore they who had leſſer Impurities, i. e. who were defiled by the Dead, or by an Iſſue, or a Menſtruous Woman, were not to come thither, till they were cleanſed from thoſe Defilements, Lev. 12. 4. 15. 31.

Moreover, he being a God of purer Eyes than to behold Iniquity; they who had committed any Sin of Ignorance, and lay under the Guilt of it, were not permitted to come into the Court of the Men of Iſrael, till they had brought their Offering of Atonement. Ainſworth on Numb. 5. 3.

Now God being ſtill the ſame holy God, of purer Eyes than to behold Iniquity; the Scriptures of the New Teſtament ſeem as plainly to make our freedom of acceſs to God, to depend upon our being ſanctifi or purg'd from our Defilement, and our ing delivered from the Guilt of Sin, by Atonement made by the Blood of Chriſt, our Iniquities; that ſo they being pardon we may have Peace with God, and an acc to his Favour. This plainly ſeems to be Import of the Words; Heb. 9. 13. If the B of Bulls and Goats, and the Aſhes of an He ſprinkling the unclean, ſanctifieth to the purif of the Fleſh, and by ſo doing, procureth Admiſſion of the Perſon cleanſed, to ſe God in the Sanctuary, Numb. 19. 9. 12. How much more ſhall the Blood of Chriſt, through the eternal Spirit offered himſelf w out Spot to God, purge your Conſcience from Works, [ or Works expoſing you to De the Puniſhment of the Perſon who came clean into God's Preſence, that ſo you be admitted, ] to ſerve the living God?

Ver. 19. Ξένοι, Strangers. ] The Proſely who joined themſelves to the God of Iſ were by the Jews, and by the Scriptures led Strangers. He that only took upon to worſhip the true God, and obſerve Precepts of Noah, was Ger Toſhab, a Stran permitted to dwell among them, and to w ſhip in the Court of the Gentiles. He was Circumciſed, and became obedient the Law of Moſes, was Ger Tzedek, a Prof of Righteouſneſs; but both were called Str gers, according to that Maxim of the J All the Nations of the World are called ם Strangers before the God of Iſrael: But Jews are ſaid to be קריבים, near to him. now, ſaith the Apoſtle, there is no ſuch ference, The believing Gentile being equ admitted with believing Jews, to the Pr leges of the New Jeruſalem, and equally r ted to God as part of his Family.

Ver. 22. Thus (h) Philo ſaith, That g Men are Θεοῦ οἶκος καὶ ἱερὸν, God's Houſe holy Temple. See Note on 1 Cor. 6. 20.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1. Τούτȣ χάριν, for this Cauſe.] i. e. Becauſe I aſſert that theſe Privileges belong equally to the believing Gentiles, tho' the be not circumcis'd; this being they reaſon why the Jews ſo fiercely perſecuted him, and forc'd him to appeal to Cæſar, Acts 22. 22. and 25. 11, 12. and 26. 17. And why, after he came to Rome, the Jews preach'd Chriſt not ſincerely, but out of envy to him, to add Affliction to his Bonds, Philip. 1. 15, 16.

b Ver. 2. Εἴγε ἠκȣ́σατε, if ye have heard.] Hence ſome raiſe a ſecond Objection againſt this Epiſtle's being written by St. Paul to the Epheſians; for, ſay they, to them with whom he had ſo long converſed, there could be no doubt, whether they had heard of the Diſpenſation of the Grace of God given him towards them. But indeed this is no Objection to them who will conſider, that this Epiſtle was not written to the Epheſians only, but alſo to all the faithful in Chriſt Jeſus, many of whom had never ſeen his Face, nor heard his Voice. And 2*dly*, If we conſider, that he ſpeaks here particularly of the manner of his receiving this Diſpenſation, viz. by immediate Revelation from Chriſt Jeſus; of which the Galatians, among whom he had alſo preached, were ignorant; and therefore the Apoſtle, in his Epiſtle to them, ſaith, γνωρίζω ὑμῖν, of this I certify you, confirming his Aſſertion with an Oath, Gal. 1. 11, 12, 16. Add to this 3*dly*, That the Particle εἴγε, is not here a Particle of doubting, but of affirmation, and is to be render'd as Theophylact doth ἐπειδὴ, ſince; ſo the Hebrew אם is often render'd quandoquidem; and ſo Philo uſes this Particle in theſe words, (a) Εἴγε τὰ ἀκȣ́σια, καὶ τὰ κατ' ἄγνοιαν ȣ̓δὲ ἀδικημάτων λόγον ἔχειν φασί τινες, ſeeing ſome ſay of things done involuntarily, and out of ignorance, that they are not to be accounted Sins; and when he ſays, Abel yet lives (b), εἴγε καὶ ἱκέτης ὢν Θεȣ͂ καὶ φωνῇ χρώμενος εὑρίσκεται, Seeing that he had ſtill a Voice to cry to God. And that Sarah is repreſented by Moſes, both as barren and very fruitful (c) Εἴγε τὸ πολυανθρωπότατον τῶν ἐθνῶν ἐξ αὐτῆς ὁμολογεῖ γένεσθαι, ſince he confeſſes, that from her ſhould proceed the moſt populous of Nations: See alſo the Note on Chap. 1. 15.

had done to the believing Jews; and t therefore to endeavour to put the Yoke
Circumciſion on their Necks, was to tempt
l, that is, to diſtruſt the Evidence that had given of his Acceptance of them thout Circumciſion, Acts 15. 8, 9, 10, 11.
d the whole Synod declare, that they o ſaid, they ought to be circumciſed, and to p the Law, troubled them with words tending he Subverſion of their Souls, v. 24. where-it ſeemed good to the Holy Ghoſt, and to re Pillars of the Church of the Circum-ion, knowing the Grace given to St. Paul, proved his Commiſſion of preaching to Gentiles, as he did, Gal. 2. 9.

Ibid. Κατὰ τὴν δωρεὰν τῆς χάριτος, accord- to the gift of Grace.] That the Apoſtolate
by St. Paul oft ſtiled Grace; See the Note
Rom. 1. 5. And that in this ſenſe he unrſtands the Gift of Grace here, is evident
m the following Words.

Ver. 9. Τῷ πάντα κτίσαντι, who created all ngs.] The Ancients commonly ſay, that d the Father is ὁ πρῶτος δημιουργὸς, the ne, and chief Creator of the World, as be-
; the Original of all creating Power, and as it were commanding, and the Son executing his Command, who is hence ſtiled (d) ὁ προσεχὼς δημιουργός, the immediate Creator, or αὐτουργὸς τοῦ κόσμου, the Artificer of the World. Hence (e) Irenæus ſo often ſaith, Patrem omnia feciſſe per verbum, or verbo virtutis; and that the Son and Holy Spirit are (f) quaſi manus, as it were the hands of God, by which he made all things, and to both which all the Angels are ſubject.

Ibid. Διὰ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ.] See theſe words vindicated, Examen Millii in locum.

Ver. 10. Ταῖς ἀρχαῖς καὶ ταῖς ἐξουσίαις, To the Principalities and Powers.] This Phraſe, tho' uſed of evil Spirits, Chap. 6. 12. may be underſtood of good Angels, the Myſtery of Godlineſs, being then ſeen of Angels, 1 Tim. 3. 16. and the things which the Apoſtles preached by the Holy Ghoſt, being ſuch as the Angels deſired to look into, 1 Pet. 1. 12. That the words ἐπουράνιος, and ἐπουράνια, always ſignify things, or Perſons in Heaven, is very evident. So πατὴρ ἐπουράνιος, is our heavenly Father, Matth. 18. 25. ὁ ἐπουράνιος, the Lord from Heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 48, 49. τὰ ἐπουράνια, heavenly things, to be taught only by him who was in Heaven, John 3. 12, 13. σώματα ἐπουράνια, heavenly Bodies, viz. the Stars; 1 Cor. 15. 40. βασιλεία ἐπουράνιος, the Kingdom to be enjoyed in Heaven, 2 Tim. 4. 18. Heb. 11. 16. Ἱερουσαλὴμ ἐπουράνιος, The Jeruſalem that is above, Heb. 12. 22. ὑπόδειγμα τῶν ἐπουρανίων, the Pattern of things in Heaven, Heb. 8. 5. τὰ ἐπουράνια, heavenly things, Heb. 9. 23. Hence are they diſtinguiſhed from things on Earth, or under the Earth, Philip. 2. 10. The words are five times uſed in this Epiſtle, and always ſignify heavenly Places. So it doth when we are ſaid to ſit down with Chriſt, ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις, in heavenly Places, Chap. 2. 6. when Chriſt is ſaid to be ſat down with God, ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις, in heavenly Places, Chap. 1. 10. that being the Conſequence of his Aſcenſion into Heaven, 1 Pet. 3. 22. Heb. 13. 10, 12. and therefore it is well render'd in heavenly Places, v. 3. So it ſignifies, when the Apoſtle ſpeaks of Principalities, Powers, and ſpiritual Wickedneſſes, ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις, Chap. 6. 12. and ſo it muſt ſignify, when he ſpeaks here of good Angels in the ſame Places: Nor can it be well joyn'd with σοφία, becauſe διὰ τῆς ἐκκλησίας intervenes.

To Mr. L's Objection, that 'tis not eaſy to conceive, that the Declaration of this Myſtery ſhould be to this Intent, that the Angels, good or bad, ſhould be acquainted with it, it may be anſwered,

1*ſt*, That the Apoſtle doth not ſay this was God's ſole Intent in the Revelation of this Myſtery; but only, that this, amongſt others more important, might be one.

2*dly*, That the Particle ἵνα ſignifies, adeo ut, ſo that; ſee Note on 1 Cor. 14. 13. and then the words will not reſpect God's Intention in this Revelation, but only the Conſequence of it. But whereas from thoſe Words, ver. 6. Was not made known, &c. Mr. le Clerc ſaith thus, The ſame thing which is there ſaid in other Ages, not to have been made known to the Sons of Men, is ſaid here to have been unknown alſo to Angels; which being ſo, I confeſs I do not well underſtand how they who are neither Prophets, nor Angels, can find out ſo many places in the Prophets, in which the calling of the Gentiles is manifeſtly and directly foretold; for certainly if it was revealed to the Prophets, they underſtood it; and if it could be gathered from the literal ſenſe of any Prophecies, the Angels might have underſtood it by thoſe Prophecies. Whereas, I ſay, he deſcants thus: What would he have? Would he deny, againſt the plain and frequent ſayings of St. Paul, That the Calling of the Gentiles was revealed to, and plainly foretold by the Prophets, as his words do import? Let him, if he can, confute St. Paul proving it againſt him, That the Lord had commanded the Gentiles ſhould be called in theſe words of the Prophet Iſaiah, I have ſet thee to be a Light to the Gentiles, and to be for Salvation to the Ends of the Earth, Acts 13. 46, 47. And his four other Proofs from the Prophets, Moſes, David, and Eſaias, that the Gentiles were to glorify God for his mercy to them in Chriſt Jeſus, that Root of Jeſſe, who was to riſe up to govern the Gentiles, and in whom the Gentiles were to truſt, Rom. 15. 9, 10, 11, 12. Yea, let him confute the Apoſtle James, ſaying, Simeon hath declared how God at firſt did viſit the Gentiles, to take out of them a People for his Name; and to this agree the words of the Prophets; After this I will build again the Tabernacle of David, &c. that the reſidue of men might ſeek after the Lord, and all the Nations upon whom my Name is called, Acts 15. 14.——17. Nor doth the Apoſtle any-where hint, that the Calling of the Gentiles was not revealed to, or by the Prophets; but only that it was not ſo made known in all the Particularities of it, ὡς νῦν, as it is now diſcovered by the Apoſtles and Prophets of the New Teſtament; See the Note on v. 6. 2*dly*, It was alſo known to, and preached by the Angels, declaring the glad tidings of great Joy which ſhould be to all Nations through Chriſt, Luke 2. 10, 11. he being as well a light to lighten the Gentiles, as the glory of his People Iſrael. Nor does the Apoſtle here ſay, as he ſuggeſts, that this was unknown to the Angels, but only that what was before made known to them by Prophecies, was now made known to them by the Church, i. e. the Gentiles actually call tho' all the Circumſtances mentioned, N on v. 6. might not be fully known bef even to them.

Ver. 11. Κατὰ πρόθεσιν τῶν αἰώνων, acc ing to the fore-diſpoſing of the Ages.] In the of the Ages his Wiſdom ſeeing fit to g
the Promiſe of a Saviour to a fallen Ada
in the ſecond Age to typify and repreſ him to the Jews in ſacred Perſons, Ri and Sacrifices; and in the Age of the M ſiah, or the laſt Age, to reveal him to Jews, and preach him to the Gentiles.

Ver. 15. Πᾶσα πατριὰ, the whole Famil
It is frequent with the Jews to make m tion of the Angels as the Family in Heav
and of Men, eſpecially thoſe that are Covenant with God, as his Family on Ear as when they ſay, God doth nothing but firſt conſults with his Family שלמעלה ab that is, with the Angels: And that he addicts himſelf to the Study of the Divine L for the ſake of the Law, conciliates to him Peace with the Family above, and with Family below; that is, with Angels in H ven, and Men on Earth. They are a called קדישי עלאי the Saints above, Targ.
Job 15. 15. and the Sons of God, as in th words of Job 1. 6. and 2. 1. And on a came Ἄγγελοι Θεοῦ, the Sons of God, and C 38. 7. Where waſt thou when Ἄγγελοι μου, the Sons of God ſhouted for joy? And ſo are true Believers ſtiled, for to as many as lieved, he gave power to be the Sons of G
John 1. 12. and they at the Reſurrect ſhall be like the Angels, and be the Sons of G Luke 20. 36.

Ver. 18. Τὸ πλάτος καὶ μῆκος, the brea length, depth and heighth.] By the brea of this love, ſome of the Fathers underſt
the great extent, and generality of Chri Affection; his Death being deſigned for Benefit of all Perſons, Jew and Gent through all Ages, from Adam to the end the World, and in all places, he having it reconciled things in Heaven, and things the Earth, Chap. 1. 10. By the depth of ſay they, is ſignified the greatneſs of his H miliation; Love to Mankind having in ced him to change the form of God for t of a Servant, humbled the Lord of Life an ignominious and painful Death, brought him from the higheſt Heavens
the loweſt Hell, into which, they conce
he deſcended for our ſakes. The length it imports, ſay they, his love to us from beginning of the World, we being ch in Chriſt from the beginning, Chap. 1. 4. an 11. The height of his Affection is manif ed, ſay they, in that being now exalte the right hand of Majeſty, he is ſtill t employed in Acts of greateſt Kindne us, uſing his whole Power in Heaven

th for the Benefit of his Church. But eems more natural to ſay, that the Apo-by enumerating theſe Dimenſions, only ends to ſignify the exceeding greatneſs of Love of Chriſt, which paſſeth knowledge.
us Job, ſpeaking of the unſearchable Wiſ-n of God, and his unfathomable Per-tions, puts theſe Enquiries; Canſt thou rch him out to perfection? It is higher than the aven, what canſt thou do? deeper than Hell, at canſt thou know? The Meaſure of it is ger than the Earth, and the breadth of it than Sea, Job 11. 7, 8. And the Son of Sy- ſaith, The height of Heaven, and the breadth the Earth, the Abyſs and Wiſdom who can rch out? Ecclus. 1. 3. And the Apoſtle es out, O the depth of the Wiſdom and Know-ge of God, how unſearchable are his Judgnts, &c. Rom. 11. 33. And in this ſenſe ſe four Dimenſions will chiefly be de-ned to import what the Apoſtle ſtiles,
8. The unſearchable riches of the love of Chriſt.
therefore ſeems unreaſonable to think,
at the love of Chriſt paſſing Knowledge;
ould import only the love of Chriſt paſ-g, i. e. excelling the knowledge or ſkill in ſtical Interpretations, which the Gnoſticks pre-ded to. For as the word γνῶσις put abſo-ely, hath no ſuch import, that I know of, in the Holy Scripture; ſo after the mention of all theſe Dimenſions, and the unſearchable riches of it, v. 8. it ſeems a very faint expreſſion, to ſay, it ſurpaſſed that vain and inſignificant knowledge to which the Gnoſticks pretended; their myſtical Interpretations, recorded by Irenæus, being above meaſure vain and impious, even a Myſtery of Iniquity. And as for the Phraſe ὑπερβάλλουσα τῆς γνώσεως, it is juſtified by (g) Ariſtotle, who hath it twice in one Chapter, viz. ὑπερβάλλειν τῆς συμμετρίας, to exceed the meaſure, ὑπερβάλλειν τῶν πλωτήρων, to excel other Navigators.

Ver. 19. Εἰς πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα τοῦ Θεοῦ, with all the fulneſs of God.] Εἰς pro ἐν, ſee Note on Coloſſ. 1. 20. that is, ſay ſome, with the higheſt degrees of Faith and Love; or with all fulneſs of Spiritual Gifts, eſpecially thoſe of Knowledge and Wiſdom, which might enable them to comprehend the greatneſs of his Love. Thus Chap. 4. 10. He aſcended up on high, that he might fill all things with Spiritual Gifts, mentioned v. 10. that he might give Gifts unto Men, v. 8. and Chap. 1. 23. his Church is ſtiled, the fulneſs of him that filleth all in all, i. e. who filleth all his Members with thoſe Gifts.

CHAP. IV.

erſe 1. I Therefore the Priſoner of the Lord, [ἐν Κυρίῳ, in bonds for briſt,] beſeech you that you would walk orthy of the Vocation wherewith ye are alled.
2. [a] With all lowlineſs and meekneſs, with ong-ſuffering, [and ſo] forbearing one ano-her in love.
3. Endeavouring [thus] to keep the uni-
y of the Spirit in the bond of peace.
4. [For you know, that] there is one body of the whole Church,] and [b] one Spirit [which nimates the whole Body,] even as you are alled in one hope of your Calling, [i. e. nd you know alſo, that you are all called to the ame hope of eternal life.]
5. [There is alſo to us Chriſtians] one Lord, one Faith [in this Lord,] one Baptiſm [by which we do profeſs this Faith.]
6. [d] One God and Father of all, who is bove all [by his Eſſence,] and through all by his Providence,] and in you all [by his pirit.]
9. But [tho' the Body is but one, yet,] uno every one of us [who are Members of this Body,] [e] is given grace [enabling us to ſerve e this Body,] according to the meaſure of the Gift of Chriſt.
8. [f] Wherefore [to manifeſt this] he [the f
Pſalmiſt] ſaith, when he [Chriſt] aſcended up on high, he led captivity [Satan, and Death,] captive, [Heb. 2. 14. Judges 5. 12.]
and [g] gave gifts unto men, [i. e. received g them, Pſal. 68. 19. to give to them.]
9. Now that he aſcended, what is it but [a demonſtration] that he alſo deſcended firſt
[h] into the lower parts of the Earth? h
10. He that deſcended [thus into the lower parts of the Earth,] is the ſame alſo who [after his Reſurrection,] aſcended up [i] far a- i bove all Heavens, that he might fill all things, [*with his Gifts, according to his Promiſe, that when he was aſcended, he would ſend the Spirit upon his Apoſtles and Diſciples, John 14. 17. and 15. 26. and 16. 7. Luke
24. 49.]
11. And [accordingly] he gave ſome Apoſtles [to reveal his Will,] and ſome Prophets [to explain the Myſteries of Faith,] and ſome Evangeliſts [to propagate this Faith to other

k other Nations,] and [k] ſome Paſtors, and Teachers [to inſtruct others in it.]

l 12. [l] [And this variety of Gifts was conferred upon them] for the perfecting [Gr. compacting] of the Saints [into one Body], for the work of the Miniſtry, [that they who had them might miniſter to the Temporal Neceſſity, as did the Deacons, and the Spiritual Concerns of others, as did the Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, Paſtors and Doctors,] for the edifying of the Body of Chriſt, [in faith and love.]

13. Till we all come in the Unity of the Faith, and of the knowledge [or acknowledgment] of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, [i. e. to perfection in knowledge of the Faith, and of the Will of God, Coloſſ. 1. 28.] unto the meaſure of the ſtature of the fulneſs of Chriſt; [i. e. ſo as to be Chriſtians of a full maturity, and ripeneſs in all the Graces derived from Chriſt Jeſus to the Body.]

14. That [ſo arriving to Perfection in Faith and Knowledge,] we henceforth [may] be no more Children toſſed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of Doctrine, by the ſlight of Men, and cunning craftineſs, whereby they lie in wait to deceive, [Gr. by the ſubtilty of Men, thro' their craftineſs for the managing of deceit.]

15. But ſpeaking [or keeping] the truth in love, may grow up into, [or increaſe in.] him in all things, who is the Head, even [into] Chriſt.

m 16. [m] From whom the whole Body fitly joined together, and compacted by that which every joynt ſupplieth, according to the effectual working in the meaſure of every part, [Gr. compacted and cemented together by every joynt of ſupply, according to its power in proportion of every part,] maketh increaſe of the Body to the edifying of it ſelf in love.

17. This I ſay therefore, and teſtify in the Lord, that ye [who have theſe aſſiſtances in Faith and Piety,] walk not henceforth, as n other [unconverted] Gentiles, [n] in the vanity of their [own] mind;

[18. Having the underſtanding darkened, o [and] being [o] alienated from the life of God,
p [p] through the ignorance that is in them, be-q cauſe of the [q] blindneſs of their heart;

19. Who being paſt feeling, [inſenſible of the vileneſs of their actions,] have given them-r ſelves up to work all uncleanneſs [r] with greedineſs:

20. But ye have not ſo learned [the D
ctrine of] Chriſt;

21. If ſo be [or ſince] that ye have hea him [by our preaching] and have been taug by him, [Gr. inſtructed in him,] as the tru is in Jeſus.

22. [To wit,] That ye put off, concernin
the former Converſation [in Heatheniſm] [s] t old man, which is corrupt according to t deceitful Luſts, [i. e. the Luſts which deceive yo promiſing that pleaſure and Satisfaction which t cannot yield; or which you practiſed whilſt He thens, being deceived by your Heathen Prieſts, d
claring they were acceptable to the Gods, and t
Philoſophy and vain Deceit of thoſe Men who allo
ed them.]

23. And be renewed in the Spirit of yo Mind.

24. And that ye [may] put on the ne man, which after [the image of] God is cre ted in righteouſneſs, and true holineſs.

25. Wherefore putting away [t] lying,
vice too common among Heathens, and oppoſite
Truth and Righteouſneſs,] ſpeak every ma truth with his neighbour; for we are mem bers one of another; Now lying tends to d
ſolve Societies, and hurt the Members of the ſa
Body.]

26. [If you] [u] be angry, [take heed] a ſin not, [w] let not the Sun go down up your wrath.

27. [x] Neither give place to the [temptat
of the] Devil.

28. [y] Let him that ſtole, [before his Co
verſion,] ſteal no more, but rather let hi labour, working with his hands the thi which is good, that he [z] may have to gi to him that needeth.

29. Let no corrupt communication p ceed out of your mouths, but that which good to the uſe of edifying, [aa] that it m miniſter grace unto the hearers.

30. [bb] And grieve not the Holy Spirit
God, whereby ye are ſealed to the day
Redemption, [Chap. 1. 13, 14.]

31. [And to this end,] let all bittern and wrath, and anger, and clamour, a evil ſpeaking be put away from you, w all malice.

32. And be ye kind one towards an ther, tender-hearted, forgiving one anoth even as God for Chriſt's ſake hath forgiv you.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

ſe 2, 3. NOte here from the Fathers, That ἐὰν τὴν ἀγάπην ἔχαἀνεξόμεθα ἀλλήλων, where love is retained,
e will be mutual forbearance; And from ncby, That Peace cannot be preſerv'd hout that mutual Forbearance, and that mility which excludes, and that Meeks which is oppoſite to Anger and Con-tion.

Ver. 4. Ἓν πνεῦμα, one Spirit.] From theſe, l the former words, the unity of the Spirit, ſeems plain to me that the Union of the yſtical Body of the Church Catholick nſiſts in this, that they all have the ſame irit communicated to them from their ead Chriſt Jeſus. For the whole Body of riſtians is here ſaid to have one Spirit, and eir Unity is ſtiled the Unity of the Spirit.
e Body is one, ſaith the Apoſtle, 1 Cor. 12.
. for by one Spirit we are all baptized into Body, v. 13. And to the whole Body the Church of Corinth he ſpeaks thus, Know not that you are the Temple of God, and that Spirit of God dwelleth in you? 1 Cor. 3.
. Know ye not that your Body is the Temple
the Holy Ghoſt, that is in you? Chap. 6.
. Chriſt, ſaith the Apoſtle here, Chap. 2.
, 17, 18. hath reconciled both Jew and entile into one Body unto God, and hath ade Peace between them, for by him we ve both acceſs by one Spirit to the Father; ἀρχ
, and therefore having thus one Spirit, which we are made one Body, and Sons
the ſame Father, we are all fellow Citizens
the Saints, and of the Family of God: And e built up all together into an habitation God through the Spirit. Now hence it folws,

1ſt, That only ſincere Chriſtians are truly Iembers of that Church Catholick, of which eſus Chriſt is the Head, ſince the whole ody is united to him by the Communiation of the Holy Spirit, whom the wick-d of the World cannot receive, John 14.
7. they being Senſual, having not the Spirit, ude 19.

2dly, That nothing can unite any Profeſſor of hriſtianity to this one Body, but the participa- ion of the Spirit of Chriſt; and therefore nohing elſe can make him a true Member of hat Church which is his Body. Hence the poſtle doth inform us, negatively, That any Man have not the Spirit of Chriſt dwel-ing in him, he is none of his, Rom. 8. 9, 11.
nd affirmatively, That by this we know that abideth in us, by the Spirit that he hath given
, 1 John 3. 24. And again, by this we now that he abideth in us, and we in him, becauſe he hath given us of his Spirit, Chap. 4. 13. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are Sons of God, Rom. 8. 14. and becauſe we are Sons, God hath ſent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, Gal. 4. 6. It therefore muſt be owned as a certain truth, that nothing can unite us to that Church and Body, of which Chriſt Jeſus is the Head, but the participation of the Spirit.

3dly, That no Error in Judgment, or Miſtake in Practice which doth not tend to deprive a Chriſtian of the Spirit of Chriſt, can ſeparate him from the Church of Chriſt.

4thly, Hence it demonſtratively follows, That no Church Governors, jointly or ſeverally, can be by God appointed to be the living Judges, or the infallible Directors of our Faith. For ſince in Matters of Faith we muſt have a Judgment of Certainty, we cannot own them as ſuch by virtue of that aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, which alone can make them ſuch, till we are certain they belong to that Church of which Chriſt Jeſus is the Head, and to which only the Promiſe of the Spirit doth belong, i. e. till we are certain they are ſincere and upright Chriſtians. Since therefore God hath given us no certain Rule to know this by, we may reſt ſatisfied, that he deſign'd no ſuch Magiſterial Guides ſhould be continued in his Church.

Ver. 5. Μία πίςις, One Faith.] It plainly is aſſerted in the Holy Scriptures, that there is one common Faith, Tit. 1. 4. one like precious Faith, 2 Pet. 1. 1. of all that bear the Name of Chriſtians. An Unity of Faith, and of the Knowledge of the Son of God, to which we muſt all arrive, Eph. 4. 13. A Faith once deliver'd to the Saints, Jude 3. for which we muſt ſtrive earneſtly, and in which we muſt build up our ſelves; a Faith of the Goſpel, for which we are exhorted to contend as with one Soul, Philip. 1. 27. But vain is hence the Inference of the Papiſts, That this one Faith muſt be either theirs, and then we cannot be ſaved without it; or ours, and then they cannot be ſaved; for this one Faith, into which all Chriſtians were baptized, contains neither the Doctrines in which they differ from us, nor we from them, but only the Apoſtles Creed, which the whole Church of Chriſt, for many Centuries, receiv'd as a perfect Syſtem of all things neceſſarily to be believ'd in order to Salvation; as I have fully proved, Treatiſe of Tradition, Part II. Chap. 7. §. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

Ver. 6. Εἷς Θεός, One God.] Here, ſay the Socinians, that God who is ſtiled One, is alſo ſtiled the Father, and to him is aſcribed this

Epithet ſo common among the Philoſophers, to denote the Supreme Deity, that he is, ὁ ὢν ἐπὶ πᾶσι, God over all. But to this it is anſwer'd,

1*ſt*, That we deny not that God the Father is One God over all, or that there is one who is both One God, and the Father; only we add, that there is alſo One, who is One God of the ſame Eſſence, and the Son; and ſo alſo ſay we of the Holy Spirit: And that as the One Lord, and the One Spirit here, do not exclude the Father from being both Lord, and Spirit, ſo neither doth the One God, and Father, exclude the Son, or Holy Spirit, from being God, but only from being God the Father. It alſo is to be noted, that the Primitive Fathers before the Nicene Council, did not ſcruple to diſtinguiſh Chriſt from God the Father, by ſtiling him another God from the Maker of all things, ὑπὲρ ὃν ἄλλος Θεὸς οὐκ ἔστι, above whom there is no other God. (a) Juſtin Martyr twice deſcribes the Father by this diſtinctive Character, that he is God, ὑπὲρ ὃν ἄλλος Θεὸς οὐκ ἔστι, above whom there is no other God; ſaying, that Chriſt did nothing but what, ὁ τὸν κόσμον ποιήσας, ὑπὲρ ὃν ἄλλος οὐκ ἔστι Θεὸς, the Maker of the World, above whom there is no other God, would have him do; and yet he at leaſt twenty times aſſerts, that Chriſt is God and Lord, and that he is the Perſon, (b) ἀφ' οὗ οὐρανὸν καὶ γῆν, by whom he made the Heaven and Earth, and by whom he will renew them; the Word of God; δι' οὗ οὐρανὸς καὶ γῆ, καὶ ἡ πᾶσα κτίσις ἐγένετο, by whom the Heaven and the Earth, and the whole Creation was made. So (c) Irenæus often ſaith, that the Father is only to be called God and Lord; and yet he adds, that this is not ſaid to exclude the Son, who is in the Father, and hath the Father in him, and hath his Principality in all things.

e Ver. 7. Ἐδόθη ἡ χάρις, Is given Grace.] Theſe Graces therefore being the Gift of Chriſt, and not our own, no one ſhould be puffed up, or deſpiſe others on the account of them; nor ſhould envy any others to whom he thinks fit to give them in an higher meaſure.

f Ver. 8. Διὸ λέγει, Wherefore he ſaith.] That this Pſalm relates to the Meſſiah, we learn from the Jews themſelves, who interpret this Pſalm of him, for the words, v. 32. are by them thus Paraphraſed, all Nations ſhall bring Gifts to the King Meſſiah, Schemoth Rabbah. §. 15. en of extraordinary Gifts, is evident from s very place; for the preceding Words, gave Gifts unto Men, ſome Apoſtles, ſome
phets, &c. ſhew that all the Perſons men-ned here, were Partakers of the Gifts ich Chriſt aſcending up on high, and ued with thoſe Spiritual Gifts there ntion'd. Hence it is obſervable of theſe ctors, that when the extraordinary Gifts

Ver. 12.—— 15. From theſe five Verthe Papiſts argue for an infallible Guide s; 'Chriſt gave Apoſtles, Paſtors, and eachers, that Chriſtians might not be oſſed to and fro with every Wind of Doctrine; this End could not be comaſſed by giving us ſuch Guides and Intructors in Belief, as were merely fal-ble, and who might lead us into Cir-umvention of Error. Moreover, God gave ſuch Paſtors to his Church, till we 'all come to the Unity of the Faith, 'which will not be till the laſt Days of all; 'wherefore till the End of the World, the 'World ſhall be provided of them, and by 'them be ſecured from being like Children 'toſſed to and fro.

Anſw. I anſwer, That this Text is ſo far from proving a Succeſſion of infallible Guides in Matters of Faith to the World's end, that it ſeems rather to eſtabliſh the Doctrine of the Proteſtants, touching the fulneſs and perſpicuity of the Holy Scripture, in all neceſſary Articles of Chriſtian Faith, and to overthrow the pretended neceſſity of Infallible Guides in order to that end: For, 1ſt, To come to a perfect Man, as to the Unity of Faith, and Knowledge of the Son of God, is, in the Scripture-Language, to be ſufficiently inſtructed in the Articles of the Chriſtian Faith and Knowledge. Thus when our Lord ſaith to the young Man, If thou wilt be perfect, ſell all that thou haſt, Matth. 19. 21. by comparing theſe Words with thoſe in St. Mark and St. Luke, Mark 10. 21. One thing is lacking, or is wanting to thee, Luke 18. 22. It is evident, that to be perfect, there is not to be wanting in the Knowledge or Practice of any thing to be done, that this young Man might have Eternal Life.

When St. Paul ſaith, We ſpeak Wiſdom, ἐν τοῖς τελείοις, among them that are perfect, 1 Cor. 2. 6. the Meaning is, ſay the Greek Commentators, (e) παρὰ τοῖς τελείαν παραδεξαμένοις πίστιν, among thoſe who are perfectly inſtructed in the Faith. And when he ſaith, As many as are perfect let us mind the ſame thing; he ſpeaks of Perſons fully inſtructed in their Chriſtian Liberty: And when he ſaith, Leaving the Principles of the Oracles of Chriſt, let us go on to Perfection; he calls us to advance to a more full Inſtruction in the Faith and Knowledge of Chriſt. See Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6.

2*dly,* Note, That the Apoſtles, and firſt Preachers of the Goſpel, were made Miniſters of his Church, πληρῶσαι τ̃ λόγον τȣ̃ Θεȣ̃, to teach fully the Word of God, Col. 1. 25. 26. To teach every Man in all Wiſdom, that they might preſent every Man perfect in Chriſt Jeſus, v. 28. And accordingly, departing from the Churches planted by them, they commended them only to the Word of Grace, which was able to build them up, and give them an Inheritance among all that are ſanctified, Acts 20. 32.

) Eſt itaque frater aliquis doctor gratiâ ſapientiæ donatus. De Præſcript. c. 3.

3dly, Obſerve that the Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, Paſtors, and Teachers, here named, were given at our Lord's Aſcenſion for theſe Ends; for when he aſcended up on high, ἔδωκε, he actually gave ſome Apoſtles, &c. and that even thoſe Paſtors and Teachers had their χαρίσματα, or ſupernatural Gifts of the Holy Spirit, to fit them for that End. Whence it demonſtratively follows, That theſe Gifts ceaſing ſoon after, a Succeſſion of ſuch Perſons was neither promiſed, nor was neceſſary to this End; for if ſo, Chriſt muſt be charged with Breach of Promiſe, and being wanting to the Church in what was neceſſary for the obtainment of thoſe Ends.

4thly, Obſerve that theſe Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, Paſtors, and Teachers, endued with theſe ſupernatural Gifts for the Work of the Miniſtry, for the edifying of the Body of Chriſt into a perfect Man, not doing all, or any of theſe things in Perſon ſince their Death; and yet being given for the accompliſhing theſe Ends, muſt be acknowledged to have done all theſe things, as far as they were needful, by ſome other Way. Now there being no other Way in which they could do it, but by their Writings left behind them as a Rule of Faith, and by which, they being dead, yet ſpeak; it follows, that theſe Writings duly attended to, muſt be ſufficient for theſe Ends; and conſequently they muſt, both with ſufficient fulneſs and perſpicuity, inſtruct us in all the neceſſary Articles of Chriſtian Faith, and Knowledge. Hence (f) Chryſoſtom informs us, that they writ the Goſpel, πρὸς καταρτισμὸν τῶν ἁγίων, for the perfecting the Saints, for the Work of the Miniſtry, for the edifying of the Body of Chriſt. In a Word, 'tis evident, this Text doth as much prove a Neceſſity of Apoſtles, Prophets, and Evangeliſts, in all future Ages of the Church, to keep her Members fixed in the Truth, as of Paſtors and Doctors; theſe Apoſtles, Prophets, and Evangeliſts, being here placed in the firſt Rank of thoſe whom God hath given for this End: Since therefore theſe Apoſtles, Prophets and Evangeliſts, were only given in the firſt Ages of the Church; it evidently follows, that the Perſons mentioned in this Text, were not given them to do this perſonally to the World's end, but only to do it by the Doctrine they then taught.

CHAPTER V.

Verſe 1. BE ye therefore followers of [this love of] God, as [becomes his] dear Children.

2. And walk in love, as Chriſt alſo [hath given an example, who] hath loved us, and a hath given himſelf for us [a] an Offering and a Sacrifice to God, for a ſweet ſmelling Savour.

3. But Fornication and all Uncleanneſs, or Covetouſneſs, [inordinate deſire] let it not be once named among you, [that you may

c 4. Neither [Gr. ἢ, and let not] [c] filthineſs, nor [and] fooliſh talking, nor jeſting, which are [things] not convenient [to your calling, be uſed among you,] but rather [let your employment be that of] giving of Thanks.

5. For this ye know, that no Whoremonger, or unclean Perſon, nor covetous Man, who is an Idolater, hath any Inheritance in the Kingdom of Chriſt, and of God [the Father.]

d 6. [d] Let no Man deceive you with vain Words, [as if theſe things might be conſiſtent with the favour of God,] for becauſe of theſe things cometh the Wrath of God upon the Children of Diſobedience.

7. Be not ye therefore partakers with them [in thoſe ſins.]

e 8. For ye were [e] ſometimes [Children of] Darkneſs, [being ſubject to thoſe Deeds of Darkneſs, Chap. 2. 1, 2, 3. Chap. 4. 18, 19.] but now are ye [Children of the] Light [by your Faith] in the Lord; walk [therefore] as Children of the Light.

f 9. For the fruit [f] of the [Holy] Spirit, [by which you are enlightened,] is in all goodneſs, righteouſneſs, and truth, [and ſo inſtructs you to avoid thoſe Deeds of Wickedneſs.]

10. [Walk then as Children of the Light,] proving [δοκιμάζοντες, approving] what is acceptable to the Lord.

11. And have no fellowſhip with the unfruitful works of darkneſs, [committed by the g Heathens,] but [g] rather reprove them.

12. [They being ſuch as deſerve to be reproved;] for it is a ſhame even to ſpeak of h thoſe things which are [h] done of them in ſecret.

13. But all things that are reproved, are made manifeſt by the light, [or being diſcovered by the light, are made manifeſt,] for whatſoever doth make [any thing] manifeſ is light.

Annotations on Chap. V.

erſe 2. Προσφορὰν ϗ ϑυσίαν, an Offering and Oblation. ] That the Death of hriſt is here ſtiled an Oblation offered up God for us, cannot be denied: But Crel-
s ſaith, That the Apoſtle ſpeaks not here an Expiatory Oblation; becauſe the Ob-tion here mentioned, is ſaid to be offered r a ſweet-ſmelling Savour, which Phraſe ſcarce ever uſed concerning Expiatory Saifices, but chiefly of Burnt-Offerings, which ere not of themſelves Expiatory, and are Moſes diſtinguiſhed from Sacrifices for n.

But (1.) That Sacrifices of a ſweet-ſmelng Savour were uſed to make Atonement
r, and to expiate the Sin of Men, is prod from the Sacrifice of Noah: For wherein the Greek we read, that when that Sa-ifice was offered, God ſmell'd ὀσμὴν εὐωδίας, a Sacrifice of a ſweet Savour; in the He-ew he is ſaid to ſmell Eth Ruach Hannica, Savour of Reſt, that is, which made God's nger to reſt, ſay the Jewiſh Writers. (a) Jo- bus informs us, that Noah by this Sacrie entreated that God would now be atoned, would no more conceive ſuch Diſpleaſure
ainſt the Earth, i. e. the Inhabitants of

And by the Syriac Verſion it is render-an Odour of Placability, becauſe, as Va- lus and Munſter on the place obſerve, od then ceaſed from his Anger, and was appeaſed: So that the firſt time this Phraſe is uſed, it is taken for an Expiatory Sacrifice, and is deſigned to appeaſe the Wrath of God. The Sacrifices which Job offered for his Sons and Daughters, and for his three Friends, were Burnt-Offerings, as the Phraſe והעלה עלות ſhews, and yet they were offered, the one to expiate for the Sin of his Children, Job 1. 5. the other to appeaſe the Wrath of God kindled againſt his three Friends, Chap. 42. 7. Moreover, it is evident from Scripture, that this Phraſe ὀσμὴ εὐωδίας, a ſweet Savour, is uſed, not only of Burnt-Offerings, but of Sacrifices for Sin; thus, If any People of the Land ſin through Ignorance —— when his Sin comes to his knowledge, the Text ſaith, he ſhall bring his Offering, a Kid of the Goats, a Female without blemiſh, περὶ τῆς ἁμαρτίας, a Sacrifice for the Sin he hath ſinned, and the Priest ſhall burn it upon the Altar, εἰς ὀσμὴν εὐωδίας, for a ſweet Savour to the Lord; and the Priest ſhall make Atonement for him, and it ſhall be forgiven him. To this Importance of the Phraſe, doth David manifeſtly allude, when he ſaith to Saul, If the Lord hath ſtirred thee up againſt me, ὀσφρανθείη ἡ θυσία, let him ſmell an Offering. And when this ὀσμὴ εὐωδίας, Sacrifice of a ſweet-ſmelling Savour is applied to Burnt-Offerings, they are declared to be favourably accepted, to make Atonement for him that offers them.

1. c. 4.

This the Son of Syrach ſeems plainly to ſay, of their Sacrifices of ſweet Savour in the General, when he ſpeaks thus of Aaron; (b) He choſe him out of all the People to offer Sacrifices to the Lord, Incenſe and a ſweet Savour, for a Memorial, to make Reconciliation for his People. Thus of the Burnt Offerings in Leviticus it is ſaid, That he that brings them ſhall put his Hand upon the Head of the Burnt Offering, and it ſhall be accepted for him to make atonement for him, Lev. 1. 4. Now as the (c) Hebrew Doctors tell us, That this impoſition of Hands was always joined with Confeſſion of Sins over the Sacrifice, which Confeſſion ſtill concluded with a Prayer, That the Sacrifice might be an Expiation for them: So the Phraſe, It ſhall be accepted to make atonement for him, Lev. 14. 20. uſed here, and elſewhere, concerning Holy Things, is as much as is ever ſaid of Expiatory Sacrifices. Nor is it any Objection to the contrary, that Burnt Offerings are uſually diſtinguiſhed from Sin-Offerings; the reaſon of that being this, ſaith (d) Ainſworth, that Burnt Offerings were for the Atonement of general Sins, and ſuch as often were unknown to Men, whereas for ſpecial Sins there was appointed a ſpecial Sacrifice, and Sin-Offering. This, ſaith (e) Dr. Outram, was the Opinion of the Jews, that Burnt Offerings were intended for the Expiation of Sin. And this, ſaith (f) Mr. Selden, was their Practice, to offer theſe as Expiatory Sacrifices for Strangers.

b Ver. 3. Καθὼς πρέπει ἁγίοις, as becometh Saints.] Worthy of Obſervation is the Note of St. Jerom here, Ex quo Sanctus non poteſt appellari, quicunque, extra Fornicationem, in aliqua immunditia, & avaritia voluptatum quâ ſe delectaverit, invenitur.

c Ver. 4. That the Words μωρολογία and εὐτραπελία, are to be interpreted to an impure Senſe, may probably be gathered from the Words join'd with them, Fornication, Uncleanneſs, Filthineſs, and more probably from the reaſon rendered for the abandoning them all; viz. That no Fornicator, or unclean Perſon, hath any Inheritance in the Kingdom of God, or of Chriſt. Μωρολογία is in the Rabbinical Phraſe, נבול פה, turpitudo oris, of which they (g) proverbially ſay, כל המנבל פיו, quicunque fœdè loquitur, perinde eſt ac ſi introduceret Porcum in Sanctuarium. To commit נבלה, Folly in Iſrael, is to commit Whoredom, or Adultery: And the Word by the Septuagint is ſometimes rendered ἄσχημον, indecency, ſometimes ἀφροσύνη, ſom times μωρία, folly, and ſometimes ἀκαθα σία, filthineſs. And the ſoliciting a Wom to Fornication by filthy Words, is in t Targum expreſſed thus, לא תנבל, non turpabis verbum oris, Thou ſhalt not ſpeak i purely with thy Mouth, to cauſe thy Fleſh ſin. Ecclef. 5. 6.

Εὐτραπελία is by Suidas rendered μωρολογ κουφότης, ſcurrility, levity, by Phavorinus, Βωμ λοχία. Now Βωμολόχος, is a filthy, ſcur lous Man; and in Ariſtophanes, Βωμολόχοις ἐπε χαίρειν, is to be pleaſed with filthy ſcurril Words. Hence Oecumenius, and Theophyl reckon them both as ὀχήματα τῆς πορνείας, forerunners, or incentives to Fornication.

As for the Word πλεονεξία, that it ha ſometimes an impure Senſe, ſee Note 1 Theſſ. 4. 6. though being here ſtiled I latry, it ſeems more naturally to relate the love of Riches, which renders us m truly guilty of that Sin. Though it be ſo true, that he who loveth Pleaſures m than God, is guilty of that Sin, and this I purity was a frequent, and almoſt gene Appendix of Idol-Worſhip.

That the Epheſians ſtood in need of th Inſtructions we learn from (h) Democri Epheſius, who ſpeaking of the Temple the Epheſian Diana, hath much περὶ τὴν χλι αὐτῶν, of the ſoftneſs and luxury of the Ep ſians; and from (i) Eualces in his Book Epheſiacis, who ſaith, ἐν Ἐφέσῳ ἱερὸν ἱδρύσα ἑταίρᾳ Ἀφροδίτῃ, in Epheſus they built Tem to Venus, the Miſtreſs of the Whores: A from Strabo, who informs us, That in th ancient Temples there were Old Images, but their New σκολιὰ ἔργα, vile Works were do L. 14. p. 640.

Ver. 6. Μηδεὶς ἀπατάτω, let no Man dece you.] Among the Heathens, ſimple Forni tion was held a thing indifferent; the La allowed, and provided for it in many N tions; whence the grave Epictetus counſ his Scholars, only to whore ὡς νόμιμον ἐστι, cording to Law: And in all places they co nived at it. He that blames young Men their meretricious Amours, ſaith (l) Cic does what's repugnant to the Cuſtom and C ceſſions of our Anceſtors, for when was not done? When was it not permitted? This w ſuitable both to the Principles and P ctices of many of their grave Philoſoph eſpecially of the (m) Stoicks, who held

Ibid. Awake thou that ſleepeſt, and ariſe from the Dead, ϗ ἐπιφαύσει σοι ὁ Χριςὸς, and Chriſt ſhall enlighten thee, or ſhine upon thee; And yet our Tranſlation, that Chriſt ſhall give thee Life, is very juſtifiable, as giving the true Senſe of the Metaphor; ſo Pſal. 13. 14. Lighten my Eyes, that I ſleep not in Death, i. e. preſerve my Life, Prov. 29. 13. The Poor and Rich meet together, the Lord enlighteneth both their Eyes. See Job 3. 20. 33. 30. Mr. Dodwel citing theſe Words ſaith, "Chriſt ſhall "give the Light, is the ſame with the im"mortal Light; and this is an Addreſs to "the Dead, who are frequently ſaid to ſleep "in the Prophetick Stile of the New Teſtament; "and the Light ſeems to allude to the Bap"tiſmal Illumination of the Spirit, upon own"ing of the true Faith. But as in this he is ſingular, and hath not one Authority, Ancient, or Modern, agreeing with him in this Interpretation, or to the Application of it to Chriſt preaching to the Dead in Hades, and baptizing them. St. Chryſoſtome, Theodoret, Photius, and Theophylact among the Greek Interpreters; Ambroſe, or Hilary the Deacon, and St. Jerome among the Latins; all ſaying poſitively, that the Words are to be underſtood Metaphorically of a Sleep, and Death in Treſpaſſes and Sins; ſo is it alſo evident, that the Words cannot bear this Senſe. For,

1*ſt*, If they that ſleep, here ſignifies literally thoſe, whoſe Bodies ſleep in the Grave, the Addreſs to them to riſe from the Dead, muſt be an Addreſs to their Bodies, to riſe from the Grave, and ſo they muſt be firſt raiſed from the Dead before Chriſt gives them Light.

2*dly*, To Sleep, when it is uſed to ſignify Death in the New Teſtament, always relates to the Body ſleeping in the Grave, or in the Duſt; as John 5. 28, 29. 1 Cor, 11. 30. 15. 20. 51. 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. 5. 10. and never to the Soul in Hades, or to the Spirits in Priſon there. k Ver. 16. Ἐξαγοραζόμενοι τὸν καιρὸν, Redeeming the Time. ] Here note,

1*ſt*, That the Times of Peril and Trouble are ſtiled evil Days ; In this Senſe Jacob ſaith his Days were evil, πονηραὶ ἡμέραι, by reaſon of the Troubles he met with from Laban and his Brother Eſau, Gen. 47. 9. The Pſalmiſt, that the Righteous ſhall not be aſhamed, ἐν καιρῷ πονηρῷ, in the evil Day, 77. 19. The wiſe Man ſhall be ſilent, ſaith Amos, in that time, for it is καιρὸς πονηρὸς, an evil Time, Amos 5. 13. i. e. a time of Lamentation, v. 16. of Darkneſs, v. 18. and that is by the Prophet Micah ſtiled ὁ καιρὸς πονηρὸς, an evil Time, Micah 2. 2. which brought thoſe Judgments on them which they could not eſcape. And in the cloſe of this Epiſtle, to ſtand ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ πονηρᾷ, is to ſtand in the times of fiery Trials, and ſevere Perſecutions by the Inſtruments of Satan, Chap. 6. 13.

Ἐξαγοράζειν τὸν καιρὸν, to redeem the time. ] Is by all honeſt Ways, and prudent Methods to endeavour to avoid the Dangers, and to eſcape the Perſecutions to which theſe perilous Times may render us obnoxious. So when King Nebuchadnezzar had threatened that the Chaldæans and Magicians ſhould be cut in pieces, if they declared not his Dream, and they ſtill put him off with this Anſwer, Let the King tell the Dream, and we will tell him the Interpretation : The King replies, Of a Truth I know, ὅτι καιρὸν ὑμεῖς ἐξαγοράζετε, that you would gain the Time, i. e. you hope by theſe Anſwers to delay the Time of your Puniſhment, and to contrive ſome Way to eſcape it. So the Scholiaſt upon the plac expounds it, καιρὸν ὑμεῖς ἀγοράζετε, τουτές ὑπέρθεσιν θηρᾶσθε διασκεδάσαι τῇ ἀναβολῇ καιροῦ σκοπιοῦντες τὸ παρ' ὑμῶν ζητούμενον, You hu after delays, ſeeking by the protracting of the Ti to make me forget what I asked of you. An Theodoret expounds it thus, You prolong the Tim τῆς ἐκβάσεως τὸν καιρὸν ἀναμένοντες, hoping f Time to eſcape. So alſo, Col. 4. 5. Walk Wiſdom towards thoſe that are without, i. your Heathen Governours and Magiſtrates, r*deeming the Time*, i. e. endeavouring by a Chriſtian Prudence, to avoid the Calamiti they are ſtill ready to bring upon yo anſwering them with as much Wiſdom an Gentleneſs of Speech as you are able ; fo walking among Wolves, it concerns you be wiſe as Serpents. And tho' it may not b ſo pertinent to this Text, yet will it be ve ry profitable to the Men of this Age conſider the Practice of the Heathens i this Caſe. For (b) Ælian informs us o the Lacedæmonians, that they were much con cerned, that Men ſhould ſpend their Tim well, ταμιευόμενοι πανταχόθεν εἰς ἐπειγόμενο employing it ſtill upon urgent Buſineſs, and ſuffer ing no Man either to be idle, or to employ himſe about Trifles, ὡς ἂν μὴ πρὸς τὰ ἔξω τῆς ἀρετῆ ἀναλισκόμενος, ſo that he might employ his who Time in virtuous Actions. And (c) Stobæus ſaith that the Lucani, a People of Italy, and th Athenians puniſhed thoſe that were idle, a well as thoſe that were guilty, ἄλλου τινὸ ἀδικήματος, of any other Crime. And ſee ing Time is a Talent given us by that Go in whoſe Hand our Lives are, it muſt b given us for ſome good End, and muſt b miſpent, when 'tis not employed to ſuc Ends.

Ver. 18. Μὴ μεθύσκεσθε οἴνῳ, Be not drun with Wine.] The Heathens, who held Drunkenneſs unlawful at other times, thought i a Duty at the Solemnity of Bacchus, and o other Gods. (p) Plato ſaith, That no Ma ſhould be allowed to be drunk, but at the Solemnities of the God that gave them Wine. And when Megillus, the Lacedæmonian had told the Athenians, That he ſaw their whole Citie drunk at the Solemnities of Bacchus, and tha the Inhabitants of Terentum did the ſame; Marvel not at that, ſaith the Athenian, fo the Law with us requires it. And * Plu tarch ſaith, That ὀργιάζοντες ἢ θυσίαις πάροντες, ἢ τελεταῖς, When they celebrated th Orgia of Bacchus, or were preſent at thei Sacrifices, or ſacred Myſteries, they allowed them ſelves to be delighted, μέχρι μέθης, even Drunkenneſs. This was the uſual Appendi of their Sacrifices, they thinking this a Duty

St. Jerom here ſaith, Canere igitur pſallere, magis animo quàm voce debemus, c eſt, quippe quòd dicitur Cantantes, & pſalntes in cordibus veſtris Domino. Audiant ec Adoleſcentuli, audiant hi, quibus pſallendi Eccleſiâ officium eſt, Deo non voce ſed corcantandum, nec Tragœdorum ad modum gutr & fauces dulci medicamine colliniendas, ut Eccleſiâ theatrales moduli audiantur, & canca, ſed in timore, in opere, in ſcientiâ Scriprarum; which ſhews that Choriſters or uire Men had then obtain'd an Office in e Church, tho' he ſeems not much to aprove them.

Ver. 20. Πάντοτε, Always.] See Note on Theſſ. 5. 17. ὑπὲρ πάντων, for all things; for is ſparing Mercies, Pſal. 103. 3, 4. his preenting Mercies, Eph. 1. 4. Tit. 1. 2. his iſtinguiſhing and peculiar Mercies, Heb. 16. for his common Mercies and Benets beſtowed daily upon us, as well as is extraordinary Favours; for paſt Meries to be celebrated by Annual Feſtivals, Exod. 12. 14, 17, 24. Lev. 23. 21. for the Mercies we hope for, 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4. for adverſe as well as proſperous Events, bleſſing him who doth thus give us warning, Pſal. 16. 17. but chiefly for ſpiritual Bleſſings.

Ver. 26. Ἐν ῥήματι, by the Word, That is, ſaith Chryſoſtom, by the words uſed in the Form of Baptiſm, to wit, I baptiſe thee in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt.

Ver. 27. Μὴ ἔχουσαν σπίλον, ἢ ῥυτίδα, Not having ſpot, or wrinkle.] This ſeems to refer to the accuracy of the Jewiſh Baptiſm, who thought not the Perſon well baptized, if there were any wrinkle which kept the Fleſh from the Water, or any ſpot or dirt which was not thoroughly waſhed by it. And thus the Church is cleanſed at preſent from the Guilt of Sin by the Blood of Chriſt, 1 John 1. 7. 2 Cor. 11. 2. Coloſſ. 1. 22.

Ver. 28. Ὡς ἑαυτῶν σώματα, As their own Bodies.] The Jews ſay, He that loveth his Wife as his own Body, and honoureth her more than his own Body, of him the Scripture ſaith, Peace ſhall be in his Tabernacle, and he ſhall viſit his Tabernacle, and ſhall not ſin. Talmud. Sanh. Fol. 76. 2.

Ver. 30. Ἐκ τῆς σαρκὸς αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐκ τῶν ὀϛέων αὐτοῦ, Of his Fleſh, and of his Bones.] This Phraſe being not only uſed to expreſs an intimate relation, Gen. 29. 14. Judges 9. 2. but being the very words which Adam uſed concerning Eve, made out of his Rib, Gen. 2. 23. ſhews that the Apoſtle had his Eye upon the myſtical Senſe of the Production of the Woman from the Man, of which the Jews ſpeak.

Ver. 31. Καὶ προσκολληθήσεται πρὸς τὴν γυναῖκα αὐτοῦ,] Jerom being an Enemy to Wedlock, inſinuates that theſe words are an Addition to the Text, but the contrary is evident, they being found in all Verſions, all the Greek Scholiaſts, in the Codex Alex. and Hilary D.

Ver. 32. Τὸ μυϛήριον τοῦτο μέγα ἐϛίν, This is a great Myſtery.] He doth not ſay as Mr. Cl. interprets the words, But I ſpeak concerning the Love of Chriſt to his Church; nor was that any Myſtery at all, as being long ago revealed, and a thing known to all Chriſtians. But this was indeed a Myſtery, till the Apoſtle here revealed it to the Epheſians, that as the Learned Dr. (s) Alix ſaith, The firſt Match between Adam and Eve, was a Type of that between Chriſt and his Church; and in this, ſaith he, the Apoſtle followed the Jewiſh Notions; for the (t) Jews ſay, according to Voiſin, Sod Adam Hu Sod Meſſiah, The Myſtery of Adam is the Myſtery of the Meſſiah, who is the Bridegroom of the Church. Theſe two great Perſons therefore confirm the Obſervation of Munſter, That the Creation of the Woman from the Rib of the Man, was made by the Jews to ſignify the Marriage of the Celeſtial Man, who is bleſſed, or of the Meſſiah with the Church; whence the Apoſtle applies the very words which Adam ſaid concerning Eve his Spouſe, to thoſe Chriſtians who are the Spouſe of Chriſt, ſaying, we are Members of his Body, of his Fleſh, and of his Bones, v. 30. ## CHAP. VI.

ſe 1. CHildren, obey your Parents, [a] in [compliance with the Com- ndment of] the Lord, for this is right, t you ſhould yield obedience to them who gave life.]
2. [For] Honour thy Father and thy Mor [with Reverence, Obedience, and Mainte- ce, ſaith the fifth Commandment,] which he firſt Commandment [in the Decalogue] [b]
th [a] Promiſe [annexed to it.]
3. [c] [And the Promiſe is this,] That it may well with thee, and [that] thou may'ſt e long upon the Earth.
4. And ye Fathers provoke not your Chilen to wrath [by ſevere Treatment and rigid unctions; See Col. 3. 21.] but [rather] [d] ing them up in the nurture and admonin of the Lord, [inſtructing them in the Prin- les of Piety towards God, and Faith in our rd Jeſus.]
5. Servants be obedient to them that are ur Maſters, [tho' they be only ſo] according the Fleſh, [the Spirit being immediately ſub-
t to God alone,] with fear [of diſpleaſing
m,] and trembling [leſt you juſtly ſhould ur their Anger, ſerving them] in ſingle-ſs of your Heart, as [knowing that in thus ving them, you do Service] to Chriſt, [who quires this of you; whoſe Goſpel you will credit your ſincere Obedience to your Maſters for his ke, Tit. 2. 2. and whoſe Doctrine you will aſpheme by your Diſobedience, under pretence of y Chriſtian Liberty from the obſervance of your uty to them, 1 Tim. 6. 1, 2.]
6. [Serve them therefore] not with eyervice, [and whilſt they behold you,] as menleaſers [uſe to do;] but as [becomes] the ervants of Chriſt [in this relation,] doing
e will of God, [who requires this Obedience them, 1 Pet. 2. 18, 19, 20.] from the eart.
7. With good-will doing [them] Service, [conſidering you do it] to the Lord [himſelf, nd not to Men [only.]
8. [And] knowing that whatever good ny man doth, [out of obedience to the Lord, reward of] the ſame he ſhall receive of e Lord, whether he be [a] bond [-man]
r free.
9. And ye maſters do the ſame things to em, [ſhew the like good-will to, and concern
r them] forbearing threatenings [Gr. ἀνιέν*ς, remitting oft the evils which you threaten to* em,] [e] knowing that your Maſter alſo is Heaven, neither is there reſpect of Per-ns [or Conditions] with him:
10. Finally, my Brethren, be ſtrong in the rd, and in the power of his might.

11. [And to this end] put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to ſtand [your Ground,] againſt [f] the wiles of f
the Devil.

12. For we wreſtle not [only] againſt fleſh and blood, [i. e. Men who are compounded of them; See Note on Gal. 1. 16.] but [alſo] againſt [evil] principalitities and againſt powers, [ſuch as Chriſt triumph'd over, Col. 2. 15.]
againſt the rulers of the darkneſs of this in high places, [i. e. againſt thoſe evil Spirits which have their ſtations in the Regions of the Air; See Note on Chap. 2. 2.]

13. Wherefore [I again exhort you to] take unto you [g] the whole Armour of God, that g ye may be able to withſtand [theſe dangerous Enemies] in the evil day [of trial, perſecution,
and temptation,] and having done all, to ſtand [firm againſt them.]

14. Stand therefore, having your loyns girt about [h] with truth, and having on the h breaſt-plate of righteouſneſs;

15. [i] And your feet ſhod with the preparation i of the Goſpel of Peace.

16. Above all [the reſt,] taking [k] the k ſhield of Faith, wherewith ye ſhall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked [one.]

17. And take the [l] Helmet of Salvation, l
[for an Helmet the hope of Salvation, 1 Theſſ.
5. 8.] and the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God, [by biding which in your Hearts you will be preſerved from ſin, Pſal.

and [with] ſupplication, [not for yourſelves only, but] for all Saints, [your Charity to others being a means to procure God's favour to yourſelves.]

19. And for me [in particular,] [m] that [a m door of] utterance may be given to me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the Myſtery of the Goſpel;

20. For which I am an Ambaſſador in Bonds, that therein I may ſpeak boldly as I ought to ſpeak.

21. But [and] that ye alſo may know my affairs, and how I do [at Rome, Tychicus a beloved Brother, and faithful Miniſter in [the things of] the Lord, ſhall make known to you all things.

22. Whom I have ſent to you, for the ſame purpoſe, that ye might know our affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23. Peace be to the Brethren, and love with faith from God the Father, and t Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

24. Grace be with all them that love t Lord Jeſus Chriſt [n] in ſincerity. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Verſe 1. ἘΝ Κυρίῳ, In the Lord.] That is, ſay Oecumenius and Theophylact, as far as their Commandments are conſiſtent with the Will of God.

b Ver. 2. Ἐν ἐπαγγελίᾳ, With Promiſe.] I. e. A ſpecial Promiſe; for that which is annexed to the Second Commandment, is rather a general Aſſertion than a ſpecial Promiſe.

c Ver. 3. The Apoſtle doth not add theſe words, Which the Lord giveth thee; becauſe they particularly belong'd to the Iſraelites, who were to be excluded from their own Land, and he would give them no ground to think they ſhould continue in it. Note alſo hence, that the Goſpel hath its temporal Promiſes, as well as ſpiritual, Matth. 6. 33. 1 Tim. 4. 8. 1 Pet. 3. 10, 11, 12. That this Promiſe did not at all concern the Epheſians, is Mr. Cl's miſtake; for God is not the God of the Jews only, but alſo of the Gentiles, and will reward Moral Duties perform'd by them, as well as by the Jews.

Ver. 4. Provoke not your Children to Anger.] By diſ-inheriting them, by laying heavy Burdens upon them, and uſing them rather as Slaves than Sons, but bring them up in the Nurture and Admonition of the Lord. For it is not, ſaith Ariſtides, a thing of a ſmall Conſideration, what Principles are put into them in their Youth; but it is, τὸ πᾶν, the Foundation of all they do hereafter. And if Lovers of Horſes, Birds, and Dogs, are careful of their Education; Is it not juſt, ſaith St. Chryſoſtome, that Chriſtians ſhould be more careful of the Education of their Children? Eſpecially if they conſider, that upon this Education depends much their eternal State; and that they will contract the Guilt of their eternal Ruin, who neglect this Duty.

d Ibid. Ἐκτρέφετε, Bring them up in the nurture.] This, ſaith Oecumenius, is the way to make them obedient; and if you furniſh them with Spirituals, temporal Things will follow: Make them read the Scriptures, ſaith Theophylact, which is the duty of all Chriſtians, for is it not a ſhame to inſtruct them in Heathen Authors, whence they may learn bad things, and not to inſtruct them in the Oracles of God?

Ver. 8. The ſame ſhall be receive of the Lord.] So that tho' he be not rewarded for the Good he doth by his earthly and unbelieving Maſter, he will, moſt certainly, be recompenſed by his Lord Chriſt.

Ver. 9. Εἰδότες, Knowing;] (1.) That y with reſpect to God, are Servants, and th as you mete to your Servants, he will me to you. (2dly,) That his Compaſſion a Readineſs to forgive your Treſpaſſes, ſhou make you alſo ready to remit the Treſpaſ of your Servants. (3dly,) That the Relati of Servants doth not make God leſs rea to ſhew kindneſs to them, and own the as his Children, and therefore ſhould n induce us to deſpiſe, and deal ſeverely wi them.

Ver. 11. Τὰς μεθοδείας, The Wiles.] Th is, ſaith Phavorinus, ἐπιβȣλὰς, ἐνέδρας, δ λȣς, the Deceits he puts upon us, the Snar he lays for us, the Machinations he co trives againſt us.

Ver. 13. Τὴν πανοπλίαν τȣ̃ Θεȣ̃, The wh Armour of God,] Here, and v. 10, 11. whi makes us ſtrong in the Lord, and in the pow of his might, conſiſts of ſuch things as eith are in us, as Truth, Faith, Righteouſne Peace, the Hopes of Salvation; or are to uſed by us, as Prayer, and Attendance the Word of God; and not in any imm diate influx of the Power of God without t uſe of theſe. Yea, this is here ſtiled, whole Armour of God, nothing more being quiſite to enable us to come off Victors this Combat; ſo that in theſe things do conſiſt the Power of his Might; or by the it is certainly to be obtain'd.

That the Evil Day is the Day of Trial a Perſecution, ſee Note on Chap. 5. 16.

Ver. 14. Ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, With Truth.] Th the Goſpel is throughout the Epiſtles emph tically ſtiled the Truth, See Note on Ro 2. 8. And this ſeems to be the truth he mention'd, viz. a full Perſwaſion of t truth of that Religion we profeſs, or th ſtedfaſtneſs in the Faith, by which we a enabled to reſiſt the roaring Lion, 1 Pet. 8, 9. See 1 Theſſ. 3. 5. James 1. 6. The Brea plate of Righteouſneſs is an exact obſervan of our Duty to God, and a righteous d portment towards Men, in all the Offic of Juſtice, Truth, and Charity, which w beget in us that good Conſcience, which w ſupport us in the Day of Temptation, a procure Honour and Eſteem, Love and Co paſſion from Men. The Phraſe is taken fr Iſaiah 59. 18.

Ver. 15. Ὑποδησάμενοι τοὺς πόδας, And your ſhod, &c.] For explication of this Phraſe, ſerve firſt, That Shoes were anciently part of Military Armour ; for in the Stoof Goliah, there is mention of his Greaves
Braſs upon his Legs, 1 Sam. 17. 6. and in Story of the Trojan Wars, χαλκοκνημῖδες αιοι, the Grecians which were ſhod with Greaves Braſs, are the armed Grecians. Note, Sendly, That to be ſhod doth ſignify our be-ready for the Work we go about ; thus Iſraelites were commanded to eat the ſſover ſhod, i. e. ready for their Journey of Egypt ; and the Apoſtles are requi-to be ſhod with Sandals, that they might ready to go whither their maſter ſhould pleaſed to ſend them, Mark 6. 8. The ſpel of Peace is either that Goſpel which oclaims Peace with God through Faith Chriſt, or which lays upon us the high-Obligations to live peaceably with all en : So that the meaning of theſe words ems to be this, That ye may be ready the Combat, be ye ſhod with the Goſ-l of Peace, i. e. endeavour after that peace-le and quiet Mind the Goſpel calls for ;
not eaſily provoked or prone to quar-
l, but ſhew all gentleneſs, and all longffering to all Men, and this will as cer-inly preſerve you from many great Temp-tions and Perſecutions, as did thoſe Shoes Braſs the Soldiers from thoſe ſharp Sticks d Gall-traps, which were wont to be laid ivily in the Ways, to obſtruct the march-g of the Enemy.

Ver. 16. Τὸν θυρεὸν τῆς πίστεως, The Shield of ith.] That Faith which is the confident ex- ctation of things hoped for, the evidence of things
t ſeen, Heb. 11. 1. for this is the Victory over
e World, even our Faith, 1 John 5. 4.

Ver. 17. Τὴν περικεφαλαίαν τοῦ σωτηρίου, The Helmet of Salvation.] I. e. We muſt be well aſſured, that if we fight the good fight of Faith, there will be laid up for us an immortal Crown of Glory, which God the righteous Judge will give us, 2 Tim. 4. 8. That he who cannot lie, hath promiſed to him that overcometh, to eat of the tree of life, Rev. 2. 7. To taſte the hidden Manna, v. 17. To be a Pillar in the New Jeruſalem, Rev. 3. 12. That you ſtrive and fight for an incorruptible Crown that fadeth not away, 1 Cor. 9. 25. And this Hope will be as an Helmet to defend your Heads from all the Strokes of a Temptation : This in Iſaiah 59. 18. is περικεφαλαία σωτηρίου, the Helmet of Salvation upon the Head.

Ver. 19. Λόγος ἐν ἀνοίξει στόματος, That utterance may be given to me.] A door of utterance, Coloſſ. 4. 6. This is a (u) Rabbinical Phraſe, פתחין פה, the opening of the mouth ſignifying an occaſion of ſpeaking, and confidence in ſpeaking : So that the Apoſtle here requeſts their Prayers, that he, being looſed from his Bonds, may have again an opportunity of preaching the Goſpel, and alſo that he may do it publickly and plainly, μετὰ παῤῥησίας, with due confidence and boldneſs.

Ver. 24. Ἐν ἀφθαρσίᾳ, In Sincerity :] i. e. Not only with a ſincere Love, uncorrupted by the oppoſite Love of any Luſt forbidden by him ; but with a conſtant and perpetual Love, which no Temptation can abate, or cauſe to ceaſe, or to wax cold. Or as Mr. L. without the Mixture of thoſe legal Obſervations, by which the Enemy, ſaith St. Paul φθείρει, corrupts the Minds of Chriſtians from the ſimplicity of the Goſpel, 2 Cor. 11. 3. See the Note on Chap. 1. v. 2.

THE PREFACE TO THE Epiſtle of PAUL the Apoſtle TO THE PHILIPPIANS

IT is the Obſervation of Theodoret, Oecumenius, and others, that Philippi was a City of Macedonia, under the Metropolis of Theſſalonica, which is confirmed, Note on Verſe the firſt.

This Epiſtle is by the ſame Greek Scholiaſts ſaid to be written by St. Paul, when he was in Bonds at Rome. That he had been in Bonds ſome time before, we may gather from Ch. 1. 12, 14. from the Philippians ſending Epaphroditus to him with Relief, and his return to them with this Epiſtle, after a dangerous Sickneſs, and from his Hopes to come quickly to them, Chap. 2. 24. and therefore he is ſuppoſed by the moſt exact Chronologers to have writ this Epiſtle in the eighth Year of Nero, and the ſixty ſecond of our Lord.

That the Apoſtle here warns them againſt the Gnoſticks, or that theſe Gnoſticks joined with the Judaizing Chriſtians to perſwade the Gentiles to Judaize, I have not read in any of the Ancients; but the Greek Scholiaſts agree in this, that he warns them againſt (a) τὴν ἐξ πατὴν τῶν ἐξ Ἰουδαίων μὲν πεπιστευκότων, t deceit of the believing Jews, who endeavour to corrupt them, προφάσει τῆς σκιᾶς τοῦ νόμου, περιτομῆς, by impoſing on them Circumc ſion, and the Shadows of the Law, and ſayin that without theſe they could not be juſtifie Chap. 3. 18, 19. And this is abundantly confirm ed from the whole third Chapter, where the Ap ſtle declares, he judges it for their Safety to wri to them to beware of Dogs, of Evil worker and of the Conciſion, and by his ſtiling the the Enemies of the Croſs of Chriſt, v. 1 19. See Note on Chap. 3. v. 2, 3, 15, 16.

And laſtly, It is noted by Theodoret, an others of the Fathers, that Epaphroditus me tioned in this Epiſtle as their Meſſenger, Ch 15. and 4. 18. was alſo their Biſhop, (b) ὃς τ ψυχῶν αὐτῶν ἐπιστεύθη ἐπιμέλειαν, or the Perſ to whom the Care of their Souls had bee committed; tho', I confeſs the words τὸν Ἀπος λον ὑμῶν, your Apoſtle, do not prove it.

CHAP. I.

erſe 1: [a] PAUL and Timotheus the Servants of Jeſus Chriſt, to l the Saints in Chriſt Jeſus, which are at Gr. in] Philippi, [b] with the Biſhops and eacons [there.]

2. [I wiſh] Grace to you, and Peace from od the Father, and from the Lord Jeſus
hriſt.

3. [And] I [Paul] thank my God upon ery remembrance of you [in my Pray-

4. Always in every prayer of mine for u all, making requeſt with joy.

5. [Which joy I have] For your [c] fellow-ip in the Goſpel, from the firſt day until w: [i. e. for your continuance in the Faith,
d the profeſſion of the Goſpel.]

6. [d] Being confident of this very thing, at he who hath begun a good work,
the good work of Faith,] in [or among] u, will perform it to the day of Jeſus
hriſt.

7. Even as it is meet for me to think is of you all, [Gr. τȣ̃το φρονεῖν, to have is care for you all, which I ſhew in my Pray-
, and my continual remembrance of you, v. 4.]
becauſe I have you in my heart, [or you ve me in your heart,] inaſmuch as in my onds, and in the defence and confirma-on of the Goſpel, you all are partakers my grace, [Gr. as thoſe who are all my partners of Grace in my Bonds, &c.]

8. [And of this my care for you I can call God to witneſs;] For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jeſus Chriſt, [or the moſt paſſionate Degree of Chriſtian Love.]

9. And this I pray [for you,] that your love abound yet more and more, in knowledge, and all [f] judgment. f

10. That ye may approve [the] things that are excellent, that ye may be ſincere, and without offence till the day of Chriſt.

11. [g] Being filled with the fruits of Righteouſneſs, which are [taught] by Jeſus Chriſt, to the glory and praiſe of God. g

12. But [to proceed to my own Affairs, about which you have been ſo ſollicitous, v. 7.] I would ye ſhould underſtand, Brethren, that the things which have happen'd to me, [through the Malice of my Adverſaries,] have fallen out rather to the furtherance, [than the hinderance] of the Goſpel.

13. So that my bonds in [and for the cauſe of] Chriſt, are manifeſt in the Palace, and in all other places, [i. e. 'tis manifeſt not only in the Palace, but throughout all Rome, that I am in Bonds for the Faith of Chriſt.]

14. [h] And many of the Brethren of the Lord waxing confident by my [patience, and courage in my] bonds, are [become] much more bold to ſpeak the word [of God] without fear. h

15. Some indeed [there are, who] preach Chriſt even of envy and ſtrife, and ſome alſo of good-will, [and kind affection to me, and to the Goſpel.]

16. The one [party] preach Chriſt of contention, not ſincerely, [not from love to him, but diſaffection towards me,] ſuppoſing [by this means] to add affliction to my bonds, [or to bring further Tribulation on me now in Bonds.]

17. But the other [party preach Chriſt, out] of love [to him, and me his Servant,] knowing that I am ſet up [or lie in Bonds] for the defence of the Goſpel.

18. What then [ſhall this afflict me? no, ſince] notwithſtanding every way, whether in pretence, or in truth, Chriſt is [ſtill] preached; and I therein do rejoyce, yea, and will rejoice.

19. For I know that this ſhall [be ſo far from accompliſhing their end of adding Tribulation to my Bonds, that it ſhall] turn to my ſalvation, [i. e. my Deliverance] through your prayers [for me,] and the ſupply of the Spirit of Jeſus Chriſt, [enabling me to plead ſo as ſhall tend to my enlargement, v. 25.]

20. According to my earneſt expectation, and my hope, that [through the aſſiſtance of the Spirit of Courage, which God hath promiſed, and given to us, 2 Tim. 1. 7.] in nothing I ſhall be aſhamed, but [that] with all boldneſs, as always [hitherto;] ſo now alſo [i] Chriſt ſhall be magnified in my body, whether it be by [my] life [now,] or by [my] death [hereafter.]

21. For [the motive] to me to live is [the Service of] Chriſt, and to die [for him] is [my greateſt] gain.

22. But if [it happen that] I live in the fleſh, [this is the fruit of my labour, [Gr. is worth my labour;] yet what I ſhall chooſe I know not, [i. e. were it left to my choice, I ſhould be in a ſtrait which of the two Conditi to chooſe:]

23. For I am in a ſtrait between [th two, having a deſire [k] to depart, and to with Chriſt, which is far better [for me th continuing here, were I only to reſpect my o Intereſt.]

24. Neverthleſs [for me] to abide in t fleſh is more needful for you.

25. And having this confidence, [that will receive this Advantage, by my abiding the Fleſh,] I know that I ſhall abide, a continue with you all, for your furtheran [in,] and joy of Faith.

26. That your rejoycing may be m abundant in Jeſus Chriſt, by [or through] coming to you again.

27. Only let [this be your care, that] y converſation be as becometh the Goſpel Chriſt, that whether I come and ſee you, elſe be abſent, I may hear [a comfortable count] of your affairs; that you ſtand [l] in one ſpirit, with one mind ſtriving gether for the Faith of the Goſpel.

28. And [being] in nothing terrified [the Threats and Perſecutions of] your adv ſaries, which is to them an evident to of [your] Perdition, [viz. that you are an ſtinate People, bent on your own ruin;] but you [it is a Token] of Salvation, and tha God, [it being righteous with God to recomp Tribulation to them that trouble you, but to reſt, 2 Theſſ. 1. 5.]

29. For unto you it is given [by God as eſpecial Favour,] in the behalf of Chriſt, only to believe in him, but alſo to ſu for his ſake.

30. Having the ſame conflict [with Enemies of the Faith,] which you ſaw me, [when I was among you, Acts 16. 1 Theſſ. 2. 2.] and now here to be in [v. 16.]

Ibid. Σὺν Ἐπισκόποις καὶ Διακόνοις, with the Bips and Deacons.] Various are the Expoſions of theſe Words, and great are the Conntions about the true Import of them. or,

1. Some, with the Pſeud-Ambroſius, inrpret theſe Words thus ; Paul and Timothy, e Servants of Jeſus Chriſt, with the Biſhops d Deacons that are with us, to the Saints in ilippi. But as none of the Greek Fathers ought fit to take any notice of this ſtrain'd xpoſition, ſo may the harſhneſs of it apar by comparing it with the like Preces to ſome of the other Epiſtles ; v. g. Cor. 1. 1, 2. Paul an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, the Church of God that is at Corinth, σὺν πάτοῖς ἐπικαλουμένοις τὸ ὄνομα τοῦ Κυρίου, with that call upon the Name of the Lord, 2 Cor. 1. Paul an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, to the urch of God that is at Corinth, σὺν τοῖς ὅλῃ τῇ Ἀχαΐα, with all the Saints that are in Achaia ; are places exactly parallel to eſe Words, Paul and Timothy, the Servants Jeſus Chriſt, to all the Saints that are in ilippi, with the Biſhops and Deacons : And t can any Man think, that Paul the Apoſtle, ith all that called upon the Name of the rd Chriſt, or with all the Saints that ere in all Achaia, writ to the Church of rinth, which was part of that Achaia ? ) When the Apoſtle takes in thoſe that ere with him, as Co-partners in Writing another Church, he doth it thus, Paul Apoſtle, καὶ οἱ σὺν ἐμοὶ πάντες ἀδελφοὶ, and the Bretheren that are with me, write to the urches of Galatia, Gal. 1. 1, 3. Had he en intended to greet the Philippians in the e manner, he would have writ in the e Stile, Paul and Timothy, καὶ οἱ σὺν ἐμοὶ ίσκοποι καὶ Διάκονοι, and the Biſhops and Deas that are with me, to the Church in Phipi.

The learned Dr. Hammond ſaith, That ilippi was a Metropolis, which had many ſhops under it, on which account it is led, Πρώτη τῆς μερίδος τῆς Μακεδονίας πό, the chief City of that part of Macedonia, Acts . 12. and by Photius, τῆς Μακεδόνων ἐπαρχίας ιτρόπολις, the Metropolis of the Province of the Macedonians. And by this, ſaith he, it appears that in Philippi there might be more Biſhops than one, even as many as there were Cities under that Metropolis. But this Solution was,

Firſt, Unknown to the ancient Fathers, Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, St. Jerom, who all contend that Biſhops here muſt ſignify Presbyters, becauſe there could not be more Biſhops than one, properly ſo called, in one City ; whereas had they known this to have been a Metropolis, they muſt have known that this had been a ſatisfactory Anſwer to that Objection.

2*dly*, They tell us that Philippi was then under the Metropolis of Theſſalonica, which was the Metropolis of all Macedonia. Thus Chryſoſtome on theſe Words, Chap. 4. 16. When I was in Theſſalonica, ye miniſtered to my Neceſſity, &c. obſerves, this was a great Encomium of the Philippians, that ἐν μητροπόλει καθήμενος παρὰ τῆς μικρᾶς ἐτρέφετο πόλεως, being in the Metropolis, he was nouriſhed by a little City. Thus (a) Theodoret, in his Preface to this Epiſtle, ſaith, Φιλιππήσιοι τῆς Μακεδονίας ἦσαν ὑπὸ Μητρόπολιν Θεσσαλονίκην, the Philippians were Inhabitants of Macedonia, under the Metropolis of Theſſalonica : And Theophylact, that they were, ὑπὸ Μητρόπολιν τότε Θεσσαλονίκην τελοῦντες, then, when the Apoſtle writ this to them, under the Metropolis of Theſſalonica. That Theſſalonica was then the Metropolis of Macedonia, is plain from Antipater the Theſſalonian Poet, who flouriſhed in the Times of Auguſtus Cæſar, and calleth Theſſalonica (b) the Mother of all Macedonia. It is called alſo the Metropolis of Macedonia by Socrates ; And in the Eccleſiaſtical Senſe it is ſo called by (c) Ætius, the Biſhop thereof in the Council of Sardica. And ſo ſay all the Notitiæ Antiquæ at the end of Carolus Paulus, who ſaith that Philippi was no Metropolis for the firſt ſix Centuries ; but after that Macedonia was divided into Prima and Secunda, it came to have the Honorary Title of the Metropolitan City, and therefore might be ſtiled ſo by Photius, who lived in the Ninth Century : But by St. Luke 'tis not ſtiled the firſt City, τῆς ἐπαρχίας, of the Province ; but τῆς μερίδος, of that part of Macedonia, which they that came from Thrace thither, touch'd at ; as appears by (d) Dion's Deſcription of it, and chiefly from (e) Diodorus Siculus, who ſaith, ἡ δὲ πόλις αὐτὴ κειμένη κατὰ τῆς Θρᾴκης, that this City being taken by Philip, was very ſerviceable to him, as lying near Thrace, and other places very conveniently.

3dly, The Greek and Latin Fathers do with one conſent declare, that τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους οὕτως ἐκάλεσε, The Apoſtle here calls their Presbyters their Biſhops. So Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact among the Greeks, and among the Latins (f) St. Jerom, (g) Pſeud-Ambroſius, Pelagius, and Primaſius; and that not only for the aforementioned reaſon, that there could be but one Biſhop properly ſo called, in one City; but for another alledged by them all, that τέως ἐκοινώνουν τοῖς ὀνόμασι, then the Names were common to both Orders, the Biſhops being call'd Presbyters, and the Presbyters, Biſhops. And this ſaith Theodoret, is manifeſt in this place, becauſe he adds here (h) Deacons to the Biſhops, making no mention of their Presbyters. The Learned Dr. Pearſon therefore ſeems δουλεύειν τῇ ὑποθέσει, too much to favour his own Hypotheſis, when againſt all theſe Teſtimonies both of Greek and Latin Fathers, he ſaith, 'Tis not yet proved, that there were then at Philippi any Presbyters of the ſecond Order; for ſurely this is prov'd from the Authority of all theſe Fathers. He therefore ſaith, (1.) That before the converted Jews and Gentiles did unite into one Church, there were two Biſhops of the ſame Church. This he proves from thoſe Words of (i) Epiphanius, Alexandria never had two Biſhops at a time, ὡς αἱ ἄλλαι Ἐκκλησίαι, as other Churches had: But if I am not much miſtaken, this relates not to the Primitive and Apoſtolick Times, but to the Times of the Meletians, who founded Biſhops, Presbyters, and Deacons, and by them Ἐκκλησίας ἰδίας, private Churches, calling them Churches of the Martyrs; whereas thoſe of Peter's Party called theirs, Catholick Churches. But though this Schiſm continued long, and even in the time of Theodoret prevailed in Egypt; and, as Danæus notes, infected almoſt all Chriſtian Regions; yet, ſaith Epiphanius, it never ſo prevail'd in Alexandria as in other Churches, there being never there two Biſhops, one of the Catholick, another of the Meletian Churches, as there were in many other Places: And if this be the true Import of theſe Words, 'tis eaſy to diſcern how impertinent they are to the true Expoſition of this Place. He adds alſo from the ſame Epiphanius, that Paul and Peter were both Apoſtles and Biſhops of Rome, as doubtleſs they alſo were at Antioch; and wherever they met, but they were only Biſhops there; becauſe Apoſtles there, one of the Jews, the other of the Gentiles, and in this they had no Succeſſors. St. (k) Jerom indeed takes notice of this Evaſion, but then he lays the Cenſure of contentious Perſons upon them that made it.

The ſame Learned Biſhop adds, That were it true, that there were but one Biſhop in one City, it would not follow, that the Word Biſhops here could not be taken in the proper Senſe, becauſe the Apoſtle doth not here call them Biſhops of the Church, or City of Philippi, but only ſaith, they were then at Philippi; he might Write therefore to them whom he knew to be then at Philippi, tho' they were Biſhops of other Churches. But, (1.) As none of the Ancients have ever ſaid one Word of any other Biſhops than met at Philippi; ſo the Words ſeem not well-conſiſtent with this Evaſion; for writing τοῖς οὖσιν ἐν Φιλίπποις, he doubtleſs writes to the Saints dwelling in Philippi, writing therefore to them with the Biſhops and Deacons, he muſt be ſuppoſed to write alſo to the Biſhops and Deacons dwelling at Philippi.

I therefore acquieſce in the Opinion of Theodoret, who ſays that St. Paul then writ to the Presbyters and Deacons of that City, becauſe their Biſhop Epaphroditus, whom he ſtiles his Brother and Companion in Labour, and Fellow-Soldier, and their Apoſtle, was then with him at Rome, Chap. 2. 25. and that he therefore mentions them, becauſe they were ſo inſtrumental in ſending the Contributions to him, mentioned Chap. 4. 15.

Ver. 5. Κοινωνία] That Fellowſhip; for that κοινωνία here, doth not ſignify their Liberality towards the Propagation of the Goſpel, but their Communion with the Apoſtles in the Goſpel, as it doth, 1 John 1. 3, 7. I gather, (1.) From the Phraſe ἔργον ἀγαθὸν, which is emphatically put to ſignify τὸ ἔργον πίστεως, the Work of Faith; as when we are ſaid, καθ' ὑπομονὴν ἔργου ἀγαθοῦ, By patient continuance in the good Work to ſeek for Glory, Rom. 2. 7. that being the Work of God that we ſhould believe in his Son, John 6. 29. Ver. 11. For all that Chriſt does as a Prophet ſent from GOD, or as aſſuming the Perſon of a Mediator, muſt refer ultimately to the Glory of the Father, Chap. 2. 11.

Ver. 14.—18. For Explication of theſe four Verſes, let it be noted in the general, that they who preached Chriſt, ἐξ ἐριθείας, out of Contention, did not preach Chriſt, or the Goſpel in Truth, and out of love to it, v. 17, 18. but only in pretence, or upon this occaſion, from Strife and Envy againſt St. Paul, being grieved that he had free liberty of preaching Chriſt to all that came to him for two Years, Acts 28. 30. and alſo that they did not acknowledge St. Paul to be ſet up, or by God appointed for the Defence and Propagation of the Goſpel. Whence it appears, that they could not be Perſons, who only did contend with St. Paul for the Glory of being the moſt diligent and ſucceſsful Promoters of the Goſpel; or as ſuch, envying the Apoſtle's Glory, ſet up for themſelves, boaſting as if they were the only Publiſhers of the Goſpel. But yet 'tis difficult to aſſign the Perſons here intended by St. Paul; Oecumenius and Theophylact ſay, they were the unbelieving Jews, who by divulging every where about Rome, what was the Doctrine of Chriſtianity which Paul preached; how oppoſite it was to the Roman Gods and their Worſhip; what Tumults it had cauſed; how many it had turn'd from their Old Religion to the Faith of Chriſt; and who he was in whom the Chriſtians did believe; thought to enrage the Emperor againſt St. Paul, the great Promoter of this Doctrine. And in this, ſay they, might St. Paul rejoyce, as giving occaſion to others to enquire into the Chriſtian Faith, and ſo to come unto it; for, ſaith Tertullian, Deſinunt odiſſe quod deſinunt ignorare; when they once know, they ceaſe to hate it: But ſuch cannot be ſaid to preach Chriſt without an intolerable Catachreſis; nor can St. Paul be ſuppoſed to rejoyce in ſuch a Repreſentation of the Chriſtian Faith, as they made. Others therefore ſay, with a greater likelihood, theſe were the Judaizing Chriſtians, who with the Goſpel taught the Obſervation of the Law; for from theſe aroſe ἔριδες ϗ διχοστασίαι, Strife and Diſſenſions, 1 Cor. 1. 11. and 3. 3. Zeal, Animoſities, and Contentions, 2 Cor. 12. 20. and that on the account of this Apoſtle, whom they would ſcare own as an Apoſtle of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 7. 2. but rather look'd upon as one that walked according to the Fleſh, Chap. 10. 2.

and would have excluded him from the Churches, Gal. 4. 16, 17. And yet at their preaching Chriſt, though not ſincerely, the Apoſtle may be ſuppoſed to rejoyce, becauſe he knew the Time was near when the Hay and Stubble they built on the Foundation, ſhould be revealed, and the Deſtruction of the Temple, and City of Jeruſalem, would ſufficiently confute their vain Additions to the Faith.

i Ver. 20. Ἐν τῷ σώματί μου, Chriſt ſhall be magnified by me in my Body. ] For if I live in the Body, the Power of Chriſt will be magnified in delivering me out of ſo great Danger: But if I be put to Death for his ſake, that Power will be magnified, which enables me ſo chearfully to die for the Faith, as I am ready to do.

Ver. 22. Οὐ γνωρίζω, I know not, ] Ἅπαξ λεγόμενον ἐν τούτῳ τῷ σημαινομένῳ. This γνωρίζω, ſaith J. Gregory, is but once uſed in this Senſe; which is true, if he confines this to the New Teſtament. But Phavorinus mentions another Gregory, who uſed it in this Senſe; and Conſtantine ſays, it occurs thus in Iſocrates and Lucian.

k Ver. 23. Πολλῷ μᾶλλον κρεῖσσον, To depart and to be with Chriſt, which is much better. ] Becauſe, ſaith Crellius, the Time betwixt Death and the Reſurrection is not to be reckoned, therefore the Apoſtle might ſpeak thus, tho' the Soul hath no Senſe of any thing after Death. But could St. Paul think a State of Inſenſibility much better than a Life tending ſo much, as his did, to the Glory of God, to the Propagation of the Goſpel, and the Furtherance of the Joy of Chriſtians? Could he call ſuch an inſenſate State, a being with Chriſt, and a walking by Sight, in oppoſition to the Life of Faith? 2 Cor. 5. 7, 8. Others ſay, The Apoſtle ſpeaketh thus, becauſe he expected that the general Reſurrection, and the Day of Judgment, ſhould be in his Time: But the Words will not bear this Senſe; for the Apoſtle ſaith, he is in a Conſtraint betwixt theſe two, whether he ſhould chuſe that Life which would enable him to gain many to Chriſt, and miniſter greatly to the Neceſſities of his Church, or that which would cauſe him to live with Chriſt, viz. as to his better part, i. e. wh ther his Body and Soul ſhould be diſſo ved, or he ſhould ſtill live in the Fleſh
Now 'tis impoſſible that the ſame Man, the ſame time, ſhould expect the Reſurr ction, and the Day of Judgment, and yet e pect to live in the Fleſh, and to abide wi
the Church in the Fleſh, when none of t
Members of the Church ſhould abide in t Fleſh, but ſhould enjoy that Reſurrectio which would place them with Chriſt, well as himſelf; that he ſhould deſire Soul ſhould be diſſolved, or ſeparated fro
the Body, that he might be preſent wi
the Lord, and yet at the ſame time expe that Day, when he ſhould be clothed up ſtians ſhould ariſe at the Great Day; f

thus he ſpeaks, He that raiſed up the Lo
Jeſus from the dead, will raiſe us alſo by hi

24. But I truſt [or I truſt alſo] in the Lord, that I alſo my ſelf [being ſet at liberty,] ſhall come ſhortly [to you.]

25. Yet [being not hitherto able to come my ſelf, or to ſend Timothy,] I ſuppoſed it neceſſary to ſend to you Epaphroditus my Brother and Companion in Labour, and Fell low Soldier, but your [l] Meſſenger, and he that miniſtered to my wants.

26. For he longed after you all, [i. e. deſired much to ſee you,] and was full of heavineſs, becauſe that ye had heard that he had been ſick, [as knowing your Affection to him would render you full of Sorrow upon his account.]

27. [m] For [and] indeed he was ſick, ni unto death, but God had mercy upon hi and not on him only, but on me alſo, l [by his death,] I ſhould have ſorrow up ſorrow.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 3. LET each eſteem, &c.] This refers not to Judgment, it being not in our Power always thus to eſteem of others, but to Practice; as if he ſhould have ſaid, Be as ready to aſſiſt and help others, as if you were their Subjects and Inferiours; ſo the Example of Chriſt requires, and ſo the Precept runs, That he who is the greateſt ſhould be a Servant to others.

b Ver 6. Ἐν μορφῇ Θεȣ̃, In the form of God.] By this Expreſſion moſt Interpreters do underſtand, that the Apoſtle doth intend Chriſt was eſſentially and truly God; but tho' this be a certain Truth, yet I conceive this cannot be the Import of this Expreſſion in this place.

1*ſt*, Becauſe the Apoſtle exhorteth his Philippians to Humility, after the Example of our Lord; now Humility conſiſts not in the change of Nature, but of Condition; and therefore his Exinanition of the Form of God, ſeems rather to reſpect our Lord's Condition, than his Nature.

2*dly*, There is no more Reaſon to ſay, the Form of God ſignifies the Eſſence of God, than that the Form of a Servant ſignifies the Eſſence of a Servant; but evident it is, that the Form of a Servant doth not ſignify the Eſſence, but the State, and the Condition of a Servant, which is a mere Relation; nor doth his Manumiſſion change his Nature, but his State.

3*dly*, According to this Import of the Phraſe, it cannot well be ſhewed how he did empty himſelf, or lay aſide this Form; for though by taking of a Body, he conceal'd, yet could he not be ſaid to empty himſelf of, or lay aſide the God-head, eſpecially when in th Body he gave ſuch numerous and ſignal D monſtrations of Divine Power and Wiſdo both in his Miracles, his Doctrine, a Knowledge of the Hearts of Men.

4*thly*, This Word μορφὴ, Form, both in t Old and New Teſtament, doth often ſigni the external Shape: As when 'tis ſaid (a) Belteſhaſar, Dan. 5, 6, 10. and of Dani ch. 7. 28. That their (b) Forms were change Of Nebuchadnezzar, That (c) his Form retur ed to him, Dan. 4. 36. Of Chriſt, that appeared to two of his Diſciples Ἐν ἑτέ μορφῇ, in another form, Mark 16. 12. and th μετεμορφώθη, he was transfigured before three them, Matth. 17. 2. but it no where ſeen to ſignify the Eſſence of a Man either in t Old or the New Teſtament.

Grotius, and the Socinians ſay, That Chri is ſaid to be in the Form of God, by reaſo of the Miracles he wrought on Earth, the being Indications of the Power of God r ſiding in him. But this Interpretation ca not ſtand. For,

1*ſt*, Chriſt is here plainly ſaid to ha been in the Form of God, before he took u on him the Form of a Servant, or the Sim litude of a Man; for as theſe Words, B ing found in the faſhion of a Man, he humbl himſelf, and became obedient to the Deat do ſhew, that he was found in the faſhion a Man before he humbled himſelf to becom obedient to the Death; So, by parity of Re ſon, theſe Words, Being in the form of Go &c. he emptied himſelf, and took upon hi

Form of a Servant, being found in the like- s of Man, do ſhew that he was firſt in the rm of God, before that being found in Likeneſs of Man, he took upon him the rm of a Servant.

2*dly*, 'Tis plainly here aſſerted, that Chriſt nptied himſelf of this Form of God at his Humi- tion; whereas he never laid aſide his Pow- of working Miracles, but did continue to ert it to his Death.

3*dly*, This Power of Miracles is never in e Scripture ſtiled the Form of God; and ere this all that was intended by that raſe, both Moſes and Elias, and our Lord's poſtles, might upon that account be ſaid have been in the Form of God; ſeeing both oſes and Elias wrought many Miracles on rth, and Chriſt declared concerning his ſciples, that they ſhould work greater Mi- les than thoſe which he had done, John 14. .

I therefore by this Form of God, do un- rſtand that glorious Form in which God his Throne is repreſented; that Majeſty which he is ſaid to appear in Scripture, d in which the λόγος, or the Word, did ew himſelf of old to Moſes and the Patri- hs. For Explication of this Senſe, I ſhall ew, (1.) How God in the Old Teſtament is preſented as appearing, ſhewing his Form d Glory to the Sons of Men.

(3*dly*,) That ſince our Lord's Aſcenſion he th been inveſted with this Form of God, hath appeared in it; and hath declared it longs to him; tho' for the time of his Hu- liation, he was pleaſed to diſpoſe, or put off. And,

1*ſt*, The Appearance or Similitude of d is repreſented in the Old Teſtament in bright ſhining Cloud or Light, a Flame Fire, or the Attendance of an Hoſt of ngels. Thus in that Viſion of the Pro- et Daniel, The Ancient of Days did ſit; his rone was like the fiery Flame, and his Wheels burning Fire; a Stream of Fire did iſſue from ore him, thouſands of thouſands miniſtered unto n, and ten thouſand times ten thouſand ſtood ore him, Dan. 7. 9. 10. Thus God ap- ared on Mount Sinai, where his Pre- nce was attended with an Hoſt of An- s, according to that ſaying of the Pſal- ſt, The Chariots of God are twenty thouſand, n thouſands of Angels, and the Lord is among n as in Sinai, Pſal. 68. 18. where the rgum adds, The Word of the Lord deſired lace his Majeſty upon it; Jehovah dwel- only in the Heaven of Heavens for r. He appeared there alſo in a bright ſhining Cloud, or Flame of Fire; for the Glory abode upon Mount Sinai, and the Cloud covered it ſix Days, and the Sight of the Glory of the Lord, was like devouring Fire, Exod. 24. 16, 17. And ſeeing of theſe majeſtick Symbols, is to ſee God, v. 12. to ſee the God of Iſrael, v. 10. that is, ſay Onkelos and Jonathan, the Glory of God. And when Moſes doth again repeat the Decalogue, he adds theſe Words, Deut. 5. 22. 24. The Lord ſpake to all your Aſſembly in the Mount, out of the midſt of the Fire of the Cloud: And you ſaid, Behold, the Lord God hath ſhewed us his Glory, and we have heard his Voice out of the midſt of the Fire. We have ſeen this Day that God doth talk with Man, and he liveth. The Word of the Lord our God ſhewed the Divine Majeſty of his Glory, ſaith the Targum of Jonathan; and we heard the Voice of his Word, ſaith Onkelos. And the Prophet Habbakkuk, in his Song of God, ſaith thus, His Glory covered the Heavens, his Brightneſs was as the Light, and bright Beams came out of his ſide, Hab. 3. 3, 4. There he diſcovered Shecantiah, his Shechinah, i. e. his glorious Majeſty, ſaith the Targum. When Jacob had a Viſion of Angels aſcending and deſcending, he preſently cries out, This is no other than the Houſe of God, this is the Gate of Heaven, ſurely Jehovah is in the place, and I knew it not, Gen. 28. 17. Shechinti Dii, The Glory of the Lord is here, ſay the Targums. And when God ſhewed himſelf to the People in the Cloud, then did the Glory or Semilitude of God appear, as the Expreſſion is, Numb. 12. 8. τὴν δόξαν Κυρίȣ, The Glory of the Lord, ſaith the Septuagint, ſo 1 Kings 8. 11. Thus doth the Scripture repreſent that God who dwelleth in Light inacceſſible, before whoſe Face the Angels do continually ſtand as miniſtering Spirits. And this alſo is the Rabbinical Expoſition of the Chabod dii, (d) the Glory of the Lord; that it is, either a Ray of Divine Light, or a Guard of Angels.

2*dly*, That Chriſt was in the Form of God, even before he took upon him Human Nature, will be apparent, if we conſider that even before he purged our Sins, he was the Brightneſs of his Father's Glory, Light of Light, Heb. 1. 3. and in the Language of the Book of Wiſdom, A pure Stream flowing from the Glory of the Almighty, the Brightneſs of the everlaſting Light, Wiſd. 7. 25, 26. And that he at the Concluſion of his Humiliation prays, that God would glorify him with the Glory, which he had with him, before the Foundation of the World, John 17. 3. 2. That it was the Opinion both of the ancient Jews, and of the Chriſtians from the beginning, that it was the λόγος, or the Meſſiah, who appeared to the Patriarchs of old in Light and Splendor, and ſometimes with the Attendance of Holy Angels. And 3. that we have great Evidence of this Matter, both in the Old and New Teſtament : In the Books of Exodus and Numbers we read, that the Children of Iſrael tempted the Lord, ſaying, Is the Lord among us, or not ? Exod. 17. 7. Numb. 21. 6. and that the Lord ſent therefore fiery Serpents among them ; but in the 10th Chapter of the firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians, we are inform'd that they tempted Chriſt, and were deſtroyed of Serpents. See this Reading juſtified, Note on 1 Cor. 10. 9. Chriſt therefore, as to his Divine Nature, was then preſent with, and tempted by them. God alſo ſaith to his People thus, Exod. 23. 20, 23. Behold I ſend an Angel before thee to keep thee in thy way, and to bring thee to the place which I prepared ; beware of him, and obey his Voice, provoke him not ; he will not pardon your Tranſgreſſions, for my Name is in him. Now the ancient (e) Rabbins ſay, this was the Angel, the Redeemer; or an uncreated Angel, in whom was Jehovah : And the Words plainly ſeem to intimate this to us, ſeeing the Power of Remitting Sins, aſcribed here to him, belongeth only to that God againſt whom they were committed. Moreover when God being incenſed againſt Iſrael for making the Golden Calf, had threatened to withdraw himſelf, and only ſend an Angel before them to drive out the Inhabitants of Canaan before them, Exod. 33. 2. this ſeems an evil Word to the People, and they mourn becauſe of it, viz. of thoſe Words, I will not go up in the midſt of thee ; that is, ſay Onkelos, and Jonathan, I will not cauſe שכינתי, my glorious Preſence to go up with thee. Nor doth Moſes himſelf reſt in this Anſwer, but ſpeaks thus to God, If thy Preſence go not with me, carry us not up hence, v. 15. If the Shechinah go not with us, ſaith Onkelos, εἰ μὴ αὐτός σου, If thou thy ſelf go not with us, ſay the Septuagint, R. Salomon, and Eben Ezra : Which Senſe the following Words require, For wherein ſhall it be known that I and thy People have found Grace in thy Sight, is it not in that thou goeſt with us ? v. 16. Whence it is evident, that they were not contented with the Promiſe of a created Angel, but required God's Preſence to go with them ; and that God granted this Requeſt, v. 17. Thus (f) Philo Judæus often informs us, That the Angel who went before them, was no created Angel, but the Divine Word, or God himſelf ; For, ſaith he, Mo prays to God himſelf to be his Governor, in the w that leadeth to himſelf, ſaying, if thou go

3*dly*, That after his Aſcenſion to Right Hand of Majeſty and Glory, Lord Chriſt did again reaſſume this For and appear in this Majeſtick Splendor, evident from the New Teſtament : Thus appeared to Stephen, who looking up ſt faſtly to Heaven, ſaw the Glory of God,
the Son of Man ſtanding at the Right Hand God, Acts 7. 55. Thus he appeared to perſecuting Saul, in a Light from Hea above the brightneſs of the Sun, ſaying to hi
I am Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt, Acts 26.
Thus in the Viſion of St. John, Rev. 1.
16. His Eyes were as a flaming Fire, and Countenance as the Sun ſhining in its ſtreng
Thus he declared he would appear at Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, to puniſh that bellious People ; The Son of Man, ſaith will come in the glory of his Father, with his Angels, Matth. 16. 27. Luke 9. 26, 28. A his ſecond Advent ſhall be with the ſa tremendous Glory, for he ſhall be then rev
ed from Heaven, with his mighty Angels flaming Fire, 2 Theſſ. 1. 7, 8.

4*thly*, Seeing then this Splendor, and Attendance of Holy Angels, is repreſen in Scripture as the Similitude, the Shape, Face, and Majeſtick Preſence of God ; ſee
it is evident, that before the Incarnati the λόγος, or Divine Word had this G ry, and in it did appear to Moſes and Patriarchs, and that in order to the exer
of a Regal Power over his Church ; ſee
it is certain from the New Teſtament, t
after his Aſcenſion he again reaſſumed Form and Power, 'tis highly probable was the Form of God here mention'd ; was the likeneſs to God in which, at Humiliation, he did not covet to appear, rather choſe to lay it aſide, that ſo he mi appear amongſt us, not as the Lord of H ven, attended with an Hoſt of Angels, in the dazzling Brightneſs of his Fath Glory, but in the Faſhion of a Man.

. 3. So that the Senſe of theſe words ſeems o me to be this, That tho' Chriſt in his for-er Appearances ſtill repreſented himſelf in he form and likeneſs of God; yet coming ow into the World for the Salvation of Mankind, he did not covet or deſire to ap-ear in that Majeſtick Splendor and Authoity, but rather choſe to come in the ſimili-ude of a Man, and in the form of a Servant.
Nor doth this Expoſition give any advan-age to the Socinians, but equally confute their Hereſy, and gives a better Anſwer to their Arguments than the uſual Expoſition can give. For,

1. Hence the Pre-exiſtence of Chriſt, before his being born of the Bleſſed Virgin, is proved to a Demonſtration.

2. Hence alſo it is evident, that there muſt be two Natures in Chriſt; that of the Λόγος, which appeared from the beginning to the Patriarchs; and that which he received, when as Man he was conceived in the Virgin's Womb.

3. Hence it appears that this Nature, in which he appeared before his Conception in the Virgin's Womb, muſt be Divine. For what other Nature could appear in the Form of God, and challenge to itſelf the Glory which by the Jews was ſtill eſteemed a certain Indication of the Divine Preſence, and in the New Teſtament is ſtil'd the Glory of the Father? Eſpecially if we conſider; that he who thus appeared hath the incommunicable Name Jehovah ſo oft aſcrib'd to him, is ſtiled the Judge of the whole Earth, and either challengeth to himſelf the Divine Attributes, and Offices, or never doth refuſe them when they are offered to him by Men. Moreover, where is the Humiliation, or the Exinanition here mention'd, in that Chriſt would not be, or appear as God in the World, if, having only an Human Nature, he could not do ſo without being guilty of the Blaſphemy the Jews laid to his charge, That he being a Man, made himſelf God? Whereas he differed in nothing from an ordinary Man, but only in the extraordinary Gifts conferred by God upon him. And if his Nature was Divine, it of neceſſity muſt be Eternal, ſince the Divine Nature can have no beginning of Exiſtence.

Ibid. Μορφὴν δούλου λαβὼν, he took upon him the form of a Servant.] This Phraſe cannot import only his taking of the Human Nature, that being ſufficiently expreſs'd by ſaying that he was made in the likeneſs of Man; beſides, he ſtill retains the Human Nature, but doth not now retain the Form of a Servant, but of the Lord of all things. Nor are we to underſtand by it his outward Poverty, which equall'd him to Servants, ſaith the Learned Grotius, as having nothing of his own; for that is not the State of a Servant only, but of a Son in his Minority, and of many unfortunate Perſons who were never Servants. Nor (3*dly*,) muſt we underſtand by it, as the Socinians do, his Submiſſion to be uſed as a Slave or Servant, by being whipt, and bound, and crucified; for that is the Humiliation which he ſuffered after he had taken upon him the form of a Servant, as thoſe words plainly ſhew, He took upon him the form of a Servant, and being found in the faſhion of a Man, he became obedient to the death. Nor is this proper to a Servant, but to a Malefactor; for a Servant is not leſs a Servant when he is not whip'd, or ſcourg'd: He therefore may be rather ſaid to have taken upon him the form of a Servant, by miniſtering to Men, and being among them as one that ſerved; for as the buſineſs of a Servant is to do nothing for himſelf, but for the good of others, and to ſpend himſelf in miniſtering to their Advantage; ſo the Son of Man came not to be miniſter'd to, but to miniſter, and at the cloſe of that Miniſtry, to give his Life a Ranſom for many.

f Ver. 7. Ἐν ὁμοιώματι ἀνθρώπων γενόμενος, and being in the likeneſs of Man.] That our Lord had the Real Nature, and not only the outward ſhape or reſemblance of a Man; that he had a Body conſiſting of Fleſh, Blood and Bones; a Soul and Spirit; and ſo all the conſtituent parts of a Man, the Scripture plainly teſtifies. Nor doth this Phraſe ἐν ὁμοιώματι, in the likeneſs of Man, contradict it, it being uſed of a real Likeneſs by the Participation of the ſame Nature as to kind. Thus Adam is ſaid to beget a Son, ἐν ὁμοιώματι αὐτοῦ, in his own likeneſs, who yet was certainly of the ſame Nature with him. And Chriſt is ſaid ὁμοιωθῆναι, to be made like to his Brethren, by the participation of the Nature of Abraham, and his Communion with them in the ſame Fleſh and Blood, Heb. 2. 14, 16, 17. And 'twas both proper and elegant for the Apoſtle to uſe this Expreſſion here, by reaſon of the Oppoſition he deſign'd to ſhew, betwixt Chriſt's former glorious, and his then preſent humble ſtate, he being then ἐν μορφῇ τοῦ Θεοῦ, in the Form of God, now ἐν ὁμοιώματι τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, in the likeneſs of a Man.

g Ver. 9. Αὐτὸν ὑπερύψωσε, God hath exalted him.] The Fathers on this place adviſe us, εἰς τὴν ἀνθρώπωσιν, καὶ οὐκ εἰς τὴν θεότητα ταῦτα διανοεῖν, to refer theſe things not to the Divine, but to the Human Nature, the Apoſtle not ſpeaking here of the Exaltation of the Divine Nature of Chriſt, by the Manifeſtation of his concealed Glory and Power, but of the Exaltation of that Nature which had ſuffered; this Exaltation being in Scripture repreſented as the Reward of our Lord's Salutary Paſſion; for we ſee him, ſaith the Apoſtle, who was made a little lower than the Angels, for the ſuffering of death, crowned with glory, and honour, Heb. 2. 9. And again, the Elders about the Throne ſay, Worthy is the Lamb that was ſlain to receive power, and riches, and wiſdom and ſtrength, and honour, and glory, Rev. 5. 12. and 4. 11. Moreover, St. John declares, that this Dominion and Power was given to the Son of Man, becauſe he was ſo, John 5. 17. though it was given to the Man Chriſt Jeſus, becauſe the fulneſs of the Godhead dwelled in him.

Ver. 11. Εἰς δόξαν, to the Glory.] He does h not ſay, as the Socinians contend, that Chriſt is exalted to the Glory of God the Father, though that be true of the Advancement of his Human Nature; but he ſaith, that being thus exalted, he is to be acknowledged of all Tongues and Nations as their Lord, to the Glory of the Father; nothing more tending to his Glory, than that all Perſons owning Chriſt as their Lord, and yielding Obedience to him, ſhould abound in theſe Works of Righteouſneſs, which are through Jeſus Chriſt to the Glory of God the Father, Chap. 1. 11. Eph. 1. 12. Moreover ſeeing the Father thus exalted the Humanity of Chriſt, ſince he united the Λόγος to the Human Nature, for it pleaſed the Father, that in him ſhould all fulneſs dwell, what hinders that this Exaltation ſhould be ſaid to be to the Glory of God the Father, from whom he received even the Divine Nature?

Ver. 12. Ἐν τῇ ἀπουσίᾳ μου, in my abſence.] i I. e. When I was preſent with you, I by my Counſels and Exhortations ſtirred you up to deſire, and do what was according to the Mind of God: He, in my abſence, is more immediately preſent with you, by the inward Motions of his Holy Spirit, to excite you both to will, and do what is well-pleaſing to him. Having therefore now all things adminiſter'd more immediately by God, which are requiſite to make you willing, and able to perform your Duty, it doth more highly concern you to work out your Salvation. Thus (k) Ignatius ſaith, That he being now in Chains, and going to Rome to receive the Crown of Martyrdom, the Church of Syria had God, inſtead of him, to be her Paſtor, and that Chriſt alone was Biſhop over her: This Senſe I gather from theſe words, much more in my abſence, for what other Reaſon can be offered of theſe words than that which this Interpretation gives?

Hence it is evident that God worketh in us to will and to do, not by a Phyſical Operation, which makes it neceſſary for us to will, and to do what he would have us do; for why then doth the Apoſtle admoniſh his Philippians, to work out their Salvation with fear and trembling? for what is more abſurd than to exhort another to do himſelf what God doth for him without his concurrence; or to require him to will what he cannot but will and do, for this reaſon, becauſe another renders it neceſſary for him ſo to will? And what ground of fear can there be, leſt God ſhould fail in his work? That the word ἐνεργεῖν doth not require this ſenſe, is evident, becauſe in Scripture it occurs very often, where it muſt be underſtood, not of a Phyſical, but only of a Moral Operation; as when Satan is ſaid ἐνεργεῖν to work in the Children of Diſobedience, Eph. 2. 2. and of the myſtery of Iniquity, that ἐνεργεῖται it now works, 2 Theſſ. 2. 7. (2*dly*,) When it is attributed to thoſe Cauſes which produce not their Effects by any Phyſical, but only by Moral Operations, as when the word is ſaid to be ἐνεργὴς, powerful, Heb. 4. 12. The Word, ὃ ἐνεργεῖται which effectually works in them that believe, 1 Theſſ. 2. 13. that Faith worketh by Love, Gal. 5. 6. that Charity is ἐνεργὴς, effectual, Philem. 6. and of Concupiſcence, that ἐνεργεῖτο, it worketh in our members, Rom. 7. 5. (3*dly*,) When it is aſcribed to God ſending upon Men ἐνέργειαν πλάνης, the Efficacy of Deceit; for ſurely God worketh no Evil Phyſically. In a word, did God thus work in us to will and do, the Work could no more be aſcribed to us, than the Motion which was impreſſed on the Body of Lazarus, when he came out of the Grave, or upon Paul when wrapt up to the Third Heavens, could be aſcribed to them; and the Will would not deſerve that Name, as being neither free nor praiſeworthy. And therefore all the Greek Interpreters obſerve, that the Apoſtle ſaith, It is God that worketh in us both to will and to do, οὐκ ὡς ἀφαιρῶν τὸ αὐτεξούσιον, not as denying our free Will, or, τοὺς ἄκοντας βιαζόμενος, conſtraining the Unwilling, * ἀλλ᾽ ὅτι προθυμίαν εὑρίσκων, αὔξει ταύτην διὰ τῆς χάριτος· but, becauſe finding a readineſs of Mind, he encreaſeth it by his Grace; and becauſe he works together with thoſe, who work out their Salvation with fear and trembling, τοῖς γὰρ τοιούτοις συνεργεῖ, for with ſuch he co-operates, ſaith Oecumenius.

Ver. 14. Do all things without Murmurings, καὶ διαλογισμῶν, and Diſputings;] That is, ſay the Greek Commentators, without murmuring under your Sufferings for the ſake of Chriſt, Chap. 1. 20. or Doubtings, or Reaſonings, whether you ſhould continue ſtedfaſt in the Faith, or not.

k Ver. 17. Εἰ σπένδομαι, If I be offered.] The Apoſtle here hath an elegant Alluſion to the Jewiſh Sacrifices: They were prepared for the Altar on which they were to be offered by the Levites and the Prieſts, and this was their λειτουργία, Service, and there was poured upon the Sacrifice Oil or Wine, which was the σπονδὴ, or libation; if then, ſaith the Apoſtle, whilſt I am thus λειτουργῶν, wholly employed in rendering you Gentiles an acceptable Sacrifice to the Lord, my blood ſhould be the libation to be poured out upon this Sacrifice; I ſhould rejoice even thus to die in your Service, and for the confirmation of your Faith; See Rom. 15. 16.

Ver. 25. Ὑμῶν Ἀπόστολον, your Apoſtle.] So l
they were uſually ſtiled who gathered Sacred Money, and carried it up to Jeruſalem. And ſo, ſay ſome, he calls Epaphroditus, becauſe he brought the Contributions of the Philippians to him at Rome. But the word Apoſtle is never uſed in the New Teſtament, but either of thoſe who were in the ſtrict ſenſe Apoſtles of the Lord, or elſe were eminent Miniſters and Preachers of the Goſpel: Thus Titus, and the Brother of St. Paul, (which is the uſual Appellation of St. Timothy, ſee Note on Heb. 13. 23.) are Ἀπόστολοι, the Apoſtles of the Churches, 2 Cor. 8. 22, 23. and Andronicus and Junia, who had long preached the Goſpel, are ſtiled ἐπίσημοι ἐν τοῖς Ἀποστόλοις, eminent among the Apoſtles of Chriſt. I therefore conclude with (l) Theodoret upon the place, and upon Chap. 1. 1. That the Epiſcopal care of this Church was committed to him: And that this is the import of the word Apoſtle here. This being the Note of the ſame Theodoret, that formerly, τοὺς νῦν καλουμένους ἐπισκόπους, Ἀποστόλους ὠνόμαζον, they who are now call'd Biſhops, were ſtiled Apoſtles; and Hilary the Deacon ſaying here, Erat enim eorum Apoſtolus, ab Apoſtolo factus, he was conſtituted their Apoſtle, i. e. Biſhop, by St. Paul, who therefore commands them to receive him in the Lord, v. 29. i. e. for the ſake of the Lord Chriſt, whoſe Miniſter he was.

Ver. 27. Note, that here we find Epaphro- m ditus was not recovered by the Gift of Healing, then frequent in the Church, that Gift being not exerciſed by them to whom it was imparted at their own pleaſure; but as God was pleaſed by a ſpecial Inſtinct, and a ſtrong Faith to incite them to the Exerciſe of it: Theſe Gifts being therefore given for the ſake of Unbelievers, to convince them of the truth of the Chriſtian Faith, God thought not fit that it ſhould be ordinarily exerciſed upon Believers, leſt it ſhould be look'd upon, not as a Gift, but as the Effect of Art or Skill, or a thing done among them by Confederacy.

Ver. 30. Παραβουλευσάμενος, not regarding n his life,] Or, as others read, παραβολευσάμενος, or παραβολησάμενος, hazarding his life; that is, ſay the Greek Commentators, εἰς κίνδυνον ἔρριψεν ἑαυτόν, he brought himſelf in danger of death; not by venturing on the Emperor's

Diſpleaſure, but by labouring ſo as to contract a dangerous Diſeaſe, (which he did, ſaith the Apoſtle, to ſupply your lack of ſervice towards me;) which is not ſo to be underſtood, as if he charged them with any want of Service or Affection to him, (See Chap. 4. 10.) but thus, That Epaphroditus did this, being preſent with him, to ſupply that Service, which they, being abſent, were not in a capacity to perform. Note alſo, That παραβουλευσάμενος is the Reading of all the Greek Scholia, Photius and Cod. Alexand. And ſay Heſychius and Phavorinus, is in ſenſe the ſame with παραβολευσάμενος, and ſo it is not certain that there was ever any other reading. And therefore Theodoret on the place ſaith, the Apoſtle ſpeaks thus, οὐκ ἐπειδὰν καὶ τοὺς ἄκοντας βιάζεται, ἀλλ' ὅτι προθυμίαν εὑρίσκων αὔξει ταύτην διὰ τῆς χάριτος, not as if God conſtrained the unwilling, but becauſe where he finds a readineſs of Mind, he increaſeth it by his Grace.

CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. FInally, [τὸ λοιπὸν, henceforth] my Brethren, rejoyce in the Lord: To write the ſame things [which I have delivered] to you [by word of mouth,] to a me is not grievous, but to [for] you [a] it is ſafe.

2. [I therefore exhort you again, to] beware bc of [b] dogs, beware of [c] evilworkers, beware
d of the [d] Conciſion.

3. For we are the [true and ſpiritual] Circumciſion, which worſhip God in the Spirit [of our Mind, Eph. 4. 23.] and rejoyce in e Chriſt Jeſus, and have [e] no confidence in the [Circumciſion of the] Fleſh, [as if that would commend us to God.]

4. Though [were this any proper ground of confidence,] I might alſo have confidence in the Fleſh, [*as well as they who boaſt of this;
for*] if any other Man think that he hath whereof he might truſt in the Fleſh, I [have] more [reaſon ſo to do.]

f 5. [For I was] [f] circumciſed the eighth day, [the very day preſcribed by the Law, Gen.
17. 12.] of the Stock of Iſrael, [my Parents and Anceſtors being all of Iſrael,] of the Tribe of Benjamin, [that Tribe which cleaved to Judah, and revolted not with Jeroboam to the worſhip of the Calves, 1 Kings 12. 21.] an Hebrew of the Hebrews, [both by Nation and Language, 2 Cor. 11. 22. Acts 21. 40.]
as touching [the Obſervance of] the Law, a Phariſee, [one of the ſtricteſt Sects of our Religion, Acts 26. 5.]

6. Concerning zeal [*for the Jewiſh Religion,
I have ſhewed that above others, in*] perſecuting
the Church [of Chriſt, Acts 22. 3, 4. and 26. 11.] touching the Righteouſneſs which is in [and by] the Law, [I have lived] blameleſs [as to that, Acts 23. 1.]

7. But what things [of this nature] were [then reputed] gain to me, thoſe I [have] accounted [as] loſs, for Chriſt ['s ſake]

8. Yea doubtleſs, and I count all things [of this World,] but loſs, for the excellency of the knowledge of Chriſt Jeſus my Lord, for whom I have ſuffered the loſs of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Chriſt, [i. e. obtain an Intereſt in him, and the Bleſſings purchaſed by him.]

9. And be found in him, not having my own Righteouſneſs, which is of the Law, [which cannot juſtify me, but leave me ſtill under the Curſe of it, Rom. 3. 20. Gal. 3. 10.]
but that which is thro' the Faith of Chriſt, [viz.] [g] the Righteouſneſs which is [ap- g proved] of God, [i. e. the Righteouſneſs which is] by Faith [in Chriſt.]

10. That I may know him [to be the Meſſiah, and the Saviour of the World, which knowledge is neceſſary to Life eternal, John 17. 3.
1 Cor. 2. 2.] and the [h] Power of his Re- h ſurrection, and the [i] Fellowſhip of his Suf- i ferings, being made conformable to his Death.

11. If by [theſe, or] any [other] means,
I might attain to the Reſurrection of the dead, [promiſed by him to all his faithful Servants and Sufferers.]

12. [k] [For I can] not [look upon my ſelf,] as k though I had already attained, [or caught hold of the Prize of my high calling, v. 14. the Reſurrection of the Dead, v. 11.] or were already perfect, [i. e. crowned with it;] but I follow
after [or purſue it,] if that I may apprehend, [or reach] that [prize] for [the obtaining of] which alſo I am apprehended of Chriſt Jeſus. [For when I fled from him, he caught hold on me, converted me to the Faith, that believing in him I might obtain Life everlaſting, 1 Tim. 1. 15, 16. εἰ καὶ, if that, or that alſo;
See Note on 1 Tim. 5. 10.]

13. Brethren, I count not my ſelf to have apprehended, [i. e. caught hold of the Prize;]
but this one thing I do, forgetting [not looking after] thoſe things which are behind, and reaching forth to thoſe things which are before;

14. I preſs toward the mark [the Goal,] for the [obtaining the] prize of the high calling of God in Chriſt Jeſus.

l 15. Let us therefore, as many as be [l] perfect, [or thoroughly inſtructed in our Chriſtian Duty,] be thus minded [as I have told you I am, i. e. ſo as to believe the Circumciſion of the Spirit, not that of the Fleſh, and the Righteouſneſs which is of God by Faith, are the things eſpecially to be regarded for the obtaining of this Prize.] And if in any thing ye be otherwiſe minded, [imagining the Judaical Performances may alſo commend you to God,] God ſhall [in due time] reveal even this unto you; [i. e. He will convince you of the no-neceſſity of theſe things in order to his favour.]

16. Nevertheleſs [in the mean time] whereto we have already attained [i. e. as far as we have attained to the knowledge of it,] let us walk by the ſame Rule, [viz. that Circumciſion availeth nothing, but a new Creature, Gal. 6. 15, 16.] let us mind the ſame thing.

17. Brethren, be [ye] followers together of me, [in this matter, who have renounced all my Jewiſh Privileges,] and mark them [for your Patterns,] who walk ſo as ye have us for an Example, [of the Spiritual Circumciſion, and of minding the Prize of our high Calling.]

18. For many [Zealots for the Law, ſo] walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the Enemies of the Croſs of Chriſt.

19. [m] Whoſe end is deſtruction, whoſe God is their belly, and whoſe glory is in their ſhame, who mind earthly things. m

21. [Imitate us, I ſay] For [n] our Converſation, [or our City] is in Heaven, from whence alſo we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. n

21. Who ſhall change [o] our vile body, [now ſubject to Corruption, Paſſions, and Sorrows,] that it it may be faſhioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to ſubdue all things to himſelf. o a Verſe 1. Ἀσφαλὲς, It is ſafe.] viz. Becauſe things only delivered by word of mouth, may ſlip out of memory, Litera ſcripta manet. Here is St. Paul's Judgment againſt Oral Tradition.

Annotations on Chap. III.

b Ver. 2. Τοὺς κύνας, Dogs.] It is the Obſervation of the (a) Fathers, that the Name of Dogs was anciently given to the Gentiles, as being without the Covenant, according to thoſe Words of Chriſt, It is not meet to take the Children's Bread, and give it to Dogs: But with the Things, the Names are now changed, they being now without the Covenant, and the believing Gentiles admitted to it, and therefore they are called the Children, but the Jews Dogs. And 'tis well noted by Dr. (b) Lightfoot, that our Lord uſed this Language, Matth. 15. 26. Not to expreſs his own Sentiments of the Gentiles, but in compliance with the common Language of the Jews, who proverbially ſaid, the Gentiles are likened to Dogs, whereas we are God's peculiar People, even his Sons and Daughters. Where alſo is obſerved by the ſame worthy Perſon, That even the Talmudiſts ſay of the Generation in which the Meſſiah, or the Son of David ſhould come, that the Synagogues ſhould become Stews, and the Faces of that Generation ſhall be as Dogs.

c Ibid. Evil workers.] For they labour only to pull down God's Building, and to deſtroy the Church of Chriſt. Elſewhere he ſtiles them deceitful Workers, 2 Cor. 11. 13. not ſpeaking of the Gnoſticks, as ſome imagine, but of the Jews; for ſo it follows: Are they Hebrews? Are they Iſraelites? So am I, v. 22.

d Ibid. Τὴν κατατομήν, The Conciſion.] For Circumciſion being no longer a Rite of entering into Covenant with God, it is no better than a cutting off the Fleſh; and they who ſtill inſiſted on it as a thing neceſſary to Juſtification and Salvation, cut themſelves off from Chriſt, Gal. 5. 2, 3.

e 3. No Confidence in the Fleſh.] That the Jews had a great Confidence in the Merit of Circumciſion; See Note on Rom. 2. 13.

f Ver. 5. Περιτομῇ ὀκταήμερος, Circumciſed the eighth day.] The Jews themſelves ſay, that Circumciſion before that time was no Circumciſion, and after that time it was of leſſer value; See Buxtorf. Synag. Jud. cap. 4. p. 109. And (c) Origen informs us, That the Jews held, that the Circumciſion performed on the eighth day, was that which was chiefly intended, tended, and that the performing it on any other day, was only allowed in caſe of ſickneſs. Hence they thought it neceſſary to circumciſe a Child on the Sabbath-day, tho' all manner of Work was forbidden on that day, rather than defer Circumciſion a day beyond the time, John 7. 22. and made it a Rule, That (d) the Reſt of the Sabbath gives place to Circumciſion. And this Opinion, as it agrees with the Text, Gen. 17. 12. ſo it ſeems to have obtained long before our Saviour's time; for the Septuagint, and the Samaritan Verſion, read thus, The uncircumciſed Male, who is not circumciſed, τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ ὀγδόῃ, the eighth day, ſhall be cut off, he hath broken my Covenant, Gen. 17. 14.

Ver. 8. Διὰ τὸ ὑπερέχον τῆς γνώσεως Χριστοῦ Ἰησοῦ, for the excellency of the Knowledge of Chriſt Jeſus.] There hath been a ſharp Contention about the Import of theſe plain words; ſome contending, that the Apoſtle here intends the Knowledge of the Perſon of our Lord, and of his Offices, and of the Benefits which he hath purchaſed for us in his Perſon, and doth convey to us by his Offices. And others pleading, that it is the Knowledge of the Goſpel of Chriſt, which is here intended, and the Excellency of it, which is here commended; whereas I think there is no real Difference betwixt theſe two Opinions. For we know nothing of the Perſon, and of the Offices of Chriſt, or of the Benefits which he hath purchaſed for us, and conveys to us by them, but by the Revelation of the Goſpel, and ſo the Excellency of his Perſon, and Offices; and of that Goſpel, which reveals them to us, muſt be in effect the ſame; nor would the Knowledge of the Goſpel be ſo excellent, were it not for the Revelation of the Dignity of his Perſon and of his Offices, and of the Benefits we receive from them.

g Ver. 9. Τὴν ἐκ Θεοῦ δικαιοσύνην, The Righteouſneſs of God.] That the Righteouſneſs of God, in St. Paul's ſtyle, doth always ſignifie the Righteouſneſs by Faith in Chriſt Jeſus dying for us, ſee Note on Rom. 1. 17. And hence it is evident, that the Apoſtle cannot here ſpeak of the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt imputed to us: For, (1.) He does not oppoſe to his own Righteouſneſs, which is of the Law, the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, imputed to him, but his own Faith in Chriſt imputed unto him for Righteouſneſs, Rom. 4. 5. (2dly,) He ſpeaks of his Faith in Chriſt dying and ſhedding his Blood for him; and therefore not of his Active Obedience, conſtituting us righteous as Chriſt was, but of his Paſſive Obedience, procuring for us Juſtification, or the Remiſſion of Sins.

h Ver. 10. Καὶ τὴν δύναμιν, &c. The Power of his Reſurrection.] I. e. The Power exerciſed in his Reſurrection, by which we are begotten to a lively hope of an Inheritance incorruptible, 1 Pet. 1. 3, 4. and are aſſured of our own Reſurrection; 2 Cor. 4. 14. Col. 2. 12. this being that Knowledge he ſo earneſtly requeſts for his Epheſians, Ch. 1. 19, 20. and alſo the Power of it, to aſſure us of our Juſtification through Faith in him, Rom. 4. 24, 25. and of our freedom from Condemnation, Rom. 8. 34.

Ibid. Τὴν κοινωνίαν, &c. The Fellowſhip of his Sufferings.] By being conformed to his Death: (1.) Spiritually, by dying unto Sin; as knowing that if we be thus conformed to him in the likeneſs of his Death, we ſhall be like unto him in his Reſurrection, and ſhall live with him, Rom. 6. 5, 8. And (2.) by ſuffering and taking up the Croſs for his ſake; as knowing that if we thus ſuffer with him, we ſhall be alſo glorified with him, Rom. 8. 17. 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12. 1 Pet. 4. 13. i

Ver. 12, 13, 14. Ὡς ἐπὶ δρόμεως τὰ πάντα λέγει, He in theſe Verſes makes a continual alluſion to the Race run in the Olympian Games, where he that ran was ſtill ἔμπροσθεν ἐκτεινόμενος, upon the ſtretch, and preſſing forwards, without looking back to thoſe whom he had left behind, and purſuing the Goal, that firſt coming to it, he might catch hold of the Prize, and ſo be crown'd with it. And two things are here noted by the Fathers worthy of our obſervation: k

(1.) That if this great Apoſtle who had ſuffered ſo many things, and was in Deaths often, and who had laboured ſo abundantly; οὔπω ἐθάῤῥει περὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως ἐκείνης, was not yet confident of a bleſſed Reſurrection, but only ſtriving, if ſo be he might attain unto it: Such as we muſt have leſs ground of confidence.

(2.) What continual diligence and labour this Purſuit requires; for you know, ſaith Chryſoſtom, With what great ſtretch the Purſuer runs, he looks upon no Man, he throws out of the way every thing that might hinder him; he employs his Body, Eye, Strength, Soul, and Mind upon the Work, πρὸς ἕτερον μηδὲ οὐδὲν ὁρῶν, πρὸς δὲ τὸ βραβεῖον μόνον, looking to nothing elſe, but only to the Prize.

Ver. 15. Τέλειοι, Perfect.] That to be perfect, is to be ſufficiently inſtructed in the true Grounds and Principles of Chriſtian Faith, hath been ſhewed, Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6. and on Matth. 19. 21. And by comparing this Paſſage, with the Diſcourſe of the ſame Apoſtle in his fifth and ſixth Chapters to the Galatians, we may learn what it is, τῷ αὐτῷ στοιχεῖν κανόνι, to walk by the ſame Rule; for as there he ſharply inveighs againſt the Galatians, for hearkening to the Teachers of the neceſſity of Circumciſion; ſo here he warns his Philippians, to beware of them, and their Doctrine, from v. 2. to the 7th: As there he oppoſeth to Circumciſion, the Croſs of Chriſt, in which alone he gloried, Gal. 6. 14. l ſo here he oppoſeth to it, the fellowſhip of his ſufferings, v. 8, 9. As there he ſays, he is perſwaded of his Galatians, that ὐδὲν ἄλλο φρονήσουσιν, they will be no otherwiſe minded, Gal. 5. 10. ſo here he exhorts his Philippians, τοῦτο φρονεῖν, to mind the ſame thing, v. 16. As there he teaches them by his own Example, not to yield to thoſe who urged on them Circumciſion, Gal. 2. 14, 20. ſo here he exhorts the Philippians, to walk in this caſe, as they had him for an Example, v. 17. which Example he had laid before them, v. 4, 9. And as there he promiſed Mercy, and Peace, τῷ κανόνι τούτῳ στοιχήσουσιν, to them that walked by the Rule, or Canon he had laid there down, Gal. 6. 15, 16. ſo here he admoniſheth the Philippians, τῷ αὐτῷ στοιχεῖν κανόνι, to walk by the ſame Rule: This Rule muſt therefore be that which he there lays down, That in Chriſt Jeſus neither Circumciſion availeth any thing, nor Uncircumciſion, but a new Creature. Thoſe who are fully perſwaded of this, he ſtiles the perfect, requiring of them a Life exactly conformed to this Rule, from others only as far as they had attained to the knowledge of it; informing them that the time was at hand, when God, by deſtroying the Jewiſh Temple, and diſſolving the Jewiſh Church and Oeconomy, would farther reveal this Truth to them, and convince them of the Vanity of theſe Judaical Performances.

m Ver. 19. Ὧν τὸ τέλος, Whoſe end is deſtruction.] That the Deſcription here given of theſe Men, agrees well with the Manners of the Gnoſticks, cannot be denied; but yet that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of them, but of the Jews, moſt ancient and modern Commentators do aſſert. And there ſeems reaſon to prefer this latter Expoſition, (1.) Becauſe he ſaith, he had told his Philippians often of theſe Men: Now, v. 1. he informs them, that he then writ to them of the ſame things which he had before ſpoken to them by word of mouth, viz. that they ſhould beware of thoſe Jews whom he there ſtiles Dogs, Evilworkers, the Conciſion. (2.) He oppoſes his own Example, who had renounced all his Jewiſh Privileges, and the Example of thoſe who worſhip God in the Spirit, and rejoyced in Chriſt Jeſus, and had no confidence in the Fleſh; v. 3, 17. to the Example of theſe Men. And, (3.) The Deſcription he gives of them is agreeable to what he elſewhere ſaith of the ſame Jews. For,

1ſt, They were Enemies to the Croſs of Chriſt; That being not only a Stumbling-block to the unbelieving Jews, 1 Cor. 1. 23. but being alſo overthrown by them who preached up the neceſſity of Circumciſion, and of Legal Obſervations, to Salvation; for hence, ſaith the Apoſtle, it follows, that Chriſt is dead in vain; Gal. 2. 21. and that then the Scandal of the Croſs is ceaſed; Gal. 5. 10. and that Chriſt would profit them nothing, who were upon this account circumciſed; Gal. 5. 2. and that they were fallen from grace, v. 4. And from the Apoſtle's Diſcourſe in the beginning of this Chapter, it appears, ſaith Eſthius, that he here ſpeaketh of theſe Men.

2dly, That their end was to be deſtruction, the Apoſtle teacheth in theſe words, Such are falſe Apoſtles, deceitful Workers, whoſe end ſhall be according to their Works, 2 Cor. 11. 13, 15. And this he ſpeaks of them who were Hebrews and Iſraelites, v. 22. as alſo here, v. 4.

3dly, That their God was their Belly; i. e. That they chiefly had regard to that, as we learn from the ſame Apoſtle, ſaying, Theſe ſerve not the Lord, but their own Belly; which, ſaith Theodoret, he ſpeaks of the evil Defenders of the Law. See Note on Rom. 16. 18. and that they were γαστρίμαργοι, ſlow Bellies, or luxurious People, Tit. 1. 12. See Note there; and that they devoured thoſe they perverted, 2 Cor. 11. 20. Their Glory was in their ſhame; that is, ſay the Ancient Fathers, in the Circumciſion of the ſhameful Member: Say others, in thoſe evil Works, v. 2. which ought to be the matter of their Shame, they being ſuch as blaſphemed the Name of God among the Gentiles, Rom. 2. 24. they minded earthly things, counting gain godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5. Tit. 1. 11.

Ver. 20. Ἡμῶν γὰρ τὸ πολίτευμα ἐν οὐρανοῖς, Our Converſation is in Heaven.] So (e) Philo repreſents God's Prieſts and Prophets; for having ſaid of Men, οἱ μὲν γῆς, οἱ δὲ οὐρανοῦ, ſome are of the Earth, ſome of Heaven; he adds that of the latter ſort are Prieſts and Prophets, who tranſcending all ſenſual things, would not be called κοσμοπολῖται, Citizens of the World; but tranſlating themſelves into the Intellectual World, dwell there, ἐγγραφέντες ἀφθάρτων ἀσωμάτων ἰδεῶν πολιτείᾳ, being enrolled in the Policy of incorporeal and incorruptible Beings. They, ſaith the Apoſtle, mind earthly things, and ſo are κοσμοπολῖται Men who have this World for their City, Nos autem Civitatem Cœlum habemus; but we have Heaven for our City, (as Budæus renders the Words,) as living in expectation of a City whoſe Builder and Maker is God, Heb. 11. 10. n

Ver. 21. Τὸ σῶμα τῆς ταπεινώσεως ἡμῶν, Our vile Body.] The Body of our Humiliation; that is, ſaith Methodius, our Body which ταπεινοῦται ἀπὸ σφάλματος, is humbled by the Fall, aad become mortal. That Body, o ſaith (f) Irenæus, which is humbled by falling into the Earth, and which ſhall be transform'd from a mortal and corruptible, into an immortal and incorruptible Body.

Note here, (1.) What a Value is put upon the Reſurrection and Redemption of the Body from Corruption, as if it were the chief thing which Chriſtians waited for, and expected from our Saviour at his coming, Rom. 8. 23.

2dly, Note, The Divine Power in Chriſt, to whom is here aſcribed that Reſurrection, which is frequently made an Indication of the Godhead, it being God who raiſeth from the dead, Rom. 4. 17. Acts 26. 6. and which is aſcribed to the exceeding greatneſs, and to the energy of his mighty Power, Eph. 1. 19. and yet is here aſcribed to the energy of Chriſt. And,

3dly, Note the pious Obſervation of the Fathers, That their Folly can never be ſufficiently lamented, who deprive themſelves of ſuch a glorious Reſurrection. So Oecumenius and Theophylact.

Note, (4.) That (g) Philo and the Platoniſts ſo call theſe Bodies, ὡς ταπείνωσιν ἐπάγοντα τῇ ψυχῇ, becauſe theſe earthly Tabernacles do humble and depreſs the Soul. See alſo the Reading of the Text defended, Examen Millii, Ibid.

CHAP. IV.

Verſe 1. THerefore, my Brethren, dearly beloved, and longed for, my joy and crown, ſo ſtand faſt in the Lord, my dearly beloved, [as thoſe who do expect his coming to confer theſe Bleſſings on you; 1 Cor. 15. 58. or ſo ſtand faſt in the liberty wherewith Chriſt hath made you free, as I have taught you, Gal. 5. 1.]

2. I beſeech Euodias, and beſeech Syna tyche, that they be of the ſame mind [a] in [the concerns of] the Lord.

b 3. And I entreat thee alſo, true [b] yoke-fellow, help thoſe Women who laboured with me in the [promotion of the] Goſpel, with Clemens alſo, and others my fellow-c labourers, [c] whoſe names are written in the Book of Life.

4. Rejoyce in the Lord always, and again, I ſay, rejoyce.

d 5. Let [d] your Moderation be known une to all men, [for] the [e] Lord is at hand.

6. Be careful [anxiouſly ſollicitous] for nothing, but in every thing by Prayer and Supplication [Gr. deprecation] with Thankſgiving, let your Requeſts be made known [i. e. preſented] unto God.

f 7. And [f] the peace of God which paſſeth all underſtanding, ſhall keep your hearts and minds [ſtedfaſt] in Chriſt Jeſus.

g 8. [g] Finally, Brethren, whatſoever things are true, whatſoever things are honeſt, whatſoever things are juſt, whatſoever things are pure, whatſoever things are lovely, whatſoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, if there be any [thing] praiſe- [worthy,] think on theſe things [to do them.]

9. Thoſe things which you have both learned, and received and heard [from me,] and ſeen in me, do: and the God of peace, [the giver of internal peace,] ſhall be with you.

10. But [h] I rejoyced [ἐχάρην δὲ, for this h cauſe I rejoyced] in the Lord greatly, that now at the laſt your care of me [i. e. to ſupply my wants,] hath flouriſhed again, [i] i wherein you were alſo careful, but you lacked opportunity.

11. Not that I ſpeak [this] in reſpect of [any deſire in me, that you, or others ſhould ſupply my] wants, for I have learnt in whatſoever ſtate I am, therewith to be content.

12. I know both how to be abaſed, and I know how to abound; every where, and in all things I am inſtructed both to be full, and to be hungry, both to abound, and to ſuffer need.

13. [k] I can do all [theſe, and other] things k [required by Chriſtianity,] through Chriſt that ſtrengthens me.

14. [But] notwithſtanding [this my proficiency,] ye have well done, that ye did [thus] communicate with [me in] my affliction.

15. Now, ye Philippians, know alſo [for your honour,] that in the beginning of [my preaching] the Goſpel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, as concerning giving, and receiving, but you only, [ i. e. I have received Supplies from no other Church but yours. ]

16. [ You indeed kindly did it ; ] For even [ when I was ] in Theſſalonica ye ſent once, and again to [ ſupply ] my neceſſities.

17. [ And of this I remind you, ] not that I deſire a [ further ] Gift [ for my own benefit, ] but [ becauſe ] I deſire fruit that may abound to your account [ in the Day of the Lord, who will not then forget your labour of love, in miniſtering to his Saints, Heb. 6. 10.]

18. [ I ſay, not that I deſire more ; ] For I have [ received ] all [ that can be needful for me, ] and abound ; I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were ſent from you, [ which are ] an odour of a ſweet ſmell, [1] a Sacrifice acceptable, well-pleaſing to God.

19. But [ and ] my God ſhall ſupply all your need, according to his riches in glory, [ i. e. his glorious Riches ] by Chriſt Jeſus, [ i. e. he ſhall return you a Supply of your ſpiritual Wants, for your Charity to me in temporals. ]

20. Now unto God, and [ i. e. who is ] our Father, be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

21. Salute every Saint in Chriſt Jeſus ; the Brethren which are with me, greet you.

22. All the Saints ſalute you, chiefly they that are of Cæſar's houſhold.

23. The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, be with you all. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. TO' αὐτὸ φρονεῖν, To mind the ſame thing, ] Here, is not to be of the ſame Judgment in all things ; for no Man can become of the ſame Judgment with another by intreaty, but only by conviction : The Exhortation therefore is, (1.) to have the ſame love to one another, Chap. 2. 2. with the ſame Soul and Spirit to promote the Goſpel of Chriſt, Chap. 1. 27. to walk by the ſame Rule, as far as they have attained to the knowledge of it, Chap. 3. 16. 16.

b Ver. 3. Σύζυγε, yoke-fellow. ] That this Yoke-fellow cannot be St. Paul's Wife, is certain : Becauſe he declares himſelf an unmarried Man, 1 Cor. 7. 7. i. e. either a Virgin, or a Widower. (2*dly,*) Becauſe a Woman cannot be ſtiled γνήσιε, but γνησία σύζυγε. It is unlikely he ſhould mean Epaphroditus, he being not then at Philippi, but with him at Rome, v. 11. It may be therefore one of the Rulers of the Church, whom he ſaluted in the front of this Epiſtle.

c Ibid. Ἐν βίβλῳ ζωῆς, whoſe Names are written in the Book of Life. ] This is a Judaical Phraſe, viz. they are written for Life, Iſaiah 4. 3. For (1.) the Apoſtle declares of all the Jews to whom he writ, that they were come to the general Aſſembly of the Firſt-born, who were written in Heaven, Heb. 12. 23. and yet he in the following Verſe ſaith to them. See that ye refuſe not him that ſpeaketh. (2.) Chap. 5. 8. See Heb. 10. 36, 37. This is almoſt he conſtant Senſe of the Greek Word in the Septuagint, where it anſwers to חנן, and סלח, and ſignifies to be gracious and propitious, 1 Sam. 12. 22. Ezra 9. 4. Pſal. 85. 4. Ἐποίησας εἰς ἡμᾶς κατὰ πᾶσαν ἐπιείκειάν σȣ, Thou haſt dealt with us according to all thy goodneſs, and thy great mercy. So Cant. pueror. v. 18. Let us torture the juſt Man, that we may know τὴν ἐπιείκειαν αὐτȣ͂, his Meekneſs, Wiſd. 2. 19. Thou judgeſt ἐν ἐπιεικείᾳ, with mildneſs, Chap. 12. 18. He will yield to your deſires, ἐπιεικῶς ϗ φιλανθρώπως, favourably and kindly, 2 Mac. 9. 27. So the Syriac and Arabick, who render it manſuetudo veſtra. So Phavorinus, ἐπιεικὴς, πρᾳΰς, παρὰ τὸ εἴκειν, τὸ ὑποχωρεῖν; and yet that τὸ ἐπιεικὲς, is well rendered Moderation, is certain; for, ἐπιείκεια is rendered by Phavorinus, μετριότης, Moderation, ἐπιεικῶς by Suidas, and Phavorinus, μετρίως ἤτοι συμμέτρως, moderately, or in Meaſure; ἐπιεικὴς, and ἐπιεικὸς by Heſychius, and Suidas, μέτριος, that is moderate; and in the ſame Suidas, ἐπιεικῶς ζήσεσθαι, is to live moderately, that is temperately; and ἐπιεικῶς γεγράφθαι, is to be written moderately, without Bitterneſs or Paſſion.

Now becauſe this Moderation is much talk'd of; but neither rightly underſtood, nor duly practiſed, I ſhall endeavour to ſhew what is the proper Import of the Word, and what are the proper Objects of it. And,

1*ſt*, Moderation is not derived from the Word Medium, but from Modus; and that is, from the Hebrew, Madad, he meaſured; or Middah, a Rule, or Meaſure; and in the Greek is ſtiled, μετριότης, from μέτρον, a Meaſure; whence it is evident, that Moderation, properly ſo called, and in the moral Senſe of the Word, belongs only to things, in which we are ſubject to a vicious Exceſs; or to act beyond that Rule or Meaſure, which Scripture, or Religion, doth preſcribe for the due Regulation of our Actions, and Paſſions, and it reſpects, (1*ſt*,) And principally, the Government of our Paſſions, whence the due Government of them, is by Philoſophers ſtiled μετριοπάθεια, the Moderation of our Paſſions. Now they are either our concupiſcible Paſſions, that is, Paſſions of Deſire, and then the Moderation required of us, muſt conſiſt in ſuch a Government, or Reſtraint of our Affections and Deſires; that in our Love, Deſire of, or our Delight in any thing, we never do exceed the Worth, or Excellency of the Object, or of the End we do purſue; Or,

2*dly*, Our angry Paſſions, which render us averſe from Things, or Perſons, or diſpleaſed with them, and then we moderate theſe Paſſions, when,

1*ſt*, We have no Averſation from, or Hatred to, or Diſpleaſure againſt thoſe things, which have no real Evil in them, and ſo can be no proper Objects of our Averſation, or Diſpleaſure: Or, (2*dly*,) When we are not more diſpleaſed at, or grieved for any thing, than Reaſon, or the Laws of Chriſtianity permits us ſo to be; for then we can never exceed the Meaſure of that Averſation, and Diſpleaſure, which Reaſon and Chriſtianity allows, and ſo we never ſhould offend in the Exertion of our angry Paſſions. And with reſpect to this, the wiſe Man ſaith, He that is ſlow to Anger, is better than the Mighty; and he that ruleth his Spirit, than he that taketh a City. (3*dly*,) This Moderation muſt be extended to the Effects of theſe Paſſions; (1*ſt*,) in the Tongue, By evil Speeches, whence the good Man is ſaid to moderate his Words with Diſcretion, Pſal. 112. 5. (2*dly*,) In his Actions proceeding from thoſe Appetites, as in our Purſuit of temporal good Things; and in our Strife, and Contentions about them. And (3*dly*,) In the Effects of our angry Paſſions, that is in our Deportment to, and our Puniſhment of Offenders. Now hence it follows,

1*ſt*, That Moderation can have only Place in Things which are not always evil in themſelves, but become ſo, by exceeding that Rule, and Meaſure, which is preſcrib'd for the due Management of them. This Word muſt therefore be abuſed, and falſly uſed, when 'tis applied to Things which are always evil in themſelves, in what degree ſoever they are done. They therefore abuſe this Word, who talk of whoring moderately, or being moderately wicked; for what we neither ought to be, or do at all, can never be done moderately, or without exceeding the Rule we ought to walk by.

2*dly*, Hence it is demonſtratively evident, that Moderation is always a Virtue, it being always virtuous to reſtrain the Exceſſes of our Paſſions, and Appetites, and the Exorbitances of our angry Paſſions, and to regulate our Words, and Actions, according to the Rule, and Meaſure, by which we ought to act.

3*dly*, Hence obſerve, that they who render the Word ἐπιείκεια, here uſed, Meekneſs, and Patience, Mildneſs, or Gentleneſs, mean the ſame thing as they who render it Moderation; for Meekneſs, Gentleneſs, Mildneſs, is only the due Moderation of our angry Paſſions, in reſpect to thoſe Injuries, and Provocations, which we meet with in this World. And Patience is that Virtue, which teacheth us to ſuffer any worldly Evil without Murmuring, Diſcontent, or diſcompoſing our Spirits, and reſult evidently from a due Moderation of our Affections to theſe things; and this ſeems clearly to be the Import of the Word in this Text; for, ſaith the Apoſtle, v. 4. tho' you are Sufferers with me for the ſake of Chriſt; yet rejoyce always; and v. 6. μὴ μεριμνᾶτε, be not anxious about any temporal Concerns, or Events; let not either your Care for them, or fear of loſing them, diſtract your Spirits, but let your Moderation, as to theſe things, be known unto all Men, v. 5. for the Lord is at hand, to protect, preſerve, ſupport you, and to reward your Patience, and Reſignation as to theſe Affairs.

4*thly*, And whereas, by a late Author, this Moderation of the Paſſions, and of our Concerns about Things ſuitably to their Nature, is commended highly; but, ſaith he, the Moderation pleaded for by many, hath no Affinity with this Virtue; in this he is exceedingly miſtaken, for all the Moderation that hath, or can be pleaded for by Men of Senſe and Reaſon, is only this, that Men would be concern'd for Things ſuitably to their Natures; that as for Things indifferent, and mutable, they would be indifferent in their Concerns about them; neither quarrelling with the Church Eſtabliſhed, nor refuſing Communion with her, becauſe ſhe doth enjoyn them; nor being ſo ſtiff in the retaining of them, as not to ſuffer mutable Things to be changed by the ſame Power by which they were at firſt appointed, when the Wiſdom of our Governours ſhall think this fit for the good of the Church, which is the Moderation of the (a) Church of England; and that Men would ſet ſuch a true Value upon Peace, Union, and Charity, which are great Chriſtian Virtues, and very beneficial to the Church, as to let indifferent, and circumſtantial Rites, give place to thoſe more neceſſary Things, when theſe Governours, the proper Judges in that Caſe, think there is Ground of Hope, that they may be promoted by a little yielding in thoſe things which do not commend us to God, or by a Change of ſome doubtful, and even innocent Expreſſions, into Expreſſions which remove the Doubt, and miniſter no occaſion of Offence to the Weak.

This I conceive is the true Import of the Word Moderation, when it refers to Actions and Paſſions, Words and Cenſures, ſubject to a vicious Exceſs.

Sometimes the Adjective moderate, or Adverb moderately, hath reſpect to Meaſures either of Things dry, or liquid; and then 'tis not a Meaſure of Things moral, or as they are capable of being good, or evil; but as they are more or leſs, great or ſmall, high or low, long or ſhort, or of a middle Nature betwixt both; and in this Senſe, a Man is ſaid to be moderately learned, wiſe, or rich; and hence you may perceive the Fallacy they put upon us, who ſay Moderation is not always a Virtue, becauſe it is no Virtue to be moderately learned, or wiſe; this being that which Logicians call μετάθεσις εἰς ἄλλο γένος, or a Tranſition from one meaning of the Word to another, which always makes the Syllogiſm to conſiſt of four Terms, and therefore the Concluſion falſe; for whenſoever Moderation is required, or commendable, there the Exceſs is always vicious, and blame-worthy; whereas 'tis rather commendable, and an Ornament of the Mind, to be more than moderately wiſe and learned, and no Diſparagement to be more than moderately Rich.

Ibid. Ὁ Κύριος ἐγγὺς, the Lord is at hand.] So the Apoſtle thought, ſaith Grotius upon the Place; tacitly inſinuating that they were miſtaken in this matter: But this Expoſition reflecting very injuriouſly upon the Authority of the Apoſtles, and the Spirit by which they ſpake; and that of the Fathers, ἡ κρίσις ἤδη ἐπέστη, the Day of Judgment is at Hand, being found by Experience falſe, we of neceſſity muſt have recourſe to ſome other Expoſition of their Words, when they ſo often tell the Chriſtians to whom they write, That the Lord is at Hand; that He ſtands even at the Door; James 5. 9. that the coming of the Lord draweth nigh, v. 8. that the End of all Things is at Hand, 1 Pet. 4. 7. that the Day of the Lord is near, Heb. 10. 25. that it is but a little while, and ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that is coming, will come, and will not tarry. I ſay, we muſt of neceſſity, for Expoſition of theſe Places, have recourſe to ſome other Advent of our Lord: For it is by no means to be granted, that the Apoſtles were miſtaken in their Apprehenſions of this Matter, and that they confidently aſſerted, that the great Day of Judgment was then at hand; when after ſixteen hundred Years it is yet far off, the Deſtruction of Antichriſt, the Calling of the Jews, and the Millennium, ſucceeding theſe great Epochas, being to precede that Day. For this bold Conjecture ſhakes the Foundations of the Chriſtian Faith; it imputes not only Fallibility, but actual Falſhood to the Writers of theſe Epiſtles, and makes them guilty of Falſhood in the Promiſes of the New Teſtament, and in the Motives which they uſed, to encourage Believers to a Chriſtian Patience under the Preſſures they endured, and renders them Deceivers of their Hopes. Let it be therefore noted,

1ſt, That theſe Expreſſions are chiefly uſed in the Catholick Epiſtles, and the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, that is, in the Epiſtles directed to the Jewiſh Churches, who were no Strangers to theſe Phraſes, and who were well acquainted with a tremendous Advent of the Lord to puniſh the Rebellions and Infidelity of that Nation: So for Inſtance, Joel 2. 1. All the Inhabitants of the Land (of Judah) ſhall be confounded, διότι πάρεστιν ἡμέρα Κυρίου ὅτι ἐγγύς, becauſe the Day of the Lord is at Hand, a Day of Darkneſs and Gloomineſs; a Day of Clouds and of thick Darkneſs. And v. 11. The Day of the Lord is great and very terrible, who can abide it? And v. 31. The Sun ſhall be turned into Darkneſs, and the Moon into Blood, before the great and terrible Day of the Lord come, Zach. 14. 1, 2. Behold the Day of the Lord cometh, and I will gather all Nations againſt Jeruſalem to Battle, Mal. 3. 2. Who may abide in the Day of his coming, and who ſhall ſtand when he appeareth? And Chap. 4. 1. Behold, the Day cometh that ſhall burn as an Oven.

2dly, There is alſo frequent mention of this Time and Day in the New Teſtament, when the Lord would come to deſtroy the unbelieving Jews, and alſo of the nearneſs of that Time; for the Baptiſt calls them to Repentance from this very Motive, that the Ax was then laid to the Root of the Tree, Matth. 3. 10. That One was coming whoſe Fan was in his Hand, v. 12. Our Saviour ſpends a whole Chapter in ſpeaking περὶ ἡμέρας ταύτης, of that Day, Matth. 24. 36. and of the coming of the Son of Man to the Deſtruction of that Nation, v. 27. 37. of the coming of the Lord, v. 42. of the Age in which he would thus come, v. 34. of the Signs when his Coming was ἐγγὺς, near at Hand, καὶ ἐπὶ θύραις, at the Door, (which are the very Words, both of St. Paul, and St. James;) when there would be a τέλος, an End of all things belonging to the Jewiſh Temple and Conſtitution, v. 14. Now to this Coming of the Lord, foretold by his own ſelf in the very Expreſſions of the Prophets, and in the Words uſed here by the Apoſtles, in their Writings to the Jewiſh Converts, we may very well refer the Words fore-cited, and if there be any other of like Nature.

And the fitneſs of theſe Exhortations to Meekneſs and Patience, on the account of the nearneſs of this Day, and the Advent of the Lord to puniſh the unbelieving Jews, will be apparent from this Conſideration, That they were the chief Perſecutors of thoſe of their own Nation, who embraced the Chriſtian Faith, Rom. 15. 31. 1 Theſſ. 2. 14. And they alſo ſent out their Meſſengers to other Nations to repreſent the Chriſtians to them as the worſt of Men, and to excite them to join with them in the Perſecution of them, as Juſtin Martyr doth inform us, and therefore it muſt be very acceptable to the poor perſecuted Chriſtian Jews, to hear that theſe Enemies of the Croſs of Chriſt, theſe Inſtigators of the Heathen to perſecute them, ſhould by the coming of the Lord to deſtroy their Church and Nation, be diſabled from doing them any farther Miſchief; and alſo that thoſe deceitful Workers of the ſame Nation, who troubled the Churches with preaching the Neceſſity of Circumciſion, and the Obſervation of the Law of Moſes, ſhould not be able long to inſtil thoſe Doctrines, their Church and Temple being to be ſhortly ruined, and they themſelves being no longer able to obſerve the Law.

Ver. 7. Εἰρήνη Θεοῦ, the peace of God.] As ἀγάπη Θεοῦ, and χάρις Θεοῦ, do generally ſignify the Love and Favour of God to us; ſo εἰρήνη Θεοῦ, the Peace of God, moſt naturally imports the Peace and Reconciliation which we have with God through Faith in Chriſt, for being juſtified by Faith, we have Peace with God. Hence is the Goſpel, which proclaims this Pardon and Juſtification to Believers, ſtiled the Goſpel of Peace, Epheſ. 6. 15. the preaching Peace by Jeſus Chriſt, Acts 10. 30. Eph. 2. 17. who is our Peace, v. 14. and in the Preface to all the Epiſtles, the Apoſtle wiſheth to the Chriſtians, χάριν καὶ εἰρήνην, Grace and Peace through God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; And this Peace is ſtiled εἰρήνη ψυχῆς, the Peace of the Soul, Hag. 2. 9. So that the Senſe of theſe Words ſeemeth to be this; The Senſe and Experience of the Divine Favour, and the inward Peace and Security which ariſeth from it, ſhall be ſufficient to keep you ſtedfaſt in the Faith of Chriſt. He promiſeth not deliverance from Calamities, but inward Peace and Tranquility of Mind under them, and that as the Effect of conſtant Prayer, and a Senſe of the Divine Favour to them.

Ver. 8. Hence two Things may be noted; 1. That there are Things naturally honeſt, juſt, lovely, and praiſe worthy. 2. That there is no Vertue, nothing praiſe-worthy, but what falls under the compaſs of this general Precept.

Ver. 10. I rejoyced in the Lord;] I. e. in your Liberality, not as a thing tending only to ſupply my Wants, but as a thing highly acceptable to the Lord, v. 8. and as a Fruit of your Affection to him, which he will reward, v. 17.

Ibid. Ἐν ᾧ ἐφρονεῖτε ἠκαιρεῖσθε δὲ, of which thing you were ſtill mindful, but you wanted ability.] Οὐκ εἴχετε ἐν χερσὶν, οὐδὲ ἐν ἀφθονίᾳ ἦτε, you had it not in your hands, you were not in a Condition to help me; ſo Theod. Chryſoſt. Theoph. tho' Oecumenius and Phavorinus render it with our Tranſlation, καιρὸν οὐκ εἴχετε, you lacked opportunity.

k Ver. 13. Hence the Fathers obſerve three Things; (1.) That the Art of Contentment requires much Learning, Exerciſe and Meditation. (2.) That it is as difficult to learn how to be full, as to be hungry; Abundance having deſtroyed more than Penury; and expoſed them to more pernicious Luſts. (3.) That our Proficience in this, or any other Vertue, is to be aſcribed, not to our ſelves, but to the Divine Aſſiſtance.

l Ver. 18. 'Οσμὴν ἐυωδίας, a Sacrifice acceptable.] There were two Altars, ſaith Dr. Hammond, in the Temple of the Jews, the Altar of Incenſe within the Temple, and that of Sacrifice without in the Court; on theſe two were offered all things that were offered to God, and under theſe two Heads, an Odor of Incenſe, and a Sacrifice, are Works of Charity here repreſented, as being the prime Things now under the Goſpel to obtain God's Favour and Acceptation.

THE PREFACE TO THE Second Epiſtle of St. PAUL TO THE COLOSSIANS.

THAT St. Paul writ this Epiſtle to the Coloſſians, when he had not yet ſeen them, is the Opinion of moſt of the ancient Scholiaſts: This is confeſſed even by Theodoret, though he ſaith this doth not follow from the Words cited to confirm this Opinion, but the contrary. The Words are theſe: I would have you know what great Sollicitude I have for you, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as have not ſeen my Face in the Fleſh, Col. 2. 1. which he renders thus; Not for you only, and for them of Laodicea, but alſo for them that have not ſeen my Face in the Fleſh: But the connective Particle being not ἀλλὰ, or ἀλλὰ καὶ, but alſo, but only καὶ, and, ſeems to favour our Tranſlation, and the Opinion of the (a) Ancients. He adds, that the Apoſtle went from Phrygia, of which Coloſſe was the Metropolis; whence he collects he muſt have preached there. But this will not follow; ſince the firſt time he only went through Phrygia en paſſant, Acts 16. 6. and the ſecond time, chap. 18. 23. he only ſtaid to confirm the Brethren already converted, but that he came to Coloſſe, is not ſaid. The Arguments offered to prove he had not then ſeen them, ſeem ſtronger, as appears not only from the Words now cited, but from other Expreſſions in the ſame Epiſtle; for he intimates, chap. 1. 4. that he had only heard of their Faith in Chriſt; and v. 7. that they had learned the Faith, not from him, but Epaphras, whom he ſtiles to them a faithful Miniſter of Jeſus Chriſt.

Note alſo, That this Epiſtle was writ at the ſame time with that to the Philippians, and ſo A. D. 62.

As for the Occaſion of it, (b) Theodoret informs us, that it was writ againſt thoſe Jewiſh Chriſtians who endeavoured to impoſe the Obſervation of the Law upon the Gentile Converts, as is apparent from his Caution to them, to beware of them who ſpoiled them after the Rudiments of the World, chap. 2. v. 8. and that becauſe they were circumciſed in Chriſt, v. 11. and he had blotted out the hand-writing of ordinances which was againſt them, v. 14. and from the Inference thence made, Let no man judge you therefore in Meat, or in Drink, or in reſpect of an Holy-Day, or of the New-Moons, or of the Sabbath-Days, which are a Shadow, v. 16, 17. The reſt ſay, that it was written againſt them, who ſow'd among them (c) Jewiſh and Heatheniſh Doctrines; and in particular againſt them who endeavoured to bring in (d) the Worſhip of Angels; of the Gnoſticks here mention'd, by Eſthius they have not one Word to ſay.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. PAUL an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother.

a 2. [a] To the ſaints and faithful brethren in Chriſt, which are at Coloſſe, [writeth thus,] grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

b 3. We give thanks to God, [b] and [who is] the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, praying always for you:

c 4. Since [c] we heard of your faith in Chriſt Jeſus, and of the love which ye have to all the Saints, [which Love is ſtill the Fruit of a true Faith, 1 Cor. 13. 2. Gal. 5. 6.]

5. [We give thanks, I ſay,] for the hope [of an eternal Inheritance, 1 Pet. 1. 3.] which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before [from Epaphras,] in the word of the truth of the Goſpel [preached by him.]

6. Which [Goſpel] is come to you, as it is [alſo heard of] [d] in all the world, and bringeth forth fruit [in them,] as it doth alſo in you, ſince the day ye [firſt] heard of it, and knew [ἐπέγνωτε, acknowledged] the grace [and favour] of God [to you] in truth [and ſincerity.]

7. As ye [have] alſo learned of Epaphras our dear fellow-ſervant, who is for you a faithful Miniſter of Chriſt.

8. Who alſo declared to us your love [to me] in the Spirit, [your ſpiritual and affectionate Love to me, wrought in you by that Spirit whoſe fruit is Love.]

9. For this cauſe we alſo, ſince the day we heard of it, [i. e. this your Affection to us,] do not ceaſe to pray for you, and to deſire [of God] that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will, [advancing] [e] in all [the gifts of] wiſdom, and ſpiritual underſtanding. e

10. That [having thus attain'd to the knowledge of the things of God, [ ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleaſing, [i. e. ſo as to pleaſe him in all things,] being fruitful in every good Work, and encreaſing [ſtill more] in the knowledge of God.

11. [That knowing the hope of your Calling, and the riches of the Glory of the Inheritance of the Saints, Eph. 1. 19. Rom. 15. 13. ye may be] ſtrengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and long-ſuffering with joyfulneſs, Eph. 3. 16. [i. e. That through the Spirit of Glory and Power, 1 Pet. 4. 14. 2 Tim. 1. 7. given to you, you may be enabled conſtantly to ſuffer all afflictions you endure for the ſake of Chriſt, and of the glory he hath promiſed with patience and joy.]

12. Giving thanks to the Father, [f] who hath [thus prepared and] made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the ſaints in light, [for which we ſuffer, 2 Theſſ. 1. 5.] f

13. Who hath delivered us from the [g] power of darkneſs, and hath tranſlated us into the kingdom of his dear Son, [or the Son of his love.] g

14. In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveneſs of [our] ſins. [See Note on Eph. 1. 7.]

h 15. [h] Who is the image [ and repreſentation i to us ] of the inviſible God, [i] the firſt born [ or Lord ] of every Creature.

k 16. For [k] by him [ who is the firſt-born of every Creature, ] were all things created that are in Heaven, and that are in Earth, viſible [ the Sun, Moon, and Stars, ] and inviſible [ the whole Hoſt of Angels, ] whether they be [ named ] Thrones or Dominions, Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him [ as the Cauſe, ] and for him [ as the End of their Creation. ]

17. And he is before all things, [ as to his Being, ] and by him all things conſiſt.

18. And he is the Head of the Body the Church, [ Gr. of the Church, as to Government and gracious Influences ] who is the beginning [ of the Chriſtian Church, ] the Firſt-born from the Dead, that in all things he might have the Pre-eminence.

l 19. [l] For it pleaſed the Father, that in him ſhould all fulneſs [ of Divine Power ] dwell, [ all fulneſs of power to create, redeem, preſerve, and raiſe the Church, which is his Body. ]

20. And having made peace through the m Blood of his Croſs by him to [m] reconcile all things to himſelf, [ Gr. and by him to make all things friendly in him, making peace betwixt them by the Blood of his Croſs. ] By him, I ſay, [ did he thus reconcile all things, ] whether they be things in Earth, or things in Heaven.

21. And you [ Gentiles, ] that were ſometimes alienated [ from the life of God, Eph. 4. 18. and Enemies in your Mind [ to him ] by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled [ to the Father. ]

22. In the Body of his Fleſh through death, to preſent you [ to the Father, ] holy and unblameable, and unreproveable in his ſight, Eph. 1. 4. and 5. 7. ]

n 23. n [ As you will be, ] if you continue in the Faith, grounded and ſettled [ in it, and be not moved away [ by the floods of affliction, or by the blaſts of perſecution, which may come upon you, Mat. 7. 24, 25. ] from the hope of the Goſpel, [ i. e. the hope laid up for you in Heaven, v. 5. ] which you have heard [ of from Epaphras, viz. the hope ] which was preached to every Creature under Heaven, [ i. e. Gentile as well as Jew, ] whereof I Paul am made a Miniſter.

24. Who now rejoyce in my ſufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the [o] afflictions of Chriſt in my fleſh, for his o Body's ſake, which is the Church.

25. Whereof I am made a Miniſter, according to the Diſpenſation of God, which is given to me for you [ Gentiles, ] to fulfil [ πληρῶσαι, fully to preach, ] the Word of God.

26. Even the myſtery [ of the calling of the Gentiles to the ſame Hopes and Privileges with the believing Jews, Eph. 3. 3, 4, 5, 6. ] which hath been hid from [ paſt ] Ages, and from [ former ] Generations, [ v. 5. ] but now is made manifeſt [ by the Apoſtles and Prophets ] to his Saints.

27. To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this myſtery among the Gentiles, [ Eph. 3. 8, 9. ] which is Chriſt [ preached to, and received ] in [ i. e. among ] you [ as ] the hope of glory.

28. Whom we preach, warning every Man, and teaching every Man in all [ ſpiritual ] Wiſdom, that [ ſo ] we may preſent every Man perfect, [ i. e. fully inſtructed. See Note on Epheſ. 4. 13. ] in Chriſt Jeſus.

29. Whereunto [ εἰς ὅ, for which thing ] I alſo labour [ earneſtly, ] ſtriving according to his working, who worketh in me mightily, [ i. e. according to the mighty Power of God aſſiſting me, to confirm the Doctrine of Chriſt, by Signs and Miracles, and mighty Deeds, Rom. 15. 19.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 2. TO the Saints. ] See Note on 1 Cor. 1. 1. Note alſo, that the Holy Ghoſt is not mention'd in theſe Places, becauſe he is the Fountain of this Grace, and, by him, God the Father and the Son dwell in us, John 14. 23. So that Praying for this Grace, is Praying for the Communion of the Holy Ghoſt.

Ver. 3. Εὐχαριστοῦμεν, we give Thanks. ] From this, and the 9th Verſe note, that the good Shepherd ſhould not only feed his Flock, but pray continually for them, and give Thanks for the ſpiritual Bleſſings conferred on them.

b Ibid. Καὶ. ] As the Hebrew ו hath oft the Import of id eſt in the Old Teſtament ; See Noldius, p. 280. 27. So Matth. 23. 5. Thy King cometh, ſitting upon an Aſs, ϗ πῶλον, i. e. A Colt, the Foal of an Aſs ; See Matth. 11. 2, 7. Luke 19. 30, 35. Joh. 12. 14, 15. and frequently it ſignifies nempe, to wit; ſo that Mountain והלבנן to wit, Lebanon, Deut. 3. 26. So Judg. 6. 25. 2 Sam. 20. 14. Jer. 21. 7. ſo John 12. 23. We ſtone thee for Blaſphemy, ϗ ὅτι, to wit, Becauſe thou being a Man, makeſt thy ſelf God, 1 Cor. 15. 24. That with one Mouth ye may glorify God, ϗ πατέρα, who is the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. So Gal. 1. 4. Phil. 4. 20. Coloſſ. 2. 2. James 7. 3, 9. As therefore God, who is the God of Iſrael, was the Characteriſtick of the True God to the Jewiſh Nation ; ſo God, who is the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, is the Characteriſtick of the ſame God to the Chriſtians, who worſhip him under that Title, as being the Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and in him, our Father, we being the Sons of God through Faith in him, and deriving all our Bleſſings from the Father, through him.

Ver. 4. Ἀκούσαντες, Hearing.] From this Verſe, and from Chap. 2. 1. it is evident, that St. Paul did not in Perſon preach to the Coloſſians, and indeed that he never had ſeen them, they being converted by Epaphras, Chap. 1. 7, 23. and perhaps alſo by the Means of Timothy, who therefore is mentioned in the Beginning of this Epiſtle, as ſaluting them together with Paul.

Ver. 6. Ἐν παντὶ τῷ κόσμῳ, In all the World.] And which is preached to every Creature under Heaven, v. 23. This, by an uſual Hyperbole, is to be underſtood of the moſt noted Parts of the World, from which the reſt might hear of it. In which Senſe Cyrus ſaith, That God had given him all the Kingdoms of the Earth, Ezra 1. 2. And God, ſaith Jeremiah, will call for a Sword upon all the Inhabitants of the Earth, Jer. 25. 29. i. e. of the whole Kingdom of Babylon, and the Slain of the Lord ſhall be from one End of the Earth to the other, over all the Kingdoms of the World, v. 26. And the Romans, Aſiaticks, and Egyptians, &c. are ſtyled devout Men of every Nation under Heaven, Acts 2. 5.

e Ver. 9. Ἐν πάσῃ σοφίᾳ, In all Wiſdom.] Among the Spiritual Gifts vouchſafed for the Edification of the Church, are reckoned the Word of Wiſdom, and of Knowledge, 1 Cor. 12. 8. whereby they were enabled, through the Spirit, to know the things which are given them of God, 1 Cor. 2. 12. and to compare ſpiritual things with ſpiritual, v. 13. For the Abundance of theſe Gifts vouchſafed to the Churches, he ſometimes gives Thanks, as 1 Cor. 1. 4, 5, 7. Eph. 1. 3. And for the Encreaſe of them, he ſometimes prays, as here, and Eph. 1. 17.

Ver. 10. Περιπατῆσαι ὑμᾶς ἀξίως τοῦ Κυρίου, that you may walk worthy of the Lord, to all well pleaſing.] Note here the end of all our Chriſtian Knowledge, viz. a Converſation fruitful in good Works, and a Life acceptable and well-pleaſing to God.

f Ver. 12. Ἱκανώσαντι ἡμᾶς εἰς τὴν μερίδα τοῦ κλήρου τῶν ἁγίων ἐν φωτὶ, Who has made us meet to be Partakers of the Inheritance of the Saints in Light.] The other Reading, viz. καλέσαντι, who hath called you, for ἱκανώσαντι, who hath made you meet, is contrary to all the old Verſions, the Syriack, Arabick, and Vulgar, and all the Greek Scholiaſts; and therefore not to be admitted as a various Lection, but only as the Miſtake of ſome Copyiſt. Note alſo, that here is an Alluſion to the Inheritance of the Jews in Canaan, ſtyled the Land of their Inheritance; for it was divided into ſo many μερίδες, or Places meaſur'd out by Line, to be poſſeſſed by the ſeveral Tribes, excepting that of Levi, and then by Lot aſſign'd to every reſpective Tribe, Joſh. 13. according to God's Commandment, Numb. 26. 55. and 33. 54. And that Diviſion which thus came to any of them by Lot, was his μερὶς κλήρου, The Portion which by Lot befel him; but ſaith the Apoſtle, We are made meet, not for an earthly Inheritance, as that was in Canaan, but for that heavenly Portion God hath allotted us in Heaven, the Region of Light and Happineſs, we being already tranſlated into the Kingdom of his Son Chriſt, become his Subjects, and ſo under his Care and Conduct, and Protection, ruled by his Word, which is the Word of Life; and by his Spirit, the Earneſt of this Inheritance, and ſhall hereafter be advanced by him into his heavenly Kingdom.

Ver. 13. Ἐκ τῆς ἐξουσίας τοῦ σκότους, The Power of Darkneſs.] That Darkneſs ſignifies g the State of Heathen Ignorance, ſee Note on Rom. 12. 2. The Power of it, is that Power which Satan, the Prince of Darkneſs, had over the Heathen World, to keep them in Idolatry, and brutiſh Luſts, Eph. 2. 2. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith, He was ſent unto the Gentiles, to turn them from Darkneſs to Light, and from the Power of Satan unto God, Acts 26. 17. See Luke 22. 53.

Ver. 14. Τὴν ἀπολύτρωσιν διὰ τοῦ αἵματος αὐτοῦ,] That theſe words do indeed belong to the Text is evident, not only from Theodoret, Oecumenius, Iren. l. 5. c. 2. p. 395. and the Arabic, but from St. Paul himſelf, Eph. 1. 7.

Ver. 15. Εἰκὼν τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Image of the h
inviſible God.] The Socinians contend, that Chriſt is here ſtiled the Image of the inviſible God, becauſe he, by his Goſpel, hath made known the Will of God unto us; in this Senſe, ſay they, he is ſtyled the Image of God, 2 Cor. 4. 3. and in this ſenſe he ſaith to Philip, He that hath ſeen me, hath ſeen the Father. Schlictingius notes, That he is called the Image of God, now that he is in Heaven, and ſo not according to any thing appertaining to him, which is inviſible, but according to ſomething by which he may be ſeen and known, i. e. ſaith he, as he hath made himſelf known to us in the Goſpel.

But the more natural Import of the Phraſe ſeems to be this, That Chriſt is the Image of God, as making him who is inviſible in his Eſſence, conſpicuous to us by the Divine Works he wrought, they being ſuch as plainly ſhewed, that in him dwelt the fulneſs of the Godhead bodily; for an inviſible God can only be ſeen by his Effects of Power, Wiſdom, and Goodneſs, by which, ſaith the Apoſtle, from the Creation of the World, the inviſible things of God, to wit, his Power and Godhead, have been made known by the things that are made, Rom. 1. 20. He therefore, who in the Works both of the Old and New Creation, hath given us ſuch clear Declarations of the Divine Power, Wiſdom, and Goodneſs, is upon this account as much an Image of God as any thing can be; to this ſenſe the Image of God here ſeems neceſſarily reſtrained by the connective Particle ὅτι, he is the Image of God, for by him all things were created. Moreover, that this Place is parallel to that in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, the Words ſufficiently declare; here he is the Image of God, there the Brightneſs of his Glory, and the expreſs Image of his Perſon; here he is the Firſt-born, or Lord of every Creature, there, the Heir of all things; here it is ſaid, that all things were created by him, there, that he made the World; here, that by him all things do conſiſt, and there, that he ſupporteth all things by the Word of his Power; now that there he is ſtiled, the Image of God's Glory, and the Character of his Perſon, by reaſon of that Divine Power, Wiſdom, and Majeſty, which ſhined forth in his Actions, Schlictingius is forced to confeſs. It is not therefore to be doubted, that he is here ſtiled the Image of God in the ſame Senſe; and it is highly probable, that he is called the Image of the inviſible God, as appearing to the Patriarchs, and repreſenting to them that God, who lives in Light inacceſſible, to which no mortal Eye can approach, according to theſe frequent Deſcants of the (a) Ante Nicene Fathers, That God the Father being inviſible, one whom no Man hath ſeen, or can ſee, he appeared to the Patriarchs by his Son. And that in this Senſe Chriſt ſaith to Philip, He that hath ſeen me, hath ſeen the Father, he himſelf intimates by adding, That the Father abiding in him, did the Works he performed, John 14. 9, 10, 11. and that they ought to believe he was in the Father, and the Father in him, for the Work's ſake. And in the Epiſtle to the Corinthians, he is plainly ſtiled, the Image of God, for the like Reaſon, viz. becauſe that God, who at firſt created Light out of Darkneſs, had ſhined upon the Gentiles, to make known to them the Glory of God, in the Perſon of Jeſus Chriſt. Now this Glory of God is Chap. 3. thoſe miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, by which the Goſpel was confirm'd, and Chap. 4. 7. ἡ ὑπερβολὴ τῆς δυνάμεως τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Excellency of the Power of God.

i Ibid. Πρωτότοκος πάσης κτίσεως, The Firſt-born of every Creature.] Since, ſay the Socinians, the Firſt-born is of the Order and Number of thoſe things of which he is the Firſt-born; Chriſt therefore being here ſtiled the Firſt-born of every Creature, muſt be in the Order, and of the Number of Creatures. But this Inference is neither conſiſtent with their own Principles, nor with the Words of the Apoſtle. Not with their own Principles: For in what Rank of Creatures will they place Chriſt? If among the Old, then they muſt allow him an Exiſtence before the Beginning of the World, which yet they peremptorily deny; if among the New, they muſt confeſs he had a Nature which wanted to be renewed, changed, and reformed; that in him, as well as in us, tho' in him before us, all old things paſſed away, and all things became new; ſince otherwiſe he cannot be of the Order and Number of them who underwent this Change.

2*dly*, This Opinion cannot conſiſt with the Words of the Apoſtle, who ſtiles Chriſt the Firſt-born of every Creature, becauſe by him all things were created, ὅς ἐστι πρωτότοκος πάσης κτίσεως, ὅτι ἐν αὐτῷ ἐκτίσθη τὰ πάντα· Now he who is therefore the Firſt-born of the whole Creation, becauſe he created all things, cannot himſelf be any part of the Creation, either in Heaven or Earth, or be number'd amongſt his Creatures; but only be ſo called, becauſe he was πρὸ πάντων, before all things, ſo אני ממך Hani Mimecka, is πρωτότοκος ἐγὼ ἤ σύ, 2 Sam. 19. 43. I am before thee. 2*dly*, Chriſt, ſaith our excellent Primate, is here ſtiled ὁ πρωτότοκος, the Firſt-born, as being the Lord of all things. For firſt, 'tis reaſonable to conceive, that ὁ πρωτότοκος πάσης κτίσεως, The Firſt-born of every Creature, ſhould be the ſame in Senſe with that of the ſame Apoſtle in the parallel place, where he is ſtiled, ὁ κληρονόμος πάντων, Heir of all things. Now thus it will ſignify in this Senſe, according to that of Juſtinian, To act as an Heir is to act as Lord; for the Ancients uſed the Word Heir for a Lord. Pro Hærede ſe gerere, eſt pro Domino gerere; veteres enim Hæredes pro Dominis appellabant. Inſtit. l. 2. Tit. 19. §. 6.

In this Senſe alſo is the Word primogenitus uſed in the Scriptures; for becauſe the Dominion and Principality anciently follow'd the Primogeniture, according to thoſe Words, He gave the Dominion to Joram, ὅτι οὗτος ὁ πρωτότοκος, Becauſe he was the Firſt-born, 2 Chron. 21. 5. it came in common uſe to ſignify that Dominion. So of David, ſaith God, I will give him to be Beckor, πρωτότοκον, the Firſt-born, high above the Kings of the Earth, I will give him τῶν βασιλέων ἁπάντων τὴν ἐξουσίαν, Power over all Kings, ſaith (b) Aquilas, I will ſet him ἀνώτατον τῶν βασιλέων τῆς γῆς, the Supreme over the Kings of the Earth; ſo Symmachus. No, ſaith Mr. Cl. this doth not ſignify a Lord over other Kings, but a moſt excellent and glorious King. But for this we ſhall not acquieſce in his bare Word againſt the Opinion of all the ancient Commentators on the Place, ſeeing the foregoing Words, v. 26. I will ſet his Hand in the Sea, and his Right Hand in the River, are equivalent to theſe, I will give him Power over the Kings of the Philiſtines, on the one hand; ſee 2 Sam. 8. 12. and over the Syrians on the other, v. 6. He ſhall have, ſaith the Chaldee, Sultanuhi, his Empire over the Kings of the Earth, I will elevate him over them, ſaith the Syriack; and ſo accordingly we find he did; exalting him over the Syrians, who were Tributaries to him, 2 Sam. 8. 6. and over all the Kings, which were Servants to Hadareſer, 2 Sam. 10. 19. And this was neceſſary to be done, to render him a fit Type of that Son of David, who was to be King of Kings, and Lord of Lords. And thus he is alſo πρωτότοκος ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν, the Firſt-born from the Dead, v. 18. as being Lord over the Dead, ſince for this cauſe he died, and roſe again, ἵνα κυριεύσῃ, that he might be Lord over the Dead, and over the Living, Rom. 14. 9. and ſo might be ἐν πᾶσιν πρωτεύων, primas tenens, imperium habens in omnibus, pre-eminent in all things. Since then the Firſt-born is naturally the Heir, and ſo the Lord of the Family, and therefore the Word Heir amongſt the Ancients did ſignify Lord; ſeeing St. Paul, who here ſtiles him the Firſt-born, doth in a Place parallel to this, ſtile him the Heir of all things, why may we not conceive the Perſon of whom David was a Type, may be alſo here ſtiled the Firſt-born, as being Prince over, and high above all Creatures, they being all the Work of his Hands? For ſo the Reaſon follows.

Ver. 16. Ἐν αὐτῷ ἐκτίσθη τὰ πάντα ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς, καὶ τὰ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, All things were created by him, that are in Heaven, and that are in the Earth.] The Gloſs of (c) Grotius, and the Socinians, (d) runs thus: That to Chriſt is here aſcribed, not the Creation of the old World and all things that are in it, but only the Creation, that is, the Renovation of all things under the Goſpel-ſtate, or the Reformation of Mankind by Jeſus Chriſt, and the Goſpel preached to them, and the Reconciliation of Angels to Men. But this Interpretation is ſo forced, and remote from the moſt uſual Senſe of the Words, and 'tis ſo flat and mean to ſay, that Jeſus Chriſt was before every new Creature, that is to ſay, before the Renovation made by himſelf, or rather by his Apoſtles after his Exaltation, and to prove this by that very Renovation, that even Mr. Cl. is forc'd to reject it as evidently falſe, which it will certainly appear to be from theſe Conſiderations.

1*ſt*, That the Apoſtle ſpeaks here of the Creation of ſuch things as are not capable of this Moral Creation, viz. the Creation, πάντων τῶν ὁρατῶν ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς; Of all things viſible upon Earth. Now the τὰ ὁρατὰ, Rom. 1. 20. and τὰ βλεπόμενα, Heb. 11. 31. i. e. The Things which are made and ſeen, compriſe the whole viſible Creation, all things without Life, Metals, Stones, Elements, all Vegetables, and all Beaſts; and did the Goſpel come to make a moral Renovation among theſe? Did Chriſt and his Apoſtles preach to Stones and Trees? 2*dly*, Under all things in Heaven, and all things inviſible, muſt be compriſed all the good Angels, which are therefore elſewhere ſtiled κυριότητες, ἀρχαὶ, καὶ ἐξουσίαι, Eph. 1. 21. and 3. 10. 1 Pet. 3. 22. Now they cannot be proper Subjects of this New Creation, or Moral Renovation; for of this New Creation the Scripture never ſpeaks, but in relation to an Old, which was to be aboliſhed, changed, and done away by it; for in them who are made καινὴ κτίσις, a New Creation, all old things are paſt away, and all things are become new in them, 2 Cor. 5. 17. They put off the old Man, and put on the new, which is created after God in Righteouſneſs and Holineſs, Eph. 4. 22, 24. Col. 3. 9, 10. Now it is manifeſt that nothing of all this can agree to the good Angels, and much leſs to the evil Angels, who are ſtill Creatures, and therefore not to be excluded from Expreſſions ſo general as theſe are.

2*dly*, The Words in this Senſe were far from being true when the Apoſtle ſpake them; for a very ſmall Remnant of the Jews were then converted to the Chriſtian Faith, and of the Gentiles few, in compariſon of thoſe Multitudes which afterwards embraced the Faith, and yet the Apoſtle plainly ſpeaks of a Creation wholly paſt already, uſing the Aoriſt in theſe Words, ἐν αὐτῷ ἐκτίσθη τὰ πάντα, by him have all things been created; and the Perfect Tenſe in theſe Words, δι' αὐτοῦ πάντα ἔκτισται, by him all things were created.

3*dly*, Though the Socinians may be able to produce ſome few Inſtances where the Words κτίσις and κτίζειν, are to be taken in a moral Senſe, yet cannot they ſhew one Inſtance, where the Creation of all things in Heaven and in Earth, viſible and inviſible, is ever uſed in a moral Senſe, or concerning any other Creation, than that of which Moſes ſpeaks, ſaying, Thus the Heaven and the Earth were made, and all the Hoſt of them, Gen. 1. 2.

4thly, The Apoſtle afterwards begins his Diſcourſe of this moral Creation or Reconciliation of the World to God by Chriſt, and the Renovation of his Church in theſe Words, v. 18, 19, 20. And he is the Head of the Body the Church, &c. For it pleaſed the Father —— by him to reconcile all things to himſelf, whether they be things in Earth, or things in Heaven, v. 21. And you that were ſometimes alienated, and Enemies in your Minds by wicked Works, yet now hath he reconciled in the Body of his Fleſh by Death, to preſent you holy and unblamable, and unreprovable in his ſight. Now theſe things being thus connected by the Particle καὶ, to what he had before ſaid of the Creation of all things by Chriſt, demonſtratively ſhew that he was not then ſpeaking of that Renovation, which he begins to ſpeak of in theſe following Words.

Ver. 18. Πρωτότοκος ἐκ τῶν νεκρῶν, the firſt born from the Dead.] Εἰς γὰρ ἀθάνατόν τε καὶ ἀφθαρτὸν ζωὴν οὔπω γέγονε τινὸς ἡ ἀνάστασις, πλὴν τοῦ Σωτῆρος Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, for none beſides our Saviour, ever yet roſe to an immortal, and incorruptible Life. Author, quæſt. reſp. ad Orthod. qu. 85.

1 Ver. 19. For Explication of theſe Words it is to be noted, That the great End of our Saviour's Sufferings was to reſcue our Bodies, condemned for Sin unto Death, from that Mortality, and to beſtow on all, whom God ſhall give him, Eternal Life, by raiſing of their Bodies to a State of Incorruption; for becauſe the Children were Partakers of Fleſh and Blood, and thereby ſubject to Mortality; he alſo took part of the ſame, that through Death he might deſtroy him that had the Power of Death, that is, the Devil; and might deliver them, who, through the Fear of Death, were all their Life time ſubject to Bondage, Heb. 2. 14, 15.

That therefore the Church which is his Body, is repreſented as the Church of the Firſt-born, enrolled in the Heavens, Heb. 12. 23. a Church againſt which the Gates of Hades, or of Death, ſhall not prevail to hinder their Enjoyment of this Reſurrection to a Life of Happineſs; they are the Sons of God, and therefore Children of the Reſurrection, Luke 21. 36. therefore Heirs of God, Joint heirs with Chriſt, who ſhall be glorified with him, Rom. 8. 17. ſhall be delivered from the Bondage of Corruption, into the glorious Liberty of the Sons of God, v. 21. ſhall have the Adoption, to wit, the Redemption of the Body, v. 23. and they are alſo repreſented as Perſons fore-ordain'd to be conformed to the Image of Chriſt, by having their vile Bodies changed into the likeneſs of Chriſt's glorious Body, v. 29.

Note 2dly, That to this End was Chriſt raiſed, that he, the Firſt-born from the Dead, might raiſe up his whole Body from the Dead, he being raiſed from the Dead as the Firſt-fruits of them that ſlept, 1 Cor. 15. 20. for to this End Chriſt both died and roſe again, that he might be Lord both of the Dead and of the Living, Rom. 14. 9. and God hath therefore exalted him, That at the Name (i. e. the Power) of Jeſus, every Knee ſhould bow, of things in Heaven, in the Earth, and under the Earth, Phil. 2. 10. that is, the Bodies of the Dead; for by this Argument, and from theſe very Words, the Apoſtle proves the Reſurrection and a future Judgment, Rom. 14. 10, 11, 12. He is therefore ſo the Firſt-born of the Dead, as to be the Lord of them, according to our former Interpretation of the Word Firſt-born, and as to have Power to raiſe them up who ſleep in him, and bring them with him, 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. to give Eternal Life unto them, and raiſe them up at the laſt Day, John 5. 28, 29. and 17. 2. And thus hath he the Preheminence in all things, being Lord of all Creatures dead and living, and giving both their Firſt and their New Being to them, and rendering his Members conformable to his glorious Image, that ſo they may be Joint-heirs with him in Glory. And this is the conſtant Doctrine of (g) Ire-

m Ver. 20. Ἀποκαταλλάξαι, to reconcile.] This Word, ſay Heſychius, Suidas, and Phavorinus, ſignifies φιλοποιῆσαι, to make Friends, or to reduce Perſons to their former Amity. This by the (i) Fathers is thus explained, That whilſt Man continued in his Obedience to God, Angels and Men were in a perfect Friendſhip; but when Men became diſobedient to their Sovereign Lord, the Angels became averſe to them, becauſe their Lord was diſhonoured by them. But God being reconciled to us by the Death of his Son, they alſo became Friends, and miniſtering Spirits to us, and we became of the ſame Church and Body with them, under the ſame Head Chriſt Jeſus, Heb. 12. 22. And ſo all things in Heaven and Earth were gathered into One Chriſt, Eph. 1. 10.

n Ver. 23. Note, Hence it follows, That they who have true Faith, and juſt ground of Hope, may fall away from them.

Ver. 24. Τῶν θλίψεων τοῦ Χριστοῦ, the Afflictions of Chriſt.] Chriſt having told us, that what was done to his Members is done to him, Matth. 25. 40, 45. the Afflictions of his Members are ſtiled the Perſecutions and Afflictions of Chriſt, Acts 9. 4, 5. Now the Jews ſpeak much of the Afflictions of Chriſt and his Diſciples, comprehending both under the Name of חבלי משיח, (k) the Afflictions of the Meſſiah, dividing them into three parts, of which, ſay they, the Fathers, and the preceding Generation ſuffered one part; another part was ſuffered by the Generation of Deſtruction, or by the Jews deſtroy'd by Titus; and a third by the Generation of the Meſſiah, or by his Diſciples. Of theſe Afflictions of Chriſt, I, ſaith the Apoſtle have already had a ſhare, and I go on to fill up the Reſidue of theſe my Sufferings in the Fleſh, which I am to bear in the Diſcharge of my Miniſtry, for the Benefit of his Church. And ſuitable to this Interpretation is that of Lyranus on the Place, Paſſiones Chriſti dupliciter accipiuntur, uno modo pro illis quas ſuſtinuit in corpore proprio, & ſic nihil ibi reſtat ad implendum; alio modo quas in finem uſque ſeculi patitur in corpore myſtico, & ſic reſtant multarum paſſionum reliquiæ adimplendæ. o a Verſe 2. Εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν, for ἐν ἐπιγνώσει, in the knowledge.] See Note on Chap. 1. 20.

b Ibid. Τοῦ μυστηρίου τοῦ Θεοῦ, the myſtery of God, even the Father, and of Chriſt.] I. e. The Diſpenſation of the Divine Grace of God, in offering Salvation to the Gentiles by Chriſt, and conferring on them, equally with the Jews, the Bleſſings of the Goſpel. This is the Myſtery which, ſaith he, in the former Ages was hid, but now is manifeſted to the Saints, to whom God would make known what was the riches of the Glory of this Myſtery among the Gentiles, which is Chriſt (preached) among you (as) the hope of glory, v. 26, 27. This, ſaith he, is the Myſtery, which from the beginning hath been hid in God, Eph. 3. 9. the Myſtery of God, and of Chriſt, v. 3, 4, 5. That the Gentiles ſhould be fellow-heirs (with the believing Jews) and of the ſame Body, and partakers (with them) of his promiſes in Chriſt by the Goſpel, v. 6. See alſo Rom. 16. 25, 26. Col. 4. 3. And that the Gentiles might have a perfect Knowledge of this Myſtery, and of the Riches of Divine Grace, and Love to them in it, is the Apoſtle's Prayer, Eph. 3. 16, 17, 18, 19. But whereas Crellius and Schlictingius here note, that the Particle καὶ, and, added to the word Chriſt, diſtinguiſhes him as well from God, as from the Father: It doth no ſuch Matter, but only diſtinguiſheth the Myſtery of the Father ſending his Son into the World to be a Saviour to the Gentiles, from the Myſtery of Chriſt, procuring this Salvation for them by his Blood. The Eccleſiaſtical Tradition, ſaith (a) Irenæus, teaches us to believe in God the Father Omnipotent, who made Heaven and Earth, and in one Jeſus Chriſt the Son of God, incarnate for our Salvation, our Lord, God, Saviour, and King. And ſo theſe Words may be conſtrued, the Myſtery of both the Father and Chriſt. See Note on Chap. 1. 3.

c Ver. 3. Ἐν ᾧ, in whom.] Some make theſe Words relate to the Myſtery mentioned in the foregoing Verſe. But it ſeems rather to reſpect the Perſon of Chriſt as Mediator, the Knowledge of whom, ſaith the Apoſtle, hath an Excellency beyond all other Knowledge, Phil. 3. 8. For ἐν ᾧ περιετμήθητε, in whom you are circumcis'd, v. 11. of this, c. 2. and ἐν ᾧ, in whom you are riſen again, v. 12. plainly relate to Chriſt's Perſon and his Performances as Mediator; and the whole following Chapter ſpeaketh of him, and of the Benefits we have received, ἐν αὐτῷ, by him. The Apoſtle alſo doth apply this to him, by ſaying, v. 8. As you have received the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, ſo walk in him: And by warning us againſt the Deceit of vain Philoſophy, becauſe in him dwelleth all the fulneſs of the Godhead. But yet ſeeing theſe hid Treaſures of Chriſt's Wiſdom are revealed to us by his Goſpel only, and thence alone we obtain all our Knowledge of him as Mediator, and of all the Offices he ſuſtains as ſuch, there ſeemeth to be no great difference betwixt referring this to his Perſon, and referring it to his Doctrine.

Ver. 5. Τὴν τάξιν ὑμῶν, your order.] As, to walk diſorderly, in the Apoſtle's Style, is not, to walk according to the Traditions they had received from the Apoſtles, or Preachers of the Goſpel, 2 Theſſ. 3. 6. ſo their Order may import their Compliance with them in Manners, Diſcipline, and Union. d

Ver. 8. Διὰ τῆς φιλοσοφίας, by Philoſophy, &c.] e What is the πιθανολογία, the enticing Speech, v. 4. and the Philoſophy and vain Deceit, which the Apoſtle warns them againſt, is not ſo eaſy to determine. Some good Interpreters refer what follows in this Chapter to the Hereſy of Simon Magus, and the Gnoſticks, to which many Paſſages in this Chapter may be well applied. Others refer them to the Jewiſh Doctors, who had then mixed the Philoſophy of the Heathens with their Ceremonial Worſhip, and had thence learn'd to allegorize it; and others divide the Matter betwixt Jew and Gentile. And that the Jewiſh Doctors are very much concern'd in this Chapter, we learn from v. 14, 15, 16. And the Rudiments of the World, relate to their Legal Obſervations, as being common to them with the Gentile World. See Note on Gal. 4. 8. The Commandments of Men, or their Traditions, may alſo have reſpect to them who were the zealous Aſſerters of them, Matth. 15. Acts 21. 21. And indeed this Verſe ſeems to be the Key to, or the Foundation of, all that follows in this Chapter, ranking the Diſcourſe of the Apoſtle under theſe two Heads; viz. Cautions againſt the Seductions of the Jews, zealous for the Obſervation of their Rites and Ceremonies; and againſt the Seductions of Heathens by their vain Philoſophy, dreſs'd up by them anew, both as to its Doctrines and Morals, and ſet off with the moſt ſpecious Pretences, ſtyled here πιθανολογία, enticing Speech.

f Ver. 9. Πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα τῆς θεότητος, all the fulneſs of the Godhead.] This Fulneſs, according to the Gnoſticks, was made up of their thirty Æones. The Heathens, beſides the Supreme God, own'd many other local Gods, preſiding over Nations, and ſo made up the Plenitude of the Godhead of them all, as of ſo many partial Deities. Againſt ſuch Opinions the Apoſtle here aſſerts, That the whole fulneſs of the Godhead dwelt in Chriſt, and that bodily, i. e. in his Body, as its Temple; And, ſay the Fathers, as the Soul dwelleth in the Body; ſay others, bodily, that is, eſſentially. The Apoſtle doth not roundly ſay that Chriſt is God, but expreſſes his Divine Nature thus, partly to repreſent to the Jews the Divinity of Chriſt, with alluſion to the God of Iſrael dwelling in the Temple; partly to oppoſe him to the πλήρωμα of the Gnoſticks, and to the partial Deities of the Heathens. Here therefore it is to be obſerved,

1*ſt*, That the Apoſtle doth not here ſay, that the Divinity is Aſſiſtant to Chriſt, but that the Fulneſs of it doth κατοικεῖν, reſide in him; which is never ſaid in Scripture of any other Perſon, but of Him alone, who having ſtyled his Body a Temple, Joh. 2. 19, 21. the fulneſs of the Deity may be properly ſaid to dwell in him bodily, as it dwelt ſymbolically in the Ark.

Note 2*dly*, That Chriſt is not here ſaid to be filled with the fulneſs of God, as the Church is, by reaſon of the Gifts with which ſhe was repleniſh'd, and the Doctrine ſhe had received from God, Eph. 1. 23. But the whole fulneſs of the Godhead is here ſaid to reſide in him. Now θειότης and τὸ θεῖον do never ſignify the Gifts of God, or the Doctrine of the Goſpel, but the Divine Nature only; nor can the Will or Revelation of God, be ſaid to dwell bodily in any Perſon. I conclude therefore, that (b) the Body born of the Virgin, receiving the whole Fulneſs of the Godhead bodily, was immutably united to the Divinity, and Deified; which made the ſame Perſon, Jeſus Chriſt, both God and Man.

Ver. 10. Κεφαλὴ πάσης ἀρχῆς καὶ ἐξουσίας, The Head of all Principality and Power.] (c) Epiphanius informs us, that Simon Magus deviſed ſome Names of Principalities and Powers, ſaying, That none could be ſaved who learned not the ſacred Diſcipline, and how to offer his Sacrifice to the Father of all things, by theſe Principalities and Powers. In oppoſition to theſe things, ſay ſome, the Apoſtle aſſerts that Chriſt created all theſe Principalities and Powers, c. 1. 15. and was the Head and Lord of them, and ſo in him, without their Aſſiſtance, the Coloſſians were complete, and fully inſtructed to Salvation. g

Or elſe theſe things may be referred to Cerinthus and his Followers. For,

1*ſt*, He lived in the Apoſtles Times, and was a great Oppoſer of the Truth of the Goſpel, and particularly an Enemy to St. (d) Paul, becauſe he contended it was not neceſſary for the Jews, nor lawful for the Gentiles, to obſerve the Law of Moſes, for which Cerinthus was a Zealot. And he, ſaith the ſame (e) Epiphanius, reproved St. Peter for going into the Uncircumciſed, and raiſed the Tumult in Antioch about Circumciſion.

2*dly*, He lived long in (f) Egypt, and was inſtructed in Philoſophical Sciences, and from thence went and ſet up his Sect in Aſia the Leſs, and Syria, ſay (g) Theodoret and Epiphanius. Being therefore skilled in Philoſophy, and ſetting up his Hereſy in Aſia Minor, where Coloſs was, he may well be here reflected on by St. Paul, eſpecially if we conſider how much his Opinions agreed with thoſe which are here cenſured by him. For,

3*dly*, He was zealous for Circumciſion, and other Obſervances of the Law of Moſes, and ſo concern'd in what is here ſaid, v. 11, 14, 15, 16, 17. (2*dly*,) He ſaid (h) the World was made by Angels, or inferior Virtues, and not

not by the Supreme God; and that he himſelf receiv'd his Doctrine by the Revelation of Angels. (3*dly*) He held Jeſus to be born of Joſeph and Mary, as other Men, and Chriſt to have deſcended upon him, and at his Paſſion to have return'd to his Pleroma.

And St. John refuted him, ſaith Irenæus by eſtabliſhing the Principle of one God Omnipotent, who made all things viſible and inviſible by his Word; which is the very thing the Apoſtle in this Chapter doth aſſert.

h Ver. 11. Τῇ ἀπεκδύσει, &c. The putting off the Body of the Sins of the Fleſh. ] Thus (i) Philo informs us, that Circumciſion imports the cutting off our ſinful Pleaſures and Paſſions, and our impious Opinions, See Rom. 2. 28, 29. and the Reading of the Text defended, Examen Millii.

The Apoſtle here plainly diſcourſeth againſt thoſe Hereticks or Falſe Apoſtles, who laboured to introduce the neceſſity of Circumciſion. Now that Cerinthus was one who pleaded for the Neceſſity of it, Epiphanius, St. Auſtin, and others do inform us; but that Simon Magus did ſo, I find not in Church-Hiſtory. (k) The Apoſtolical Conſtitutions ſpeak of ſome Falſe Apoſtles, who held it neceſſary περιτέμνεσθαι νομίμως, to circumciſe Men according to the Law; but then they are diſtinguiſh'd from the impure Hereſy of Simon Magus, who was ſo far from contending for the Obſervation of the Law, and Prophets, that he taught his Followers, (l) νόμῳ καὶ Προφήταις μὴ χρᾶσθαι, not to regard them, (m) μηδὲ φρίττειν, not to fear the Threats of the Law, as being not the Law of God, ἀλλ' ἀριστερᾶς δυνάμεως, but of ſome evil Power, ſaith Theodoret; and declaring, ſaith (n) Epiphanius, that whoſoever believed the Old Teſtament, incurred Death. Note,

2*dly*, That the Apoſtle ſpeaking here of the Circumciſion made without Hands, and of the Circumciſion made in Baptiſm, and conſiſting in the putting off the Sins of the fleſh, cannot, by the Circumciſion of Chriſt, mean his own perſonal Circumciſion which was made with Hands, but that which he hath inſtituted in the room of it, viz. Baptiſm. Note,

3*dly*, That Baptiſm therefore is a Rite of Initiation to Chriſtians, as Circumciſion was to the Jews; for by virtue of our ſpiritual Circumciſion in Baptiſm, he proves we have no need of the outward Circumciſion to be a Type of the Purity obtained by Baptiſm.

4*thly*, Hence I infer, That Baptiſm is Chriſt's Ordinance for Infants of Believing Parents, as Circumciſion was of old for the Infants of the Jews; for if it had been otherwiſe, and Infants under Chriſtianity had not been received by any federal Rite into Covenant with God, the Objection of the Neceſſity of Circumciſion as to them, would have ſtill held, they entering into Covenant by no other Rite, and ſo remaining Strangers from the Church, and as much Aliens from the Adoption, the Covenant, and Promiſes, as the Gentiles were; which ſure the Jews would have objected, if truly they could have done it to the reproach of Chriſtianity. That Inſtitution therefore muſt, for the Comfort and Satisfaction of their Parents, afford ſome way of ſanctifying theſe Infants, or of admitting them among the Number of God's Children, which being confeſſedly no other than that of Baptiſm, it muſt be ſuppoſed to allow that to them, that by it, in the Phraſe of (o) Irenæus, Infantes & parvuli renaſcantur in Deum; Infants and little Children may be regenerated.

Ver. 13. Καὶ τῇ ἀκροβυστίᾳ τῆς σαρκὸς, And the Uncircumciſion of the Fleſh. ] By the defect of Circumciſion, they being, ſaith the Parallel Place, on that acccont without Chriſt, being Aliens from the Common-wealth of Iſrael, and Strangers from the Covenant of Promiſe, Eph. 2. 11, 12. i

Ver. 14. χειρόγραφον τοῖς δόγμασιν, The Hand-writing of Ordinances. ] Δόγμα is a Reſcript, or Ordinance concerning any thing, a Royal or Imperial Decree, Dan. 2. 13. and 3. 10, 12, 29. and 6. 8, 10, 13, 15, 26. Luke 2. 1. Acts 17. 7. the Miniſtration of Death and Condemnation, 2 Cor. 3. 7. 9.

1 Ver. 15. Τὰς ἀρχὰς ϗ ἐξȣσίας. ] The Principalities and Powers here mentioned, are the Powers of Wickedneſs, the Spirits of Satan, who is ſtiled ἡ ἐξȣσία τȣ̃ σκότȣς, the Power of Darkneſs, Luke 22. 53. and of the Air, Eph. 2. 2. ὁ ἄρχων, the Prince of this World, John 12. 31. and 14. 30. whoſe Emiſſaries are the Principalities and Powers, the Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, the Spiritual Wickedneſſes in high Places, againſt which we wreſtle, Eph. 6. 12. Theſe Powers Chriſt deſtroyed by his Croſs, becauſe, as the Apoſtle ſaith, Thro' Death he deſtroyed him that had the Power of Death, that is, the Devil; and delivered them, who thro' the Fear of Death, were all their Lives ſubject to Bondage, Heb. 2. 14, 15. Moreover the Heathens lay under two great Infelicities, (1.) That they were Aliens from the Common-wealth of Iſrael, and Strangers from the Covenant of Promiſe, and without God in the World; the Remedy which Divine Wiſdom found out, and our Lord's ſalutary Paſſion effected, with reſpect to this, is diſcourſed of in the preceding Verſe. (2*dly*,) That they were ſubject to the Power and Deluſions of Evil and Apoſtate Spirits, walking according to the Prince of the Power of the Air, the Spirit that now worketh in the Children of Diſobedience. Theſe Principalities and Powers Chriſt deſpoiled on the Croſs, by the Name of a Crucified Jeſus, and by the very Sign of the Croſs, caſting out the Prince of the World from his Dominions, Temples and Oracles, and from thoſe Humane Bodies he poſſeſſed; and ſo openly convincing the Heathens, that the Deities they ſo long had worſhipped, were Evil Spirits, and by the Miracles wrought in his Name, drawing them from their Heathen Worſhip to him. And this Expoſition is confirm'd from theſe Words, He made a Shew of them openly, which plainly ſeemeth to refer to this Conqueſt over them. Moreover, it may be noted, that Simon and Cerinthus held εἶναι τὸν αἰῶνα ἀπὸ ἀρχῶν τȣ́των ϗ ἐξȣσιῶν τῆς κακίας κατασκευασμένον, That the World was made by theſe Evil Spirits, and Men were ſubject to the Power of them; and were (p) per eum & Helenam ſuam ex illis Angelicis poteſtatibus liberandos, to be delivered by Simon and his Helen from them. This, ſaith the Apoſtle, our Lord hath fully done upon the Croſs, and ſo we need no Aſſiſtance of Simon or Cerinthus to perform this Work; and much leſs need we the Aſſiſtance of thoſe Dæmons, which the Heathens worſhipped as good Angels, who had the Government of the inferior World committed to them, Chriſt having triumphed over them, and wholly ſpoiled them of that Power. And from theſe Heathen Deities he paſſes on again to the Rudiments of the Jews, making that Inference from what had been diſcourſed from v. 11. to the 14th, which we ſee in the following Verſes.

Ibid. Ἐν αὐτῷ, In it. ] 'Tis certain that (q) Origen and others of the Ancients read ἐν ξύλῳ, on the Wood; ſo did the Arabick Verſion; others read, ἐν ἑαυτῷ, in himſelf; but ſeeing that Reading, as St. Jerome teſtifies, is only in the Latin Copies, and ſince Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, Theophylact, read as we, and moſt Copies do, without taking notice of any other Reading, we may rely ſecurely on it.

Ver. 17. Σκία τῶν μελλόντων, A Shadow of Things to come. ] Dr. Spencer well obſerves, that there is no neceſſity from theſe Words, of aſſerting that theſe, and all the Ritual Conſtitutions of the Law of Moſes, ſhadowed forth ſome Chriſtian Myſtery; but only that they were but as mere Shadows, compared to that ſolid and ſubſtantial Truth Chriſt by his Goſpel hath diſcovered to us; as Joſephus ſpeaking of Archelaus, who exerciſed the Kingly Power without the Title of it, ſaith, ἧκε παρὰ τȣ̃ Δεσπότȣ σκίαν αἰτησάμενος βασιλείας, ἧς ἥρπασεν ἑαυτῷ τὸ σῶμα, He came to requeſt of Cæſar the Shadow of that Kingdom, the Body of which he had uſurped or ſnatched to himſelf before. De Bello Jud. l. 2. c. 4. p. 777.

Note 2*dly*, That ἐν μέρει ἑορτῆς, is well rendered in reſpect, or on account of a Feaſt; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, That which was made glorious, was not glorious ἐν μέρει τȣ́τῳ, in this reſpect, 2 Cor. 3. 10. and, I have ſent the Brethren, leſt our Boaſting of you ſhould be found vain, ἐν τȣ́τῳ μέρει, in this reſpect, chap. 9. 3. And when St. Peter ſaith, If any Man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, let him glorify God, ἐν τȣ́τῳ μέρει, on this account. So 2 Maccab. 15. 18. The Care they took for their Wives and Children, was ἐν ἥττονι μέρει, of no account with them, their chief Care being for the Temple. Now hence to make out the Argument againſt the Sabbatarians, note,

1*ſt*, That the Hand-writing of Ordinances here mentioned reſpecteth Ceremonial Ordinances; for of them only it can be truly ſaid, they were againſt us, and were contrary to us, they were blotted out, and nailed to the Croſs of Chriſt, and were Shadows of, or in reſpect of things to come.

2*dly*, That when it is ſaid, Let no Man judge you in reſpect of thoſe things, the Meaning is, Let no Man cenſure or condemn the Chriſtian ſtian for not obſerving theſe New Moons, Feaſts, or Sabbaths.

3. That the Apoſtle here by Sabbaths does not mean the firſt and laſt Days of the great Jewiſh Feaſts, which were by them obſerved as Sabbaths; or the Sabbath of the Seventh Year, or of the Year of Jubilee: But only, or chiefly, the weekly Sabbaths of the Jews.

1ſt, Becauſe the Apoſtle having ſaid before, Let no Man condemn you for not obſerving the Jewiſh Feſtivals, or any part of them, cannot rationally be ſuppos'd in the Words following, to condemn only the ſame thing.

2dly, In the New Teſtament the Word Sabbath, or Sabbaths, is uſed above ſixty times, and in fifty ſix of thoſe places, it doth unqueſtionably ſignify the Jewiſh Weekly Sabbaths, and in the other the whole Week. Since then the Sabbath in the New Teſtament is never uſed for the firſt or laſt Days of the Jewiſh Feaſts, but is there ordinarily uſed for their Weekly Sabbath, we ought in reaſon to conclude, it here imports that Seventh Day Sabbath which it doth uſually import in other places; and not thoſe Solemn Days of the Jewiſh Feaſts, thoſe Jubilees, or Seven Years Sabbaths, which it doth never elſewhere ſignify in the New Teſtament.

3dly, Where-ever the Word Sabbath is mentioned in the Old Teſtament, in conjunction with New Moons, or Jewiſh Feaſts, it doth import the Seventh Day Sabbath diſtinctly from all others; as will appear from the peruſal of all the places where theſe things are jointly mentioned, as 2 Kings 4. 23. Iſaiah 1. 13. and 66. 23. Lam. 2. 6. Ezek. 45. 17. and 46. 1. Hoſ. 2. 2. Amos 8. 5. Being then here mentioned with New Moons and Jewiſh Feaſts, it is reaſonable to conceive it ſignifies the Seventh Day Sabbath.

4thly, The Sabbath-Day in the Old Teſtament is often contra-diſtinguiſhed to all other Solemn Feaſts, and more particularly to New Moons and Anniverſary Feaſts, and therefore being here mentioned with them, we may preſume it cannot ſignify them, or any Portion of them, but rather that it doth import, that Jewiſh Sabbath, which in other places is put in oppoſition to them, as 1 Chron. 23. 31. 2 Chron. 2. 4. and 31. 3. Neh. 10. 32, 33. Seeing then the Word Sabbath, whereever it is uſed in conjunction with New Moons or Feaſts, in Scripture, ſtill ſignifies the Jewiſh Weekly Sabbath, we cannot doubt, but in conjunction with them here, it ſignifies the ſame thing. Seeing the Word is often put in oppoſition to New Moons and Solemn Feaſts indefinitely taken, what Reaſon have we to conceive, that in this place it ſhould be taken for any part or portion of them? Hence then I argue thus:

No Man ought to condemn the Chriſtian for not obſerving the Jewiſh Sabbath, becauſe Chriſt hath blotted out the Hand-writing of Ceremonial Ordinances, which was againſt them; therefore the Jewiſh Sabbath was a Ceremonial Ordinance, therefore 'tis blotted out, therefore the Chriſtian is not obliged to obſerve it. Again, that which is joined with Meats and Drinks, and with New Moons, which are things confeſſedly Ceremonial, no difference at all being obſerved by the Apoſtle, as to their being named Hand-Writings, things cancell'd, Shadows, and the like, that muſt be Ceremonial. Laſtly, That which is a Shadow of, or in reſpect of things to come, of which Chriſt by his Advent exhibited the Body, that muſt be Ceremonial, that muſt be cancell'd, and aboliſhed by Chriſt, and then the Jewiſh Sabbath muſt be ſo.

Ver. 18. Καταβραβευέτω, Let not Man beguile o you of your Reward.] So Suidas, Παραλογιζέτω, Let no Man put a Cheat upon you. So Phavorinus, Ἐπηρεαζέτω, Let no Man damage you: Chryſoſt. and Theophyl.

Ibid. Καταβραβεύειν;] This Word ſignifies to give the Prize to one, when the Victory was obtained by the other; ſo Chryſoſtome, Theodoret, Theophylact; and accordingly (*) Suidas ſaith, this is the thing which the Apoſtle means by the Word, and becauſe by this unjuſt Sentence, the Perſon to whom it is due, is deprived of his Reward; hence it comes to bear that Senſe; and ſo the whole is by Stephanus rendered, nemo vos debito bravio fraudet, which as it juſtifies our Tranſlation, ſo it ſhews the Damage Chriſtians will ſuſtain by thus worſhipping Angels, even the Loſs of that Crown of Glory, which Chriſt hath purchaſed for his faithful Servants.

Ibid. So 1 Sam. 18. 12. Θέλει ἐν σοὶ ὁ Βασιλεὺς, The King is pleaſed with thee, 2 Sam. 15. 26. If he ſay, οὐκ ἠθέλησα ἐν σοὶ, I am not pleaſed with thee, Mat. 20. 26, 27. ὃς ἂν θέλῃ ἐν ὑμῖν, Who among you affects to be great or firſt? And Chap. 27. 43. Let him deliver him, εἰ θέλει αὐτὸν, if he delighteth in him. As for the Perſons here referr'd to: Note,

1ſt, That the Greek Commentators affirm generally, that the Apoſtle doth through this whole Epiſtle oppoſe himſelf to ſome falſe Chriſtians, who held δεῖν συνάγεσθαι ἡμᾶς πρὸς τὸν Πατέρα διὰ τῶν ἁγίων Ἀγγέλων, That we ought to addreſs to the Father by the holy Angels. But then ſome of them add, That the Pretence of Humility was this, (ſ) That it was too much for us to come to God immediately by Chriſt; this being above our Infirmity. But this, tho' it agrees well with the Humility here mentioned, it ſeems not to accord either with the Principles of Simon Magus; who held himſelf to be both the Father and the Son; or of Cerinthus, who held Chriſt was only a Man, born after the common way of Generation, and ſo could not exalt himſelf thus above the Angels; and much leſs doth it accord with the Sentiments of the Heathens. Oecumenius ſaith, The Apoſtle ſpeaketh here of them who did, τὰς νομικὰς παρατηρήσεις τῷ εὐαγγελίῳ ἐπιμιγνύειν, mix legal Obſervances with the Goſpel; and Theophylact, that he ſpeaks περὶ τῶν Ἰουδαϊζομένων, of the Judaizers. And (t) Theodoret explains this more fully thus; They who were zealous for the Law, perſuaded Men to worſhip Angels, becauſe, ſay they, the Law was given by them; this they adviſed Men to do, pretending Humility, and ſaying, that the God of all things was inviſible, and inacceſſible, and incomprehenſible, and that it was fit we ſhould procure the Divine Favour by the means of Angels. Now if this be ſo, this Paſſage cannot well agree to Simon Magus and his Followers; for tho' they worſhipped Angels, as (u) Irenæus, (x) Tertullian, (y) Epiphanius, (z) Theodoret note, and held that their Proarche or Propater, was ſo inacceſſible, and incomprehenſible; yet did they not ſeem to worſhip God by Angels, but rather to perform their Magical Operations by invoking them. He alſo, and his Followers, as hath been ſhewn, were great Enemies to the Law, and ſo could not introduce the Worſhip of good Angels upon this account, that the Law was given by them.

But then as for Cerinthus, and other falſe Apoſtles of the Jews, they owned Chriſt Jeſus as the Meſſiah, and yet were ſtiff Aſſertors of the Obligation of the Law; and they by their Philoſophy had introduced the Worſhip of Angels, after the Heathen manner. For Epiphanius informs us of Cerinthus, that he ſaid, (a) The Law and the Prophets came from the Angels; and that he who gave the Law, was one of the Angels that made the World. They had imbibed the Philoſophy of Plato (b), which ſaith, The Dæmons are of a middle Nature betwixt Gods and Mortals, that they brought our Prayers and Offerings to them: and their Commands to us, and were to be worſhipped and invoked upon that account: That God had no immediate Commerce with Men, but all his Converſe with us was by the Mediation of theſe Dæmons. And ſuitably to this Philoſophy, we find the Angel, Tobit 12.12.15. ſaying, that he was one of the ſeven Angels, οἱ προσαναφέρουσι τὰς προσευχὰς τῶν ἁγίων, who offered up the Prayers of the Saints. And that when Tobit and Sarah prayed, he brought the Memorial of their Prayer before the Holy One. And Philo (c) in ſeveral places declares, that as the Philoſophers ſaid of their Dæmons and Hero's, ſo Moſes introduces the Angels πρεσβευομένους, doing the Office of Ambaſſadors, καὶ διαγγέλλουσας τά τε παρὰ τοῦ ἡγεμόνος τοῖς ὑπηκόοις ἀγαθὰ, καὶ τῷ βασιλεῖ ὧν εἰσὶν ὑπήκοοι χρεῖαι, and being Meſſengers of good things from God to his Subjects, and carrying back to God their Needs. In his Book of the Giants (d), he ſtyles them Ambaſſadors of good Communications of Men to God, and of God again to Men. And in his Book de Somniis, (e) he repreſents them as the Ears and Eyes of the great King, ſeeing and hearing all things; for, ſaith he, they bring the Commands of the Father to his Children, and the Needs of the Children to the Father, not that God needs their Miniſtry, but that it is very needful and beneficial for us frail Men to have ſuch Mediators, as being unable, not only to receive God's Chaſtiſements, but even his very Benefits, ſhould he immediately confer them on us by himſelf. If Cerinthus had imbibed this Philoſophy, which had then obtained among the Jews, and was ſo well known in the World, that one ſo much inſtructed in it, as Theodoret ſaith he was, could not well be ignorant of it, here is a ſufficient Foundation for his introducing the Worſhip of thoſe Angels which gave the Law, under Pretence of Humility; Philo (f) declaring, that when the Law was firſt given, the People deſired it might be ſo, and requeſted of God theſe Mediators; ſaying, ſpeak thou to us, and let not God ſpeak to us, leſt we die.

q Ibid. Ἃ μὴ ἑώρακεν ἐμβατεύων, intruding into thoſe things he hath not ſeen. ] So read all the Greek and Latin Copies now extant. Eſthius. Now this did the Philoſophers, and thoſe Chriſtians which embraced their Sentiments, in all their Inducements to worſhip theſe Angels and inferior Spirits; As, v. g.

1ſt, In their Pretence that (g) the Divine Nature could not immediately be converſed with, but that all the Intercourſe betwixt God and Men, was by the Intermediation of theſe Dæmons; it being a debaſing of the Divine Nature, to think we could converſe with him, without their Intervention.

2*dly*, In ſaying that they were to be worſhipped, χάριν τῆς εὐφήμου διαπορείας, for their laudable Interceſſion; and, διὰ τῆς εὐεργεσίας, for the (h) Benefits of common life we receive from them,

3*dly*, As having from the ſupreme Deity their Power and Authority, and preſiding over us, κατὰ τάξιν ἣ ἕκαστος ἐτάχθη, according to the Order appointed to them; and being therefore worſhipped, θείῳ νόμῳ καὶ θείᾳ βουλήσει, by the Divine Law and Counſel; and only, ſaith Celſus, as he will have them to be honoured: Plato in Phædro, p. 246. Hierocles in Carm. Pythag. p. 9, 18. Celſus apud Orig. l. 8. p. 381.

4*thly*, Becauſe, by worſhipping theſe Miniſters of his, we do a thing, φίλον ἐκείνῳ, grateful to him, ſaith Celſus (i). Now in all theſe things they did manifeſtly, ἐμβατεύειν, intrude into things of which they neither had, nor could have any Knowledge from the Light of Nature. And ſo do alſo the Romaniſts, in ſaying, That Saints and Angels ſee all things, or perceive our Prayers, by ſeeing him who ſeeth all things; That they are worſhipped by the Divine Law and Counſel; And that by invoking them, we do a thing grateful to him: It being certain that nothing of this Nature can be proved from Scripture, or from Primitive Tradition.

Moreover, Theodoret and Oecumenius here obſerve, that this Worſhip of Angels continued long in Piſidia, Phrygia, and Laodicea near to Coloſſe, where they had (k) εὐκτήρια τοῦ ἁγίου Μιχαὴλ, Oratories of St. Michael, the Captain of the Lord's Hoſt, as he is call'd, Joſh. 5. 14. which leads us to the very Riſe of this Worſhip both among Jews and Chriſtians. For the Jews generally held, that he who is ſtyled the Captain of the Lord's Hoſt, was the Angel Michael. See Note on Heb. 2. 5. And his Office, ſaith (l) Origen, is, Mortalium preces, ſupplicationéſque curare, to preſent the Prayers of Men; and in the Book of the Paſtor, we read, ſaith he, that Chriſtians, ἅμα τὸ πιστεύειν ὑπὸ τοῦ Μιχαὴλ γίνονται, as ſoon as they believe, are under the Government of Michael. (m) The good Meſſenger, (ſaith Hermes) being Michael, qui populi hujus habet Poteſtatem, & gubernat eos, who hath the Government over this People. Whence, by (n) Nicephorus, he is ſtyled ὁ τῆς χριστιανῶν πίστεως ἔφορος, the Preſident or Overſeer of the Chriſtian Faith.

Ver. 19. Καὶ οὐ κρατῶν τὴν κεφαλὴν, and not holding the Head. ] Hence it appeareth, (1.) r
That the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of ſuch Perſons as had embraced Chriſtianity, owning Chriſt Jeſus to be the Head of the Church, and being by Profeſſion dead with Chriſt from the Rudiments of the World, v. 20.

2*dly*, That the Fault they were guilty of, was not the Worſhipping of Angels, as Mediators of Redemption, but of Interceſſion only, i. e. as Mediators to bring us to God, and to preſent our Prayers to him, as appears from the foregoing Note.

3*dly*, That Jeſus Chriſt is repreſented in the Holy Scripture, as He by whom we have, προσαγωγὴν πρὸς τὸν Θεόν, acceſs to God in Prayer with confidence, Eph. 2. 18. and 3. 12. Heb. 10. 19,—22. And ſo having Acceſs to Him by Prayer, through any other Mediator of Interceſſion, muſt be intrenching on the Office of the Head of the Church, and ſo not holding the Head: And that the Practice of the Church of Rome, in Praying to Angels, is here condemned, I have fully proved in a Diſcourſe of the Idolatry of the Church of Rome, Chap. 11.

to his Myſtical, as the Head doth its Spirits to the Natural Body, the whole Body of Chriſtians, (duly compacted together, by the Aſſiſtance which every Part of it gives to the whole; ſome ſuſtaining the Office of inferiour Heads, ſome of an Eye, ſome of an Hand or Foot, 1 Cor. 12. 15, 16, 17.) encreaſeth in that Love which proceedeth from the God of Love, which he requires and approves, and which tends to his Glory, and is therefore ſtyled the Encreaſe of God; as that Righteouſneſs which he approves, and accepts of, is ſtyled the Righteouſneſs of God, Rom. 1. 17. 2 Cor. 5. 21. Phil. 3. 9. Jam. 1. 20. See the Note on Eph. 4. 15, 16.

t Ver. 20. Ἀπὸ τῶν στοιχείων τοῦ κόσμου, from the Rudiments of the World.] That theſe Rudiments ſignify the Moſaical Inſtitutions, as being, for Matter, moſtly the ſame with the Rites uſed by the Heathens, is proved Note on Gal. 4. 3. And this is alſo evident from the Argument here uſed, to reſtrain the Coloſſians from being ſtill in Bondage to them, viz. That they are blotted out, cancell'd, and done away by the Death of Chriſt, to which we profeſs to be conformed, v. 14. To live in the World, is to live after the Preſcripts of the Men of the World, by whom theſe Rites were uſed.

u Ibid. Δογματίζεσθε; are ye ſubject to Ordinances?] Δογματίζεσθαι, is to make Rules and Conſtitutions concerning theſe things. Thus of the Feaſt of Dedication of the Temple purged from Defilement, ἐδογμάτισαν μετὰ κοινοῦ προστάγματος, they ordained by a common Statute and Decree, that every Year thoſe Days ſhould be kept, 2 Mac. 10. 8. So when Judas had ſlain Nicanor, ἐδογμάτισαν πάντες μετὰ κοινοῦ ψηφίσματος, they ordained all with a common Decree, in no caſe to let that Day paſs without Solemnity, Chap. 15. 36. See Eſt. 3. 9. 3. Eſdr. 6. 34. And ſo it may be rendered here, Why, as living yet in conformity to the World, are ye ſubject to the Decrees and Conſtitutions about them? Such as are, x Ver. 21. Μὴ ἅψῃ, touch not.] This may refer either to what is mention'd by St. Paul, as the Aphoriſm of ſome Philoſophers or Hereticks, It is good for a Man, μὴ ἅπτεσθαι, not to touch a Woman. Or it may be referr'd to Things ſuffocated, or dead of themſelves, or offered to Idols; which, as (o) Clemens of Alexandria ſaith, the Jews were not allowed to touch.

y Ibid. Μηδὲ γεύσῃ, Taſte not.] This, doubtleſs refers to Meats and Drinks, either Fleſh and Wine, which ſome of the Philoſophers, particularly the Pythagoreans, would not taſte of. And ſome falſe Apoſtles, mention'd by the (p) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, forbad Marriage, and required Men to abſtain from Fleſh, and Wine; repreſenting Marriage, and the Procreation of Children, and the eating of Fleſh, as things abominable.

z Ibid. Μηδὲ θίγῃς, Handle not,] Any thing which may pollute you by touching it, or by being offered to Idols.

aa Ibid. Ἅ ἐστι πάντα εἰς φθορὰν τῇ ἀποχρήσει, all which things periſh in the uſing.] The Word φθορὰ is uſed often by St. Peter ſpeaking of ſuch Men, not for a Natural, but a Moral Corruption, as when he ſaith, they were Partakers of the Divine Nature, who have eſcaped τὴν φθορὰν, the Pollution which is in the World through Luſt, 2 Pet. 1. 4. and that they, as natural brute Beaſts, made to be taken and deſtroyed, ſpeak evil of the things they underſtand not, and ſhall periſh, ἐν τῇ φθορᾷ αὐτῶν, in their own corruption, 2 Pet. 2. 12. And, v. 19. whilſt they promiſe them liberty, they themſelves are the ſervants, τῆς φθορᾶς, of corruption. And ſo the Meaning of theſe Words may be, that when theſe things are obſerved in compliance with the Commands and Doctrines of Men, as things neceſſary, they corrupt Men who uſe them thus. But I prefer the other Senſe, which ſaith, that theſe Meats periſh in the uſing, according to that (q) Aphoriſm of the Civil Law we uſe thoſe things which remain after the Uſe of them; His verò abutimur quæ nobis utentibus pereunt.

bb Ver. 23. Ἅτινα ἐστι λόγον μὲν ἔχοντα τῆς σοφίας, which things have a ſhew of Wiſdom.] Theſe Words plainly refer to the former Verſes; ἐθελοθρησκεία, Will-Worſhip, to the θέλων ἐν θρησκείᾳ τῶν Ἀγγέλων, pleaſing themſelves in the worſhipping of Angels; and ſo it muſt be as bad as that; the ſhew of Humility, to the doing this from a pretence of Humility, v. 18. the neglecting of the Body, and making no Proviſions for it, to the ſatisfying of the Fleſh, to the abſtinence from Fleſh, Wine, and Women, and from things offered to Idols.

It remains only to conſider who were the Perſons here intended. That they were not the Gnoſticks, or Followers of Simon Magus, is evident: For they, ſaith (r) Irenæus, were men who indulged to the Fleſh, and who privily corrupted the Women whom they taught; they were carefully to Meditate upon the Myſtery of Wedlock, and upon that account enticed other Mens Wives to themſelves. And (s) Epiphanius adds, That they participated of all manner of Fleſh; That they indulged to Drunkenneſs and Venery, execrating them who were uſed to Faſtings. They therefore could not be the Men who neglected the Body, by abſtaining from Meats, and made no Proviſion for the Fleſh. They therefore ſeem to me to have been partly the Eſſenes, and partly the Pythagorean Philoſophers. For,

1. Of the Eſſenes, Joſephus ſaith, That οὔτε γαμετὰς εἰσάγονται, &c. (t) they neither would have Wives nor Servants; as thinking Servitude an Injury to our common Nature, or tending to Injuſtice; and Marriage, to Sedition. And again, (u) Γάμου μὲν, ὑποψία παρ' αὐτοῖς, They contemn Marriage, not becauſe they would have Marriage taken away, or the Succeſſion of Mankind to ceaſe; but to avoid the Intemperance of Women, and becauſe they think none of them can keep their Faith to one. (x) Philo ſays, They have Women with them, but they are only ſuch as are γηραιαὶ, Old Women, or παρθένοι τὴν ἁγνείαν, Virgins as to their Chaſtity, not out of Neceſſity, but, διὰ ζῆλον καὶ πόθον σοφίας, from their Zeal to, and Deſire of Wiſdom. He adds, Σιτοῦνται δὲ πολυτελὲς οὐδὲν, ἀλλὰ ἄρτον εὐτελῆ καὶ ὄψον ἅλες, &c. (y) They eat nothing that is delicate, having only mean Bread, and Salt for their Meat; and, if they be delicate, Hyſſop for their Sauce, and River Water for their Drink. (z) They uſe no Wine in their Feaſts, οἶνος μὲν γὰρ ἀφροσύνης φάρμακον, for Wine, ſay they, is the Incentive to Madneſs. He goes on, τράπεζα καθαρὰ τῶν ἐναίμων, Their Table is pure from all things that have Blood in them, or from the Fleſh of living Creatures; for ſuch things, ſay they, irritate Concupiſcence. And of this Abſtinence from certain Meats they are ſo tenacious, ſaith (a) Joſephus, that they will rather endure all ſorts of Torments, ἢ φαγωσί τι τῶν ἀσυνήθων, than eat any thing they were not accuſtomed to eat. Moreover, there were ſome things they muſt not touch, as (b) Oil; for, κηλῖδα ὑπολαμβάνουσιν τὸ ἔλαιον, They look on Oil as a Defilement; ſo that if any of them be unwillingly anointed with it, he muſt waſh it off from his Body. The Younger amongſt them muſt not touch the Elders, (c) ὥσπερ εἰ ψαύσειαν αὐτῶν ἐκείνους ἀπολούεσθαι, καθάπερ ἀλλοφύλῳ συμφυρέντας, And if they touched them, the Elders waſhed themſelves as if they had touched an Alien. They were ſuch ſtrict Obſervers of the Sabbath, that they would provide no Meat for themſelves, nor go to Stool on that Day. They had alſo (d) τὰ τῶν Ἀγγέλων ὀνόματα, certain Names of Angels which they held in Veneration; and alſo proper δόγματα, Opinions or Decrees, which they ſwore never to deliver to others, otherwiſe than as they had received them. And thus they dogmatized. And laſtly, All this was the Effect, τῆς περὶ φιλοσοφίας ὁρμῆς, of their Paſſion for Philoſophy, of which (e) Philo ſo often ſpeaks in his Deſcription of them. So great Reaſon is there to conceive they may be concerned in this Chapter.

2*dly*, Theſe Things being introduced as the Rudiments of the World, and living according to theſe δόγματα, Preſcriptions, being living as in the World, I chiefly encline to refer theſe things to the Abſtinence from touching and taſting Fleſh and Wine, and handling Women, and from all the Objects which gratify the Senſes, the Taſte, the Eye, the Touch, taught by the followers of Pythagoras and Empedocles; and defended with ſuch variety of Learning by Porphyry, the very Title of whoſe Book is, De Abſtinentia ab eſu Animalium, Of Abſtinence from eating the Fleſh of any living Creature. This he founds upon this Principle, that τὸ ζῆν κατὰ τὸν νοῦν, (f) To live the Intellectual Life, and to enjoy the Contemplation of the moſt perfect Being, it is neceſſary we ſhould abſtract our Minds, as much as is poſſible, from all ſenſual Objects; from the Pleaſures which ariſe, διὰ γεύσεως, from the Taſte, particularly of Wine; and from the Touch: For, ſaith he, ἁφαὶ, the ſenſual Objects which we touch, are not only σωματοῦσαι τὴν ψυχὴν, ſuch as transform the Soul into the Body, but alſo ſuch as ſtir up Swarms of Luſts and Paſſions in it. Hence he infers, that all theſe things are, τὰ αἰσχρὰ, filthy and polluting, and ſuch as hinder, τῆς ψυχῆς καθαρὰν ἐνέργειαν, the pure Operations of the Soul; therefore he that would live the intellectual Life, muſt abſtain (g) not only from the Uſe of Women, but from all Senſual things, they being ſuch as do defile the Soul. Moreover, what the Apoſtle ſpeaks of the Deceit of Philoſophy, exactly agrees with the life is hid with Chriſt in God.

c 4. [c] When Chriſt, who is [the Author and Purchaſer of] our life ſhall appear, then ſhall ye alſo appear with him in glory.

d 5. [d] Mortify therefore [in order to the enjoyment of this Life with God] your members that are upon the earth, [i. e. your earthly carnal Members,] fornication, uncleanneſs, inordinate affection, evil concupiſcence,
e and [e] covetouſneſs, which is idolatry.

6. For which things ſake, [done by them] the wrath of God cometh upon [Men, as being] the children of diſobedience, [or upon thoſe who obey not the Commands of God, to abſtain from them.]

f 7. [f] In the which you [of Coloſſe,] alſo walked ſometimes when ye lived in them.

8. But now alſo put off all theſe [following Vices, viz.] anger, wrath, malice, blaſphemy,
g [i. e. Evil ſpeaking,] [g] filthy communication [or reproachful Words, which ariſe from Wrath,] out of your mouth.

h 9. [And] [h] lye not one to another, ſeeing ye have put off the old man with his deeds.
[See Note on Eph. 21.]

10. And have put on the new man, i which is renewed in [i] knowledge, [or by the acknowledgment of the Truth, Eph. 4. 22.]
after the image of him that created him,
[in Righteouſneſs, and Holineſs of Truth, Eph.
4. 24.]

11. Where, [or under which Oeconomy,] there is neither [reſpect had to any Man, as being] Greek, nor Jew, [of the] circumciſion, nor uncircumciſion, [as being] Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free, but [his belonging to] Chriſt is all, and in all.

12. Put on therefore, as [becometh new Creatures, and] [k] the elect of God, [or Per- k ſons choſen to be his Church and People,] holy and beloved [of him,] bowels of mercy; kindneſs, humbleneſs of mind, meekneſs long-ſuffering.

13. Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have [ground of] quarrel againſt any, even as Chriſt [freely] forgave you [the greateſt Sins out of mere Grace and Mercy,] ſo alſo do ye [to others.

14. And above all theſe things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectneſs, [i. e. the moſt perfect Bond of Union among Chriſtians, Eph. 4. 15, 16. the End, and the Perfection of the Commandments, 1 Tit. 1. 5. that which fulfils the reſt, Rom. 13. 8. Gal. 5. 14. And that which renders us perfect, and unblameable in Holineſs before God, 1 Theſſ. 2. 12, 13.]

15. And let the peace of God rule [or be the Umpire] in your hearts, to which you are called in one body, [by being all made Members of one Body, Eph. 4. 4.] [l] and be ye thank- l ful, [unto him that hath called you to peace,
1 Cor. 7. 15.]

16. [m] Let the Word of Chriſt dwell in m you richly, in all wiſdom [ſo that you may be employed in your Aſſemblies, by virtue of this Gift of Wiſdom, in] teaching and admoniſhing one another, in pſalms and hymns, and ſpiritual ſongs, [n] ſinging with grace in your n hearts to the Lord.

17. And whatſoever you do in word or deed, do all [o] in the name of the Lord Je- o ſus, giving thanks to God, and [or, who is]
[p] the Father by him. p

18. Wives ſubmit your ſelves, [or be ſubject] to your own husbands, [in the Offices belonging to that Relation [as it is fit [for them to do that are] in the Lord [that the Name of the Lord may not be blaſphemed, by your pretending a Chriſtian Liberty from the obſervances of the Duty of a Wife, Tit. 2. 5. But that by your greater exactneſs in it, you may commend Chriſtianity to others, 1 Pet. 3. 5. [or, in obedience to the Lord, requiring this Submiſſion, Eph. 6. 6.]

q 19. Husbands [q] love your wives, and be r not [r] bitter againſt them, [in the aſperity of Words, or the ſeverity of your Actions to the alienation of your Affections from them.]

20. Children obey your parents in all [lawful] things, for this is well-pleaſing to the Lord: [And in all things to which the Power of the Parent reaches; for if he commands him not to marry, when he cannot contain, or to marry one he cannot love, he exceeds his Paternal Authority.]

21. Fathers, [whoſe Names ſpeak Clemency and Kindneſs,] provoke not your children to anger, [irritate them not with Sowreneſs, and hard Uſage, immoderate or undeſerved Stripes,] leſt they be diſcouraged [i. e. deſpair of pleaſing you.]

22. [f] Servants obey in all [lawful] things f
[thoſe who are] your maſters according to the fleſh, not only [as thoſe who do Buſineſs] with eye-ſervice, as [being] men-pleaſers, but in ſingleneſs of Heart, [as Perſons] fearing God. [See the Reaſon of this Precept, Note on v. 25.

23. And whatſoever you do, do it heartily as unto the Lord, and not unto men, [having reſpect to his Glory, and his Recompence.] [See the Notes on Eph. 6. from v. 1. to v. 9.]

24. [t] Knowing that of the Lord you ſhall t receive the reward of the inheritance, for ye ſerve the Lord Chriſt.

25. But he [of you] that doth wrong [to his Maſter,] ſhall receive [of the Lord Puniſhment] for the wrong which he hath done, and [καὶ, for] there is no [u] reſpect of perſons u with him.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1, 2. TA' ἄνω ζητεῖτε, v. 1. φρονεῖτε, v. 2.] Theſe Phraſes ſeem to import, (1.) That we ſhould put the higheſt eſtimate and value on things above. (2.) That we ſhould have them fixed on our Spirits, and familiarly occurring to our Thoughts by fervent Meditations and ſerious Reflections on them. (3.) That we ſhould have our Wills inclined to them, and our Affections poſſeſs'd with frequent Love, and paſſionate Deſires of them; for φρονεῖν is, ſaith Phavorinus, λογίζεσθαι, καὶ ἐνθυμεῖσθαι, στέργειν, καὶ ἀποδέχεσθαι. (4.) That we ſhould employ our Faculties and Members in purſuit of them with Diligence and Conſtancy; for ζητεῖν is niti, curare, ſummo ſtudio quærere, as ζητῶ ποιῆσαι in Demoſthenes, ζητῶ ἀφελέσθαι, nitor auferre, Plutarch, ζητεῖν δὲ πολυπραγμονεῖν. Schol. Ariſtoph. p. 289.

b Ver. 3. Ἡ ζωὴ ὑμῶν ἐν τῷ Θεῷ.] I. e. Your true Life, which conſiſts in fruition of God, and which you ſhall live for ever with him, is hid with Chriſt, who is now removed from your Sight, and placed at the Right Hand of God; for it doth not yet appear what we ſhall be, 1 John 3. 2.

c Ver. 4. Note, Hence we learn that Chriſtians are not to expect to reign with Chriſt on Earth a Thouſand Years, becauſe they are not to mind or ſeek, τὰ ἐπὶ γῆς, the things upon Earth, but only thoſe above, where Chriſt ſitteth at the right Hand of God; Whereas, were this Life on Earth a Bleſſing and Reward which God had promiſed to them for their Sufferings, they might mind it, and ſet their Affection on it: As alſo from all thoſe places where the Hope, Reward, Inheritance of Chriſtians, is ſaid to be reſerved in the Heavens for them; for, as OEcumenius notes, εἰ ἐν οὐρανοῖς ἡ κληρονομία, μυθώδης ἡ χιλιοέτης ἀποκατάστασις, if our Inheritance be in Heaven, the ſuppoſed Millennium on Earth muſt be but a Fable. Great is your Reward in Heaven, ſaith Chriſt to the Chriſtian Sufferer, Mat. 5. 12. Luke 9. 23. Your hope is laid up for you in Heaven, Coloſſ. 1. 5. See 1 Pet. 1. 4.

Ver. 5. Νεκρώσατε οὖν, Mortify therefore your d earthly Members.] There being in us naturally the old Man, v. 9. Eph. 4. 22. and the Body of Sin; the inordinate Affections and Luſtings of it, are ſtiled the Members of that Body; partly becauſe they exert themſelves by the Members of the Natural Body; and partly, becauſe, as the Members of the Body are employed to fulfil and accompliſh the Deſires of the Natural Body; ſo theſe Affections are employed to gratify the Deſires of the Body of Sin; theſe Members are ſtiled earthly Members, becauſe they reſpect only earthly things, they fix our Hearts upon, and employ our Minds about them; to mortify them is to reſiſt, and to ſuppreſs their Motions that we do not obey them, or gratify them in their inordinate Deſires and Affections, but carefully ſhun all the Occaſions of Sin, and uſe thoſe Means which tend to the ſubduing of it. And this Exhortation being directed to Believers, ſhews, that as they are by Profeſſion, and by Baptiſmal Obligation, dead to Sin; ſo have they continual need to proceed in the Practice of this Duty, that they be not overcome by the Deceitfulneſs of Sin, by their fleſhly Luſts, which tend to Fornication, and Uncleanneſs; their Deſires of worldly Honours, and Vain-glory, which are evil Concupiſcences, and by the inordinate Love of the World, which is ſtiled Covetouſneſs.

Ibid. Ἐπιθυμία κακὴ, evil Concupiſcence.] If hence it follows, that all Concupiſcence is evil, then from διαλογισμοὶ κακοὶ, mention'd, Mark 3. 21. it follows, that all Thoughts and Reaſonings are evil; and from ὁμιλίαι κακαὶ, mention'd, 1 Cor. 15. 33. it alſo follows, that all our Converſation with one another muſt be evil; ſo certain is it, that this place doth not prove that all Concupiſcence is evil. And to be ſure the very firſt Motions of Concupiſcence, which ariſe naturally in the ſenſual Appetite, and prevent our Reaſon and Deliberation, cannot be here intended, becauſe the Apoſtle reckons this Concupiſcence among thoſe Members of the Body, which muſt be mortified, which the firſt Motions of the Appetite can never be.

2*dly*, Becauſe he adds, That becauſe of theſe things cometh the Wrath of God upon the Children of Diſobedience: Now theſe firſt Motions, if ſuppreſs'd, and not conſented to, when they ariſe, can never render us Children of Diſobedience, and much leſs ſubject to the Wrath of God. And if Satan hath the Power to inject ſuch Motions, or raiſe ſuch Ideas in the Brain, if they be our Sins, tho' not conſented to, it muſt be in his Power to make us ſin, whether we will or no. From all which Conſiderations it ſeems neceſſary to underſtand this of deliberate fleſhly Luſtings indulged to, and not reſtrained by us.

e Ibid. Ἥτις ἐστὶν εἰδωλολατρεία, Covetouſneſs, which is Idolatry.] Becauſe as Heathens place their Confidence in Idols, even ſo the avaricious Man doth place his Confidence in Gold and Silver, which are the Matter of their Idols, he chiefly doth purſue them, and for their ſakes only doth other Matters. And that ſuch Actions do partake of the true nature of Idolatry, Reaſon as well as Scripture will evince; for Reaſon ſhews, that Love, Hope, Truſt, Obedience, are parts of that internal Worſhip which we owe to God in the moſt excellent Degrees, and which he more regards than building Temples, or erecting Altars, the bending of the Knee or Body, or any Act of outward Worſhip, and therefore in thoſe Acts doth more eſpecially conſiſt God's Worſhip; wherefore he that confers them upon any Creature in that degree, or in thoſe Actions in which they only ought to be aſcribed to God, muſt be as truly an Idolater, as he that payeth to a Creature any outward Act of Religious and Divine Worſhip; and as the Covetous Perſon, tho' he doth not indeed believe his Riches or his Money to be a God; yet by ſo loving, and ſo truſting in them, as God only ought to be loved and truſted in, he is as truly guilty of Idolatry, as if he ſo believ'd. So tho' the Roman Catholicks do not believe their Saints and Angels to be God; yet by addreſſing to them even (a) mental Prayers, and giving to them the Inward Worſhip of the Soul, which, as St. (b) Auſtin well obſerves, the Catholick Church always reſerved to God, they are as guilty of Idolatry, as if they did believe them to be Gods, ſince thereby they aſcribe to them the Knowledge of the Heart, and of the inward Motions of the Soul, which only do belong to God.

Ver. 7. The Coloſſians dwelling in Phrygia, f celebrated the Sacra of (c) Bacchus, and of the Mother of the Gods, called therefore Phrygia Mater, and doubtleſs complied with all the Luxury of Aſia Minor, of which they were a part.

Ver. 8. Αἰσχρολογίαν, Filthy Communication.] g This is uſually refer'd to obſcene and impure Words; but Heſychius, Phavorinus, and J. Pollux, l. 2. c. 4. have informed us, that the Word ſignifies reproachful Words, ſuch as tend to put a Man to Shame; and to this Senſe the Words preceding make it moſt proper to refer it, Wrath, Anger, Malice, or evil Machinations of the Heart, being the inward Diſpoſitions which render us diſaffected to, and prone to do evil to others; Railing and opprobrious Speeches, which tend to render our Brother infamous to others, being the uſual Effects of theſe evil Diſpoſitions.

Ver 9. Hence it appears, that to be ad- h dicted to Lying, is an Evidence that we have not yet put off the Old Man.

Ver. 10. Εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν, In Knowledge.] The i Chriſtian Faith being the Knowledge of the Truth which is after Godlineſs, Tit. 1. 1. it being that by which we eſcape the Pollutions of the World thro' Luſt, 2 Pet. 2. 20. and recover out of the Snare of Satan, 2 Tim. 2. 25, 26. that by which we have all things given us which appertain to Life and Godlineſs, 2 Pet. 1. 3, and that, ſaith the Apoſtle here, by which we are enabled to walk worthy of the Lord unto all well-pleaſing, being fruitful in every good

Work, and increaſing in them, as we increaſe εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν τοῦ Θεοῦ, in the Knowledge of God; The being renewed in this Knowledge, may well import our being renewed in Righteouſneſs and true Holineſs, as the Apoſtle ſpeaks, Eph. 4. 24. eſpecially if we conſider, that whilſt the Judgment ſtill continues to approve the things which are moſt excellent, the Will ſtill chuſes, and the inferior Faculties will be employ'd in proſecution of them.

k Ver. 12. Ὡς ἐκλεκτοὶ τοῦ Θεοῦ, As the Elect of God.] That the Apoſtle ſpeaks not here of any abſolute Election of ſome particular Perſons to Eternal Life, but of their being choſen out of the Heathen World to be his Church and People, is evident, becauſe he ſpeaks to the Church in general; and yet to theſe Elect he promiſeth the Bleſſings of Chriſtianity, only if they continue in the Faith rooted and grounded, and be not moved away from the Hope of the Goſpel, chap. 1. 23. chap. 2. 2, 4, 18. expreſſing his Care and Fear, leſt they ſhould be deceiv'd, and robb'd of their Rewards.

l Ver. 15. Βραβευέτω, Rule.] Μεσιτευέτω, ἰθυνέσθω, ſaith Phavorinus, i. e. Let that peaceable Diſpoſition, which God requires from all Chriſtians, be the Umpire and Director to compoſe all Differences among you, for Peace hath God for its Author. He hath called us to it, he hath made us all one Body, and nothing is more unſeemly or pernicious, than that the Members ſhould be at Diſcord with each other. In (d) Joſephus it ſignifies, Let him have the chief place; thus of Jehoſaphat he ſaith, he did βραβεύειν, ἅπασι ἴσος, excel, as being equal to them all.

m Ver. 16. Ὁ λόγος τοῦ Χριστοῦ, The Word of Chriſt.] The Word dictated by the Holy Spirit is therefore the Word of Chriſt, becauſe the Spirit is the Spirit of Chriſt, 1 Pet. 1. 11. as proceeding both from the Father and the Son.

n Ibid. Ἐν χάριτι, Singing with Grace.] That is, ſay ſome Interpreters, χαριέντως, Bechen; ſo as that their Hymns may be grateful to others, and be receiv'd by them with Spiritual Delight; which is, ſay they, the import of the Phraſe, Eph. 4. 29. Col. 4. 6. But this ſeems rather to depend on others than ourſelves: Say others, he exhorts them to ſing with a grateful Mind, full of the Senſe of Divine Goodneſs, in which Senſe χάρις τῷ Θεῷ is often uſed; See 1 Cor. 15. 27. 2 Cor. 2. 14. But according to the Ancients, he exhorts them, ἀπὸ χαρίσματος ᾄδειν, to ſing by the Gifts given them by the Holy Ghoſt, of which one is the Word of Wiſdom; and this Expoſition is confirmed by the parallel place, Eph. 5. 18, 19. Be ye filled with the Spirit, ſpeaking to one another in Pſalms and Hymns and ſpiritual Songs. Now theſe Gifts being chiefly exerciſed in their Aſſemblies, where eſpecially they did ψάλλειν τῷ πνεύματι, ſing in the Spirit, 1 Cor. 14. 15, 16. and every one had his Pſalm, and his διδαχὴν, Doctrine, v. 26. I conceive theſe Spiritual Songs, in which they were to teach, and to admoniſh one another, may refer chiefly to their Aſſemblies, then managed by their Prophets, in which they met together for that end. So Pliny doth inform us, that the Chriſtians uſed to meet together on a certain Day, Carmenque Chriſto quaſi Deo dicere ſecum invicem, and ſing an Hymn to Chriſt as God. Lib. 10. Ep. 97.

Ver. 17. Ἐν ὀνόματι Κυρίου, In the Name of the Lord.] To do all in the Name of the Lord, is, 1ſt, To have reſpect in all things to his Will, as knowing we are obliged to live to him, 2 Cor. 5. 14. to the Honour of his Name and Doctrine. 2dly, To be deſirous that our Actions may be well pleaſing to him, 2 Cor. 5. 8, 9. 3dly, To expect Acceptance of our Actions, Prayers, John 14. 13, 14, 15, 16. and Praiſes, through him, Heb. 13. 15. and a Recompence of them from him hereafter, Eph. 6. 8. Our Prayers muſt be offered to the Father in his Name, John 16. 23. and yet the Bleſſing asked, is to be given by him, John 15. 16. that the Father may be glorified in the Son, John 14. 13, 14. But 'tis eſpecially to be noted, that all the Greek Interpreters here obſerve, that this is ſpoken againſt the Worſhip of Angels or Dæmons; which the Philoſophers, and eſpecially the Platoniſts, had introduced, as thinking them the Perſons who carried up all our Prayers and Praiſes to God, and conveyed down all his Bleſſings to us.

Ver. 17. Do all ἐν ὀνόματι κυρίου, in the Name of the Lord.] It is well worth the Obſervation, that all the Ancient Commentators on this Epiſtle do frequently inform us, that 'twas written to prevent the Worſhip of Angels, and to fix Chriſtians to the Worſhip of Jeſus Chriſt only. Hilary's Preface to this Epiſtle ſaith it is an Exhortation to the Coloſſians, nè alicui præter Chriſtum aliquam eſſe ſpem putarent, to place no hope in any other but in Chriſt, St. Chryſoſtom notes on the 1*ſt* Verſe of the 1*ſt* Chapter, that the Diſeaſe of the Coloſſians being this, that δι' Ἀγγέλων προσάγεσθαι ᾤοντο τῷ Θεῷ, they thought they were to come to God by Angels; the Apoſtle endeavours to correct this Diſtemper, by telling them, that what he ſaid in this Epiſtle to them, was according to the Will of God, and Oecumenius brings in the Apoſtle ſpeaking thus, know therefore, that it is according to the Will of God, ὑπὸ υἱοῦ ὑμᾶς προσάγεσθαι, that you ſhould come to him by his Son, and then, πῶς δι' Ἀγγέλων προσαγωγὴν εἶναι ὑπειλήφατε; how is it that you think you ſhould come to him by Angels? And again, this is the Will of the Father, δι' υἱοῦ προσάγεσθαι αὐτῷ τοὺς ἀνθρώπους, καὶ μὴ δι' Ἀγγέλων, that Men ſhould have Acceſs to him by the Son, and not by Angels. The ſame Words he repeats on v. 16. and on chap. 2, 3. Chryſoſtom notes, that by ſaying, that all the Treaſures of Wiſdom, and Knowledge are hid in him, he teaches, πάντα δι' αὐτοῦ αἰτεῖν, to ask all things by Chriſt: Oecumenius, that the Myſtery of the Father, and the Son, is this, τὸ τὴν προσαγωγὴν, τὴν πρὸς τὸν πατέρα διὰ τοῦ υἱοῦ γίνεσθαι, καὶ οὐ διὰ τῶν ἁγίων Ἀγγέλων, that the Introduction to the Father ſhould be by the Son, and not by the Holy Angels. Theodoret upon this Verſe, ſaith thus, ἐπειδὴ γὰρ ἐκεῖνοι τοὺς ἀγγέλους σέβειν ἐκέλευον, αὐτὸς τὸ ἐναντίον παρεγγυᾷ ὥστε καὶ τοὺς λόγους καὶ τὰ ἔργα κοσμῆσαι τῇ μνήμῃ τοῦ Δεσπότου Χριστοῦ, καὶ τῷ Θεῷ δὲ καὶ πατρὶ τὴν εὐχαριστίαν δι' αὐτοῦ ἀναπέμπειν, becauſe they (who perverted the Coloſſians) perſwaded them to worſhip Angels, he enjoins the contrary, that they ſhould adorn their Words and Deeds, with the Commemoration of the Lord Chriſt, and ſend up Thankſgiving to God the Father by him, μὴ δι' Ἀγγέλων, and not by Angels: St. Chryſoſtom here having ſaid, that he commands us to do all things according to God, μὴ τοὺς Ἀγγέλους ἐπεισαγαγεῖν, and not to introduce the Angels, adds, that the Devil envying our Honour, τὰ τῶν Ἀγγέλων ἐπεισήγαγε, hath introduced the Worſhip of Angels, and concludes thus, be he an Angel, an Archangel, or a Cherubim, endure it not; ἐπεὶ οὐδὲ αὐτοὶ οἱ δαίμονες καταδέξονται, ἀλλὰ καὶ ἀποστρέφονται, for neither will they receive, but reject it when they ſee their Lord diſhonoured, ἐγώ σε ἐτίμησα, καὶ εἶπον, ἐμὲ κάλει καὶ σὺ ἀτιμάζεις αὐτὸ, I have honoured thee, and ſaid, call upon me, and thou diſhonoureſt me.

Ver. 19. Ἀγαπᾶτε, Love your Wives.] Delighting in their Converſation, Prov. 5. 18, 19. deſiring to promote their Welfare both Temporal and Eternal; for this is ſurely comprehended in loving her as we do our ſelves, Eph. 5. 33. providing for her all things neceſſary to the Happineſs and Comfort of her Life; for this is loving her as Chriſt did love his Church, v. 25. This, ſay the very Heathens, is the Property of a (g) ſincere Affection in the general, and therefore much more of that Affection which we are to bear to our own Fleſh and Body, as the Wife is to be eſteemed, Eph. 5. 28, 29. q

Moreover, the Apoſtle reckons it part of the Idolatry of the Heathen, that they ſerved or paid Religious Worſhip to them which by Nature were no Gods, Gal. 4. 8. The Socinians therefore either muſt confeſs Chriſt is by Nature, as well as by Office, God; or elſe acknowledge that they are guilty of Idolatry, in giving this Religious Worſhip to him.

Ver. 25. Προσωποληψία, reſpect of Perſons.] Chriſt, in judging Men at the Laſt Day, will have no reſpect to the Quality, or external Condition of any Man's Perſon; but whether he be bond or free, he ſhall receive Recompence for the good that he hath done, in obedience to Him; whether he be Maſter or Servant, he ſhall be puniſhed for the wrong that he doth in thoſe Relations. It being certain from the 2d Chapter, that the Judaizers were got into the Church of Coloſſe; and that many of them denied, that the Jews ought to be Servants to any; and the Eſſenes judging all Servitude unlawful: [See Note on 1 Pet. 2. 15. 1 Tim. 6. 1, 2.] This might be the reaſon why here, and Titus 2. the the Apoſtle is ſo large in charging this Duty upon Servants.

CHAP. IV.

a Verſe 1. MAſters, give unto your Servants that which is [a] juſt and equal, knowing that you alſo have a Maſter in Heaven, [who, with what meaſure you mete to others, will mete to you again. Matth. 7. 2. and deal with you his Servants, as you deal with yours.]

2. Continue [inſtant] in Prayer, and watch in the ſame [γρηγοροῦντες, being vigilant in it] with thankſgiving, [for the Mercies you have already received.]

b 3. Withal [b] praying alſo for us, that God would open to us a door of utterance, [by enabling us] to ſpeak [with freedom] the Myſtery of Chriſt, for which I am alſo [now] in bonds. See Note on Epheſ. 6. 19, 20.]

4. That I may make it manifeſt, as I ought to ſpeak [it.]

5. Walk in wiſdom [or diſcretion] towards them that are without [the Church, i. e. the Heathens, 1 Theſſ. 4. 12.] redeeming the time, [i. e. endeavouring to avoid, as much as you are able, by careful circumſpection, and inoffenſive carriage, the dangers you may be expoſed to from them: See Note on Eph. 5. 15.]

c 6. Let your ſpeech be always [c] with grace, [mild and courteous,] ſeaſoned with ſalt, [wiſe and diſcreet,] that ye may know how ye ought to anſwer every man, [ſo as conduceth to the credit of Chriſtianity, 1 Pet. 3. 15. and to your own ſafety in theſe evil times, Eph. 5. 16, 17.]

7. [And as for what concerns me,] All my ſtate ſhall [d] Tychicus declare to you, who is a beloved brother, and faithful miniſter, and fellow-ſervant in the [Work of the] Lord.

8. Whom I have ſent unto you for the ſame purpoſe, that he might know your ſtate, and comfort your hearts, [under your preſſures.

9. [And] with [him I have ſent] [e] Oneſimus, a faithful and beloved Brother, who is one of you, [being Servant to Philemon a Chief Man in Coloſſe,] they ſhall make known unto you all things that are done here [at Rome.] e

10. Ariſtarchus my fellow-priſoner ſaluteth you, and [f] Marcus ſiſter's ſon to Barnabas, concerning whom [i. e. which Marcus] you received Commands; if he come to you [to] receive him [kindly.] f

11. And Jeſus, who is called Juſtus, [Acts 18. 5, 6, 7.] who are of the Circumciſion. Theſe only [of the Jews] are my fellow-workers to [the promotion of] the Kingdom of God, which have been a comfort to me.

12. [g] Epaphras, who is one of you, [a Citizen of Coloſſe, ſee v. 9.] a ſervant of Chriſt, ſaluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in Prayers, that ye may ſtand perfect and complete in all the Will of God. g

13. For I bear him record, that he hath a great zeal for you, and for them that are in Laodicea, and them in Hierapolis, [two other Cities of Phrygia.]

14. Luke the beloved Phyſician, and Demas, greet you.

15. Salute the Brethren which are in Laodicea, and Nymphas, and [h] the Church which is in his Houſe, [i. e. his Chriſtian Houſhold.] h

16. And when this Epiſtle is read amongſt you, cauſe that it be read alſo in the Church of the Laodiceans, and [ſee] that ye likewiſe read [i] the Epiſtle from Laodicea. i

17. And ſay to [k] Archippus, Take heed k to the Miniſtry which thou haſt received in the Lord, that thou fulfil it.

18. The Salutation [written] by the hand of me Paul, [is in token that this is my Epiſtle, 2 Theſſ. 3. 17.] remember my [being in] Bonds, [ſo as to pray for my deliverance, v. 3. and to prepare for patient ſuffering, by my example.] Grace be with you. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. Τὸ δίκαιον, what is juſt and equal.] Hence it is evident, that Juſtice is to be obſerved towards Servants, and that there be Offices of Humanity and Charity due to them: As, (1.) That we do not look upon them as vile Perſons, but as Partakers of the ſame Grace and Nature with us; and ſo not only as Servants, but as Brethren, Philem. 16. (2.) That we do not always puniſh all their Miſcarriages, but ſometimes do remit the Puniſhments which in Anger we threatened to inflict, Eph. 6. 9. (3.) That we do not make them ſerve with Rigour, οὐ κατατενεῖς αὐτὸν ἐν τῷ μόχθῳ, Thou ſhalt not oppreſs, afflict, or wear him out with Labour, but ſhalt fear the Lord, Lev. 25. 43. (4.) That we permit them to plead their Cauſe, and to defend their Right; provided they do it with Humility, not contradicting or ſpeaking againſt the Commands of their Maſters, Tit. 2. 9. If I did deſpiſe the Cauſe of my Man-ſervant, or Maid ſervant, when they contended with me: What then ſhall I do when God riſeth up? And when he viſiteth, what ſhall I anſwer him? Job. 31. 13, 14. (5.) That to well-deſerving Servants we give ſomething even above their Wages; and after a long and profitable Service, we do not ſuffer them to go empty from us: When thou ſendeſt him out from thee, thou ſhalt not let him go away empty; thou ſhalt furniſh him liberally out of thy Flock, and out of thy Floor, and out of thy Wine-preſs, of that wherewith the Lord thy God hath bleſſed thee, thou ſhalt give unto him, Deut. 15. 13, 14. Theſe things the Lord commanded under the Old Teſtament, becauſe their Servants were his Servants alſo, redeemed by him out of Egypt, Lev. 25. 15. Deut. 15. 15. And therefore they ſeem as ſtrongly to oblige under that OEconomy, where we are all the Servants of Chriſt, our Common Lord, and redeemed by his precious Blood, Eph. 6. 6. 1 Cor. 7. 22, 23.

b Ver. 3. Προσευχόμενοι περὶ ἡμῶν, Praying for us.] That this Apoſtle, who ſo paſſionately writes to Chriſtians, deſiring that they would ſtrive together with him in their Prayers to God, Rom. 15. 30, 31. That they would always with all perſeverance pray for him; that they would continue in Prayer, that God would open to him a door of utterance to ſpeak the Myſtery of Chriſt, Eph. 6. 18, 19. Col. 4. 2, 3. and that he might be delivered from unreaſonable and wicked Men, 1 Theſſ. 5. 25. 2 Theſſ. 3. 1, 2. ſhould never pray to the Virgin Mary, and to Angels, or to Saints departed, for any of theſe things, is an Evidence that he approved not of thoſe Prayers.

c Ver. 6. Ἐν χάριτι, with Grace,] I. e. with ſweetneſs and courteouſneſs, ſaith Theodoret, that it may be acceptable to the Hearers; ἵνα αὐτοὺς κεχαριτωμένους ἐργάζηται, that it may render you gracious to, and favoured by them; ſo Theophylact. Seaſon'd with Salt; Salt is the Symbol of Wiſdom, and in this ſenſe the word is uſed, Mat. 5. 13. Mark 9. 15. Have, ſaith Theodoret, σύνεσιν πνευματικὴν, ſpiritual Wiſdom, that ye may know, &c.

d Ver. 7. Τυχικός.] That this Epiſtle was written at the ſame time with that to the Epheſians, is pleaded from this, that it was ſent by the ſame Perſon Tychicus, with the very ſame words contained in this and the following Verſe, Eph. 6. 21, 22.

e Ver. 9. Oneſimus.] Of whom St. Jerom ſaith, (a) We read, that of a Servant, he was made a Deacon.

f Ver. 10. Μάρκος.] It ſeems evident hence, that St. Paul's Diſpleaſure againſt him, mention'd, Acts 15. 38. laſted not long; for he deſires Timothy to bring him with him, as being profitable to him for the Miniſtry, 2 Tim. 4. 11. and ſtyles him his Fellow-Labourer, Philem. 24.

Ver. 11. Theſe only are my fellow-workers in the (promotion of the) Kingdom of God, which have been a comfort to me.] Hence it is evident, that either St. Peter was not at Rome, when St. Paul was, or that he was no Comfort to him, no Promoter of the Kingdom of God with him; which ſure is no Compliment to St. Peter.

g Ver. 12. Ἐπαφρᾶς.] That Epaphras was about this time Priſoner at Rome, is concluded very probably from Philem. 23. where he is ſtyled by St. Paul, his Fellow-Priſoner; for that the Epiſtle to Philemon, and this, were written at the ſame time, may be conjectured, by the naming Timothy at the beginning, and all the ſame Perſons, ſave only Juſtus, viz. Epaphras, Marcus, Ariſtarchus, Demas, Lucas, at the end of both of them; but that he was Biſhop of Coloſſe, is not ſaid by any of the Greek Commentators on the Place: He might have this Zeal for them mentioned in theſe two Verſes, either as being one of them, v. 12. or as being employ'd in Preaching the Goſpel to them.

Ver. 15. The Church which is in his Houſe: I. e. His Chriſtian Houſhold; for all the Brethren are mention'd before. So Theodoret, OEcumenius, St. Chryſoſtom, and Theophylact, note, that, Τὸν οἶκον πάντα πιςοὺς εἶχεν, ὥςε ϗ ἐκκλησίαν καλεῖσθαι, He had made his whole Family Chriſtians, ſo as to be called a Church.

Ver. 16. Καὶ τὴν ἐκ Λαοδικείας, And that from Laodicea.] Some ſay, that the Epiſtle here mention'd, as from Laodicea, was the Firſt Epiſtle of St. Paul to Timothy, becauſe the Poſtcript ſaith it was written from Laodicea; but that Subſcription is eaſily confuted, both from this Conſideration, that the Firſt Epiſtle to Timothy was written two or three Years after this, (See the Preface to it;) and from this very Epiſtle, in which the Apoſtle mentions them of Laodicea among thoſe who had not ſeen his Face in the Fleſh, chap. 2. 1. St. Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact, underſtood by it ſome Epiſtle writ by them of Laodicea to St. Paul; but the Apoſtle doth not ſay, Read the Epiſtle ſent to me from Laodicea; nor doth he mention one word of ſuch an Epiſtle ſent from them to him here, or elſewhere; nor is it to be doubted but he would have anſwer'd their Epiſtle, had they ſent any, as he did that which the Church of Corinth ſent to him. Others underſtand this of an Epiſtle ſent by St. Paul to them; which is now loſt; but all the Ancients are not only ſilent in this Matter, but ſome of them expreſsly do explode this Imagination, obſerving, that the Apoſtle propoſes to their reading, not, Τὴν πρὸς Λαοδικεῖς, ἀλλὰ τὴν ἐκ Λαοδικείας γραφεῖσαν, An Epiſtle writ to the Laodiceans, but only from Laodicea, to be ſent to Coloſſe. I therefore acquieſce in their Opinion, who underſtand this of the Epiſtle to the Epheſians, ſent, by the Admonition of St. Paul, from Epheſus, the Metropolis of Laodicea, ſubject to it; as the Epiſtles to the Church of Corinth, belonged to all the Churches of Achaia, 2 Cor. 1. 1. For (b) Tertullian witneſſeth, that this Epiſtle to the Epheſians, was, by Marcion, ſtyled the Epiſtle to the Laodiceans; and the Place which Marcion cites in (c) Epiphanius, as from the Epiſtle to the Laodiceans, is in the Epiſtle to the Epheſians, chap. 4. 5, 6. viz. There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptiſm, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all. Moreover, the Epiſtle to the Coloſſians, as I have ſhewed, and as Theodoret notes, was writ ſoon after that to the Epheſians, and ſent to them both by the Hands of Tychicus; and there is a great Reſemblance obſervable betwixt them, both in the Doctrines and Exhortations, and in the very Expreſſions: So that it is not to be wonder'd, that the Apoſtle would have that Epiſtle alſo read to the Coloſſians, to let them ſee, that he writ the ſame Doctrine, and gave the ſame Inſtructions, to other Churches of the Saints.

Ver. 17. Ἀρχίππῳ, Archippus.] That this Archippus ſhould be then Biſhop of Coloſſe, as St. Jerom, on the Epiſtle to Philemon, thinks; and that St. Paul ſhould not write one Word, or ſend one Salutation to him, but ſend to the People of Coloſſe to admoniſh him of his Duty, is not very credible in itſelf, nor do the Ancients teſtify that he bore that Character.

THESSALONIANS.

THAT St. Paul laid the Foundation of the Goſpel among the Theſſalonians, (a) ἀντιλεγόντων μετὰ Ἰουδαίων, the Jews contradicting, and openly contending againſt it, we learn from the Hiſtory of the Acts: And this Church conſiſting, as (b) OEcumenius notes, partly of Jews, and partly of Gentiles, they were perſecuted both by the Unbelieving Jews and Gentiles; the Jews exciting the Gentiles to this Perſecution, Acts 17. 5. The Apoſtle therefore writes, to confirm them in the Faith, and to prevent their being ſhaken by theſe Perſecutions; informing them, that it was nothing ſtrange they ſhould thus ſuffer from thoſe Jews, who had killed the Lord Jeſus, and had perſecuted both the Apoſtles and their own Prophets; or that they ſhould ſuffer from their own Countrymen, as the Jews in Judea did from theirs, chap. 2. 14.

Moreover, concerning this Epiſtle, the firſt Note of the Fathers is this; (c) Theſſalonica was the Metropolis of Macedonia, whence we may certainly conclude that Philippi was not ſo.

This Epiſtle muſt be written after the Council held at Jeruſalem, A. D. 49. From thence Paul goes to Antioch, Acts 15. 30. ſtays there ſome conſiderable Time, v. 35. from thence goes through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Brethren, v. 41. thence to Derbe and Lyſtra, chap. 16. 1. through Phrygia and Galatia, v. 6. then to Troas, v. 8. to Samothracia and Neapolis, v. 11. and ſo to Philippi, v. 12. then to Amphipolis and Apollonia, and ſo to Theſſalonica, chap. 17. 1. there planting the Goſpel: Thence they are expelled by the Jews and Gentiles, and go to Beræa, v. 10. thence to Athens, v. 15. and from thence to Corinth, chap. 18. 1. where Timotheus coming to him, and giving him a comfortable Account of their Faith and Conſtancy, he writes this Epiſtle to them, chap. 3. 6. Whence it appears that it could not be written in leſs Time than a Year or two after that Council; and that the Inſcription of it running thus, Paul, and Sylvanus, and Timotheus, to the Church of the Theſſalonians, it muſt be written after their Return to him; and ſo not from Athens, as the Subſcription hath it, but from Corinth, Acts 18. 1, 5. A. D. 51. or 52. for it was written after he had been ſeparated from them but a little while, chap. 2. 17.

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE FIRST EPISTLE of St. PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. [I] Paul [the Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt,] and Sylvanus and Timotheus, [my Fellow-labourers, write] [a] to the Church of the Theſſalonians, [eſtabliſhed] in [the Knowledge and Worſhip of] God the Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt: [Wiſhing] Grace [may] be to you, and peace from God our Father, and [from] the Lord Jeſus Chriſt;

2. [And advertiſing you, that] we give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our Prayers.

3. [b] Remembering without ceaſing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [v. 10. when we appear] [c] in the ſight of God, and [even] our Father.

4. [And] knowing, Brethren beloved [by your Proficiency in theſe Chriſtian Vertues,] [d] your election of God.

5. For our Goſpel came not to you in word only, but alſo in [the] power [of Miracles,] and in [or with] the [diſtributions of] the Holy Ghoſt, and in much aſſurance [or full Conviction both to you of the Truth of our Doctrine, and to us, that God hath choſen you to be his Church and People,] as you know what manner of men we were among you for your ſake, [or how we were enabled by theſe things to give full proof of our Miniſtry.]

6. And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, [in your Sufferings for his ſake] having receiv'd the word in much affliction, [Acts 17. 5. and yet] [e] with joy in the holy Ghoſt. e

7. So that ye were Examples [of Faith and Patience] to all that believe in Macedonia, and Achaia.

8. For from you ſounded out the word of the Lord, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, [and ſo they could not be ignorant of your good Works,] but alſo in every place [the fame of] your faith to God-ward is ſpread abroad, [or hath gone forth,] ſo that we need not to ſpeak any thing, [to others of the Grace of God given us towards you, Eph. 3. 3. Col. 1. 25.]

9. [f] For they themſelves ſhew of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, [i. e. with what power and aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt we preached the Goſpel to you, v. 5.] and how [thereupon] ye turned to God from idols, to ſerve the living and true God. f

10. And to wait for [the coming of] his Son from Heaven [to be glorified in his Saints, 2 Theſſ. 1. 10.] whom he [hath already] raiſed from the dead, even Jeſus, who [by his Death hath] delivered us from the wrath to come.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. Τῇ Ἐκκλησίᾳ Θεσσαλονικέων, To the Church of the Theſſalonians.] He names not the Presbyters and Deacons, ſaith Grotius, becauſe the Church was newly planted, and had not received its full Form. And yet in his Note on thoſe Words, Chap. 5. 12. I entreat you, Brethren, know them that labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, he ſaith οἱ κοπιῶντες, the Labourers, are the Princes of the Aſſembly, called Biſhops; οἱ προϊστάμενοι, they that are over you, are the Presbyters; but againſt this, ſee the Note there.

b Ver. 3. Ἀδιαλείπτως μνημονεύοντες, Remembering without ceaſing.] I. e. As often as we appear before God our Father, thankfully remembering your Faith, fruitful in good Works; your Love to the Saints making you laborious to promote their good, and your Hope in the Lord Jeſus, v. 10. rendering you patient in all Tribulations for his ſake, chap. 5. 17. See the Note there.

Ver. 3. Your Labour of Love, and Patience] Oecumenius here notes, that it is the property of true Love, τὰ πάντα ὑπὲρ τοῦ ἠγαπημένου πάσχειν, to ſuffer all things for the Sake of the Beloved.

c Ibid. Ἀπὸ Θεοῦ Πατρὸς, From God the Father, v. 1. and before God even our Father, v. 3.] The Spirit of God vouchſafed under the Goſpel, enables us to cry Abba, Father, i. e. to come to God with the Aſſurance of his Fatherly Affection to us, as being now the Sons of God through Faith in Jeſus Chriſt, on which account is God our Father, or the Father of us Chriſtians, Eph. 3. 15. ſo often mentioned for their Conſolation in thoſe times of Peril.

d Ver. 4. Τὴν ἐκλογὴν ὑμῶν, Your Election of God.] The Goſpel came to ſome in word only, i. e. they heard the Sound of it, but did not believe and obey it, and ſo the Word did not profit them, not being mixt with Faith in them that heard it, Heb. 4. 2. and theſe were only κλητοὶ called, but not ἐκλεκτοὶ choſen, Mat. 22. 14. To others, the Preaching of the Apoſtles was attended with a greater Power of Miracles, and extraordinary Effuſions of the Holy Ghoſt, prevailing on many to embrace it as the Word of God; ſo that from hence the Apoſtles had full Aſſurance, that it was the good Pleaſure of God to gather a Church of Believers, and faithful People there; and theſe were called the Elect, ἐκλογὴ Θεοῦ, the Election of God, the Election of Grace, i. e. Men choſen to be Partakers of the Bleſſings of the Goſpel, and to be God's peculiar Church and People. For the Apoſtle doth not here ſpeak of any abſolute Election of the whole Church of the Theſſalonians to eternal Life, becauſe he could have no certain Knowledge of it; or if he had, he could not have been under any juſt Grounds of Fear, as we find he was, leſt by ſome means the Tempter ſhould have tempted them, and his Labour be in vain among them, chap. 3. 5. Moreover the Reaſon of his Knowledge here aſſigned, viz. the Miracles and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, with which his Preaching was attended, gave him a certain Knowledge that God deſigned to gather there a Church of Chriſtians; but 'twas no certain Indication of their Election to eternal Life, ſeeing the Apoſtle informs us, that they who had taſted of theſe Powers of the World to come, and received theſe Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, might fall away, ſo as not to be renewed to Repentance, Heb. 6. 4, 5, 6. and many of the converted Jews actually did ſo afterwards.

Ver. 6. μετὰ χαρᾶς, With Joy of the Holy Ghoſt.] In the foregoing Verſe he lays before them the outward Teſtimonies of the Truth of Chriſtianity from the Miracles wrought, and the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt exerciſed among them; here he appeals alſo to the inward Teſtimonies they had received of it, even a ſtrong ſpiritual Joy wrought in them by the Holy Ghoſt, under the ſharpeſt Sufferings, according to thoſe Words of St. Peter, If ye ſuffer for the Sake of Righteouſneſs, and be reproached for Chriſt's ſake, happy are ye, for the Spirit of Glory and of God reſts upon you, 1 Pet. 4. 14. e Ver. 9. Theſe Words, ſaith (a) Theodoret inſtruct us how to expound our Saviour's Words, This is Life eternal, to know thee the only true God, teaching us that he is ſo ſtiled, in oppoſition not to Jeſus Chriſt, but to Idols only.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. [WE need not, I ſay, ſpeak any thing farther of the effectual working of God with us in our entrance in unto you;] For your ſelves, Brethren, know our entrance in unto you, that it was not [a] in vain, [i. e. not without demonſtration of divine Aſſiſtance, chap. 1. 5.]

2. But [we had ſuch Aſſurance of God's Call to preach to you, that] even after that we had ſuffered before, and were ſhamefully entreated, as ye know, at Philippi, [Acts 16. 23.] we were [ſtill] bold in [the ſtrength of] our God to ſpeak unto you the Goſpel of God, [though this we did] with much contention, [and oppoſition from the unbelieving Jews, Acts 17. 5.]

3. For our exhortation [made to you to embrace the Goſpel] was not of deceit, nor of uncleanneſs, nor in guile, [as are the Exhortations of the Philoſophers among you, and the deceitful Workers of the Jewiſh Nation, who endeavour to corrupt you.]

4. But as we were allowed [Gr. have been approved] of God [as Perſons fit] to be put in truſt with the goſpel, even ſo we ſpeak [the truth ſincerely,] not as pleaſing men, but [as approving our ſelves to that] God who trieth our Hearts, [Gal. 1. 10.]

5. For neither at any time uſed we [b] flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetouſneſs; God is witneſs, [2 Cor. 2. 17.]

6. Nor of men ſought we glory, [or high eſtimation,] neither of you, nor yet of others [proviſions,] when we might [not only with a fair Pretence, but with juſt Reaſon] have been [thus] [c] burthenſome, as [being] the apoſtles of Chriſt.

7. [I ſay, we ſought not high eſteem, or rich proviſions;] But we were [d] gentle [meek, and unburthenſome] among you, even as a nurſe cheriſheth her children, [bearing her ſelf the burthen of them, and giving them her Milk, as we diſpenſe to you the ſincere milk of the Word freely.]

8. [And] ſo being affectionately deſirous of you [r. good,] we were willing to have imparted to you, not the goſpel of God only, but alſo our [e] own ſouls, [i. e. to have ſpent our Lives in your Service,] becauſe ye were dear unto us.

9. [And of this Affection you cannot well be ignorant;] [f] For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travel: for labouring night and day, becauſe we would not be chargeable to any of you, we preached to you [freely] the goſpel of God.

10. Ye are witneſſes, and God alſo, how holily [towards God,] and juſtly, and unblameably we behaved our ſelves [whilſt we converſed] among you that believe.

11. As [and likewiſe] you know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children, [Gr. how we loved every one of you as a Father doth his Children, exhorting you to the Performance of your Duty, comforting you under your Tribulations, and teſtifying,]

12. That ye would [ought to] walk [g] worthy of God, who hath called you to his kingdom and glory.

13. For this cauſe alſo [or, and for this thing,] thank we God without ceaſing, becauſe when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, ye received it not as the word of men, [ſpeaking from their own human Wiſdom,] but (as it is in truth) the word of God, [h] which effectually worketh alſo in you that believe [the fruits of Chriſtian Patience.]

14. For ye, brethren, [in this] became followers of the churches of God, which in Judea are in Chriſt Jeſus: for ye alſo have ſuffered [patiently] like things of your own Countrymen, even as they have of the Jews, [their Country men.]

15. Who both killed the Lord Jeſus, and [before him] their own prophets, and have [ſince] perſecuted us [his Apoſtles,] and they pleaſe not God, and are [i] contrary to all men, [who are not of their own Nation or Religion.]

16. [And this they ſhew in] forbidding us to ſpeak to the Gentiles, that they might be ſaved [by the preaching of the Goſpel,] [k] to fill up their ſins always [i. e. which they are given up to do, to fill up the meaſure of their Sins, which being thus diſpoſed, and thus deſerted by God, they will do;] for [the] wrath [of God] is come upon them to the uttermoſt.

17. But we, brethren, being [by their impatient Malice] taken from you for a ſhort time, [Acts 17. 5, 10. and this] in preſence [only] not in heart, endeavoured the more abundantly to ſee your face [again] with great deſire.

18. Wherefore we would have come unto you (even I Paul) once and again, but [l] Satan [by his Miniſters ſtill] hindered us.

19. For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoycing; are not even ye [Gr. ἢ ȣ̓χὶ ϗ̀ ὑμεῖς, will it not among others be you alſo when we ſtand] in the preſence of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt at his coming?

20. For ye are [even at preſent] our glory and joy.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. 'ΟΥ κενὴ, Not vain.] I grant that the Apoſtle doth not intend to ſignify by this Phraſe, only that his Word was not ineffectual among them, but alſo to declare the reaſon why it was not ſo; to wit, becauſe it wanted not a Demonſtration of Divine Authority, and Power to confirm them in the Faith that heard it, and thoſe that preached it in their Expectations of Succeſs, and their Aſſurance that the Theſſalonians were by God deſigned to receive the Faith; as it would have been, had it come to them in Word only, and not in Power, and the Holy Ghoſt, and much Aſſurance. For the word vain, when it is applied to God's Meſſage, ſignifies the not accompliſhing the great Ends for which it was deſigned; ſo Iſaiah 55. 11. The Word that goeth out of my mouth ſhall not return to me in vain, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I pleaſe, and it ſhall proſper in the things whereto I ſent it: And Jer. 8. 8. How do ye ſay, we are wiſe, and the Law of the Lord is with us? No certainly, in vain made he it, the Pen of the Scribes is in vain. And Jer. 2. 30. In vain have I ſmitten your Children, they have received no Correction. Our entrance therefore to you was not in vain; that is, it was not without ſuch Divine Aſſiſtance as was ſufficient to work Conviction in you, and to engage you to embrace the Truth delivered to you.

b Ver. 5. Ὁ λόγος κολακείας,] Here ſignifies flattering Words, or Words that are Flattery, as λόγος ἀκοῆς, v. 13. is the Word heard, and λόγος ἀληθείας, the Word which is the truth, 2 Cor. 6. 7. Col. 1. 5. and πρόφασις πλεονεξίας, is a Pretence to gratify their Covetouſneſs; for that the Apoſtles never were under a Defamation or Accuſation of theſe things, neither could the Theſſalonians know, nor was it a thing proper to call God to Witneſs to; but that no ſuch Guilt could truly be charged upon them, the Theſſalonians might know, and that they inwardly deſigned no ſuch thing, God only could be Witneſs, as being alone the Searcher of the Heart.

c Ver. 6. Ἐν βάρει εἶναι, Be burthenſome.] This ſeems not to refer to the Cenſures of the Church, but to the Apoſtles living at the Charge of their Converts; for he ſaith, v. 9. That he and his Companions laboured night and day, πρὸς τὸ μὴ ἐπιβαρῆσαι, that they might burthen none of them. So 2 Cor. 11. 9. Other Churches ſupplied my wants, ſo that in all things I have kept my ſelf, ἀβαρῆ, unburthenſome to you. And 1 Tim. 5. 16. If any Man or Woman that believeth hath Widows, let them relieve them, καὶ μὴ βαρείσθω ἡ Ἐκκλησία, and let not the Church be burthened with them.

Ibid. Tho' we might have been burthenſome.] Here Theophylact cries out, βάβαι τῆς προθυμίας καὶ τῆς ὑπὲρ τοῦ μὴ σκανδαλίσαι τίνα σπουδῆς, oh the Study, and Sedulity of the Apoſtle not to ſcandalize any Perſon! And the Deſcant of Eſthius upon the Words is this, we accommodated our ſelves to you in all things, neque jus noſtrum, neque imperium urgentes, ut veſtram promoveamus ſalutem, forbearing our own right, to promote your Happineſs. And if the Apoſtles forbore to exerciſe their own Power, that they might not be burthenſome to the weak Theſſalonians, how much more would they have done it to prevent their Ruin?

d Ver. 7. Ἤπιοι, Meek.] If the various Lection noted by Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact, who here read νήπιοι, Children, were the Original, the Senſe would run thus, But we, O Children, were among you as a Nurſe that cheriſheth her Children. See v. 11. And that Origen read ſo, is certain from his Commentary on St. Matthew, p. 372, 375.

e Ver. 8. Τὰς ἑαυτῶν ψυχὰς, Our own Souls.] I. e. Our own Lives; as when Chriſt is ſaid to give τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ, his Life a Ranſom for many, Mat. 20. 28. To lay down, τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ, his Life for the Sheep, John 10. 11, 15, 17. and 15. 13. 1 John 3. 16. And when we are bid to lay down, τὰς ψυχὰς, our Lives for the Brethren, 1 John 3. 16. or ſaid to loſe, or gain, τὴν ψυχὴν, our Life, Luke 9. 24. John 12. 15. See Acts 20. 10. Rom. 11. 3. and 16. 4. 2 Cor. 12. 15. Phil. 2. 13. 1 Pet. 4. 19.

f Ver. 9 It is the Opinion of Dr. Hammond, that the Apoſtle here from the third to the fourth Verſe, refers to the Gnoſticks, and clears himſelf from the vile Arts they uſed, and ill Deſigns they had in promoting their Deluſions. But this Epiſtle being writ, ſaith the ſame Reverend Perſon, about the Year Fifty, and whilſt Simon Magus was yet living, it cannot be proved that theſe Gnoſticks were then in being, much leſs that they ever were at Theſſalonica.

We read in Scripture of ſome Teachers of the Law, who gave heed to Fables, 1 Tim. 1. 4, 7. and who counted Gain Godlineſs, chap. 6. 5. of ſome Jews who were deceitful Workers, 2 Cor. 11. 13, 22. 1 Cor. 4. 2. and had their πανουργίαι, Subtilties, 2 Cor. 11. 3. and who were given to Uncleanneſs, Rom. 2. 22. and taught unclean Doctrines, 1 Cor. 3. 16, 17, chap. 6. 13 — 19. 2 Cor. 12. 21. See the Note there. And it is likely the Apoſtle might in theſe Words reſpect thoſe Deceivers.

Or we may refer theſe things to the Philoſophers of thoſe times, who did συλαγωγεῖν, make make a Prey of Men by Philoſophy, and vain Deceit, Coloſſ. 2. 8. who were, ſaith the Poet in (a) Athenæus, μειρακιεξαπάται, Deceivers of Young Men, and δοξοματαιόσοφοι, deſirous of Vain-glory, whoſe Buſineſs it was (b) χαριτογλωσσεῖν, to ſpeak to pleaſe Men, who taught only for Stipends, or ἐργολαβίας ἕνεκεν, as (c) Diodorus Siculus ſaith of the Grecian Philoſophers; and τοῦ κατὰ τὴν ἐργολαβίαν κέρδους στοχαζόμενοι, Philoſophized, ſaith (d) Plato, out of Love of Gain; and who are every where repreſented as (e) given to Impurity, and exerciſing the vileſt Practices with thoſe they taught their vain Philoſophy. Whence they were ſometimes baniſhed from the Places of their Abodes, ſaith (f) Athenæus, ὡς διαφθείροντες τοὺς νέους, as Corrupters of the Youth; and did κυνικῶς ζῶν, lead the Lives of Cynicks. And (g) Plato himſelf confeſſeth, That one Reaſon why they were ſo generally decried, was this, that moſt of them were παμπόνηροι, the worſt of Men.

Ver. 11. 12. Οἴδατε ὡς ἕνα ἕκαστον ὑμῶν ὡς πατὴρ τέκνα ἑαυτοῦ παρακαλοῦντες ὑμᾶς, you know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged every one of you as a Father does his Children.] Here our Tranſlation puts the μαρτυρούμενοι perſwading, teſtifying, or charging, which begins the 12th Verſe before the Beginning of the 11th, which is an unuſual Tranſpoſition, and changeth the Participles into Verbs, which tho' it be uſual, cannot here be admitted becauſe of the ὑμᾶς following παρακαλοῦντες, I think therefore it's better to own an Ellipſis or Deficiency of the Word ἐφιλήσαμεν, or ἠγαπήσαμεν, or ἐθάλψαμεν, from v. 7. of which Ellipſis we find many Inſtances, V. G. there is an Ellipſis of the Verb ἐποίει, Rom. 8. 3. of ἐλπίζετε, Eph. 1. 13. See 1 Cor. 4. 15. Gal. 2. 7. 2 Theſ. 2. 7. 1 John 2. 19. Matth. 20. 23. And then the Words may be thus tranſlated, ye know how I loved every one of you, as a Father doth his Children, exhorting, and comforting you, v. 12. and charging you.

g Ver. 12. Ἀξίως τοῦ Θεοῦ, worthy of God.] I. e. That you would walk, 1. So as is beſt pleaſing to him. 2. As becomes them who are called to enjoy a glorious Kingdom. 3. As moſt conduceth to his Glory. And 4. So as to reſemble his imitable Perfections in your Converſation.

h Ver. 13. Ὃς ἐνεργεῖται, which effectually worketh in you.] For ſaith Theodoret, Προφητικῆς καὶ αὐτοὶ χάριτος ἀπολαύσαντες, καὶ προεφήτευον, καὶ γλώσσαις ἐλάλουν, καὶ θαύματα ἐπετέλουν παράδοξα. They, partaking of the Prophetical Grace, both Propheſied, and ſpake with Tongues, and did great Miracles: For to thoſe who in thoſe Times embraced the Goſpel, were granted χαρίσματα καὶ ἐνεργήματα, the Gifts and Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, 1 Cor. 12. 6, 10, 11. Eph. 3. 20. So that as Satan was πνεῦμα ἐνεργοῦν, a Spirit working in the Children of Diſobedience, Eph. 2. 2. and they that were poſſeſſed by him, were ſtyled ἐνεργούμενοι; ſo they who had the Afflatus of the Holy Spirit, found him effectually working in them, Jam. 5. 16. And as the Antichriſts, or Adverſaries of the Truth, wrought lying Wonders, κατ' ἐνέργειαν τοῦ Σατανᾶς, according to the deceitful working of Satan, in and by them, 2 Theſ. 2. 9, 11. ſo had the Chriſtians, from the Holy Spirit, their ἐνεργήματα δυνάμεων, miraculous Operations, by which they were enabled to confirm the Faith: And theſe Spiritual Gifts were to them ſtrong Confirmations of the Faith, the Seals and Earneſt of the Bleſſings promiſed, and that which did enable them not only to ſuffer patiently, but alſo to rejoice in Tribulations, Rom. 5. 3, 4, 5. 1 Theſ. 1. 6. 2 Tim. 1. 7, 8. 1 Pet. 4. 14.

i Ver. 15. Contrary to all Men.] (h) Thus Tacitus ſaith of them, Apud ipſos fides obſtinata, miſericordia in promptu, ſed adverſus omnes alios hoſtile odium: "They have great "Fidelity and Kindneſs towards Men of "their own Nation, but as great Hatred to "all others." But that which the Apoſtle chiefly here reſpects, was their fond Imagination, that God would grant no Salvation to the Gentiles, upon any other Terms than their being Circumciſed, and obedient to the Law of Moſes, Acts 15. 1. on which Account they became Enemies to the Goſpel, and the Preachers of it; becauſe they offered Salvation to the Gentiles, through Faith in Chriſt, without Obſervation of their Law, Rom. 11. 28. Gal. 4. 16. Hence alſo note, That none are greater Enemies to the Good of Mankind, than they who do obſtruct the Preaching and the Propagating of the Goſpel through the World.

Ver. 16. Ἀναπληρῶσαι, To fill up the Meaſure of their Sins.] k Our Lord had ſaid to them, Fill ye up the Meaſure of your Fathers, by adding to the Murther of the Prophets, the Murther of me, and of thoſe Prophets and Wiſe Men I ſhall ſend to you, Mat. 23. 32.—35. that upon you of this Generation may come all the Blood ſhed from Abel to this preſent time, Luke 11. 49, 51. This Prediction, ſaith the Apoſtle, is now fulfilled; and they, by fulfilling it, have filled up the meaſure of their Sins; and God's Wrath is ſo incenſed againſt them, that it will now deſtroy their Church and Nation, εἰς τέλος, to the uttermoſt; ſo that it ſhall not be now as formerly, when they were ſometimes in Bondage, and again in freedom from their Enemies; ſometimes were Captives, and then returned again, after Seventy Years, to their own Land; found God for a while angry, and anon reconciled to them: But this Wrath ſhall now remain upon them to the uttermoſt, till the times of the Gentiles are come in, Luke 21. 24. See Note on Rom. 11. 25. That they who obſtruct the Progreſs of the Goſpel, and perſecute the Promoters of it, are the Miniſters of Satan, and therefore bear his Name. So Chap. 3. 5. 2 Cor. 11. 15. Rev. 2. 10.

CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. WHerefore, when we could no longer forbear, [μηκέτι στέγοντες, no longer enduring to want the certain Knowledge of your Affairs, though we had given Commandment to Timothy to come quickly to us to Athens, Acts 17. 15. yet as for me and Silas,] we thought it good to be left at Athens alone, [rather than to continue ignorant of the ſtate of your Faith, v. 5.]

2. And [therefore] ſent Timotheus our Brother [in Chriſt, Philem. 16. Heb. 13. 23.] and [the] Miniſter of God, and our Fellow-labourer in [advancing] the Goſpel of Chriſt, to a [a] ſtabliſh you [in,] and to comfort you concerning your Faith.

3. That [ſo] no man ſhould [might] be moved [from his ſtedfaſtneſs in the Faith,] by theſe Afflictions; [and not you eſpecially;] for your ſelves know [from us,] that we [Chriſtians] are appointed thereunto; [for hereunto are we called, 1 Pet. 2. 21.]

4. For verily, when we were with you, we told you, before [it came to paſs,] that we ſhould ſuffer tribulation, even as it [ſhortly after] came to paſs, [Acts 17. 5—10.] and ye know [it did ſo.]

5. For this cauſe, when I could no longer forbear, I ſent [κἀγὼ μηκέτι στέγων ἔπεμψα, I alſo, not bearing longer the Uncertainty of your Affairs, have ſent] to know [the Stedfaſtneſs of] b your Faith, leſt by ſome means the [b] Tempter [may] have tempted you, and [ſo] our labour [among you ſhould] be in vain.

6. But now, when Timotheus came from you to us, and brought us good tidings of your Faith and Charity, and [in particular] that you have [ſtill a] good remembrance of us always, deſiring greatly to ſee us, as we alſo [do to ſee] you.

7. Therefore, [διὰ τοῦτο, by this,] Brethren, we were comforted over you, [ἐφ' ὑμῖν, concerning you, or in you,] in all our affliction and diſtreſs, by [reaſon of] your [Conſtancy in the] Faith.

Ver. 8. For [c] now we live [joyfully,] if ye ſtand faſt in the Lord. c

Ver. 9. [d] For what [ſufficient] thanks can we render to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we joy, for your ſakes, before our God. d

10. Night and day [alſo] praying exceedingly, that we might ſee your face, and might perfect that which is [yet] lacking in your Faith, [by reaſon of our very ſmall ſtay with you, Acts 17. 1—10.]

11. [e] Now God himſelf, and [or, who is] our Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, direct our way unto you. e

12. [f] And the Lord make you to encreaſe, f and abound in love one towards another, and [g] towards all men, even as we do g [abound in love] towards you.

13. [h] To the end he may eſtabliſh your hearts unblameable in holineſs before God, even our Father, [τοῦ Θεοῦ καὶ Πατρὸς ἡμῶν, our God and Father,] at the [glorious] coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, with all his Saints. h

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 2. Στηρίξαι ὑμᾶς, To eſtabliſh you.] In it, by conſideration of that miraculous Power, and thoſe Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt which accompanied our Preaching, and your Receiving of it, 1 Theſ. 1. 5, 6. and which are ſtill exerciſed among you, chap. 5. 19, 20. to comfort you concerning it, by conſideration of the Joys of the Holy Ghoſt, which you have found already, under your Afflictions, chap. 1. 6. by the Salvation you are to obtain by Chriſt, the Life you ſhall for ever live with him in Glory, chap. 4. 17, 18. chap. 5. 9, 10, 11. the Eternal Reſt you ſhall have, when the Lord Jeſus Chriſt ſhall come to be glorified in his Saints; and of which your Conſtancy in the Faith, under theſe Sufferings will make you to be accounted worthy, 2 Theſ. 1. 5, 6, 7, 10.

b Ver. 5. Ὁ πειράζων.] Here note, 1. That the Perſecution of the Saints are aſcribed to Satan the Tempter, who, by his Miniſters, endeavours to hinder the Progreſs of the Goſpel, chap. 2. 18. and, by their Perſecutions, to terrifie Men, and ſeduce them from the Profeſſion of it. See Rev. 2. 10.

2*dly*, That πειράζειν here doth ſignifie, not barely to tempt, but, to ſucceed in his Temptation; for otherwiſe the Labour of the Apoſtle could not be rendered vain among them. See Note on Gal. 6. 1.

3*dly*, Note, That it is hence evident, that the Apoſtle did not think them ſecure (by the Election of them, mention'd, chap. 1. 4.) from falling ſo, as that his Labour might have been in vain among them.

Note, 4*thly*, From Eſthius, That a faithful Perſon truly Juſtified, may ſo fall from the Faith, as that it ſhall become in vain to him.

c Ver. 8. Νῦν ζῶμεν, Now we live.] Ζῆν, ſaith Suidas, is to live μετὰ τρυφῆς καὶ πολυτελείας, with delight and magnificence; according to that of Horace, Vivendum hodiè, which is the frequent Import of the Hebrew word Chajah; as in that Wiſh, Let the King live, 1 Sam. 10. 24. 1 Kings 1. 25. 2 Kings 11. 12. i. e. Let him have a proſperous and happy Reign. And in the words of the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 16. 11. Thou wilt ſhew me the way of life; in thy preſence is fulneſs of joy. Pſal. 34. 13. He that would live, i. e. ſee good days. So Pſal. 22. 26. and 38. 19. Eccleſ. 6. 8. and 7. 12. Our Maſters teach, ſaith (a) Maimonides, That the Juſt are called Living, even in their Death; the Wicked, Dead while they live: Becauſe the firſt are happy in their Death; the ſecond, miſerable in their Life.

d Ver. 9. Eſthius obſerves from the 9th Verſe, that, both the Apoſtle's Joy, and their Faith and Conſtancy, were the Gift of God; Nam gratiarum actio non eſt niſi de beneficiis acceptis. He might alſo have obſerved, with others, the excellent Pattern the Apoſtle here gives to all the Biſhops and Paſtors of the Church, to be continually ſolicitous to know of the Welfare of their Flock, inceſſantly praying for it, bleſſing God daily for it, and looking upon it as the very Felicity of their own Lives.

e Ver. 11. Here the Note of Schlictingius runs thus: You ſee that our Lord Jeſus takes care of our Affairs and Actions, and therefore we deſervedly invoke him in our Neceſſities; as the Apoſtle again doth, v. 12. But ſince this Invocation of him by all Chriſtians, in all Places, muſt ſuppoſe him Omniſcient, Omnipreſent, and the Searcher of the Heart, and theſe are the Properties of God alone; it alſo muſt ſuppoſe him to be truly God.

f Ver. 12. Ὑμᾶς δὲ ὁ Κύριος πλεονάσαι καὶ περισσεύσαι.] Theſe are Optative Aoriſts, which ſignifie tranſitively, μεταβατικῶς, ſay the Grammarians; and therefore are well rendered by our Tranſlation, The Lord make you to encreaſe, and make you to abound. See Note on 2 Cor. 9. 8. Eccleſ. 45. 5.

g Ibid. And towards all Men.] This, ſaith Theophylact (b), is the Character of Divine Love, to comprehend All; whereas Humane Love hath reſpect to one Man, and not to another.

h Ver. 13. Ἀμέμπτους, That he may ſtabliſh your hearts unblameable in holineſs.] Hence note, That a general and abounding Charity to all Men, being that by which we become moſt like to God, and that which tends to cover our own Sins, 1 Pet. 4. 8. eſpecially if it be Charity to the Souls of Men, James 5. 20. tends to ſtabliſh our Hearts unblameable before God, in Love, and to procure our Acceptance with him at the Great Day of our Accounts, Matth. 25. 35, 36.

Note alſo, That to ſtabliſh our Hearts unblameable at Chriſt's Coming, is ſo to confirm us in holy living, that we may be found unblameable by Him at that Day. See Note on 1 Cor. 1. 8. 1 Theſ. 5. 23. 2 Pet. 3. 14.

CHAP. IV.

Verſe 1. FUrthermore then, we beſeech you, Brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jeſus, that as you have received of us [Directions] how ye ought to walk, and to pleaſe God; ſo you would abound more and more [in your care to conform your ſelves to them.]

2. [In which thing you need no further Inſtructions;] For ye know what [holy] a Commandments we gave you [a] by the Lord Jeſus.

3. For [we have already told you, that] this is the Will of God, even your Sanctification, [and this Sanctification requires] that ye ſhould abſtain from Fornication.

b 4. [b] [And] that every one of you ſhould know how [much it is your duty] to poſſeſs his [Body, which is the] Veſſel [of the Holy Spirit,] in ſanctification, and in honour; [i. e. free from thoſe Luſts which are πάθη ἀτιμίας, Rom. 1. 26. diſhonourable Paſſions.]

5. Not in the luſts of Concupiſcence, c [c] even as the Gentiles [do] which know not God.

d 6. That [d] no man go beyond [the bounds of Matrimony,] or defraud his Brother in any matter, [Gr. or exceed toward his Brother in this matter;] becauſe the Lord is the Avenger of all ſuch, as we have alſo forewarned you, and teſtifie.

7. [He is, I ſay, the Avenger of all ſuch Chriſtians, as acting oppoſitely to their holy Calling;] for God hath not called us [Chriſtians] to Uncleanneſs, but unto Holineſs.

8. He therefore that deſpiſeth [this Command,] deſpiſeth not Man [only,] but God, e who hath alſo given [e] to us his holy Spirit.

9. [This I thought neceſſary to ſay, to warn you againſt that Uncleanneſs which ſo reigneth in the Heathen World, and to which you ſo ſtrongly were addicted, whilſt you were without the Knowledge of God in the World.] But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write [ſo fully] to you; for ye your-f ſelves are [f] taught of God to love one another.

10. And indeed ye do it to all the Brethren which are in all Macedonia; but we beſeech you, brethren, that ye encreaſe more and more [in this Chriſtian Vertue.]

11. And that ye ſtudy to be quiet, and [g] to g do your own buſineſs, [not meddling with other men's matters,] and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you.

12. That [ſo] ye may walk honeſtly, [εὐσχημόνως, decently, and in good behaviour] towards them that are without, and that ye may have [h] lack of nothing. h

13. But [eſpecially] I would not have you to be ignorant, Brethren, concerning [the ſtate of] them that are aſleep, that ye ſorrow not [for them,] [i] even as others [other i
Gentiles do] which have no hope [of a Reſurrection of the Body.]

14. For if we believe that Jeſus died, and roſe again, [as the firſt-fruits of them that ſlept, 1 Cor. 15. 20.] even ſo [are we to believe, that] [k] them alſo which ſleep in Jeſus, k will God bring with him, [when he comes to judge the World, and reward all his faithful Servants.]

15. For this we ſay unto you, [not from our ſelves, but] by the Word of the Lord, that [l] we who are [then] alive, and remain l unto the coming of the Lord, ſhall not prevent them which are aſleep, [ſo as to receive our happy Change, before their Reſurrection.]

16. For the Lord himſelf ſhall deſcend from Heaven with a Shout, with the Voice of the Archangel, and with the Trump of God; and [then] the Dead in Chriſt ſhall riſe firſt.

17. Then we which are alive, and remain [on the Earth,] ſhall be caught up together with them in the Clouds, to meet the Lord in the Air; and ſo ſhall we ever be [m] with m the Lord.

18. Wherefore, comfort one another [concerning your deceaſed Friends,] with theſe Words.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

Verſe 2. ΔΙὰ τοῦ Κυρίου, By the Lord.] Note hence, That the Inſtructions and Commandments which the Apoſtles gave to the Churches, are to be looked upon as the Commandments of the Lord, and as the Will of God; they being dictated by his Spirit, v. 8. and delivered by his Authority, who ſaid, He that heareth you, heareth me; and he that heareth me, heareth him that ſent me, Luke 10. 16.

b Ver. 4. 5. Here note, 1. That theſe Inſtructions were very neceſſary for the Theſſalonians, ἐκεῖ γὰρ πλείστη ἀταξία, καὶ ἀκαθαρσία, for there was all manner of Diſorder and Impurity, ſaith (a) Socrates. And (b) Athenæus informs us, τὴν τούτων τρυφὴν, That their Luxury invited the Perſians into Greece; That it was their Cuſtom, in their Banquets, to bring in their (c) Wenches dancing naked, and afterwards they enjoyed them at their pleaſure.

2dly, Note alſo, That having mentioned Fornication, v. 3. he ſeems, v. 4. and 5. to advance to other Heatheniſh Luſts, deſiring them to keep their Veſſels in Sanctification and Honour: 1. By preſerving their Bodies from unnatural Luſts, which are by the Apoſtle ſtyled πάθη ἀτιμίας, diſhonourable Paſſions; and their Matrimonial Bed from Defilement, by the Uſe of other Women, Heb. 13. 4. Accordingly theſe Things, in Scripture, are expreſſed by Ignominy and Vileneſs; by the Septuagint, by τὰ ἄσχημα, Things indecorous and diſhonourable; which word the Apoſtle applies to unnatural Luſts, Rom. 1. 26. and in the Language of the Targum, and the Rabbins, they are ſtyled קלנא, Ignominy and Vileneſs. Thus Sychem is ſaid to have wrought קלנא, ſaith the Chaldee; τὸ ἄσχημον, the Septuagint; i. e. Ignominy in Iſrael, by knowing Dinah. This is the Name the Chaldee gives to the Adultery committed by the Men of Benjamin upon the Levites Concubine, Judg. 19. 24. the Inceſt committed by Amnon, on his Siſter Thamar, 2 Sam. 13. 12. and in the (d) Rabbinical Language, to abuſe Boys, בקלין, is to uſe them to the ſatisfying of Unnatural Luſts.

c Ibid. Καθάπερ τὰ ἔθνη, Even as the Gentiles.] Among whom theſe Luſts abounded, and by whom they were allowed. For Whoredom was eſteemed no Crime, (e) they taught, μὴ πάντως παρὰ τὸ καθῆκον τοῦτο γίνεσθαι. Their (f) Orator ſpeaks thus; Si quis eſt qui etiam meretriciis amoribus interdictum juventuti putet —— —— abhorret non modo ab hujus ſeculi licentiâ, verum etiam à majorum conſuetudine atque conceſſis, Quando enim hoc non factum eſt? Quando reprehenſum? Quando non permiſſum? Quando denique fuit, ut quod licet, non liceret? (g) Epictetus adviſes them who cannot abſtain, to uſe it only, ὡς νομιμὸν ἐστὶ, as the Laws allowed it. Now that, ſaith (h) Plato was τῶν ἐλευθέρων γυναικῶν μὴ ἐρᾶν, not to meddle with free Women, but only Libertines and Servants, and thoſe that ſold themſelves to it. And (i) Demoſthenes declares of all the Grecians thus; Τὰς μὲν ἑταίρας ἡδονῆς ἕνεκα ἔχομεν, τὰς δὲ παλλακὰς τῆς καθ' ἡμέραν παλλακείας, τὰς δὲ γυναῖκας τοῦ παιδοποιεῖσθαι γνησίως.

The τὸ παρὰ φύσιν τόλμημα, as Plato ſtiles it, obtained in Greece without blame, ſaith (k) Berdeſanes; amongſt the Grecians, and many Barbarians, ſaith (l) Plato; amongſt the Cretians and Lacedæmonians, ſaith the ſame Plato. How prone the Romans, and other Nations were to it, Plautus, Petronius Arbiter, Ariſtophanes, and (m) Athenæus ſufficiently inform us, as alſo that it was the Sin of the Philoſophers eſpecially.

Ver. 6. Μὴ ὑπερβαίνειν καὶ πλεονεκτεῖν, Not to go beyond or defraud.] It is the Opinion of all the Greek Scholiaſts, that this Verſe contains a Prohibition of Adultery, πλεονεξίαν ἐνταῦθα τὴν μοιχείαν ἐκάλεσε: By the word πλεονεξία, he denotes Adultery, ſay Theodoret and Theophylact. God hath put Bounds to this Appetite, ſay OEcumenius and Theophylact, by tying us to one Wife, ὥστε ἡ πρὸς ἑτέραν μῖξις, παράβασίς τις, καὶ πλεονεξία ἐστὶν, ſo that to be familiar with one another is Exceſs and Covetouſneſs; and when this is done to another Man's Wife, it is to exceed to the Injury of his Brother. And as (n) St. Jerom hath ob- d ſerved, the Words preceding, which ſpeak of abſtaining from Fornication, and keeping our Veſſels in Sanctification and Honour, and not in the Luſts of Concupiſcence; and the Words following, which give this Reaſon of the Precept, that God hath not called us to Uncleanneſs, but to Holineſs, ſeem alſo plainly to inforce this Senſe, which the Greek, in the Judgment of the fore-cited Fathers, will bear: For,

1. The Words ὑπερβαίνειν, and ἐπιβαίνειν, bear this Senſe in other Authors. Thus (o) Philo ſpeaking of unnatural Luſts committed by Men, ſaith ἄνδρες ὄντες ἄῤῥεσιν ἐπιβαίνουσι. And (p) Plutarch ſaith of the Egyptians, that they call that Land which Nile aſcends, mixing and engendering with it, the Body of Iſis. And when Nile is thus ὑπερβαλὼν καὶ πλεονάσας filling and aſcending, they call this the joining of Oſiris with Nephthe. So the Hebrew Word בוא from which Βῶ and Βάω, and from them βαίνω, is derived, hath this Signification, as Joſh. 23. 12. If you contract Affinity with the Heathens, ובאתם בהם and go in unto them, Εἰ ἐπιγαμίας ποιήσετε, καὶ συγκαταμιγῆτε αὐτοῖς, If you marry and mix with them, ſaith the Septuagint, the Lord will not drive them out. And in the Miſnah הביעל׳ אחותן is, He that reveals the Nakedneſs of his Siſter, and may be rendered ὑπερβαίνων τὴν ἀδελφὴν αὐτοῦ.

2. The Word πλεονεξία bears the ſame ſenſe in that Verſe, in which Venus promiſes to him that finds and brings her Cupid to her, not a bare Kiſs, but ſomething more, ſaying, οὐ γυμνὸν τὸ φίλαμά τοι ξένε, καὶ πλέον ἕξεις. And (q) Socrates tells Callicles, pleading for thoſe Pleaſures, That Men ought not to be ἐπιθυμίας ἀκολάστους, of unbounded Luſts, σὺ δὲ πλεονεξίαν οἴει δεῖν ἀσκεῖν, But thou, ſaith he, thinkeſt that a Man may exceed in theſe matters. And in the Scholiaſt of (r) Ariſtophanes, theſe are put as Words equivalent, ὑπερπαίειν, ὑπερβαίνειν, πλεονάζειν.

And whereas againſt this Interpretation it is objected, that the Words following, viz. in any matter, being general, will not admit of this reſtrained Senſe;

I anſwer, That in the Greek the Words are ἐν τῷ πράγματι, and may be rendered, in this matter; or in the matter, viz. forementioned; or abſolutely, in the matter; for ſo it plainly ſignifies in theſe Words, 2 Cor. 7. 11. you have approved your ſelves clear ἐν τῷ πράγματι, in this matter: And it being obſerved by (ſ) Phavorinus and Suidas, that the word πρᾶγμα is uſed by the Ancients in an evil Senſe; And the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions complaining that the younger Widows marrying again, under pretence that they (u) could not contain, were engaged in an evil matter; and by OEcumenius being gloſſed thus, ἐν τῇ μίξει. I hope I have ſufficiently vindicated this Interpretation of Dr. Hammond and the Ancients, from the Exceptions of Mr. le Clerc.

Ibid. Ἐν τῷ πράγματι in this matter] ſo it plainly ſignifies in thoſe Words, 2 Cor. 7. 11. you have approved your ſelves clear, ἐν τῷ πράγματι, in this matter.

Ver. 8. Εἰς ἡμᾶς, To us.] To us Apoſtles, to enable us to give you theſe Commandments; and to us Chriſtians, to render us the Temples of the Holy Ghoſt, which Temples we corrupt by our Uncleanneſs, 1 Cor. 3. 15, 16. chap. 6. 15, 16, 17. and 11. 19. 2 Cor. 6. 16. e

Ver. 9. Θεοδίδακτοι, Taught of God.] By this new Commandment, that we love one another, 1 John 3. 11, 23. and 4. 21. Matth. 22. 39. Θεοδίδακτοι γὰρ ἡμεῖς ἱερὰ ὄντως γράμματα παρὰ τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ Θεοῦ παιδευόμενοι, ſaith (x) Clemens of Alexandria, We are taught by God having the Holy Scriptures; and by the Example of that God who loved us, and gave his Son for us, Eph. 5. 2. Hence they who are taught of God, are ſaid to hear (his Commands,) and learn (by his Example) John 6. 45. f

Ver. 11. Τὰ ἴδια, To do your own buſineſs.] I follow here the Senſe of Dr. Hammond, and other Interpreters; tho' the following Words to work with your own Hands, ſeem to lead to the doing their own Buſineſs themſelves, and not to leave all to Slaves and Servants, as the Idle and Luxurious of old were wont to do. See Athenæus, l. 12. g

Ver. 12. Καὶ μηδενὸς χρείαν ἔχητε, And that ye may have lack of nothing] I. e. From the Heathen. So the Greek Scholiaſts: For, ſay they, if Chriſtians, ſeeing a Chriſtian beg when he is able to live by his Work, are ſcandaliz'd, how much more will Heathens be ſo? And indeed, this was one Objection of the Heathens againſt Chriſtians, that they were (y) infructuoſi in negotiis, uſeleſs Creatures. The Apoſtle therefore doth exhort them ſo to pro- h vide for their Neceſſities by their honeſt Labour, that they may not need the Help of Infidels, and never may be forced by their Wants to ask it of them.

i Ver. 13. Καθὼς οἱ λοιποὶ, As do others.] Tho' many Heathens believed the Immortality of the Soul, none of them had any expectation of the Reſurrection of the Body. This the Philoſophers, who ſtiled the Body the Priſon of the Soul, and thought it the great hindrance of Knowledge and of Virtue, repreſented as a very deſpicable thing, (z) τὸ σφόδρα μιαρὸν, ϗ ἀπόπτυστον ἅμα ϗ ἀδύνατον: So Celſus; 'Tis vile, ſaith he, abominable and impoſſible; σκωλήκων ἡ ἐλπὶς, a hope fitter for Worms than Men. And he confutes the poſſibility of it, not only from the repugnancy of the thing to Nature, but alſo from the vileneſs of it, declaring God therefore cannot do it, (a) becauſe as he will not do what is againſt Nature, ſo he cannot do what is vile. Plotinus ſaith, that ſuch a Reſurrection would only be ἀνάστασις εἰς ἄλλον ὕπνον, a Reſurrection to another Sleep. And all the other Heathens held it a thing impoſſible, and without Example, and therefore made it matter of their Sport; It being, ſaith Origen, μυστήριον γελώμενον ὑπὸ τῶν ἀπίστων. k Ver. 14. Τοὺς κοιμηθέντας διὰ τοῦ Ἰησοῦ, Thoſe that ſleep in, or thro' Jeſus.] That the Martyrs are not here excluded, is certain; but I ſee no reaſon to grant, that this Expreſſion ſhould peculiarly reſpect them. All the Greek Scholiaſts interpret the Words generally; Chryſoſtom and Theophylact ſay, that they who ſleep in Jeſus are the Faithful in general: OEcumenius, Thoſe that ſleep in the Faith of Jeſus. The Apoſtle treating of this Subject, calls all the Dead, τοὺς κοιμηθέντας ἐν τῷ Χριστῷ, thoſe that ſleep in Chriſt, 1 Cor. 15. 18. and the Context here requires this Senſe; for the Apoſtle ſpeaks, v. 13. of them that ſleep in general, and of the Hope of the Reſurrection in the general. And when Chriſt comes to Judgment, he will not bring the Martyrs only, but all the faithful with him. See v. 15. 16. where the ſame Perſons are the Dead with Chriſt.

l Ver. 15. Ἡμεῖς οἱ ζῶντες, We who are alive.] 'Tis well obſerved by the Greek Scholiaſts, that the Apoſtle ſpeaks theſe Words, οὐκ ἐπὶ τοῦ ἑαυτοῦ προσώπου, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ τῶν κατ' ἐκεῖνον τὸν καιρὸν περιόντων ἀνθρώπων, not of himſelf, but of the Chriſtians that were to remain alive at the Day of Judgment: So Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact; for he well knew he was not perſonally to live till the Reſurrection; yea he himſelf expected a Reſurrection, ſaying to the Corinthians, He that raiſed up the Lord Jeſus, ſhall raiſe up us alſo by Jeſus, and ſhall preſent us with you, 2 Cor. 4. 14. He laboured that he might attain to the Reſurrection of the Dead, Phil. 3. 11. Yet there are ſome Divines, who from this, and ſome other places in the Epiſtles, conceive that the Apoſtles ſometimes thought, and declared to other Chriſtians, that they themſelves might live until the Reſurrection; and that St. Paul afterward changed this Opinion, and admoniſhed the Theſſalonians of it, 2 Theſſ. 2. This I conceive to be a dangerous Miſtake, and highly prejudicial to the Chriſtian Faith, and the Authority of the Apoſtles; for if the Churches of Chriſt had once received this Doctrine from them, and afterwards had underſtood, even from their own Confeſſion, that it was a Miſtake, this would have naturally led them to conceive that they might have been miſtaken alſo in any other Doctrine contained in their Epiſtles, and to ſuſpect the Certainty and Truth of all that was contained in them. And this the Apoſtle ſeemeth to inſinuate in theſe Words, 2 Theſſ. 2. 1, 2. I beſeech you, Brethren, that you be not ſoon ſhaken in mind, or troubled, either by Word or Letter, as from us, as that the Day of Chriſt is at hand: For theſe Words ſeem plainly to import, that in the Apoſtle's own Judgment, the Belief that the Apoſtles had taught by Word, or by Epiſtle, this Doctrine, would tend to the unſettling of their Minds in the Faith.

But that St. Paul taught no ſuch Doctrine in any of his Epiſtles to the Theſſalonians, will be exceeding evident,

1. From the following words in that Chapter: For there, ſaith he, v. 3. Let no Man deceive you by any Means; declaring them Deceivers, who either taught this Doctrine, or impoſed it on them, as ſpoken or indited by them, there alſo having ſaid, in oppoſition to that vain Imagination, that Day was not to come, till there was a falling away firſt, and the Man of Sin was revealed; He adds, Remember you not that when I was yet with you, I told you theſe things? v. 5. He therefore had taught them the contrary, before he had indited either of theſe Epiſtles, and therefore in them cannot rationally be ſuppoſed to contradict himſelf.

2*dly*, From the very Words uſed for proof of this Opinion; for they are introduced with this Solemnity, This we ſay unto you by the Word of the Lord, that we that are alive, in which Words he moſt plainly voucheth the Authority of Chriſt Jeſus for the truth of what he ſaith; and therefore if he were miſtaken, either our Lord himſelf muſt err with him, or the Apoſtle muſt vouch Chriſt's Word, and his Authority, when Chriſt had ſpoken no ſuch Word, and given him no Authority to ſpeak this Doctrine in his Name; both which Aſſertions overthrow the Certainty and Truth of all St. Paul's Epiſtles. Now hence it follows, that the Apoſtle cou'd not deliver this Aſſertion in any other of his Epiſtles; for all the Learned do agree in this, that theſe Epiſtles to the Theſſalonians were the firſt Epiſtles St. Paul wrote; whence it muſt follow, that he could not deliver in his following Writings to that Church or any other Churches, that Doctrine which he had ſo induſtriouſly before confuted, and declared very dangerous, in his Epiſtle to the Church of Theſſalonica.

The Truth ſeems therefore to be this: That as our Lord had told them, it was not for them to know the Times and Seaſons, Acts 1. 7. ſo were they left ſtill in the Dark, touching the time of the General Judgment; and therefore they continually ſpeak of it as a Day that was to come upon Men, as a Thief in the Night, Ipſis inſciis, as here, Chap. 5. 1. They perhaps did not know when it might happen; And ſo they ſay nothing at any time dogmatically, but only ἐνδοιάστως, and disjunctly, if we ſhall be found cloathed, and not naked; and here, chap. 5. 10. Whether we ſleep or wake. Nor are theſe Sayings to be taken perſonally, as meant of the Apoſtles, but rather as ſpoken by them in the perſon of Chriſtians in the general, ſome of which would be then ſurviving.

Ver. 16. Καὶ ἐν σάλπιγγι Θεοῦ, and in the Trump of God] Pious here and fit to be regarded is the Note of Theodoret, That if the loud ſound of the Trumpet, when the Law was given from Mount Sinai, was ſo dreadful to the Jews, that they ſaid to Moſes, Let not the Lord ſpeak to us, leſt we die: How terrible muſt be the Sound of this Trumpet, which calls all Men to the final Judgment?

Ver. 17. Σὺν Κυρίῳ, With the Lord] From which Words it may be probably collected, that even the Souls of the Faithful were not ever with the Lord, or in his Celeſtial Preſence, before the Reſurrection.

CHAP. V.

a Verſe 1. [a] BUT of the [exact] times, and [critical] ſeaſons, brethren, [when the Coming of the Lord ſhall happen] you have no need that I ſhould write unto you.

2. For [you] your ſelves know perfectly, [from what I taught when preſent with you,] that the day of the Lord ſo cometh as a thief in the night, of the time of whoſe Coming the Maſter of the Houſe can have no certain Knowledge, Matth. 24. 42, 43. and 25. 13. Mark 13. 33. Luke 12. 39, 40. and 21. 36.

b 3. [b] For when they [they of the Jewiſh Nation then, and the Wicked at the great Day of wrath,] ſhall ſay, Peace and Safety, [expecting no ſuch thing as Wrath and Judgment,] then ſudden deſtruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child, and they ſhall not eſcape [it.]

4. But ye, Brethren, are not [as formerly] in [a ſtate of] darkneſs, that that day ſhould overtake you as a thief, [or come upon you unexpected, or unprepared for it.]

5. Ye are all [by virtue of your Faith, and Knowledge, and your Profeſſion of Chriſtianity] the children of light, [as having the Light, and believing in it, John 12. 36. Eph. 5. 8.] and the children of the day [of Grace, Rom. 13. 12, 13. and of Salvation, 2 Cor. 6. 2.] we are not of the night, nor of darkneſs, [as the Jewiſh Nation at preſent is, upon whom the darkneſs is come, John 12. 35. and who are caſt out into utter darkneſs: See Note on Matth. 8. 12. and as the Heathens always were: See Note on Rom. 13. 12.]

6. Therefore let us not ſleep as do others, [ſecurely in their Sin, with expecting Judgment, or preparing for it, Matth. 28. 38. Luke 17. 26—30.] but let us watch, and be ſober, [that that day do not come upon us unawares, nor finding us overcharged with Surfeiting and Drunkenneſs, Luke 21. 34, 36. this being only proper to them who are of the night.]

7. For they that ſleep, ſleep in the night; and they that are drunken, [c] are drunken in the night. c

8. But let us, who are [children] of the day, be ſober, [and vigilant, 1 Pet. 4. 7. and 5. 8.] putting on the [d] breaſt-plate of faith and love, [that firm Aſſurance of Faith, which will not ſuffer us to doubt of the divine Aſſiſtance, and that Love which caſts out Fear of any thing we may ſuffer for the Cauſe of Chriſt.] and for an helmet [to your Head,] the hope of ſalvation. d

[Which

9. [ Which Hope of Salvation we Chriſtians have,] for God hath not appointed us unto wrath, [as he hath done the Heathen World, who are Children of Wrath, Eph. 2. 3. and the unbelieving Jews, who are Veſſels of Wrath fitted for Deſtruction, Rom. 9. 22. and upon whom Wrath is coming to the End, 1 Theſſ. 2. 16.] but to obtain ſalvation by our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

10. Who died for us, that whether we [e] wake or ſleep, [i. e. whether he come in the Night, and ſo finding us taking our natural Reſt; or in the Day, when we are waking,] we may live together with him [when he comes.] e

11. Wherefore comfort your ſelves together [with this Hope,] and [f] edify one another, even as alſo you do. f

12. And we beſeech you, brethren, to know [and reverence] them which labour among you, and [g] are over you in the Lord, and admoniſh you; g

13. And to eſteem them very highly in love for their works ſake. And be at peace among your ſelves.

14. Now [παρακαλοῦμεν δὲ, and] we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, [as walking not according to the Doctrine they have received from us, 2 Theſſ. 3. 6, 14.] comfort the feeble-minded, [who are of a wounded Spirit under Afflictions, ὀλιγόψυχοι, Prov. 18. 14. that are of a fearful Spirit under them, Iſai. 35. 4. of a grieved Spirit, Iſai 54. 6. whoſe Spirit fails under them, Iſai. 57. 16. whoſe Hands hang down, and whoſe Knees are feeble, Heb. 12. 12.] ſupport the weak [in Faith, who are ſoon ſcandalized, and apt to periſh by it, Rom. 14. 1, 2, 21. 1 Cor. 8. 7. and 9. 10, 11, 12.] be patient toward all Men.

15. See that none render evil for evil unto any man: [whatever the Provocation may be, Rom. 12. 27.] but ever follow that which is good, both among your ſelves, and to all men, [even them that hate you, Matth. 5. 44.]

16. [h] Rejoyce evermore. h

17. Pray [i] without ceaſing. i

18. [k] In every thing give thanks, for this is the will of God in Chriſt Jeſus concerning you. k

19. [l] Quench not the Spirit. l

20. [m] Deſpiſe not propheſyings. m

21. [n] Prove all things, [by the Spirit of Diſcretion which is in the Church, and the conſonancy of their pretended Prophecies and Interpretations, with what we have delivered to you, and then] hold faſt that which is good. n

22. [And] [o] abſtain from all appearance of evil. o

23. And the very God of peace ſanctify you wholly: and I pray God [that] your [p] whole ſpirit, and ſoul, and Body, be preſerved blameleſs to the coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. p

24. [q] Faithful is he who calleth you [to this Holineſs,] who alſo will do [his part towards] it. q

25. Brethren, pray for us. [See Note on Coloſſ. 4. 4.]

26. Greet all the brethren with an holy kiſs.

27. [r] I charge you by the Lord, that this epiſtle be read to all the holy brethren.

28. The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with you. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Verſe 1, 2. THat all this, to the 12th Verſe doth evidently belong only to the Deſtruction of the Perſecuting Jews and Gnoſticks, at the Time of Chriſt's Coming to deſtroy the Jewiſh Church and Nation, is confidently aſſerted by a Reverend and Learned Commentator on this Place; but is not once hinted by the Ancients, who all interpret theſe words, περὶ τῆς κοινῆς συντελείας, of Chriſt's general Advent. Nor do his Arguments prove his Aſſertion.

Arg. 1. Firſt, Whereas he ſaith, Ἡμέρα Χριστοῦ, The Day of Chriſt, here mentioned, is without queſtion, the ſame which is ſo often call'd, The Coming of Chriſt, for the deſtroying of the Enemies of Chriſtianity.

Anſw. 'Tis certain, that this Day of Chriſt, in the Epiſtles, doth almoſt generally ſignifie the Day of our Lord's coming to the final Judgment; as in the following words: He ſhall confirm you unto the end, that you may be blameleſs in the Day of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Cor. 1. 8. That the Spirit may be ſaved in the Day of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Cor. 5. 5. You are our rejoycing in the Day of the Lord Jeſus, 2 Cor. 1. 14. He that hath begun a good Work in you, ſhall perfect it to the Day of the Lord Jeſus, Philip. 1. 6. That ye may be ſincere, and blameleſs, until the Day of Jeſus Chriſt, v. 10. That I may rejoice in the Day of Chriſt, Phil. 2. 16. See 2 Tim. 1. 12, 18. and 4. 8.

Arg. 2. Secondly, Whereas he adds, That this cannot belong to the laſt Coming of Chriſt to Judgment; becauſe the Apoſtle had made that the Subject of his former Diſcourſe, Chap. 4. and enters upon this as a diſtinct Matter, with a περὶ δὲ, &c.

Anſw. It is granted, That the Time when this Judgment ſhall be, is a diſtinct Matter from the Judgment it ſelf; which is all that this Argument proves.

Arg. 3. Thirdly, Whereas he argues this, from the end of this Diſcourſe, which is to comfort the Chriſtians which were under Perſecution, and give them Patience and Conſtancy; for which this was a fit Conſideration, That this Judgment of God would come ſuddenly, and when it was leaſt expected, and ſo would ſurprize them if they were not watchful; all which belonged peculiarly to this Doom upon the Jews, and not to the General Judgment, which thoſe who then lived were not concerned in.

Anſw. Firſt, It is certain, that the Apoſtle both in this Epiſtle, Chap. 4. 18. and in his other Epiſtle, Chap. 1. doth comfort his Theſſalonians, under their Perſecutions, from the Conſideration of Chriſt's coming to reward them at the Day of Judgment.

Secondly, It is alſo certain, That Chriſt and his Apoſtles, exhort Chriſtians to be watchful, that they may not be ſurprized at the Day of Judgment. So doth Chriſt, Matth. 25. 13. Luke 12. 35—40. So doth St. Paul, 2 Cor. 5. 9, 10. So doth St. Peter, 2 Pet. 3. 11, 12, 14. as being that which all Men, who muſt die, and after that be judged according to what they have done in the Fleſh, muſt be as well concerned to prepare for, by Watchfulneſs, as if it were to come while they were living; and upon this Account it is, that the Apoſtle, in this Chapter, v. 23. and in the forecited Places, prays ſo oft that Chriſtians may be confirmed, and kept blameleſs to the Day of the Lord Jeſus.

Let it be then obſerved, That the Apoſtle had ſpoken, chap. 1. 10. of their waiting for the Coming of the Lord from Heaven, chap. 3. 13. Of his Coming with all his Saints, chap. 4. 16. Of his Coming with the Voice of the Arch-Angel, and of the Trump of God. He had alſo hinted, chap. 2. 10. That the Unbelieving Jews were, by their Oppoſition to the Goſpel preached to the Gentiles, and, by their Perſecutions of them who had embraced it, filling up the Meaſure of their Sins, and drawing down that Day of Wrath upon them, which is mentioned, Matth. 24. I therefore ſhall deſcant on theſe Words, as relating to both theſe Days of Judgment.

Ver. 3. (a) Joſephus informs us, That when b the Tumults, foretold by our Saviour, were begun, the Jews were expecting σημεῖα ἐλευθερίας, Signs from God of their Liberty; and that after all the clear Signs God had given them of their approaching Ruin, and when it was even accompliſhed, they were confidently expecting (b) τὴν ἀπὸ Θεοῦ βοήθειαν, the Divine Aid: And, which is more remarkable, that the Promiſe of a Meſſiah, which their Sacred Books declared was to come, κατὰ τὸν καιρὸν ἐκεῖνον, about that Time, was (c) τὸ ἐπᾶραν αὐτοὺς μάλιστα πρὸς πόλεμον, that which chiefly incited them to the War.

Ver. 7. Note, O the ſad Diſſoluteneſs of c the Manners of the Chriſtians of our Age, who frequently are guilty of that Drunkenneſs in the Day-time, which Heathens only practiſed in the Night!

Ver. 8. Θώρακα, The Breaſt-Plate of Faith, d &c.] This Metaphor, relating to our Chriſtian Warfare, is taken from Soldiers who anciently watched, or kept Centinel in their Armour, having eſpecially their Helmet and Breaſt plate on; for, as (d) Livy notes, Scuto præ ſe erecto ſtabant Galeati, They ſtood with their Shield before them, and their Helmet on their Heads. Whence he ſays of Paulus Æmilius, that Milites novo more ſcutum in vigiliam ferre vetuit; After a new manner he forbad the Soldiers to wear their Shield when they watched. Now the Head and Heart being the two chief Fountains of Life and Senſation; the preſerving them ſafe, is, in effect, the preſerving of the whole Man.

e Ver. 10. Εἴτε γρηγορῶμεν, εἴτε καθεύδωμεν.] That is, ſay ſome, whether we live or die. And true it is, that Chriſtians dying, are ſaid to fall aſleep. So 1 Cor. 11. 30. κοιμῶνται ἱκανοὶ, ſome are fallen aſleep. Chap. 15. 51. πάντες μὲν οὐ κοιμηθησόμεθα, We ſhall not all ſleep. So here, chap. 4. 13. I would not have you ignorant, περὶ τῶν κεκοιμημένων, concerning them that are fallen aſleep; and v. 14. τοὺς κοιμηθέντας, them that ſleep in Jeſus will God bring with him. But becauſe in all theſe Places the Greek word is never καθεύδω, but always κοιμάομαι, I prefer the Expoſition of the Paraphraſe.

But then, that the hope of Salvation, v. 8. the περιποίησις σωτηρίας, the obtainment of Salvation by Chriſt Jeſus, v. 9. the living with him, v. 10. ſhould refer chiefly to the Purchaſe of Deliverance from Jewiſh Perſecutions, and the Enjoyment of this preſent Life, I can by no means grant; for the Chriſtian's Hope is, the Hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. the Hope of the Redemption of the Body from Corruption, chap. 8. 23, 24. the Hope which is laid up for us in Heaven, Col. 1. 5. the Hope of Glory, v. 27. a bleſſed Hope, Tit. 2. 13. the Hope of Eternal Life, chap. 3. 7.

The Salvation purchaſed for us by Chriſt's Death, is not Deliverance from Perſecutions; for all that will live godly in Chriſt Jeſus, muſt ſuffer Perſecutions, 2 Tim. 3. 12. In theſe we are to be conformed to his Death, Rom. 8. 17. 2 Tim. 2. 12. he having ſuffered; leaving us an example, that we ſhould follow his ſteps, 1 Pet. 2. 21.

And to live with Chriſt, is to live in a ſtate of Glory with him, and be conformed to his Reſurrection, Rom. 6. 8. 2 Tim. 2. 12. Col. 3. 3, 4. 1 Pet. 4. 13. And this is the Comfort which the Apoſtle had given them, chap. 4. 18. and to which he now proceeds.

f Ver. 11. Οἰκοδομεῖτε εἷς τὸν ἕνα, Edifie yourſelves into one Body,] By your mutual Love to one another, as being Members of the ſame Body, Eph. 4. 16. And by your ſtrict Union, and peaceable Converſation with one another, which is the Edification of one of us unto another, commanded, Rom. 14. 19. See Note on Rom. 15. 2.

Ver. 12. Καὶ προϊσάμενοι ὑμῶν.] That the g Perſons here mention'd as labouring among them, as being over them, in the Plural, ſhould be the Biſhops of the Metropolis of Theſſalonica, ſeems very improbable; there being ſcarcely any ordinary fixed Officers then placed in the Church, Anno Chriſti 49, or 51, when this Epiſtle was written: And therefore the learned (e) Mr. Dodwel, notwithſtanding theſe words, ſaith, Quod nulla ſit Rectorum mentio in utravis Epiſtolâ ad Theſſalonicenſes; "That there is no mention "of any fixed Rulers in either of the Epiſtles "to the Theſſalonians". And (1.) We find no notice taken of them in the Front of theſe Epiſtles, as there is of the Biſhops and Deacons, Philip. 1. 1. No Salutation of them in the Cloſe of theſe Epiſtles, the Words of Salutation being only theſe, Salute all the Brethren with an holy Kiſs. (2.) We find no Directions given to them in particular (but only to the Brethren in general) touching ſuch Matters as muſt have related to their Office only, or chiefly, had they been ſettled Rulers in the Church. The Charge in the very next Verſe runs thus; We exhort you, Brethren, warn them that are Unruly, comfort the Feeble-minded, ſupport the Weak. In the Second Epiſtle, chap. 3. 6. thus; We command you, Brethren, in the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that ye withdraw yourſelves from every Brother that walks diſorderly, and not according to the Tradition which ye received from us. And v. 13. and 14. And ye, Brethren,——if any man obey not our word by this Epiſtle, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be aſhamed; yet count him not as an Enemy, but admoniſh him as a Brother. And laſtly, To theſe Brethren the Adjuration is here directed, v. 27. charging them by the Lord, that this Epiſtle be read to all the holy Brethren. 'Tis therefore to be noted, that the Apoſtles, Prophets, Preachers, Evangeliſts, who were all extraordinary Officers, are reckoned among thoſe whom God had ſettled in the Church, 1 Cor. 12. 12. and Chriſt aſcending up on high, had given for the Edification of his Body, Eph. 4. 11, 12. Some of theſe Prophets, and Teachers, were in moſt Churches, as at Antioch, Acts 13. 1. and officiated in them, v. 3. at Rome, chap. 12. 6, 7. at Corinth, 1 Cor. 14. at Galatia; See Note on Chap. 6. 1. Some of them were Itinerants, ſent by the Apoſtles, or Prophets, to teach other Churches, and by the Holy Spirit ſeparated to that Work, Acts 13. 2, 3, 4. Exhorting and Confirming the Chriſtians where they came, as being Prophets authorized ſo to do, Acts 16. 32. and travelling up and down for the Converting and Eſtabliſhing of the Gentiles, 3 Epiſt. of St. John;

(e) Lib. de Jure Laic. Sacerdotali, cap. 3. ſ. 18. p. 232.

v. 7, 8. See Note on 1 Cor. 12. 28. Of one of theſe two kinds of Prophets, and Teachers, and Spiritual Men, the Apoſtle may here be underſtood.

Ibid. Know them, who labour among you, and are over you in the Lord.] Here ſaith Theophylact, if you honour them, who preſide over you in temporal Affairs, how much more ſhould you reſpect them, who do it in ſpiritual things, who regenerate you in Baptiſm, pray for you, viſit you in ſickneſs, and miniſter Phyſick to your Souls.

Ver. 16. Κἂν εἰς πειρασμοὺς, κἂν εἰς λύπας ἐμπέσοιτε, OEcumenius. Though you fall into manifold Temptations and Afflictions, Jam. 1. 2. and be brought into a very low Condition in this World; yet rejoyce in the Lord always, Philip. 4. 4. Rejoyce in the hope of the glory of God, Rom. 5. 3. and of that great Reward you ſhall receive for all your Sufferings, Matth. 5. 11, 12. Heb. 10. 34. and in the ſpiritual Fruits they work in you, Rom. 5. 4. Jam. 1. 3.

Ver. 17. Ἀδιαλείπτως, Without ceaſing.] To give, once for all, the true ſenſe of thoſe Injunctions, ſo frequent in the Scripture, to pray, and to give thanks always, and without ceaſing; obſerve,

1. That theſe Phraſes do, in the mildeſt ſenſe, import, that theſe ſhould be the Employment of every Day, our Morning and Evening-Sacrifice; that ſo beginning and ending the Day with them, we may be, in the Scripture-Language, ſaid to do them always. Thus St. Luke tells us, chap. 24. 53. That the Apoſtles were continually in the Temple, διαπαντὸς, praiſing God; that is, they were καθ' ἡμέραν, daily in the Temple, Acts 2. 46, 47. reſorting thither at the Third Hour of the Morning, and at the Ninth of the Evening-Sacrifice, Acts 3. 1. The Sacrifice which was appointed to be thus offered daily at Morning and Evening. is, in the Hebrew התמיד, the continual Sacrifice, Dan. 8. 11. and accordingly is rendered by the Septuagint, ἡ θυσία διαπαντὸς. Thus the Minchah, which the High Prieſt offered every Day, half of it in the Morning, and half in the Evening, is ſtyled by them, ἡ θυσία διαπαντὸς, the continual Sacrifice, Lev. 6. 20. The Burnt-Offering which was offered, without intermiſſion, twice a Day, is, in the Hebrew, עלת תמיד; and in the Seventy, ὁλοκαύτωμα τὸ διαπαντὸς, the continual Sacrifice, Numb. 28. 24, 31. And in Alluſion to it, the Author to the Hebrews ſaith of our High Prieſt, By him let us offer up the Sacrifice of Praiſe to God continually. This therefore is the prime Import of the Phraſe.

2*dly*, Theſe Phraſes do import, that we ſhould be employed in the Performance of theſe Duties, as Providence doth miniſter Occaſion for them. In this ſenſe is the Word always uſed twice, when our Lord ſaith, I was always in the Temple, whither the Jews always reſort, John 18. 20. for neither did the Jews always reſort unto the Temple, but only at the Hours of Prayer; nor did Chriſt always teach in it, but only when he went up to Jeruſalem. And thus the Holy Ghoſt, in Scripture, leads us to expound theſe Phraſes, enjoining us to abound always to every good Work, 2 Cor. 9. 8. and elſewhere to do good, ὡς καιρὸν ἔχομεν, as we have occaſion, Gal. 6. 10. So, to pray always, Luke 18. 1. is to pray, ἐν παντὶ καιρῷ, in every Seaſon, chap. 21. 36. And, to pray without ceaſing here, is to pray, ἐν παντὶ καιρῷ, in every Opportunity, Eph. 6. 18. So 1 Maccab. 12. 11. Ἡμεῖς οὖν ἐν παντὶ καιρῷ ἀδιαλείπτως, We at all times, without ceaſing, both in our Feaſts, and other convenient Days, do remember you in the Sacrifices which we offer; i. e. We do it as oft as we have Occaſion to offer Sacrifice.

3*dly*, In reference to our Prayers particularly, it imports, that we ſhould not grow faint and weary, when Providence ſeems for a Seaſon to defer the Bleſſing we implore, Luke 18. 1. but ſhould ſtill προσμένειν, abide in Supplication, 1 Tim. 5. 5. and ἀγρυπνεῖν, watch unto it with all Perſeverance, Epheſ. 6. 18.

Ver. 18. Ἐν παντὶ, In every thing.] For ſparing and preventing, for common and extraordinary, general and ſpecial, paſt and preſent, temporary and ſpiritual Mercies; not only for proſperous and grateful, but alſo for afflicting Providences, for Chaſtiſements and ſeaſonable Corrections, Πάντας γὰρ πρὸς τὸ συμφέρον ποιεῖ ὁ Θεὸς, κἂν ἡμεῖς ἀγνοῶμεν αὐτοῦ τὰς οἰκονομίας· For God deſigns them all for our Good, though we at preſent ſee not how they tend unto it.

Ver. 19. Quench not the Spirit;] Τουτέστι χάρισμα μὴ ἐκφεδάσατε καὶ κολύετε, τῷ ἀποστρέφεσθαι καὶ μὴ ἐᾶν λαλεῖν· that is, Hinder not the Gifts of the Spirit, by turning away from them that have them, and not ſuffering them to ſpeak. Theſe Gifts were quenched by Strife, Emulation, Schiſms, and Contention about them, 1 Cor. 3. 1. 3. 2*dly*, By a diſorderly Uſe of them, not to the Edification of the Church but to vain Oſtentation, Confuſion in the Church, and the Scandal of Heathens, 1 Cor. 14. by a neglect to exerciſe them, 1 Tim. 4. 14. and by the Prohibition of them; Forbid not to ſpeak with Tongues, 1 Cor. 15. 39.

Ver. 20. Προφάσει τῶν ψευδοπροφητῶν, καὶ τοὺς ἀληθεῖς διέπτυον, OEcumenius. Some of theſe Falſe Prophets had crept into the Church of Theſſalonica, as is hinted in thoſe Words, Be not troubled by (them who pretend a Revelation from the) Spirit, as if the Day of Chriſt were at hand, 2 Theſ. 2. 2. Which made them leſs regardful of what was delivered by Men pretending to this Gift; and made it neceſſary for St. John to ſay, Believe not every Spirit, but try the Spirits, whether they be of God, for many Falſe Prophets are gone out into the World, 1 John 4. 1. And to prevent the Miſchief the Theſſalonians might receive from them, the Apoſtle here adds, Try all things, &c. v. 21.

Ver. 21. Δοκιμάζετε, Try.] Note, That the Apoſtle doth not here bid the Guides of the Church try all things; and the People hold faſt that which they delivered to them; but gives an Injunction common to all Chriſtians, having their Senſes exerciſed to diſcern betwixt Good and Evil; to all who are obliged to hold faſt that which is Good, and not to believe Falſe Prophets; which is a ſtrong Argument for the Perſpicuity and the Sufficiency of Holy Scripture for this Work, and againſt the neceſſity of a living Judge; for he that muſt try all things, muſt alſo try the Doctrine of this living Judge; and therefore till he hath made this Trial, muſt not admit his Doctrine as an Article of Chriſtian Faith; for theſe Words plainly teach that what we muſt hold faſt, muſt firſt be tried. Hearers ſaith St. Baſil, who are inſtructed in the Scriptures, ought to try the things ſpoken by their Teachers, Καὶ τὰ μὲν σύμφωνα ταῖς γραφαῖς δέχεσθαι, τὰ δὲ ἀλλότρια ἐκβάλλειν; and receive thoſe Doctrines which are conſonant, and reject thoſe which are alien from the holy Scriptures; becauſe St. Paul hath ſaid, Try all things; hold faſt that which is Good. See Clem. Alex. Strom. 1. p. 354. Strom. 6. p. 655. Orig. in Joh. Tom. 19. Ed. Huet. p. 268. and Hom. 2. in Ezek. F. 135. G. St. Jerom in Ep. ad Eph. l. 3. c. 5. p. 101. Cyril of Alex. in Joh. l. 4. p. 374, 407. and l. 1. adv. Neſtor. p. 2.

Ver. 22. Ἀπὸ παντὸς εἴδους πονηροῦ, From all kinds or ſorts of Evil.] So the Syriack doth render theſe Words. So Chryſoſtom and Theophylact upon this Place. St. Baſil and Leontius, cited by Dr. Hammond, who deſcant thus upon the Words: Flie not from this, or that only, but from every Sin. Or, 2*dly*, If the Apoſtle here exhorts us to abſtain from all appearance of Evil; his meaning cannot be this, that we ſhould abſtain from what appears evil to others; it being in many Caſes, impoſſible to know what appears ſo, and impracticable to act by ſuch a Rule; becauſe it would deſtroy our Chriſtian Liberty in Things indifferent, and create in our Minds continual Perplexities, there being ſcarcely any thing which may not appear Evil, to ſome or other of thoſe numerous Sects which ſwarm among us; He therefore only muſt enjoin us to abſtain from that, which, after trial, ſeems evil to our ſelves, and is judged by us ſo to be; for the Apoſtle makes theſe two Things, the holding that which is good, and, the abſtaining from all appearance of Evil, the Conſequent of trying all things. Now we try all Things, that, after trial, we may hold that which ſeemeth to us Good, and abſtain from that which ſeemeth to us Evil, not to abſtain from that which ſeemeth ſo to others only.

Ver. 23. Ὁλόκληρον ὑμῶν τὸ πνεῦμα, ϗ ἡ ψυχὴ, ϗ τὸ σῶμα· Your whole Spirit, and Soul, and Body.] Here the Apoſtle juſtifies the ancient and true Philoſophy, That Man is, as Nemeſius ſtiles him, τριμερὴς ὑπόστασις, a Compound of three differing Parts. This was the Doctrine of the Pythagoreans, as we learn from (f) Jamblichus, who having told us, That Man conſiſts of Soul and Body, adds, That the Soul conſiſts of two Parts; one endued with Reaſon, and one without Reaſon. This alſo was the Philoſophy of the Platoniſts, as we learn from Nemeſius, (g) Saluſt and Laertius, who informs us, That there is in Man a Soul Irrational, which follows the Affections of the Body; and a Mind, which uſeth the Body as its Inſtrument, and fights againſt it. This alſo was the Doctrine of the Stoicks; whence Antoninus ſaith, The three Conſtituent Parts of Man are σῶμα, ψυχὴ, νοῦς, the Body, Soul, and Mind. (h) Irenæus, and (i) Clemens of Alexandria, and (k) Origen, ſay the ſame. Mr. le Clerc here is very poſitive, that this Philoſophy is falſe, and that there is nothing in Man but his Body, and his Reaſonable Soul. But he ſaith nothing to ſuſtain this Confidence againſt thoſe two excellent Philoſophers, (l) Gaſſendus, and (m) Dr. Willis, who have eſtabliſhed this Philoſophy beyond all reaſonable Contradiction. Nor can the Conflict betwixt the Mind and Spirit, and the Fleſh, mentioned, Rom. 7. from 14. to the 25th; and Gal. 5. 16, 17. be explained: Nor can any Man tell what the τὸ ἀρχικὸν, or Ruling Principle in us, is to govern, without admitting this Inferiour Soul as the Fountain of all our Senſual Appetites, or even tell us what it is to die; unleſs it be to make this Inferiour Soul, which conſiſts in the Motion of the Animal Spirits, and the Senſitive Appetites they produce in us, to ceaſe to act, or move, as formerly. He will have ψυχὴ here to ſignifie Life, as indeed it doth in other Places; but never where the Conſtituent Parts of a Man are enumerated, as here they are; and ſeeing the Spirit and the Body, are unqueſtionably the conſtituent Parts of a Man, 'tis reaſonable to conceive, that the ψυχὴ mentioned here muſt be ſo alſo, eſpecially ſince 'tis divided from the Spirit and the Body by the Particle καὶ. Moreover, by following the Motions of this Brutiſh Appetite, is a Man ſtiled ψυχικὸς, the Animal Man, and by being animated and informed by this ψυχὴ, is the Body called σῶμα ψυχικὸν, an Animal Body, 1 Cor. 15. 44, 45. and by conveying of this ψυχὴ, or inferiour Soul to his Poſterity, is the firſt Adam ſaid to be made εἰς ψυχὴν ζῶσαν, to convey this Animal Life to his Poſterity; though this at laſt may be only a Strife about Words, the Animal Spirits being included in the Body.

Ver. 27. Ὁρκίζω ὑμᾶς, I adjure you by the r
Lord.] In Judicial Oaths the Cuſtom among the Jews was, not for the Perſon who came under the Obligation of an Oath, to pronounce the Words of Swearing with his own Mouth, but an Oath was exacted from him by the Magiſtrate or Superiour, and ſo he became bound to anſwer upon Oath, by hearing the Voice of Adjuration, φωνὴν ὁρκισμοῦ, ſo the Septuagint, Lev. 5. 1. So Gen. 50. 15. thy Father ὥρκισε, made us ſwear before he died, Joſh. 6. 26. ὥρκισεν Ἰησοῦς ἐναντίον Κυρίου, Joſhua adjured them, ſaying, Curſed be the Man before the Lord, that riſeth up and buildeth Jericho, 1 Sam. 14. 24. Saul had adjured the People, ὁρκίσας ὥρκισε τὸν λαὸν, ſaying, Curſed be the Man that eateth any Food; That is, he charged the People with an Oath; 1 Kings 22. 16. Ποσάκις ὁρκίζω σε; How oft ſhall I adjure thee? So in the New Teſtament, the High-Prieſt ſaith to Chriſt, ὁρκίζω σε κατὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ ζῶντος, I adjure thee by the living God. Now hence two Things are evident; 1. That St. Paul did not judge all Judicial Oaths unlawful, for then he would not have laid this Oath upon his Theſſalonians. 2. That Chriſt did not forbid Judicial, but only voluntary Oaths, becauſe it was not in the Power of the Jews, to whom he ſpake, to avoid Judicial Oaths, nor would he then have anſwered to the Adjuration of the High-Prieſt.

THE PREFACE TO THE Second Epiſtle of St. PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

H*Aving offered a new Interpretation of the Second Chapter of this Epiſtle, which treateth of* the Man of Sin, commonly called Antichriſt, there mentioned, I ſhall here give the Reaſons why I could not acquieſce in any of the Expoſitions already given either by Proteſtants or Papiſts, and anſwer ſome Objections againſt the Expoſition I have put upon the Words of the Apoſtle in that Chapter. And,

§. 1. Firſt, Whereas Mr. Obadiah Walker hath taken a great deal of Pains to apply all that the Apoſtle ſaith, to Mahomet and his Followers, that vain Conceit will be demonſtratively confuted from the following Conſiderations :

1. That the Apoſtle here exhorts the Theſſalonians, Not to be ſhaken in Mind, or troubled either by Spirit, or by Letter, or by Word as from us (the Apoſtles,) as if the Day of the Lord were at hand, v. 2. Now what Day doth the Apoſtle mean? Surely that Day when the Lord ſhall conſume the wicked one by the Breath of his Mouth, and by the Brightneſs of his Coming, v. 8. Now ſure it is, that Mahomet came not till 567 Years after the writing this Epiſtle, viz. A. D. 608. nor is our Lord yet come to conſume him with the Breath of his Mouth, nor know we when he will do ſo. How therefore could it be, that they who were foretold ſo punctually of the Apoſtacy which ſhould introduce the Man of Sin, and what yet hindered the Revelation of him in his Seaſon, as the Theſſalonians were, v. 5. 6. ſhould think the Day of the Lord's Coming to deſtroy Mahomet and his Followers was at hand? Or that they ſhould be led into this Apprehenſion by any Word, Epiſtle, or Revelation, made, ſpoken, or written by the Apoſtles or Prophetick Men concerning him? Could they then know from the Mouth of St. Paul, that this Man of Sin was one Mahomet, who was not to appear till 567 Years after his ſpeaking of him; and when he did appear, was to continue above a Thouſand Years before the Coming of our Lord to conſume him, and yet by any of his Words be induced to conceive the Day of the Lord was at hand?

Moreover, If the Coming of our Lord, here mentioned, was to conſume the Beaſt, or Roman Antichriſt, ſeeing this Beaſt was to ariſe out of the Ruins of the Roman Empire, and if St. Paul had told them any thing from Daniel of this Matter, he muſt have let them know that this was ſo; and alſo that this Antichriſt, when riſen out of the Ruins of the Empire, was to continue for a Time and Times and half a Time, that is 1260 Years, before the Coming of our Saviour to deſtroy him. It is as difficult to conceive how, after this, the Theſſalonians could think Chriſt's Coming to conſume the Beaſt, could be then inſtant when this Epiſtle was indited.

§. 2. Arg. 2. I argue, Secondly, againſt this Opinion, from thoſe Words, Remember ye not that when I was with you, I told you of theſe things, v. 5. 6, 7. that is, I told you of the Apoſtacy that was to precede the Man of Sin; how he ſhould exalt himſelf above all that is called God, &c. and what it was that hindered his being revealed in his Seaſon? Now can any one believe that the Apoſtle, who was not with the Theſſalonians long enough to perfect what was lacking in their Faith, 1 Theſſ. 3. 10. ſhould yet employ his time in telling them a long Story of the Apoſtacy of the Arians and Neſtorians, ſaith Mr. Walker, and of one Mahomet, who ſhould thus exalt himſelf, and what then hindered his being revealed? Could he ſay that very Myſtery of Iniquity, this Mahomet was to bring into the World, then wrought, only becauſe there were ſome Hereticks, already come, who confeſſed not that Jeſus Chriſt was come in the Fleſh, though Mahomet confeſſed this very freely? As well may it be ſaid, That the Myſtery of Quakeriſm wrought in the Second and Third Centuries, becauſe ſome Hereticks of thoſe times taught Doctrines like thoſe they now profeſs.

And ſince 'tis equally improbable the Apoſtle, in that little time, ſhould ſpeak to them of the Apoſtacy of the Church of Rome from the Faith, and how the Biſhop of Rome ſhould Lord it over Chriſtian Emperors, and over the Laws of God and Chriſt, and wear out the Saints of the Moſt High for 1260 Years; and is ſtill more improbable, that he ſhould ſay all this then to them, and here again bring the ſame thing to their Remembrance, and yet that not the leaſt intimation of any thing of this Nature ſhould appear in any Chriſtian Writers on this Subject, for ſix following Centuries: Since, I ſay, this is ſo, this Argument muſt be of equal Strength againſt thoſe who conceive the Papal Antichriſt ſhould primarily and chiefly be intended here.

§. 3. Arg. 3. Thirdly, I argue againſt this Opinion from thoſe Words, And then ſhall that wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Breath of his Mouth, &c. v. 8. For hence it ſeems plain, this wicked one was to be deſtroyed by the Coming of our Lord ſoon after the time of his Revelation, and not above a Thouſand Years after; as both the Opinion of thoſe Papiſts, who ſay that he is Mahomet, and of thoſe Proteſtants who ſay he is the Pope and his Clergy, muſt make the Interval betwixt his Revelation and Deſtruction be; for the ſame thing that hindered his Revelation, hindered the Coming of our Lord to deſtroy him thus revealed; and theſe two things ſeem to be thus connected: "The Day of the Lord will not come, till there come firſt an Apoſtacy, and by that a Revelation of the Man of Sin; When therefore this Apoſtacy, and this Revelation of the Man of Sin happens, then will Chriſt come to conſume him. And otherwiſe the Chriſtians of After-Ages might have been ſubject, from the Apoſtle's Words, to a like Miſtake to that here mentioned, ſeeing, to tell them they had no reaſon yet to expect this Day of the Lord, becauſe it was not to come till the Man of Sin was revealed, and to add, when that which hindered the Revelation of him in his Seaſon, was once taken away, then ſhould he alſo be revealed, whom the Lord ſhould conſume with the brightneſs of his coming, muſt fairly lead them to expect this Day ſoon after his Revelation, and not after he had been thus revealed above a Thouſand Years.

§. 4. Thoſe Arguments are ſuch as equally confute the Opinion of thoſe Proteſtants who conceive the Apoſtle primarily to characterize the Pope and his Clergy, and of thoſe who apply theſe Words to Mahomet.

Arg. 4. But Fourthly, I argue againſt them who ſuppoſe Mahomet to be the Man here intended, from theſe Words of the Apoſtle, That the Coming of this wicked one ſhall be according to the working of Satan in all Power, Signs, and lying Wonders, v. 9. for the Words δυνάμεις, σημεῖα, τέρατα, Powers, Signs, and Wonders, are never uſed in Scripture for any wonderful things done by God upon Men, or any Extaſies or Conferences of Angels with them, but always for outward Signs done by them upon other Things or Perſons; ſuch as were the healing of the Sick and Lame, the caſting out of Devils, the raiſing the Dead. See Note on Hebr. 2. 4. Now Mahomet every where profeſſeth that he came not with any ſuch Miracles, and therefore he could not be the Perſon here deſigned. For his Oppoſers demanded of him ſuch Miracles, ſaying, 'Moſes and Jeſus, according to thy own Doctrine, wrought Miracles to prove their Miſſion from God; and therefore if thou be a Prophet, and greater than any that were ever ſent before thee, as thou boaſteſt thy ſelf to be, do thou the like Miracles to manifeſt it to us; do thou make the Dead to riſe, the Dumb to ſpeak, the Deaf to hear, &c. and then we will believe in thy Word. This Objection, ſaith (a) Dr. Prideaux, he endeavoured to evade by ſeveral Anſwers: 'One while he tells them, He is only a Man ſent to preach to them the Rewards of Paradiſe, and the Puniſhments of Hell: At another time, That their Predeceſſors contemned the Miracles of Saleh and the other Prophets, and that for this Reaſon God would work no more among them: And a while after, That thoſe whom God had ordained to believe, ſhould believe without Miracles; and thoſe whom he had not ordained to believe, ſhould not be convinced, though all theſe Miracles ſhould be wrought in their ſight, which they required. But this not ſatisfying, as being a plain Confeſſion that he wanted that Power of Miracles, which all other Prophets had to prove their Miſſion, ſeveral of thoſe that were his Followers departed from him. Having therefore got the Sword into his Hand, and an Army to back his Cauſe, his Doctrine then was, that God had ſent Moſes and Jeſus with Miracles, and yet Men would not be obedient to their Word; and therefore he had now ſent him in the laſt Place without Miracles, to force them by the Power of the Sword to do his Will.

'However, ſays he, it is not to be denied, that there are ſeveral Miracles reckon'd up which Mahomet is ſaid to have wrought; as

‘ that he did cleave the Moon in two; that the Trees went forth to meet him; and that the Stones ſaluted him; which are the Miracles here mentioned by Mr. Walker. But then he adds, That ‘ they who relate them are only ſuch as are reckoned among their fabulous and legendary Writers; their learned Doctors renounce them all, as doth Mahomet himſelf, who in ſeveral Places of his Alchoran, owns that he wrought no Miracles.

§. 5. Againſt the Opinion of Grotius, that Caius Caligula was the Man of Sin, it is ſuperfluous to ſay much, it being grounded upon an Error in Chronology, that St. Paul writ this Epiſtle, A. D. 40. when Caius appeared; whereas 'tis certain from 1 Theſſ. 1. 5. that Paul had been at Theſſalonica before this Epiſtle was writ; for St. Paul went up to Jeruſalem, ſay the beſt Chronologers, A. D. 49. and it is evident that then he had not been at Theſſalonica, and ſo had writ no Epiſtle to them, it being writ after his entrance in to them, v. 9. after he had ſpoken to them the Goſpel of God, Chap. 2. 2. after he had been taken from them for a ſhort time, v. 17. Now that he had not been at Theſſalonica before his going up to the Council at Jeruſalem, appears from the Hiſtory of the Acts, which ſaith, that after this Council he went to Antioch, Chap. 15. 30. then through Syria and Cilicia, v. 41. then to Derbe and Lyſtra, Chap. 16. 1, 2. then through Phrygia, Galatia, and Myſia, and ſo to Troas, v. 6, 7, 8. then to Samothracia, Neapolis, and Philippi, v. 11, 12. and having paſſed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, he came to Theſſalonica, Chap. 17. 1. He therefore coming only thither Eight Years after the Death of Caius, and not writing this Epiſtle till after he had left them, could not then write of Caius as the Man of Sin to be yet revealed.

§. 6. I paſs on to the Interpretation of Dr. Hammond, which is this:

1. ‘ That the Man of Sin, the Son of Perdition, was Simon Magus, together with his Followers the Gnoſticks, deſigned for Deſtruction. Paraph. on v. 3.

2. ‘ That Simon Magus ſetting himſelf in the Head of them, Chriſt ſhould deſtroy him by extraordinary Means, the Preaching and the Miracles of St. Peter; and the Gnoſticks that adhered to him, at the Deſtruction of the unbelieving Jews. Paraph. on v. 8.

3. ‘ That the falling away firſt, muſt be a great Departure, or Defection from the Faith to the Hereſy of the Gnoſticks, or the Chriſtiaus breaking off their Compliance with the impenitent Jews, leaving them as obdurate, and departing avowedly to the Gentiles. Paraph. on v. 3.

4. ‘ That which withholdeth, and he that letteth, was the Apoſtles not giving over preaching to the Jews as hopeleſs and refractory, and going to the Gentiles. Paraph. on v. 6. and the Chriſtians walking warily, and doing nothing contrary to the Moſaical Law.

5. ‘ That the Myſtery already working was this ſort of Men already formed into a Sect under their Ring-leaders Simon and Carpocrates. Paraph. on v. 7.

Now againſt this Opinion I argue.

1. From the Day of the Lord here mentioned, v. 1, 2. for that indeed doth often ſignify in Scripture the Day of the Lord's Coming to the Deſtruction of the Temple, City, and Nation of the Jews, which, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, is the true Import of the Phraſe here; but it never ſignifies his Coming to deſtroy Simon Magus. Moreover, it's plain from the Eighth Verſe, that this Coming of the Lord is to deſtroy the Man of Sin, he being to be deſtroyed by the Brightneſs of his Coming; how then can this Day be the Time appointed for the Deſtruction of Simon Magus, who periſhed ſome Years before Chriſt's Coming to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem? For according to (b) Valeſius, Euſebius, and Symeon Metaphraſtes, Simon periſhed in the Reign of Claudius; he coming then to Rome, and St. Peter then alſo coming after him, to detect his Frauds: whence he well argues, that (c) it is not probable he ſhould long there inſult over the Chriſtian Faith, St. Peter being then preſent to oppoſe him. Now if this be true, he periſhed at the leaſt 16 Years before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and Chriſt came to deſtroy him within four Years after the writing this Epiſtle. If he periſhed, as others will have it, in the Fourth of Nero, he muſt die Twelve Years before Chriſt came to deſtroy Jeruſalem; or if he continued till the Twelfth of Nero, oppoſing Chriſtianity Twelve Years at Rome, under the very Noſe of the Two chief Apoſtles, which is not very probable, yet muſt he die four Years before Chriſt's Coming to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and therefore could not be deſtroyed by the Brightneſs of his Coming.

Muſt we then refer this only to the Deſtruction of his Followers the Gnoſticks? That they were then in Being, I could never yet ſee proved, and much leſs that any of them periſhed at the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem. I know the Doctor cites (d) Euſebius, as ſaying, that the Gnoſticks, θόγου δ' ἄπτον εἰς τὸ παντελὲς ἀπεσβήκασιν in a moment were utterly extinct; whereas it is manifeſt, Euſebius ſays this, not of the Gnoſticks, but the Nicolaitans; nor could he ſay it of them who flouriſhed chiefly in the Second Century: whence it is ſtiled Sæculum Gnoſticum: Moreover, It is a plain Flaw in this, or any like Interpretation, to make the Head of any Party, with his Followers, to be the Man of Sin to be conſumed by the Coming of our Lord; and yet to make the Antiſignanus periſh before his Coming, and his Followers only at it.

Add to this, that the whole Foundation of this Opinion depends upon the* (e) Tale of Simon Magus's flying in the Air at Rome, and his falling down and breaking his Bones, at the Prayer of (f) St. Peter; which is a thing not only uncertain, but, in the Judgment of many learned Perſons, abſolutely falſe. Cotelerius, a Romaniſt, is forced, ἐπέχειν, to ſuſpend his Judgment about it: 1. By reaſon of the Original of the Story, which, ſaith he, had its Riſe, è libris Apocryphis & Pſeudepigraphis, from (g) Apocryphal and Spurious Authors.

Some tell us, this was done in the Reign of Claudius; and others, that it was done in the Reign of Nero; ſome, that it was done by (q) Peter only; others, that it was done by (r) Peter and St. Paul; ſome, that it was done by (r) Prayer; and others, that they added Faſting to their Prayer: So little Agreement is there amongſt them in any Circumſtance of this Action. And that in the (x) Acts of the Apoſtles, he received a juſt Sentence, and worthy of himſelf, from the Apoſtle Peter, but addeth not one Word of what he ſuffered from St. Peter at Rome. (y) Origen proves, that there was οὐδ᾽ ἐν θεῖον, nothing Divine in Simon, from the Nature of his Doctrine, which made Idolatry a Thing indifferent; and from the Succeſs of it, it being in his time almoſt extinct, and that he periſhed with his Silver; but adds not a hint of his periſhing by the Prayers of the Apoſtles, which was the ſtrongeſt Proof againſt his Pretenſions that he was the Power of God. (z) Euſebius declares, how the Devil raiſed up Simon as the great Adverſary to the Apoſtles, and how the Divine Grace, by their Appearance and Preſence, extinguiſhed that Flame; and how the Providence of God ſent Peter after him to Rome, in the Days of Claudius, to ſet himſelf againſt him; and how he prevailed, by cauſing the Light of the Goſpel to ſhine there; but gives not the leaſt hint of his being thus overcome, or thrown down, by the Prayers of Peter. The Biſhops of Rome, who, ſaith Cotelerius, ſua tacere non ſolent, uſe not to be ſilent in Matters relating to themſelves, ſay nothing of it. It ſeems inconſiſtent, ſaith Valeſius, with that other Story, of Simon's being honoured at Rome as a God, by the Emperor, Senate, and the People, and the continuance of his Statue there in Juſtin Martyr's Days; which ſure it would not have done, had he been ſo remarkably defeated, or deſtroyed, before their Eyes. And laſtly, (b) St. Auſtin freely owns, that at Rome this Story was by moſt People deemed falſe. And is ſuch a Tale fit to be laid as the Foundation of the Interpretation of this Chapter?

§. 7. Arg. 2. This Opinion may alſo be confuted from thoſe Words, This Day ſhall not come, unleſs there be an Apoſtacy firſt, and the Man of Sin be revealed. For,

1. It is intolerable to think that Act, which was ſo neceſſary for the Promotion of the Goſpel among the Gentiles, viz. the not impoſing on them Circumciſion, and the Jewiſh Yoke, and the ceaſing to preach in the Synagogues of the Jews, was the Apoſtacy intended by the Apoſtle in theſe Words. The Zealots among the Jews might ſay of Paul, Thou teacheſt Apoſtacy from the Law of Moſes; for afterwards the (c) Ebionites rejected all his Epiſtles, ἀποστάτην ἀποκαλοῦντες αὐτὸν τοῦ νόμου, calling him an Apoſtate from the Law; but that St. Paul himſelf, ſpeaking to the Gentiles, ſhould call this his own Practice an Apoſtacy, is incredible.

Moreover, What Advantage would it do them in this Matter, to tell them of an Apoſtacy which had happened before their Converſion, Acts 13. 46. Lo, we turn unto the Gentiles, for ſo hath the Lord commanded us, and happened again about the Time of Writing this Epiſtle, Acts 19. 9. and finally ſaith the Doctor, was compleated when St. Paul came to Rome, about five or ſeven Years after, at the moſt? Might not the Coming of the Lord be at hand, though an Apoſtacy, ſo near to be compleated, were to go before it? See Jam. 5. 8, 9. 1 Pet. 4. 7.

2dly, As for the Apoſtacy of a conſiderable part of Chriſtians to the abominable Impiety of the Gnoſticks, I have all along, in the Interpretation of theſe Epiſtles, conſidered that, and find no reaſon to aſſert it, nor any thing that favours it, till we come to 2 Pet. 2. 20, 21. 'Tis true indeed, as (d) Juſtin Martyr and Euſebius teſtifie, that moſt of the Samaritans worſhipped Simon as the chief God; but ὀλίγοι ἐν ἄλλοις ἔθνεσιν, few in other Nations, ſay they, did it; but that one ſingle Perſon fell off from Chriſtianity to him, they ſay not.

(d) Juſt. Mart. Ap. 2. p. 69. E.

(e) Euſebius is expreſs, that neither the Hereſy of Simon Magus, nor of others, had any Prevalency in the Times of the Apoſtles. The great Apoſtacy, which, after the Writing this Epiſtle, firſt appeared, and againſt which the Catholick Epiſtles of St. James, Peter, and St. John, and eſpecially the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, was written, was that of the converted Jews to Judaiſm again; and to this Dr. Lightfoot probably refers the Apoſtacy here mentioned; our Lord having foretold, that the Devil, once caſt out of them by the Goſpel, ſhould return to them with ſeven more Evil Spirits than himſelf; and concluding that Parable with thoſe Words, ſo ſhall it be with this preſent Generation, Matth. 12. 43, 44, 45. Which Opinion is well conſiſtent with my Interpretation of this Chapter, and may be embraced by them who like not my Notion of this Apoſtacy.

2dly, This Man of Sin was yet to be revealed, v. 3. and there was yet a Seaſon to come, in which he was to be revealed, v. 6. 8. Whereas, by the Confeſſion of Dr. Hammond, Simon Magus was revealed as an Oppoſer of Chriſt, and an Ἀντίπαλος, or Antagoniſt to the Apoſtles long before: For he ſaith, that (f) being denied the Power of working Miracles, which he would have bought of the Apoſtles, ſoon after he ſet up, and oppoſed himſelf againſt Chriſt; and accordingly is here called, ὁ Ἀντικείμενος, the Adverſary, or, he that oppoſeth himſelf. Now the Time when he would have bought of them this Power of working of Miracles, was A. D. 35; that is, fourteen Years before St. Paul wrote this Epiſtle; if then ſoon after he ſet up, and oppoſed himſelf againſt Chriſt, he muſt diſcover himſelf ſoon after the Year 35, and ſo before the Writing this Epiſtle. He adds in the ſame Note, That Simon Magus came to Rome in the beginning of Claudius's Reign, and there did ſuch Miracles by the help of the Devils, that he was taken for a God, and accordingly had a Statue erected to him, with this Inſcription, Simoni Deo Sancto. Euſebius there adds, That the Devil had ſet him up as the Great and Equal Antagoniſt of the Divine Apoſtles. (g) St. Jerom alſo ſaith, That in the Second Year of Claudius, St. Peter came to Rome to oppoſe him. He therefore who was then ſet up as the great Adverſary of the Apoſtles, and as ſuch oppoſed by them, in the Second Year of Claudius, that is, A. D. 42. muſt be diſcovered then, that is, nine Years before the Writing this Epiſtle. Euſebius there adds, That the Flame he had there raiſed, by the Appearance and Preſence of the Apoſtles, i. e. of Peter, as the Words following ſhew, ἣ τάχος ἐσβέννυ, was ſoon extinguiſhed; which ſeems to prove, that Simon Magus's Oppoſition to Chriſt, was not only diſcovered, but even extinguiſhed with his Perſon before the Writing this Epiſtle. And indeed Irenæus, and almoſt all the Ancients agree in this, with Dr. Hammond, that Simon Magus having ſuffered this Repulſe from Peter at Samaria, began (h) to ſearch ſtill more into the Depths of Magick, that he might be more able to contend with the Apoſtles; and that by this means he aſtoniſhed many, was honoured by Claudius with a Statue, and glorified by many as a God. He ſoon returned, ſaith Theodoret, to his former Arts. Now, can we think that a Man, who deſigned to be reckoned μέγας τις, ſome great one, and to ſeem glorious in the World, ſhould purſue that Deſign, by hiding, and not diſcovering himſelf about fifteen Years?

In a Word, It cannot reaſonably be thought that almoſt all Samaria ſhould worſhip him; that he ſhould be honoured in the Days of Claudius as a God at Rome, by the Emperor, the Senate, and the People; and that the Devil ſhould ſet him up as the great Adverſary of the Apoſtles long before this Time; and that the Seaſon of his being revealed, ſhould be yet to come.

§. 8. Arg. 3. 3dly, I argue againſt this Opinion, from theſe Words, He ſitteth in the Temple of God, v. 4. for whether we interpret this of the Temple of Jeruſalem, or of the Church of God, which are all the Interpretations known to the ancient Fathers, or applied by them to theſe Words, it is certain that neither Simon Magus, nor his Followers, ſat in any of them. The (k) Doctor therefore is forced to ſay, this agrees to Simon, as being worſhipped at Samaria, in thoſe Places which had been ſet apart to the Worſhip of the True God, they worſhipping him there, θυμιάμασι καὶ θυσίαις, καὶ σπονδαῖς, with all ſorts of Sacrifices. But would St. Paul ſtyle the Samaritan Temple, had it been then ſtanding, as it was not, the Temple of God? Would he have done this, after our Lord's Declaration made againſt them, that they worſhipped they knew not what? The Truth is, that the Temple built upon their holy Mountain was long before deſtroyed by Hircanus; and that which Herod built them, they regarded not, as ſtanding not upon that Mountain. Where therefore was the Temple in which they offered all kind of Sacrifices to this Magician? Indeed, the Doctor uſeth too much Artifice, in thus connecting theſe things; for that almoſt all the Samaritans did worſhip Simon Magus as the firſt or principal God, Euſebius doth ſay from Juſtin Martyr, Hiſt. Eccl. 2. 13. but that they then worſhipped him with any kind of Sacrifices, he doth not ſay: but only, that ſome of his Followers, who (l) pretended to embrace the Chriſtian Religion, (which Simon Magus then profeſſedly oppoſed,) fell back to the Worſhip of Dæmons, and had got Images of Simon and Helen, which they thus worſhipped with Sacrifices.

§. 9. Arg. 4. Remember you not, ſaith the Apoſtle, that I told you of theſe things? Now is it probable, that in the ſhort time he ſtayed with them, he ſhould tell them how Simon Magus ſat in the Temple of God, and that Chriſt's Coming was to deſtroy him; and that ſo ſoon as St. Paul ſhould leave off Preaching in the Jewiſh Synagogues, Simon Magus and his Followers would be revealed? Credat Judæus Apella: For the Myſtery of Iniquity doth already work, v. 7. that is, ſaith Dr. H. This ſort of Men are already formed into a Sect, under their Ring-leaders, Simon and Carpocrates. Wonderful! that Carpocrates, who, ſay (m) Clemens of Alexandria, Euſebius, and Theodoret, appeared only in the Time of Hadrian, that is, A. D. 107. at the ſooneſt, ſhould be the Ring-leaders of a Sect, at the Writing of this Epiſtle, that is, at leaſt 56 Years before he began his Hereſy.

It follows, v. 8. And then ſhall that wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the ſpirit of his mouth, &c. that is, ſaith Dr. Hammond, then immediately ſhall ye ſee the Sect of the Gnoſticks ſhew itſelf, join with, and ſtir up the Jews, and bring heavy Perſecutions upon the Chriſtians; and having this Opportunity to calumniate them to the Jews, behave themſelves as their profeſſed Oppoſers. And Simon Magus ſhall ſet himſelf forth in the Head of them, whom, as a profeſs'd Enemy of Chriſt, Chriſt ſhall deſtroy, by extraordinary Means, by the Preaching and Miracles of St. Peter; and for all the Apoſtatizing Gnoſticks that adhere to him, they ſhall be involved in the Deſtruction of the unbelieving Jews, with whom they have joined againſt the Chriſtians. In which long Paraphraſe there is nothing certain, and nothing which can be confirmed, either from Scripture, or Antiquity. That there were then any Gnoſticks in being; that they ever then did, or were in a capacity to perſecute the Chriſtians; that any ſingle Perſon of them periſhed, at the fatal Time of the Deſtruction of the unbelieving Jews, I never yet ſaw proved. That Simon Magus ſhould ſet himſelf in the Head of theſe Gnoſticks, or of any other of his Followers, who was extinct before they bore that Name, 'tis not credible. That his Followers, who pretended that Simon himſelf was the chief, or principal God; who worſhipped him, and the very Images of Simon and Helena, with all kind of Sacrifices; who held, the Law and Prophets were not to be regarded, ſhould ingratiate themſelves, and join with the Jews, is ſtill more incredible. And laſtly, That Simon Magus periſhed by the Miracles of St. Peter, I have ſhewed to be improbable. And this I think ſufficient to be offered againſt this Interpretation.

§. 10. I ſhould proceed to thoſe Conſiderations which ſeem to lie againſt that Opinion, which holds, that the Apoſtle primarily intends the Papal Antichriſt; but I have already done this, both in this Preface, and in the following Annotations; and therefore ſhall at preſent only add, That this Man of Sin is to ſit in the Temple of God, and probably to do it then when the Apoſtle writ; for he gives it as a Character, by which the Theſſalonians, to whom he writ, might know him, and then he could be no other than the Jewiſh Doctors. Moreover, this Temple of God, muſt either be the Temple of God, properly ſo called, which was deſtroyed by Titus, A. D. 70. and then again, The Man of Sin, who was to ſit in it, muſt denote the ſame Perſons; or, as ſome of the moſt ancient Fathers, (n) Irenæus, (o) Hippolytus, (p) St. Cyril, and (q) St. Ambroſe thought, either the Ruins of that Temple, or another to be built by Antichriſt in behalf of the Jews; and then as it is not reaſonable to think the Apoſtle would abſolutely ſtyle that the Temple of God, which had never been ſo, and which was only built by one who magnified himſelf againſt, and openly blaſphemed the True God; ſo is it more unreaſonable to think the Pope and his Clergy ſhould ſit in it. They therefore who think that they are here eſpecially intended, embrace the Sentiments of the Fathers of the fifth and the following Centuries, viz. of (r) Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, St. Auſtin, and St. Jerom, that by the Temple of God, we are to underſtand the Chriſtian Church. But this Interpretation is liable to this Objection, That 'tis not reaſonable to conceive the Holy Spirit, without any mark of diſtinction, would give that name to the Apoſtate Church, in which the Beaſt and the falſe Prophet did preſide, ſhe being by the ſame Spirit, when he ſpeaks more unqueſtionably of her, ſtill repreſented as Spiritual Sodom and Ægypt, Myſtical Babylon, and the Mother of Fornications and Abominations, Rev. 11. 8. 17, 5. Hence (ſ) Bellarmine makes this Inference from the Interpretation of the Proteſtants, That, if it be true, the Roman Church, in which the Pope preſides, muſt be the Church of God. To this our Writers anſwer, That this Name was given to the Church of Rome, becauſe ſhe once was ſo. But when was that? Was it not before the Man of Sin ſate in her, and exalted himſelf above God and Chriſt? And can he properly be ſaid to ſit in the Church of God, who whilſt he ſitteth in it, is not the Man of Sin, nor does thoſe things which belong to him; and when he is the Man of Sin, ſitteth no longer in the Church of God, but in Spiritual Ægypt, the Oppreſſor of God's People, in Myſtical Babylon, the Mother of Idolatry, and the great Enemy of the Church of God, and in the Synagogue of Satan?

But that I may not wholly differ from my Brethren in this matter, I grant theſe Words may in a ſecondary ſenſe, be attributed to the Papal Antichriſt, or Man of Sin, and may be ſignally fulfilled in him, in the Deſtruction of him by the Spirit of Chriſt's Mouth, he being the Succeſſor to the Apoſtate Jewiſh Church, to whom theſe Characters agree, as well as to her; and therefore in the Annotations I have ſtill given a place to this Interpretation alſo.

§. 11. Laſtly, As for the Objections which may be raiſed againſt the ſenſe which I have put upon theſe words, I have already anſwered moſt of them in the Annotations, only two ſtill remain to be more fully anſwered, viz.

Object. 1. That all the Fathers and ancient Interpreters, ſeem not only ſilent as to this import of theſe words; but generally ſeem to refer the τὸ κατέχον, that which with-held this Revelation of the Man of Sin, to the Roman Empire.

Anſw. To this I anſwer (1.) That this Objection may be retorted upon all the other Opinions with equal ſtrength; for what is there ſaid by any of the Fathers or Eccleſiaſtical Writers for ſix hundred years, whence it may be concluded that either Mahomet, or the Pope of Rome, were the Man of Sin here mentioned? What hint hath any Commentator, Greek or Latin, in his Notes upon this Chapter, for a thouſand years, given, that the Pope and his Clergy were the Perſons here intended?

If it be here replied, That they do conſequentially overthrow this Opinion, by making the Roman Empire to be the τὸ κατέχον, that which with-held: I anſwer, That they more fully overthrow the Opinion which ſaith, the Papal Government is Antichriſt, or the Man of Sin.

1. By ſaying that (t) Antichriſt was coming, and at hand, long before the Appearance of the little Horn, which ſprung up only from the Ruins of the Roman Empire, which happened A. D. 475.

2dly, By teaching, ſo generally as they did, that Antichriſt being once revealed, was to continue not 1260 Years, but only three Years and an half. See Note on v. 8.

3dly, That he was to be of the Jewiſh Extract, one (u) of the Tribe of Dan, who was alſo to be Circumciſed. And,

4thly, That he ſhould be an Enemy to (x) Idolatry and Image-Worſhip, as Irenæus, Hippolytus, Cyrillus Hieroſ. St. Chryſoſtom, and Theodoret ſay.

In a Word, they generally held, as I have ſhewed, Note on v. 10. that Antichriſt was to come with Signs and Wonders to deceive the Jews, that they might be puniſhed for their Infidelity. All which Things muſt be manifeſtly inconſiſtent with the common Notion, that the Pope's Hierarchy muſt be the Man of Sin here primarily intended by St. Paul.

3dly, I anſwer, that though the Fathers do not expreſly ſay, the Jewiſh Nation was the Man of Sin which the Apoſtle here intended; yet many of them have ſaid thoſe things on which this our Interpretation doth depend; as v. g. that this Man of Sin was to be of Jewiſh Extract, that he was to ſit in the Temple of Jeruſalem, and that he was to come chiefly to deceive the unbelieving Jews, that ſo they might be puniſhed for their Infidelity. And,

Laſtly, As to the τὸ κατέχον, or rather ὁ κατέχων, he that letteth, I only in this differ from them, that whereas they refer this to the Roman Empire, I do refer it to a Roman Emperor; and as ſome of them held that (y) Nero was this Antichriſt, and Man of Sin, and others, that he was (z) Domitian; ſo do I hold that Claudius, the Predeceſſor of that Nero, was the Perſon that with-held.

§. 12. Object. 2. It farther is objected, That the Jews were long before revealed to be the great Oppoſers of Chriſtianity, and the Scribes and Phariſees had long ſat in the Temple of God; wherefore the Revelation of the Man of Sin, being only to take place for ſome conſiderable time after the writing of this Epiſtle, the Jewiſh Nation cannot be reaſonably deemed the Man of Sin.

Anſw. I have already anſwer'd this Objection in the Paraphraſe, by ſhewing that theſe are the Deſcriptions of the Man of Sin, by which the Theſſalonians, and others, might then know him; and that they were all ſpoken in the Preſent Tenſe; ſhewing what he already did, and that he was yet more fully to be revealed, either by his actual Apoſtacy from the Roman Government, which happen'd in the Twelfth of Nero, or by the great Apoſtacy of the Believers of that Nation from the Faith.

2dly, I add, That the Jewiſh Nation not only had a great Opinion of their Dearneſs to the God of Heaven, but were alſo look'd upon by their Proſelytes and others, as God's peculiar and beloved People; and therefore ſuch a Change of Providence as made it appear to all Men, they were become the Generation of his Wrath, muſt alſo be a Revelation of them as the greateſt of Sinners. And ſince this came upon them after they had rejected our Meſſiah, and crucified the Lord of Life, it muſt be a diſcovery that they became Sons of Perdition upon this account; and in this ſenſe the removing that which letted, muſt make way for the Revelation of that Wicked one whom the Lord would conſume with the breath of his Mouth. As then the Roman Church, though ſhe is thought by us to be the Antichriſt here ſpoken of, and the Beaſt mentioned in the Revelations, is yet by many other Chriſtian Churches in the Weſt, thought to be the true Catholick Church of Chriſt, and her Biſhop to be the Vicar of Chriſt, the Succeſſor of Peter, and the Head of the Univerſal Church, and ſo will only be revealed to them to be what we now deem her, when ſhe ſhall go into Deſtruction and be deſtroyed by the Sword of Chriſt, and by the breath of his Mouth; ſo was the Church of Jeruſalem then only fully revealed to Jew and Gentile, and to the Judaizing Chriſtians, to be not what they did erroneouſly think her, but what the Apoſtle here doth repreſent her, when our Lord did thus conſume her by the breath of his Mouth, and God ſo ſignally demonſtrated ſhe was a Veſſel of his Wrath fitted for Deſtruction.

This Epiſtle ſeems to be written ſoon after the firſt, and as Biſhop Pearſon probably conjectures, in the ſame Year, Sylvanus and Timotheus being ſtill with him when he writ it, as they were at the writing of the firſt Epiſtle, 2 Theſſ. 1. 1. Now St. Paul ſtaid at Corinth only a Year and ſix Months, Acts 18. 11. and there he had preached a conſiderable time every Sabbath-day, before they came to him, Acts 18. 45. and ſo before he writ his firſt Epiſtle, it being written after that Timothy was come to him, 1 Theſſ. 3. 6. and they ſeem to be gone from him before he left Corinth, to go to Syria, for then he had only with him Priſcilla and Aquila, Acts 18. 18. ſo that the Interval betwixt theſe two Epiſtles could not be above a Year.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. PAUL and Sylvanus and Timotheus [write] to the church of the Theſſalonians [ eſtabliſhed ] in [ the Knowledge and Worſhip of ] God the Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

2. [Wiſhing] Grace to you, and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

3. We are bound to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet [for us to do] becauſe that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the charity of every one of you all towards each other aboundeth.

4. So that we our ſelves glory in you [or boaſt of you] in the churches of God, for your patience, and [for your] faith [which produceth this Patience] in all your perſecutions, and tribulations which you endure.

5. Which [Diſpenſation of Divine Wiſdom appointing you to ſuffer, 1 Theſſ. 3. 3. and permitting others thus to perſecute you.] is a manifeſt token of the [a] righteous judgment of God, [theſe Sufferings befalling you] that you may be accounted worthy of the [Celeſtial] kingdom of God, for which ye alſo ſuffer, [and ſo are in aſſurance of a Day when God will thus reward you.]

6. Seeing it is a righteous thing with [that] God [to whom belongeth Recompence, Rom. 12. 19. and who will avenge his Elect that cry unto him day and night, Luke 18. 7.] to recompenſe tribulation to them that trouble you.

7. And to you who are troubled [as we are] reſt with us, [which Reſt we both completely ſhall enjoy] when the Lord Jeſus ſhall be revealed from heaven [attended] with his mighty angels, [as he ſhall be at the laſt day, 1 Theſſ. 4. 16. when he will come to give every one according to his Works, Matth. 16. 27. Mark 8. 38. and gather all the Nations of the World before him, Matth. 25. 32. Jude 14, 15.]

8. [When he ſhall come, I ſay,] in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them [among the Heathens] who know not God, and [of thoſe Jews and Gentiles] who [having heard] obey not the Goſpel of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

9. Who ſhall be puniſhed with everlaſting deſtruction from the preſence of the Lord, [from whoſe bliſsful Preſence they ſhall for ever be excluded, Matth. 25. 41, 46.] and [ſhall find that Deſtruction inflicted on them] [b] by the glory of his power, [that being the time when God will make known his Power, on the Veſſels of Wrath fitted for Deſtruction, Rom. 1. 23.]

10. [And it is alſo a righteous thing with him, then to recompenſe to you eternal reſt,] when he ſhall come to be glorified in [his dealings with] his Saints, and to be admired [for his great Love] in [and by] all them that believe, [and particularly by you] becauſe our teſtimony among you was believed in that day.

11. Wherefore alſo we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy [ἀξιώσῃ τῆς κλήσεως, would make you worthy, v. 5.] of this calling [to his Kingdom and Glory,] and fulfil all the good pleaſure of his goodneſs [in you] and the work of faith with power.

12. That the name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt may be glorified in you, [by your continuance in your Faith,] and ye in him, [or by him,] according to the grace of our God, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [by which you are enabled to continue in the Faith, and fulfil the good pleaſure of his Will.]

Annotations on Chap. I.

Verſe 2. GRace and Peace from God the Father, καὶ κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt] Becauſe he ſaith not by our Lord, but, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, hence Theodoret pleads for an Equality in Power, and by conſequence in Eſſence, of the Father, and the Son.

Ver. 5. Τῆς δικαίας κρίσεως, of the righteous Judgment of God, &c.] This place, ſaith (a) Eſthius, proves againſt the Hereticks, that Life Eternal is not ſo to be aſcribed to the Grace of God, as not to be attributed alſo to the Worth and Merits of Men, proceeding from the Grace of God.

But the true import of theſe words will be ſufficiently contained in theſe following Particulars:

1. That the Juſtice of God obligeth him to recompenſe the Obedience and Sufferings of his faithful Servants, either in this, or in the World to come; ſince were it otherwiſe, we could have no ſufficient Motive to Perſeverance in Obedience to him, or Suffering for his ſake; and therefore this, by the Apoſtle, is laid as the foundation of all the Service which we pay unto him, even the firm Belief that God is, and that he is a Rewarder of them that diligently ſeek him, Heb. 11. 6.

2*dly*, That ſince God doth not, and according to the nature of the thing, he cannot recompenſe them in this Life, who ſuffer all Calamities and Loſſes they can endure here, and even Death itſelf for his ſake, his Juſtice will oblige him to do it in the next. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith of himſelf, and all his Fellow-ſufferers, If in this Life only we have Hope in Chriſt, we are of all Men the moſt miſerable, 1 Cor. 15. 19. and puts the Queſtion thus, If the Dead riſe not at all——why ſtand we in jeopardy every hour? v. 29, 30. But

3*dly*, That this Reward ſhould be for kind ſo excellent, as is the Beatifick Viſion, the being Heirs of God, Joint-heirs with Chriſt, the being like to him in Glory; and for duration ſhould be eternal; can never be on the account of that ſtrict Juſtice which rendereth to every one his due, ſeeing there can be no Proportion betwixt a finite Action or Paſſion, and an infinite Reward; and therefore the ſame Apoſtle who ſaith here, ἀξιωθῆναι ἡμᾶς, we for theſe Sufferings are accounted worthy of this Kingdom, doth elſewhere poſitively declare the Sufferings of this preſent Life, οὐκ ἄξια, not worthy of the Glory which ſhall hereafter be revealed, Rom. 8. 18. Nor can the Grace of God, vouchſafed to enable us thus to perſeverance in Sufferings, enhance the Merit of thoſe Sufferings, or make the Reward in Juſtice due unto us; ſince if it be of Grace that we thus ſuffer, then it is not of Debt that we are thus rewarded; God being not in ſtrict Juſtice obliged to reward his own free Gifts and Graces he confers upon us. But,

4*thly*, Even this eternal Recompence being promiſed to thoſe who ſuffer for the ſake of Chriſt, by him who hath ſaid, Be thou faithful to the Death, and I will give thee a Crown of Life, Rev. 2. 10. and propounded as the chief Encouragement, thus to endure with Patience to the end, Mat. 5. 12. it may be ſaid, by virtue of that Promiſe to be in juſtice due to them who do thus ſuffer for it, it being a part of Juſtice to perform our Promiſes, and be faithful to our Words. This therefore is a faithful Saying, If we ſuffer with him, if we endure, we ſhall live, and reign with him, 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12. And we may reſt aſſured, That God the righteous Judge will give this Crown of Righteouſneſs to us at that day, 2 Tim. 4. 8. that being approved, we ſhall receive that Crown of Life which the Lord hath promiſed to them that love him, James 1. 12. But then God being not obliged in ſtrict Juſtice to promiſe ſo great a Recompence, he cannot be ſaid to confer it, ex dignitate, merito, aut æqualitate rei, by reaſon of the Dignity or Worth of theſe our Sufferings, or becauſe the Reward is only equal to the Merit of them, but only, ex juſtitia pacti, becauſe his Promiſe hath made it juſt and equal for him ſo to do.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. NOW we beſeech you, Brethren, a by [or concerning] [a] the coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and by our gathering together to him, [mention'd
Mat. 24. 31.]
2. That ye be not ſoon ſhaken in mind, [ἀπὸ τοῦ νοὸς, from the Sentence you formerly received from me,] or be troubled, neither by ſpirit, [i. e. by any pretended Revelation,] nor by word, [ſpoken by us, and by others miſunderſtood, 2 Pet. 3. 15, 16.] nor by letter, as from us, [i. e. by any thing contained in our

b as [to conceive] that the day of Chriſt [b] is at hand.
3. Let no man deceive you [by theſe Pretences] by any means, for that day ſhall not c come, except there come [c] a falling away firſt [of the Jews from the Roman Empire, or from the Faith,] and [by that means] the d [d] Man of Sin be revealed, [who is] the Son of Perdition.
e 4. Who [e] oppoſeth [himſelf now to the Chriſtian
f Church,] and [f] exalteth himſelf above all that is called God, or that is worſhipped [Gr. ἢ σέϐασμα, or worſhip;] ſo that he, as g God, [g] ſitteth in the Temple of God, ſhewing himſelf that he is God.
5. Remember ye not, that when I was yet
h with you, [h] I told you [of] theſe things, [viz. of the Man of Sin to be revealed, and of theſe Characters of him.]
i 6. And now ye know [i] what with holdeth, k that he might be revealed [k] in his time.
l 7. For the [l] myſtery of iniquity doth already work, [i. e. the Jews are already

there is that with-holdeth as yet, and will continue n ſo to do,] [n] until he [or it] be taken out of the way.
o 8. And then ſhall [o] that wicked one be p q [p] revealed, whom the Lord ſhall [q] conſume with the ſpirit [or breath] of his mouth, and ſhall [r] deſtroy with the brightneſs of his r coming.
9. Even him whoſe coming is after the working of Satan, with [ſ] all power, and ſ

10. And with all deceivableneſs of unrighteouſneſs in them that periſh, [t] becauſe t they received not the love of the truth, that they might be ſaved.
11. And for this cauſe, [u] God ſhall ſend u [among] them ſtrong deluſions, [which will

13. But we are bound to give thanks always to God, for you Brethren, beloved of the Lord; becauſe God hath from the beginning [of our preaching to you, ſhew'd,
1 Theſ. 1. 4, 5. that he had] choſen you to ſalvation, through ſanctification of the Spirit, [which gives the earneſt of it, and makes us meet for it,] and belief of the Truth, [which promiſeth it.]
14. [x] Whereunto [i. e. to which Faith, and x Sanctification,] he hath called you, by [the Preaching of] our Goſpel, [y] to the obtaining y of the glory, [Gr. to the glorious ſalvation] of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.
15. Therefore, Brethren, ſtand faſt [in the Faith,] and [z] hold the traditions which z
you have been taught, whether by Word, [v. 5, 6.] or [by this] our Epiſtle.
16. Now our Lord Jeſus Chriſt himſelf, and God even our Father, [through him] who hath loved us, and hath given us everlaſting conſolation, and good hope, through Grace;
17. Comfort your hearts, and ſtabliſh you in every good word and work.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. Ὑπὲρ τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ Κυρίου, By the coming of the Lord.] That ὑπὲρ, with a Genitive Caſe, ſignifies de, or circa, about, or concerning, cannot be doubted. It is rendered concerning, Rom. 9. 27. See 2 Cor. 12. 5, 8. It is thrice rendered of, in the ſame import, as 2 Cor. 1. 7. Our hope, ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν, of you is certain; chap. 8. 23. Whether any enquire, ὑπὲρ Τίτου, of Titus; and v. 24. our boaſting, ὑπὲρ ὑμῶν, i. e. concerning you, Phil. 1. 7. It is meet for me to think thus, ὑπὲρ πάντων ὑμῶν, of you all. Hence Phavorinus ſaith 'tis uſed, ὁμοίως τῇ περί. See 2 Cor. 7. 5. and 9. 3.

The Coming of Chriſt, is, by the Reverend Dr. Hammond, referred to Chriſt's Coming to deſtroy the Unbelieving Jews, and throw down their Temple, and their Worſhip which depended on it. This is the παρουσία τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, the coming of Chriſt, or of the Son of Man, ſo often mentioned in our Lord's Prediction of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and of the Temple, Mat. 24. 3, 27, 37, 39. This is moſt certainly the Import of the Phraſe in St. James twice, when he exhorts the Brethren to be patient, ἕως τῆς παρουσίας τοῦ Κυρίου, till the Coming of the Lord; adding, that this παρουσία τοῦ Κυρίου, Coming of our Lord was at hand, and the Judge ſtood before the door, James 5. 7, 8, 9.

As for the Phraſe, Our gathering together to him, it ſeems parallel to the Words of Chriſt, Mat. 24. 31. ἐπισυνάξουσι τοὺς ἐκλεκτοὺς αὐτοῦ, his Angels ſhall then gather his Elect. And to apply it to the Theſſalonians, let it be noted, that they were partly Converts of the Jews, and Proſelytes. For the Converts made by St. Paul's Preaching to them, were of the Believing Jews, and the devout Greeks, Acts 17. 4. who, in expectation of our Lord's Prediction, as well as from their Obſervation of the Jewiſh Feſtivals, might be enclined to go up to Jeruſalem. Moreover, till the Writing of this Epiſtle, if not long after, even till the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, the Jewiſh Converts kept up their Synagogue-Worſhip; and many Proſelytes, and other Chriſtians, did not ſcruple to aſſemble with them; the Jewiſh Converts thought themſelves obliged to do it, they being all zealous of the Law, Acts 21. 20. and many of the Gentile Chriſtians complied with it at Corinth, Galatia, and Philippi; but after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, there was an end of this Synagogue-Worſhip, the Day having revealed that God was no longer pleaſed with it, and then they met together ſtill as Churches of Chriſt; and this might be their ἐπισυναγωγὴ πρὸς αὐτόν, the gathering together to him, here ſpoken of.

But yet, conſidering that this παρουσία, or Coming of Chriſt, in the former Epiſtle, is uſed four times, with relation to Chriſt's Coming at the Day of Judgment, viz. Chap. 2. 19. and 3. 13. and 4. 15. and 5. 23. it may be thought more reaſonable to refer this Paſſage to the ſame Advent, and paraphraſe it thus; I beſeech you Brethren, by (the Bleſſing you expect at) the coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and at our gathering together to him.

Ver. 2. Ἐνέστηκε, is, or, hath been inſtant.] b To conceive that ſignal Day of the Deſtruction of their Enemies the Jews, and the Deliverance of the Chriſtians, mention'd, Joel 2. 31, 32. Mal. 4. 1, 2. come; and find themſelves deceived in that Conception, might cauſe great Trouble to them, and even ſhake their Stedfaſtneſs in the Faith.

Ver. 3. Ἀποστασία πρῶτον, a falling away firſt.] c The Rebellion of the Jews againſt the Chaldeans, was always ſtyled Apoſtacy, and the Jews, upon that account, Apoſtates. So Jeruſalem is repreſented as πόλις ἀποστάτις. a City that rebelled againſt Kings; and in which ἀποστάσεις γίνονται, Rebellions were found, Ezra 4. 12, 15, 19. Thus Ezra 3. 2, 18, 22. they are ſtyled Ἰουδαῖοι ἀποστάται, rebellious Jews; and v. 27. it is ſaid, that they were given to Rebellion and War. See Nehem. 2. 19. and 6. 6. 1 Mac. 13. 16. 2 Mac. 5. 11. And in like manner, their Revolt from the Roman Government, is by Joſephus generally expreſſed by the ſame word, (a) Coming from Rome, ſaith he, in the Time of Nero, when Felix was Procurator of Judea, I found then the Beginnings of Innovations, καὶ πολλοὺς ἐπὶ τῇ Ῥωμαίων ἀποστάσει μέγα φρονοῦντας, and many much addicted to Apoſtacy from the Roman Government. (b) One Juſtus, ſaith he, provoked the People, εἰς ἀποστασίαν, to Rebellion; but John the Son of Levi, ſeeing ſome of them, διὰ τὴν ἀποστασίαν τὴν ἀπὸ Ῥωμαίων μέγα φρονοῦντας, prone to Apoſtacy from the Roman Government, endeavoured to keep them to their Duty.

But if any like not this Notion of Apoſtacy, they may underſtand theſe words, of the great Apoſtacy of the Jews, foretold by Chriſt, Mat. 24. 11, 12. and which happened not only in Judea, and Paleſtine, but throughout Aſia, 2 Tim. 1. 15. and in all other Places where they had embraced the Goſpel. Of which Apoſtacy, note.

(b) P. 1001. B.

1ſt, That when the Apoſtle writ this Epiſtle, it was yet to come; for tho' the Myſtery of Iniquity was already working, in the Seductions of the falſe Apoſtles, and deceitful Workers of the Jewiſh Nation, endeavouring to corrupt the Minds of the Gentile Converts, from the ſimplicity that was in Chriſt, 2 Cor. 11. 3. and to bring them into bondage to the Jewiſh Law, Gal. 2. 4. and ſo deprive them of that Liberty wherewith Chriſt had made them free; yet the greater Defection of the Jewiſh Converts to their old Judaiſm, ſeems to have had its Riſe about ten Years after the Writing this Epiſtle. For it is certain, that A. D. 63. when the Apoſtle writ the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, it was begun already, and many of the Jewiſh Converts then were in great Danger of falling back unto Perdition, as appears from the vehement Admonitions and Exhortations of the Apoſtle to them, to beware leſt there ſhould be in any of them an evil Heart of unbelief in departing from the living God; and to exhort one another daily to this ſtedfaſtneſs, as knowing we are only partakers of Chriſt, if we hold the beginning of our Confidence firm to the End, chap. 3. 12, 13, 14. To labour to enter into that Reſt Chriſt had prepared for them, leſt any Man fall, after the ſame Example of Unbelief, chap. 4. 11. Not to forſake the aſſembling of themſelves together, as the manner of ſome was, chap. 10. 25. Nor to caſt away their Confidence, v. 35. To lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble Knees, and make ſtraight Paths for their Feet, leſt that which is lame be turned out of the Way, and to look diligently leſt any Man fall from the Grace of God, chap. 12. 12, 13, 15. As alſo from the Repreſentation of the dreadful State of all who ſhould Apoſtatize after this manner, that 'twas impoſſible to renew them to Repentance, chap. 6. 46. That they were nigh to Curſing, and their End was to be burned, v. 8. That there was no more Sacrifice for their Sin, but a fearful looking for of Deſtruction, and fiery Indignation, chap. 10. 26, 27. and Vengeance from the living God, v. 30, 31. That it would certainly be a falling back to Perdition, v. 38, 39. That there would be no eſcaping for them who turned away from him who ſpake to them from Heaven, chap. 12. 25. The ſame we learn from the like Exhortations of St. James, to Joy and Patience under their Afflictions, chap. 1. 1, to the 12th; chap. 5. 7, to the 12th: Of St. Peter, 1 Pet. 3. 14, 15. chap. 4. 12, to the 19th; chap. 5. 8, 9, 10. And from St. John's frequent Exhortation, to hold to that which they had received from the Beginning, and to continue walking in the Truth. Now the Occaſions of this great Apoſtacy ſeem to have been theſe Three.

1ſt, Their Zeal for the Obſervation of the Law, which they conceived to be of Eternal Obligation, eſpecially to the Jews, to whom particularly it was given; and for the Covenant of Circumciſion, which they eſteemed highly meritorious: (See Note on Rom. 2. 13.) that which made them perfect, gave them Life, and delivered them from Hell, according to theſe Sayings of theirs, (c) He that is circumciſed, is perfect: He that is circumciſed, ſhall not go to Gehinnom: And I ſaid unto thee, in thy Blood, Live; Ezek. 6. 16. This is the Blood of the Circumciſion. This they endeavour to impoſe upon the Gentile Converts: And all the Myriads of Jewiſh Converts were all zealous for the Obſervation of it by the Jews, and looked upon it as downright Apoſtacy for them to forſake Moſes, and not to circumciſe their Children, and walk according to their Cuſtoms received from Moſes, or from their Traditions, ἀποστασίαν διδάσκεις ἀπὸ μωσέως, Acts 21. 21. And this ſeems to be the Reaſon why St. Paul, in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, diſcourſeth ſo largely of the Neceſſity of the Change of the Law, viz. That by eſtabliſhing that Truth, he might put a ſtop to the Apoſtacy occaſioned by their contrary Perſwaſion.

2dly, Their beloved Dream of a Temporal Kingdom to be erected by their Meſſiah at his Coming, the Halcyon Days that were then expected by them, and the Dominion they ſhould then have over the Nations, who were not, according to their Sentiments, to come in to the Meſſiah, otherwiſe than as their Slaves or Servants. How deeply this Imagination was fixed even in the Hearts of Chriſt's Apoſtles, we learn, as from many other things, ſo eſpecially from their Queſtion to him after his Reſurrection, Lord Wilt thou at this time reſtore the Kingdom unto Iſrael? Acts 1. 7. And becauſe our Lord gave this Anſwer to it, viz. It is not for you to know the times and ſeaſons which the Father hath put in his own hands; but ye ſhall receive Power, the Holy Spirit coming upon you, and ye ſhall be my Witneſſes in Jeruſalem, and all Judea, and Samaria, and to the ends of the Earth, v. 7. 8. They were prone to think, that at leaſt, after the Apoſtles had done this, they might expect our Lord ſhould come in the Clouds of Heaven, to ſet up this Kingdom; they therefore believed in him rather as a Temporal, than a Spiritual King; they own'd him rather as a true Prophet, to perſwade them to be righteous, than as a Saviour, to procure to them Remiſſion of Sins, and a New Covenant eſtabliſhed in his Blood. Hence Origen, ſpeaking of thoſe words of Chriſt, If I ſay the truth, why do you not believe? Which, he conceives, were ſpoken to thoſe Jews which believed, he ſaith, they might be ſaid to believe, in one ſenſe, and not to believe, in another. So, v. g. (d) They that believe in Jeſus Chriſt crucified in the Days of Pontius Pilate, but believe him not to be born of the Virgin Mary, (i. e. the Ebionites) believe in him, and do not believe in him. And again, (e) They who believe in Jeſus, who did in Judea the Signs and Wonders which were written of him, but believe him not to be the Son of that God who made Heaven and Earth, believe in him, and believe not in him; and this relateth to others of the Jews. And hence it ſeems to be, that the Apoſtle is ſo large in treating of the Sacerdotal Office of our Lord, and of the New Covenant eſtabliſhed in his Blood. Moreover, the Jews were generally poſſeſs'd with this Opinion, that (f) about that time their Meſſiah ſhould ſet up this Temporal Kingdom; and they generally expected, not a Meſſiah to ſuffer for their Sins, of whom they ſeem then to have had no Notion, John 12. 34. but a great King to ſubdue their Enemies under them. And this was their great Stumbling-block, that (g) our Jeſus appeared not to be ſuch a one; and this was the great thing that animated them to the War. When therefore the Goſpel had been preached to the World, and there was no appearance of Chriſt's Coming in the Clouds to be their King, and their Deliverer, but rather to deſtroy their Temple and their Nation, they began to fall off from him, as not anſwering their Expectation, or the Predictions of their Prophets, and to give ear to their Falſe Prophets, ſaying to them, Lo, here is Chriſt, and there is Chriſt, according to our Lord's Prediction, Mat. 24. 22. and promiſing Freedom and Deliverance, ſaith (h) Joſephus, to as many as ſhould follow them.

(c) Tanchum in Gen. 17. 18.

And laſtly, The great Cauſe of this Apoſtacy, of which the Scriptures take a more ſpecial Notice, was the grievous Perſecutions they ſuffered in all Places, from their Fellow Jews, and from thoſe Heathens they had inſtigated againſt them; this, by St. Paul, is ſtyled a great Fight of Afflictions, againſt which he deſires them to arm themſelves, by Faith and Patience, and the Conſideration of the Coming of their Lord, and by the Example of that Cloud of Witneſſes which the had ſet before them, Heb. 10. 11, 12. By St. Peter it is ſtyled, The fiery Trial, which was come to try them, 1 Pet. 4. 12. and by which they were in heavineſs, through manifold Tribulations, 1 Pet. 1. 6. And againſt which St. James endeavours to ſtrengthen them, by the Conſideration of the bleſſed Fruits, and glorious Recompence, their Patience under them would produce, chap. 1. and of the Preſence of their Lord, who would ſhortly come to reſcue them, and give a happy Iſſue of them, chap. 5. By reaſon of which Perſecutions ſome began to uſe great Compliances with the Jews, to avoid their Rage; others, to fall away from the Chriſtian Faith, hoping perhaps that they might ſtill obtain Salvation in that Religion, in which they expected to find it before they embraced Chriſtianity.

Others, who refer this to the Church of Rome, underſtand by this Apoſtacy, a falling away from the Doctrine, and the true Worſhip of God and Chriſt, by Idolatry in the Worſhip of a conſecrated Wafer, of Angels, Saints, Images, and Relicks; on which Account that Church is repreſented under the Characters of Spiritual Egypt, of Myſtical Babylon, and the Mother of Fornications, Rev. 11. 8. and 17. 5.

d Ibid. Ὁ ἄνθρωπος τῆς ἁμαρτίας· The Man of Sin] If you read here, Ὁ ἄνθρωπος ἀνομίας, The Man of Diſobedience, who will not ſubmit to Law and Government, as do the Manuſcripts of Stephanus and Lincoln, nothing can more exactly agree to the Jewiſh Nation, which, in the Times of (i) Joſephus, had this Character, That it was ἔθνος δυσάρεκτον καὶ δυσπειθὲς φύσει πρὸς τοὺς βασιλέας, a Nation naturally averſe from Subjection to Kings. If we retain the common Reading, no Nation under Heaven more deſerved to be ſtyled the Man of Sin, than did the Jewiſh Nation, after the Spirit of Slumber and Blindneſs was come upon them, Rom. 11. 8. for the Rejection of the promiſed Meſſiah. Their own Joſephus ſaith, It is impoſſible to recount ſeverally the Particulars of their Wickedneſs; but in the general it may be ſaid, that never any City ſuffered ſuch Calamities, μήτε γενεὰν ἐξ αἰῶνος γεγονέναι κακίας γονιμωτέραν, nor was ever any Generation, ſince the Memory of Man, more fruitful in Iniquity. See this more fully proved, Note on Rom. 2. 1. Then therefore more eſpecially was this Man of Sin revealed to be ſo. This Character doth alſo very well agree to the Beaſt mentioned in the Revelations, which being Spiritual Sodom and Egypt, Rev. 11. 8. the Mother of Fornications, and the Abominations of the Earth, chap. 17. 5. may very well deſerve the Title of the Man of Sin.

Object. If it be here objected againſt the application of this Character to the Jewiſh Nation, that the Man of Sin ſeems to relate to ſome ſingle Perſon, and therefore cannot be interpreted of a whole Nation, eſpecially if they act not under ſome Head or other;

Anſw. I anſwer, That I have for this the Authority of the Prophet cited here, v. 8. who ſaith, He ſhall ſmite the Land (Chald. the Sinners of the Land) with the Word of his Mouth, and with the Breath of his Lips, Jemoth Reſhang, ἀνιλεῖ ἀσεβῆ, He ſhall conſume the Wicked one. Which Wicked one, whether we underſtand it with the Fathers, of Antichriſt, or with the Jews of Armillus, i. e. the Romans, or with the Proteſtants of the Papal Polity, under the Name of one, muſt comprehend all his Aſſociates and Followers, tho' they be many Nations. Thus alſo doth the Prophet Iſaiah introduce God ſpeaking to all the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem and Judah; And now, Joſheb, Inhabiter of Jeruſalem ואיש, καὶ ἄνθρωπος τοῦ Ἰούδα, and Man of Juda, chap. 5. 3. and v. 7. καὶ ἄνθρωπος, the Man of Judah is my pleaſant Plant. And Jeremiah ſpeaks in the Perſon of the whole Jewiſh Nation, ſaying, I am the Man that have ſeen Affliction, Lam. 3. 1. and ſo on to v. 22. So in the Parable, Mat. 22. 11. our Saviour repreſents the Jewiſh Nation, from whom the Kingdom of God was to be taken away, and who were to be caſt out into outer darkneſs, v. 13. by the Man who had not on his Wedding-Garment. So the two Witneſſes, Rev. 11. 3. and the Woman cloathed with the Sun, Rev. 12. 1. repreſent the whole Body of true Chriſtians. And the Beaſt, chap. 13. 1. the Woman arrayed in purple and ſcarlet, chap. 17. 4. and the great Whore, chap. 19. 2. include all the Members of the Roman Church. And therefore it is evident, that this Objection of a ſingle Perſon ſeems equally to lie againſt all the other Hypotheſes. And as they had their Heads in which they were united, ſo had the Jewiſh Nation their High-Prieſt and Sanhedrim, their Rulers of the People, their Scribes and Phariſees, the Heads of this Man of Sin, as the Pope and his Clergy, are the Head of the Beaſt.

d Ibid. Ὁ υἱὸς τῆς ἀπωλείας, The Son of Perdition.] This alſo perfectly agrees to the Jews, not only becauſe Chriſt was to ſmite them with the Breath of his Mouth; See Note on v. 8. and to ſmite the Land with a Curſe, Mal. 4. 6. but becauſe they are ſet forth as Veſſels of Wrath fitted εἰς ἀπώλειαν, for deſtruction, Rom. 9. 22. as Men appointed to Wrath, 1 Theſſ. 5. 9. to ſudden Deſtruction, v. 4. as Men whoſe end is ἀπώλεια, Deſtruction, Philip. 3. 19. Note alſo, that this agrees exactly to the great Whore, who is to go εἰς ἀπώλειαν, into Deſtruction, Rev. 17. 8, 11.

e Ver. 4. Ὁ Ἀντικείμενος, Who oppoſeth himſelf.] This Word in the Old Teſtament repreſents the Adverſaries of God and his Church. So Iſaiah 66. 6. The Voice of the Lord rendering recompence, τοῖς ἀντικειμένοις, to his Enemies. And Eſther 9. 2. They who ſought the hurt of the Jews are, οἱ ἀντικείμενοι τοῖς Ἰουδαίοις. And in like manner in the New Teſtament, ὁ ἀντικείμενος, is in the general the Adverſary of Chriſt, and of Chriſtianity; as in thoſe words, Give no occaſion τῷ ἀντικειμένῳ, to the Adverſary to blaſpheme, 1 Tim. 5. 14. In particular the Jews, as they were οἱ ἀντικείμενοι τῷ Χριστῷ, the Adverſaries of Chriſt, Luke 13. 17. So in our Lord's Diſcourſe on the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, they are ſtiled the Adverſaries of the Apoſtles in theſe words, I will give you a Mouth and Wiſdom, which οἱ ἀντικείμενοι ὑμῶν, your Adverſaries ſhall not be able to reſiſt, or gainſay, Luke 21. 15. They are the ἀντικείμενοι πολλοὶ, of which St. Paul ſpeaks, ſaying, a great door and effectual is opened to me in Epheſus, and there be many Adverſaries, 1 Cor. 16. 9. as you may learn from Acts 19. 9. where we find them ſpeaking evil of the way of Chriſtianity before the multitude, and St. Paul ſeparating from them upon that Account. And in thoſe Words of St. Paul to the Philippians, chap. 1. 28. In nothing be ye terrified by (the Malice and Perſecution of) your Adverſaries, ὑπὸ τῶν ἀντικειμένων, which Malice and Perſecution is to them ἔνδειξις ἀπωλείας, and evident Token of Perdition, but to you of Salvation; See 2 Theſſ. 1. 5. And with good Reaſon is this Name given to them eſpecially, they being the Men who killed the Lord Jeſus, and perſecuted his Apoſtles; who pleaſed not God, and were Adverſaries to all Men; forbidding the Apoſtles to preach to the Gentiles, that they might be ſaved, 2 Theſſ. 2. 15, 16. When they began to preach the Word of Life, the High-Prieſt, the Captain of the Temple, and the Sadduces, Acts 4. 1. and the whole Order of the Prieſthood, v. 6. ſtiled, τὸ συνέδριον, the Sanhedrim, v. 15. command them, not to ſpeak at all in the Name of Jeſus, v. 18. on which Account theſe Rulers are ſaid to be aſſembled againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt, v. 26. And the Anſwer of the Apoſtles to them is, That God was rather to be obeyed than Man. After this, the High-Prieſt and all his Aſſociates, place the Apoſtles, ἐν τῷ συνεδρίῳ, in the Sanhedrim, Acts 5. 17, 27. calling them to an Account for diſobeying their Commands; and having received this Anſwer from the Apoſtles, That God muſt be obeyed rather than Man, they beat them in the Sanhedrim, and again command them not to ſpeak in the Name of Jeſus, v. 40, 41. Soon after we find Stephen brought before the Scribes and Elders, εἰς τὸ Συνέδριον, into the Sanhedrim, chap. 6. 12. and the High-Prieſt, chap. 7. 1. and they who ſat ἐν τῷ συνεδρίῳ, in the Sanhedrim, having examined him, and the Witneſſes againſt him, they ſtoned Stephen, v. 59. which Death could only be inflicted on him by the Sanhedrim. After this Saul receives Letters from the High-Prieſt, chap. 9. 1. and from all the Elders, chap. 22. 5. to bind all Chriſtians he could find in any of their Synagogues, and bring them to Jeruſalem, Acts 9. 2, 14. Yea in the ſecond, or, as Biſhop Pearſon ſaith, in the fourth Year of Nero, the High-Prieſts, καὶ ὅλον τὸ συνέδριον, and the whole Sanhedrim meet, Acts 22. 30. and Paul is brought before them, chap. 23. 1. By all which Paſſages, as we ſee how they are ſtill ſhewing themſelves Adverſaries to Chriſt and his Diſciples; ſo we learn the falſhood of that Jewiſh Story, That forty Years before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, the Jewiſh Sanhedrim removed from thence to Joppa; which, ſaith (k) Mr. Selden, as I have never read any ſuch thing in the Ancients, ſo may it be confuted from the Life of Joſephus. It was this Sanhedrim that admitted that Publick Prayer againſt the Chriſtians called Berachoth Haminnim, the Curſing of the Hereticks. They therefore called Jeſus accurſed, 1 Cor. 12. 2. and ſo, as (l) Juſtin M. ſaith, they diſhonoured Chriſt as much as they could, καταρώμενοι ἐν ταῖς Συναγωγαῖς ὑμῶν τοὺς πιστεύοντας ἐπὶ τὸν Χριστὸν, curſing in their Synagogues thoſe that believe in him. Thus did they crucify afreſh the Son of God, and put him to an open ſhame; yea, ſaith the ſame (m) Juſtin, ἄνδρας ἐκλεκτοὺς ἀπὸ Ἱερουσαλὴμ ἐκλεξάμενοι τότε ἐξεπέμψατε εἰς πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν, they ſent choſen Men from Jeruſalem throughout the whole Earth, repreſenting the Chriſtian Faith as an Atheiſtical Hereſy. Now this could be done only by the Sanhedrim. It was, laſtly, by the High-Prieſt and his Sanhedrim aſſembled at Jeruſalem, that (n) James the Brother of our Lord, with ſome other Chriſtians, is condemned to be ſtoned for Blaſphemy againſt the Law. Yea, when the War was begun, Affairs ſeem ſtill to be ordered by the High-Prieſt and Sanhedrim: For it was after the Flight of Ceſtius Gallus from Jeruſalem, that (o) Joſephus was made Governour of Galilee, and (p) thence he writes τῷ Συνεδρίῳ τῶν Ἱεροσολυμιτῶν, to the Sanhedrim of Jeruſalem for Inſtruction. And (r) Ananias the High-Prieſt acknowledges that they had engaged in the War againſt the Romans, only for their Liberty. So that things ſeem to have been managed to that time by the High-Prieſt and Sanhedrim, who appearing thus upon all Occaſions with the utmoſt Rage againſt Chriſt and Chriſtians, might well be deemed not only ἀντικείμενοι, their Adverſaries, but Antichriſts. But then the Roman Antichriſt being alſo to wear out the Saints of the Moſt High, Dan. 7. 25. and caſt down ſome of the Hoſt of Heaven, Dan. 8. 10. The Beaſt being to ſlay the Witneſſes, Rev. 11. 7. to make War with the Saints, and overcome them, chap. 13. 7. and even to be drunk with the Blood of the Saints, f Ibid. Ὑπεραιρόμενος ἐπὶ πᾶν τὸ λεγόμενον θεὸν ἢ σέβασμα, Exalting himſelf above all that is called God, or is worſhipped.] The Word λεγόμενος, called, ſhews the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of Magiſtrates, who are called Gods in Scripture, Pſal. 82. 6. and particularly of the Roman Emperor, whoſe Title was σεβαςὸς, Auguſtus, and who are here ſignified by σέβασμα, as God is by the Word θεός. And how the Jews exalted themſelves againſt every thing that is called God, or the Magiſtracy, we may obſerve, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, in ſuch Paſſages as theſe, 2 Pet. 2. 10. They deſpiſe Government, Jude 8. They deſpiſe Dominion, and ſpeak evil of Dignities, and in their own Stories to endleſs Examples. How they ſtood affected to them, we may learn from the Queſtion they put to our Saviour, Shall we pay Tribute to Cæſar or not? Mat. 22. 17. For had he anſwered No, they then thought they ſhould have ground to repreſent him as an Enemy to Cæſar; if Yea, to repreſent him to the People as a Betrayer of his Country's Liberty and Freedom, (ſ) τὴν ἐπιτίμησιν οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ ἄντικρυς δουλείαν ἐπιφέρειν λέγοντες, they looking on the Payment of this Tribute-Money as a Sign of Slavery, And from their Talmudical Saying, We have no King but God; and from their imagination, that it was a wicked thing, (t) μετὰ τὸν Θεὸν φέρειν θνητοὺς Δεσπότας, to own any Mortal Governour under God; See Note on 1 Pet. 2. 16. And that the Pope and his Church have thus exalted themſelves above Kings and Emperors, Church-Hiſtory and their own Canon-Law will not ſuffer us to doubt. See Downham de Antichriſto, lib. 4. c. 2, 3.

g Ibid. Ὥστε αὐτὸν εἰς τὸν ναὸν Θεοῦ ὡς Θεὸν καθίσαι, So that he ſitteth in the Temple of God, as God, ſhewing himſelf that he is God.] Only the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, their Prieſts, High-Prieſts, and Doctors, or Expounders of the Law, ſat in the Temple of God, then properly ſo called, and there the High-Prieſt and the Sanhedrim took upon them the Power of judging in Capital Cauſes. Thus they ſtoned Stephen, thus alſo they ſtoned James the Brother of our Lord, and others with him; and St. Paul perſecuted the Chriſtians even to Death by their Authority, Acts 22. 4, 5. and thus they ſat in the Temple of God, as Gods. The Scribes and Phariſes alſo ſhew'd themſelves as God, by ſetting up their Traditions above the Commandments of God, pretending to diſpenſe with them, and by ſo doing, ſaith our Saviour, ἀκυροῦν, ἀφιέναι, ἀθετεῖν, to lay aſide, reject, and to make void the Commandments of God, Matth. 15. 16. Mark 7. 8, 9, 10, 13. to ſtabliſh their Traditions. And Secondly, By preferring them to, and requiring greater Reverence to be given to their Traditions, and their Doctrines, than to the written Word of God; ſaying, That the Words of the Scribes are more amiable than the Words of the Law, and more weighty; that a Prophet was not to be believed without a Sign or a Miracle; but they were to be believed without them; with other blaſphemous Sayings, cited by (u) Dr. Lightfoot on Mat. 15. 2. and by Dr. Pocock, who ſhews that they held their Vows ſo ſacred, that they were obliged to violate the Laws of God to keep them, and that in ſuch Caſes they could not obſerve God's Precepts without great Sin. And Thirdly, This they did by taking to themſelves the Titles of Guide and Father, which in our Saviour's Interpretation, belonged only to God and Chriſt, Mat. 23, 8, 9, 10. See the Note there. And Fourthly, As being by their own Confeſſion θεόμαχοι, Fighters againſt God, by their oppoſition to the Apoſtles commiſſionated by God, Acts 5. 39. and 23. 9. Here then let it be noted, 1ſt, That theſe are the Deſcriptions of the Man of Sin, by which the Theſſalonians might then know him, and they run all in the preſent Tenſe, ſhewing what he already did; and therefore it is no Objection againſt my Interpretation of theſe Words, that the Sanhedrim, the Scribes and Phariſees, had long ſat in the Temple of God, and done the things here attributed to the Man of Sin.

2dly, Let it be noted, that it is propheſied, Dan. 11. 35, 36. That a King ſhall do according to his Will, and ſhall exalt himſelf, and ſhall magnify himſelf above every God; and that this, by St. Jerom and Theodoret upon the Place, is interpreted concerning Antichriſt. And that the Pope of Rome hath manifeſtly not only thus exalted himſelf above all that is called God, by uſurping a Power over Kings and Emperors, as in the former Note; but alſo ſhewed himſelf in the Church as God, by claiming that Infallibility which is the Property of God, and by diſpenſing with his Laws, and alſo by equalling himſelf to Chriſt, who is God; See Downham de Antichriſto, l. 4. c. 5. And therefore according to the Sentiments of all thoſe Fathers, who by the Temple do underſtand the Church of God, he hath by theſe things ſhew'd himſelf that he is God.

Ibid. Ὡς Θεόν,] I doubt not, ſaith Dr. Mills, that theſe Words are added to the Text, they being wanting in Irenæus, l. 5. c. 25. in Origen contra Celſum, p. 89. and 307. in h Ver. 5. ταῦτα ἔλεγον ὑμῖν, I told you of theſe things.] Theſe are the Words which ſeem to me to ſettle my Interpretation of this Chapter. For of the Jews, and their oppoſing of themſelves to the Doctrine of Chriſtianity, and the Profeſſors of it, he told them in his Firſt Epiſtle, chap. 2. 15, 16. and when he was with them, the Perſecutions that both he and they ſuffered from them, Acts 17. 15, 16. gave him a juſt occaſion to ſpeak both of their Oppoſition to the Goſpel, and of the Deliverance they ſhortly might expect from ſuch enraged Perſecutors; this being hinted for the Encouragement of Chriſtians, in moſt of his Epiſtles; but that he ſhould tell them any thing of Mahomet, or of the Papal Antichriſt, who were not then in being, or to be known then to the Theſſalonians by any of the Characters here mentioned, is not ſo eaſy to conceive. Though ſince the Characters here referred to are partly to be found, Dan. 11. 35, 36. and that place by the (x) Ancients is thought to relate to Antichriſt, and to be here referred to by St. Paul, this is by ſome Expoſitors thought to refer to ſomething the Apoſtle might have taught them from the Prophet Daniel, touching Antichriſt; See the Preface, §. 1, 2, 3.

i Ver. 6. Καὶ νῦν τὸ κατέχον οἴδατε, and now ye know what with-holdeth.] Or rather, and ye know what now with-holdeth; and according to this Senſe of the Words, that which hindered the full Revelation of this Man of Sin, muſt be in being, and actually with-holding when this Epiſtle was indited. Some of the (y) Fathers have conjectured, that the τὸ κατέχον, or that which hindered, was the Gifts of the holy Spirit then given to Believers, and exerciſed in the Aſſemblies of Chriſtians; but they more generally do refer this to the (z) Roman Empire, ſaying, That the Apoſtle here teacheth that, till that be taken away, Antichriſt ſhall not come. This, ſay they, the Apoſtle here expreſſeth ſo covertly and obſcurely, (a) that he might not incenſe the Roman Emperors againſt the Chriſtians; as he muſt have done, had he openly and boldly ſaid, Antichriſt ſhall not come till the Roman Empire be deſtroyed. See Note on 1 Pet. 5. 13. What I conceive to be the τὸ κατέχον, ſee Note on the Verſe following.

Ibid. Ἐν τῷ ἑαυτοῦ καιρῷ, In his Seaſon.] I.e. In the time prefixed for the Falſe Chriſts, and Antichriſts to come. Mat. 24. 5, 24. in the laſt Hour of the Jewiſh Church and OEconomy, according to theſe Words of St. John, 1 John 2. 18. Little Children, it is the laſt Hour, and as ye have heard (from Chriſt) that Antichriſt ſhall come, ſo now are there many Antichriſts, by which ye may know that this is the laſt Hour. k

They who refer this to the Papal Antichriſt, ſay that this Seaſon relates to the Tempus Statutum, the Time prefixed, Dan. 11. 35. For Antichriſt, ſaith he, ſhall proſper till the Indignation be accompliſhed, or till God's Indignation againſt the Jewiſh Nation ceaſeth. And to the Time, Times, and half a Time, mentioned, Dan. 7. 25. during which time the little Horn was to wear out the Saints of the moſt High; and to the 1260 Days in which the Beaſt ſhould triumph, and the Witneſſes ſhould be cloathed in Sackcloth, Rev. 11. 3. or to the Time, Times, and half a Time, mentioned, Rev. 12. 6, 14.

Ver. 7. Τὸ γὰρ μυστήριον ἤδη ἐνεργεῖται ἀνομίας, For the Myſtery of Iniquity doth already work.] That is, the Jews have already imbibed their pernicious Principles, that 'tis not lawful to pay Tribute to Cæſar, or to be ſubject to any other Government under God: They have already made ſome ſeditious Attempts, not only in Babylon, but in Judæa, under Theudas Gaulonites; and alſo have been incited farther to do ſo by one Dortus, and his Aſſociates, who perſuaded the Multitude ἐπὶ τῇ Ῥωμαίων ἀποστάσει, to revolt from the Romans. Joſephus alſo doth inform us, That before that time there were many Tumults in Judæa, καὶ συχνοὺς βασιλείαν ὁ καιρὸς ἀνέπειθε, and that the Time prevailed with many to uſurp the Kingdom. This Myſtery was alſo working by the Falſe Apoſtles, and deceitful Workers of the Jews, cauſing ſome of the Gentile Chriſtians to warp from the Simplicity of the Faith, to the Jewiſh Rites, l to mix Judaiſm with Chriſtianity, and ſo to to turn from him that called them, to another Goſpel. The Fathers, Theodoret only excepted, ſay this Myſtery of Iniquity was already working, (d) in Nero, the Fore-runner of Antichriſt, and the Calamities he brought upon the Chriſtians. On which Account ſome of them taught that he was Antichriſt: and others, that he was to be raiſed again to be ſo. But this is an Extravagancy ſufficiently confuted from this one Obſervation, That theſe Words were written in the Reign of Claudius, whereas the Perſecution of the Chriſtians happened only twelve Years after, in the Reign of Nero. Others, who ſay this Myſtery was working in the Falſe Prophets then in being; till they can ſhew us any Falſe Prophets then in being, which were not of the Jewiſh Nation, do not contradict, but eſtabliſh our Aſſertion. And laſtly, Others, though they do zealouſly contend againſt Dr. Hammond, that Simon Magus could not be the Man of Sin here mentioned, yet ſay, 'tis probable he was the Myſtery of Iniquity then working, and the Fore-runner of Antichriſt, becauſe he did ſet up himſelf as the Supreme God, brought in the Invocation of Angels, and the Worſhip of Images, and taught Idolatry to be a thing indifferent, and was the Father, as the Beaſt is ſtiled the Mother of Abominations; but thus they ſeem to me to build up again, what they had ſo induſtriouſly pulled down. For it is highly reaſonable to conceive the Myſtery of Iniquity then working, ſhould be that very Myſtery which after was to be compleated by a more full Appearance of the Man of Sin, as will appear from the Connexion of the Words, Remember ye not, that when I was with you, I told you theſe things, (who was the Man of Sin to be revealed, and what were his Characters, v. 3. 4. and what it was that hindered at preſent the revealing of him:) For the Myſtery of Iniquity is already working, (i. e. he is doing that covertly, which when he is revealed, he will do more openly;) only he that hinders (his full Appearance,) will do ſo, till he be taken away; and then ſhall this wicked one be revealed? Who ſees not now, that all thoſe Interpretations muſt be falſe, which make the Myſtery of Iniquity to be one Perſon, or one kind of Perſons; and the Man of Sin, or Antichriſt, another; as they muſt do, who make the Myſtery of Iniquity to be Simon Magus, or the Falſe Prophets, or Hereticks in being when this Epiſtle was indited; and the Man of Sin, the Pope of Rome, and his Clergy? This Myſtery of Iniquity, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, cannot be underſtood but of the Jewiſh Nation. And ſo it is explained, again and again, by St. John, ſaying, This is the laſt Hour; and as you have heard that Antichriſt cometh, ſo now are there many Antichriſts, by which we know this is the laſt Hour, 1 John 2. 18. And Chap. 4. 3. Every Spirit that confeſſeth not Jeſus Chriſt, who is come in the Fleſh, is not of God; and this is the Spirit of Antichriſt; this is the Deceiver, and the Antichriſt, Epiſt. 2. 7. Here therefore is a plain Account of the working of the Myſtery of Iniquity in the Falſe Chriſts, and Prophets of the Jewiſh Nation, who alſo were the great Incendiaries to, and Agents in the Apoſtacy of that Nation from the Roman Government: See Note on v. 10.

My Conjecture is this, He who now letteth, i. e. the Emperor Claudius, will let till he be taken away; i. e. he will hinder the Jews from breaking out into an open Rebellion in his Time, they being ſo ſignally and particularly obliged by him, that they cannot for ſhame think of revolting from his Government; for he had made two Edicts in their favour, the one concerning the Alexandrian Jews, to this effect, (f) That the juſt Jews ſhould ſuffer nothing, becauſe of the Madneſs of Caius, who would be worſhipped as a God, and that they ſhould have liberty to obſerve their own Laws and Cuſtoms. And that other (g) Edict, in which he gives them Liberty over his whole Empire, without Moleſtation, to obſerve their own Laws and Cuſtoms; declaring, that he did it, becauſe he judged them worthy of that Favour, for their Affection and Fidelity to the Roman Government.

After his Death, the Affairs of the Jews, ſaith Joſephus, became worſe and worſe, not only by reaſon (h) γοήτων ἀνθρώπων οἳ τὸν ὄχλον ἠπάτων, of thoſe Magicians who deceived the People, and of thoſe Thieves who ſtirred them up to the War againſt the Romans, (i) μηδὲν ὑπακούειν αὐτοῖς λέγοντες, perſwading them not to be ſubject to them; but becauſe Nero, in his third Year, ſends a Letter to Portius Feſtus, Governour of Judea, by which the Jews are deprived of their ἰσοπολιτεία, equal ſhare of Government in Cæſarea; whence ſaith Joſephus, was the Riſe of all our Calamities, the Jews perſiſting ſtill in Sedition, μέχρι δὴ τὸν πόλεμον ἐξῆψαν, till they broke out into the War. In the ſeventh of Nero, Albinus ſucceeds Feſtus, then dead, who, ſaith Joſephus, was ὁ μάλιστα λυμαινόμενος τὴν χώραν, (k) one who exceedingly waſted the Country, and laid the Seeds of their future Captivity. In the tenth of Nero, Geſſius Florus ſucceeds him, who (l) πολλῶν ἀνέπλησε κακῶν Ἰουδαίους, brought many Calamities upon the Jews, ſaith Joſephus, which having tragically repreſented, he concludes thus, What ſhall I ſay more? τὸν γὰρ πρὸς Ῥωμαίους πόλεμον ὁ καταναγκάσας ἡμᾶς ἄρασθαι Φλῶρος, for it was this Florus who compell'd us to the War againſt the Romans, which began in the twelfth of Nero.

a Ibid. Ἕως ἐκ μέσου γένηται, Till he be taken away.] I. e. Say ſome, till the Roman Government be taken away; as it was by the Exile of Auguſtulus, A. D. 476. ſay I, till Claudius be taken away, as he was by Poiſon, ſaith Suetonius; for as tolli de medio, among the Latins, ſo in the Greek, ἐκ μέσου γένεσθαι, imports, one to be taken away by Death, and oft-times by a violent Death; ſo ἐξαναλῶσαι ἐκ μέσου τῆς παρεμβολῆς, is, to deſtroy them out of the middle of the Camp, till they were conſumed: So of Core and his Company, it is ſaid, ἀπώλοντο ἐκ μέσου τῆς συναγωγῆς, they were deſtroyed from the midſt of the Congregation, Numb. 16. 33. Thus of the Righteous, ſaith the Prophet, ἦρται ἐκ μέσου, he is taken away, he reſts in his Grave, Iſa. 57. 2. So Jeremiah, ἐξῆρε ἐκ μέσου, The Lord hath taken away all my mighty men from the midſt of me, Lam. 1. 15. And ſo God ſaith of the falſe Prophet, Ezek. 14. 8, 9. Ἐξαρῶ αὐτὸν ἀφανιῶ αὐτὸν ἐκ μέσου τοῦ λαοῦ μου, I will cut him off from the midſt of my people.

Ibid. Ἀποκαλυφθήσεται, Shall be revealed;] p Either by his actual Apoſtacy from the Roman Government, or by the great Apoſtacy of the Believers of that Nation: Of which, ſee Note on v. 3.

Ibid. Ὃν ὁ Κύριος ἀναλώσει τῷ πνεύματι τοῦ q στόματος αὐτοῦ, Whom the Lord ſhall conſume by the Spirit of his Mouth] That the Apoſtle here refers to Iſa. 10. 4. appears by his uſing the very Words of that Prophet, which run thus; He ſhall ſmite the Land with the Rod of his Mouth, and with the Breath of his Lips ſhall he ſlay the wicked one. Now what is the Land there, is well expounded by Malachy in theſe words, Chap. 4. 6. Leſt he ſmite the Earth with a Curſe. Where both the Hebrew and the Greek uſe the ſame words. Now in Malachy it is evident, and confeſſed, that by the Earth, the Land of Judea muſt be meant, as it is uſually in the Book of Pſalms, Pſal. 16. 3. and 25. 13. and 37. 3, 9, 11, 22, 29, 34. Seeing to them alone the Prophet was then ſent to propheſie: 'Tis therefore reaſonable to conceive, that the ſame Phraſe ſhould have the ſame Import in the Prophet Iſaiah; to ſmite this Land with the Breath, or Spirit of his Mouth, is, to ſmite in his Wrath and Indignation. So, Job 4. 9. by the Blaſt of God, by the Breath of his Noſtrils, ἀπὸ πνεύματος ὀργῆς αὐτοῦ, or, of his Anger, are they conſumed; and to conſume with his fiery Indignation. Thus Tophet is ordained of old, the Pile thereof is Fire and much Wood; the Breath of the Lord, θυμὸς Κυρίου, the Indignation of the Lord, like a Stream of Brimſtone doth kindle it. So, Pſal. 18. 8. A Smoke aſcended in his Anger, and Fire out of his Mouth devoured. And v. 15. At thy rebuke, O Lord, at the Blaſt of the Breath of thy Noſtrils, ἀπὸ ἐμπνεύσεως πνεύματος ὀργῆς σου, By the Breath of the Wind of thine Anger. This therefore again anſwers to the Words of Malachy, chap. 4. 1. Behold, the day cometh that ſhall burn as an Oven, and all the proud, and all that do wickedly, ſhall be as ſtubble; and the day that cometh ſhall burn them up. And to that of the Baptiſt, Mat. 3. 10. And now the Ax is laid to the Root of the Trees; every Tree therefore that bringeth not forth good fruit, ſhall be hewn down, and caſt into the Fire: Which alſo evidently belongs to the Jewiſh Nation, which ſaid, We have Abraham for our Father, v, 9. and to whom alone the Baptiſt is there ſpeaking. And again, v. 12. he ſaith of Chriſt, His Fan is in his Hand, and he will throughly cleanſe his Floor — and burn the Chaff with unquenchable Fire; plainly alluding to the Words of Malachy, that all the Wicked ſhall be as Chaff, or

Stubble. This being ſo, the Earth to be ſmitten with the Rod of his Mouth, muſt be the People, or Inhabitants of the Land; or, as the Chaldee, the Sinners of the Earth, the Unbelievers, and Wicked of Judea, to be conſumed by that Indignation, and Fire of the Lord, Mal. 4. 1. So ſaith Procopius on the Place, Doth the Lord threaten to Judea, ἐπὶ τῇ κατ᾽ αὐτοῦ παροινίᾳ, for her Contumely againſt him, ſaying, Thy Houſe is left unto thee deſolate; and, ἐγκαταλειφθεῖσα πολέμῳ καὶ πυρὶ δεδαπάνεται, being left deſolate, is conſumed by Sword and Fire.

That theſe Words may have a more full completion in the Deſtruction of the Beaſt, or Myſtical Babylon, which is alſo to be ſlain by the Sword proceeding from the Mouth of Chriſt, and deſtroyed by the fierceneſs of his Wrath, and, with the falſe Prophets, to be caſt alive into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, I deny not: But that this ſhould be the primary Intent of the Words of Iſaiah, and that he ſhould be there propheſying of the Deſtruction of the Church of Rome, ſeems to me a Rabbinical Gloſs, not much to be inſiſted on, eſpecially ſince the Apoſtle, Rom. 15. 12. applies the tenth Verſe of this Chapter to the firſt Calling of the Gentiles.

r Ibid. Καὶ καταργήσει τῇ ἐπιφανείᾳ τῆς παρουσίας αὐτοῦ, And ſhall conſume with the brightneſs of his coming.] The Day of the Lord's Coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem, is ſtyled by Joel, chap. 2. 31. ἡμέρα Κυρίου ἡ μεγάλη καὶ ἐπιφανής, the great and bright Day of the Lord: And Mal. 4. 5. Behold, I ſend you Elias the Prophet, (i. e. the Baptiſt, in the Spirit and Power of Elias, Luke 1. 17.) πρὶν ἐλθεῖν τὴν ἡμέραν τοῦ Κυρίου τὴν μεγάλην καὶ ἐπιφανῆ, before the coming of the great and bright Day of the Lord. And that our Lord's Coming in his Day, after he had ſuffered, and been rejected of that Age, or Generation, in which he ſuffered, ſhould be as Lightning ſhining from one end of the Heaven to the other, he expreſly tells his Diſciples, Luke 17. 24. And when this ἐπιφάνεια καὶ παρουσία, Brightneſs and Appearance of the Son of Man was to happen, he ſufficiently inſtructs them in theſe words, As the Lightning, φαίνεται, ſhineth from the Eaſt to the Weſt, οὕτως ἔσται καὶ ἡ παρουσία τοῦ υἱοῦ τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, ſo ſhall the coming of the Son of Man be, ὅπου γὰρ, for wheresoever the Carcaſe is, there ſhall the Eagles be gathered together, Luke 17. 24, 37. which ſenſibly applies this Matter to the Deſtruction of the Jews, by the Roman Army, whoſe Enſign was the Eagle. This therefore is a further Confirmation of our Expoſition.

Laſtly, Obſerve the Connexion of theſe Verſes; there is a τὸ κατέχον νῦν, ſome Thing, or Perſon, that with-holdeth now; and, ὁ κατέχων ἄρτι, He that now with-holdeth, will do ſo till he be taken away, καὶ τότε, and then ſhall the wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall deſtroy. Now would not any one here think, that if the Roman Government were that which with-held, Antichriſt ſhould preſently be revealed, and appear to the World to be ſo, (as all the (m) Fathers, who were of that Opinion, held) ſoon after the Diſſolution of that Government, according to thoſe words of (n) St. Jerom, Qui tenebat, de medio fit, & non intelligimus Antichriſtum appropinquare; quem Dominus Jeſus Chriſtus interficiet Spiritu oris ſui? "He that "with-held is taken away; and do we not "underſtand that Antichriſt is at hand?" And again, Would not any one hence be prone to think, that the Lord ſhould be as quick to conſume him, when he was revealed, as all the (o) Fathers thought, allowing but three Years and a half for the whole Reign of Antichriſt, and declaring that they had this not from (p) Apocryphal Writings, but from the Holy Scriptures? And were it otherwiſe, thoſe Chriſtians which ſaw the Diſſolution of the Roman Empire, A. D. 476. might lie under the ſame Doubts as did the Theſſalonians here, touching the Man of Sin; for then they ſaw no Roman Antichriſt appearing, nor that Myſtery of Iniquity yet working; for the Pope and Clergy of Rome were then Orthodox, free from exalting themſelves above all that is called God, or from wearing out the Saints with Perſecution, till ſome hundred Years after. And if, after his Appearing thus, he were to continue 1260 Years before our Saviour's Coming to deſtroy him, as he muſt do, according to that Hypotheſis; might not the Chriſtians be tempted, in that long Interval, to ſay, Where is the Promiſe of his Coming? This therefore ſeems to lie as a ſtrong Bar againſt that, as the primary Senſe and Meaning of theſe Words.

Ver. 9. Ἐν πάσῃ δυνάμει καὶ σημείοις, With all Power and Signs.] This our Lord foretold, That before his Advent to deſtroy Jeruſalem, there ſhould appear falſe Prophets, and falſe Chriſts, who ſhould deceive many, Matth. 24. 11. who ſhould ſhew Signs and Wonders, to deceive, if it were poſſible, the very Elect, v. 24. Now that theſe falſe Prophets, v. 11. and 24. were the ſame, we learn from St. Luke, who ſums both up in one, chap. 21. 8. and from the Work of both, which was to deceive many; That they were all to appear in the ſame Age, in which his Diſciples, to whom he ſpake theſe Words, lived, is alſo evident from Chriſt's Caution to them, in reſpect of both; See to it, leſt any Man deceive you, Matth. 24. 4. See to it: Behold, I have foretold you all things, Mark 13. 23. Matth. 24. 25. It cannot then be doubted, but that there were ſuch Perſons as are here mentioned, which then aroſe among the Jews. Such were the Jews of whom St. Paul ſpeaks, comparing them to Jannes and Jambres, the celebrated Magicians of Egypt, becauſe of their Reſiſtance of the Truth of the Goſpel, as thoſe Magicians reſiſted Moſes, and whom he ſtiles, πονηροὶ ἄνθρωποι καὶ γόητες, wicked Men, and Jugglers, 2 Tim. 3. 8, 13. or thoſe who did ſtrange Things by the Invocation of Devils, as the Word imports, ſay Phavorinus and Suidas; the Magicians were Men of the ſame Art and Tricks. Now to theſe Joſephus doth aſcribe the Beginning of the Apoſtacy from the Roman Government, and by them, he informs us, that it was carried on to the laſt; The Affairs of the Jews, ſaith he, became worſe daily, by reaſon (q) γοήτων ἀνθρώπων οἱ τὸν ὄχλον ἠπάτων, of thoſe Impoſtors who deceived the People, of which he immediately gives an Inſtance in the Egyptian, who ſet up for a Prophet. He adds, That in the Beginning of the Reign of Nero, (r) Impoſtors and Deceivers, under a Pretence of Divine Impulſe, endeavouring Innovations and Changes, made the People mad, and led them into the Wilderneſs, promiſing there to them Signs of Liberty from God. And that (s) γόητες πολλοὺς εἰς ἀπόστασιν ἐνῆγον, the Impoſtors prevailed with many to revolt. And even when their Temple was in Flames, he ſaith, There were many (t) Prophets who encouraged them to expect τὴν ἀπὸ Θεοῦ βοήθειαν, help from God, and that they gave Credit to them. Accordingly of the Dragon, it is ſaid, That the unclean Spirits which went out of his Mouth, were the Spirits of Devils working Miracles, Rev. 16. 13, 14. That the falſe-Prophet wrought Signs before the Beaſt, Rev. 19. 20. and that the Beaſt wrought great Signs, ſo as to make Fire deſcend from Heaven, Rev. 13. 13. and that by theſe things they did πλανᾶν, deceive the Inhabitants of the Earth, Rev. 13. 13, 19, 20. and 20. 10. Of which Miracles done by the Members of the Roman Church, to ſtabliſh their Idolatry and Superſtition: See Downham de Antichriſto, lib. 6. cap. 1.

Ver. 10. Τὴν ἀγάπην τῆς ἀληθείας οὐκ ἐδέξαντο, They received not the Love of the Truth.] From theſe Words, ſome conceive, that Antichriſt, or the Man of Sin, muſt in Profeſſion be a Chriſtian; becauſe he is ſaid, not to receive the Love of the Truth only. But all the (u) Fathers, and many others ſay, not to receive the Love of the Truth, is, not to receive the Truth, which is worthy to be loved, and which would have taught them Charity to thoſe they perſecuted, it being the ſame with not believing the Truth, v. 12. And this emphatically belonged to thoſe unbelieving Jews, to whom St. Paul ſpeaks thus; It was neceſſary that the Word of God ſhould be firſt ſpoken to you; but ſince you thruſt it from you, and judge your ſelves unworthy of Eternal Life, lo, we turn unto the Gentiles, Acts 13. 46. And to whom he applieth that of the Prophet, Behold, ye Deſpiſers, and periſh; for I will work a Work in your Days, which you will in no-wiſe believe, v. 41. See Acts 28. 27. Heb. 4. 2. 12. 1 Pet. 2. 7, 8. And all the Fathers which ſpeak of Antichriſt, and the Man of Sin, not one of them excepted, declare, that this, and the two following Verſes, belong to the unbelieving (x) Jews, that he is thus to come with Signs and Wonders to deceive them; and that they who would not receive Chriſt, confirming his Doctrine with true Miracles, ſhall be deceived by the lying Miracles of Antichriſt. And if this be ſo, that theſe things are intended of the Unbelieving Jews, they can agree in the primary Import of them to them only.

u Ver. 11. πέμψει ὁ Θεὸς, God ſhall ſend.] As he ſent a Lying Spirit into the Mouths of Ahab's Prophets, 1 Kings 22. 21, 22. by permitting the Evil Spirit to go forth for that End; or, as he is ſaid to deceive his People, Jer. 4. 10. becauſe he ſuffered them to be deceived by falſe Prophets, Jer. 6. 14. And as he deceived the falſe Prophets, by giving them up unto a Spirit of Deluſion, Ezek. 14. 9. This muſt be the true Interpretation of all ſuch Paſſages as theſe: For,

1ſt, God cannot ſecretly inſpire into us any Evil, or infuſe any evil Principle into our Hearts; for Evil can never proceed immediately from him who hath an abſolute and entire Freedom from it; were it his Off-ſpring, it muſt ceaſe to bear that Name; his Works being all very good, and wrought in Righteouſneſs. Nor,

2dly, Can he incline, excite, encourage, or entice to Sin: For then he muſt excite Men to perform the abominable thing which his Soul hates; to do that which is infinitely diſpleaſing to him, and muſt incline them ſecretly to that which he openly deters all Perſons from; and then he cannot truly be offended with ſuch Perſons, he cannot puniſh them for their Iniquities; or elſe he muſt be angry with them, becauſe they do obey his Motions, and ſentence them to endleſs Miſery; becauſe they do comply with his own Inclinations. Nor,

3dly, Can he neceſſitate any Man to ſin: For then he muſt by force compel them to it, and then the Action done by virtue of that force cannot be theirs, but God's; nor would our Conſciences condemn us for Sin, were we aſſured we could not help it.

y Ver. 14. Εἰς ὃ.] Here Beza notes, that many Copies read εἰς ἥν, which agrees with πίστιν, v. 13. and that many Latin Copies accord with them. But 'tis common for this Pronoun to vary in Gender from the Noun to which it relates, ſo σκεύη ἐλέους οὓς, Rom. 9. 23, 24. τεκνία μου οὓς, Gal. 4. 19. See Philip. 2. 15. Coloſſ. 2. 19. Philem. 10. 2 Ep. John v. 1.

z Ibid. Εἰς περιποίησιν δόξης, to the glorious Life, or Salvation. That περιποιεῖν is to ſave alive: See Note on Eph. 1. 14. and περιποίησις is מחיה, Life, 2 Chron. 14. 13. they fell down, ὥστε μὴ εἶναι ἐν αὐτοῖς περιποίησιν, ſo that there was no Life in them, Mal. 3. 17. the Day which I make εἰς περιποίησιν, LXX.

aa Ver. 17. Κρατεῖτε τὰς παραδόσεις, Hold the Traditions which ye have been taught.] This Paſſage proves not in the leaſt, that in the Judgment of St. Paul there were any Traditions wholly extraſcriptural; that is, ſuch as were neither then committed, nor after to be committed to Writing, by himſelf or any other inſpired Perſon; but only, that he himſelf had not writ all things to them by Epiſtle, being abſent, but had preached many things to them being preſent.

Now that the Word which St. Paul preached orally, was after written by St. Luke, his Amanuenſis and Companion, we learn from the Tradition of the Church of Chriſt, recorded by (y) Irenæus and Euſebius.

2dly, All that the Apoſtle here exhorts his Theſſalonians to do, is to retain the Traditions they had immediately received from the Mouth of an Apoſtle, and which he perſonally had delivered to them; which Traditions, when we know them to be ſuch, there is no doubt, but they ought with all Reverence to be received: When therefore the Church of Rome hath proved, that the Traditions ſhe obtrudes upon us, were immediately received from the Mouth of an Apoſtle, then, and not till then, will this Text oblige us to receive them.

3dly, This Text is ſo far from being an Argument for receiving Doctrinal Traditions no where writ in Scripture, upon the ſole Authority of the Church of Rome, or even of the Church Catholick, that it is rather a Demonſtration, that ſhe is no ſure Preſerver of them, ſhe having actually loſt thoſe very Traditions touching the Man of Sin, which are mentioned in this Chapter, and particularly referred to in this Text; I told you theſe things when I was with you, v. 8. and now ye know what letteth, wherefore ſtand faſt, holding the Traditions (touching his Coming, which when I was with you, I delivered by Words, and now hint to you by Epiſtle) and which, as it appeareth by this Epiſtle, and his Exhortation, were of great moment to be known. Now, hath this Tradition been preſerved by the Roman, or by the Catholick Church? Or muſt ſhe not confeſs with (z) Anſelm, and their own Eſthius on the Place, Truly the Theſſalonians knew what letted, but we know it not? So that the Tradition which the Church received from the Apoſtles touching this matter, is wholly loſt; how therefore can ſhe be relied on as a ſure Preſerver, and a true Teacher of Traditions, which hath confeſſedly loſt one of great moment, depoſited with the Theſſalonians, and the Primitive Church?

CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. FInally, [τὸ λοιπὸν, furthermore, I entreat you] brethren [to] pray for us [Apoſtles and Miniſters of the Goſpel,] that the word of the Lord [preached by us] may have free courſe [τρέχῃ, may run to] and be glorified [among other Gentiles] even as [it hath been] with [or among] you.

2. And [pray alſo] that we may be delivered [a] from unreaſonable and wicked Men, [ſuch as the unbelieving Jews, the great Oppoſers of our preaching to the Gentiles, are, 1 Theſſ. 2. 15, 16.] for all Men have not Faith.

3. But [tho' Men may prove unfaithful,] the Lord is [always] faithful [to his Promiſes,] who [therefore] ſhall [or, will do all things requiſite on his part, to] ſtabliſh you and keep you from Evil.

4. And [therefore] we have confidence in the Lord touching you, that ye [through his Aſſiſtance,] both do [at preſent.] and will [ſtill] do the things which we [by his Authority] command you.

5. And [that we may not be miſtaken in this Confidence, we pray that] the Lord [would] direct your Hearts into the love of God, [which will conſtrain you to this Obedience, 2 Cor. 5. 14. and from which nothing ſhall ſeparate you, Rom. 8. 35, 39.] and into the b [b] patient waiting for [of] Chriſt, [mentioned, 1 Theſſ. 1. 10. 2 Theſſ. 1. 10. Philip. 3. 20.]

6. Now we [being thus confident of your Obedience] command you, brethren, in the name of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that ye withdraw your ſelves from every brother c that walketh diſordely, and not after [c] the tradition which he hath received of [i. e. from] us.

7. For you your ſelves know how you d ought to follow us: for [d] we behaved not our ſelves diſorderly among you.

8. Neither did we eat any man's bread for nought, but wrought with labour and travel [wearineſs and toil] night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you.

9. Not becauſe we have not power, [to live of the Goſpel, for the Labourer is worthy of his Hire, Luke 10. 7. and ſo hath the Lord appointed, that they that preach the Goſpel ſhould live of the Goſpel, 1 Cor. 9. 14.] but to make our ſelves an enſample unto you to follow us, [in this our Induſtry; for if we, who might lawfully live upon other Men's Labours, chuſe rather to work for our own Living, how much more ought ye to do ſo?]

10. [And this we have formerly taught,] For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any [being able] would not work, neither ſhould he eat.

SHEWING

That the Endleſs Miſeries or Torments of the Wicked, are well conſiſtent, both with the Juſtice and the Goodneſs of God.

THE Apoſtle in this Chapter ſeems plainly to aſſert, That wicked Perſons ſhall be puniſhed with everlaſting Deſtruction, and alſo to reſolve this Puniſhment into the δικαιοκρισία, or juſt Judgment of God.

Whereas it is pretended, That 'it is contrary to the Juſtice of God, to puniſh Temporary Crimes with Eternal Puniſhments, becauſe Juſtice always obſerves a Proportion between Offences and Puniſhments; but between Temporary Sins and Eternal Puniſhments there is no Proportion. And if it be hard to reconcile this with Divine Juſtice, it will be much more ſo, to ſhew how it comports with that great Goodneſs we ſuppoſe to be in God.

They who aſſert the Eternity of future Torments inflicted on the Wicked, abiding in a State of Miſery, attempt by ſeveral ways to anſwer this Objection. I ſhall begin with thoſe Anſwers which to me ſeem not ſatisfactory, and briefly ſhew the Reaſons why I think they are not ſo, and then return that Anſwer which I think fully clears the Juſtice and the Goodneſs of God in this Diſpenſation, from the Strength of this Objection. And,

§. 1. 1*ſt*, Some make out the Proportion, thus, That 'becauſe Sin is infinite in reſpect of the Object againſt which it is committed, therefore it deſerves an infinite Puniſhment: Now becauſe a finite Creature cannot ſuffer a Puniſhment which is infinite as to Intenſion, therefore he ſuffers that which is infinite as to Extenſion or Duration.

But to this it is replied, That if all Sins be for this Reaſon infinite as to demerit, then the demerit of all Sins muſt neceſſarily be equal, and ſo there muſt be equal Reaſon for the Pardon of all Sins; for the demerit of no Sin can be more than infinite. 2. Hence it will follow, that God cannot render unto every Man according as his Works ſhall be, becauſe though they commit innumerable Sins, he can only lay upon them the Puniſhment due to one only, becauſe he cannot lay upon them a Puniſhment which is more than infinite.

§. 2. 2*dly*, Others ſay, That 'if wicked Men lived for ever in this World, they would ſin for ever, and therefore they deſerve to be puniſhed for ever. But,

1. Who can be certain of this, ſince, whilſt we live in this World, we are in a ſtate of trial, and ſo may be in a poſſibility of repenting and growing better?

2. God hath expreſly declared, that Men ſhall be judged hereafter, not according to what they would have done, had they lived longer, but according to what they actually have done in this preſent Life, according to their Works done in the Body; and ſo he hath ſufficiently declared, he doth not puniſh them for what they would have done, had they lived longer; but for what they actually had done whilſt they lived. So that this

Anſwer recoils thus; Wicked Men, by God's Declaration, are only to be puniſhed for what they did whilſt they lived here: Now they did not live here for ever in a ſtate of Sin, therefore they are not to live for ever hereafter in a State of Puniſhment.

§. 3. 3*dly*, Others ſay, That ‘God having ſet before the Sinner Life and Death; and having ſo expreſly forewarned him, this would be the certain Conſequence of his Iniquity; he cannot charge God with Injuſtice, in allotting to him the Portion which he choſe, and would incur, after all Admonitions to the contrary.

But though this may be ſufficient to ſtop the Sinner's Mouth, it will do little to ſtop the Mouth of Infidels; becauſe it ſeemeth not to anſwer the Objection ariſing from the Diſproportion between the Fault and the Puniſhment; for it renders not the Fault leſs finite, or the Puniſhment leſs infinite, and ſo it doth not render it leſs inconſiſtent with Divine Equity and Goodneſs to threaten ſo to puniſh finite Crimes, and execute that Puniſhment upon the Sinner.

§. 4. A very great and learned Perſon hath attempted a Solution to this Objection, from theſe Conſiderations.

Firſt, That ‘the Meaſure of Penalties, is not to be taken from any ſtrict Proportion betwixt Crimes and Puniſhments, but from one great End and Deſign of Government, which is, to ſecure the Obſervation of wholeſome and neceſſary Laws, and conſequently whatever Penalties are proper and neceſſary to this End, are not unjuſt.

Secondly, That whoſoever conſiders how ineffectual the threatening, even of Eternal Torments, is to the greateſt part of Sinners, will ſoon be ſatisfied that a leſs Penalty than that of Eternal Suffering, would, to the far greateſt part of Mankind, have been, in all probability, of little or no force; and that if any thing more terrible could have been threatened to the Workers of Iniquity, it had not been unreaſonable, becauſe it would all have been little enough to deter Men effectually from Sin. But then he adds,

Thirdly, That after all, he that threateneth, hath ſtill the Power of Execution in his own Hands: for there is this remarkable Difference betwixt Promiſes and Threatenings, that he who promiſeth, paſſeth over a Right to another, and thereby ſtands obliged to him, in Juſtice and Faithfulneſs, to make good his Promiſe: But in Threatenings it is quite otherwiſe; he that threatens, keeps the Right of Puniſhing in his own hand, and is not obliged to execute what he hath threatened, any further than the Reaſons and Ends of Government do require; and that he may, without any Injury to the Party threatened, remit and abate as much as he pleaſeth of the Puniſhment that he had threatened; and becauſe in ſo doing, he is not worſe, but better than his Word, no Body can find fault, or complain of any Wrong or Injuſtice thereby done him.

‘Nor is this any Impeachment of God's Truth and Faithfulneſs, any more than it is eſteemed among Men a piece of Falſhood, not to do what they have threatened.

But here, with Submiſſion to better Judgments, I conceive are many things propounded, which are not exactly true, or reach not the Objection; ſince that relates not to God's Threats of Puniſhment, but to his Execution of the threatened Puniſhment.

And 1*ſt*, when it is ſaid, that what Proportion ought to be appointed betwixt Crimes and Penalties, is not ſo properly a Conſideration of Juſtice, as of Prudence in the Law-giver; and thence inferred, that whatever the Diſproportion may be between Temporary Sins, and Eternal Puniſhments, Juſtice cannot be ſaid to be concerned in it:

It is owned, That by the Sanctions annexed to his Laws, the Law-giver deſigns the Preſervation of his Laws from being violated; which is an Effect of Prudence, but ſtill of Prudence tempered with Equity, not unregardleſs of it, ſince it cannot be Prudence to threaten what I know I cannot juſtly execute: For this, in Human Laws, doth null the Penalty; and could it be ſuppoſed in Divine, would even fruſtrate the End of all God's Threats, ſince every Body would reſt aſſured that a Juſt God would never execute them.

But 2*dly*, The Execution of the threatened Judgment, which is the only thing againſt which the Objection lies, is certainly an Act of Diſtributive Juſtice, and is ſo repreſented in the Holy Scriptures; when it is ſaid to be done according to our Works, and according as our Works ſhall be, Rom. 2. 16. 2 Cor. 5. 10. Rev. 22. 12. Matth. 16. 27. And when it is declared to be δικαιοκρισία the juſt Judgment of God; and δίκαιον παρὰ τῷ Θεῷ, juſt with God, to render this Vengeance to thoſe who obey not the Goſpel, which conſiſts in their everlaſting Deſtruction, 2 Theſ. 1. 6, 8, 9. So that though Prudence was properly concerned in promulging the Penalty, becauſe 'tis Prudence which directs us to chuſe the Means moſt proper to the End we aim at; yet ſeeing the primary End of the Law-giver, i. e. the preventing the Tranſgreſſing of his Law is wholly loſt, and entirely defeated, before this Puniſhment comes to be executed, Juſtice alone can be concerned in the Execution of it; and if the continuance of the Sinner under Miſery for ever, be the Execution of the threatened Puniſhment, Juſtice alone can be concerned in the Subjection of the Sinner to that Puniſhment; ſo far is it from being true, that if Prudence be requiſite for the Proportioning Penalties to Crimes, Juſtice cannot be concerned in the Diſproportion that may be between them, and much leſs that it cannot be concerned in executing a Penalty which bears ſo great a Diſproportion to the Crime.

I confeſs alſo, that in Human Governments, Prudence may fitly be called in to deliberate, not whether it be lawful, but whether it be expedient to execute the threatened Penalty; as when the Government is feeble, and the Multitude, or Power of Offenders, may render it hazardous to do Juſtice on them; but nothing of this Nature can happen in Theocracy, where there can neither be a want of Wiſdom in appointing, or Equity in proportionating the Penalty to the Offences, and much leſs want of Power to execute what in his Equity and Wiſdom he ſaw fit to threaten.

2*dly*, When it is ſaid, That a leſs Penalty than Eternal Sufferings, would not have been ſufficient to deter Men from Sin; and therefore it could not be unreaſonable, but rather ſuitable to Divine Prudence, to threaten Eternal Miſeries.

I am not willing to admit, that God ſhould threaten what he knows he cannot, with conſiſtence to his Juſtice, or his Goodneſs, execute; this being, in effect, to threaten in this wiſe, If you will do to me what you in Juſtice ought not to do, I will execute upon you what I in Juſtice ought not to do to you. 'Tis alſo to inſinuate, that an All-wiſe God could not ſo well provide for Human Government, or carry on his great Deſigns, without abuſing Mens Credulity, and ſcaring them with dreadful Expectations of what he never did intend to execute. Laſtly, This ſeemeth even to inſinuate, that Prudence in God may act without regard to Equity and Goodneſs, and even be ſeparated from them; as it muſt be, in appointing, and even proportionating thoſe Penalties to Crimes, which it is not conſiſtent with his Equity or Goodneſs to inflict.

3*dly*, When it is added, That God is not obliged to execute what he hath threatened, any further than the Reaſons and the Ends of Government do require; and that he may, without any Injury to the Party threatened, remit and abate as much as he pleaſeth of the Puniſhment that he hath threatened, and that without any Impeachment of his Truth and Faithfulneſs.

This I allow of, in the Caſe of Temporal Puniſhments in this World, deſigned not for Exciſion, but the Amendment of the Sinner; becauſe there may be a juſt Ground for the Remiſſion of ſuch threatened Penalties, even the Repentance and Reformation of the Sinner, by which the primary End of all God's Threats, in ſome good meaſure, is obtained: And alſo becauſe theſe Threats, in what Expreſſions ſoever they are made, if they be only Threats, are ſtill conditional; the meaning of them being only this, I will inflict this Judgment, if you repent not of your evil Ways: For at what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak, ſaith God, againſt a Nation, and concerning a Kingdom, to pluck up, to pull down, and to deſtroy it, if that Nation againſt which I have pronounced theſe things, turn from their evil ways, I will repent me of the evil which I thought to do unto them, Jer. 18. 7, 8. And again, When I ſay unto the Wicked, O wicked Man, thou ſhalt ſurely die; if he do not turn from his way, he ſhall die in his iniquity. Say therefore to them, As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I have no pleaſure in the death of him that dieth, but that the wicked turn from his way and live; wherefore, turn your ſelves, and live ye, Ezek. 18. 32, 33. 8. 9, 11. 3*dly*, Becauſe God threateneth Judgments; not that he takes any pleaſure in his Puniſhments, but rather to awaken and reform the Sinner: When therefore, by his Comminations, he hath wrought this good Effect upon him, it is not to be wondered, that he doth not proceed to execute that Judgment which hath already done its Work by being threatened. And all this well comports, not only with Divine Juſtice, but alſo with his Immutability and truth, becauſe this Reformation and Repentance changes the Subject of the Threat; the change in every inſtance of this nature being not in God, but Man. Thus, v. g. we cannot charge God with Mutability, becauſe he doth not execute the threatened Judgment on repenting Nineveh; becauſe it was impenitent, and not repenting Nineveh, he threatened: Nor with Injuſtice, becauſe 'twas only her Impenitence which rendered her the proper Object of Vindictive Juſtice.

But then this Notion ſeems to be ſtretch'd too far, when 'tis extended to God's Threats of Future and Eternal Puniſhments to be inflicted upon thoſe who die in an impenitent and unreformed Eſtate. For,

1*ſt*, In all theſe Caſes, the Evil threatened hath entirely loſt its firſt and ſalutary End upon them, and therefore muſt be threatened to ſuch Perſons to no End, or elſe to ſhew the Juſtice of God in puniſhing theſe Veſſels of his Wrath thus fitted for Deſtruction. Thus, v. g. when Chriſt ſaith, Except ye repent, ye ſhall all periſh, Luke 13. 3, 5. That in the day of Wrath, and Revelation of his righteous Judgment, God will give to every one according to his works; to them that obey not the truth, but obey unrighteouſneſs, indignation, and wrath, Rom. 2. 5, 6, 7, 8. to them that obey not the Goſpel, everlaſting deſtruction. Theſe Threats are plainly made to thoſe who die in their Impenitence and Diſobedience, by that God who will judge every man according to his works; declaring, that in the Day of the Revelation of his Wrath, and righteous Judgment, they ſhall periſh everlaſtingly; becauſe, through the hardneſs and impenitency of their hearts, they have treaſured up Wrath againſt the Day of Wrath, and rendered themſelves Veſſels of his Wrath, fitted for Deſtruction. Can it be reaſonably ſaid then, becauſe God does them no Injury if he do not execute his Wrath upon them, That though they do not repent, they may not periſh? That Indignation and Wrath may not be the Portion of the Diſobedient? And that this Righteous Judge may not give to them according to their Works? May we not rather ſay unto them, as doth this very Perſon in another Place, (a) If thou continueſt Impenitent, however he may defer the execution of Temporal Evils, his Truth and Veracity is concerned to inflict Eternal Puniſhments upon thee?

2dly, God's Threats of Everlaſting Miſeries, have for their Object the Impenitent, and therefore do exclude the Suppoſition of any change in them, which may induce God to remit, or to abate the threatened Judgment: If then this Puniſhment may be remitted to them, either in part, or in whole, it muſt be either by a Change in God, or by a ſecret Intention in him not to inflict what he thus threateneth. That there was in God no ſuch ſecret Intention, this learned Perſon thus declares, by ſaying, (b) When God did threaten, he ſpake what he did really purpoſe and intend, if ſomething did not intervene to prevent the Judgment threatened. And indeed, theſe Threats declaring what the Righteous God will do, and what they who are finally Impenitent and Diſobedient ſhall ſuffer, ſuch a Secret Will muſt plainly be repugnant to his Revealed Will, and therefore muſt ſuppoſe in God two contrary Wills. Moreover, to ſay that ſuch a Secret Intention may be in God, notwithſtanding theſe Declarations to the contrary, is in great meaſure to enervate even the primary Intention of theſe Threats, viz. the deterring the Sinner, by the greatneſs and duration of them, from a continuance in his Sin; for this Intention, if it may be in God, it follows, that it may be his Will not to inflict what he hath threatened to the Sinner: Now ſo much hopes as you give the impenitent Sinner, that he may eſcape Eternal Puniſhment, ſo much encouragement you give him to continue ſtill in his Impenitence. Now (c) the belief of the Threatenings of God, in their utmoſt extent, is of ſo great moment to a good Life, and ſo great a diſcouragement to Sin, ſaith this Reverend Perſon, that if Men were once ſet free from the fear and belief of this, the moſt powerful Reſtraint from Sin would be taken away.

That this cannot be expected, by reaſon of any change in God, this excellent Perſon thus declares, and evinceth: (d) 'Let but the Sinner conſider what God is, and his unchangeable Nature muſt needs terrifie him; he is an Holy God, who therefore hateth all the Workers of Iniquity. A Juſt God, who will by no means clear the Guilty, nor let the Sinner go unpuniſhed. He is alſo Omnipotent, and able to execute the Vengeance threatened againſt Sinners. And, which gives a ſad Accent to all this, he that is thus Holy, and Juſt, and Powerful, continues ever the ſame; he will never ceaſe to hate Iniquity, and to be an implacable Enemy to all Impenitent Sinners.—— Let (then) all obſtinate Sinners hear this, and tremble; you cannot be more obſtinately bent to continue in your Ways, than God is peremptorily reſolved to make you miſerable; if you be determined on a ſinful Courſe, God is alſo determined how he will deal with you; that he will not ſpare, but that his Anger and Jealouſy ſhall ſmoke againſt you; and, that all the Curſes which are written in this Book, ſhall light upon you. He hath ſworn in his Wrath, that unbelieving and impenitent Sinners ſhall not enter into his Reſt; and for the greater aſſurance of the thing, and that we may not think that there is any Condition implied in theſe Threatenings, he hath confirmed them by an Oath, that by this immutable Sign, in which it is impoſſible for God to lye, Sinners might have ſtrong Terrors, and not be able to fly to any hopes of Refuge.'

3dly, Either God may in Juſtice inflict upon the Wicked theſe Puniſhments which he hath threatened, or elſe it is unjuſt in God to execute upon them the Judgment written, i.e. the Puniſhment which he hath threatened to them in the Word of Truth. If it be ſaid, It is unjuſt in God to execute them on the Sinner dying in his Impenitence, either we cannot be obliged to believe that Word in which theſe Threats are contained; or elſe an Obligation muſt lie upon us to believe that God will act unjuſtly. If, to avoid this, it be ſaid, Theſe Threats do not diſcover certainly what God will do, but only what the Sinner doth deſerve to ſuffer, read them once more, and you will find, that they expreſly ſay of thoſe who ſhall be at the Great Day condemned, That they ſhall go away into Eternal Puniſhment, Mat. 25. 46. That they ſhall be puniſhed with eternal Deſtruction from the Pre- ſence of the Lord, 2 Theſſ. 1. 8. And that they ſhall be tormented Day and Night for ever and ever, Rev. 14. 10, 11. and 20. 10.

Moreover, when our Saviour argues thus, to induce Men to cut off their offending Hands, and pluck out their offending Eyes; 'tis better to enter into Life halt and maimed, than to be caſt into Eternal Fire; or into Hell, Where the Worm dieth not, and where the Fire is not quenched, Matth. 18. 8, 9. doth he not ſufficiently inform us, there is an abſolute neceſſity of doing the one, or ſuffering the other? When he ſaith, He that blaſphemeth againſt the Holy Ghoſt, ſhall never be forgiven in this, or in the World to come, but ſhall be obnoxious to Eternal Judgment, Matth. 12. 32. Mark 3. 29. doth he not inſinuate, that he who never is forgiven, muſt be for ever ſubject to this Judgment? It is therefore certain, that our Judge hath expreſly taught us, not only that the impenitent Sinner doth deſerve, but that he ſhall actually ſuffer the Worm that never dies, the Fire that ſhall not be quenched.

If God in Juſtice may inflict upon the Wicked theſe Puniſhments which he hath threatened, then the Objection cannot need this Anſwer; yea, what can move him not to inflict what he, by Threatening, hath engaged his Truth to do? What, I ſay, can move him not to do it, but an Act of Mercy exerciſed to them, of whom the Scripture ſaith, They ſhall have Judgment without Mercy, Jam. 2. 13. what but Remiſſion of that Sin, which, ſaith the Scripture, ſhall never be remitted? What, but Mercy in the Day of Wrath and Judgment? What, but Remiſſion exerciſed to the Impenitent, without an Intereſt in the Blood of our Redemption? To which Imaginations I conceive the Scripture gives but little Countenance.

Nor are we to conclude, That the Non-execution of theſe Threats, lays no Impeachment on God's Truth and Faithfulneſs; becauſe it is not eſteemed, among Men, a piece of Falſhood, not to do what they have threatened. For Men may reaſonably be moved to remit their Threatenings; becauſe they oft are made in Paſſion, or may exceed the Rules of Juſtice: But theſe are things not incident to an All-perfect God; or, becauſe the Perſon threatened, repents, begs Pardon, and returns unto his Duty, which the Damned cannot be ſuppoſed to do.

§. 5. It is further ſaid, in Anſwer to this Objection, That, macula peccati eſt æterna, the Stain of them who die in their Impenitence, will be perpetual; and he that dies thus filthy, will be filthy ſtill: Now it ſeems equitable, that, is qui nunquam deſinit eſſe malus, nunquam deſineret eſſe miſer, he who never ceaſes to be wicked, ſhould never ceaſe to be miſerable. Now this, rightly explained, affords a clear and ſatisfactory Anſwer to the Objection; as ſhewing, that the Sinner becomes for ever miſerable, not by any poſitive Act of God inflicting everlaſting Stripes upon him, or loading him perpetually with freſh Torments, but wholly from his own Sin, which renders him uncapable of the enjoyment of an holy God, and ſo perpetually excluded from his bliſsful Preſence, which, to a Soul that is immortal, and can never die, muſt be the Source of Everlaſting Torment, and, from the natural workings of its Faculties, will neceſſarily ſubject it to the Worm that never dies.

I own, and really believe, that poſitive Torments, ſuch as the Schools call Pœna ſenſûs, ſhall be inflicted on the Body; but then I have inſinuated my preſent Notion of them to be this:

1ſt, That theſe poſitive Torments on the Body are not to begin until the Raiſing of the Body, when Chriſt ſhall come in flaming Fire, to take Vengeance on them who would not obey his Goſpel; the World that now is, being reſerved to be ſet on fire, for the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men. At which Time, I conceive, the Righteous ſhall be ſnatched up into the Air, and be for ever with the Lord, 1 Theſ. 4. 17. and the Wicked ſhall be left to the devouring Flames. See for this, the Note on 2 Pet. 3. 7.

2dly, I alſo do conjecture, that this Fire may be called Eternal; not that the Bodies of the Wicked ſhall be for ever burning in it, and never be conſumed by it, ſince this cannot be done without a conſtant Miracle; but becauſe it ſhall ſo entirely conſume their Bodies, as that they never ſhall ſubſiſt again, but ſhall periſh, and be deſtroyed for ever by it. In which ſenſe Sodom and Gomorrah were ſet forth for an Example, ſuffering the Vengeance of Eternal Fire. See the Note on Jude, v. 7. And if ſo, this Puniſhment being only temporary, the Objection doth not lie againſt it; God being no more obliged, either in Juſtice, or in Goodneſs, to ſnatch the Wicked out of theſe Flames, when they thus kindle on them, than he was to ſnatch the Wicked of the Old World out of that Deluge which overwhelm'd them. Theſe I call my Conjectures, or my private Sentiments. But then I add, as certain Matter of my Faith,

1ſt, That the Soul, even from the time of its Separation from the Body, in its Impenitency, ſhall find itſelf in ſuch a diſmal State, as ſhall then fill it with perpetual Horror, and dreadful Expectation of the Puniſhment which God hath threatened to the Wicked. And thus it ſhall be like thoſe Devils which believe, and tremble, Jam. 2. 19. as knowing that there is reſerved for them a time of Torment, Matth. 8. 29.

2dly, That when the final Sentence ſhall be paſs'd upon the Wicked, and they ſhall be for ever ſeparated from the Preſence of the Lord, their Souls ſhall be perpetually ſubject to the height of Miſery, or to that Worm which never dies; and that this Miſery will be the natural and the perpetual reſult of ſuch a Separation.

To explain this let it be conſidered,

1. That there is ſcarce any thing in which the Heathen Moraliſts ſo univerſally accord, as in this fix'd Rule, μὴ καθαρῷ καθαροῦ ἐπόπτεσθαι οὐ θεμιτὸν ᾖ, that an impure Soul can have no Commerce with a pure God; and that it is not congruous to his Nature, to admit ſuch Souls into his Preſence. And this Aſſertion is built upon a ſure and inconteſtible foundation; for ſeeing God is abſolute in Holineſs, he cannot but retain the greateſt hatred to, and abhorrence of all Actions and Perſons that are unrighteous and impure; and ſince his Nature is immutable, his Holineſs unchangeable, he muſt for ever hate, with a moſt perfect Hatred, whatſoever is unholy and impure; and therefore to ſuppoſe an Interruption of his Hatred of Evil doers, is to imagine he can ceaſe to be a pure and holy God. Conſider,

2. That the Soul of a wicked Man being immortal, muſt abide for ever if it be not annihilated; and that God neither is oblig'd to annihilate it, nor hath he any where declared that he will do ſo.

I ſay, he is not obliged to annihilate the Souls of wicked Men, for then it muſt be ſo on this account, becauſe he is obliged to put them out of that Miſery which they have brought upon themſelves by their own Folly, and Rebellions; and if ſo, ſince this muſt certainly be an Act, not of ſtrict Juſtice, but of Grace and Favour, God muſt be bound to ſhew an Act of Grace and Favour towards Men, purely becauſe they have provoked and rebell'd againſt him, i. e. becauſe they have done that which renders them the proper Objects of his Hatred and his Indignation, and be obliged to ſave Men from that Miſery which by their ſtubborn Diſobedience to all his Calls and Admonitions, his Exhortations, and all the gracious Methods his Providence had uſed to preſerve them from it, they wilfully have brought upon themſelves. Whereas indeed the riches of his goodneſs being deſigned to lead Men to Repentance, or to encourage them in ways of Holineſs and Piety, hath only for its proper Object ſuch as are capable of being made the better by it, it cannot therefore be the Goodneſs and Mercy of a God to ſhew kindneſs to perſons obſtinately and incorrigibly wicked, becauſe it cannot be the Goodneſs and Mercy of a Being infinitely juſt and holy; for ſeeing all the Divine Perfections muſt agree together, that cannot be a Divine Perfection which contradicts any other Perfection.

The original of our Miſtakes in matters of this nature, ſeems to ariſe from our own Imperfection, which naturally leads us to conſider of the Divine Attributes apart, and as it were, in ſeparation from each other, and by ſo doing, to frame ſuch wide and large Notions of the one, as to exclude the other. Whereas indeed they ought to be conſidered as really they are in God himſelf, i. e. Goodneſs and Mercy joined with infinite Holineſs and Juſtice; and as it is the Goodneſs and Mercy of a Law-giver, Governor, and righteous Judge, which never regularly can be exerciſed without ſome proſpect of reclaiming, or doing good unto the Object of it. And thus 'tis well conſiſtent with the Prayer of David, Be not thou merciful to them that offend of malicious wickedneſs, Pſal. 59. 5.

§. 6. I add, That God hath not declared in Scripture that he will annihilate the Souls of wicked Men, or that this is the Puniſhment which he deſigneth to inflict upon them. This is generally ſaid to be the Doctrine of the Socinians, though (e) Crellius expreſly ſays, Animas impiorum Deum poſt judicium annihilaturum nec Scriptura aſſerit, nec ratio evincit; That neither Reaſon doth evince, or Scripture aſſert, it will be ſo. And

Object. 1. 'Tis certain that this follows not from any of thoſe places of the Old Teſtament in which the Dead are ſaid to be no more, or not to be: as, v. g. Let the Sinners be conſumed out of the Earth, and let the Wicked be no more, Pſal. 104. 35. Our Fathers have ſinned, and are not, Lam. 5. 7. I have made Eſau bare — his Seed is ſpoiled, and he is not, Jer. 49. 10. See chap. 10. 20. 35. 15.

For (1.) If any of theſe places ſpeak of Annihilation, they muſt ſpeak of ſuch a one as was then paſs'd already, and ſo is inconſiſtent with the future Judgment of thoſe Perſons, becauſe it is not ſaid they ſhall not be, but they are not; they therefore cannot refer to any future Annihilation at the Day of Judgment.

2. Then muſt the Righteous be annihilated as well as the Wicked; for of righteous Enoch it is ſaid, He walked before God, and was not, Gen. 5. 24. of Joſeph, One is not, Gen. 42. 13. and David prays thus for himſelf, O ſpare me a little, that I may recover my ſtrength, before I go hence and be not, Pſal. 39. 13. 'Tis therefore evident theſe places only were intended to import, thoſe Perſons were not in the Land of the Living.

Object. 2. But 'tis objected, That the Wicked after the Reſurrection ſhall be puniſh'd with the ſecond Death, wherefore they cannot in any proper Senſe be ſaid to live, and to ſubſiſt, and to have ſenſe of Pain, this being not conſiſtent with a ſtate of Death.

(e) Solut. Problem. Tom. 4. p. 533.

Anſw. I anſwer, 1. That this ſecond Death cannot conſiſt in the annihilation of the Wicked, or in their Exemption from all Senſe of Puniſhment, becauſe 'tis promiſed that He who overcometh ſhall not be hurt by the ſecond Death, Rev. 2. 11. whence it is manifeſt that they who die this ſecond Death, ſhall be hurt by it; but were it to the Wicked, condemned to an eternal Separation from God, and from all Hopes of Happineſs, a Concluſion of their Being, and of all ſenſe of Miſery, it would be no more hurtful, but highly beneficial to them, as being a Concluſion of that Life which they muſt otherwiſe have ſpent in endleſs Miſery. And therefore even Hierocles repreſents this as the Choice of wicked Men, by ſaying in his Commentary on the Verſes of Pythagoras, p. 164. οὐ βούλεται γὰρ ὁ κακὸς ἀθάνατον εἶναι τὴν αὐτοῦ ψυχὴν, ἵνα μὴ ὑπομένῃ τιμωρούμενος, the Wicked Man would not have his Soul to be immortal, that he might not abide under Puniſhment. Moreover, thoſe very Torments which the Damned ſuffer are declared to be the ſecond Death, and wicked Men are therefore ſaid to die the ſecond Death, becauſe they do endure eternal Torments; for the fearful and unbelievers, &c. ſhall have their part in that Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, which is the ſecond Death, Rev. 21. 8. This Death then, when it is threatened as the final Puniſhment of the Wicked, cannot import a State of Non-exiſtence, or Inſenſibility, but only an unhappy miſerable State, a Separation of the Soul from him who is the Fountain of our Life, and all our Comforts; and abſolute Excluſion from that Felicity which only renders Life a Bleſſing, and a Life of Infelicity and Miſery. To make this ſtill more evident, Conſider 2*dly*, That this is a Jewiſh Phraſe, uſed often by, and borrow'd from the Ancient Hebrews, with whom it doth import the Puniſhment of damned Perſons in the Life to come. So, Deut. 33. 6. Let Reuben live, and not die the ſecond Death, ſaith the Targum of Onkelos, i. e. let him not die the Death which the Wicked die in the Age to come, ſaith the Targum of B. Uziel. Let him not die the ſecond Death which the wicked die in the Age to come, ſaith the Jeruſalem Targum. Now that the Death of the Wicked, in the Age to come, did really ſubject them to eternal Torments, the Jews ſtill thought. as is apparent not only from the plain Teſtimony of (f) Joſephus, who ſaith, the Phariſees aſſigned to the wicked εἱργμὸν ἀΐδιον, an Eternal Priſon, in which they were to be tormented, (g) ἀϊδίῳ τιμωρίᾳ, with Eternal Puniſhment; and from Philo, who ſaith, that ſome conceive Death to be the laſt of Puniſhments, whereas it ſcarcely deſerveth to be named the beginning of them, ſeeing the Puniſhment reſerved for the wicked Perſon is, ζῆν ἀποθνήσκοντα ἀεὶ ϗ τρόπον τινὰ θάνατον ὑπομένειν ἀτελεύτητον, to live for ever in a dying State, and ſuffer ſuch a Death as hath no end; but alſo from the Apocryphal Books, which ſay, κλαύσονται ἐν αἰσθήσει ἕως αἰῶνος, they ſhall feel them, and weep for ever, Judith 16. 17. So again, Iſa. 22. 14. This Sin ſhall not be forgiven till the ſecond Death; that is, ſaith Kimchi, till the Soul dieth in the World to come. And, chap. 65. 5, 6, 15. of the ſame Perſons it is ſaid, God will kill them with the ſecond Death; and he will deliver them up to the Puniſhment of Hell, where the fire burneth all the day.

Object. It further is objected, That eternal Life is ſaid to be peculiar to the Saints in Bliſs, whereas unto the wicked it is threatened that they ſhall not ſee Life, John 3. 36.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, That Life in Scripture, when it is mentioned as the end of our Faith, and the Reward of our Obedience, is not intended only to ſignify our permanence in Being, but to aſſure us of our advancement to a ſtate of Happineſs, and is equivalent to Everlaſting Life. So to the Lawyer asking, What good thing ſhall I do, that I may inherit eternal Life? Our Saviour anſwers, Do this and thou ſhalt live, Luke 10. 25, 28. So Chriſt ſaith, He that eateth me ſhall live by me, John 6. 57. i. e. He ſhall live for ever, v. 58. I came that my Sheep might have Life, John 10. 10. I give unto them Life Eternal, v. 28. And that this is the Life denied to the Wicked, John 3. 36. is evident from the precedent Words of the ſame Verſe, He that believeth on the Son hath everlaſting Life; but he that believeth not the Son ſhall not ſee Life. This is a Phraſe ſo known, and this uſe of it is ſo frequent, ſaith Maimonides, that hence our Maſters ſay, The juſt are ſtiled living in their Death, becauſe they then are happy. And that the Phraſe, Not to ſee Life, cannot import a ſtate of Non-exiſtence, or Inſenſibility, is evident, becauſe 'tis ſaid of them who do not ſee Life, that the Wrath of God abideth on them, they therefore muſt abide under a Senſe of it.

Obj. 4. Laſtly, It is objected, That the wicked are in Scripture ſaid to periſh utterly, 2 Pet. 2. 12. and to be puniſhed with everlaſting Deſtruction; now theſe Expreſſions ſeem to ſignify a deprivation of all ſenſe and being.

Anſw. But nothing is more common, both in Greek and Latin, and in other Languages, than to ſay, when we conceive our future Life is likely to be miſerable, ὄλλυμι, perii, I am undone, I periſh. See the (i) Note of Taubman upon thoſe words of Plautus, Qui per virtutem periit, is non interit. That only in this moral ſenſe the Damned are in Scripture ſaid to periſh, viz. by having all their Hopes of future Happineſs deſtroyed, and being ſentenc'd to thoſe Torments which are exceedingly more heavy than the Loſs of Being, is evident; firſt from the Scripture, which informs us, that to caſt the Soul and Body into Hell-fire, is to deſtroy them, as is apparent from theſe two Expreſſions, Fear him who can deſtroy both Soul and Body in Hell-fire, Matth. 10. 28. who after he hath killed, hath power to caſt into Hell, ſaith St. Luke, chap. 12. 5. that is, into that place where the Worm dieth not, and where the Fire is not quenched. Moreover, the Devils put the Queſtion to our Saviour thus, ἦλθες ἀπολέσαι ἡμᾶς; art thou come to deſtroy us before the time? Luke 4. 34. and yet that to deſtroy is only βασανίσαι, to torment them, is evident from the ſame Queſtion recited by St. Matthew thus, Art thou come to torment us before the time? chap. 8. 29. And had the Devils thought, that at Chriſt's Coming they might have been reduced into the ſtate of Non-exiſtence or Inſenſibility, they could have had no reaſon to dread, or deprecate ſo vehemently that Perdition which would ſo long ago have freed them from that Horror which they ſtill endure.

Moreover, this Opinion is ſo far from being contained in the Holy Scriptures, that it is plainly contrary to many things contained in it: For, (1.) The Scripture plainly intimates, ſome in the other World ſhall ſuffer more, ſome leſs; for it ſhall be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the Day of Judgment than for Capernaum, Matth. 11. 21.—25. that ſome ſhall be beaten with fewer, ſome with many Stripes, Luke 12. 47, 48. ſome ſhall receive greater Damnation than others, Matth. 23. 14. But if Annihilation only be the ſecond Death, the Puniſhment, and Perdition threatened to Sinners in the other World, they muſt all ſuffer equally; becauſe if there be no degrees of Annihilation, or Not-being, then all will equally not be, or loſe their Being, and nothing by Annihilation can loſe more. 2*dly*, It is ſaid of the Wicked, that they ſhall be caſt into the place where their Worm dieth not; of them that ſhall not ſee Life, that the Wrath of God abideth on them; of them that are caſt into utter Darkneſs, that there is weeping and wailing. Now that of the Schools is abſolutely true, that non entis nullæ ſunt affectiones, that which is not, cannot be in Miſery; that which abides not, cannot abide under the Wrath of God, that which ſo dieth, as to ceaſe to be, cannot be ſubject to a Worm that dieth not, whatever be the import of that Phraſe. Conſider,

§. 7. 2*dly*, That we have two Paſſions of the Soul which are ſtill converſant about Good preſent, and to come, viz. deſire of the Good we want, and joy in that which we at preſent have. When therefore we are in a ſtate in which we cannot poſſibly enjoy the Good we above all things want, and naturally deſire, we muſt for ever lie under the Torment of Diſſatisfaction and Deſpair; and when we fall into that ſtate in which we can enjoy no comfortable, or real Good, we never can have any Joy. Again, we have two other Paſſions which are employed about a preſent, or a future Evil; Fear that it may befall us, and Grief when it hath actually taken hold upon us. It therefore being natural to all Men to deſire to be freed from an afflictive Evil, when they lie under it without all Hopes or Proſpect of any End of, or Deliverance from, the worſt of Evils, they muſt be ſwallowed up of Grief; and when their Guilt hath rendered them ſtill obnoxious to the Divine Diſpleaſure, they muſt be ſubject to Eternal Fears. Conſider,

3*dly*, That the proper Action of the Soul is Thought, and that whilſt ſhe continues, ſhe muſt be conſcious to herſelf of her own Actions; when then the Soul hath nothing comfortable to employ its Thoughts upon, but an eternal Scene of Miſery, to which her wilful Sin and Folly hath everlaſtingly confined her, to be the doleful ſubject of her continual Reflections, when ſhe hath nothing to divert her from theſe rueful Thoughts, ſhe muſt become an endleſs Torment to herſelf. Now from theſe three Conſiderations it will demonſtrably follow, that the Soul which in this Life hath not been purged from the Dominion, or the Guilt of Sin, and therefore is excluded from a State of Happineſs, and from Enjoyment of that God in whom its Happineſs conſiſts, muſt be for ever miſerable.

For it muſt be perpetually tormented with the Thoughts of its eternal Separation from God's bliſsful Preſence, and its Excluſion from the State of Happineſs which Saints made perfect do enjoy. Now, as an Heathen (k) Plutarch puts the Queſtion, Muſt it not be very ſad to be deprived of the Hope of everlaſting Bleſſings, and to be excluded from the completeſt Happineſs? Were the Damned obnoxious to no other Puniſhments beſides this Loſs, even this would beget in them ſuch a Worm of Conſcience, as would perpetually ſubject them to the worſt of Miſeries: As will be evident if we conſider,

1. That the earneſt and impetuous Deſire which is in all Men to be happy, is rooted in their very Nature, and therefore muſt continue as long as they retain that Nature, and yet it is impoſſible that this Deſire ſhould in the leaſt be gratified, when we are once condemned to an eternal Separation from the Place and Object of our Happineſs, there being no hope that they ſhould ever ſee his Face, who at the coming of their Judge ſhall be puniſhed with everlaſting Deſtruction from the Preſence of the Lord. Now the Wiſe Man tells us, that even Hope deferred makes the Heart ſick, Prov. 13. 12. Hope therefore irrecoverably diſappointed muſt create in it an exceſs of Torment. A wicked Cain accounted it an inſupportable Calamity to be excluded from God's gracious Preſence here on Earth; My Puniſhment, ſaith he, is greater than I am able to bear, for from thy face ſhall I be hid, Gen. 4. 13, 14. How dreadful therefore muſt that Sentence be, which doth eternally exclude us from his bliſsful Preſence, and force us to a continual deſpair of that which we moſt ardently deſire? For as it is one great Ingredient of our future Happineſs, that it is that which can never be loſt, ſo muſt it be a ſignal aggravation of our future Miſery, and loſs of Happineſs, to know it is irreparable.

2. This Loſs will be enhanſed from the great Change the other World will make in our Condition. The Terrors of an awakened and guilty Conſcience, even in this Life, are very grievous; but here we may be able to mitigate the Gripings of it by the Society of others, or by the Pleaſures of the World; we may deceive it with falſe Opinions, and flatter it with falſe Hopes and Promiſes of Reformation and Amendment; but when we are paſſed hence into another World, our vain Imaginations will be all confuted, our Hopes of Reformation will be at an end, and we ſhall be eternally deprived of all thoſe Enjoyments in which we once placed our Happineſs, and ſhall have nothing to divert us from our ſaddeſt Thoughts: Now, what Condition can be more deplorable than this, viz. to be deprived of all thoſe Comforts in which we placed our former Happineſs, and find it utterly impoſſible to purchaſe the leaſt glimpſe of real Happineſs, or to divert our Thoughts from a continual Remorſe for our irreparable Loſs?

For 3. The Sinner's memory reflecting on this Puniſhment of Loſs, will create freſh and never-ceaſing Torments to him. It will torment him to remember what an ineſtimable Bleſſing he hath loſt, in loſing the Enjoyment of that God who is the chiefeſt Good, and of that Happineſs which paſſeth Underſtanding; for the greater ſtill we apprehend the Good to be, the greater will the Trouble we endure be, when we have wholly loſt the hopes of its Enjoyment. Again, it will add ſtill to the Torment of the Sinner, to conſider that he hath exchanged this exceeding, and eternal Weight of Glory, for things of no intrinſick value and duration; that for the Pleaſures of a moment, which are now turned into Sadneſs, he ſhould forego thoſe Pleaſures which run at God's right Hand for ever; that for a little fading Earth, which he ſoon left behind him, he ſhould deprive himſelf of an Inheritance incorruptible, reſerved in the Heavens for him. It will alſo torment him to conſider in what a fair Capacity he was once placed of being happy; what frequent Calls and Invitations he hath had to be for ever ſo; what Importunity the God of Heaven uſed to bring him thither; and with what Stiffneſs he reſiſted all theſe gracious Motions: Theſe, and ſuch like Conſiderations will fill the miſerable Soul with conſtant Matter of moſt ſad Reflections. Now, ſaith the (l) Heathen Orator, ſuppoſe a Perſon ſubject to the extreameſt Miſeries which can be incident to Soul and Body, without all hope of the alleviation of this Miſery, or expectation of any future Good, and what can be imagined farther to complete his Miſery?

And now to anſwer the Objection by removing the foundation of it: Hence it is eaſy to demonſtrate, that all theſe Evils which the Soul ſuffers after Death, may rather be eſteemed the neceſſary Conſequents, as (m) Irenæus hath obſerved, than poſitive and formal Puniſhments of Sin by an immediate Hand of God. For being deſtitute of all good things, they are, ſaith Irenæus, in all Torment, τοῦ Θεοῦ μὲν προηγητικῶς μὴ κολάζοντος, ἐπακολουθούσης δὲ ἐκείνης τῆς κολάσεως διὰ τὸ ἐστερῆσθαι πάντων τῶν ἀγαθῶν, God not internally tormenting them, but their Torment following upon the deprivation of all Good; and likewiſe becauſe the good things proceeding from God are eternal and without end, therefore the want of them is an eternal and endleſs Puniſhment. * Mercurius Triſmegiſtus ſaith in like manner, that Ἀσεβὴς ψυχὴ μένει ἐπὶ τῆς ἰδίας οὐσίας ὑφ' ἑαυτῆς κολαζομένη, The Soul of the wicked Man continues in its proper Eſſence, being tormented from it ſelf. Apollodorus adds, That Ἀδίκων εἶναι τὰ κολαστήρια διὰ τοῦ λογισμοῦ, καὶ τῆς μνήμης τῶν βεβαιομένων τὰς κολάσεις ἐχόντων· The Unjuſt are puniſhed from their own Reaſonings, and their Puniſhment reſults from the Remembrance of what they had done in this Life; and when the remembrance of theſe things ceaſeth, καὶ ἡ κόλασις τῆς ψυχῆς πέπαυται, The Puniſhment of the Soul ceaſeth. For inſtance, That Souls departed, are deprived of the Love of God, are Objects of his Wrath, and are excluded from his Preſence, happeneth not meerly becauſe they are Souls ſeparated from the Body; for pious Souls, after their Separation, are intirely exempted from theſe Evils; but this ariſeth from the natural Purity and Holineſs of God, which renders it incongruous to him to admit ſuch Souls into his Preſence, and the Defilement and Impurity which theſe unhappy Souls lie under, and by which they are rendered unable to converſe with the God of Holineſs. The Worm of Conſcience, the Deſperation, the direful Expectations which follow from this Senſe of Loſs, and the Divine Diſpleaſure, are alſo the natural Reſults of the Soul's Separation in an impure and unſanctified Condition, and therefore being filthy ſtill. Moreover, it being natural to all Men, ſay the very Heathens, (n) to give good things to them they love, and in whom they delight, and to inflict evil things on thoſe to whom they ſtand affected contrariwiſe; How can it be, but that the Soul thus conſcious of thoſe abominable things which the Lord hates, and which moſt juſtly have incenſed this Righteous Judge, ſhould live under moſt dreadful Expectations of his Wrath? Now, true is that of the Tragœdian, Pœnas dat qui expectat, qui autem meruit expectat; He ſuffers, whoſe Conſcience tells him he deſerves, and therefore cannot but expect to ſuffer. Laſtly, That he is thus to be eternally a Torment to himſelf, ariſeth from the Immortality of the Soul, which cannot ceaſe to be, without an immediate Diſſolution from the Hand of God; and whilſt it doth continue, cannot ceaſe to be deſirous of that Happineſs from which it will for ever be excluded, or ceaſe to be tormented with the Thoughts of that ſtupendous Folly which did ſubject it to this heavy Doom.

And now what a poor Comfort is it to the Sinner to laugh at what is ſaid touching Hell-Fire, and a Lake of Brimſtone, as unphiloſophical; and ſay, that theſe are things improper to torment a Spiritual Soul, if undeniably it may be ſubject to the Loſs of all that is deſirable to make it happy, to endleſs Grief, to remedileſs Remorſe, and dreadful Expectations of the Wrath of God, and a perpetual Deſpair of being ever freed from theſe tormenting Evils, which as the Heathen hath obſerved, are πυρὸς καὶ σιδήρου βεβαιότερα, more violent and inſupportable than any Puniſhment by Fire and Sword: What if the Fire in which the Bodies of the Wicked are to be tormented, ſhould not be kindled till our Saviour come in flaming Fire to take Vengeance on them? What Comfort will this yield the Sinner, if, from the Day of its departure from the Body, his Soul will be obnoxious to this greater Miſery? What, laſtly, if that Fire of the Damned, in which their Bodies are to be tormented, ſhould only be Eternal, in that ſenſe in which St. Jude informs us, that Sodom and Gomorrah, and the Cities round about them, have been ſet forth for an Example, ſuffering the Vengeance of Eternal Fire; If this amazing Torment of the Soul, which, in propriety of Speech, is only capable of feeling Torment, will be Eternal, in the higheſt and moſt intenſive import of that word?

If it be ſtill objected, that it ſeems not conſiſtent with Divine Goodneſs, to have framed Man ſo, as that he ſhould be miſerable from himſelf; this, at one blow, cuts off both Heaven, and Hell: For it is to find fault with God, and repreſent him as leſs Good, for making any Beings capable of Vice and Vertue. For all our Vertue, in a ſtate of Trial, conſiſts in chuſing well, when we had freedom, and ſome Temptations to do otherwiſe; and all our Vice in chuſing to do ill, when we had Laws directing us to avoid the Evil, and to chuſe the Good, and had the higheſt Motive ſo to do: To ſay then, a good God could not create a Creature capable of Vice and Vertue, is in effect to ſay, 'tis inconſiſtent with Divine Goodneſs to create ſuch Creatures as ſhould be ſubject unto Government; ſince Government ſuppoſes Laws, and Laws muſt be attended with the Sanctions of Rewards and Puniſhments. Here then again the Miſtake lies in ſeparating the Divine Goodneſs from his Holineſs and Juſtice; whereas Juſtice and Holineſs are as eſſential to the Notion of a God, as Goodneſs: For 'tis impoſſible that Juſtice ſhould belong to the Idea of God, if it were irreconcilable with the Divine Goodneſs to make ſuch Creatures as may deſerve well, or ill, i. e. to be rewarded or puniſhed. And ſeeing the Holineſs of God renders it neceſſary for him to retain the greateſt hatred to, and abhorrence of incorrigible Sinners, if it be inconſiſtent with Divine Goodneſs to make any Creature which may deſerve to be the Object of his Hatred, Goodneſs and Holineſs cannot both belong to the Idea of God.

If laſtly, it ſtill be enquired, why Divine Goodneſs and Mercy doth not ſtill leave condemned Sinners in a capacity of that Repentance and Reformation which might, after a ſeaſon, fit them for the Enjoyment of Himſelf, and thereby put an happy end to all their Miſery?

I anſwer, That both the Chriſtians and Heathens do accord in this, That theſe Eternal Puniſhments ſhall only be inflicted, (o) ἐπὶ τοὺς καταλαμβανομένους ἐν τῇ ἀνιάτῳ κακίᾳ, on thoſe that are incurably wicked: And they who ſhall hereafter be found thus confirmed in Wickedneſs, are by the (p) Heathens given up to Torments without End. Yea, (q) Celſus dogmatically ſays, That they judge rightly, who ſay, The Juſt ſhall be happy, οἱ δὲ ἄδικοι πάμπαν αἰωνίοις κακοῖς συνέχονται. But the Unjuſt ſhall be always ſubject to Eternal Evils: And that this was the Opinion of the Heathens, as well as of the Chriſtians, and that no Man ought ever to depart from it. Now that which haply may render their State incurable, may be,

1. That their Day of Grace is paſt, and turn'd into a Day of Wrath; their Time of Trial and Probation is expired, and they are come to the Time of Retribution. For as the Chriſtians teach, That a Man cannot be truly good and holy, without the aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit; ſo did the (r) Heathens teach, That there was an abſolute need of a Divine Afflatus, or Good Aſſiſting Genius, to preſerve them from Sin, and to advance them to a virtuous Life. Now, why is it unjuſt with God to ſay, His Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with them who have ſo long reſiſted all his Motions, and hardened their Hearts againſt him? Whom all the Riches of his Goodneſs could not lead unto Repentance, or preſerve from treaſuring up Wrath againſt the Day of Wrath? Either the Day of Grace muſt never end; or there muſt be a time when they that are filthy, will be filthy ſtill.

Moreover, To aſſert, It is unjuſt with God, or inconſiſtent with his Goodneſs, to appoint a Day in which he will judge the World in Righteouſneſs, and render to Men according to their Works; as it ſeems plainly to border on a Contradiction in the Terms; ſo it cuts off all future Judgment; it being certain, God neither will, nor can do what is inconſiſtent with his Goodneſs to do; and, according to this Hypotheſis, he muſt never paſs the final and decretory Sentence upon wicked Men.

2*dly*, The Place and Company to which the Damned ſhall be ſentenced, ſeems to render them incapable of growing better; for when they are once given up to the Tormentor, and kept in Chains of Darkneſs, what Expectation can there be they ſhould grow better under this Enemy of God and Goodneſs? And yet that this is one Ingredient of their Future State, is not the Sentiment of Jews and Chriſtians only from the Holy Scripture, but alſo of the Heathens from the Tradition they had received, as is evident both (s) from their own Words, and from their Adraſtia, Nemeſis, Alaſtores, their Furies, hurtful Dæmons, and their Evil Genius's.

3*dly*, The Alteration of their Condition and their State, ſeems to exclude all Place for Reformation, and for the Exerciſe of Piety and Virtue. For the Sentence of Condemnation, and Excluſion from God's bliſsful Preſence, being paſs'd upon them, they have no hope of being happy, or of eſcaping the Miſery to which they are expoſed; and ſo can have no Motive to be better, nor can they be in a capacity to love that God from whom they can expect no Good. There alſo ſeems to be no place for Virtue in a Future State; no room for Temperance, where there is no capacity of enjoying Meats or Drinks, or any Pleaſures of the Fleſh; no place for Juſtice, where there is no Meum and Tuum; no poſſibility to kill, or maim, or to be cruel to another, when none can be defamed to their prejudice, and hurt in their Concerns. Laſtly, No place for Charity, where there is either none that can want any thing, or none that can receive Advantage by us.

ENQUIRY,

Whether the Apoſtles, in their Writings, ſpake as conceiving the Day of Judgment might be in their Days; and accordingly ſuited their Phraſes and Exhortations.

I Have ſhewed in the Note upon 1 Theſſ. 4. 15. and in an additional Note on 2 Cor. 5. 1, 9. that the Apoſtles of our Lord neither did, nor could uſe any Expreſſions importing that the Day of Judgment might happen in their Days, or in that Age in which they lived: But Mr. Whiſton in his excellent Eſſay on the Revelation of St. John, hath very largely endeavoured to prove the contrary; I ſhall therefore impartially conſider what he hath offered for the Support of his two Corollaries, and ſhall endeavour to ſhew the Weakneſs of his Arguments, and the pernicious Conſequences of his Aſſertion, and then ſhall leave the Reader to judge of this important Point, and where the fatal Miſtake lies. Now his firſt Aſſertion is, That our Saviour himſelf, as Man, whilſt he was on Earth at leaſt, did not know the Duration of the Days of the Meſſiah, nor the time of the Riſe, and the duration of Antichriſt, which was included in it. Now in this Propoſition I have no concern, and ſo ſhall not be long either in anſwering what he alledges for, or in the Confutation of it. I therefore grant that our Saviour, whilſt he acted as a Prophet, or a Revealer of his Father's Will, whilſt he was here on Earth, did not by the Revelation of the Spirit know the Day or Hour of the Day of Judgment; but I deny, that hence it follows, that he did not know the Age, in which it was to happen, or what great Occurrences, or previous Mutations were to happen before that Day. 2*dly*, I grant, that he that was the Lamb ſlain was therefore worthy to open the ſealed Book; but I deny, that hence it follows, that he was not able to know the Contents of it before. 3*dly*, I grant that to the Queſtion of his Diſciples, wilt thou, at this time, reſtore the Kingdom unto Iſrael; our Saviour anſwers, it is not for you to know the Times and the Seaſons, which the Father hath put in his own Power, Acts 1. 6, 7. but I deny, that hence it follows, that he, in whom were hid all the Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge, Col. 2. 3. did not know them. When Mr. Wh. proves all, or any of theſe Conſequences, he will have ſomething to ſupport his Corollary; but till this be done, it muſt paſs for an Aſſertion, which hath no Foundation in the Holy Scripture. Let us now ſee what juſt ground he had to own, that this is a ſtrange Aſſertion. And ſurely it muſt be exceeding ſtrange to any conſidering Perſon, that he, in whom dwelt the Fulneſs of the Godhead, and in whom were hid all the Treaſures of Wiſdom, ſhould be thought ignorant, whether his own Kingdom, to which he was advanced, ſhould continue only for a few, or for ſome thouſand Years, that he ſhould be ignorant of the Reign of his own Saints a thouſand Years, and of the time when all the Propheſies of the Old Teſtament, concerning the glorious Converſion of the Jews, ſhould happen. That Daniel ſhould ſo plainly ſay, That in the Time of the IVth Monarchy, the God of Heaven ſhould ſet up a Kingdom which ſhould never be deſtroyed, but ſhould conſume all other Kingdoms, and ſhould laſt for ever, Chap. 2. 44. an everlaſting Kingdom that ſhould not paſs away; and yet our Great Prophet, who was the Wiſdom of the Father, and the very King who was to rule over this Kingdom for ever, ſhould be ſo ignorant of the Import of theſe Prophecies relating to his own Kingdom, as not to know it was to laſt one Quarter of the Duration of ſome of the other Kingdoms, but might be, for any thing he knew to the contrary, res unius ætatis, only the Buſineſs of one Age. Laſtly, Is it not very ſtrange, that theſe Maſters of Revelations ſhould be able ſo punctually to declare to us the very Year of the Fall of the Roman Empire, the Time of the Riſe of the little Horn, and the Period of his Duration, and the true Import of the Words of that Prophet, a Time, and Times, and half a Time; and yet our Bleſſed Lord ſhould be ſo much an Ignoramus as to the true Import and Extent of that whole Prophecy, as to imagine, that it might be fulfilled in the very firſt Century; and that what they knew imports 1260 Years, he ſhould imagine might only ſignifie, three Years and an half? And ſo much for the firſt Corollary.

2*dly*, He poſitively aſſerts, Chriſt's (a) Apoſtles ſeem to have really imagined, that the great Day of Judgment might not be very long deferred beyond the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which was to be in that Age, (A.D. 70.) and accordingly to have ſuited their Phraſes and Exhortations.

Now againſt this Corollary I argue as before, that either theſe inſpired Apoſtles knew, and underſtood the Import, and Meaning of the Prophecy Daniel, concerning the Kingdom to be given to the Saints, the Fall of the Roman Empire, the riſe of Antichriſt; or, the little Horn, the Time, Times, and half a Time of his Duration, and the Millennium that was to follow; and alſo of the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament, concerning the Blindneſs of the Jews, and the Time of their general Converſion, or they did not, but were ignorant of all theſe things. If they did know theſe things, it is certain that either they muſt think that theſe things were to happen after the Day of Judgment; or that they could not think that the Day of Judgment might happen in that Age, or while they lived. If they knew not theſe things which were ſpoken for their Inſtruction, by their own Prophets, how came theſe Men to be ſo poſitive, and certain of all theſe things, of which inſpired Apoſtles, led by the Spirit into all Truth, ſhould know little, or nothing? That the Apoſtles ſhould be ignorant of that exact time of the Day of Judgment, which Divine Wiſdom ſtill conceals from all Men, and never made the matter either of Revelation, or Prediction, I very heartily believe; but that they ſhould be ſo ignorant of all the famous Epochas, foretold by their own Prophets, concerning the State of Chriſt's Church, and their own Nation; that they ſhould not know whether the Roman Empire was to fall in their own Days, or in the 5th Century, whether Antichriſt was to come in their Days, or only was to ariſe after that Fall; whether being come he was to continue only three Years and a half, or to laſt 1260 Years; or whether Daniel's Time, Times, and half a Time, did ſignifie the one, or the other Period; whether the Myſtery of the glorious Converſion of the Jews, when Deliverance ſhould come to them out of Sion, and ſo all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved; and the new Heavens, and new Earth they expected according to God's Promiſe, was to be expected in their Days, or about 1700 Years after their deceaſe; whether the Kingdom, which was to be given to the People of the Saints of the moſt High; and the Millennium promiſed, was to begin and end in their Days, or to commence and end ſo long after, according to the Time aſſigned for theſe Epochas by theſe more knowing Men; theſe, I confeſs, are things I cannot eaſily believe.

In particular who can imagine, that St. Paul ſhould ſay to the firſt Perſons to whom he wrote any Epiſtle (b) That the Day of Judgment ſhould not come till that which letted. i. e. The Roman Empire was taken away, and that then the Man of Sin was to be revealed, and was only to be conſumed by the coming of our Lord to Judgment; that he ſhould endeavour to remove their Scruple, touching the nearneſs of his coming by remembering them; that when he was with them, he told them theſe things; and yet ſhould tell them the very next Year, that this Day might happen whilſt he was alive: For if indeed he told them truly when theſe things were to happen, it was impoſſible that he ſhould tell them the Day of Judgment might happen in his Days, or Age; but if he told them, that they might expect, that all theſe things ſhould happen in his Days, or Age; that being, as Experience ſhews, manifeſtly falſe, why doth he, by the Direction of the Holy Ghoſt, conclude that Diſcourſe thus? Wherefore Brethren ſtand faſt, and hold the Traditions, which ye have received, whether by our Word, or our Epiſtle, v. 15. Again, who can think that the ſame Apoſtle ſhould tell the Chriſtians of his Time, that the Spirit had ſaid expreſly, that in the latter times ſome ſhould depart from the Faith, giving heed to Deceivers, and to Doctrines of Devils, ſpeaking Lies in Hypocriſy, forbidding to Marry, and commanding to abſtain from Meats, 1 Tim. 4. &c. i. e. that he ſhould, as Mr. Mead ſaith, uſe theſe Words, [the latter times] as a Mark to inform them, to whom he wrote, when theſe things ſhould come to paſs; and as he adds, that the Holy Ghoſt had marked out theſe times in Daniel, by the time of the Fall of the Roman Empire, and the Riſe, and Duration of the little Horn; and yet that St. Paul himſelf, in expreſs

(b) 2 Theſſ. 2.

Contradiction to this Declaration of the Holy Ghoſt, ſhould teach that the Day of Judgment might happen in his time. Could St. Peter arm the believing Jews againſt the Scoffers at the Promiſe, or Prediction of the Day of Judgment, by bidding them remember the Words of the Holy Prophets (a) (Iſaias and Daniel, ſays Mr. Mead) who propheſied of things not yet come to paſs, and yet tell the ſame Perſons, that God was then ready to judge the Quick and the Dead (b)? Could he ſay dogmatically, in Mr. Wh. Senſe, the end of all things is at hand; (c) and yet ſoon after tell the ſame Perſons, as (d) Mr. Wh. ſaith he did, that the Day of Judgment might, through the long-ſuffering of God, be prolonged for a Thouſand Years, without any Impeachment of his Veracity?

And whereas He abſolutely denies, that the Apoſtles, who thus conceived of the Day of Judgment, and accordingly ſuited their Phraſes and Exhortations, were herein properly deceived, or that they ever preached, or declared, as from God, that the Day of Judgment was to be in that Age; or that they were deceived in any part of their Doctrine, or that they preached falſe Doctrine. I, on the contrary, undertake to prove, that if the Places, produced by Mr. Wh. bear the Senſe which he hath put upon them, all theſe things muſt follow with the cleareſt Evidence. And,

1ſt, I ſay, That on this Suppoſition, they muſt have preached falſe Doctrine; for if, when St. Paul ſaith to the believing Jews, Chriſt hath appeared in the Conſummation of Ages, Heb. 9. 26. this ſignifies his poſitive Aſſertion, that he appeared but a little time before the Day of Judgment, as Mr. Wh. doth interpret his Words. If again, when he ſays dogmatically, Yet a little while, and he that ſhall come will come, and will not tarry, (e) he ſaid this of the Day of Judgment, muſt he not preach falſe Doctrine, in ſaying ſo dogmatically, he would come in a little time, and would not tarry; when in Truth he was to tarry nigh Two Thouſand Years, and St. Paul knew nothing to the contary, but he might do ſo?

Moreover, St. James, Peter, and John according to this Hypotheſis, muſt have all taught falſe Doctrine. For doth not James ſay dogmatically, the coming of the Lord draweth nigh, and the Judge ſtandeth at the Door; (f) and if he ſaid theſe things of the Day of Judgment, muſt he not ſpeak what Experience ſhews to be notoriouſly falſe? When he adds, v. 5. that God was ready to judge the Quick and the Dead; if he meant, as Mr. Wh. ſaith he did, that he was then ready to begin the final Judgment, muſt he not ſpeak the plaineſt Falſhood? When St. John ſaith as dogmatically, little Children this is the laſt Hour; and that by the Coming of the many Antichriſts, who are now upon the Stage, you may know this is the laſt Hour; (g) he meant this is the time of the laſt Judgment, did he not manifeſtly teach falſe Doctrine?

2dly, They muſt delude their Hearers, and all thoſe Chriſtians to whom they wrote; and all thoſe Chriſtians who were obliged to believe their Writings, with falſe Hopes, falſe Motives, and Encouragements to the Performance of their Duty. For Inſtance; when St. Paul exhorts the Romans to awake out of ſleep, εἰδότες τὸν καιρὸν, knowing the Seaſon that now is their Salvation nearer than when they believed, (h) when he adviſes them to put off the Works of Darkneſs, and to put on the Armour of Light, becauſe the Night was far ſpent and the Day was at hand. Here are not only two Aſſertions notoriouſly falſe, if, according to Mr. Wh. theſe Paſſages relate to the nearneſs of the Day of Judgment, but alſo two Motives to Chriſtian Duties, both grounded on theſe falſe Aſſertions, when he exhorts his Philipians to moderation becauſe the Lord is at hand; (i) if he meant this of the Day of Judgment, there is another Motive to a Chriſtian Duty grounded upon a falſe Aſſertion. When he exhorts the believing Jews to patient Suffering, becauſe after a little while Chriſt would come, and would not tarry; he again, according to this Suppoſition, endeavours to ſupport them under their Afflictions by falſe Hopes. When St. James ſaith to the ſame Jews, be patient, ſtabliſh your Hearts, for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh, ch. 5. 8, 9. Speak not Evil one of another, Brethren, that ye be not condemned, behold the Judge ſtandeth at the Door; and when St. Peter ſaith, the end of all things is at hand, be ye therefore ſober, and watch unto Prayer, if all theſe Paſſages ſpake of the Day of Judgment as near at hand, and even at the Door, muſt not all theſe Motives to Patience, to forbear evil Speaking, to Sobriety, to Vigilance in Prayer, be built upon falſe Grounds? When St. John exhorts them not to love the World, becauſe the World paſſeth away, and they knew it was the laſt hour; (k) if theſe Words relate to the Day of Judgment, he muſt build his Exhortation upon a manifeſt Falſhood, it being impoſſible that either he, or they ſhould know what was not true.

Moreover they ſpeak of theſe things as both known to themſelves, and viſible to thoſe to whom they write, by certain tokens, as when St. John ſaith, now are there many Antichriſts by which we know this is the laſt Hour, when St. Paul ſaith to the Romans, that now is the Hour to awake out of ſleep, and to the Jews, exhort one another, and this ſo much the more, ὅσῳ βλέπετε ἐγγίζουσαν τὴν ἡμέραν, as you ſee the Day approaching, Hebr. 10. 25. Since it is certain they could not know that to be true which by experience we know to be falſe, or ſee that Day was then near, or approaching, which is not yet come, how impoſſible is it that theſe things ſhould relate to their Knowledge of the Day of Judgment?

Laſtly, the Apoſtle Paul diſcourſing of the Deſire that the Chriſtians had to be cloathed upon with their celeſtial Bodies, ſaith expreſly, 2 Cor. 5. 5. he that hath wrought in us this very thing is God, who alſo hath given us the earneſt of his holy Spirit, and 1 Theſſ. 4. 15. He ſpeaks thus, this I ſay unto you by the Word of the Lord, that we who are alive ſhall not prevent them that are aſleep. Now if theſe things relate, as Mr. Wh. thinks they do, to the coming of the day of Judgment whilſt the Apoſtles were alive, muſt not the Apoſtle deliver that as a Truth taught by the Word of Chriſt, and a Deſire erected in them by God himſelf, which Experience ſhews to have been a great Miſtake, and manifeſtly falſe, and ſure theſe things muſt be ſufficient to impair the Credit of theſe Apoſtles, in other matters? I therefore heartily wiſh, that learned, good, and ingenious Men would be more careful to avoid thoſe things which do ſo plainly ſhock the very Foundations of Chriſtianity, and ſtrengthen the Hands of thoſe who queſtion the Authority of theſe ſacred Books.

And having thus vindicated my Notes upon theſe two places, I have done alſo that which ſhews my Arguments, to prove that the Pope and Church of Rome could not be the primary Subject of St. Paul's Diſcourſe in 2 Theſſ. 2. were not grounded, as Mr. W. thinks, on a Miſtake, but on thoſe ſolid grounds, which I believe he never will be able to evert, and therefore wiſely waved.

But tho' he was not pleaſed to conſider my Arguments, I can aſſure him, that in the very place I had conſidered, and even anſwer'd his before he produced them, for indeed the excellently good Man is ſo intent upon what he conceiveth to be right, that, as it plainly appears from this, and the Diſcourſe on Matth. 24. he is not at leiſure to conſider what is ſaid againſt him.

He begins with a bare Citation of the Apoſtle's Words, and then adds, (a) this Deſcription is ſo lively and clear, that I look upon it ſo far from needing any large Paraphraſe it ſelf, that it ſerves well for a Paraphraſe to all the other Prophecies hereto relating, viz. the little Horn, and the ſecond Beaſt; where he manifeſtly begs the Queſtion, ſuppoſing that it manifeſtly relates to thoſe other Propheſies, one of which was not then in being, and neither of them rightly underſtood, ſaith Mr. Wh. by the Apoſtle; he thinking that the Day of Judgment might happen in his time, that the Fall of the Empire might be then, and that the Time, Times, and half a Time, might only ſignifie three Years and a half; whereas I verily believe that St. Paul's Diſcourſe hath no Relation at all to them, unleſs it be by way of Accommodation; and deſire him to be ſo merciful to ſuch blind Creatures as I am, as to let us ſee by any good Proof, that there is any Affinity betwixt them, ſave in this one thing, that the Man of Sin is to be deſtroyed with the Spirit, and the Beaſt with the Sword of Chriſt's Mouth, but with this difference that the Man of Sin, ſaith Mr. Wh. is only to be deſtroyed by his coming at the Day of Judgment, and the Beaſt above a thouſand Years before, the Millennium of the Saints, the Converſion of the Jews, the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, and the War with the Saints, being all to precede the Day of Judgment.

I know that our Revelation-Men call the Apocalyptical Beaſt, Antichriſt, but that the Scripture doth, or ever intended ſo to do, I find no Reaſon to believe, but rather Reaſon to believe the contrary: For,

1*ſt*, An Antichriſt, or a falſe Chriſt in the Scripture Senſe, is one, who ſets up himſelf for a true Chriſt, ſaying to others, Lo here is Chriſt; he is another, who ſhall come in his own Name, and be received by the Jews, Joh. 5. 43. The Antichriſts of St. John were ſuch as denied that Jeſus was the Chriſt, 1 John 2. 22. or that Chriſt was come in the Fleſh, 1 John 4. 3. 2 John 5. 7. and that the Church of Rome either was St. John's Antichriſt, or concerned in St. John's Deſcription of him, no ancient Commentator ever ſaid.

2*dly*, The falſe Chriſts, and Antichriſts belonged only to the firſt Age of Chriſtianity; the falſe Chriſts mentioned by our Lord, Matth. 24. 24. and who ſhould come in his Name ſaying, ἐγώ εἰμι, I am Chriſt, Mark 13. 6. Luke 21. 8. were to come before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and as St. John ſaith, they had heard that he was to come in the laſt Hour, ſo ſaith he, from his being now in the World, you may know that it is the laſt Hour, 1 John 2. 18. 4. 3. Let then that be granted which no Authority affirms, and therefore none of us can know, that this Epiſtle was written after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem: Why may not the Words of St. John refer to the then preſent Age, and the falſe Chriſts among the Jews and the Samaritans, ſince he doth not ſay, that the laſt hour is near, or is yet to come, but that it was already come, and repreſents this as a thing known to them by the Antichriſts, that were then in the World? That he cannot be interpreted of the Day of Judgment, hath been fully manifeſted, and of any Antichriſts that were yet to come, of which theſe come already were the Forerunners, he ſaith not one Word; and ſo there is no reaſon to imagine, that any ſuch thing was intended by him.

(a) P. 453.

3*dly*, The Church-Hiſtory aſſures us that Simon M. Doſitheus, Barchochebas and others among the Jews were ſuch as anſwered theſe Deſcriptions, but of any Antichriſt that was to be amongſt the Chriſtians of the Church of Rome, neither the Scripture, nor Antiquity for many Ages give us any Intimation.

He adds, that (a) I allow the Agreement of this Deſcription to the great Antichriſt mentioned in the Revelations: Whereas indeed I do not allow, that any Antichriſt at all is mentioned in the Revelations, but only ſay, that in a ſecondary Senſe this may be attributed (i. e.) accommodated, to him, who is commonly called the Papal Antichriſt, and may be ſignally fulfilled in him, in the Deſtruction of him by the Spirit of Chriſt's Mouth; and this I ſay not from any Conviction of the thing, but only that I may not wholly differ from my Brethren in this matter; giving in my Annotations firſt what I think is the true Senſe and Intendment of the Apoſtle's Words, and then the Senſe which Proteſtants do put upon the Words, and introducing it thus, Others who refer this to the Church of Rome. I proceed to ſhew that the Arguments brought againſt my Expoſition were anſwered in the Expoſition.

Argum. 1. " What need of all this Sollicitude of St. Paul to free himſelf from the Scandal of having affirmed that the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem was at hand, when the greateſt Part within which our Saviour expreſly had aſſerted that Deſtruction was to come, was already paſt.

Anſw. " St. Paul expreſly ſays, his Sollicitude was to prevent the Trouble of the Theſſalonians on the Imagination that the Day of the Lord, ἐνέςηκε was, or had been inſtant, for which Sollicitude he had good Reaſon; for, ſaith the Note there, to conceive that ſignal Day of the Deſtruction of their Enemies the Jews, and the Deliverance of the Chriſtians mentioned, Joel 2. 31, 32. Mal. 4. 1, 2. come and find themſelves deceived in that Conception, might cauſe great Troubles to them, and even ſhake the ſtedfaſtneſs of their Faith. To which add,

2*dly*, That the Judaizing Chriſtians, who could hardly think of Wrath coming to the uttermoſt on this once beloved People, might perſwade the Theſſalonians, that the Slaughter threatened to them was already executed, by the great Deſolation made of them in Ægypt by Flaccus in the time of Caius, of which (b) Philo ſpeaks, and the great Slaughter made of them at the ſame time in Meſopotamia, Babylon, Syria, and Seleucia, which, ſaith (c) Joſephus, was φόνος ϖόλλος ϗ ὁπόσος οὐκ ἱϛορημένος ϖρότερον, a greater Deſtruction than ever was before recorded of them.

Argum. 2. ' How abſurd is it to interpret the ϖαρουσία, or ſolemn coming of Chriſt in the former Epiſtle, nay in this Epiſtle, and in the firſt Verſe of this very Chapter of his coming to Judgment at the laſt day, and yet in the 8th Verſe to interpret it of his coming to deſtroy the Jews only, eſpecially when no Example can be ſhewed, that ever St. Paul uſes that word in that Acceptation?

Anſw. To this Imputation of Abſurdity the Anſwer is returned, note on v. 1. in theſe Words. " The coming of Chriſt is by the Reverend Dr. Hammond referred to Chriſt's coming to deſtroy the unbelieving Jews, this is the ϖαρουσία, coming of the Son of Man, ſo often mentioned in our Lord's Prediction of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and of the Temple, Matth. 24. 3, 27. Luk. 17. 24. This is moſt certainly the Import of this Phraſe in St. James twice, when he exhorts the Brethren to be patient, ἕως τῆς ϖαρουσίας τοῦ κυρίου, till the coming of the Lord, adding that this ϖαρουσία, coming was at hand, chap. 5. 7, 8. And to his ſaying that, I interpret the firſt Verſe of the coming of our Lord to Judgment, and therefore do abſurdly interpret the 8th Verſe of his coming to deſtroy the wicked Jews, I have anſwered in the Note on the 8th, by ſhewing that the Words there are taken from Iſaiah 11. 4. and that they neceſſarily refer to the ſmiting of the Land of Judæa, and therefore cannot be referred to Chriſt's coming to judge all Men at the laſt Day, to which I do not find that any good Interpreter refers theſe Words.

Argum. 3. " How comes the Apoſtle to inform the Theſſalonians, who were almoſt all Gentiles, of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem in Judea at a thouſand Miles diſtance, which was of little more conſequence to them, than the Deſtruction of any other Church, or City in a remote Country?

Anſw. To the Ignorance and Miſtake on which this Argument is wholly founded, he hath had one Anſwer in the Note on v. 1. in which Words let it be noted, " That the Church of the Theſſalonians were partly Converts of the Jews and Proſelytes; for the Converts made by St. Paul preaching to them were of the Jews and the devout Greeks, Acts 17. 4. who in Expectation of our Lord's Prediction, and their Redemption by it drawing nigh, Luke 2. 28. might long for the Execution of it.

2*dly*, Had he mentioned the Deſtruction of the wicked Jews, by the Spirit of Chriſt's Mouth, as the Apoſtles doth, there would have been no Appearance of any ſtrength in that Argument, to which a farther Anſwer is given, Note on v. 5. in theſe Words: ‘Of the Jews, and their oppoſing themſelves to the Doctrine of Chriſtianity, and the Profeſſors of it, the Apoſtle had told them in his firſt Epiſtle, chap. 2. 15, 16. and when he was with them, the Perſecutions that both he and they ſuffered from them, Acts 17. 15, 16. gave him a juſt Occaſion to ſpeak both of their Oppoſition to the Goſpel, and of the Deliverance they ſhortly might expect from ſuch enraged Perſecutors, who not only fell ſeverely on the converted Jews throughout all their Diſperſions, but as (a) Juſtin Martyr aſſures us, ſtirred up the Heathen Governors in all Places where Chriſtians were, to do the like, and ſent choſen Men from Jeruſalem for that very end’. Nor was the Slaughter of them in thoſe Days of Vengeance, confin'd to Judea, but, as (b) I have fully proved, from Joſephus, they ſuffer'd the like Calamities in the remoteſt Places from it. Tho' therefore the Theſſalonians might be leſs concerned for the Deſtruction of the City or Temple of Jeruſalem, they might be very much concerned that theſe Men ſhould be diſabled from executing any more their rage upon them, or againſt the Church of Chriſt,

Argum. 4. ‘Laſtly how comes the Church of the Theſſalonians to be in ſuch a Conſternation, and Diſturbance θροεῖσθαι, at the ſuppoſal that Jeruſalem ſhould be deſtroyed, ſince therein none but the unbelieving Jews, and the Enemies of Chriſt were to periſh’?

Anſw. How came you to fall into this Imagination! Their trouble ſaith the Text, being only this, that they conceived the Apoſtle had ſpoken of the Deſtruction of the wicked and perſecuting Jews as inſtant, whereas by ſad Experience they found, that they lay ſtill as much as ever, under ſuch rage, and cruel Perſecution of theſe Men, 1 Theſſ. 2. 15. 10. that the Apoſtle was afraid leaſt theſe Temptations ſhould have rendered his Labour vain among them, chap. 3. 5.

2*dly*, The Opinion having obtain'd among the Jews that the Deſtruction of their Temple, and the Deſtruction of the old World ſhould be contemporary, this might be among the believing Jews a farther reaſon of their Trouble. And this ſhould be more conſiderable to him, who earneſtly contends, that the Apoſtles ſpake in all their Epiſtles, as Men who believed the Day of Judgment might happen ſoon after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

In the following words he attempts to anſwer an Objection thus: ‘If it be ſtill wondered at, that St. Paul ſhould here ſay, that the Myſtery of Iniquity doth already work: I ſay, it is not ſtrange, that he that knew that the great Man of Sin was to corrupt and ſpoil the Purity of the Chriſtian Religion, and turn the Myſtery of Godlineſs into a Myſtery of Iniquity, and who found already the beginnings of ſuch Miſchiefs creeping into the Church, and that in ſome of the ſame Points, which Antichriſt was to corrupt, looks upon ſuch beginning of Antichriſtianiſm, as Preludes, and Fore-runners of that Grand Corruption to come afterwards.

But this Evaſion is fully confuted, in the Note on v. 7. by this Argument. It is highly reaſonable to conceive, that ‘The Myſtery of Iniquity already working, ſhould be that very Myſtery, which after was to be compleated by the more full appearance of the Man of Sin, as will be evident from the Connexion of the words, Remember ye not, that when I was with you, I told you theſe things? (viz. who was the Man of Sin to be revealed, what were the Characters of him, and what it was that did at preſent hinder him from a full Revelation of himſelf, v. 3. 4.) for the Myſtery of Iniquity is already working (i. e. He is doing that covertly, which, when he is revealed, he will do more openly) only he that hinders (his full Appearance) will do ſo till he be taken away, and then ſhall this wicked one be revealed, whom the Lord ſhall deſtroy with the Spirit of his Mouth; whence it ſeems clear, that the Man of Sin, then covertly working his Myſtery, and only hindered from appearing openly by ſomething that then letted, muſt be that Man of Sin, who after was to be revealed, and then deſtroyed by the Spirit of Chriſt's Mouth; all theſe Interpretations therefore muſt be falſe, which make the Myſtery of Iniquity to be one Perſon, or one kind of Perſons, and the Man of Sin, or Antichriſt another, as they muſt do who make the Myſtery of Iniquity to belong to Simon Magus or the falſe Prophets, or Hereticks in being, when this Epiſtle was indited, and the Man of Sin to be the Pope and his Clergy’. In a Word, doloſus verſatur in Generalibus, till Mr. Whiſton can name ſome falſe Prophets, or falſe Apoſtles, or Corrupters of the Goſpel, by turning it into a Myſtery of Iniquity in being when this Epiſtle was indited, who were not of Jewiſh Extract, or appear'd not then amongſt them; and in what particulars of that pernicious Influence they conſpir'd with the preſent Church of Rome (which neither yet hath been, nor I think can be done to Satisfaction) 'tis evident he hath ſaid nothing which hath the leaſt appearance of an Anſwer to the Objection he himſelf hath ſtarted.

PARALLEL

Betwixt the Jewiſh, and the Papal Antichriſt, in their Apoſtacy from, and Corruption of, the Doctrine delivered to them.

HAVING given my Conjecture, that the Jewiſh Church, with their Rulers, were the Antichriſt mentioned by St. Paul; I proceed to ſhew, how their Apoſtacy, when they were thus deſerted by God, reſembled, and ran Parallel to the Apoſtacy of the Roman Church, when ſhe began in like manner to apoſtatize from, and to corrupt the Chriſtian Faith.

And here it cannot be expected, that I ſhould draw the Parallel betwixt them, in thoſe Doctrines which never were, nor could be owned by the unbelieving Jews, viz. in the Doctrines of Tranſubſtantiation, the Adoration of the Hoſt, the Sacrifice of the Maſs, Communion in one kind, and the Number of the Chriſtian Sacraments; but yet in moſt of their other Doctrines, 'tis very eaſie to diſcern it.

1ſt, In the Doctrine of Infallibility, the Mother of incorrigible Errors.

For, 1ſt, As Roman Catholicks aſſert the Infallibility of Councils, which they are pleaſed to call General Councils, and plead for a living, and infallible Judge of Controverſies; ſo the Jews look'd upon the Judgment of their great Sanhedrim, and the concurring Suffrage of their Rulers, and Phariſees, as free from Error, and not to be gainſaid by any of the People. Their way of arguing, John 7. 38. ſeems plainly to inſinuate, that they thought themſelves the only fit and proper Judges of the true Senſe and Meaning of the Law; that the People were wholly to be guided by them; and that they who would not ſubmit to their Judgment, were deceived, and would be accurſed for their Obſtinacy in things in which they neither had, nor could have, any certain Knowledge without their Guidance and Aſſiſtance; for thus they ſpeak to thoſe Officers whom they had ſent to apprehend our Saviour: Are ye alſo deceived? Have any of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees, believed on him? But this People which knoweth not the Law, (and yet will take upon them to diſſent from their Judgment) are accurſed; which is the very Language of the Church of Rome in her Anathemas. They were the ſupream Judges, and the Keepers of Oral Traditions, and the Fear that when the Sanhedrim was diſſolved, theſe Traditions might be loſt, produced the Miſnah, or the ſecond Law commonly called by them Thorah Schebeal Pe, the Oral Law, or the Law given to Moſes by Word of Mouth, as they gather from Exod. 34. 27. They alſo took upon them to be authentick Interpreters of the written Law; and that by virtue of theſe Traditions given, ſay ſome of them, to this end. Now this, as the excellent (a) Mr. Chillingworth obſerves, is indeed to make Men Apoſtates from God, and to dethrone him from his Dominion over Mens Conſciences, and to ſet up themſelves; and why elſe doth our Saviour charge theſe Men with making void the Commandments of God, not in one only, but in many Caſes by their Traditions; (b) and in Oppoſition to theſe Teachers of Traditions, as received from their Fore-fathers, require them to call no Man Father upon Earth, becauſe one only was their Father in that Senſe, in which the Jewiſh Doctors claimed that Title, even their Father which was in Heaven. And that he had great Reaſon to ſpeak thus, we learn from the Jewiſh Canon, cited by (c) Dr. Pocock, vota cadere in res mandati, that Vows reach even to things commanded, or take place as well in things commanded by the Law, as in things indifferent; and that a Man may be ſo bound by them, as that he cannot, without great Sin, do what God had by his Law required to be done; ſo that if he made a Vow which laid upon him a Neceſſity to violate God's Law, that he might obſerve it, the Vow muſt ſtand, and the Law be abrogated.

2dly, The like Infallibility they aſcribe to the words of their Rabbins, Wiſemen, and Scribes. Thus (d) R. Iſaac Abuhaf ſaith, that to all things which their Rabbins have taught in their Homilies, the ſame Faith is to be given as to the Law of Moſes. In the (e) Talmud they ſay, that all their Words are the Word of the Living God; and that (f) the Righteous Nation that keep- eth the Truth, mentioned, Iſa. 26. 2. are they who receive all their Wiſemen have ſaid for undoubted Truth, and ſay Amen to it. (a) And that when two of them differ in their Opinions, neither of them is to be condemned, Ki Ellou Veellou Dibre Elohim Chajim, for the words of them both, are the words of the Living God. That they are (b) to attend more to the words of the Scribes, than to the words of the Law; and that they are more amiable than the words of the Prophets; the Prophets being obliged to work a Miracle, that they might be credited, whereas they were to be believed, without a Miracle, it being ſaid, Deut. 17. 10. Thou ſhalt obſerve to do according to all that they ſhall teach thee: See of this more in Buxtorf's recenſio operis Talmudici, from p. 221. to 228. (c) Maimonides ſaith, if a thouſand Prophets, who were equal to Elias, and Eliſha, bring one Interpretation; and a Thouſand and One Wiſemen bring a contrary to it, they muſt encline to the moſt; and be obliged rather to act according to the Sentence of theſe Wiſemen, than that of the Thouſand Prophets. In his Explication of the Thirteenth Treatiſe of the Sanhedrim, he diſtributes Men who interpreted the Sayings of their Wiſemen into three Ranks. Firſt, Thoſe who thought their Sayings were Figurative, and Tropological. Secondly, Thoſe who ſaid their words were to be interpreted according to the Letter, thinking ſapientes in omnibus indubitatæ veritatis in dictis ſuis, (d) the Wiſemen were of undoubted Truth in all their Sayings. Thirdly, Thoſe who illude the words of the Wiſe, judging themſelves more wiſe, and ſaying, that (e) they were deceived, theſe he pronounces Fools, and accurſed, for ſaying theſe things of thoſe great Men of whoſe Wiſdom they were well aſſured. (f) Joſephus ſays, that they who were of the Sect of the Phariſees ἕπονται τῇ ἡγεμονίᾳ, followed their Guidance, and thought it neceſſary to obſerve, and contend for every thing their Guide commanded. The Sadduces, ſaith he, held it a Virtue to contend, πρὸς τοὺς διδασκάλους σοφίας, againſt the Teachers of Wiſdom, but they yielded ſuch Honour, τοῖς ἡλικίας προήκουσι, to their Anceſtors, that they durſt not be ſo bold as to gainſay any thing that they had introduced as fit to be obſerved. Here we have in expreſs Words, The Teachers, Guides, and Fathers mentioned by our Lord, Matth. 23. 8, 9. and all of them repreſented as Perſons whoſe Doctrines none ought to doubt of, and whoſe Sayings none ſhould gainſay. This then was the Authority the Jews of thoſe times lodg'd in their Fathers, Teachers, Rabbies, their Scribes, and Phariſees, who ſat in Moſes Chair, and gloried in the Name of Rabbi, Rabbi, Matth. 23. 7. And this uſurp'd Authority is the very thing our Saviour forbids as prejudicial to his Office, in theſe Words, Matth. 28. 8. Be not ye called Rabbi, for one is, ὑμῶν ὁ διδάσκαλος, your Teacher, even Chriſt; and v. 10. Be not ye called, καθηγηταὶ, Guides, for one is your Guide, even Chriſt. And therefore 'tis obſervable, that tho' the Apoſtles had an expreſs Commiſſion from Chriſt to teach all Nations all that he had commanded; and a Promiſe, that in the execution of this Office the Holy Spirit ſhould bring theſe things to their Remembrance, and ſo were infallible Revealers of the Mind, and the Commandments of Chriſt, which the Church of Rome neither doth, nor can pretend to, without falling under St. Paul's Anathema for preaching another Goſpel; yet none of them pretended, or ever attempted to be interpreters of the Words of Chriſt, or Infallible Judges of the true Senſe of what he had already taught, or commanded, which is the thing the Romaniſts now challenge to themſelves, and which the Jewiſh Doctors did pretend to be with reſpect to the Mind of God, revealed in the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament. And indeed this claim of the Church of Rome to be the Infallible Judges, Interpreters of the Laws, Doctrines, and Commands of Chriſt, muſt give them Power without Controul, to alter any of the Laws of Chriſt, and under pretence of interpreting, to overthrow them, and ſo to dethrone Chriſt from his Dominion over Mens Conſciences, and inſtead of Chriſt, ſet up themſelves; for he that requires, that all the Interpretations of the Laws of Chriſt, ſhould be obeyed as the true Mind of Chriſt, ſeem they to the Underſtandings of many Myriads never ſo diſſonant or diſcordant from it, requires indeed that his Interpretations ſhould be received as Chriſt's Laws, and that all Men ſhould obey rather what they think he, than Chriſt hath taught them, and whoſoever is firmly prepared in his Mind to believe and obey all ſuch Interpretations without judging them, tho' to his own Judgment they ſeem moſt unreaſonable, whatſoever he may pretend, he makes both the Law and the Law-maker Stales, and obeys only the Interpreter; for ſeeing the true Senſe of the Law, is indeed the Law, he muſt be to me the only Giver of the Law, who alone gives me the true Senſe of it. Thus if any Perſon ſhould pretend he would ſubmit to the Laws of the King of England, but ſhould reſolve to obey them only in that Senſe, whatſoever it were which the French King ſhould put upon them, I preſume every underſtanding Man would ſay, that he obey'd only the French King, not the King of England.

written Word contained in the Canon of the New Teſtament, there were alſo Oral Traditions concerning both Faith and Manners received by the Apoſtles from the Mouth of Chriſt, or dictated to them by the Holy Spirit, and preſerved in the Church Catholick by a continual Succeſſion, which therefore they received pari pietatis affectu, with the ſame pious Affection as the Holy Scriptures of the New Teſtament; in all this they plainly copied from the Apoſtatizing Jewiſh Church. For,

1*ſt*, As the Romaniſts plead, that their Traditions are of a divine Original, as being derived partly from the Mouth of Chriſt, partly from his inſpired Apoſtles; ſo do the Jews expreſly teach that their (a) Oral Law came from the Mouth of God, and (b) that God delivered it to Moſes on Mount Sinah with the written Law, and that he received it by Divine Revelation.

2*dly*, As the Romaniſts ſay, that their unwritten Traditions were preſerved by and handed down to this preſent Age, by the Catholick Church in a continual Succeſſion; ſo the Jews ſay, their Traditions were depoſited with the whole Congregation, the great Sanhedrim, and the High Prieſt, and give us the very Names of the eminent Perſons, through whoſe Hands their Traditions came down to their Days; Voiſin. proem. pug. fid. a p. 10. ad p. 16.

3*dly*, As the (c) Romaniſts affirm, that the Scriptures are imperfect, and obſcure without their Traditions, and conſequently make their Traditions neceſſary to the expounding of the Scriptures; ſo alſo do the Jews ſay, that the (d) Oral Law is the Foundation of the written Law, and that they cannot come to the Knowledge of the Scriptures, unleſs they inſiſt al dibre, חצל, on the Words of their wiſe Men of bleſſed Memory, that the written Law cannot be expounded without the Oral, that they cannot be eſtabliſhed upon the written Law without the Oral which is the Explication of it, that it is rather the Oral than the written Law, which is the Foundation of all their Religion, there being no Demonſtration to be taken from the written Law, שהמושנה, becauſe Tradition explains the ſecret of it. Cod. Jur. chagiga, T. 10. 1.

4*thly*, As the Trent Council declares concerning the unwritten Traditions, That they are to be received, and reverenced with the ſame pious Affection as the Holy Scriptures; ſo muſt the Jews do in conſequence of that Opinion, which makes them both to proceed immediately from the ſame Divine Authority, and both derived to them by the ſame means; for ſay they, as we have received the written Word, ſo have we received the Oral Law, min Haaboth, from the Fathers : Hence, like good Roman Catholicks, they are more exceedingly zealous for the Traditions of their Fathers, than for the Law it ſelf, Gal. 1. 14. They accuſe all that walk not according to the Cuſtoms of their Fathers, as Perſons who forſook the Law of Moſes, Acts 21. 21. and 'twas eſteemed a great Crime to do any thing againſt the Cuſtom of their Fathers, or the Traditions of the Elders, Matth. 15. 2. Acts 28. 17.

5*thly*, As the Jews call them Karaim Scripturiſts, and Minim Hereticks, who reject their Oral Traditions; ſo do the Romaniſts ſtile us Hereticks and Scriptuarii, for rejecting their ſuppoſed Apoſtolical, and Eccleſiaſtical Traditions. Prateolus Elencho, l. 17. c. 16. and as the Karaim were, ſaith (e) Menaſſeh Ben Iſrael, excluſi communione Iſraelitarum, excluded from the Communion of Iſrael; ſo do the Romaniſts exclude us from their Communion upon the ſame Account.

§. 3. 3*dly*, As the Church of (f) Rome hath received many Apocryphal Books as Canonical Scripture, pronouncing an Anathema on all who deny them ſo to be; ſo did her Apoſtatizing Siſter alſo receive many ſuch Books as of equal Strength and Authority with the Scriptures. As,

1*ſt*, The Targums of Onkelos, and Jonathan; for their Talmudital Doctors declare, that Jonathan received his Targum, or Expoſition of the Prophets, from the Mouth of Haggai, Zachary, and Malachy, three Prophets, and Keepers of the Oral Traditions, belonging to the conſiſtory of Ezra; and ſo they make them equal to the Writings of theſe three Prophets. Moreover they ſay, that if any other Perſon interpreting any Verſe of Scripture in the Chaldaic Tongue, add any thing to it, he blaſphemes; becauſe he may do this contrary to the Mind of the Author : But then they add, that Onkelos and Jonathan did not offend in any of their Additions, becauſe they did this always according to the Mind of the Author. So Buxtorf in voce Targum. Hence (g) Raymundus ſaith, that this Tranſlation of Onkelos tantam inter Judæos authoritatem obtinet, is of ſo great Authority among the Jews, that none of them dares preſume to contradict it.

And (h) Paulus Burgenſis ſaith, that the Chaldaic Tranſlation among them, tantæ authoritatis eſt ſicut textus, is of equal Authority with the Text. See N. Lyranus, in Iſa. cap. 8. Such,

2*dly*, Is their Miſnah, or fardle of Traditions collected by R. Jehudah Hakkadoh the holy, or R. J. Hanniſi the Prince, Anno Chriſti, 150. which ſaith (i) Buxtorf is publickly received by all the Jews both in the Holy Land, and in Babylon as an authentick Body of their Law: Hence, as we have ſhewed before, they call it a Secundary Law received from the Mouth of God, and prefer it much before the written Law, (a) comparing the Text only to Water, but theſe Traditions to Wine. And the School of Elias uſed to ſay, that whoſoever learned the Traditions of the Miſnah might be aſſured he ſhould have eternal Life.

3dly, The Talmud, which contains the Explications of their Doctors upon the Miſnah, is of ſuch Veneration among them, that they place the Talmud, or Gemara, which by way of Eminence they call the Talmud, among the Books given by Tradition from the Mouth of God. See Cartwright's Mellif. l. 4. c. 5. p. 30. 70. ſaying that, Nothing is ſuperiour to the moſt holy Talmud, and that by reading in the Scriptures they can get little Profit, more by reading in the Miſnah, but by reading in the Talmud moſt of all. With many other things of a like nature collected by Buxtorf, Synag. §. 4. 4thly, As the Church of Rome pretends to be the Catholick Church, out of whoſe Communion there is no Salvation, requiring all Men to own her Faith, and to receive her Mark, Rev. 13. 16. So alſo did the Apoſtatizing Church of the Jews. For when the Goſpel was firſt preached, they thought that the Salvation promiſed by it, belonged to them alone, and therefore forbad the Apoſtles to preach to the Gentiles, that they might be ſaved, 1 Theſſ. 2. 16. They alſo earneſtly contended, that unleſs they who believed in Jeſus would be circumciſed and keep the Law, and ſo receive the Mark of, and become Proſelytes to their Religion, they could not be ſaved, Acts 15. 1. 24. Even thoſe Chriſtians who were diſperſed into other Parts by the Perſecution of their fellow Jews, preached the Word only to the Jews of their own Language, Acts 11. 19. and to the Helleniſtick Jews, v. 20. And the reſt of them thought it a great Sin in Peter to go in to the uncircumciſed, and converſe with them, tho' this was only done to convert them to the Chriſtian Faith, Acts 11. 3. and it was matter of great Admiration to them, that God ſhould grant Repentance to Salvation to the Gentiles, v. 18. So deeply was this Jewiſh Principle then rooted even in the firſt Converts of that Nation to the Chriſtian Faith.

§. 5. 5thly, As the Church of Rome hath introduced the Religious Worſhip of Saints and Angels, ſo alſo did the Apoſtatizing Church of the Jews. For they had imbibed the Philoſophy of the Platoniſts, who taught, (b) that Dæmons were of a middle Nature betwixt Gods and Mortals; that they brought our Prayers and Offerings to the Gods, and their Commands to us, and that it was very fit, εὐχαῖς τιμᾶν, to honour them with our Prayers upon theſe Accounts. And that God had no immediate commerce with Men, but all his Converſe with them, was by the Mediation of thoſe Dæmons. And ſuitably to this Philoſophy we find the Angel, ſaying, Tobit 12. 12, 15. that he was one of the Seven Angels, οἱ προσφέρουσι τὰς προσευχὰς τῶν ἁγίων, who offered up the Prayers of the Saints, and that when Tobit and Sarah prayed, he brought the Memorial of their Prayers before the Holy One. And Philo in ſeveral Places declares that as the Philoſophers ſaid of their Dæmons, and Heroes, ſo Moſes introduces the Angels as Meſſengers of good Things from God to his Subjects, and carrying back their Needs, not that God needs their Miniſtry, but that it is very needful and beneficial for us frail Men to have ſuch Mediators. See the full Proof of this in the Note on Coloſſ. 2. 18. Accordingly Theodoret, on that Place, ſaith, they who were zealous for the Law perſwaded Men, τοὺς Ἀγγέλους σέβειν, to worſhip Angels, becauſe the Law, ſay they, was given by them. And this they perſwaded Men to do out of Humility, ſaying, that the God of all Things was inviſible, and inacceſſible and incomprehenſible, and that 'twas fit we ſhould procure the Divine Favour by the means of the Angels. Hence (c) Clemens Alexandrinus brings in Peter forbidding Chriſtians to worſhip God as the Jews did, becauſe pretending that they only knew God, they indeed did not know him, as worſhipping Angels, and Archangels.

In their Office for the Dead, ſaith (d) Voiſin, they pray thus, Ye Fathers of the World, who ſleep in Hebron, open to him the Gates of the Garden of Eden, and ſay, let him come in Peace. And again, Ye Angels of Peace come forth to meet him, and unlock for him the Gates of the Garden of Eden, and ſay let him come in peace. Theolog. Judaic. lib. 1. cap. 1. p. 80, 81.

§. 6. 6thly, As the Church of Rome gives an inferiour kind of Veneration to Images, and by ſome nice Diſtinctions eludes the Prohibition of the ſecond Commandment: So do the Apoſtate Jews by the ſame Arts, declaring that he who worſhips an Idol, taking it for God, is guilty, but if not he is free, and the Gloſs there adds, that if he adore God in it, it is no Crime, for his Heart is toward God. And again, if a Jew ſee a Statue, ſuch as uſeth to be ſet up for a King, if he adore it not under the Notion of an Idol, but in Honour to the King, it is nothing. And this corrupt Nation prevailed upon the Corinthians to eat freely in the Idol's Temple of their Sacrifices, as thinking they did not offend becauſe they did not own the Idol to be God, See for this Dr. Lightfoot on 1 Cor. 8. 10.

§. 7. 7*thly*, The Apoſtatizing Jews do ſo plainly ſymbolize with the Romaniſts in the Doctrine of Purgatory and Prayers for the Dead, that Bellarmine confirms thoſe Doctrines from the Practice of the Jews recorded in the Book of Maccabees, lib. 2. ch. 12. v. 39. 46. from Tobit 4. 18. and from their other Writings, Bellarm. de Purgatorio, l. 2. c. 3. §. Hinc etiam, §. Secundus, & Cap. 11. §. Tertia ratio.

And indeed the Parallel is very clear, for as the Papiſts pray for the Souls of the Dead, that they may be delivered from the Pains of Purgatory, and go thence to Heaven; ſo do the Jews in their Liturgy pray for the Souls of their Friends, and Kindred, Grand-fathers, and Grand-mothers, that they may be admitted to the reſt of the Righteous in the Garden of Eden, See Dr. Lightfoot, Vol. 1. p. 1017, 1018. As the Papiſts ſay, thoſe Souls they pray for, go to Purgatory in order to their Purgation from ſome defilements they have contracted in this World, and afterwards to Heaven; So the Jews ſay, that Anima Gehennæ igne purgatur, ut pura evadat & candida, the Soul is purged with Hell-fire, that it may be made pure and white, and then put into the Hands of the Angel Michael, who offers up the Souls of the Juſt, Voiſin, Theolog. Jud. l. 1. c. 1. p. 78. As the Papiſts give ſo much Money to have ſo many Maſſes ſaid for the Deliverance of Souls out of Purgatory; ſo the Jews vow to give Alms, that they may be conveyed into the Garden of Eden; and the Prieſt pronounces a Bleſſing upon him, who hath vowed ſo many Alms for the Souls of the Dead: See theſe Prayers and Benedictions in Lightf. ibid. And in relation to this Opinion, the Son of Syrack ſeems to ſay, chap. 7. 33. A Gift hath Grace in the ſight of every Man living, and for the Dead detain it not.

§. 8. 8*thly*, As the Papiſts hope to be helped, both living and dead, by the Merits of the Saints, and eſpecially of the Martyrs: So the Jews pray that God would ſhew Kindneſs to them, for the ſake of thoſe who are ſlain, and maſſacred for his ſake, and went thro' Fire and Water, for the hallowing of his Name. Lightf. ibid. They thought in the Time of the Maccabees, that the Death of their good Men, or Martyrs, might be an Expiation for their Sin. This being among them a received Rule, that (a) σπουδαῖος τοῦ φαύλου λύτρον, the good Man is the Redemption of the Wicked; and hence (b) Joſephus brings in Eleaſor, praying thus to God; Be thou gracious to thy Nation, being ſatisfied with the Puniſhment I ſuffer for them, make my Blood an Expiation for them, καὶ ἀντὶ ψυχῶν αὐτῶν λάβε τὴν ἐμὴν ψυχὴν, and accept my Life inſtead of theirs. Hence have we frequent mention of the merita patrum, Merits of the Fathers, in their Books, and of the Merits of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob; from which they did expect great things, even Deliverance from Hell, ſaying that Hell-Fire hath no Power over the Sinners of Iſrael; becauſe Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob deſcend thither to fetch them thence. Pocock Miſcellan. p. 172. 227.

THE PREFACE TO THE

Firſt Epiſtle of St. PAUL to TIMOTHY.

THAT this Epiſtle was Written after St. Paul's Departure from Epheſus to Macedonia, ſome gather from theſe Words; When I went into Macedonia, I beſought thee to abide at Epheſus, chap. 1. 3. And that it was Written when he was in Expectation of returning ſhortly thither, they conclude from theſe Words; I write to thee, hoping to come unto thee quickly, chap. 3. 14. It therefore, ſay they, muſt be Writ before he came to Miletus, Acts 20. 17. For then he, ſending for the Biſhops of Epheſus thither, ſpeaks thus to them; And now I know, that all you, among whom I have gone preaching the Kingdom of God, ſhall ſee my face no more, v. 25. For then he muſt have laid aſide all thoughts of returning any more to Epheſus. It therefore muſt, ſay they, be Written while he was in Macedonia, or thereabouts; and ſo, A. D. 55. and the firſt of Nero: So Dr. Lightfoot.

Biſhop Pearſon grants, that it was Written after St. Paul was gone into Macedonia; but then he adds, that it was Writ after his Enlargement from his Bonds at Rome, A. 65. That it could not be Writ at any time of St. Paul's going to Macedonia, before his Journey to Jeruſalem, he proves, becauſe before that Time St. Paul could not have exhorted him to abide at Epheſus; for the firſt time he went to Macedonia, by the Direction of the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 16. 9, 10. he had not ſeen Epheſus, for he came not thither till a long time after, Acts 19. 1. The ſecond time he came to Macedonia, was after the Tumult which forc'd him to leave Epheſus, Acts 20. 1. when he could not exhort him to abide at Epheſus, for he had ſent him thence to Macedonia at that very time when that Tumult began, Acts 19. 22, 23. This Argument, I confeſs, is not very ſtrong; it being plain, from his firſt Epiſtle Writ to Corinth, while he was at Epheſus, 1 Cor. 16. 8, 10, 11. that he expected then his Return to him: But then it appears, that Timothy was with him when he went firſt from Macedonia to Achaia, and at Corinth Writ his Epiſtle to the Romans, chap. 16. 21. and alſo when he returned from Achaia to Macedonia, for then he accompanied him from Achaia to Macedonia, and ſo to Aſia, and ſo he abode not then at Epheſus, Acts 20. 4. Now from thence St. Paul goes to Jeruſalem, and from thence bound to Rome, and ſo he could not after go to Macedonia till he was ſet at Liberty. This therefore, ſaith he, was done afterwards, in the 10th Year of Nero, A. D. 65. and ſoon after he writ this Epiſtle to him.

And whereas againſt this it is objected, That in this Epiſtle he ſpeaks twice of his coming to Epheſus, ſaying, I write unto thee, hoping to come to thee ſhortly, chap. 3. 14. and till I come, give thy diligence to reading, ch. 4. 13. whereas, before his going up to Jeruſalem, he had expreſly ſaid to them of Epheſus, I know that all you ſhall ſee my face no more; whence it is gathered, that this Epiſtle muſt be writ before that time.

To this I anſwer, That St. Paul ſaith plainly in this Epiſtle, that he purpoſed to come to him; but he ſaith not, that he purpoſed to come to him to Epheſus. If you reply, that in this Epiſtle he commands him to ſtay at Epheſus, and ſo muſt be ſuppoſed to ſpeak of coming thither to him, chap. 1. 3. This, I confeſs is true, according to our Verſion, which adds unto the Words, ſo do: But if you read the Words thus; As I exhorted thee to abide (ſome time) at Epheſus, when I went into Macedonia, (ſo I did it) that thou mighteſt admoniſh ſome to teach no other Doctrine; it will be left uncertain, whether he were at Epheſus at the Inditing this Epiſtle; for then having done the Work for which he was bid to ſtay at Epheſus, he might go on to other Places, doing the Work of an Evangeliſt, and ſetling Ordinary Church-Governors, Biſhops, Presbyters, and Deacons, where they were wanting, and doing all the other things mentioned in this Epiſtle, as things to be performed in the Church of God. For,

1ſt, 'Tis certain, that when the Second Epiſtle was writ to Timothy, he was not at Epheſus, as I have there proved, Note on Chap. 4. 12. He therefore might have been gone thence alſo at the Writing of this Epiſtle, to ſettle the Affairs of other Churches.

2dly, It is certain, that this Firſt Epiſtle was writ to him, that in St. Paul's Abſence he might know how to deport himſelf in the Church of God, eſpecially in reference to the Preſcriptions here laid down, chap. 3. 15. Now there was little need that he ſhould ſtay there, to do the Great Work preſcribed in this Epiſtle, touching Biſhops and Deacons, they being ſettled among them by St. Paul himſelf before he left Epheſus; and they being after, in his Journey to Jeruſalem, ſummoned to Miletus, and taught how to demean themſelves in the reſpective Provinces committed to their Truſt; 'tis therefore highly probable, that theſe Directions were given him, in reference to other Churches to which this Evangeliſt was to travel, and in ſome of which he might then be. If this Conjecture may take place, the Difficulty is fully anſwered; if not, I muſt confeſs myſelf unable to return any ſatisfactory Anſwer to it, and ſo leave the Reader to his choice, whether he will follow the Opinion of Dr. Lightfoot, or Biſhop Pearſon, in this Matter.

But tho' there be a great Difference as to the Time of Writing this Epiſtle; the Ancient Commentators all agree in this, (a) That St. Timothy was left at Epheſus, to preſerve that Church from the Endeavours of the Judaizing Chriſtians, to introduce Circumciſion, and the Obſervance of the Law, and to amuſe them with their Talmudical Fables, and with their Genealogies from Abraham, and the Patriarchs. A Reverend Perſon ſaith, 'It is evident, the Gnoſticks were now ſcattered in Aſia, and ſo characterized by the Apoſtle, chap. 4. and 6. and there diſtinctly ſpecified, under the Title of ψευδώνυμος γνώσεως, Science falſly ſo called, v. 20. they being the Men who aſſumed to themſelves the Names of Gnoſticks, or Knowing Men'. And it muſt be confeſſed, that (b) Theodoret accords with him in this Matter, ſaying, That the Apoſtle ſtyles the pretended Knowledge of the Gnoſticks, Science falſly ſo called. And (c) St. Chryſoſtom ſaith, Perhaps this was ſpoken, by reaſon of ſome who were then call'd Gnoſticks. And (d) Theophylact ſays, I think the Apoſtle ſpeaks this concerning ſome then call'd Gnoſticks. But yet there lies this ſtrong Objection againſt this Expoſition of this Phraſe, or the aſcribing of it to the Gnoſticks, That according to all the Accounts we receive from the Ancients, theſe Gnoſticks were not then in being, at leaſt under that Name; for whether, with Irenæus, we derive their Original from (e) Valentinus, or Carpocrates; or, with Clemens Alexandrinus, from Epiphanes the Author of the Sect of the Carpocratians; or, as St. Jerom ſaith, from (f) Baſilides. It is evident, and confeſs'd by all theſe Authors, That all theſe, and even Menander, whom Irenæus ſometimes makes the Father of the Gnoſticks, were long after the Writing of this Epiſtle. Whereas the Judaizing Chriſtians were, ſaith Theodoret, μέγα φρονοῦντες ἐπὶ τῇ γνώσει, great Boaſters of their Knowledge of the Law; and yet, that their pretended Knowledge was falſe Knowledge, we learn from thoſe words of the Apoſtle, That theſe Teachers of the Law knew not what they ſaid, or whereof they affirmed, 1 Tim. 1. 7. Hence is their Doctrine ſtyled, ματαιολογία, vain-talking, v. 6. and here κενοφωνία, empty-babbling; as alſo, 2 Tim. 2. 16, ἄνοια, fooliſhneſs, 2 Tim. 3. 9. and they are ſaid to be ματαιολόγοι, vain-talkers, Tit. 1. 10. men puffed up, and knowing nothing, but doating about queſtions, and ſtrife of words, 1 Tim. 6. 4. See the Note on Chap. 6. 20. So that I can ſee no Objection againſt that Opinion which refers this Phraſe to thoſe Judaizers, whom the Apoſtle elſewhere ſtyleth falſe Apoſtles, and deceitful Workers.

CHAP. I.

a Verſe 1. PAul an [a] Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt by the [b] commandment [κατ' ἐπιταγὴν, according to the appointment] of God, our Saviour, [ who called me to this Office by his Grace, Gal. 1. 15.] and [by the appointment of the] Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who is our hope of [of Glory, Coloſſ. 1. 27.]

c 2. Unto Timothy [c] my own ſon in the faith: [do I wiſh] Grace, mercy, and peace from God our Father, and [from] Jeſus Chriſt our Lord.

3. [Declaring that] As I beſought thee to abide ſtill at Epheſus, when I went into Macedonia; [ſo I did it to this end] that thou mighteſt charge ſome [Judaizers there,] that they teach no other Doctrine [than that which is according to Godlineſs, chap. 6. 3.]

4. Neither give heed [or incline] to [Jewiſh] Fables, and endleſs genealogies, which miniſter Queſtions [or Diſquiſitions into Pedigrees,] [d] rather than godly edifying, which is in faith: So do. d e 5. Now [ For] the [e] end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conſcience, and of faith unfeigned.

6. From which [Commandment] ſome having ſwerved, have turned aſide unto vain jangling; [vain Diſcourſes of Talmudical Fables and endleſs Genealogies.]

7. [f] Deſiring to be teachers of the Law, f [and yet] underſtanding neither what they ſay, [of it] nor whereof they affirm [i. e. neither the Senſe, Scope, or true Meaning of that Law of which they ſpeak, nor having any certainty of the Traditions of which they talk ſo confidently.]

8. But [though they are thus ignorant,] we know that the Law [in it ſelf ] is good, if a man uſe it lawfully, [not as a Means of Juſtification, but as a Reſtraint from Sin, Gal. 3. 19. and as a School-maſter to bring him to Chriſt, the end of the Law, Gal. 3. 24. Rom. 10. 4.

9. Knowing this, that [g] the law is not g made for a righteous man, [to condemn, or work Wrath to him, Rom. 4. 15. as failing in the ſtrict Obſervance of it:] but for [reſtraining and condemning] [h] the lawleſs and diſobedient, h for the ungodly and for ſinners, for unholy and prophane, for murtherers of fathers, and murtherers of mothers, for man-ſlayers.

10. For whoremongers, for them that defile themſelves with mankind, for men-ſtealers, for liars, for perjured perſons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to ſound doctrine.

11. [That is the Doctrine which is] according to the glorious Goſpel of the bleſſed God, which was committed to my truſt.

12. And I thank Chriſt Jeſus our Lord, who hath enabled me [by the Aſſiſtance of the Spirit of Power and Wiſdom, who of my ſelf was i inſufficient for this Work, 2 Cor. 3. 5, 6.] [i] for that he accounted me [one that would be] faithful [in the diſcharge of it,] putting me [therefore] into the miniſtry.

13. [Me, I ſay,] who was before [this gracious Call,] a blaſphemer, of Chriſt, Acts 26. 11.] and a Perſecutor [of his Servants, Acts 8. 3.] and injurious [to them; but I k obtained Mercy [from him,] becauſe [k] I did it [not againſt Knowledge, for I verily thought I ought to do many things againſt the Name of Jeſus, Acts 26. 9. but] ignorantly in unbelief.

14. And the Grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant, [in its Power to enable me l to promote the Faith, Rom. 15. 19.] [l] with [thro' that] faith and love which is in Chriſt Jeſus.

15. This [therefore] is a faithful ſaying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Chriſt
m Jeſus came into the World [m] to ſave ſinners, n of whom [n] I am [the] chief, [and ſo a great Example of this Truth.]

16. Howbeit for this cauſe [even] I [the chief of Sinners] obtained mercy, that in me firſt Jeſus Chriſt might ſhew forth all long-ſuffering, for a Pattern [of it] to them which ſhould hereafter believe on him to life everlaſting.

17. Now to the King eternal, immortal, inviſible, the only wiſe God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

18. This charge [of remaining ſome time at Epheſus, for the benefit of the Churches there,
v. 3.] I commit unto thee, ſon Timothy, [o] according to the Prophecies that went before o of thee, that thou [encouraged and excited] by them, [p] mighteſt war a good warfare, p [even that of Faith, chap. 6. 12. fighting and ſuffering as a good Soldier of Jeſus Chriſt,
2 Tim. 2. 3.]

19. Holding faith, and a good conſcience; which [laſt] ſome having put away, concerning faith have made ſhipwreck.

20. Of whom is Hymenæus, [2 Tim. 2.
17.] and Alexander, [2 Tim. 4. 14.] [q] whom q
I have delivered unto Satan [for the Deſtruction of the Fleſh, 1 Cor. 5. 5.] that they [by what they ſuffer] may learn not to blaſpheme [or ſpeak evil of the Faith.]

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. ' Απόστολος, An Apoſtle, &c.] Thus he writes to Timothy and Titus, not to aſſert his Apoſtolical Authority to them who doubted not of it, but for their ſakes over whom they were to preſide, that they might not deſpiſe what they did and enjoyned by ſo great Authority.

b Ibid. Κατ' ἐπιταγὴν Θεοῦ σωτῆρος ἡμῶν καὶ κυρίου, &c.] Some conſtrue theſe Words thus, According to the Commandment of Jeſus Chriſt, who is God our Saviour; but the Words τῆς ἐλπίδος ἡμῶν, our Hope, muſt be conſtrued with the Words Jeſus Chriſt: And this ſufficiently confutes that Verſion, which, as none of the Ancients followed, ſo is it not ſupported by the Word Saviour added to God, that Epithet being twice applied to God the Father in this Epiſtle, viz. chap. 2. 3. and 4. 10. and twice in the Epiſtle to Titus, viz. Chap. 1. 3. and 2. 10. Moreover, ſome ancient Copies read τοῦ Πατρὸς, of God our Father.

c Ver. 2. Γνησίῳ τέκνῳ ἐν πίστει, My own Son in the Faith.] This Phraſe compared with 1 Cor. 4. 14, 15. ſeems plainly to import, That Timothy was converted to the Chriſtian Faith by St. Paul; as alſo he ſeems to intimate when he ſaith, He ſerved with him in the Goſpel, as a Son with the Father, Phil. 2. 22. and again calls him his beloved Son, 2 Tim. 1. 2. Nor find I any thing in Scripture to the contrary; for tho' it is ſaid that he had learned the Scriptures of the Old-Teſtament from his Youth, 2 Tim. 3. 15. yet is that true alſo of St. Paul, when yet he was no Convert to the Chriſtian Faith, but a zealous Perſecutor of it. And tho' he was a Diſciple when Paul circumciſed him, and took him with him from Lyſtra, Acts 16. 1. that hinders not but that he might be made ſo by St. Paul himſelf.

d Ver. 4. Μᾶλλον ἢ οἰκονομίαν Θεοῦ τὴν ἐν πίστει, Rather than godly edifying which is in Faith.] Here firſt the Grammarians note, that comparative Particles, and eſpecially this of μᾶλλον, rather, are often in ſenſe Negative, as Luke 18. 14. He went to his Houſe juſtified, ἢ ἐκεῖνος, rather than the other; i. e. the Publican, and not the Phariſee; 1 Pet. 3. 17. It is better to ſuffer for well-doing than for evil-doing; John 3. 19. Men loved μᾶλλον τὸ σκότος ἢ φῶς, Darkneſs and not Light; 2 Tim. 3. 4. φιλήδονοι μᾶλλον ἢ φιλόθεοι, i. e. Lovers of Pleaſure, and not of God: See John 12. 43. Heb. 11. 25. The Edification in the Faith here mentioned, is ſtiled the Edification of God, becauſe it hath God for its Object, and its End, as tending to the true Knowledge and right Worſhip of God; it is efficiently from him (on which account, Juſtification by Faith is ſtiled the Righteouſneſs of God) and tendeth highly to his Glory.

Ver. 5. Τὸ τέλος τῆς παραγγελίας, The Scope of the Commandment.] This ſome refer to the Law, which, ſaith the Apoſtle, is fulfilled by Love, Rom. 13. 10. but ἀγγελία, 1 Joh. 3. 11. παραγγελία, 1 Theſſ. 4. 2. and, v. 18. of this Chapter, and ἐπαγγελία, being in the Epiſtles always uſed of the Goſpel, and the latter word ſpoken of it in oppoſition to the Law, which ſaith the Apoſtle, was not ἐξ ἐπαγγελίας, of Promiſe, Rom. 4. 13. Gal. 3. 18. I rather think it here refers unto the Goſpel, or to that Diſpenſation in which nothing availeth but Faith working by Love, Gal. 5. 6. and which requires fervent and unfeigned Love out of a pure Heart, from all that do obey the Truth, 1 Pet. 1. 22.

f Ver. 7. Θέλοντες εἶναι νομοδιδάσκαλοι, Deſiring to be Teachers of the Law.] That thoſe Perſons were not Gnoſticks, but ἐξ Ἰουδαίων, the Jews, is manifeſt, ſay the Greek Commentators, from theſe Words. For the Gnoſticks were the greateſt Adverſaries of the Law, and the Prophets; and even Rejectors of that God who gave the one, and inſpired the other. Simon Magus taught, That the (a) Prophets received their Propheſies only from Angels, and that therefore they that believed in him, and his Selene, ſhould not regard them. Saturninus, That (b) Chriſt came to deſtroy the God of the Jews; which God Simon himſelf denied, ſaith the (c) Pſeud-Ignatius. They taught Men not to (d) uſe the Law and the Prophets, nor to fear their Threats. Now they who held and taught theſe things muſt be the greateſt Adverſaries to, and not the Teachers of the Law. Hence it follows,

1*ſt*, That the Fables and Genealogies mention'd, v. 4. and the vain janglings, v. 6. cannot relate to the Æones of the Gnoſticks, which ſeem not then to be hatch'd; but that the Apoſtle rather here reſpects, as Theodoret obſerves, τὴν Ἰουδαϊκὴν ἑρμηνείαν τὴν ὑπ' αὐτῶν καλουμένην δευτέρωσιν, the vain Traditions, or Talmudical Fables of the Jews, as the Apoſtle explains himſelf, when he inſtructs Titus to teach the Cretians, μὴ προσέχειν Ἰουδαϊκοῖς μύθοις, not to give heed to the Jewiſh Fables of Men, who turn from the Truth, chap. 1. 14. eſpecially thoſe Traditions and Fables they had received, of a Meſſiah B. Joſeph that was to ſuffer, and a Meſſiah B. David that was to triumph gloriouſly and abide for ever, John 12. 34. (if that diſtinction was ſo ancient:) And of the Golden Days they were to have at the coming of this Meſſiah, of which Trypho in his Dialogue with Juſtin ſpeaks, p. 249. B. ſaying, That their Prophets taught them, ἔνδοξον καὶ μέγαν ἀναμένειν —— παραλαμβάνοντα τὴν αἰώνιον βασιλείαν, to expect a great and glorious Meſſiah, who ſhould have an endleſs Kingdom; and p. 306, 307. of the Halcyon-Days they ſhould enjoy in Jeruſalem rebuilt at his coming. The endleſs Genealogies are, ſay the Fathers, Γενεαλογίας τὰς ἐξ Ἀβραὰμ καὶ Δαβὶδ, Their Genealogies from Abraham and David, which they were concerned for, that they might know they came from the promiſed Seed, or their Title to the Priviledges belonging to the Children of Abraham; or that they might have the Preference; for thoſe of the Tribe of Judah, and of the Family of David, were held more honourable than thoſe of other Tribes: See Campeg. Vitringa, de Syn. Vet. l. 3. c. 17. p. 871. They were, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, the long and intricate Pedigrees they ſtood upon to prove themſelves Prieſts and Levites; for as (e) Joſephus notes, they thought themſelves obliged to be very exact in that Affair, and therefore had Genealogies of them preſerved two thouſand Years. To theſe we may add the Genealogy and Pedigree of their Traditions, which they derived from Joſhua in a long Line of Succeſſion to their Times. That they were Genealogies belonging to the Jews, we learn from Tit. 3. 9. where they are joined with Strifes about the Law.

Ver. 8. Ἐὰν τις αὐτῷ νομίμως χρῆται, if a Man uſe it lawfully,] That is, ſaith Theodoret, ἐὰν τὶς ἀκολουθῇ αὐτοῦ τῷ σκόπῳ; if he complieth with the Scope of it, which is to bring him to Chriſt.

Ver. 9. Δικαίῳ νόμος οὐ κεῖται.] I. e. The Law was not made to condemn the juſt Man; g for againſt ſuch there is no Law condemning them, Gal. 5. 23. ἀντίκειται δὲ, but it lies againſt the Lawleſs, to condemn them.

Ibid. Ἀνόμοις, &c.] From this Enumeration h of Offenders againſt the Law, we learn that the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking of the Moral Law contained in the Ten Commandments; for the Sins here mentioned reſpect them; The Ungodly being Sinners againſt the Firſt Commandment; the ἁμαρτωλοὶ, Sinners, (as that Word ſignifies the Idolatrous Gentiles, Gal. 2. 15.) the Tranſgreſſors of the Second; the Perjured Perſons of the Third; the Unholy and Prophane, of the Fourth; the Murderer of Fathers and Mothers, of the Fifth; the Man ſlayers, of the Sixth; the Fornicators and Defilers of themſelves with Mankind, of the Seventh; Men-ſtealers, of the Eighth; Liars, of the Ninth; as alſo from the following Words, If there be any other thing contrary to the ſound Doctrine of the Goſpel. Note,

3*dly*, That Fornication is here reckoned among Sins committed againſt the Law of Nature, or the Moral Law; as it is alſo, Rom, 1. 29. and among the manifeſt Works of the Fleſh, Gal. 5. 19. yea among the things for which the Wrath of God comes upon the Children of Diſobedience, or Unbelief, that is, the Heathens, Eph. 5. 5, 6. for which Men are to be excluded from the Kingdom of God, 1 Cor. 6. 10. Rev. 22. 15. and to be caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, Rev. 21. 8. whence it is to be wondered, that this Sin ſhould be ſo generally committed by ſome, and pleaded for by others, who are called Chriſtians.

i Ver. 12. Ὅτι πιστόν με ἡγήσατο, He accounted me faithful.] St. Paul was a Veſſel of Election to bear Chriſt's Name before the Gentiles, Acts 9. 15. in order thereunto he was by him to be filled with the Holy Ghoſt, v. 17. and ſo enabled to perform this Work with the Power of Signs and Wonders, and of the Spirit of God, Rom. 15. 19. Chriſt alſo appeared to him for this very End, προχειρίζεσθαι, to conſtitute him firſt, and ſet him apart, as it were, by laying hands upon him, to make him a Miniſter and Witneſs of what he had ſeen and heard, Acts 26. 16. and 22. 14, 15. and accordingly he ſent him to the Gentiles, Acts 26. 17. and thus he put him into the Miniſtry. Chriſt did this, becauſe he accounted him one that would be faithful in the diſcharge of his Duty, 1 Cor. 4. 2. and 7. 25. i. e. ſuch a one, who, by the Conſideration of ſo great a Mercy, and abundant Grace, vouchſafed to one ſo unworthy, would patiently ſuffer for, Acts 9. 16. and labour more abundantly in propagation of the Goſpel, when thus aſſiſted by the Grace and Spirit of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 15. 10. Whence 'tis obſerved by the Fathers here, That (f) there was not only ſomething of God, but alſo ſomething of himſelf, for which he was choſen to this Miniſtry; and that he ſo magnifies the Grace of God, as not to invalidate Man's Free Will.

k Ver. 13. Ὅτι ἀγνοῶν ἐποίησα ἐν ἀπιστίᾳ, I did it ignorantly] Being an Unbeliever; as he might be by reaſon of thoſe many Prejudices the learned Jews, and zealous Aſſertors of their Traditions, laboured under. For to this St. Peter doth aſcribe their Crucifixion of our Lord, ſaying, I know you did it, κατ' ἄγνοιαν, through Ignorance, Acts 3. 17. and St. Paul ſaying they did it, τοῦτον ἀγνοήσαντες, not knowing him, Acts 13. 27. 1 Cor. 2. 8. and Chriſt himſelf when he prays thus, Father forgive them, they know not what they do, Luke 23. 34. giving the ſame Reaſon of his Prayer for their Forgiveneſs, as St. Paul here doth of his own actual Forgiveneſs; ſo that 'tis needleſs to endeavour, as ſome do, to wreſt theſe Words to another Senſe.

Ver. 14. Μετὰ πίστεως καὶ ἀγάπης, Through Faith and Love.] Love conſtraining him to labour more abundantly, 2 Cor. 5. 14. and his ſtrong Faith enabling him to do it in the Power of Signs and Wonders, and of the Holy Ghoſt, Rom. 15. 19. l

Ibid. Μετὰ πίστεως, with Faith,] Or, per fidem, through Faith, or by Faith; ſo Paul and Barnabas declared what things God had done, μετ' αὐτῶν, by them; Acts 14. 27. 15. 4. which is, v. 12. δι' αὐτῶν.

Ver. 15. Ἁμαρτωλοὺς σῶσαι, To ſave Sinners.] Hence Divines have well obſerved, that if Man had not ſinned, Chriſt had not come into the World. m

Ibid. Εἰμὶ ἐγὼ, I am.] He ſaith not, I was, but I am, becauſe even when Sin is pardoned, we ought to have the Proſpect of it ſtill before our Eyes, to keep us humble and ſenſible of the great Grace of God to us. n

Ver. 17. Μόνῳ σοφῷ Θεῷ,] Dr. Mills ſeems very averſe from the Word σοφῷ, admitting it neither here nor Jude 25. but ſee it defended in both places, Examen Millii in locum.

Ver. 18. Κατὰ τὰς προαγούσας ἐπὶ σὲ προφητείας, According to the foregoing Propheſies concerning thee.] So, Chap. 4. v. 14. Neglect not τὸ χάρισμα, the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, which was given thee, διὰ προφητείας, according to Prophecy. I have ſhewed, Note on 1 Cor. 12. 10. that among the Gifts of Prophecy, and diſcerning of Spirits, this was one, to foretel and chuſe out Perſons meet to do God Service in the Miniſtry. Hence St. Paul charges the Biſhops of Epheſus to feed the Flock over which the Holy Ghoſt had made them Overſeers, or Biſhops, Acts 20. 28. And Clemens Romanus ſaith, the Apoſtles choſe Biſhops and Deacons, with full Aſſurance of the Holy Ghoſt, πρόγνωσιν εἰληφότες τελείαν, Ep. ad Cor. §. 42, 44. Having a perfect Knowledge of them, and making Trial of them by the Spirit. So was it in the Caſe of Timothy, ſay all the Greek Scholiaſts on the place. (g) Τί ἐστιν ἀπὸ προφητείας, ἀπὸ πνεύματος ἁγίου. Chryſoſt. in locum.

Chryſoſtom ſaith, he was choſen by Prophecy, that is, by the Spirit of God; (h) Theodoret, that he received Impoſition of Hands, not by Man's Calling, but by Divine Revelation; (i) OEcumenius, that by the Revelation of the Spirit, he was both choſen by St. Paul, to be a Diſciple, and was circumciſed, and ordained a Biſhop; and Theophylact affirms the ſame. Being thus deſigned, and notified by the Spirit of Prophecy, they were, by Prayer, and Impoſition of Hands, conſecrated to their Office. Thus when the Spirit in the Prophets had ſaid, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the Work of the Miniſtry, to which I have called them, Acts 13. 2, 3, 4. they prayed, and layed their Hands upon them, and ſent them away; and they are ſaid to be ſent forth by the Holy Ghoſt. And with this Impoſition of Hands, they who had them not before, received χαρίσματα, Gifts anſwerable to their Calling. Thus St. Paul charges Timothy to ſtir up χάρισμα Θεοῦ, the Gift of God that was in him, by the laying on his Hands, 2 Tim. 1. 6. And Irenæus ſaith, l. 4. c. 33. That the Biſhops who ſucceeded the Apoſtles, with their Succeſſion into their Biſhopricks, received a certain χάρισμα of Truth, according to the good pleaſure of the Father: See Note on 1 Cor. 2. 16. and on chap. 12. 10. Vain therefore are they, who pretending to an Internal Call of the Spirit, which they cannot prove to others, think Impoſition of Hands, and Conſecration to the Work of the Miniſtry, unneceſſary to the Performance of the Miniſterial Office.

p Ibid. Ἵνα στρατεύῃ τὴν καλὴν στρατείαν, That thou mayeſt war a good Warfare.] I. e. Perform the Office of an Evangeliſt well, 2 Tim. 4. 5. ſo as to be a good Miniſter of Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Tim. 4. 6. Thus in the Old Teſtament, the Levite that entered upon the Service of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, is, in the Hebrew, one that enters into the Hoſt, Numb. 4. 3, 23, 30, 35, 39, 43. chap. 8. 24. and goes לצבא צבא, to war the Warfare, i. e. to ſerve the Service, ſaith the Chaldee; and ſo the following words explain it: And to be ſuperannuated, and ſo to ceaſe from the Work, is, to return from the Warfare, chap. 8. 25. Thus alſo in the New Teſtament, the Chriſtian Miniſter is a Soldier of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Tim. 2. 3. στρατευόμενος, a Warriour, v. 4. He hath the Weapons of his Warfare, 2 Cor. 10. 4. and ought to have his Wages, becauſe no Man goeth to Warfare at his own charge, 1 Cor. 9. 7.

Ver. 20. οὓς παρέδωκα τῷ Σατανᾷ, Whom I have delivered to Satan.] I have ſhewed, q Note on 1 Cor. 5. 5. that the Ancients ſay, this Phraſe ſignified, that ſome Diſeaſe was to be inflicted on them by Satan. Thus Theodoret, Chryſoſtom, and OEcumenius, here ſay of theſe Men, (l) That being ſeparated from the Church, they were cruelly chaſtiſed by the Adverſary, falling into Diſeaſes, and grievous Afflictions, and other Damages and Calamities, and this, in the fore-mentioned place is argued, from the Ends of this Delivery to Satan, viz. for the Deſtruction of the Fleſh; that they might learn, not to blaſpheme that Doctrine which could ſo ſeverely puniſh them that did ſo. Note alſo, that Hymenæus, and Alexander, made ſhipwreck of the Faith; not by renouncing Chriſtianity, for what have I to do, ſaith the Apoſtle, to judge them that are without? 1 Cor. 5. 12. but by maintaining ſuch Doctrines as overthrew the Faith, i. e. by denying the Reſurrection of the Body, as Hymenæus did, 2 Tim. 2. 18.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. I Exhort therefore, [in purſuance of the Deſign of Chriſt's coming to ſave Sinners, chap. 1. 15. and here, v. 3, 4.]
a that firſt of all, [Gr. firſt that ] [a] Supplications, Prayers, Interceſſions, and giving of Thanks be made for all Men;
b 2. [Particularly] [b] For Kings, and for all that are in Authority; that we [under their Government,] may lead a quiet and peaceable
Life in all Godlineſs and Honeſty.

3. For this [Prayer for them, and for all Men,] is good and acceptable in the ſight of God our Saviour.

4. Who will have all Men to be ſaved, and to come [Gr. who wills that all Men ſhould be ſaved, and come] to the knowledge of the Truth.

5. For there is one God, [who is the God of the Gentiles, as well as of the Jews, Rom. 2.
29. 30. the Creator, Eph. 3. 9. the Father
Mat. 2. 10. the Lord, Acts 17. 24. *the Saviour
c of all Men*, chap. 4. 10.] and [c] one Mediator betwixt God and Man, the Man Chriſt Jeſus.
d 6. Who gave himſelf [up to Death, as] [d] a e Ranſom [e] for all [Men,] to be teſtified in due time, [Gr. for a Teſtimony in due time of God's Love to all, Tit. 3. 4.]

7. Whereunto [i. e. for the accompliſhment of which Will of God,] I am ordained [appointed of Chriſt,] a Preacher, and an f Apoſtle; [f] I ſpeak the truth in Chriſt, and lie not, a Teacher of the Gentiles, in Faith and Verity.

8. I will therefore, that Men pray every gh where, lifting up [g] holy hands, [h] without i wrath and [i] doubting.

9. In like manner alſo [I will] that [Chriſtian]
Women adorn themſelves in modeſt apparel, with [k] ſhamefacedneſs and Sobrie- k ty, not [ſetting out themſelves] with broidered hair, or gold, or pearls, or coſtly array.

10. But [with that Ornament] which [beſt] becometh Women profeſſing godlineſs, [that is,] with good works.

11. Let the Woman learn in ſilence with all ſubjection [to the better Sex.]

12. But [for] [l] I ſuffer not a Woman to l teach [publickly,] or to uſurp the authority over the Man, [to whom ſhe was ſubjected by God's Precept, Gen. 3. 16.] but [I command her rather] to be in ſilence.

13. For Adam was firſt formed, [and] then Eve [after him, and out of him, to denote ſubjection to him; and for him, to ſhew ſhe was to ſerve him, 1 Cor. 11. 8.]

14. [m] And Adam was not [immediately] m deceived [by the Serpent as Eve was;] but the Woman being deceived, was [firſt] in the tranſgreſſion.

15. Notwithſtanding, ſhe [i. e. the Female Sex] ſhall be ſaved in [n] Child-bearing, n [διὰ τεκνογονίας, through Child-bearing; i. e.
they ſhall go through the Sorrow threatened to her Sex for that Sin with Safety,] if they continue in Faith, [i. e. truſting in God,] and Charity [to others, eſpecially in the like Condition,] and Holineſs, [Gr. in Sanctification, i. e. in Chaſtity of Manners, and freedom from Uncleanneſs,] with Sobriety,

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. Δεήσεις, προσευχὰς, ἐντεύξεις, Prayers, Supplications, Interceſſions.] Δεήσεις, are Deprecations for the Pardon of Sin, and the averting Divine Judgments. Προσευχαὶ Prayers for the obtaining of all Spiritual and Temporal Bleſſings; and in this we have the Suffrage of the Greek Scholiaſts and Lexicographers: But as for the Word Ἐντεύξεις, they almoſt unanimouſly ſay, it is a Complaint, or Accuſation made to God, againſt thoſe who deal injuriouſly with them, and a Deſire that he would avenge their Injuries; to which I cannot think the Apoſtle would ſo paſſionately exhort them. Nor is the Word capable of this Senſe, when the Apoſtle ſaith, Chap. 4. 5. The Creature is ſanctified to us, διὰ ἐντεύξεως, by Prayer.

I therefore prefer the other import of the Word mentioned in Phavorinus, that it is, παράκλησις ὑπό τινος προσαγομένη Θεῷ περὶ σωτηρίας ἑτέρων, an Addreſs preſented to God, for the Salvation of others. And by this Rule were the Devotions of the Church continually directed: For, ſaith the Author of the Book, De Vocatione Gentium, (a) the Devotion of all the Prieſts, and all the Faithful, doth ſo unanimouſly obſerve this Rule of Prayer, that there is no Part of the World, in which the Chriſtian People do not put up ſuch Prayers as theſe, praying not only for the Saints, but for Infidels, Idolaters, the Enemies of the Croſs, and the Perſecutors of Chriſt's Members, for Jews, Hereticks, and Schiſmaticks. But then as theſe Addreſſes had a particular reſpect to Men in theſe Circumſtances, ſo the other muſt have reſpect to Men in general; all theſe Addreſſes being to be made, not only for our ſelves, but for all Men.

b Ver. 2. Ὑπὲρ βασιλέων, &c. For Kings, and all that are in Authority.] So the Jews prayed, and offered Sacrifices for the Perſian Kings, (b) and the Welfare of their Government, Ezra 6. 10. Thus Jeremy ſends to them, in their Captivity, to pray for the Peace of the City, whither God had cauſed them to be carried Captive, chap. 29. 7. And the Jews in Babylon ſend to thoſe in Judea, to pray for the Life of Nebuchodonoſor King of Babylon; and for the Life of Balthaſar his Son, that their Days may be upon Earth, as the Days of Heaven, Baruch 1. 11. When they came under the Government of the Kings of Egypt, Eleazar their High Prieſt, writes to Ptolemy thus: We continually offer Sacrifice (c) for thee, thy Siſter, thy Children, and Friends; and the People pray for thy happy Succeſs in all things, and for the peaceable State of thy Kingdom. And ſo when they were under the Seleucidæ. And laſtly, when they came under the (d) Roman Government, this was their conſtant Practice, till they begun that Rebellion, under which their City, Country, Religion, and Nation was deſtroyed. This being, ſaith Joſephus, the Cauſe of the War, that the Seditious did, θυσίαν τοῦ Καίσαρος ἀπορρίπτειν, reject the Sacrifice offered for Cæſar, though the Prieſts and Nobles earneſtly intreated them, μὴ παραλιπεῖν τὸ ὑπὲρ τῶν ἡγεμόνων ἔθος, not to deſert the Cuſtom concerning their Rulers, which always had obtained among them.

And that the Chriſtians following their Examples, thus prayed continually, from the Beginning, for their (e) Kings, we learn from (f) Polycarp, (g) Juſtin Martyr, (h) Tertullian, (i) St. Cyprian, (k) Origen, (l) Lactantius, and from all the Ancient Liturgies. And this it became them to do, that the Heathen Emperors, finding them thus ſolicitous for the Welfare and Proſperity of their Government, might permit them quietly and peaceably to enjoy their Religion.

c Ver. 5. Μεσίτης, Mediator.] That is, ſaith Suidas, εἰρηνοποιὸς, a Peace-maker. This, ſay the Socinians, is not neceſſary, that a Mediator ſhould appeaſe, or reconcile Parties at Variance; but only, that he ſhould deliver the Mind of one to the other, and ſtrike a Covenant, or League, betwixt them, as in the Caſe of Moſes, Gal. 3. 9. To this I anſwer;

1. That tho' this be not neceſſarily contained in the ſignification of the word, yet it is evidently implied in that which is annexed to our Mediator, where-ever he is mentioned in the New Teſtament, viz. here, and in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews; for he is ſuch a Mediator as gave himſelf a Ranſom to God for us, v. 6. and there, he is a Mediator of the New Covenant of his Blood, the Covenant made by Intervention of his Death, εἰς ἀπολύτρωσιν, for Redemption of the Tranſgreſſions of the former Covenant, chap. 9. 15. and 8. 6. and 12. 24.

2*dly*, This ſeemeth to have been the Jewiſh Notion, both of a Mediator in the general, and of our Mediator, or the Divine Logos, in particular. Thus (m) Philo ſaith, That the Father of all Things hath granted to his moſt ancient Word, an excellent Gift, viz. That ſtanding in the Confines of both, he ſhould put a difference betwixt the Maker, and the Thing made, as being an Interceſſor for mortal Man to the Immortal God, and an Ambaſſador from the King to his Subjects; in which Gift he rejoiceth, ſaying, Κἀγὼ εἱστήκειν ἀνὰ μέσον Κυρίου καὶ ὑμῶν, And I ſtood betwixt God and you, being neither unbegotten as God, οὔτε γεννητὸς ὡς ἡμεῖς, nor made as we are, but a middle of the Extremes, and a Pledge to both; to the Creator, engaging that all Mankind ſhall not corrupt it ſelf, and apoſtatize, chuſing Diſorder before Order; to the Creature, that he may have good hope, that the merciful God will not wholly overlook his own Work; for I denounce τὰ εἰρηνεῖα, peaceable things to the Creature from the God of Peace. And ſpeaking of their High-Prieſt, who was a Type of Chriſt, he ſaith, (n) The Law will have him raiſed above Human Nature, and coming near to the Divine; and if I may ſay the Truth, a Middle betwixt both, that Men may atone God by a Mediator, and God may reach forth, and diſtribute his Favours to Men, by a certain Miniſter. And again, (o) It was neceſſary, that he who performs the Office of a Prieſt to the Father of a World, ſhould have for his Advocate his Son moſt perfect in Vertue, to obtain the Pardon of Sins, and the Participation of the greateſt Bleſſings. So that here it is made the Office of a Mediator, to procure Peace to the Creature from God, to make Atonement to God, and to be an Advocate to obtain the Pardon of Sins; and if Chriſt our Mediator and Advocate with the Father, was, by Virtue of his Office, to do this; ſurely it muſt be part of his Office, to appeaſe and reconcile God to us.

Ver. 6. Ἀντίλυτρον ὑπὲρ πάντων, A Ranſom for all.] And, Matth. 20. 28. λύτρον ἀντὶ πολλῶν, a Ranſom in the ſtead of many. Hence then 'tis evident, beyond Contradiction, that our Lord Jeſus ſuffered in our ſtead. For when the Scripture ſaith, οὐ λήψεσθε λύτρα περὶ ψυχῆς παρὰ τοῦ φονεύσαντος, Ye ſhall admit no Satisfaction for the Life of the Murtherer who is worthy of Death, Numb. 35. 31, 32. but he ſhall ſurely be put to death; for, οὐ ἐξιλασθήσεται ἡ γῆ ἀπὸ τοῦ αἵματος, the Land cannot be cleanſed, or expiated from the Blood that is ſhed therein, but by the Blood of him that ſhed it; Is not this the plain import of theſe Words, That no Price ſhall be admitted in ſtead of his Life? Again, when Ahab paſſed this Judgment on the diſguiſed Prophet, Ἔσται ἡ ψυχή σου ἀντὶ τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ, Thy Life ſhall go for his Life whom thou haſt let go, 1 Kings 20. 39, 40. And when the Prophet thus returns upon him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Becauſe thou haſt let go out of thy Hand a Man whom I have appointed to utter Deſtruction, καὶ ἔσται ψυχή σου ἀντὶ τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ, therefore thy Life ſhall go for his Life. And when Jehu ſaith to the Men appointed to ſlay the Prieſts of Baal, If any of them eſcape, he that letteth him go, ἡ ψυχὴ αὐτοῦ ἀντὶ τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ, his Life ſhall be for his Life that eſcapeth of them, 2 Kings 10. 24. Do not all theſe Expreſſions plainly ſignifie, Thou ſhalt die inſtead of him? When therefore Chriſt elſewhere declares, That he would give his Fleſh for the Life of the World; That he gave his Life a Ranſom for many, a Ranſom for all: Muſt he not ſignifie by c theſe Expreſſions, That he would give up his Life to the Death, inſtead of them who had deſerved Death? Which ſure he could not do, but he muſt ſuffer in their ſtead. Moreover, by the Jewiſh Law, the Firſt-born of every Beaſt was to die; or to reſcue him from it, the owner was to pay, λύτρον ἀντὶ ψυχῆς, a Price to redeem his Life, Numb. 18. 15. and the puſhing Ox, provided the Owner did not pay, τὸ λύτρον τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ, a Price or Ranſom for his Life, Exod. 21. 31. Every Iſraelite was alſo to bring in yearly his Half-Shekel, λύτρον τῆς ψυχῆς αὐτοῦ ἐξιλάσασθαι περὶ τῶν ψυχῶν ὑμῶν, to be the Ranſom of his Life, that he die not, Exod. 30. 12, 15, 16. And this Money was appointed to buy the daily Sacrifice which was to expiate, or make atonement for their Lives. Moreover, among the Jews it was a received Opinion, that σπουδαῖος τοῦ φαύλου λύτρον, the good Man was the Redemption of the wicked, Philo de Sacrif. Cain, p. 118. D. And hence (p) Joſephus brings in Eleazar praying thus to God, Be thou gracious to thy Nation, being ſatisfied with the Puniſhment I ſuffer for them: Make my Blood an Expiation for them, καὶ ἀντὶ ψυχῶν αὐτῶν λάβε τὴν ἐμὴν ψυχήν, and take my Life inſtead of theirs. See the Note on Matth. 20. 28. When therefore in alluſion to theſe things, 'tis ſaid, Chriſt gave himſelf, ἀντίλυτρον, or λύτρον ἀντὶ πολλῶν, a Ranſom for many; can we put any other Senſe upon theſe Words than this, that he gave his Life in ſtead of ours, to expiate and atone for thoſe Lives which we, by Sin, had forfeited?

e Ibid. Ὑπὲρ πάντων, For all.] Theſe Verſes contain ſeveral convincing Arguments, that God wills the Salvation of all Men, in particular, and that Chriſt thus died for All. For,

1. The Apoſtle here enjoins us to pray for all Men, becauſe God will have all Men to be ſaved. Now 'tis unqueſtionably the Chriſtian's Duty, and was the conſtant Practice of the Church to pray for all Men in particular; and therefore the Reaſon here aſſigned of this Duty, muſt reach to all Men in particular.

2. The Apoſtle reaſons thus; God will have all Men to be ſaved, becauſe he is the God of All, the Common Father, Creator, Governour, and Preſerver of all Men: Now thus he is the God of all Men in particular; and ſo this Argument muſt ſhew, he would have all Men in particular be ſaved. For, as the Apoſtle argues for God's Readineſs to juſtifie the Gentiles by Faith, as freely as the Jews, by asking, Is he the God of the Jews only? Is he not alſo of the Gentiles? Rom. 3. 29. and anſwering, That there is no difference betwixt them, the ſame God being rich unto all that call upon him, Rom. 10. 12. So may we argue in this Caſe, by a like Enquiry, Is he the God of a ſmall Remnant of the Jews and Gentiles only? Is he not the God and Saviour of them all? chap. 4. 10.

3. He would have all Men to be ſaved, ſaith the Apoſtle; for there is one Mediator betwixt God and Man, the Man Chriſt Jeſus, who gave himſelf a Ranſom for all. Now if the Argument from one God, was, as we have proved, deſigned to ſhew He was the God of all Men in particular; the Argument from this one Mediator, muſt alſo prove Chriſt the Mediator of all Men in particular. Hence he is here emphatically ſtyled, the Man Chriſt Jeſus; to intimate unto us, that having taken upon him the Nature common to us all, to fit him for this Office, he muſt deſign it for the good of all who were Partakers of that Nature; for as he was a Man, he ſurely was endued with the beſt of Human Affections, Univerſal Charity which would excite him to promote the Welfare of all. As he was a Man, he was ſubject to the Common Law of Humanity, which obliges us to endeavour the Common Benefit of Men.

Ver. 7. Ἀλήθειαν λέγω, I ſpeak the Truth in Chriſt.] This Oath or vehement Affirmation, could not be neceſſary to confirm Timothy in the belief of this Matter. But this Epiſtle being ſent to Epheſus, or ſome other Place, where there were many Jews, who either denied that Salvation was to be preached to the Gentiles, or only on the Terms of being alſo circumciſed, which this Apoſtle did ſo ſtoutly oppoſe, it might be neceſſary for their ſakes. f

Ver. 8. Ὁσίους χεῖρας, Holy Hands.] 'Tis certain that 'twas the Cuſtom of the Heathens to waſh ſometimes their Heads, ſometimes their whole Bodies, but generally their Hands, before they came to their Temples to pay their Homage to their Gods. And to this purpoſe they had their χειρνίβια, or χειρόνιπτρα, Baſons or Lavers, placed before the Temples, which they were to uſe before they ſacrificed; it being thought ſo great a Crime to come to the Gods with Hands unwaſhed, illotis manibus libare, that 'tis (q) proverbial with them, to ſignify by that Phraſe, thoſe who come irreverently and unprepared to their Service, ſay Diogenianus and St. Gregory; and to come reverently to the Gods is, (r) περιῤῥανάμενον, ἀπορυψάμενον, ἀπονιψάμενον, ὁσιώμενον προσιέναι, to come cleanſed and waſhed, and therefore holy. As for the Jews, the learned Dr. Pocock ſaith, that this is a Law among them, That every one g

muſt waſh his Hands when he ariſes from his Bed, that he may be pure when he offers up his Prayers to God, not thinking any Man טהור (ὅσιος, Prov. 22. 11.) pure, till he hath waſhed his Hands. This they were to do, ſay their (ſ) Rabbins, leſt God, ſeeing his Creature defiled, ſhould be angry ; and becauſe Prayer ſucceeded to thoſe Sacrifices, which were not to be touched by the Prieſt till he had waſhed his Hands, Exod. 30. 27, 28. This they looked upon as a part of Sanctification, and therefore pray thus, Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God, שאר קדשנו, who haſt ſanctified us by thy Precepts, and commandeſt us to waſh our Hands. This Waſhing was to ſignifie three things:

1. That the Hands ſhould be innocent and pure from all Blood and Cruelty, Injuſtice and Bribery, all Filthineſs and Impurity, before we come to this Sacred Majeſty, as David ſaith, I will waſh my Hands in Innocency, and ſo will I compaſs thine Altar, Pſal. 26. 6. and Philo, of the (t) Eſſenes, that they lifted up pure Hands to Heaven; that is, Hands, καθαραὶ λημμάτων, καὶ ὑπ' οὐδεμίας προφάσεως τῆς εἰς πορισμὸν μιαινόμεναι, pure from Gifts, and ſtained with no unjuſt Gain ; and ſo, ſaith he, muſt the Perſon who lays his Hand upon his Offering, be able to ſay, (u) Αἱ χεῖρες αὗται οὔτε δῶρον ἐπ' ἀδίκοις ἔλαβον, Theſe Hands have received no Gift to do Injuſtice, are not polluted with innocent Blood; they have maimed, wounded, done violence, to no Man ; they have been employed in no culpable Action, but have miniſtered to all good and profitable things.

2. That our Hearts ſhould much more be purified from all Luſts and Filthineſs of Spirit, Pride, Hatred, Malice, Covetouſneſs, &c. So clean Hands and a pure Heart, in the Pſalmiſt, go together, Pſal. 24. 4. He that offers Sacrifices, ſaith (x) Philo, muſt be καθαρὸς σώματι καὶ ψυχῇ, pure in Body from whatſoever defileth that ; and in Soul from all evil Paſſions and Vices : For it is Folly to think we may not come to the Temple till we have waſhed the Body, and yet may pray and offer Sacrifice with a ſpotted and defiled Mind.

3. That we be purified from all worldly and diſtracting Thoughts, that the Mind may be at leiſure to attend purely to Heavenly Things, that we may bring to God, ſaith Philo, (y) τὴν ψυχὴν τοῦ τῶν αἰσθήσεων καὶ αἰσθητῶν ὄγκου παντελῶς ἐπικουφισθεῖσαν, a Soul eaſed of all the weight of the Senſes, and ſenſible Objects. Theſe are the things which the Apoſtle here enjoins, when he commands us to lift up Holy Hands, not that we ſhould waſh them with Water, which (z) Tertullian reckons among things vacuæ obſervationis, of vain Obſervation, ſuperſtitious, and rather curious and affected, than reaſonable Devotion, when introduced by ſome Chriſtians, from the Heathen or the Jewiſh Practice, as a Preface to Prayer.

h Ibid. χωρὶς ὀργῆς, Without Wrath.] As being contrary to that Charity and Forgiveneſs, and that Sedateneſs of Spirit we ought to have when we addreſs to God in Prayer, and being the Fore-runner of that Cruelty which defiles the Hands.

i Ibid. Καὶ διαλογισμοῦ, And doubting.] I find not that the Greek ever bears the ſenſe of Doubting, but always imports in the New Teſtament, either inward Reaſonings, or tumultuating Thoughts, διαλογισμοὶ πονηροὶ, evil Thoughts in the Heart, Mat. 15. 19. Mark 7. 21. James 2. 4. διαλογισμοὶ καρδιῶν, the Thoughts of Men's Hearts ; Luke 2. 35. and 9. 46. διαλογισμοὶ αὐτῶν, their Thoughts, Luke 5. 22. and 6. 8. or their Imaginations. Rom. 1. 21. Luke 24. 38. or Contention and Diſceptation among them, Luke 9. 46. or inward Murmurings, Phil. 2. 14. all which are plainly oppoſite to that Peace, Concord, and Sedateneſs of Spirit we ſhould bring to our Devotions, and apt to diſtract us in them, eſpecially evil Imaginations.

The Scripture it ſelf ſeems to direct us to the prime Senſe of this Word; for what is, διαλογισμοί, Luke 9. 47. is, ἐνθυμήσεις, inward Thoughts and Reaſonings, Matth. 9. 4. and this Senſe the Word will bear in all places, where we render it either doubting or diſputing. So, Philip. 2. 14. Do all things without murmuring, καὶ διαλογισμῶν, and inward Reaſonings, whether you ſhould continue in the Faith, or not; or why ſuch Commands ſhould be laid upon you ; and here, without inward Thoughts, or Reſentments of the Injuries done to you, Theodoret here interprets it agreeably to the Matter in Hand, ἀμφιβολίας χωρὶς, without Heſitation, firmly believing thou ſhalt receive what thou askeſt : And of this, ſaith Theophylact, thou mayeſt be aſſured, if thou ſtill askeſt according to his Will; if thou askeſt, μηδὲν ἀνάξιον τοῦ βασιλέως, nothing unworthy of God, but all things Spiritual, and askeſt theſe things without Wrath, and Heſitation, or a Mind wavering betwixt Hope and Fear.

k Ver. 9. Μετὰ αἰδοῦς καὶ σωφροσύνης, With Shamefacedneſs, and Sobriety, or Chaſtity.] It ſeems impoſſible to fix a certain Rule for the Attire of Women of all States and Conditions, at all Times, and in all Places ; but from what the Apoſtle ſaith here, and 1 Pet. 3. 3. (ſee the Note there) it ſeems evident, 1. That περιπλοκαὶ τῶν τριχῶν ἑταιρικαὶ all Attire which ſuſpected Women uſed, either to provoke Luſt in others, or to ſhew any Inclination to it in themſelves; and all Attire which hath any tendency to any thing of this nature, or to raiſe a ſuſpicion of it, muſt be here forbidden, as being contrary to the Modeſty and chaſt Behaviour of a Godly Matron. And 2*dly*, All Attire, which by the richneſs and the coſtlineſs of it, ſhews any Pride, or Vanity of Spirit, or an Ambition to excel others. And 3*dly*, All great Concernment, Care, and Study, to appear in ſuch Attire, as if it were indeed our trueſt Ornament, and that which made us truly to excel, and be more honourable than others: This Vanity and Pride, this eſteem of, and concern for theſe Things, being not well conſiſtent with Sobriety, and much leſs with the Profeſſion of true Godlineſs. And here it is worthy to be noted by the Women, 1. That this Precept ought not to be ſlighted by them, as of little moment, ſeeing it is ſo carefully inculcated by the two chief Apoſtles of the Jew and Gentile, St. Peter and St. Paul; and the contrary is repreſented as a Practice oppoſite to Godlineſs. 2*dly*, Let them eſpecially mark the Character here given of a Chriſtian Woman, viz. that ſhe is one who doth not only profeſs and declare, that ſhe ſerves and worſhips God, but alſo doth ἐπαγγέλλειν, ſhew forth Godlineſs in her Life and Converſation. And 2*dly*, Let the Men note hence that of Eſthius, That if it be ſo unbecoming a Chriſtian Woman, to be thus concerned in adorning and tricking up her Body, it muſt be much more unbecoming a Chriſtian Man, and that which makes him truly to deſerve the Name of Fop.

Ver. 12. Οὐκ ἐπιτρέπω, &c. I ſuffer not a Woman to teach.] I. e. Publickly, 1 Cor. 14. 34, 35. See the Note there. They may privately inſtruct, as Priſcilla did Apollo, Acts 18. 26. and as a believing Wife may inſtruct her unbelieving Husband, when he requires a Reaſon of her Faith; but then ſhe muſt not challenge any Authority to do this, this being to uſurp an Authority not due unto her.

Ver. 14. Οὐκ ἠπατήθη, He was not deceived.] I. e. By the Serpent, who never attempted him, but was only ſeduced by the Woman: She therefore was both guilty of her own, and of her Husband's Sins.

Ver. 15. Διὰ τεκνογονίας, In Child-bearing.] That is, ſome ſay, by bearing the Meſſiah, the promiſed Seed; but there is no inſtance that can be produced, where this Phraſe is uſed in this Senſe. Say others, by Education of her Children; but neither is there any inſtance of this Signification of the Word, nor is it fit that her Salvation ſhould depend on the Faith, and Charity, and Holineſs of her Children, theſe being things not in her power to produce in them. And 3. What then ſhall become of barren Women, and thoſe that live and die Virgins? To eſtabliſh therefore the Senſe given in the Text, let it be noted,

1*ſt*, That; this Enallage Numeri, or Change of the Number in Words that comprehend all of the ſame kind, is very common both in the Old, and the New Teſtament, and in prophane Authors: So, Gen. 33. 13. Morientur totus Grex. Gen. 41. 57. Univerſa terra venerunt, the whole Land came into Egypt. Pſalm. 140. Grant not the Deſires of the Wicked, further not his wicked Devices, leſt they exalt themſelves. Prov. 2. 12, 13. The evil Man, who leave the Paths of Uprightneſs. See Numb. 10. 3. 1 Kings 1. 40. 1 Chron. 10. 6. Ezra 10. 12. Pſal. 68. 11. Eſd. 25. 3. and 34. 10. Mark 3. 7, 8. And here, Chap. 5. 4. γήρα—μανθανέτωσαν, if any Widow,—— let them learn. Note,

2*dly*, That the Propoſition διὰ, doth not always ſignify a Means, or a Condition, but ſometimes a Term to be paſſed through, as when it is ſaid διὰ πολλῶν θλίψεων, Through many Tribulations we muſt enter into the Kingdom of God, Acts 14. 22. He ſhall be ſaved, διὰ πυρὸς, as one paſſing through the Fire, 1 Cor. 3. 15. Let us behave our ſelves as the Miniſters of God, paſſing inoffenſively, διὰ δόξης καὶ ἀτιμίας, διὰ δυσφημίας καὶ εὐφημίας, through Honour and Diſhonour, through Good and Evil Report, 2 Cor. 6. 8. in which Senſe we are ſaid ambulare per viam, per plateam. But againſt the Interpretation given in the Paraphraſe, it is objected, that the following Words, If they continue in the Faith, &c. cannot be mentioned here as a Condition of their ſafe Deliverance in Child-Bed, ſince that Deliverance is common to the Believer and the Pagan, the Charitable and Temperate, and the Uncharitable and Intemperate, the Chaſt and the Unchaſt Women.

Anſw. Now to this I anſwer, That this Objection ſeems to be of no force againſt the ſenſe here given; for tho' Health, Riches, a good Name, and other temporal Bleſſings, be common to the Pagan and Believer, to the Good and Bad; that hinders not but Godlineſs may have the Promiſe of this Life; as Health, Riches, a good Name, and other outward Bleſſings are promiſed to thoſe that fear God; it being ſufficient to make good this Promiſe, that God is pleaſed ſometimes to vouchſafe this ſafe Deliverance from the Dangers of Child-birth to Women, by virtue of their Truſt in God, their Charity to others, eſpecially in the like Condition, their Temperance, Sobriety, and Chaſtity, as to the Obſervation of the Matrimonial Vow, and that others may ſometimes miſcarry thro' the want or neglect of theſe Duties. In a Word, ſeeing it cannot be denied, that theſe things are likely to engage God's Providence to be with them in that needful Hour, and the neglect of them may provoke him to abandon others, they muſt be deemed fit matter of a temporal Promiſe.

CHAP. III.

a Verſe 1. [a] THIS is a true ſaying, If a man deſire the Office of a Biſhop, he deſireth a good work, [i. e. *a Work that is honourable in it ſelf, and ſo requires

b 2. A Biſhop then muſt be [b] blameleſs [i. e. free from juſt ground of blame,] the of Strangers;*] apt to teach, [not ſo much for his Eloquence, as for his Skill in Divine things, and Knowledge of what is fitting to be taught. So Theodoret.]

3. Not given to [much] wine, [v. 9.] no e ſtriker, nor greedy of filthy lucre, but [e] patient, not a brawler, [or contentious Perſon,]
f not [f] covetous.

4. One that ruleth well [in] his own houſe, having his children in [due] ſubjection, [and behaving himſelf in it] with all gravity.

5. For if a Man know not how to rule [well in] his own houſe, how ſhall he [be able to] take care of the Church of God? [which is a larger Family, and ſo requires greater Skill in Government.]

g 6. [g] Not a novice [in Religion] leſt being lifted up with Pride [ἐκ τῆς προεδρίας, h by reaſon of his high Advancement,] he fall [h]
into the condemnation of the devil.

7. Moreover, he muſt have a good report of them that are without, [i. e. *the

8. Likewiſe muſt the Deacons be grave, not double-tongue'd, [not fraudulent and deceitful, Chryſoſtom; not ſaying one thing to one, another to another, Theodoret;] not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre, [i. e. of Lucre gained by ſordid and filthy Arts.]

9. Holding the Myſtery of the faith in a pure conſcience, [i. e. in a Life ſo pure that Conſcience may not ſmite him; for when a good Conſcience is once put away, the Loſs of Faith will follow, chap. 1. 19.]

10. [k] And let theſe alſo firſt be proved, k [by the Examination of the ſoundneſs of their Faith, and the purity of their former Lives,] and then let them [be admitted to] uſe the grave, not ſlanderers, ſober, faithful in all things.

12. Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, [ſee v. 2.] ruling their Children, and their own Houſes well.

13. For they that have uſed the office of a Deacon well, [i. e. according to theſe Rules, do by ſo doing] purchaſe to themſelves [m] a m good degree, [or higher office in the Church,] and great [n] boldneſs in [preaching] the faith n [which is] in Chriſt Jeſus.

14. Theſe things write I [now] unto thee, hoping to come to thee ſhortly, [and furniſh thee with other Inſtructions, Chap. 4. 13.

15. [o] But if I tarry long [they will be the o more needful,] that thou mayeſt know how thou oughteſt to behave thy ſelf in the houſe of God, which is the Church of the living God, [p] the pillar and ground of p truth.

16. And without controverſy [or confeſſedly,] great is the myſtery of godlineſs: [conſiſting in theſe Articles,] [q] God was q manifeſt in the fleſh, juſtified in [or by] the Spirit, ſeen of angels, preached to the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1. NOTE, Concerning the import of the Word Biſhop here, I find three different Opinions among the Ancients, viz. that of Theodoret, that the Apoſtle here calls the (a) Presbyter, Biſhop, which he thus proves; becauſe after the Rules preſcribed concerning Biſhops, he deſcends to thoſe concerning Deacons, omitting Presbyters; Becauſe, ſaith he, anciently the ſame Perſons were ſtiled Presbyters and Biſhops, the Name Apoſtles being then given to them who are now called Biſhops; but in proceſs of time, they left the Name of Apoſtles to them who were Apoſtles indeed, and gave this Name of Biſhop peculiarly to them, who anciently were ſtiled Apoſtles. And though, ſaith he, theſe Rules are given to the Presbyters by Name, it is clear that they more eminently belonged to Biſhops, ἅτε δὴ καὶ μείζονος μεταλαχόντας τιμῆς, as being of an higher Dignity. And this Opinion, if true, is a full Confutation of the Presbyterian Hypotheſis; for it declares, that there were three diſtinct Orders from the beginning of the Church, Apoſtles or Biſhops, Presbyters, and Deacons, and that the Biſhops were of an higher Dignity than the Presbyters.

2*dly*, The ſecond Opinion is that of Epiphanius, That the (b) Apoſtles could not order all things at one time, there being then a neceſſity of Presbyters and Deacons, by both which Eccleſiaſtical Matters were to be adminiſtered; they plac'd no Biſhops there, where they found no Perſon worthy of that Office; in other places where they found Perſons worthy of it, but by reaſon of the paucity of Converts, found ſcarce any fit to be Presbyters, they conſtituted only Biſhops and Deacons. And this Account, ſaith he, is taken, βαθυτάταις ἱστορίαις, from the moſt ancient Hiſtories of the Church; I ſuppoſe from the known paſſage of Clemens Romanus to this effect. And this alſo yields a full Confutation of the Presbyterian Hypotheſis; for it declares, That it was the Deſign of the Apoſtles to inſtitute three ſeveral Orders in the Church, viz. of Biſhops, Presbyters, and Deacons; and where this was not done, it was only through want of Perſons fit to complete theſe Orders, and only during that defect; and this being writ in anſwer to Aerius his Hereſy, That (c) a Biſhop differed not from a Presbyter, they being both one Order, Dignity, and Honour; ſhews that Opinion was then counted not only falſe and novel, but heretical.

3*dly*, The third Opinion is that of (d) Chryſoſtom, (e) OEcumenius, and (f) Hilary the Deacon on the place, That the Apoſtle includes Presbyters under the Name of Biſhops, becauſe there is no great difference between them, they being appointed as well as Biſhops to teach, and to preſide over the Church; and being only inferior to the Biſhops, as to the power of Ordination, which belongs alone to Biſhops, and not to Presbyters. Now even according to this Opinion, the Biſhop is above the Presbyter, and all Ordinations which are not performed by the Biſhop, are irregular, and performed by them who have no Power to Ordain.

Ver. 2. Ἀνεπίληπτος, Blameleſs.] For the Life of a Biſhop, ſaith Chryſoſtom, ſhould ſhine ſo bright, and be ſo free from ſpot, that others may not only behold it, but live by his Example. b c Ibid. Μιᾶς γυναικὸς ἄνδρα, The Husband of one Wife: ] For the Jews and Greeks, ſaith (g) Theodoret, were wont to be married to two or three Wives together. The Apoſtle therefore doth not ſay this, to depreciate Second Marriages, which he elſewhere allows, 1 Cor. 7. 8, 39. and from which it may not be in a Man's Power to abſtain. If then a Man, τὴν προτέραν ἐκβαλὼν, ἑτέρᾳ συννεζύγη, rejecting his former Wife, be joined to another, he deſerveth blame; but if Death have disjoin'd him from his former, and Nature urging doth neceſſitate him to take another, 'tis otherwiſe. Conſidering theſe and other things, I approve of this Interpretation of ſome of the Ancients, which is alſo mentioned by (h) St. Jerom, and by Chryſoſtom, declaring, that the Apoſtle doth not here oblige the Biſhop to be married, but only corrects the Immoderateneſs of ſome; becauſe, among the Jews, 'twas lawful both to marry twice, καὶ δύο ἔχειν κατὰ ταυτὸν γυναῖκας, and to have two Wives together; and 'twas more common with them to divorce one, and take another: And whereas, againſt this Interpretation, 'tis objected, That the Apoſtle requires alſo, that the Widow ſhould be the Wife of one Husband; whereas it never was permitted, among any but Barbarians, for Women to have more than one Husband at once; this Objection hath ſome ſtrength againſt the interpreting that Paſſage of Polygamy, but none againſt that Interpretation which relates to Marriage after diſmiſſion of the former Husband, the Law allowing this in Greece, and the Practice having made it common among the Romans, and not unuſal among the Jews. See Note on chap. 5. 9. (*) Origen ſeems plainly to inſinuate, that this Law, in the ſtrict Senſe, ſeems harſh, and unreaſonable, ſince he that hath a Wife might loſe her in his Youth, and ſo have need of a Second; and this Law allowed the Biſhop to enjoy his firſt Wife even to Old Age, ἐῶθ' ὅτε μηδὲ γυμνασόμενον εἰς ἁγνείαν, καὶ σωφροσύνην, tho' he never exerciſed himſelf to Chaſtity and Continence; and therefore he thinks fit to interpret theſe words by Analogy to the Bill of Divorce; plainly declaring againſt the Church of Rome, that neither Biſhop, Prieſt, nor Deacon, of whom there he ſpeaks, were either by Scripture, or the Laws of the Church reſtrained from cohabiting with their Wives, after their Promotion to thoſe Orders. See the Confirmation of our Expoſition in Suicerus, vocibus, διγαμία, & δίγαμος.

e Ver. 3. Ἐπιεικῆ, Patient, or Gentle: ] I. e. ſaith Theodoret, in reference to Offences committed againſt himſelf; for it is no part of Meekneſs or Patience, when others are injured, to overlook the Injury.

f Ibid. Ἀφιλάργυρον, Nor Covetous, or a Lover of Money. ] Theodoret here notes, that the Apoſtle doth not ſay, he muſt be ἀκτήμονα, one who poſſeſſeth none; for a Man may poſſeſs theſe things, and yet diſtribute them as he ought, ſo as not to be a Slave to them, but a Lord over them.

Ibid. Μὴ αἰσχροκερδῆ.] Theſe words, ſaith Dr. Mills, crept into the Text, from Tit. 1. 7. whereas they are found in Chryſoſtom, and Oecumenius, Cod. Alex. and St. Baſil, To. 2. p. 416, 417. and are fully confirmed from the words following, διακόνους ὡσαύτως μὴ αἰσχροκερδεῖς; and from Tit. 1. 7. where St. Paul treats of the ſame Subject.

g Ver. 6. Μὴ νεόφυτον, Not a Novice. ] This, ſay Chryſoſtom and Theodoret, is not ſpoken with reſpect to Age; for Timothy himſelf, to whom he writes, was a Youth, chap. 4. 12. but in reſpect to his Knowledge of the Faith.

Ibid. Εἰς κρίμα τοῦ Διαβόλου.] That the Devil fell by Pride, Theodoret here notes: But yet both he and Chryſoſtom, ſay, That by Condemnation here, the Apoſtle means not his Sin, but his Puniſhment for it.

the Provinces ſubject to the Roman Government. The Epiſtles of St. Cyprian (k) make frequent mention of this Practice obſerved in the Church, in imitation of the Jews. This, ſaith he, was obſerved in the Acts of the Apoſtles, in the Ordination both of Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons : And therefore this, ſaith he, is derived from a Divine and Apoſtolical Tradition, obſerved almoſt throughout all Provinces, that the Biſhops of that Province where the Biſhop is to be placed, ſhould come thither and chuſe the Biſhop, the People being preſent who were acquainted with his Life and Converſation.

Ver. 11. Γυναῖκας ὡσαύτως, The Women alſo ] I. e. that are admitted to be Deaconneſſes, Tit. 2. 3. Περὶ τῶν τὸ ἀξίωμα τῆς διακονίας ἐχουσῶν λέγει, Chryſoſtom, Theodoret.

m Ver. 13. Βαθμὸν καλὸν, A good Degree.] It being the Cuſtom to chuſe Presbyters out of the Deacons, and Biſhops out of the beſt Presbyters ; and therefore at his Ordination they prayed, That he uſing the Office of a Deacon unblameably, might (l) μείζονος ἀξιωθῆναι βαθμοῦ, be hold worthy of an higher Degree.

n Ibid. Παῤῥησίαν, Boldneſs, or Freedom.] The Deacons ſometimes preached, and converted Men to the Faith, as St. Stephen, and Philip ; and this they could more freely and more ſucceſsfully perform, when they lived ſuitably to the Qualifications of their Function, and to the Rules of the Goſpel they profeſſed and taught.

o Ver. 15. Ἐὰν δὲ βραδύνω, But if I tarry long.] Here Theodoret well notes, That neither the Holy Prophets, nor Apoſtles, knew all Things, the Grace of the Spirit dictating to them only the Things which were expedient ; as appears from theſe Expreſſions, hoping to come ſhortly, and, but if I tarry.

p Ibid. Στῦλος καὶ ἑδραίωμα τῆς ἀληθείας, the Pillar and the Ground of Truth.] Here, ſay the Romaniſts, the Church is ſtyled the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, ſurely from her Teachers being ſo ; they being elſewhere ſtyled Pillars, Gal. 2. 9. and Foundations, Eph. 2. 20. Now, ſay they, may not all ſecurely rely, in their Faith, on the Pillar of Truth ? May they not ſecurely ground their Faith upon the Ground of Truth ? The Church therefore being the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, we may, without fear of ever erring, rely upon her.

Anſw. 1. Whereas the Objection repreſents it as certain, that the Church is here ſtyled the Pillar and Ground of Truth, in reſpect of its Teachers ; the Text ſeems clearly to intimate the contrary : For whether we ſupply the ſenſe of the words thus, πῶς δεῖ (σε) how thou oughteſt ; or, with Theophylact, πῶς δεῖ τὸν ἐπίσκοπον, how a Biſhop ought to behave himſelf in the Houſe of God, which is the Church, it is evident, that the (m) Church here mentioned, is put in oppoſition to the Biſhop of it, and is according to Theodoret on the Place, σύλλογος τῶν πιστευόντων, the Collection of Believers ; and therefore not the Church Repreſentative, which is only σύλλογος τῶν ἐπισκόπων, an Aſſembly of Biſhops, according to the Doctrine of the Church of Rome ; and therefore the Infallibity of the Church Repreſentative can never be concluded from theſe words, which ſo expreſly do relate to the whole Syſtem of Believers, in diſtinction from their Biſhops.

Anſw. 2. The Church here, is the Church of the Living God ; not as it comprehends the major part of her viſible Members, but only as it comprehends the true and living Members of Chriſt's Body, they being only the Church of the Living God ; ſo that we muſt firſt know who they are, before we can be guided by them. Now, becauſe this is impoſſible to be known with any aſſurance, it is impoſſible that we ſhould be obliged to rely on their Judgment in deciding what is Truth.

Anſw. 3. There is nothing more common, in the Language of the Writers of the Church, than to ſtyle any eminent Father of the Church, or Aſſertor of her Faith, the Pillar, and the Ground of Faith. This Title is by St. Baſil (n) given to Muſonius Biſhop of Cæſarea, to Athanaſius, and to the Orthodox Biſhops baniſhed for the Truth ; by (o) Nazianzen, to Baſil, to Athanaſius, and to Euſebius Biſhop of Samoſata ; by Lanfranc, and Rupertus Tuitienſis, it is given to St. Auſtin, and yet ſure they were far from thinking that any of theſe ſingle Fathers were Infallible : Whence it muſt follow, that according to the Judgment of the Church, this Phraſe did not import Infallibility.

Anſw. 4. The Church cannot here be ſtyled the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, as being the Foundation on which Truth is built, and which giveth it Authority; Truth being, ſaith (p) St. Chryſoſtom, τῆς ἐκκλησίας ϗ ςύλος ϗ ἑδραίωμα, the Pillar and the Ground of the Church, which is, ſaith the Apoſtle, built on the Foundation of the Apoſtles and the Prophets, Eph. 2.19, 20. She therefore is the Church of Chriſt, becauſe She holds the Truth, as is demonſtrative from this, that purely ceaſing to do ſo, her Members ceaſe to be the Members of the Church: She therefore cannot by me be known to be the Church, until I know She holds the Truth, and doth not ceaſe to make Profeſſion of it: And when I firſt know this, what need have I of Her Infallible Direction to find out the Truth? She therefore may be rather ſaid to be the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, becauſe it is eſſential to her Being, to maintain and teach all neceſſary Truths; and becauſe Her living Members do and will maintain them, when concealed, denied, miſ-repreſented by hypocritical Profeſſors; and becauſe She doth preſerve and own thoſe Oracles in which the ſaving Truth of Chriſt is fully and perſpicuouſly maintained, and doth Baptize her Children into that Symbol which was always held to be a perfect Summary of Chriſtian Faith.

Laſtly, The Church of that Age might well be ſaid to be the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, becauſe then the Apoſtles preſided in it, who were the Pillars and Foundations of the Chriſtian Faith, according to the Scriptures, and the ancient Fathers: Thus (q) Theodoret ſtyles St. Peter and St. John, τοὺς ςύλους τῆς ἀληθείας, the Pillars of Truth; and (r) OEcumenius, ςύλους τῆς πίςεως, i. e. the Pillars of the Faith. Then alſo did the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts deliver, and the Church receive thoſe Scriptures which were to be the Standard of the Chriſtian Faith, and which were written, ſaith (s) Irenæus, by the Will of God, to be hereafter, Columnam & Fundamentum fidei noſtræ, the Pillar and Foundation of our Faith: And which are, ſaith Athanaſius, (t) τῆς πίςεως ἡμῶν ἄγκυραὶ ϗ ἐρείσματα, the Anchors and Stabiliments of our Faith. Then did her Members confirm the Chriſtian Faith by Miracles, which, by St. Hilary (u) upon this Place, are ſtiled, the Confirmation of this Truth; and by their Sufferings for it, on which account the Martyrs are peculiarly ſtyled by the Fathers, the ſteady Pillars, and the Grounds of Chriſtians. Now ſeeing none of theſe Reaſons can be applied to the preſent Church, it will not follow that She can in like manner claim this Title.

Ver. 16. Θεὸς ἐφανερώθη, God was manifeſted in the Fleſh.] Here Grotius ſaith, Suſpectam nobis hanc lectionem faciunt Interpretes veteres, Latinus, Syrus, Arabs & Ambroſius, qui omnes legunt, ὃ ἐφανερώθη, i. e. the Latin, Syriack, Arabick Verſions, and St. Ambroſe all read, the Myſtery which was revealed in the Fleſh; which gives us reaſon to ſuſpect the other Reading, viz. God manifeſted in the Fleſh. But 1. This is a great Miſtake, as to the Arabick Verſion, for that reads thus, Quod Deus, That God was manifeſted in the Fleſh; and ſo doth the Syriack, according to the Verſion of Tremellius: In the Polyglot it runs thus, Magnum eſt arcanum juſtitiæ quod juſtificatus eſt carne; which cannot refer to Myſtery, but muſt refer to God or Chriſt: And tho' the Vulgar Latin, and the Commentator under the Name of Ambroſe, read, quod manifeſtum eſt in carne; yet he adds, agreeably to the Opinion of the Latins, that this Myſtery is, Chriſtus in Carne, Chriſt manifeſted in the Fleſh, but concealed in the Spirit; or, as to his Godhead. See Dr. Pearſon's Vindication of this Place againſt Grotius, Creed, p. 128. In a word, The Reading which our Tranſlation follows, is own'd by all the Greek Scholiaſts, Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact, and is found in all the Manuſcripts, excepting that of Clermont and Lincoln Colledge; and the Phraſes here uſed, do make it neceſſary to expound the words, not of the Goſpel, but of Chriſt the Subject of it. For,

1. That Expoſition which refers theſe words unto the Goſpel, puts ſuch a ſtrained ſenſe on ſome of theſe Expreſſions, of which we meet with no Example in the whole New Teſtament: For where doth Manifeſtation in the Fleſh, ſignifie the Manifeſtation of a Thing by weak and mortal Men? And where is the Goſpel ſaid to be manifeſted in the Fleſh? Where doth ἀνελήφθη ſignifie the Exaltation of the Goſpel? Or where is it ſaid, that the Goſpel was received into Glory?

2. It turns many of thoſe Expreſſions into a Metaphorical Senſe, which are literally true of Chriſt; for according to this Expoſition, Fleſh ſignifies weak Men; to be juſtified, to be owned and approved; to be ſeen, is to be known or revealed; to be taken up, is to be exalted in the Minds of Men.

3. This ſtrained Expoſition reduces three of theſe Articles into one; it being in effect the ſame, To be believed on in the World, by reaſon of thoſe glorious Miracles by which it was confirmed; and, To be owned and ap- proved, by reaſon of the Operations of the Holy Spirit, which did aſſiſt the Preachers of it, and by that approbation, gloriouſly exalted in the Minds of Men.

Theſe are the Inconveniences which attend that Expoſition; whereas the other Interpretation, which refers this Myſtery to Chriſt, affords a very plain and literal Expoſition of the Words, confirmed by parallel Expreſſions frequent in the Holy Scripture. For,

1. The Word, ſaith St. John, was made Fleſh, and dwelt among us, John 1. 14. and we have ſeen his Glory. Ἐφανερώθη, He was manifeſted, 1 John 3. 5. 8. 1. 4. 2. and came in the Fleſh, who was the Son of God. He who was in the form of God, and thought it no robbery to be equal with God, was found in the likeneſs of a Man, Phil. 2. 6, 7. He that was God bleſſed for evermore, was alſo of the Seed of David, according to the Fleſh, Rom. 9. 5.

2. He was juſtified by the Spirit, as doing thoſe Miracles on Earth, by which he juſtified his Miſſion againſt all the Accuſations of the Jews, by the Spirit of God, Mat. 12. 28. being declared to be the Son of God with power, by the Spirit of Holineſs, Rom. 1. 3, 4. by ſending that Spirit after his Aſcenſion into Heaven, Acts 2. 33. which he had promiſed to his Diſciples upon Earth, and by which the World was convinced, περὶ δικαιοσύνης, of his Righteouſneſs, John 16. 10.

3. He was ſeen of the Angels, who at his entrance into the World did worſhip him, Heb. 1. 6. who celebrated his Birth, and gave Notice of it to the World, Luke 2. 9, 13. who miniſter'd to him in the Deſart, Mat. 4. 11. and in his Agonies, Luke 22. 43. and 24. 4. who were preſent at his Reſurrection, and attended him at his Aſcenſion into Heaven, Acts 1. 10.

4. The whole Hiſtory of the Goſpel ſhews, that he was preached to the Gentiles, and believed on in the World.

5. And laſtly, He was received up into Heaven, ἀνεφέρετο, ἀνήρθη, ἀνελήφθη, he was taken, he was carried up into Heaven, and ſat at the right hand of Majeſty in glory, Mat. 16. 19. Luke 24. 51. Acts 1. 2, 11. And ſure ſo plain, ſo full, and literal an Expoſition of theſe Articles, deſerves to be preferred before the ſtrained, and metaphorical Interpretations of Grotius, Eraſmus, and the Socinians.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. TO' πνεῦμα ῥητῶς λέγει, The Spirit ſaith expreſsly. ] Hence Mr. Mede concludes, that the Apoſtle muſt refer to ſome Prophecy of theſe things recorded in the Scriptures; for tho' the Spirit in the Apoſtles advertiſed them of many things, viz. The Spirit ſaid to Peter, Behold three Men ſeek thee, Acts 10. 19. The Spirit ſaid, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the Work of the Miniſtry, Acts 13. 2. (See Acts 16. 6. and 21. 11.) yet he did this only, ἐν ὁράματι, in a Viſion, Acts 10. 19. or by ſecret Inſpirations, (and ſo not ῥητῶς, expreſsly.) But to this the Fathers anſwer, That the Word ῥητῶς here ſignifies only φανερῶς, σαφῶς, clearly, and perſpicuouſly ; to which it may be added, that in thoſe times of Prophecy, when the Prophets had the Government of the Churches, and ſpake ſtill in the Publick Aſſemblies, it might reaſonably be ſaid, the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſsly, what they taught expreſsly in the Church. And whereas hence he infers, that this Prophecy muſt be found ſomewhere in the Old Teſtament; the Reverend Dr. Hammond thinks that unneceſſary, this Apoſtacy being foretold by our Prophet, who had the Spirit without meaſure, ſaying, Mat. 24. 11, 12. Then many ſhall be ſcandalized, and many falſe Prophets ſhall ariſe, καὶ πλανήσουσι, and ſhall deceive many ; and becauſe Iniquity ſhall abound, the Love of many ſhall wax cold. I confeſs, Mr. Mede ſeems to have found this Prophecy, Dan. 11. 36, 37, 38, 39. But to omit all other Objections againſt his Interpretation of the Words, I can by no means think, that Daniel, ſo well acquainted with the Import of ſtrange Gods, both in the Law and the Prophets, ſhould give that infamous Name, Heloah Nechar, a ſtrange God, to our bleſſed Saviour ; or that he ſhould at the ſame time propheſie, that Antichriſt ſhould acknowledge and increaſe Chriſt with Honour, and yet diveſt Chriſt of his Glory and Honour, by ſetting up Mahuzzims in oppoſition to his Offices. But conſidering that this Epiſtle, according to Biſhop Pearſon, was writ in the 11th of Nero, A. D. 64. why may we not refer this Prediction either to the Apoſtacy, ῥητῶς, expreſsly mentioned, 2 Theſſ. 2. 3, 9. or to the Predictions of the Apoſtles, mentioned by St. Jude, v. 17, 18, 19?

Ibid. Ἐν ὑστέροις καιροῖς, In the latter times. ] b The Jewiſh Doctors lay this down as a Rule, that wherever we find this Phraſe, באחרית הימים, in the latter Days, we are to underſtand it of the Age or Times of the Meſſiah : So, Gen. 49. 1. Gather your ſelves together, ſaith Jacob to his Sons, that I may tell you what will befall you ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν, in the laſt times, i. e. the Days when the Sceptre ſhall depart from Judah, and Shiloh the Meſſiah ſhall come, Numb. 24. 14. Come, ſaith Balaam, and I will tell thee what ſhall befal thy People, ἐπ' ἐσχάτου τῶν ἡμερῶν, in the latter Days, i. e. when the Star comes out of Jacob, and the Sceptre ariſeth out of Iſrael, i. e. when the Meſſiah comes, ſaith the Targum of Onkelos, on v. 17. Iſa. 2. 2. In the laſt Days the Mountain of the Lord ſhall be eſtabliſhed on the top of the Mountains, and all Nations ſhall flow into it : In the times of the Meſſiah, ſay R. Salomon, and other Jews. Jer. 23. 20. In the latter Days ye ſhall underſtand this ; in the Days of the Meſſiah, Targum on ver. 5. Dan. 2. 28. There is a God of Heaven who maketh known to the King what ſhall come to paſs, ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν ἡμερῶν, from his Times, till the Kingdom of the Meſſiah be ſet up, v. 44. See alſo chap. 10. 14. Hoſea 3. 5. Afterwards they ſhall return, and ſhall ſeek the Lord, and David their King ; Targ. Meſſiah their King, the Son of David, in the latter Days. Micah 4. 1. In the laſt Days, ſhall the Mountain of the Lord be eſtabliſhed upon the top of the Mountains ; Where Dr. Pocock ſaith, that by the laſt Days are meant, the Days or Times of the Meſſiah, or Chriſt, is agreed on by ſome Jews, and moſt

Chriſtians. And where ever we meet with this Phraſe in the New Teſtament, it manifeſtly refers to the Beginnings of Chriſtianity, and ſignifies the laſt Times of the Jewiſh State or OEconomy, concurring with the Times of the Meſſiah, and the erecting of his Kingdom, by calling the Gentiles, and ſettling a Chriſtian Church to ſucceed that of the Jews. Thus when the Holy Ghoſt fell down on the Apoſtles and Diſciples, This is that, ſaith St. Peter, which was ſpoken of by the Prophet Joel, ſaying, In the laſt Days I will pour my Spirit upon all Fleſh, Acts 2. 17. So, Heb. 1. 1. God who of old ſpake to our Fathers by the Prophets, ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν χρόνων, in theſe laſt Days hath ſpoken to us by his Son, i. e. by him who, ſaith St. Peter, was fore-ordained from the Beginning of the World, but was manifeſted, ἐπ' ἐσχάτων τῶν χρόνων, in the laſt Times; where the Times of Chriſt's Manifeſtation to the World, and of his Preaching to the Jews, are manifeſtly ſtiled the laſt times. So, Jam. 5. 3. You have treaſured up your Gold and Silver, as Fire which ſhall eat your Fleſh, ἐν ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις, in the laſt Days, 2 Pet. 3. 3. This know ye, ἐπ' ἐσχάτου τῶν ἡμερῶν, in the laſt times there ſhall come Mockers, &c. and that they were then come, we learn from v. 5. This they are ignorant of; and Jude 17, 18. Remember the Words ſpoken before by the Apoſtles of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that they ſaid unto you, that ἐν ἐσχάτῳ χρόνῳ, in the laſt time there ſhould be Mockers, walking after their own Luſts: And that they were then come, is evident from the following words, Theſe are they who ſeparate themſelves, &c. ver. 19. And, 1 John 2. 18. Little Children, ἐσχάτη ὥρα ἐστί, 'tis now the laſt Hour, and as you have heard that Antichriſt ſhall (then) come, ſo now are there many Antichriſts, whereby you may know that this is the laſt Hour; So, 2 Tim. 3. 1, 2. This know, that in the laſt Days, ἐν ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις, there ſhall be perilous times, for Men ſhall be Lovers of themſelves; and that thoſe Times, or Days, and Perſons, were then come, is evident from his Exhortation, to turn away from them, v. 5. and his Character of them, v. 6. ἐκ τούτων, of theſe are they that creep into Houſes, &c. And that the laſt Times here mentioned, were already come, we learn from his Admonition to Timothy, to put the Brethren in mind of theſe things, v. 4. Here then is another Defect in Mr. Mede's ingenious interpretation of theſe Words, that he hath not made it out, that the laſt Times, are to be extended beyond the firſt Century, or the Age of the Apoſtles. Mr. Mede ſaith, Theſe Words are not a Narration of things preſent, but a Prediction of what ſhall betide the Chriſtian Faith in After-times. I anſwer, They are indeed a Narrative of what the Spirit had foretold ſhould happen in the latter Times, by an Apoſtacy from the Faith; but the determination of the time, when what was thus foretold ſhould be accompliſhed, depends on the fix'd import of the latter times: For theſe laſt Times, ſaith Mr. Mede, being mention'd as the Indication when this Apoſtacy ſhould take place, muſt therefore be ſufficient to determine the time of this Apoſtacy: And ſo they plainly do, according to my Interpretation. But if, with others, you refer theſe laſt Times to the whole Times of Antichriſt; they began not till above 400 Years after the writing of this Epiſtle; and why then is the Apoſtle ſo concerned, that Timothy then ſhould put the Brethren in remembrance of theſe things, v. 6? And they contain 1260 Years; and ſo cannot inform us in what Period, or preciſe Portion of that Time, this Apoſtacy ſhould have its riſe.

Ibid. Ἀποστήσονταί τινες τῆς πίστεως, Some ſhall c
depart from the Faith.] Here ſeems another defect of Mr. Mede's Hypotheſis, that he makes theſe words to ſignify only a partial declining from the Faith, and that again only virtual and conſequential, by ſetting up Doctrines oppoſite to, or inconſiſtent with it, though not owned to be ſo by them that embrace them; whereas Apoſtacy from the Faith, ſeems plainly to import a falling off from it wholly, or at leaſt an actual and profeſſed renouncing of ſome eſſential part of it.

Ibid. Προσέχοντες πνεύμασι πλάνοις, καὶ διδασ- d καλίαις δαιμονίων, Giving heed to ſeducing Spirits, and to Doctrines of Devils.] Theſe words by all the ancient Commentators, ſeem to be taken actively for thoſe Doctrines which are introduced by Men, led by the Suggeſtions of Satan, and of evil Spirits; theſe Doctrines being, ſaith Theodoret, ἐκείνων κυήματα, the Productions of thoſe evil Spirits, and they who vent them are, ſaith Chryſoſtom, οἱ ὑπ' ἐκείνων ἐνεργούμενοι, Men acted by them. The falſe Prophets, and falſe Apoſtles, ſaith the Author of the interpolated Epiſtle to the Philadelphians, had λαοπλάνον πνεῦμα, (§. 5.) a Spirit that deceived the People; they preach'd ἀπάτην καὶ πλάνην, Deceit and Error, and had dwelling in them, τὸν δράκοντα τὸν ἀποστάτην, the Apoſtate Dragon. Theſe falſe Prophets had, ſaith St. John, πνεῦμα τῆς πλάνης, a Spirit of Error, as the Apoſtles had, πνεῦμα τῆς ἀληθείας, the Spirit of Truth, 1 John 4. 1, 6. So far it is from being true, that the word Spirit ſignifies Doctrines, and not thoſe deluding Spirits which taught them, yet becauſe the Prince of Devils, Matth. 9. 34. the Spirit of the Devil, Luke 4. 33. Rev. 16. 14. the Sacrifice, the Table, the Cup of Devils, 1 Cor. 10. 20, 21. the Habitation of Devils, Rev. 18. 2. are Phraſes where Δαιμόνια, Devils, are ſtill taken objectively, I admit that ſenſe alſo here: And then the Apoſtacy procured by the Spirits of Deceit, is that of the Judaizers, relapſing from the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, thro' thoſe falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets, of which our Saviour foretold they ſhould deceive many, Matth. 24. 11, 24. whereas they who apoſtatized by falling back to Heatheniſm, are they who give heed to the Doctrines of Dæmons: For Dii Gentium Dæmonia, the Gods of the Heathens are Dæmons.

Ver. 2. Ἐν ὑποκρίσει ψευδολόγων, Thro' the Hypocriſy of Falſeſpeakers.] Ἐν pro διὰ, thro', is very common; ſo ἐν πάσῃ ἀπάτῃ ἀδικίας, thro' all Deceivableneſs of Unrighteouſneſs, 2 Theſſ. 2. 9, 10. See Mark 9. 29. Luke 1. 17. Acts 17. 31. Rom. 12. 21. Tit. 1. 9. 2 Pet. 3. 1. Κεκαυτηριασμένων τὴν συνείδησιν, of ſeared Conſciences, i. e. of Conſciences which have loſt the ſenſe of Good or Evil, and do no longer do their Office: For this Expreſſion, ſaith Theodoret, ſignifies, τὴν ἐσχάτην αὐτῶν ἀναλγησίαν, the extreme Stupor of their Conſciences; for the Member ſeared, νεκρωθεὶς τὴν προτέραν αἴσθησιν ἀποβάλλει, being mortified, hath loſt its former Senſation.

Ver. 3. Κωλυόντων γαμεῖν, ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων, Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abſtain from Meats.] It is here to be noted from Theophylact, that in conſtruing theſe words, οὐκ ὀφείλεις ἀπὸ κοινοῦ λαβεῖν τὸ κωλυόντων, ἀλλ' ἔξωθεν προσθεῖναι τὸ συμβουλευόντων ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων, We muſt not repeat the Word forbidding, but add in lieu of it, counſelling to abſtain from Meats: So all the Ancients have interpreted theſe words of (a) Clemens Alexandrinus, when he ſaith, οὐ κωλυτέον γαμεῖν, οὐδὲ μὴν κρεωφαγεῖν, we muſt not forbid to marry, nor yet to eat Fleſh. The Apoſtle, ſaith (b) Tertullian, notes them who wholly forbad Marriage, and interdicted Meats. And (c) Epiphanius ſaith, This of the Apoſtle is fulfill'd in the Cataphrygæ, and other Hereticks, for moſt of them τὸ γαμεῖν κωλύουσιν, ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων παραγγέλλουσιν, forbid Marriage, and command to abſtain from Meats. This, in effect, is the Interpretation of all the ancient Commentators on the place, who give us the ſame ſenſe of the words, as do the Fathers cited; and of all the Tranſlations, which, tho' they do not add the word commanding, yet they add a Copulative, and change the Infinitive into a Participle, thus, Prohibentes nubere, & abſtinentes à Cibis, Syr. Prohibentes matrimonium, & amoventes cibos, Arab. And Bochart gives us Inſtances of the like nature from the Old Teſtament, viz. Gen. 31. 40. By the Heat of the Day was I burnt, and by the Froſt of the Night, (obrigeſcebam, I waxed ſtiff with Cold) Pſ. 121. 6. The Sun ſhall not burn thee by Day, nor the Moon (refrigerate thee) by Night. So, Luke 13. 9. If it bring forth Fruit, (it ſhall ſtand) if not, thou ſhalt cut it down.

That all theſe things happen'd in the Apoſtles Times, and many of them were to happen before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, is evident; That there was to be a great Apoſtacy before that time, carried on by falſe Prophets, and falſe Chriſts, our Lord expreſly had foretold; and that in great meaſure it had obtained, eſpecially among the Jews, we learn from the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, writ purpoſely to put a ſtop to it; that the great Promoters of it were deceitful Workers, falſe Apoſtles, and that they carried on that Work in Hypocriſy, eſteeming Gain Godlineſs, this Apoſtle doth often inform us; See 2 Cor. 2. 17. and 11. 13, 14, 15. That they were Men whoſe Minds and Conſciences were defiled, ſee Tit. 1. 15. That their Doctrine was this, It is good for a Man not to touch a Woman, 1 Cor. 7. 1. Their vain Philoſophy this, Taſte not (forbidden Meats,) handle not (an unclean thing;) ſee Coloſſ. 2. 21. It remains only to conſider who they ſhould be: That they could not be the Gnoſticks, the Followers of Simon Magus, I have proved againſt Dr. Hammond, Note on Coloſſ. 2. 21. Moreover, according to his Expoſition, they were to appear before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; for he interprets theſe words, the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſly, of our Lord's Prediction, Mat. 24. Now there were no ſuch Hereticks among the Gnoſticks till the ſecond Century. Saturninus, ſaith (d) Theodoret, was the firſt who named Matrimony the Doctrine of Devils, and taught Men to abſtain from living Creatures. Now this Saturninus was before (e) Baſilides, who by St. (f) Jerom is often called the Father of the Gnoſticks; whereas, that theſe Men were in the Apoſtles Times, we learn, ſaith (g) Tertullian, from the Apoſtles themſelves. I have noted on 1 Cor. 7. 1. and on Coloſſ. 2. 21. conjectured, that they were the Eſſenes among the Jews; and that with them agreed the Magicians and Idolaters among the Heathens, we learn from Clemens of Alexandria, who ſpeaking of thoſe Hereticks, who ſaid the Reſurrection had paſs'd on them already; καὶ διὰ τοῦτο ἀθετοῦσι τὸν γάμον, and therefore rejected Matrimony, he ſaith this was not peculiar to theſe Menandrians, (h) but they who worſhipped Idols, did alſo abſtain from Meats and Venery; and the Magicians who worſhipped Angels and Dæmons, did alſo carefully abſtain from Wine, from living Creatures, and from Venery.

And if Saturninus, who ſucceeded Menander, who flouriſhed in the time of Domitian and Trajan, did in this, as in moſt other things, τὰ αὐτὰ τῷ Μενάνδρῳ διαδελογῆσαι, agree in Sentiments with Menander, as (i) Euſebius ſaith he did, the Apoſtle may reaſonably be conceived to include him: For Epiphanius ſaith of him, in the very words of (k) Irenæus, that (l) he affirmed, that to marry, and beget Children, was from Satan, and that hence many of them abſtain'd from living Creatures; and by this feigned Continence, ſeduced many to their Hereſy. And this is the more likely, becauſe 'tis noted of this Menander, that he proceeded, εἰς ἄκρον τῆς μαγίας, to the height of that Magick which was attended with that Abſtinence, Iren. l. 1. c. 21. Euſeb. H. Eccl. l. 3. c. 26. It is no Objection againſt this Interpretation, that the Eſſenes mentioned by Philo and Joſephus, were not Chriſtians, and ſo could not depart from the Faith: For who can prove that none of them embraced the Faith of Chriſt, or that they could not do it, and yet retain their old Sentiments concerning Meats and Marriage? It may be alſo true, that the Menandrians were not yet formed into a Sect when this Epiſtle was endited; but that affects not my Interpretation, ſince 'tis certain from 1 Cor. 7. 1. and Col. 2. 16. 1. (See the Notes there,) that their Doctrines obtain'd before. And that the Perſons here intended muſt be Judaizers, is fairly gather'd from v. 7. and from theſe Words, commanding to abſtain from Meats, which God hath created to be received with Thankſgiving of them that believe and know the Truth; for thoſe laſt Words ſhew, that theſe Perſons were ſuch as had no Faith, or Knowledge of that Chriſtian Truth, that every Creature of God was good (for Food,) and nothing was to be refuſed, as polluted or unclean, v. 4. Add to this, that Dr. Lightfoot, Note on Acts 15.20. quotes this Paſſage from Bava Bathra, fol. 602. viz. that when the Temple was deſtroyed the ſecond time, the Phariſees, (i.e. Separatiſts) were greatly multiplied in Iſrael, who taught that it was not lawful to eat Fleſh, or to drink Wine; and a little after ſay, it is but juſt that we ſhould ordain among our ſelves not to marry Wives, nor beget Children: And if theſe Phariſees then eſpouſed theſe Tenets, they may be the Perſons here noted by the Apoſtle. Thus have I given my own Opinion concerning the true and primary import of theſe Words. Others, I know, conceive that they refer to the Apoſtacy of the Church of Rome, and therefore deſcant on them thus:

Ver. 1. But [in oppoſition to this Myſtery of Godlineſs, mention'd, chap. 3. 15, 16. there is another Myſtery of Iniquity, of which] the Spirit ſpeaketh expreſly, [Dan. 11. 36, 37, 38, 39. ſaying] that in the latter times ſome ſhall depart from the Faith, giving heed to erroneous Spirits, and Doctrines of Devils.

Ver. 2. Ἐν ὑποκρίσει, Which Apoſtacy ſhall be promoted] By the Hypocriſy of Liars, which have their Conſcience ſeared.

Thro' the Hypocriſy, &c.] Hence it is argued, that they who thus promote and carry on this Apoſtacy, muſt not be open Deſerters, but hypocritical Profeſſors of that Faith, from which they by their Actions virtually depart.

Ver. 3. And the Men I ſpeak of may be diſcern'd by theſe Marks, that they are] of thoſe who forbid to marry, and command to abſtain from Meats, which God hath created to be received with Thankſgiving of them which believe and know the Truth.

Ver. 3. Κωλυόντων γαμεῖν, Forbidding to marry.] As is done in the Roman Church to Monks and Nuns, ſee Mr. Mede, l. 3. c. 7. and to the Clergy; and that, ſaith Pope Siricius, Quoniam qui in carne ſunt Deo placere non poſſunt, Becauſe they that are in the Fleſh cannot pleaſe God.

Ver. 3. Ἀπέχεσθαι βρωμάτων, To abſtain from Meats.] That this is done in the Roman Church, by a Law obliging ſome Orders of Monks to abſtain from all Fleſh, ſee Mr. Mede, ibid. And this may well be reckoned as a Character of Apoſtacy from the Chriſtian Faith, becauſe it ſeems to be a reducing of them back from their Chriſtian Liberty, to a Conformity to the Legal Rites.

Ver. 5. Ἁγιάζεται, It is ſanctified.] So the Jews from theſe words, Pſal. 134. 2. Lift up your Hands, Kodeſh, ad Sanctitatem, and bleſs the Lord, gather, That the Benediction is the Sanctification of the Meat, and that it is not lawful to eat of it till it be thus ſanctified. *Buxt. Ver. 8. Σωματικὴ γυμνασία, Bodily Exerciſe.] The Apoſtle in the former Verſe, exhorted Timothy, γυμνάζειν, to exerciſe himſelf unto Godlineſs, as the Athleticks did, in the Olympick Games, exerciſe themſelves for their Combats; adding here, that their Exerciſes, tho' they were very hard and difficult, tended little to Profit, they ſtriving for Maſtery, only that they might obtain a corruptible Crown, 1 Cor. 9. 25. whereas that Piety in which he did adviſe him to exerciſe himſelf, was profitable for all things: Or, becauſe Philo makes mention, τῶν συνεχῶν πόνων, of the continual labours of the (p) Eſſenes, and (q) Joſephus of their ἐργασίαι, or Exerciſes Morning and Evening; he perhaps may oppoſe unto them this Exerciſe of Piety.

Ver. 9. Ὅς ἐστι Σωτὴρ πάντων ἀνθρώπων, Who is the Saviour of all Men.] The Author of the Book De Vocatione Gentium, expounds this very well, telling us, That by ſaying, l. 2. c. 31. He is the Saviour of all Men, he confirms the general Goodneſs of God towards all Men; and by adding, eſpecially of them that believe, he ſhews, there is one part of Mankind, which, thro' the benefit of divinely inſpired Faith, is by ſpecial Benefits advanced to the higheſt, and eternal Felicity. He is the Saviour of all Men, 1. Leaving none of them without ſome Teſtimonies of his Goodneſs, Acts 14. 17. ſufficient to engage and direct them ſo to ſeek the Lord, that they might find him, Acts 17. 27. Lib. 2. 5. Nulli nationi hominum bonitatis ſuæ dona ſubſtraxit, ſaith the ſame Author. 2. For adhibita eſt ſemper univerſis hominibus quædam ſupernæ menſura Doctrinæ, quæ etſi occultioris, parcioriſque Gratiæ fuit, ſuffecit tamen quibuſdam ad Remedium, omnibus ad Teſtimonium. 3. Accepting every-where him that worked Righteouſneſs, of what Nation ſoever he might be, Acts 10. 35. and accounting him as circumciſed who kept the Righteouſneſs of the Law, Rom. 2. 26. And laſtly, Rewarding the good Deeds of all that diligently ſought him, Heb. 11. 6. Mr. Cl. underſtands this Salvation of Deliverance from Temporal Dangers, in which ſenſe it is alſo true; but that cannot be the intire ſenſe of the Apoſtle, who had ſaid before, v. 8. that Godlineſs had the Promiſe of this Life, and that which is to come, i. e. both of Temporal and Eternal Salvation; and adds, v. 9. This is a faithful Saying, and worthy of all acceptation; i. e. that not Temporal only, but Eternal Bleſſings, are to be expected from him, and that therefore they, the Apoſtles, laboured, and ſuffered Reproach, becauſe they truſted in the living God, who is the Saviour of all Men; whereas, doubtleſs, they did this, not only with reſpect to Temporal, but eſpecially to Eternal Salvation, 2 Cor. 4. 17.

Ver. 12. Τὴν νεότητα, Thy Youth.] The Preſbyters were generally in thoſe Times aged, as their Name imports; but Timothy, becauſe the Gift of Prophecy had pointed him out for that Work, v. 14. and becauſe the Gifts of the Spirit had render'd him fit, was made an Evangeliſt in his younger Age; and therefore the Apoſtle doth exhort him to make up in the Excellency of his Doctrine, and in the Gravity of his Converſation, what was wanting in his Age.

ſ Ver. 13. Here, 1. It is well noted by the Fathers, and by Eſthius, that if St. Timothy, who had Spiritual Gifts, was yet by St. Paul commanded to be thus diligent in reading the Scriptures, that in his Exhortations he might profit others; then much more ſhould other Biſhops and Miniſters be ſo, quos omnes Paulus in Timotheo inſtruit; then alſo ſhould they not depend upon extemporary Effuſions, without attendance unto Reading.

2. That the Illumination, or Gifts of the Holy Spirit, ſhould not hinder our Diligence in reading and ſtudying what we are to exhort others to, and inſtruct them in. For, ſaith Theodoret, it becomes us to bring our Labour, καὶ οὕτω λαμβάνειν τὴν χάριν τοῦ πνεύματος, and ſo to receive the Grace of the Spirit.

t Ver. 14. Μετὰ ἐπιθέσεως τῶν χειρῶν πρεσβυτερίου, With the Impoſition of the Hands of the Presbytery.] The χάρισμα, or Spiritual Gift here mentioned, is expreſly ſaid to be given, διὰ τῆς ἐπιθέσεως τῶν χειρῶν μου, by the laying on of the Hands of St. Paul, 2 Tim. 1. 6. the giving of the Spiritual Gifts, ſeeming to be peculiar to this, or ſome other Act of an Apoſtle, Acts 8. 17. and 19. 6. But other Seniors, or Presbyters, as Irenæus, l. 4. c. 43. calls them, Qui cum Epiſcopatûs Succeſſione Chariſma veritatis certum acceperunt, "Who, with their Succeſſion received the "certain Chariſma of Truth," might, and did lay on their Hands together with him. This Ceremony of Impoſition of Hands in Ordination, is confirmed from the Practice of the Apoſtles, and Apoſtolical Men, thus ordaining Deacons, Acts 6. 6. Paſtors, or Teachers of the Word, Acts 13. 3. Elders, whether Biſhops, or Presbyters, in every City, Acts 14. 23. and Evangeliſts here: And this Practice they certainly derived from the Jews, who created Governors of Criminal Cauſes, or Ruling Elders, and Maſters, Doctors, and Rabbins, to be Teachers of the Law, i. e. to labour in the Word and Doctrine, by that Impoſition of Hands which they called סמיכה, as Moſes did to Joſhua, Numb. 27. 43. Deut. 34. 9. and as (r) Maimonides ſaith he did, when he aſſumed the Seventy to aſſiſt him; and as the Firſt-born (s) laid their Hands upon the Levites, Numb. 8. 10. who were choſen to ſerve in their ſtead, and ſo conſecrated them to God in their Name. And this Way of Conſecration, by Impoſition of Hands, ſay they, came down from (t) Joſhua, by a perpetual Succeſſion to their Rabbins. Tho' therefore I ſcarce find any Footſteps of it in the firſt Century, or ſecond; yet Cyprian, in the third, ſpeaks of it as that which, De Traditione Divinâ & Apoſtolicâ Obſervatione ſervandum eſt & tenendum, "was to be ob-"ſerved and held from Divine Tradition, "and Apoſtolical Obſervation, in the Col-"lation of the Epiſcopal Office," and as that which they, (u) practiſed in the Ordination of Sabinus to that Office. (x) Euſebius ſaith, Origen alſo was thus advanced to the Presbytery by the Biſhops of Cæſarea. And the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions give us this as an Ordinance of (y) St. John the Apoſtle, who, doubtleſs, when he returned from Patmos to Epheſus, regulating the Churches, and conſtituting Biſhops, did it according to the Rites of the Jews, and Practice of the other Apoſtles; whence I conclude, this is no accidental, but a neceſſary Rite of the due Ordination of Biſhops, Preſbyters, and Deacons.

CHAP. V.

Verſe 1. [a] REbuke not [b] an Elder [with ſeverity,] but intreat him as a Father, and the younger Men as Brethren, [in reſpect of thy Youth, chap. 4. 12.]

2. [c] The elder Women, as Mothers; the younger, as Siſters; [being careful to converſe with them, when neceſſity requires it,] with all purity, [with gravity in your words and countenance, obſervance of your eyes and heart, at times and places which can miniſter no ſuſpicion of undue behaviour towards them.]

3. [d] Honour Widows, that are [e] Widows indeed.

4. But if any Widow have Children, or Nephews; [f] let them [i. e. thoſe Children, or Grand children,] learn firſt [or chiefly] to ſhew Piety at home, [i. e. to their own Family, or Houſhold,] and to requite their Parents, [who have bred them up, v. 10.] for that is good and acceptable before God; [and then, if they be able, extend their Charity to others.]

5. Now, ſhe that is a Widow indeed, and [g] deſolate, [being left quite alone, without any Children to relieve her,] [h] truſteth in God, and continueth in Supplications and Prayers night and day.

6. But [i] ſhe that liveth in pleaſure, [licentiouſly,] is dead [to God,] whilſt ſhe thus liveth, [and ſo is not to be reſpected as a Vital Member of the Church, or nouriſhed by her.]

7. And theſe things give in charge that they [i. e. the Widows] may be blameleſs.

8. But if any [having ability] provide not for his own [Kindred] and eſpecially for thoſe of his own Houſe, he hath [in works] denied the Faith, and is [k] worſe than an Infidel.

9. [l] Let not a Widow be taken into the number [of Widows to be maintained by the Church,] under [m] threeſcore years old, having been the Wife [n] of one Man, [not one that hath divorced herſelf from one Husband, and married again.]

10. [Being alſo] well reported of for good works; [o] if [εἰ that] ſhe hath brought up Children, if [that] ſhe hath lodged Strangers, if ſhe hath waſhed the Saints Feet, if ſhe hath relieved the Afflicted, if ſhe hath diligently followed every good Work.

11. But the younger widows refuſe; for when they have begun to [p] wax wanton againſt [or grow weary of] Chriſt, they will marry.

12. Having damnation, becauſe they have caſt off their firſt Faith.

13. And withal, they learn to be idle, wandering about from houſe to houſe; and not only idle, but Tatlers alſo, and Buſie-bodies, ſpeaking things which they ought not.

14. I will therefore that the younger Women [rather] marry, bear Children, guide the Houſe, [and ſo] give none occaſion to the Adverſary [of Chriſtianity] to ſpeak reproachfully [of it.]

15. ]The neceſſity of which Precept is too great,] For ſome [of theſe young Widows] are already [q] turned aſide after Satan.

16. If any Man or Woman that believeth, have Widows [belonging to their Family,] let them relieve them, and let not the Church be charged [with them,] that [being freed from that Charge,] it may [the better be able to] relieve them that are Widows indeed, [that is, are wholly deſtitute of Help, v. 5.]

17. Let the Elders that rule well, be counted worthy of [r] double honour, [i. e. of a more liberal Maintenance,] [ſ] eſpecially thoſe who labour in the Word and Doctrine.

18. [t] For the Scripture ſaith, Thou ſhalt not muzzle the Ox that treadeth out the Corn, and the Labourer is worthy of his Reward.

19. [u] Againſt an Elder receive not an Accuſation, but before [ἐπὶ, upon the Teſtimony of] two or three Witneſſes.

20. [x] Them that ſin, rebuke before all, that others alſo may fear.

21. I charge thee before God and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [whom thou ſerveſt, and by whoſe Authority thou acteſt in this Miniſtry,] and the Elect Angels, [who are Inſpectors and Obſervers of what is done in the Church, 1 Cor. 11. 10.] that thou obſerve theſe things, without preferring one before another, [out of favour to their perſons,] doing nothing by partiality.

22. [y] Lay hands ſuddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens ſins; keep thy ſelf pure [from them.]

23. [z] Drink no longer Water [only,] but uſe a little Wine [together with it,] for thy ſtomach's ſake, and [for] thine often infirmities.

24. [And to preſerve thee from miſtake, or raſh proceeding, either in Ordinations, v. 22. or in rebuking the ſcandalous Offender, conſider, that] ſome Mens ſins are open [and diſcernible] beforehand, [i. e. before any Witneſſes are come in againſt them,] going before to [or, for] Judgment, [or to bring the Cenſures of the Church upon them;] and [in] ſome Men, they follow after, [i. e. their evil Diſpoſitions appear afterward.]

25. [aa] Likewiſe alſo the good works of ſome are manifeſt before-hand, [and ſo leſs Examination is needful concerning them;] and they that [i. e. whoſe Works] are otherwiſe, cannot be [long] hid, [their Vices will, by Information of others they converſe with, or by Temptation, and their own evil Inclinations, be at laſt diſcovered.]

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Verſe 1. ΜΗ᾽ ἐπιπλήξης, Rebuke not.] The word ſignifies to chaſtiſe, or rebuke with Severity, and ſometimes with Stripes.

b Ibid. Πρεσβυτέρῳ, An Elder.] In the Judgment of Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact the Elder, here ſignifies, οὐ τὸν ἱερέα, ἀλλὰ τὸν γεγηρακότα, not a Prieſt, but a grave ancient Man, ſuch being, in all Ages and Nations, ſtyled Fathers; and this ſenſe, the diſtinction here of Ages, and of Sexes, ſeems to plead for.

c Ver. 2. Πρεσβυτέρας, The Elder Women.] The Widows of the Church, ſaith Dr. Hammond, very improbably; they being mention'd particularly in the Sequel of the Chapter.

d Ver. 3. Τίμα, Honour.] I. e. Yield them Reverence and Alimony; for that Proviſion for them is included in this Honour, is evident from v. 4. and the 8th. Thus, not to give Parents what is needful for them, is to tranſgreſs the Precept which commands us to honour our Father and our Mother, Mark 7. 10, 11, 12. So Acts 28. 10. πολλαῖς τιμαῖς ἐτίμησαν ἡμᾶς, they honoured us with many honours, giving us, τὰ πρὸς τὴν χρείαν, ſuch things as were neceſſary. Hence, in the (a) Jeruſalem Targum, Honorare, eſt Viaticum providere; "To Honour, "is to make Proviſions for any Perſon: ſo here, Honour Widows; that is, ſaith Theophylact, τὰ ἀναγκαῖα χορήγει, provide them Neceſſaries: See Note on Mark 7. 10.

e Ibid. Τὰς ὄντως χήρας, That are Widows indeed.] Anſwering that Name, by being χηρεῦσαι deſolate, and deſtitute of any other to relieve them, and being alſo exemplarily pious, v. 5. Widows, ſaith Cotelerius, hath divers ſignifications; it ſignifies, 1. Any Woman that ſurvives her Husband. 2. Poor Women, who, after the Death of their Husbands, need the Alms of the Church; (as here) 3. Such as conſecrated themſelves to God, profeſſing perpetual Widowhood, (v. 5.) 4. Such as were choſe into the Eccleſiaſtical Miniſtry, or made Deaconeſſes, v. 9. That there ſhould be any ἀειπάρθενοι, or Perſons that were always Virgins, call'd τὰς παρθένους, τὰς λεγομένας χήρας, Widows; tho' the Paſſage of Ignatius, according to Voſſius's Reading, ſeems to make for it: Yet, according to the Reading of Biſhop Uſher, (ἀειπαρθένους καὶ χήρας) it makes againſt it; and Virgo Vidua, a Virgin-Widow, that is admitted to the Degree of a Deaconeſs, is, in (b) Tertullian's Language, a Miracle, or Monſter in the Church. 'Tis certain, ſuch a one could be none of the Apoſtle's Widows here, for he ſuppoſeth his Widows may have Children, v. 4. and expreſsly forbids any to be choſen into the number of Widows, that hath not nouriſhed or brought up Children, v. 9, 10. and 'tis not reaſonable to conceive the Church of Smyrna ſhould ſo ſoon tranſgreſs againſt this Rule of the Apoſtle, or that this famous Martyr ſhould approve ſuch a Violation of the Apoſtle's Precept.

Ibid. Note alſo, that the Reading of Biſhop Uſher is confirmed from the like words, ἡ παρθένος, καὶ ἡ χήρα, found in the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, l. 3. cap. 6.

Ver. 4. Μανθανέτωσαν πρῶτον τὸν ἴδιον οἶκον εὐσεβεῖν, Let them learn firſt to ſhew Piety at home.] The Apoſtle here ſpeaks of the Care the Children ſhould take to nouriſh their Parents which are Widows, πρῶτον, before they ſuffer them to be burthenſom to the Church, as it is evident from v. 16. which ſaith, If any Man or Woman have Widows (belonging to their Family) let them relieve them, and let not the Church be charged with them; and alſo from the following words here, and to requite their Parents, which only can belong unto the Children, and was always reckoned an Act of Piety towards them, (c) as, after God, the Authors of our Being; whence anciently they were ſo reverenced, ſaith (d) Simplicius, as to be called Gods. f

Ver. 5. Μεμονωμένη, Solitary.] So Philo ſaith, The Widow of the Prieſt, which has no Children, muſt return to her Father's Houſe, as ἀνδρὸς καὶ παίδων ἔρημος, οὐδεμίαν ἔχουσα καταφυγὴν, having no other Refuge, when deſtitute of Husband and Children, but her Father: But if ſhe have Sons, or Daughters, 'tis neceſſary that the Mother ſhould be placed with her Children, υἱοὶ καὶ θυγατέρες τῆς τοῦ γεννήσαντος οἰκίας ὄντες, (e) for Sons and Daughters, being of the Houſe of their Parents, draw the Mother to it: Whence alſo we learn, what it is to ſhew Pity to their own Houſe, v. 4. viz. to do it to their Parents. g

Ibid. Ἤλπικεν ἐπὶ τὸν Θεόν, Truſteth in God:] I. e. Having no other Helper, ſhe repoſeth h herſelf on Him alone, committing herſelf to Him, by conſtant Prayer for His Help. This is Cotelerius's third kind of Widows, compared by the Author of the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, l. 3. c. 1. to the Widow of Sarepta, and to Anna the Daughter of Phanuel, mention'd, Luke 2. 36. who does not oblige herſelf, by Vow or Promiſe, ſo to do, but only remains ſingle, δῶρον ἔχουσα χηρείας, as having the Gift of Widowhood. So St. Jerom deſcribes theſe Widows, in theſe words, Honora Viduas, quæ verè viduæ ſunt, hoc eſt, quæ omni ſuorum auxilio deſtitutæ ſunt, quæ manibus ſuis laborare non poſſunt, quas paupertas debilitat, ætaſque conficit, quibus Deus ſpes eſt, & omne opus Oratio. Ep. ad Gerontiam.

Ver. 6. Ἡ δὲ σπαταλῶσα, She that liveth in Pleaſure.] This word properly ſignifies, to feed deliciouſly, and drink choice Liquors, τῇ γαστρὶ ζῆν μόνῃ, to live only for the Belly, ſaith St. Chryſoſtom. So Ezek. 16. 49. This was the Sin of thy Siſter Sodom, in Pride, in fulneſs of Bread, καὶ ἐν εὐθηνίᾳ ἐσπατάλων, and in Abundance, ſhe and her Daughters rioted: Amos 6. 4. They lie upon Beds of Ivory, καὶ κατασπαταλῶντες, and abounding with Superfluities, they eat Lambs out of the Flock, and the Calves out of the midſt of the Stall; and becauſe ſuch Eating and Drinking provokes to Carnal Pleaſures, it is joined with them; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, Ye have lived in Pleaſure, and been wanton, Gr. ἐσπαταλήσατε, Jam. 5. 5. Such a Woman is dead while ſhe liveth, according to that of the Jews, (f) The Juſt, in their Death, are ſtyled Living; The Wicked, whilſt they Live, are ſtyled Dead. Maimonides.

Ver. 8. Ἔστιν ἀπίστου χείρων, He is worſe than an Infidel.] For they put this among the firſt and moſt indiſſoluble Principles of Nature, requiring us, πρῶτα θεοὺς τιμᾷν, μεταπεῖτα τοκῆας, (g) firſt to honour the Gods, and then our Parents; placing among the things in which they are to be honoured, χρημάτων χορηγίαν καὶ σώματος ὑπηρεσίαν, the making Proviſions for them, and ſerving them with our Bodies. So (h) Ariſtotle ſaith, We muſt rather make Proviſions for them than for our ſelves, and yield them, τιμὴν καθάπερ θεοῖς, honour, as they do unto the Gods. (i) Plutarch ſaith, That all Men, tho' ſome may think otherwiſe, ſay, that Nature, and the Law of Nature, requires, that Parents ſhould have the higheſt honour next the Gods: That Men can do nothing more acceptable to the Gods, than by readily heaping Favours upon their Parents; and that nothing is a greater Evidence of Atheiſm, or Impiety, than to deſpiſe them. Some here are guilty of a great Miſtake, ſcraping together great Fortunes, and hoarding them up for their Children, with a ſcandalous Neglect of that Charity to their Chriſtian Brethren, which alone can ſanctify thoſe Enjoyments to them, and enable them to lay up a good Foundation againſt the time to come; pleading theſe words, to juſtify, or to excuſe, their ſordid Parſimony, and want of Charity; that he, that provideth not for his own Houſhold, hath denied the Faith, and is worſe than an Infidel; whereas theſe words plainly reſpect the Proviſion which Children ſhould make for their Parents, and not thoſe which Parents ſhould make for their Children.

See the Defence of the Text, v. 16. and 19. Examen Millii, ibid.

Ver. 9. Χήρα καταλεγέσθω μὴ, Let not a Widow be taken into the number.] The Apoſtle now comes to ſpeak of ſuch Widows as were not only to be maintained by the Church, (for they were, doubtleſs, to receive her Alms, if really they were poor, without theſe Qualifications,) but of ſuch as were to be admitted into the number of Deaconneſſes, whoſe Office it was to inſtruct the younger Women, to attend the Women when Sick, and in Labour, and to aſſiſt at the Baptiſm of the Female Sex. l

Ibid. Μὴ ἔλαττον ἑξήκοντα, Not leſs than ſixty Years old.] 'Tis the Miſtake of Zonaras, Balſamon and Blaſtares, to think to reconcile this with the 15th Canon of the Council of Chalcedon, and the 14th of Trullo, by ſaying, That Widows might only be admitted Deaconneſſes at Sixty, but Virgins at Forty. This laſt was done in After-ages, and after that Apoſtolical Conſtitution, which, agreably to St. Paul, ſaith, l. 3. c. 1. Χήρας δὲ καθιστᾶτε μὴ ἔλαττον ἐτῶν τῶν ἑξήκοντα, Let not the Widows be conſtituted under Sixty Years; and they who firſt began to alter the Time, did at laſt take away the Office. m

Ibid. γεγονυῖα ἑνὸς ἀνδρὸς γυνὴ, being the Wife of one Husband:] I. e. One who had not divorced her ſelf from one, and married another Husband; for otherwiſe, the younger Widows, whom St. Paul bids to marry, could never be admitted Deaconneſſes, tho' they had all the other Qualifications. That ſuch Divorces were then common on the Wives ſide, both among Jews and Gentiles, we learn concerning the Romans, from the Complaint of Seneca, (k) That none in his Time bluſhed at n

it, their Noble Women marrying, that they might divorce themſelves, and there being ſcarce any Marriages without Divorces. (l) Cicero complains of many things of this kind, which happen'd in his Time. (m) Plutarch mentions it as a thing common, and cuſtomarily done by any Women that were jealous; and the Law among the (n) Athenians allowed it; Inſtances we have of it in (o) Juſtin Martyr, and (p) Tertullian. And that this alſo was frequent in the Practice of the Jews, and allowed by their Rabbins, ſee Note on 1 Cor. 7. 11. I confeſs, that Univira, the Wife of one Huſband, in Livy, l. 10. c. 23. is one, quæ uni viro nupta fuiſſet, ad quem virgo deducta ſit, who from her Virginity had been married only to one Man; and that Univira Sacerdos bears the ſame ſenſe in Trebellius Pollio, c. de Tito, p. 795. and that this Monogamy was counted honourable, even among the Heathens; and they who were content with it, wore Pudicitiæ Coronam, the Crown of Chaſtity, Val. Max. l. 2. c. 1. Whereas they who proceeded to a ſecond Marriage, Sacerdotio arcebantur, were thought unworthy of the Prieſthood, as Servius notes upon thoſe words of Virgil, Æn. 4. v. 19. Huic uni forſan potui ſuccumbere culpæ: And the Flamines, among the Romans, were to be the Huſbands of one Wife, and the Flaminicæ the Wives of one Husband, Rhodig. Lect. Antiq. l. 28. c. 22. That therefore the ſacred Miniſters in the Church of Chriſt might be nothing inferiour to thoſe of Heathens, the Apoſtle may require that, in this ſenſe, the Biſhop ſhould be the Husband of one Wife, and the Deaconneſs the Wife of one Husband.

o Ver. 10. Εἰ ἐτεκνοτρόφησεν, If ſhe hath brought up Children.] That εἰ ſignifies that, as well as if, ſee Note on Acts 26. 23. Εἰ παθητὸς ὁ Χριστὸς, εἰ πρῶτος, &c. That Chriſt hath ſuffered, and that he was the firſt that roſe from the Dead; and that ſo it ſhould be render'd here, the word μαρτυρουμένη, teſtified, ſeems to require: For, a Teſtimony of the good Works of others, is, that they have done ſuch and ſuch laudable Actions.

p Ver. 11. Ὅταν καταστρηνιάσωσιν τοῦ Χριστοῦ, When they have waxed wanton againſt Chriſt:] That is, ſay Chryſoſtom and Oecumenius, ὅταν ἀκκισθῶσιν, when they have caſt off, or faſtidiouſly refuſed and rejected Chriſt; ὅταν καταβλακευθῶσιν, when they have contemned, and made light of him; when they do βαρέως φέρειν, καὶ ἀποσπᾶν τὰς ἡνίας, bear Chriſt's Yoke grievouſly, and caſt off his Reins; So Heſychius and Phavorinus. So that this Phraſe ſignifies, to caſt off Chriſt, and Chriſtianity; and, as the Apoſtle afterwards explains it, ἐκτρέπεσθαι, to turn from him after Satan, or to fall off from Him to Heatheniſm, or Judaiſm; and then, πρώτην πίστιν ἀθετεῖν, to violate their firſt Faith, cannot be, to violate the Promiſe made, when choſen into the Order of Widows, not to marry, but their Faith given unto Chriſt at Baptiſm; the other, if any ſuch Promiſe were then made, being not their firſt, but ſecond Faith. So Chryſoſtom and OEcumenius expound it, from thoſe Words of the Apoſtle to the Corinthians; I have eſpouſed you to one Husband, that I may preſent you as a chaſt Virgin unto Chriſt.

Ver. 15. Ἐξετράπησαν ὀπίσω τοῦ Σατανᾶ, q Have turned aſide after Satan.] The Converting Men to the Chriſtian Faith, being the turning Men from the Power of Satan, unto God, Acts 26. 18. The caſting off the Faith, may well be ſtyled the turning aſide after Satan.

Ver. 17. " teach:" The ſecond, Ad docendum, ſed non ad judicandum; " To teach, but not to " judge or govern;" and theſe the Apoſtle here declares to be the moſt honourable, and worthy of the chiefeſt Reward: Accordingly the Apoſtle reckoning up the Offices God had appointed in the Church, places Teachers before Governments, 1 Cor. 12.

Ver. 18. Λέγει γὰρ ἡ γραφὴ, For the Scripture ſaith.] The former Words, Thou ſhalt not muzzle the Ox that treadeth out the Corn, being expreſsly found in Deut. 25. 4. and the latter, expreſsly in the Goſpel of St. Luke, ch. 10. 7. and with a little variation, Matth. 10. 10. and in no other place in Scripture, (for in Lev. 19. 13. and Deut. 24. 14. there is nothing to this purpoſe;) it follows, that St. Paul muſt here reckon the Goſpel of St. Luke among the Holy Scriptures; from which ſuch Doctrines, as he is now teaching, may be infallibly confirmed. Note,

2*dly*, That the Apoſtle, both here, and 1 Cor. 9. 9. proves this from what was written in the Law of Moſes, applying in both places that which primarily muſt belong to the Jewiſh Prieſthood, to the Preachers of the Goſpel; and hence allowing us to argue for the maintenance of the latter, by Analogy to what was appointed for the former; as the Apoſtle himſelf doth in this very Caſe, in theſe Words; Do you not know, that they who miniſter about (legally) Holy Things, eat of the Things of the Temple; and that they which wait at the Altar, are Partakers with the Altar? i. e. are fed, and liberally maintained, by the Portions God allowed them of what was offered at his Altar; Even ſo hath the Lord Chriſt appointed, that they who preach the Goſpel, ſhould live of the Goſpel, 1 Cor. 9. 12, 13. Whence note,

3*dly*, That this is a ſtanding Ordinance of Chriſt, to continue as long as the Preaching of the Goſpel doth, built upon Reaſons of equal Obligations at all Times; the Labourer being always worthy of his Hire; the Shepherd, to eat of the Milk of the Flock; and he that ſoweth Spirituals, to reap Carnals, 1 Cor. 2. 7, 10, 11. Note,

4*thly*, From whom this Reward is to be received; from them amongſt whom theſe Paſtors labour, to whom they ſow ſpiritual things, and who are taught by them: For, Let him, ſaith the Apoſtle, who is taught in the Word, communicate to him that teacheth in all good things, Gal. 6. 7. So that he is to have a Supply of all things needful for the Diſcharge of his Function here, double Honour, i. e. a liberal Maintenance. Note,

5*thly*, That as the Command, of being Charitable to the Poor, gives juſt Occaſion to thoſe Laws which are made in all Communities to oblige Men, according to their Abilities, to diſtribute to the Neceſſities of the Poor; becauſe otherwiſe, the general Rules of Scripture would not be obey'd, nor the Poor provided for: So the ſtanding Ordinance of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, concerning the double Honour due to them who labour in the Word and Doctrine, and the communicating to them in all good things, juſtifies theſe Laws which aſcertain what ſhall be communicated to them; ſince otherwiſe, it is much to be feared, the general Rules of Scripture concerning this Matter would not be obey'd, nor the Clergy ſufficiently provided for.

u Ver. 19. Κατὰ πρεσβυτέρου.] The Elder here ſeems to relate, not to one who was ſuch by Age, but by Office; becauſe the Apoſtle was before ſpeaking, v. 17. of Elders which rule well, or laboured in the Word and Doctrine: And whereas the Law had taken care that no Man ſhould be condemned, but by the Mouth of two or three Witneſſes, the Apoſtle knowing how much the Church would ſuffer by the raſh Accuſations of her Governors, Biſhops, and Presbyters, ſeems to riſe higher, not ſuffering an Accuſation to be admitted againſt them, without the like number of Witneſſes.

x Ver. 20. Τοὺς ἁμαρτάνοντας, i. e. Them that ſin,] Grievouſly and ſcandalouſly, and are convinced of their Offences before two or three Witneſſes, were to be rebuked, ſaith Theodoret, πάντων παρόντων, in the preſence of all; ſuch publick Cenſures being, according to the Cuſtom of the Church, done by the Preſidents or Rulers of the Church, ὑπὸ πλειόνων, before and with the conſent of all, as (r) Tertullian ſaith; See Note on 2 Cor. 2. 6.

Ver. 21. And our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and the elect Angels.] He joyns the Angels with Jeſus Chriſt, ſaith Theodoret, οὐκ ὡς ὁμοτίμους, ἀλλ' ὡς δούλους, not as equal in Honour, but as Servants to him, and thoſe who are to attend him at the Great Day of Judgment.

y Ver. 22. χεῖρας ταχέως μηδενὶ ἐπιτίθει, Lay hands ſuddenly on no man.] This, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, belongs to the laying on of the Biſhop's Hands, in Abſolving Penitents: Saith the Reverend Biſhop of Worceſter, to the laying of Hands on Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons: 1. Becauſe St. Paul had not mention'd laying on of Hands, in relation to Penitents, in this Epiſtle, but he had done it with reſpect to Ordination, and that in Timothy's own Caſe, chap. 4. 14. 2. Becauſe the Apoſtle, in this Epiſtle, gives no Rules concerning the Qualifications of Penitents, ſaying nothing, what Penitents were to be reconciled and after what Time, and under what Conditions they were to have Hands laid on them, in token of Reconciliation; nor is there a concurrent Evidence of ſuch a Practice ſo early in the Church; but he had given Rules touching Biſhops and Deacons; and their Qualification; and therefore we have more cauſe to apply it according to the chief Intention and Deſign of this Epiſtle. 3. Becauſe the great Uſe of laying on of Hands, in the New Teſtament, is for the ſetting Perſons apart for the Diſcharge of a ſacred Office; ſo was it in the firſt Inſtitution of Deacons, Acts 6. 6. and of Paul and Barnabas to a particular Charge, Acts 13. 2, 3. This was an ancient Ceremony among the Jews, in the ſolemn Deſignation of Perſons to Sacred Offices, Numb. 27. 18, 23. Deut. 34. 9. either to be Rulers, or Teachers in their Synagogues; and from thence it was brought into the Church, in the ſolemn Deſignation of Perſons to the Miniſtry. And 4*thly*, If theſe Words do not relate to Ordination, St. Paul would have given Timothy no particular Direction about that which was one main part of his Office; wherefore, as he left Titus at Crete, to ordain Elders in every City; ſo doubtleſs Timothy had the ſame Commiſſion, which yet is no where intimated but in theſe Words: And according to this Senſe, the following Words are capable of a very good meaning, thus; Be not Partaker of the Sins of them, who raſhly, and without due Qualifications, ruſh upon Sacred Offices, for by want of due Examination, and Trial of them, thou wilt become Partaker of their Guilt.

z Ver. 23. So Juſtin Martyr ſaith, That Wine is to be uſed for (ſ) the Help of the Body, and the Cure of inward Diſtempers. And Plato (t) ſaith, It was given for the Health and Strength of the Body: The Eſſenes abſtained wholly from Wine; See Note on Col. 2. 21. but the Gnoſticks (u) freely uſed it, when they went to the Heathen Feaſts, and otherwiſe.

aa Ver. 25. I find three Expoſitions of theſe Words: The firſt is that of St. Baſil and St. Auſtin, which refers them to the Judgment of God, thus: The Good and Evil Works of ſome Men are ſo manifeſt, that they may be diſcerned of all Men before the Day of Judgment, and ſo, in diſcerning them, thou canſt not err; but if they be latent here, and ſo eſcape thy Examination and Cenſure, they will be manifeſted at the Great Day of their Accounts.

2*dly*, Others, referring this to the Cenſures of the Church, the ἐπιτιμία, mention'd, v. 20. make the Senſe run thus: Some Mens Sins are ſo open and notorious, as to bring them under the Cenſures of the Church, by way of precedent Merit; others appear more Criminal after the Cenſures paſſed upon them, and ſo leſs fit to be abſolved; and ſome Mens Reformation, or Good Works, are ſo manifeſt after Cenſure, as to evidence they deſerve Abſolution; and if they continue Evil, or do but few Good Works, that alſo will be in time diſcernible: So that thou may'ſt know who are fit to be abſolved, who not. But againſt this Expoſition there lies this Objection, That no Man ſhould incur the Cenſures of the Church, but by way of precedent Merit; and ſo no Man's Evil Works, for which he is to be Cenſured, ſhould follow after that Act of Diſcipline: And 2*dly*, The laſt Clauſe of the laſt Verſe ſeems, by the Antitheſis, to refer not to Evil, but to Good Works, tho' done as the Works of Charity ought to be, ſo as not to be obſerved by Men.

3*dly*, The ancient Greek Expoſitors, with Grotius, refer theſe Words to Ordination, thus: When I ſaid, Lay Hands ſuddenly on no Man; I ſpake not of Men whoſe Good or Bad Works are manifeſt before-hand; for they, without further Diſcuſſion or Examination, may be admitted, or are to be rejected; but of thoſe whoſe Vices, or Good Works, are latent; for they, after Examination and Enquiry, cannot be long hid: And ſo, if thou be not haſty in laying on of Hands, thou timely mayſt diſcover them; or if by this means thou canſt not do it, thou wilt not be Partaker with the Sinner, as having done as much as was in thy power to diſcover them.

CHAP. VI.

Verſe 1. LET as many Servants as are under the yoke [of bondage to the Heathens,] count their own Maſters worthy of all [due] honour, that the Name of God, and his Doctrine be not blaſphemed, [or evil ſpoken of, as tending to diſſolve thoſe civil Obligations, but rather honoured in all eſtates of Men, as tending to make them better in their ſeveral relations, Tit. 2. 10. and more ſubject even to hard and froward Maſters, 1 Pet. 2. 18.]

2. And they that have believing Maſters, let them not deſpiſe them becauſe they are [advanced to be] Brethren, [and ſo equal to them in Chriſt,] but rather [let them] do them ſervice, becauſe they are faithful, [of the Houſhold of Faith,] and beloved [of God,] [a] Partakers of the Benefit: Theſe things teach, and exhort.

3. If any Man teach otherwiſe, and conſent not to wholſome Words, even the [b] Words of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [Mat. 20. 27. He that would be firſt among you, let him be your ſervant; or, ſervant of all, Mark 10. 44.] and to 4 He is proud, [ Gr. puffed up, ] knowing nothing, but doating [ ſick ] about queſtions, and ſtrife of words, whereof cometh envy, ſtrife, railings, evil ſurmiſes.

5. Perverſe diſputings of men of corrupt minds, and deſtitute of the truth, ſuppoſing thy ſelf.

6. But [whatſoever they eſteem ſo, we know
d that] godlineſs, with [ that ] [d] contentment [ which attends it, ] is great gain.

7. [ I ſay, with Contentment which it becometh us to have: ] For we brought nothing into this World, and it is certain we can carry nothing out [ of it. ]

8. And having [ ἔχοντες δὲ, having therefore] food and raiment, let us be therewith content.

e 9. But [ For ] [e] they that will be rich, fall into temptation, and a ſnare, and into many fooliſh and hurtful luſts, which drown men in deſtruction and perdition.

10. For the love of money is the root of all evil ; which while ſome coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themſelves through with many ſorrows.

11. But thou, [ Thou therefore ] O man of God, flee theſe things, and follow after righ-f teouſneſs, [f] godlineſs, faith, love, patience, meekneſs.

g 12. [g] Fight the good fight of Faith, [and ſo] lay hold of eternal life, whereunto thou art [both] called, and [according to that Calling] haſt profeſſed a good Profeſſion, [by enduring Perſecutions for it,] before many Witneſſes.

13. I give thee charge, in the ſight of [that] God who quickeneth all things, [and therefore is able to raiſe them, that ſuffer for him, from the Dead,] and before Chriſt Jeſus, who before Pontius Pilate witneſſed a good confeſſion, [ confirming truth to the death, Joh. 18. 37.]

14. That thou keep this Commandment [given to thee, v. 11, 12.] without ſpot, unrebukable, [h] until the appearing of our Lord h Jeſus Chriſt.

15. Which [Appearance] in his Times, [or, in the bleſſed and only [abſolute] Potentate ; the [i] King of kings, and Lord of lords ; [ who i therefore is more to be feared than all earthly Po- tentates, and will more aſſuredly puniſh thoſe who ſubmit not to his Laws and Government.]

16. Who only hath [ of himſelf ] Immortality, [and ſo only can confer it upon others, and only lives for ever, to reward and puniſh,] dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto, [ and live ; and ſo, whom no man fully can enjoy in this life, ] whom no man hath ſeen, nor can ſee : To whom [ be aſcribed ] honour and power everlaſting. Amen.

17. Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor truſt in uncertain Riches, [ the two Diſeaſes of Rich Men ; for the rich Man's Wealth is his ſtrong City, and as an high Wall in his own Conceit, Prov. 10. 15. and 18. 11. and Riches and Strength lift up the Heart, Ecclus. 40. 26.] but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy, [and in whom therefore we may ſafely truſt.]

18. [k] That they do good, that they be rich k communicate [ to others of their Wealth. ]

19. Laying up in ſtore for themſelves [l] a l good foundation againſt the time to come ;
that [when theſe things fail,] they may lay hold on eternal Life.

20. O Timothy, keep that [ Truth ] which is committed to thy truſt, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppoſitions of ſcience falſly ſo called :

21. Which ſome profeſſing, [m] have erred concerning the Faith. Grace be with thee. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Verſe 2. Οἱ τῆς εὐεργεσίας ἀντιλαμβανόμενοι.] Theſe Words being not connected to the preceding by καὶ, and the Article οἱ ſhewing that they relate not to the Predicate, but to the Subject, will be beſt rendered thus ; Becauſe they who partake of the Benefit of the Service, are faithful and beloved ; and therefore, more worthy of their Service, the more they are honoured of God, and of the number of them whom we ſtand bound to ſerve in Love.

That the Gnoſticks taught any ſuch Doctrine, That Chriſtian Servants were not obliged to obey their Heathen, or their Chriſtian Maſters, there is not the leaſt Hint in any of the Commentators on this Place, or in any of the Fathers, who have given us the largeſt Account of their Doctrines. I find in the Epiſtle of Ignatius to Polycarp, theſe Words ; (a) Deſpiſe not Men and Maid-ſervants, nor let them be puffed up, but let them ſerve the more for the Glory of God, that they may obtain a better Liberty ; let them not covet to be free from their Maſters : But neither doth the Martyr, nor any of his Commentators, intimate that this relates to any Doctrine of the Gnoſticks ; and conſidering how much he endeavoured to imitate St. Paul, we may more probably conjecture it hath relation to this very Place. Moreover, though I have given you the Words, as Dr. Hammond tranſlates them ; yet I think the true Meaning of theſe Words, μὴ ἐράτωσαν ἀπὸ τοῦ κοινοῦ ἐλευθεροῦσθαι, is this, Let them not be importunate to be delivered, and made free by the Church, or by her Common Stock ; for τὸ κοινὸν, ſignifies the Community ; and ſo, τὸ κοινὸν τῆς ἐκκλησίας, in (b) Eu-

Now it is evident from Juſtin Martyr, and Tertullian, that the Common Stock of Chriſtians was employed to buy their Brethren out of Bonds and Servitude. See Note on 1 Cor. 7. 23. and Lucian. de Pereg. Ed. Gr. p. 594, 595.

But that many of the Jews were of this Opinion, and might be apt to introduce it into Chriſtianity, we find juſt Reaſon to believe; for they thought themſelves privileged, by their Relation to God, from being the Servants of Men. Some of them, ſaith Joſephus, thought it a wicked thing, μετὰ τὸν Θεὸν φέρειν θνητοὺς δεσπότας, to own, beſides God, any mortal Lords, or Maſters. Their Rabbins thought it unbecoming any Jew, to be a Bond-ſlave to an Heathen or Idolater; for that was, ſay they, to be Servi Servorum, Servants of Servants, which the Servants of the Lord muſt not be. See Dr. Lightfoot on 1 Cor. 7. 23.

b Ver. 3. Λόγοις τοῖς τοῦ κυρίου ἡμῶν, The Words of our Lord Jeſus.] This Phraſe being often uſed of the very Words which Chriſt ſpake. as, Matth. 26. 75. Acts 10. 16, 20, 35. I thought fit to refer it to thoſe Words which might moſt likely be aimed at by the Apoſtle; tho' ſeeing they alſo may refer to the Doctrine of Chriſt, preached by the Apoſtle, this Phraſe being ſo uſed, Acts 19. 10. and the Doctrine of the Lord very often, 1 Theſſ. 1. 8. 2 Theſſ. 3. 1. in this Senſe it affords this uſeful Obſervation, That the Words written by St. Paul in theſe Epiſtles, are the Words of the Lord Jeſus.

c Ver. 5. Ἀφίστασο ἀπὸ τῶν τοιούτων, From ſuch withdraw thy ſelf.] From theſe Words it is plain, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh here, of Perſons then in being. That they were Jews, ſeems evident from the foregoing Note, ſhewing, That they were in this Matter, ἑτεροδιδάσκαλοι, Men that taught otherwiſe; That theſe νομοδιδάσκαλοι, were Men knowing nothing, or not knowing what they ſaid, or whereof they affirmed, ſee 1 Tim. 1. 9. That they did ἑτεροδιδασκαλεῖν, teach otherwiſe than the Doctrine which is after Godlineſs, v. 3. That they had their Fables which miniſtered ζητήσεις, Queſtions, v. 4. That they had their ματαιολογίας, vain Wranglings about Words, v. 6. That they had their fooliſh Queſtions, which begat Strifes and Contentions about the Law, ſee Tit. 3. 9. That they of the Circumciſion were vain Talkers, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy Lucre's ſake, ſee Tit. 1. 10, 11. and ſo accounted Gain for Godlineſs; That their Minds and Conſciences were defiled and perverted; ſee Tit. 1. 14. That they turned aſide from the Faith, to vain Janglings, ſee 1 Tim. 1. 6. How they were puff'd up, ſee Note on 2 Tim. 3. 4. See the Defence of theſe Words, Examen Millii in locum.

Ver. 6. Αὐτάρκεια, Contentment.] This the Apoſtle well explains, by being ſatisfied ἐν οἷς εἰμι, in the Condition we are in, Phil. 4. 4. and τοῖς παροῦσιν, with the things we have at preſent, with Food and Raiment, v. 8. i. e. with thoſe things which are needful for this preſent Life, Matth. 6. 31, 32. in oppoſition to Anxiety, Diſtruſt, or Murmuring: And it is never ſeparable from true Piety, but is the natural Reſult of that Love to, and that Value the Good Man hath for God, and the Things of God; that Truſt he hath in God, and the intire Reſignation of his Will, in all Affairs, to the Conduct of his Providence. d

Ver. 9. Οἱ βουλόμενοι πλουτεῖν, They that will be Rich:] I. e. On whom the love of Money ſo prevails, that they are reſolved they will be Rich, if by any means they can compaſs Wealth, are in the ready way to yield to any Luſt which will gratify their greedy Humours; μηδενὸς χρηματισμὸν συντελοῦντος αἰσχροῦ μηδ' ἀνιαροῦ φειδόμενοι, abſtaining, ſaith Plutarch, (d) from nothing that is baſe or impious, that tends to enrich them: Whence the Ancients, agreeably to the Apoſtle here, Avaritiam omnia Vitia habere putabant, thought Covetouſneſs to comprehend all Vices; as Agellius, l. 11. c. 2. from Cato, and Cicero, N. 45. in his Oration, Pro Roſcio Amerino, have obſerved. It alſo cauſeth us to make Shipwreck of Faith, and a good Conſcience, and whatſoever elſe is ſacred, when they cannot be held without the loſs of that Wealth we ſo love and admire. Whence Cicero notes, (e) Nullum eſſe Officium tam ſanctum atque ſolenne, quod non avaritia comminuere, atque violare ſoleat; That there is no Duty ſo "holy or ſolemn, which Covetouſneſs is "not wont to impair and violate. e Ver. 11. Εὐσέβειαν, πίστιν, &c.] That Godlineſs, which gives Contentment, with Food and Raiment, and what at preſent we enjoy: That Faith, which aſſures us of a better, and a more enduring Subſtance, reſerved in the Heavens for us, Heb. 10. 34. That Juſtice, which requires us to injure no Man, but to let every Man enjoy his own: That Love, or Charity, which makes us ready to diſtribute, and willing to communicate of theſe things to others, v. 11. That Patience, which makes us with Tranquillity and Equanimity ſubmit to a low Fortune, and Adverſity: That Meekneſs, which ſuppreſſes our Wrath and Indignation againſt them who are injurious to us in Temporals, and take away that which is ours. All theſe are proper Preſervatives againſt, or Indications of, a Mind fee from Covetouſneſs.

h Ver. 14. Μέχρι τῆς ἐπιφανείας τοῦ Κυρίου ἡμῶν, Till the appearing of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. ] Here, ſaith Grotius, it appears, that Paul ſpeaks to Timothy, as one who might live to the Laſt Judgment: But this vain Conceit hath been ſufficiently confuted, Note on 1 Theſſ. 4. 15. Nor doth this Exhortation prove it; it being uſed, rather than that, until Death, ſaith Theophylact, to mind us of that glorious Appearance: And becauſe, ſaith St. Auſtin, (f) the Day of our Death is, to us, as that Day: Tunc enim unicuique veniet dies ille, cum venerit ei dies, ut talis hinc exeat, qualis judicandus eſt illo die: In quo enim quemque invenerit ſuus noviſſimus dies, in hoc eum comprehendet mundi noviſſimus dies.

i Ver. 15. Ὁ βασιλεὺς, King of Kings, and Lord of Lords. ] This Title the great Empires took to themſelves: The King of Babylon is ſo ſtyled by Daniel, chap. 2. 37. By Jeremiah, chap. 27. 6. Of Perſia, Ezra 7. 12. See Briſſon. de Regno Perſ. l. 1. p. 3, 4. And therefore the Apoſtle ſaith here, That it truly belongs to God only, and to our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Rev. 17. 14. and 19. 16.

k Ver. 18. That they do Good. ] See Note on Tit. 3. 8.

l Ver. 19. Θεμέλιον καλὸν, A good Foundation. ] Τῶν μελλόντων ἀγαθῶν ἀπόλαυσιν θεμέλιον κέκληκεν ἀκίνητον, The enjoyment of good things to come, he calls an Immoveable Foundation, ſay the Greek Commentators. So the Doctrine of the Reſurrection, is ſtyled the Foundation of God, 2 Tim. 2. 19. And the Heavenly Jeruſalem, a City that hath Foundations, Heb. 11. 10. And the good Foundation here, being, in the Words following, Eternal Life, confirms their Interpretation. They who think the Word θεμέλιος ſignifies here, a Treaſure, or an Obligation on the Part of God, to give them Life Eternal, mean the ſame thing, tho' they give us no juſt Evidence that the Word hath any ſuch Signification.

m Ver. 21. Περὶ τὴν πίστιν ἠστόχησαν, Have erred from the Faith. ] Theſe, in all reaſon, muſt be the ſame with the τῆς πίστεως ἀστοχήσαντες, thoſe who erred from the Faith, chap. 1. 5, 6. And that they were the Νομοδιδάσκαλοι, the Aſſerters and Teachers of the Law, and ſo the Oppoſites to the Gnoſticks, who were, ſaith Irenæus, Legis Adverſarii, Adverſaries of the Law, the 7th Verſe demonſtrates, as Theodoret (g) well obſerves upon the Place: Of them it is alſo certain, that they pretended, above all Men, to be γινώσκοντες τὸ θέλημα, skilled in the Knowledge of the Will of God, and ἔχοντες τὴν μόρφωσιν τῆς γνώσεως, Men that had the Scheme or Form of Knowledge, Rom. 2. 18, 19, 20. They were the great Aſſerters and Promoters of the Cabbala, or Cabbaliſtical Doctrine, which was, in their Account, Scientia arcana divinitùs accepta, (h) a Secret Myſtical Knowledge of Divine Things received from God, and equal, in their Opinion, to the Scriptures, according to their Rule, Verba cabbalæ, æquiparantur verbis legis. And they, doubtleſs, oppoſed this their Knowledge of the Law, and of theſe Cabbaliſtical Traditions, to the Goſpel taught by St. Paul, which oppoſed and ſlighted them; and their ſtiff Adherence to them, cauſed them, ἀστοχεῖν, to ſhoot off from the Faith of the Meſſiah, which was the Mark they aimed at: That therefore the ψευδώνυμος γνῶσις, the falſly-named Knowledge, mention'd here, (i) may agree to them as well as to the Gnoſticks, is manifeſt from theſe things, that it cannot agree to the Gnoſticks, if theſe Perſons were Teachers of the Law, as it is very probable they were, ſee Note on Chap. 1. 7. And that it cannot be attributed to Simon Magus, the Father of the Gnoſticks, of whom alone the Apoſtle can be ſuppoſed here to ſpeak, appears from this; That he cannot properly be ſaid to err concerning the Faith, who was ſo far from being then of it, that he himſelf ſet up for the Chriſt, and oppoſed the Profeſſion of the Goſpel with all his Might. As for the Gnoſticks, it is agreed among the Learned, that though they conſpired with former Hereticks; yet were they not known by that Name, nor had they taken it upon them till the Time of Anicetus Biſhop of Rome, and the Reign of M. Aurelius Antoninus, and L. Verus, that is, not till the Year 129. Hence Dr. Cave makes them an Hereſy of the Second Century. Euſebius ſays, that (k) Carpocrates, who flouriſh'd in the Time of Hadrian, gave the Riſe to the Sect of the Gnoſticks. But Clemens Alexandrinus ſeems to affirm, that one (l) Epiphanes, the Author of the Sect of the Carpocratians, gave Birth to this Name and Sect. And if it were ſo, it is improbable that the Knowledge falſly ſo called, here mention'd, ſhould have relation to the Gnoſticks.

THE PREFACE TO THE Second Epiſtle of St. PAUL TO TIMOTHY.

THE Ancients (a) from theſe Words of this Epiſtle, I am ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand, chap. 4. 6. do generally conclude this was the laſt of St. Paul's Epiſtles, he being πρὸς τῷ τέλει, near the end of his Life, when he writ it. And truly, the Words of the Apoſtle, are not well capable of any other Senſe; for he ſays expreſly, ἤδη σπένδομαι, I am now offered, and the Time of my Diſſolution, ἐφέστηκε, is inſtant, v. 6. I have finiſhed my Courſe, v. 7. and, v. 8. λοιπὸν, From henceforth there is laid up for me a Crown of Glory: Whereas he not only expected to be delivered from his firſt Bonds, but ſaith expreſly, I know that I ſhall abide and continue with you all, for your Furtherance and Joy of Faith, that your Rejoycing may be more abundant in Chriſt Jeſus, for my coming to you again, Phil. 1. 25, 26. ſee chap. 2. 24. Philem. v. 22. Yea, he was actually delivered, and ready to go to Judea, when he writ the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, chap. 13. 23. 2dly, This Epiſtle, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, was writ from Rome, chap. 1. 17. by St. Paul in Bonds, chap. 1. 8. and 2. 9. Now theſe Bonds could not be his firſt Bonds; for then he was in Libera Cuſtodia, in his own hired Houſe, receiving all that came to him, none forbidding it, Acts 28. 30, 31. Yea, his Bonds were known throughout Cæſar's Palace, and to all others, Phil. 1. 13. Here he is in Arcta Cuſtodia; ſo that Oneſiphorus was forced to enquire more diligently after him, that he might find him out, chap. 1. 17. Again, in his firſt Bonds, ſaith he, Many of the Brethren of the Lord, being encouraged by my Bonds, were bold to ſpeak the Word more abundantly without Fear, Phil. 1. 14. Here, all Men forſake him, chap. 4. 16. See a third Argument for this Opinion, chap. 4. 13. a fourth, v. 16. a fifth and ſixth, v. 20. So that I conclude, with the Poſtſcript, that this Epiſtle, ἐγράφη ἀπὸ Ῥώμης, ὅτε ἐκ δευτέρου παρέστη Παῦλος τῷ Καίσαρι Νέρωνι, was writ from Rome, when St. Paul ſtood the ſecond time before Nero.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. PAul, an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, a by the Will of God, [a] according to the Promiſe [ for Declaration of the Promiſe ]
b of [ eternal ] [b] Life, which is [ made to us ] in Chriſt Jeſus;

2. [ Writeth ] To Timothy my dearly beloved Son, [wiſhing to him] Grace, Mercy, and Peace from God the Father, and Chriſt Jeſus our Lord, [ by whom all Mercies are derived to us from the Father through the Spirit. ]

3. I thank God, whom I ſerve from my c Fore-fathers [c] with a pure Conſcience, that d [d] without ceaſing, I have remembrance of thee in my Prayers night and day;

4. Greatly deſiring to ſee thee, being mindful of thy Tears, [ ſhed when thou departedſt from me, [that] as then I was filled with Sorrow, ſo, by ſeeing thee again, ] I may be filled with Joy.

5. [I thank God, I ſay,] When I call to remembrance the unfeigned Faith which is in thee, which dwelt firſt in thy Grand-Mother Lois, and [ in ] thy Mother Eunice, [converted to the Faith before thee, Acts 16. 1. ] and I am perſwaded that [it dwells] in thee alſo.

6. Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance, e that thou [e] ſtir up the Gift of God
f which is in thee, [f] by the putting on of my hands.

7. For God hath not given us the Spirit of Fear, [ as under the Moſaical Diſpenſation, g Rom. 8. 15.] [g] but [the Spirit ] of Power, and of Love, and of a ſound Mind.

8. Be not thou therefore aſhamed of the Teſtimony of our Lord, [ i. e. of giving Teſtimony to the Death and Reſurrection of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 6. which were the great things they chiefly were to teſtify, Acts 1. 8, 22. and 4. 33.
and 5. 32. ] nor of me, [though I am now ] his Priſoner, [for that Teſtimony; ] but be thou Partaker of the Afflictions of the Goſpel, [ Gr.
συγκακοπάθησον, ſuffer thou evil with the Preachers of it, ] according to the Power of God, [ given thee for this End, v. 7. ]

9. [ Even that God ] who hath ſaved us, [i. e. deſigned us for Salvation, 1 Theſſ. 5. 9.
See Note on Epheſ. 2. 7, 8.] and [ in purſuance of that Deſign, hath ] called us with an Holy Calling; not according to our Works, but according to his own Purpoſe and Grace, [ See Note on Tit. 3. 5, 6. ] which was given [ i. e. determined to be given ] us in Chriſt Jeſus before [h] the World began; h

10. But is now made manifeſt, by the appearing of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, [ the Lord and Giver of Life, who [ by his Death ] hath aboliſhed Death, and hath brought [this] [i] Life and Immortality to light through i the Goſpel.

11. Whereunto [ εἰς ὃ, for which thing ] I am appointed a Preacher, and an Apoſtle, and a Teacher of the Gentiles.

12. For the which Cauſe alſo I ſuffer theſe things: Nevertheleſs, [ though I ſuffer thus, ] I am not aſhamed [ of my Hope, ] for I know [in] whom I have believed; and I am perſwaded, that he is able to keep [k] that k which I have committed to him, [ i. e. my Soul and Life, 1 Pet. 4. 19. ] againſt [ or to ] that Day [ of Recompence. ]

13. Hold faſt the form of ſound words, which thou haſt heard of me in Faith and Love which is in Chriſt Jeſus [ i. e. with a firm Faith,

Faith, and true Chriſtian Love ; See Note on Chap. 2. v. 2. ]

14. That good thing which was committed to thee [ i. e. the Doctrine of the Goſpel, 1 Tim. 6. 20.] keep by the Holy Ghoſt which dwelleth in us, [ and confirms it to us, 1 John 2. 20. 27. ]

15. This thou knoweſt [ by Meſſengers from Rome, or thoſe who travel from thence to Rome,] that all they [l] which are in Aſia be turned away from [ Gr. have forſaken ] me ; of whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16. The Lord give [ i. e. ſhew ] mercy to the [m] houſe of Oneſiphorus, [ the Epheſian, chap. 4. 19.] for he oft refreſhed me [ with his preſence and relief, ] and was not aſhamed of my chain [ as the reſt of the Aſiaticks were. ] m

17. But when he was [Gr. being] in Rome, he ſought me out very diligently, and found me.

18. The Lord [ therefore ] grant unto him [ who ſhew'd ſuch Mercy to me, ] that he may find mercy with the Lord in that day [ of Recompence we Chriſtians expect. ] And in how many things he miniſtered to me at Epheſus thou knoweſt very well.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. Κατ' ἐπαγγελίαν.] Ὥστε μὲ τὴν ἐπαγγελθεῖσαν αἰώνιον ζωὴν τοῖς ἀνθρώποις κηρύξαι, That I might declare that Eternal Life which is promiſed to Men ; ſo Theodoret. So, Tit. 1. 1. Paul, an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, κατὰ πίστιν, for the Promotion, or Declaration of the Faith of God's Elect ; ſo κατὰ πᾶσαν αἰτίαν, for every Cauſe, Matth. 19. 3. Philip. 4. 11. I ſpeak not καθ' ὑστέρησιν, for want of any thing.

b Ibid. ζωῆς ἐν Χριστῷ, Life which is in Chriſt Jeſus. ] Adam brought the Sentence of Death upon us all, and the Promiſe of Deliverance from that Death, is only made to us in and thro' Chriſt Jeſus, by virtue of that Death he ſuffered in our ſtead.

c Ver. 3. Ἐν καθαρᾷ συνειδήσει, With a pure Conſcience. ] So, Acts 23. 1. I have lived in all good Conſcience to this Day before God ; i. e. a Conſcience free from Inſincerity, or wilful Diſobedience to the Dictates of his Mind, or the Rule by which he thought himſelf obliged to walk ; for, as touching the Righteouſneſs which was required by the Law, he was blameleſs ; and as for his Blaſphemies againſt Chriſt, and his Perſecutions of his Church, that he did ignorantly in unbelief, 1 Tim. 1. 13. thinking he ought to do many things againſt the Name of Jeſus, Acts 26. 9. But yet he was not free from Sin ; for he confeſſes, that upon this account he was the Chief of Sinners, 1 Tim. 1. 15.

d Ibid. Ἀδιάλειπτον, Without ceaſing, day and night. ] To pray Morning and Evening, is to pray continually, or without ceaſing : Thus Zadok and his Brethren offered Burnt-Offerings before the Lord continually, διαπαντὸς, Morning and Evening, 1 Chron. 16. 42, 43. See Note on 1 Theſſ. 5. 17, 18.

e Ver. 6. Ἀναζωπυρεῖν.] (a) Philo ſaith, That where there is any ſpark of true Probity, being ventilated, it will ſhine and break forth into a Flame. And this is alſo true, as well of Spiritual Gifts as Graces ; even the Gifts of Miracles, of Healing, and caſting out of Devils, were ſtrengthened and increaſed by Prayer, Matth. 17. 21. and by Faith, v. 20. and the internal Gifts of Wiſdom, and Knowledge, by Reading and Meditating on the Word ; the Illumination of the Holy Spirit coming then upon Gifted Perſons when they were ſo employ'd, 1 Cor. 14. 23, 24, 25, 26. 1 Tim. 4. 13, 14, 15. How they may be extinguiſhed, ſee Eph. 4. 30. 1 Theſſ. 5. 19. Thus Pythagoras, ſaith (b) Iamblichus, purged the Souls of the Scholars from Ignorance and ſenſual Paſſions, and then, ἀνεζωπύρει τὸ θεῖον ἐν ἑαυτῇ, cap. 16.

f Ibid. Διὰ τῆς ἐπιθέσεως, By the laying on of my Hands. ] The Presbytery alſo laid their hands upon him, 1 Tim. 4. 14. but the χάρισμα, or Gift here mentioned, being the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, was uſually conferred by laying on of the hands of an Apoſtle, Acts 8. 17. and 19. 6. Vain therefore is the Inference of Eſthius from theſe places, that Ordination is a Sacrament, ſeeing the Grace here mentioned, is no ordinary Grace, but an extraordinary Gift, conferred only in thoſe Times by the Hands of an Apoſtle, and now wholly ceaſed.

g Ver. 7. Πνεῦμα δυνάμεως, The Spirit of Power,] ( uſed Luke 24. 19. Acts 1. 8. ) partly to aſſiſt us in the Preaching of the Goſpel, ἐν δυνάμει, in the Power of Miracles, and in the Power of the Spirit of God, Rom. 15. 19. and to render it effectual to the Hearers, it being the Power of God thro' Faith, to their Salvation, Rom. 1. 16. and preached by the Apoſtles with great Power, Acts 4. 33. 1 Theſſ. 1. 5. Coloſſ. 2. 9. and partly to enable us to endure Afflictions, for the ſake of Chriſt, τὸ πνεῦμα τῆς δυνάμεως, the Spirit of Power reſting upon us for that end,

1 Pet. 4. 14. and here, v. 8. And the Spirit of Love to Chriſt, which conſtrains us to our Duty, 2 Cor. 5. 14. and caſteth out the fear of any thing we may ſuffer for the Performance of it, 1 John 4. 18. And of a ſound Mind, Gr. σωφρονισμοῦ, of Wiſdom to diſcharge that Duty, ſo as either to avoid Dangers, Eph. 5. 15, 16. Col. 4. 5. by giving no Offence to the Heathens, or elſe to ſpeak the Word with convincing Power, Luke 21. 15. and to walk ſo exactly, that they may be aſhamed to ſpeak evil of us, or do evil to us, who behold our good Converſation in Chriſt, 1 Pet. 3. 16. All theſe were ſpiritual Gifts, not now conferred in Ordination, as Eſthius vainly conceives.

h Ver. 9. Πρὸ χρόνων αἰωνίων, Before any Age hath paſſed.] The Promiſe that the Seed of the Woman ſhould break the Serpent's Head, being made at the beginning of the World, the Promiſe of that Life to which we were to be reſtored by this Seed, and had loſt by the Subtilty and Malice of the Serpent, is ſaid to be given πρὸ χρόνων αἰωνίων, Tit. 1. 3. See the Note there.

Note alſo, that theſe Words may be connected thus, According to his Purpoſe before all Ages, and the Grace given us in Chriſt Jeſus. And this import of the Words may be confirmed from the like Paſſages of the Apoſtle, ſaying, God hath elected us in him before the Foundations of the World, Eph. 1. 4. and promiſed us Eternal Life before the World began, Tit. 1. 2.

i Ver. 10. Φωτίσαντος ζωὴν, Hath brought Life and Immortality to light.] It is to be acknowledged that the Heathens had, by Tradition, and the Light of Nature, conceived ſome hope of ſome future good things to be received after this Life was ended; that being abſolutely neceſſary, ſaith the Apoſtle, that they might come to God, or do him any acceptable Service: For, he that cometh to God, muſt believe that he is, and that he is a Rewarder of them that diligently ſeek him, Heb. 11. 6. But yet this Hope was very weak, and feeble in them, and ſcarce credited by their Philoſophers. It is ſtiled by Cicero, Tuſc. Q. 1. Futurorum quoddam augurium ſæculorum, a Surmiſe of future Ages. It is, ſaith (c) Seneca, That which our wiſe Men do promiſe, but they do not prove. (d) Socrates even at his Death ſpeaks thus; I hope to go hence to good Men, but of that I am not very confident; nor doth it become any wiſe Man to be poſitive that ſo it will be. I, ſaith he, muſt now die, and you ſhall live; but which of us is in the better State, the Living or the Dead, God only knows. Both he, and (e) Cebes do ingenuouſly confeſs, that theſe things relating to the Soul, were disbelieved by the greateſt part of Mankind.

(f) Ariſtotle held, that Death was therefore φοβερώτατον, the moſt terrible, as putting an end to all things: Neither Good nor Evil happening to any Man after his Death: Yea, he ſays, It is abſurd to ſay that any Man can be happy after Death, ſince Happineſs conſiſts in Operation. Hence Atticus (g) reckons him among thoſe who held that Souls could not remain after their Bodies. And (h) Origen ſaith, that he did τοῦ περὶ τῆς ἀθανασίας τῆς ψυχῆς λόγου κατηγορηκέναι, condemn the Doctrine of the Soul's Immortality. The Poets Sophocles, Euripides, Aſtydamas, agree in this, That ἄλγος δ᾽ οὐδὲν ἅπτεται νεκροῖς, the Dead are ſenſible of no Grief or Evil, Vide Stob. Serm 119 p. 602.

(k) Lipſius confeſſeth, that amongſt the Stoicks this was a controverted Point, and was not received by them with any full conſent; and whoſoever reads will find them ſtill at their (l) ifs and ands, not knowing whether there were any thing after Death, εἰ δὴ μηδὲν ἐστὶ τελευτήσαντι, or nothing, as Socrates in Phædo ſpeaks. Whether their Souls ſhould be extinguiſhed, or only change their Place; whether they were in a State of Senſe, or ἐν ἀναισθησίᾳ, without Senſe: Whether Soul and Body were extinguiſhed together, or not, as Cicero, Seneca, and others, or elſe were ſtill at their (m) Disjunctives, ἤτοι σβέσις, ἢ μετάστασις, fluctuating ſtill betwixt Extinction, or Tranſlation, a profound Sleep, a long Peregrination, or an utter Diſſolution. no farther place for Joy or Fear. And (o) Pliny, That neither Soul nor Body hath any more Senſe after Death, than before it was born.

(p) Cicero begins his Diſcourſe upon this Subject, with a Profeſſion, That he intended to deliver nothing as fixed and certain, but only as probable, and having ſome likelihood of Truth. And having reckoned up the different Sentiments of the Philoſophers about it, he concludes thus, (q) Which of theſe Opinions is true, ſome God muſt tell us; which is moſt like to Truth, is a great Queſtion. And when he had confirmed, as much as he was able, the Doctrine of the Soul's Immortality, he ingenuouſly confeſſes, Catervæ veniunt contradicentium; That his Opinion was contradicted, not only by whole Troops of the Sect of Epicurus, but alſo by (r) the moſt learned of the other Sects.

(s) Plutarch ſaith, That if Men will be reſtrained from their evil Courſes by Fear, they muſt be kept under the Superſtition of the Dread of Hades; but to them who have caſt off thoſe Fears, muſt be propounded, ἡ περὶ τὸ μυθῶδες τῆς ἀϊδιότητος ἔλπις, the Fabulous Hope of Immortality. And this, ſaith he, is one great Benefit of Philoſophy, that it hath taught us to look upon that Death which others fear ὡς μηδὲν πρὸς ἡμᾶς, as nothing to us. Now the Philoſophers themſelves ſaw the evil Effects that this Denial, or Doubting of theſe things, would have upon the Lives of Men, viz.

1. That it would yield a great Encouragement to Men to go on in their evil Ways: For if Death, ſaith Socrates, in Phæd. p. 80. A. be the Extinction of the whole, or a Freedom from all Evils, ἕρμαιον ἂν αὖ τοῖς κακοῖς ἀποθανοῦσι, this will be good News to the wicked, that they have nothing to ſuffer.

2. That it tended to diſcourage Men from leading virtuous and pious Lives, as cramping all their Hopes of Happineſs: For, as (t) Dionyſius Halicarnaſſæus, well obſerves, If the Soul, when ſeparated from the Body, periſheth, it is not eaſy to diſcern how good Men can be happy, who receive no Fruit of their Virtue here, but often periſh by it.

3. That it very much ſtaggers our Patience and Perſeverance in Virtue, and our Concern for Fidelity and Equity, when we muſt ſuffer for them in this World: For it is truly ſaid by (u) Cicero, that it is not poſſible for any one to have that Eſteem for Faith and Equity, as to endure the moſt dreadful Puniſhments to preſerve them, unleſs he be aſſured, that the Things he hath aſſented to cannot be falſe. See Note on Heb. 11. 6. And yet after all this Uncertainty, 'tis worthy of our Deiſts to reflect on Plato's Inference from his Diſcourſe upon this Subject, viz. That tho' no wiſe Man could be poſitive in theſe things, yet it became him to do his utmoſt to obtain Virtue and Wiſdom, καλὸν γὰρ τὸ ἆθλον, καὶ ἡ ἐλπὶς μεγάλη, becauſe great was the Hope, and the Prize excellent, and that it was worthy of them κινδυνῆσαι, to make a trial, tho' with hazard, as if we did believe them; καλὸς γὰρ ὁ κίνδυνος, for 'tis, ſaith he, a noble Trial, and it behoves us to have theſe things impreſs'd upon our Souls.

As for that Immortality the Body ſhall obtain at the Reſurrection, the Heathens knew and believed nothing of it; they laughed at it, and looked upon it as a thing impoſſible, and unworthy of God to do, and without any example to convince them that it might be done. Hence then we ſee the Neceſſity that this Life and Immortality ſhould be brought to light by the Goſpel; and what continual Thanks we owe to the Bleſſed Jeſus, who hath by his Death not only removed the Fear and Sting; but even the Being of Death, and hath procured a bleſſed Immortality, not only for the Soul, but the Body alſo.

Ver. 12. Τὴν παρακαταθήκην μου, My Soul;] which Perſons dying uſed to commit into the Hands of God. So Joſephus de bello Jud. l. 3. p. 852. "The immortal Soul, which "hath its Original from God, dwells in "the Body: Now if any one embezzles, or "evilly intreats that which is committed to "him by Man, he is accounted a wicked "and perfidious Man, εἰ δέ τις τοῦ σφετέρου "σώματος ἐκβάλλοι τὴν παρακαταθήκην τοῦ Θεοῦ "λεληθέναι δοκεῖ τὸν ἀδικούμενον; If therefore "any one caſts the Depoſitum of God out of "his Body by Self-murther, can he hope "to conceal himſelf from him that is "injured?" And (x) Philo in like manner ſaith, That God hath given to Man a Soul, Speech, and Senſe, which he muſt endeavour ſo to keep, that he who committed them to him may find no cauſe to blame him for his Cuſtody,

Ver. 15. Ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ, Which are in Aſia.] This OEcumenius and Theophylact expound thus, οἱ ἐν τῇ Ἀσίᾳ, τȣτέςιν ἐκ τ̃ Ἀσίας, thoſe of Aſia, that either went with him to Rome, or came to him there, or were found there at his coming, in the time of his Diſtreſs, forſook all Converſe with him for fear of Nero. But this Expoſition ſeems not conſiſtent with the Words. For, 1. he ſaith οἶδας τȣ̃το, This thou knoweſt: Now Timothy, being not at Rome, could not well know what was done there; and therefore the Apoſtle gives him an account how all Men had deſerted him in his firſt Defence, Chap. 4. 16. But being then in Aſia, or Achaia, he might know what happened there. (2.) The Words ἀπεςράφησαν με, have been averſe from me, ſeem to import a Departure from St. Paul, and his Doctrine; and may be render'd, they have turned me off. He having therefore told them long before, that after his Departure grievous Wolves ſhould enter in, not ſparing the Flock: And that from themſelves ſhould ariſe Men ſpeaking perverſe things, to draw away Diſciples after them, Acts 20. 29, 30. and charging Timothy to ſtay ſome time at Epheſus to oppoſe himſelf to the Falſe Teachers of the Jewiſh Nation, and to exhort the Epheſians not to give heed to theſe Teachers of the Law, 1 Tim. 1. 7. it ſeems moſt proper to refer theſe Words to the rejecting St. Paul as an Adverſary to the Law, by the Perſwaſions of the Cerinthians and Ebionites, who laid this Charge againſt him.

Ver. 16. Ὀνεσιφόρȣ οἴκῳ, The Houſhold of Oneſiphorus.] Oneſiphorus ſeemed to be dead when Paul writ this, ſaith Grotius on the Place: And if ſo, ſaith Eſthius, here is a ſtrong Confirmation of the Practice of praying for the Saints deceaſed. I anſwer, 1. That it follows not that Oneſiphorus was dead, becauſe St. Paul here mentions, and in the cloſe of this Epiſtle ſalutes his Family, without mention of him: The Reaſon of that being this, becauſe Oneſiphorus was not yet returned from Rome to Epheſus, where his Family was; but as Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact ſay on 2 Tim. 4. 19. was then ἐν Ῥώμῃ, at Rome, ſerving St. Paul. 2. The Apoſtle here only prays that he might find Mercy at the great Day of Recompence, as doth our Liturgy, and all the ancient Liturgies, for Deliverance in the Hour of Death, and at the Day of Judgment; which is perfectly excluſive of Prayers ſuppoſed to be made for Souls in Purgatory, which if they do them any good, muſt be ſuppoſed to do it before that Day.

Ver. 18. Δῴη αὐτῷ ὁ Κύριος εὑρεῖν ἔλεος παρὰ Κυρίȣ. The Lord grant he may find Mercy from the Lord.] Here is a plain Example of the known Rule of the Grammarians, that the Noun is frequently repeated for the Pronoun; ſo, Gen. 19. 14. Jehovah rained Fire and Brimſtone, Meet Jehovah, Κύριος παρὰ Κυρίȣ, from Jehovah. So Exod. 24. 1, 2, 3. He, i. e. Jehovah, v. 3. ſaid to Moſes, aſcend el Jehovah, i. e. to me. And 1 Sam. 3. 21. Jehovah appeared to Samuel in Shiloh, bidevar Jehovah, by the word of the Lord. So Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, and Theophylact ſay here, τȣτέςι παρ' ἑαυτȣ̃; and that it is the Cuſtom of the Scriptures ſo to ſpeak, they prove from Gen. 19. 24. not fearing the Anathema, which the great Council of Sirmium, thro' Ignorance of the Hebrew Tongue, pronounced againſt them who did ſo interpret it.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. THou therefore my ſon [follow not the example of thoſe that turn from me, but] be [thou] ſtrong in [and through] the grace that is [given thee] in Chriſt Jeſus. [See Chap. 1. v. 6. 7, 8.]

a 2. And [a] the things which thou haſt heard of [from] me, [eſtabliſhed] by many witneſſes, the ſame commit thou to faithful men, who ſhall be able to teach others alſo.

3. Thou therefore [aſſiſted by this Grace] endure hardſhip as a good ſoldier of Jeſus Chriſt.

4. [Not loving this preſent World, or entangling thy ſelf with the Affairs of it,] for b no man that warreth, [b] entangleth himſelf with [any other of] the Affairs of this Life, [but quits all theſe Concerns,] that he may [be more at leiſure to] pleaſe him who hath choſen him to be a Soldier.

5. And [it is in this Militia, as in the wreſtling at the Olympick Games, where] if a Man alſo ſtrive [with another] for Maſtery, yet is he not crown'd unleſs he ſtrives lawfully, [according to the Rules of Wreſtling, i. e. unleſs he wreſtle naked, and have put off all the Cloaths which might hinder him in Wreſtling, or give another advantage to take hold of him.]

6. [Nor let it diſcourage thee, that thou doeſt not receive thy Wages preſently, as other Soldiers do; for,] The Husbandman that laboureth, firſt [Gr. firſt labouring] muſt be [afterwards] Partaker of the Fruits [of his Labour.]

c 7. Conſider what I ſay, and the [c] Lord give thee underſtanding in all things [belonging to thy Duty.]

8. [And, to fortify thee under thy Sufferings,] de [d] Remember, that Jeſus Chriſt, [e] of the Seed of David, [after all his Sufferings,] was raiſed from the Dead, according to [the Teſtimony of] my Goſpel.

f 9. [f] Wherein [for which Goſpel] I ſuffer trouble [from the Jews, Acts 25. 19, 26. and 6, 7. and others,] as an Evil doer, even unto Bonds; but [though I am bound] the Word of God [which I preach] is not bound, [but hath its free Courſe.]

10. [And] Therefore [for this Cauſe] I g endure all [theſe] things [cheerfully,] [g] for the Elect's ſake, [Col. 1. 24.] that they [being confirmed, by my Example in Suffering, 2 Cor. 1. 6. and 14. 15.] may alſo obtain the Salvation which is [tender'd] in [and through] Chriſt Jeſus, with eternal Glory.

11. It is a faithful Saying, [That by Chriſt Jeſus we ſhall obtain this Salvation:] For if we be dead [Gr. have died] with him [in Baptiſm, by dying unto Sin,] we ſhall alſo live with him, [in Conformity to his Reſurrection,] Rom. 6. 8.

12. If we ſuffer [as he did,] we ſhall alſo reign with him; [but] if [through Perſecutions] we deny him, he alſo will deny us, [Mat. 10. 33.]

13. If we believe not [theſe Promiſes of Salvation to his faithful Sufferers,] yet he abideth faithful; he cannot deny [what he] himſelf [hath promiſed.]

14. Of theſe things put them in remembrance, [in the Churches of Chriſt,] charging them before the Lord, that they [h] ſtrive h not about Words, [which tend] to no profit, [but rather] to the ſubverting of the Hearers.

15. Study to ſhew thyſelf approved unto God, a Workman that needeth not to be aſhamed, [i] rightly dividing the Word of i Truth.

16. But ſhun profane and vain babblings, for they will encreaſe to more ungodlineſs, [rendering Men more and more profane.]

17. And their word will eat as doth a Canker, [or Gangrene, infecting the whole Body,] of whom [i. e. of the number of which profane Talkers] are [k] Hymeneus and Phi- k letus;

18. Who, concerning the Truth, have erred, ſaying, That the Reſurrection is paſt already; and [by that Doctrine] overthrow the Faith of ſome.

19. Nevertheleſs, [l] the Foundation of l
God [the Hope and Promiſe of the Reſurrection]
ſtandeth ſure, [m] having this [as the] Seal m [of it;] [n] The Lord knoweth them that are n his: And [therefore,] Let every one [o] that o nameth the Name of Chriſt, depart [p] from p Iniquity.

20. [And be not diſturbed, that ſuch Hereticks as theſe ariſe out of the Members of the Church:] But [δὲ, for] in a great Houſe, [ſuch as the Church is,] there are not only Veſſels of Gold and Silver, but alſo of Wood, and of Earth; and ſome [viz. thoſe Veſſels of Gold, and Silver, repreſenting the Orthodox Chriſtian, 1 Cor. 3. 12. are, εἰς τιμὴν,] to Honour, and ſome, [viz. thoſe of Wood, and Earth, repreſenting the Heterodox,] to [Uſes of] Diſhonour.

21. If a Man therefore purge himſelf from thoſe [falſe Doctrines, and the Teachers of them]
he ſhall be a Veſſel unto Honour, [q] ſanctified, q and meet for the Maſter's Uſe, [ſerviceable to Chriſt, the Maſter of the Family,] and prepared unto every good Work.

22. [Avoid theſe therefore, and] [r] Flee alſo r youthful Luſts; but follow Righteouſneſs, Faith,

Faith, Charity, Peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure Heart.

23. But [the] fooliſh and unlearned Queſtions [of the Jews; See Note on 1 Tim. 4. 7. Tit. 3. 9.] avoid, knowing that they do gender Strifes.

24. And [For] the Servant of the Lord muſt not ſtrive, but be gentle to all Men, apt to teach, patient;

25. In meekneſs inſtructing thoſe that oppoſe themſelves [to the Goſpel,] if God ‘peradventure will give them repentance ‘to the acknowledgment of the Truth [they contend now againſt;]

26. And that they may recover themſelves [or, awake] out of the ſnare of the Devil, who are [now] taken Captive by him at his Will, [Gr. εἰς τὸ ἐκείνου θέλημα, to the Performance of the Will of God; Penitents being turned from the Power of Satan, unto God, Acts 26. 18. Col. 1. 13.]

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 2. " A Ἤκουσας παρ' ἐμοῦ, The things which thou haſt heard from me.] ‘That Depoſitum, C. 1. 14. which I committed to thee, in the Publick Aſſembly, at thine ‘Ordination, do thou alſo in like manner ‘depoſite with other faithful Men, that the ‘Truth may be continued in an uninterrupted Succeſſion of ſuch Perſons:’ So Mr. Walker. ‘The Things agreed on, and conſented to ‘by all the other Apoſtles, do thou commit to ‘able Men, and appoint them as Biſhops of the ‘ſeveral Churches under thee:’ So Dr. Hammond. I think there is no Foundation for all this in the Text, no Intimation that theſe Things were taught him at his Ordination, or that they were Things agreed on, and conſented to by all the Apoſtles; as if they had met, and conſulted about a Syſtem of Articles of Faith, and good Life, to be held by all that taught the Chriſtian Faith; or, that God choſe this Way to continue down the Faith, in an uninterrupted Succeſſion, from Age to Age, of ſuch Perſons; or, that this was a Commiſſion to St. Timothy to appoint Biſhops under him in the ſeveral Churches of Aſia; for he doth not appoint him, as he did Titus, to Ordain Elders in every City, chap. 1. 5. the Biſhops of Epheſus, and the adjacent Cities, being before not only appointed, but convened by himſelf, Acts 20. 27, 28. The Things which Timothy had heard confirm'd by many Witneſſes, ſeem to refer to Chriſt's Death, his Reſurrection, and Aſcenſion, which were Matters of Teſtimony, and contain'd the prime Doctrines which St. Paul delivered to the Churches, 1 Cor. 15. 3, 4. and which were confirmed by the Teſtimony of St. Paul, the Twelve Apoſtles, and Five hundred Brethren, ibid. v. 5, 6, 7, 8. Luke 24. 50, 51, 52. Or to the Myſtery of Godlineſs, mention'd, 1 Tim. 3. 16. and teſtified, in every part of it, by Men and Angels. I grant alſo, that the Apoſtle ſeems to refer to ſome Form of Doctrine delivered to them who receiv'd the Chriſtian Faith, when he ſpeaks of the Myſtery of Faith, and the Myſtery of Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 3. 9, 15, 16. Of the firſt Principles of the Oracles of God, Heb. 5. 12. and of the Principles of the Doctrine of Chriſt, chap. 6. 1, 2, 3, 4. enumerating them in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews; there being a Faith once, and at once delivered to the Saints, Jude 2. in which they were to ſtand faſt, and for which they were to contend, Phil. 1. 27. And that there was alſo a παρακαταθήκη, or Depoſitum of Chriſtian Doctrine delivered to them who were to preach, and inſtruct others in the Faith; and which he commands Timothy to keep, 1 Tim. 6. 20, 21. as being intruſted with it, in oppoſition to thoſe who had erred from the Faith, which he calls the Form of ſound Words, which he had been taught, and which he was to keep, in Faith, and Love of the Truth, 2 Tim. 1. 13. and that good thing committed to him, v. 14. which he was to keep by the Holy Ghoſt, the Spirit which leadeth into all Truth, the Unction which taught them all things belonging to their Office, 1 John 2. 20, 27. the things in which he was to continue, knowing of whom he had learn'd them, 2 Tim. 3. 14. I laſtly grant, That all the Fathers, from Irenæus downwards, ſpeak of ſuch a Symbol of Faith delivered to the Church by the Apoſtles, and their Diſciples, which the Church received from them, and diſtributed to her Sons, being the one and the ſame Faith which the Church retained throughout the World, than which they believed neither leſs, nor more, and which, for ſubſtance, was the ſame with the Apoſtle's Creed. This I have (a) elſewhere largely proved, and thence demonſtrated the Falſhood of the whole Doctrine of the Church of Rome, and of her New Creed delivered as neceſſary to be believed unto Salvation: And if Obadiah Walker means no more, I ſhall not contend with him.

Ver. 4. Ἐμπλέκεται ταῖς τοῦ βίου πραγματείαις, b Entangleth himſelf with the Affairs of this

(a) Treat. of Tradit. part 2. chap. 7, 8.

World.] The Apoſtle here, by two plain Similitudes, requires Timothy, as a good Soldier, and Biſhop of the Church of Chriſt, and an Evangeliſt, not to engage himſelf in any Temporal Affairs, or Secular Negotiations; of which the firſt is taken from the Compariſon of a Soldier, who was, by the (b) Roman Laws, Armis, non privatis negotiis occupari: "To be employ'd wholly at his Arms, "and not in any private Buſineſs." The ſecond, is taken from the Similitude of Wreſtlers, (c) who did not ſtrive, according to the Laws, unleſs they wreſtled naked, and put off all their Garments, and therefore could not win the Crown of Laurel. Hence is that Enquiry of St. Baſil, τίς στεφανοῖ πότε τὸν μηδὲ ἀποδύοντα πρὸς τὸν Ἀντίπαλον; who crowns him who comes not naked to his Adverſary? And thoſe words of St. Chryſoſtom, (d) If thou art a Wreſtler, thou muſt come naked to the Combat; Thou muſt put off the Affairs of this Life, and be made a Wreſtler; diveſt thy ſelf of Worldly Cares, for it is the Time of Conflict. Hence the Apoſtolical Canons declare, Can. 4. Thoſe Biſhops, Prieſts, or Deacons, ought to be depoſed, who do κοσμικὰς φροντίδας ἀναλαμβάνειν immerſe themſelves in Worldly Affairs. (e) Cyprian repreſents it as a thing worthy of the Divine Judgments, that Biſhops, contemning the Office, became Proctors for Secular Affairs. And this Practice was condemned by the General Council (f) of Chalcedon, Can. 2. 12. and by a Council of Carthage, as repugnant to theſe words of the Apoſtle: And by the Council of Sardica, Can. 8. And even before St. Cyprian was Biſhop, this was eſtabliſhed in (g) Africa by Council, from this very Text, No Man that warreth, entangleth himſelf with the Affairs of this Life.

c Ver. 7. Δώη.] Other Manuſcripts read, δώσει γὰρ, For the Lord will give thee Underſtanding, &c. And δώη is oft put for δώσει. So, Gen. 27. 28. Δώη σοι ὁ Θεός, The Lord ſhall give thee of the Dew of Heaven.

d Ver. 8. Μνημόνευε, Remember] to maintain this, againſt the Unbelieving Jews, That Jeſus Chriſt, the promiſed Meſſiah, of the Seed of David, not of Joſeph, was raiſed from the Dead, according to the Goſpel that I preach, 1 Cor. 15.

e Ibid. Of the Seed of David.] It is certain, that the Jews, before our Saviour's Time, thought the Meſſiah, the Son of David, was not to die; and therefore, when Chriſt had told them, He was to be lifted up, they anſwer, We have heard, out of the Law, That the Meſſiah abideth for ever; and how ſayeſt thou, That he muſt be lifted up? John 12. 34. And when firſt he tells his Diſciples of it, Peter began to rebuke him, with an Abſit, This ſhall not be unto thee, Matth. 16. 22. When he tells them again of it, They underſtood not the Word, ſaith St. Mark, chap. 9. 32. It was hid from them, that they perceived it not, ſaith St. Luke, chap. 9. 45. And again, They underſtood none of theſe things, and this Saying was hid from them; neither knew they the things which were ſpoken, chap. 18. 34. Surely Chriſt's Words were plain, They ſhall put him to Death; but they knew not how to reconcile them with their received Doctrine, that he was to abide for ever, John 12. 34. And therefore, becauſe Iſaiah ſpeaks ſo plainly of a Meſſiah, who was to ſuffer Death, they invented afterward (h) a Diſtinction betwixt Meſſiah of the Tribe of Ephraim, the Son of Joſeph, who was to die, and Meſſiah of the Tribe of Judah, the Son of David, who was to reign, and conquer, and never die: This Diſtinction is to be found in their Talmud, in the Targum upon the Canticles, chap. 4. 5. chap. 7. 3. in Bereſchith Rabba, in Gen. 49. 14. in R. Salomon, and Kimchi, on Zach. 12. 10. Now if this Invention obtain'd in the Times of St. Paul, he might here have reſpect unto it; if not, becauſe in the Dialogue of Juſtin with Trypho, we read nothing of it, their Notion, That the Meſſiah of the Seed of David could not die, muſt be confuted by his Reſurrection from the Dead.

Ibid. Remember that Jeſus Chriſt of the Seed of David, was raiſed from the Dead.] Theodoret here obſerves, that * Simon Magus began to broach his Hereſies about this time; and he, and all his Followers, denied that Chriſt had taken Fleſh upon him, ſaying, that his Incarnation, or Anthropiſm, was only in Appearance, or ἐν φαντασίᾳ; and in Oppoſition to this Hereſy, he is here ſtiled Jeſus Chriſt of the Seed of David; and becauſe from that Hereſy it muſt follow, that he could not truly die, or ſuffer in the Fleſh, and ſo could not be truly raiſed from the Dead; therefore the Apoſtle bids Timothy remember, that Διὰ τοὺς ἐκλεκτοὺς, For the Elect's ſake;] I. e. For the ſake of Chriſtians, who are all γένος ἐκλεκτὸν, a choſen Generation. See the Note on 1 Pet. 2. 9. and who may be confirmed in the Faith, by the Example of my patient Sufferings, and continuing in it, may obtain that Salvation to which they are called. Vain therefore are theſe following Notes of Eſthius, 1. That there is a certain Election of God, which hath infallibly choſen us to Salvation, unleſs he means this of a Conditional Election, God having infallibly determined to ſave them, who make their Calling and Election ſure, by perſeverance in Good Works, 2 Pet. 1. 10. 2*dly,* That as Paul ſuffered thoſe things only for the Elect, ſo Chriſt died only for them: For, He taſted Death for every Man, Heb. 1. 9. He died for all, 1 Tim. 2. 6. Not for our Sins only, but for the Sins of the whole World, 1 John 2. 2. For them that periſh, Rom. 14. 15. 3*dly,* That neither Chriſt did, nor ought we to do any thing that the Reprobates may obtain Salvation; which is horribly falſe; Chriſt's Preaching to the Unbelieving Jews, being intended for their Salvation, John 3. 17. and 12. 47. and 5. 34, 40. For the blinded Jews the Apoſtle prays, and labours that they might be ſaved, Rom. 9. 1, 11, 14.

h Ver. 14. Μὴ λογομαχεῖν, That they ſtrive not about Words.] Here we learn, (1.) What are the Things which ought not to be Matters of Contention among Chriſtians. 1. Such Things in which we differ from each other rather in Words, than Senſe; mean the ſame Thing, but differ only in the expreſſing of our Sentiments. Which Rule obſerved, would put an end to many of our Controverſies. 2. Such Things as tend to little or no Profit, either as to Edification in the Faith, or edifying of the Body in Love, Eph. 4. 16. See Note on 1 Tim. 1. 4. and chap. 6. 3. Tit. 3. 9. Or, by knowing which, we may be the more learned, but not the better Chriſtians. Again, Hence we learn why we ſhould not contend about ſuch Things, viz. 1. Becauſe they tend to beget Strife, and Contentions, v. 23. 1 Tim. 1. 4. which divide Chriſtians into Parties, and diſſolve or obſtruct Chriſtian Charity. (2.) Becauſe they tend to the Diſturbance of the Hearers, they not knowing to which Party to adhere; and alſo to their Subverſion, cauſing them to doubt of the Truth of that Faith about which the contending Parties cannot agree.

Ver. 15. Ὀρθοτομοῦντα τὸν λόγον, Rightly dividing, or handling the Word of Truth.] This i word ὀρθοτομεῖν, is a ſacrificial word, relating to the right dividing of the Sacrifice, which was to be laid upon the Altar, by cutting off, and laying aſide thoſe Parts which were not to be offered, and ſevering them from thoſe that were: And to this ſenſe St. Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, and Theophylact, refer the word here, ſaying, That he requires Timothy to ſeparate from the Preaching of the Word, all noxious and idle Queſtions, πάντα τὰ περιττὰ, all ſuperfluous things, and give his Hearers only the ſincere Milk of the Word: And this ſenſe agrees well with the preceding, and the following words. Others think it refers to the cutting out a ſtrait Path to walk in; And ſo it is an Admonition, ſaith Theodoret, to keep cloſe to the Truth of the Goſpel, in all his Exhortations, τῷ κανόνι τῶν θείων λόγων ἑπόμενος, following the Canon of the Holy Scriptures.

Ver. 17. Ὑμέναιος, &c. Hymenæus and Phi- k letus.] That theſe two were Gnoſtick Teachers, none of the Ancients do inſinuate; nor did the Gnoſticks teach, that the Reſurrection was paſt already, but that the Fleſh was not fit to riſe; and that it was incapable of Salvation, and of Incorruption. So (i) Irenæus often doth inform us, by ſaying, they deny the Salvation of the Fleſh, denying it to be capable of Incorruption; and with him agree (k) Pſeud-Ignatius, the Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, and others. (l) Valentinus, who flouriſhed only, A. D. 145. and ſo could not be touched at in theſe words, was of the ſame Opinion, ſay all the Ancients. So that Tertullian muſt either be miſtaken, when, ſpeaking of them who held the Reſurrection was paſt already, he adds, Id de ſe Valentiniani adſeverant, or means this not of Valentinus himſelf, whom he there numbers with thoſe, qui Reſurrectio-

Θεμέλιος τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Foundation of God.] The Fundamental Doctrine of the Reſurrection to Life Eternal, is ſo ſtyled, in theſe words, Let us not lay again, τὸν θεμέλιον, the Foundation of the Reſurrection of the Dead, Heb. 6. 1, 2. This is the faithful Saying, mention'd, v. 11. which he exhorts Timothy to bring to their remembrance, v. 14. and by denying which, ſaith he, the Chriſtian Faith is overturn'd, v. 18. m Ibid. Τὴν σφραγίδα ταύτην, Having this Seal.] Sealing, ſeems always mention'd in the New Teſtament, for Confirmation and Aſſurance; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, The Seal of my Apoſtleſhip are you in the Lord, 1 Cor. 9. 2. i. e. The Effects I have wrought upon you, and the Gifts of the Spirit imparted to you, prove the Truth of my Apoſtleſhip: And when he tells his Converts, that by the Spirit they were ſealed up to the Day of Redemption, 2 Cor. 1. 22. 5. 5. Eph. 1. 13. 4. 30. and were eſtabliſhed in the Truth of the Goſpel: The Gifts of the Spirit they had already received, according to Chriſt's Promiſe, being a Confirmation of that glorious Redemption he had farther promiſed.

n Ibid. Ἔγνω Κύριος τοὺς ὄντας αὐτοῦ, The Lord knoweth who are his.] I. e. He owns and approves thoſe he hath commiſſioned to reveal his Mind to others; for this Expreſſion is taken from Numb. 16. 5. where Corah, Dathan and Abiram, riſe up againſt Moſes and Aaron, declaring they took too much upon them, in pretending the one to be their Prophet, and the Mouth of God to them; the other to be the High Prieſt, whom God had conſecrated to his peculiar Service above all others of the Tribe of Levi. Now to this Imputation Moſes replies, according to the Septuagint, ἔγνω ὁ Θεὸς τοὺς ὄντας αὐτοῦ, God knoweth who are his, and by him ſeparated to his Service, and will maintain their Cauſe and Calling againſt all Oppoſers; as in that Inſtance he did in a wonderful manner, cauſing the Earth to open, and ſwallow them up. So alſo will God own us his Apoſtles againſt Hymenæus and Philetus, and all that ſet up againſt us and our Doctrine: As therefore Moſes ſaid then to the Iſraelites, Depart you from the Tents of thoſe Men, καὶ ἀπέστησαν, and they departed; ſo ſay I now to all Chriſtians, Let them depart from this Impiety, i. e. from theſe pernicious Doctrines which increaſe to Ungodlineſs, and cauſe Men to make ſhipwrack of Faith and a good Conſcience.

Ibid. That nameth the Name of Chriſt,] i. e. that profeſſeth to own him, or to be his Diſciples; ſo, Iſai. 26. 33. τὸ ὄνομα σοῦ ὀνομάζομεν, we have no other God but thee, We name thy Name. See Iſai. 43. 7. 63. 19. Pſalm 80. 19. Gen. 4. 26. 2 Chron. 12. 13.

So that theſe Words may thus be rendered, Let every one that names the Name of Chriſt depart from Falſhood; i. e. Let him preſerve himſelf from the pernicious Errors of theſe Apoſtates from the Truth.

Ver. 21. Ἡγιασμένον, Sanctified.] The Veſſels of the Sanctuary were conſecrated to the Service of God, and were alſo, ſaith the Apoſtle, purified by the Sprinkling of the Blood upon them, Heb. 9. 21. And ſo are Chriſtians ſprinkled by the Blood of Jeſus from their Sins, and conſecrated by Baptiſm to his Service, and ſo made meet for the Service of God. (See the Reading of the Text juſtified, Examen Millii, in locum.)

Ver. 22. Note, That hence it follows, that we muſt maintain Peace with, and therefore muſt not ſeparate from our Communion any Perſon who ſerves Chriſt with a pure heart.

Ver. 25. Μήποτε, If peradventure.] This word in the Septuagint anſwers to the Hebrew Particle אולי, ſi forte, or fortaſſe. So, Gen. 3. 22. and 24. 5. 39. ## CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. THis know alſo, that in the laſt Days [ of the Jewiſh Oeconomy, and the erecting of Chriſt's Kingdom. See Note on 1 Tim. 4. 1. ] perilous times ſhall come.

2. [a] For men ſhall be lovers of their own ſelves, [ i. e. their own temporal Pleaſures and Profits ] covetous, boaſters, proud, blaſphemers, [ evil ſpeakers,] diſobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, [or prophane.]

3. Without natural affection, truce-breakers, falſe accuſers, incontinent, fierce, [ or cruel, ] deſpiſers of thoſe that are good.

4. Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleaſures more than lovers of God.

5. Having a form of godlineſs, but denying the power thereof; from ſuch turn away.

6. For of this ſort are they which [b] creep into houſes, and lead captive ſilly Women laden with ſin, led away with divers luſts.

7. Ever learning [ of new Teachers ] and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8. Now as [c] Jannes and Jambres withſtood Moſes [ when working his Miracles in Egypt, before Pharaoh, ] ſo do theſe alſo reſiſt the truth, [being] men of corrupt minds, [d] reprobate concerning the faith. [Tit. 1. 14, 15, 16. ]

9. But [e] they ſhall proceed no farther, [ Gr. not much farther, ] for their folly ſhall be manifeſt to all men, as theirs alſo was, [ i. e. the folly of Jannes and Jambres.]

10. But [ be not troubled at ſuch Times, or Perſons, having in me good Experience of the Power and Readineſs of God to deliver them who ſuffer for his ſake, for ] [f] thou haſt fully known my doctrine, [my] manner of life, [ my ] purpoſe [ to adhere to Chriſt, ſeeking his Glory, not my own, and to promote his Goſpel to the utmoſt, my ] faith, long-ſuffering, 2 Cor. 6. 6. ] charity, [ 1 Cor. 8. 13. and, 9. 22. 2 Cor. 11. 29. my ] patience. f

11. [The] Perſecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, [ Acts 13. 50. ] at Iconium [ch. 14. 2.] at Lyſtra [ where I was ſtoned, v. 19. ] what perſecutions I endured, [ from the Jews ; ] but out of them all the Lord delivered me.

12. Yea, and all that will live godly in Chriſt Jeſus, ſhall ſuffer perſecution, [ eſpecially in ſuch perilous times; and at all times, either openly or ſecretly, from the Hatred and Malice of wicked Men, or from their Taunts and Calumnies, which are ſtiled Perſecutions, Gal. 4. 29. Nor is it to be expected, that it ſhould be otherwiſe. ]

13. But [ δὲ for ] evil men and [g] ſeducers, [ Impoſtors] will [till the Wrath of God takes hold upon them, ] wax worſe and worſe, deceiving and being deceived. g

14. But continue thou in the things which thou haſt learned [ from me, ] and haſt been aſſured of, knowing of whom thou haſt learned them.

15. And that from a Child thou haſt known the Holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wiſe to ſalvation, through faith which is in Chriſt Jeſus.

h 16. [h] All ſcripture is given by inſpiration of God, and is [ Gr. being inſpired by God, is alſo ] profitable for doctrine, [ to teach us what we are to believe, ] for reproof, ] or Conviction of Error, ] for correction [ and Reformation of Vice, and ] for inſtruction in [ the way of ] righteouſneſs.

17. That the man of God [ or Teacher of it, ] may be perfect [ both as to his own Practice, and his teaching others, and ſo ] throughly furniſhed [ not to this, or that only, but ] to all good works [ belonging to his Office. ]

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 5. Ἔσονται γὰρ ἄνθρωποι. ] That the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of ſuch Perſons as were in being when this Epiſtle was endited, is evident from his Command to Timothy, to turn away from them, and from the Deſcription of them.

That they were not the Gnoſticks, or the Followers of Simon Magus, ſeems apparent; 1. Becauſe Simon Magus could not make the Times perillous by any Oppoſition he could make to Chriſtianity, he being a deſpicable and beggarly Magician, of whoſe Power, or Endeavour to perſecute the Chriſtians, I remember not one Word in Church-Hiſtory, applicable to the Times of this Epiſtle; but that the Jews were zealous Perſecutors of them, not only in Judea, but through all parts of the World, where they were diſperſed, both Scripture and Juſtin Martyr fully teſtify; and the ſuppoſed Combination betwixt the Jews and Gnoſticks, is not only groundleſs, but incredible: For what Accord could there be betwixt him who ſet up for a God, yea, for a Father over all, and them who were zealous for the true God, and hated Idolatry with a perfect Hatred; or between them who had the higheſt Veneration for the Law and the Prophets, and him who taught, they were not at all to be regarded? 2*dly*, Becauſe the Jews had a Form of Knowledge, Rom. 2. 20. and a Zeal for God, Rom. 9. 1. and a ſettled Form of worſhipping the true God; they were great Zealots for the Obſervation of the Sabbath, and all the Sacrifices and Inſtitutions required by the Law of Moſes; and ſerved God frequently Day and Night, Acts 26. 7. and ſo they had a Form of Godlineſs, though not worſhipping God in the Spirit, Phil. 3. 3. but only with theſe Carnal Ordinances they denied the Power thereof: But what form of Godlineſs do we find in Simon Magus and his Followers, in the Times of the Apoſtles? What Profeſſion of Chriſtianity could he make, who ſet himſelf to oppoſe the Apoſtles, and the Doctrine which they taught? See a third Argument againſt this Expoſition, v. 9.

But that theſe Characters agree to the Jews, and particularly to the Judaizing Chriſtians, and falſe Teachers, is evident from Scripture and Church-Hiſtory, and from the Writings of Joſephus; For, Rom. 1. 29, 30, 31. we have mention of Gentiles that were Covetous, Proud, Boaſters, Diſobedient to Parents, without Natural Affection, Trucebreakers, Cruel, Unclean, Unthankful, v. 21. And, ch. 21. the Jew is condemned as doing the ſame things, and, ver. 22, 24. as guilty of Adultery and Blaſphemy. They were Blaſphemers, and falſe Accuſers of the Apoſtles, as if they walked after the Fleſh, 2 Cor. 10. 2. contradicting and blaſpheming Chriſtianity, Acts 13. 45. they repreſented it to all the World, when it was firſt preached, as an (a) Atheiſtical Sect, and were the Authors of all the vile Stories which the Heathens objected againſt it: And in deſpiſing of the Apoſtles and Chriſtians, they were Deſpiſers of thoſe that were good. They were great Lovers and Admirers of themſelves, Proud, Boaſters, and Highminded, boaſting of God as their Father, and of their Knowledge of the Law, Rom. 2. 17, 23. magnifying themſelves above others; ſee Note on 2 Cor. 11. 12, 20. glorying in their Circumciſion, v. 18. and in their being of the Seed of Abraham, v. 22. Philip. 3. 5. and exalting themſelves upon theſe Accounts above the Gentiles, whom they ſtiled Dogs, and Sons of the Earth, and uncircumciſed, whilſt they were the Noble, the Sons of God, and his beloved People. They were διάβολοι, contentious, and obey'd not the Truth, Rom. 2. 8. Philip. 1. 15, 16. They were covetous, perverting others for filthy Lucre's ſake, Tit. 1. 11. counting Gain Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5. minding earthly things, Philip. 3. 19. They were fierce, heady, cruel in their Perſecutions of the Chriſtians, 1 Theſſ. 2. 15, 16. They were Traytors and Trucebreakers in their Revoltings from the Roman Government. They were diſobedient to their Parents in their Corban, Matth. 15. 5. and without natural Affection, not in that only, but in their Perſecution of Chriſtians of their own Family and Blood, Luke 21. 16. They were unholy and incontinent, defiled and abominable, Tit. 1. 14, 15. in their Adulteries, and continual Divorces: Lovers of Pleaſure, making their Belly their God, Phil. 3. 19. feaſting luxuriouſly on their Sabbaths, and to Drunkenneſs in their Feaſts of Purim. d Ibid. Ἀδόκιμοι περὶ τὴν πίστιν, Reprobate concerning the Faith.] So they are ſtiled in Scripture, who, through their Reſiſtance of, and Contentions againſt the Truth, are unworthy to have the Faith made known to them, or indiſpoſed to receive it. Thus the Heathens, who, when they knew God, did not glorify him as God, neither were thankful, Rom. 1. 22, 25. are therefore delivered up εἰς νοῦν ἀδόκιμον, to a reprobate Mind: And they here who reſiſt the Truth, being Men of corrupt Minds, are therefore reprobate concerning the Faith. See Note on 2 Cor. 13. 5.

e Ver. 9. Οὐ προκόψουσιν, They ſhall proceed no further.] This agrees well with the Jewiſh falſe Doctors, who were ſoon diſabled from carrying on their falſe Doctrines, by the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; but not ſo well with the Gnoſtick Hereticks, who ſpread themſelves wide in the Second Century. The Fancy of a Reverend Perſon, that St. Paul here propheſies, that as Jannes and Jambres periſhed in the Red Sea, ſo ſhould Simon Magus at Rome, falling down head-long, when he was flying in the Air, periſh at the Prayers of St. Peter and St. Paul, is in every part of it uncertain. For,

1. Though the Jews tell us Jannes and Jambres were with Pharaoh at the Red Sea, they ſay not that they periſhed there, but ſay they rode with Balaam to meet Balak, and lived to the making of the Golden Calf, and then periſhed. Targ. Jon. in Num. 22. 22.

2*dly*, I have ſhewn in the Preface to the Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, §. 6. That the Story of Simon Magus's flying in the Air in a fiery Chariot, and thrown down by the Prayers of thoſe two Apoſtles, in the ſight of the People at Rome, is of no Credit among Learned Men.

Ver. 10. Παρηκολούθηκας, Thou haſt fully known.] Παρακολουθεῖν, relatum ad animum eſt ξυνιέναι, ſaith Conſtantine. So the Greek Commentators thought it here ſignified, rendering it οἶδας, μεμάθηκας ἀκριβῶς, thou haſt known, thou haſt learnt exactly, as the Word imports, Luke 1. 4. The primary Senſe of it, Thou haſt followed, or reſembled me in my Perſecutions, may alſo be applied to Timothy, who was in Bonds at Rome alſo, Heb. 13. 23. See the Note on 1 Tim. 6. 12. f

Ver. 13. Καὶ γόητες, Impoſtors.] That the Impoſtors among the Jews continued till the very time of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, more and more deceiving the People, and that the whole Nation of the unbelieving Jews grew then to the higheſt pitch of Wickedneſs, Joſephus fully teſtifies. See Notes on Rom. 2. 2. and 2 Theſſ. 2. 10. g

Ver. 15. From a Child thou haſt learned the Scriptures] Note here, The Care of the Jews to teach their Children the Scriptures even from their Childhood: From five Years Old ſay the Talmudiſts, we put our Children to read the Bible. (f) Joſephus informs us, that their Children learning their Laws, ἀπὸ τῆς πρώτης εὐθὺς αἰσθήσεως, from the firſt Dawnings of Senſe, and Reaſon in them, had them engraven in their Souls: Which as it condemns the Practice of the Church of Rome, in withholding thoſe ſacred Oracles from Old and Young, ſo alſo does it reprehend the Generality of Chriſtians who are more concerned to teach their Children things unneceſſary, or at the beſt things only needful for this preſent Life, than to inſtruct them in that Word of God, which is able to make them Wiſe to Salvation.

Ver. 16. Πᾶσα γραφὴ, All Scripture.] Here note, h

1. That the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, not of the New, muſt be the Scriptures here intended, they only being the Scriptures which Timothy had known from a Youth; that is, before the Scriptures of the New Teſtament were written; and ſo he could not ſpeak of the Scriptures, as interpreted by them who were then the Guides of the Church, viz. the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, or the Scribes and Phariſees; ſeeing they ſo interpreted them, as to make void the Commandments of God, and to deny our Saviour to be the promiſed Meſſiah.

2dly, Obſerve, That the Apoſtle doth not ſay, that theſe Scriptures were of themſelves ſufficient to make Timothy wiſe to Salvation; but only that with Faith in Chriſt Jeſus they were ſufficient for that End. Now Faith in Chriſt Jeſus, doth only ſignify a firm Belief that Jeſus was the Chriſt, the true Meſſiah, the Son of God, the Saviour of the World; as is evident from theſe Words, This is the Victory over the World, even our Faith, 1 Joh. 5. 4. i. e. Our Belief that Jeſus is the Son of God, v. 5. See the Preface to the Epiſtle to the Galatians, §. 2. Hence then I argue for the Perfection of the Scriptures thus: If the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament were ſufficient to make a Man wiſe unto Salvation, provided only that he believed that Jeſus was the Chriſt; the Scriptures of the Old and the New Teſtament muſt much more be ſo, becauſe the Scriptures of the New Teſtament muſt needs more plainly and fully contain the Faith and Duty of all Chriſtians, than the Scriptures of the Old only can be ſuppoſed to do.

Obj. But, ſaith Eſthius, ‘If the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament were ſufficient to make Men wiſe unto Salvation, then there is no need of the Goſpels, or of the Epiſtles of the New Teſtament.’

Anſw. I anſwer, Yes: There was need of them, both to beget in Men, and to confirm this Faith in Chriſt, they being written that we might believe, and believing might have Life through his Name, John 20. 31. and alſo to give the Chriſtians of ſucceeding Ages, a more full, plain, and perſpicuous Knowledge of thoſe things which were not ſo fully and plainly, to the Capacity of the meaneſt, to be learnt in the Old Teſtament. Thus, though the Five Books of Moſes ſufficiently contained the whole Jewiſh Law, it follows not that the Hiſtorical and Prophetick Books, or the Hagiographa, were ſuperfluous.

3. Obſerve that the Apoſtle ſaith, theſe Scriptures were therefore able to make Timothy, a Chriſtian Biſhop, wiſe to Salvation, becauſe they were profitable for Doctrine, to teach the Chriſtian all that he was to believe πρὸς ἔλεγχον, for the Correction of every Error in the Faith, for the Conviction of every Vice they were obliged to eſchew, and for their Inſtruction in every way of Righteouſneſs; even ſo profitable for theſe Ends, as to make the Man of God perfect, i. e. wanting in nothing he ought to practiſe, or believe himſelf, or teach others, for the Edification of a Chriſtian into a perfect Man in Chriſt Jeſus, and to make him throughly furniſhed to every good Work. So Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact, upon the place.

Falſe therefore here is the Note of Eſthius, that the Scriptures are here ſaid to be profitable, but not ſufficient to theſe Ends; vain is his Subterfuge, That the Apoſtle, by every good Work, underſtands only ſingula Generum, Every kind of good Works, but not every good Work of that kind, i. e. every Work of Faith, and Inſtruction in Righteouſneſs: For if theſe good Works be requiſite to make the Man of God perfect, and throughly furniſhed for his Office, they muſt be here included; if they be not, they muſt be needleſs in order to the diſcharge of it.

CHAP. IV.

Verſe 1. I Charge thee therefore before God [ the Father ] and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who ſhall judge the quick and a the dead [a] at his appearing, and his kingdom.

b 2. [b] Preach the word, be inſtant [ in that Work ] in ſeaſon, [and] out of ſeaſon [ Publickly and Privately, by Day and Night, in Times of Peace, and of Danger ; ] reprove, [ἔλεγξον, repel falſe Teachers, ] rebuke [evil Livers,] exhort with all long ſuffering, [ tho' they long ſeem not to regard thy Exhortations, ] and doctrine, [ i. e. all manner of Inſtructions.]

3. [ Thus it becomes thee to be Inſtant now, ] for the time will [ ſhortly ] come when they will not endure ſound doctrine, but after their own luſts ſhall they heap to themſelves teachers, having itching ears.

4. And they ſhall turn away their ears from the Truth, and ſhall be turned unto c [c] Fables.

5. But watch thou in all things [ which reſpect thy Office ; ] endure Affliction [patiently ;] do the work of an Evangeliſt ; [ See the Note on Eph. 4. 11.] make full proof of [Gr. fulfil] thy Miniſtry.

6. For I am now ready to be offered, [Gr. I am already poured out,] and the time of my departure [ or, Diſſolution] is at hand. [See the Preface.]

7. But be it ſo, this is my Comfort, that ] I have fought a good fight, [ ſuffering hardſhip, as a good Soldier of Jeſus Chriſt, ] I have finiſhed [ or, ran] my courſe, I have kept the faith.

8. [ So that ] henceforth [ I may be confident ] there is laid up for me a Crown of Righteouſneſs, which the Lord [Jeſus,] the d Righteous Judge, ſhall give me [d] at that day ; and not to me only, but to all them alſo, that love [ Gr. have loved ] his appearing, [ and ſhewed that love, by patient ſuffering for his Sake.

9. Do thy diligence to come to me ſhortly.

e 10. For Demas hath forſaken me, [e] having loved this preſent World, [ i. e. the ſafety of his Life] ] and is departed unto Theſſalonica, Creſcens to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia, [theſe two not deſerting St. Paul, as Demas did, but going thither for the Promotion of the Goſpel. ]

11. Only [f] Luke is with me : Take Mark, f and bring him with thee, for [g] he is profitable g for the Miniſtry : [ Mark therefore was not then in Egypt. ]

12. [ I ſay, Only Luke is with me, ] And [ Gr. For ] Tychicus have I ſent to [h] Epheſus. h

13. [i] The Cloak that [k] I left at Troas with i k Carpus, [l] when thou comeſt, bring with l thee, and the Books, but eſpecially the Parchments.

14. Alexander the Copper-ſmith did me much evil ; the Lord [ſhall] [m] reward him m according to his Works.

15. Of whom be thou aware alſo, for he hath greatly withſtood our Words.

16. [n] At my firſt Anſwer, no man ſtood n with me, but all men [ of my Acquaintance at Rome ] forſook me ; I pray God that it may not be laid to their charge.

17. Notwithſtanding, the Lord [ Jeſus ]
[o] ſtood with me, and ſtrengthened me, that o by me [ thus ſtanding up in defence of the Goſpel ] the preaching [ of it ] might be fully known, [ Gr. fulfilled, ] and that all the Gentiles might hear [ my Defence of it ; ] and I was [ then ] delivered out of the [p] mouth of p the Lion.

18. And the Lord [q] ſhall [ will ] deliver me q from every evil work, and will preſerve me to his heavenly kingdom ; to whom [ therefore] be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

19. Salute Priſcilla and Aquila, and the Houſhold of Oneſiphorus. [ See Note on chap. 18. ]

20. [r] Eraſtus abode at Corinth, but Trophimus r have I left at Miletum ſick.

21. Do thy diligence to come before Winter : Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the Brethren.

22. The Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with thy Spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. Κατὰ τὴν ἐπιφάνειαν ἀυτȣ̃, ϗ τὴν βασιλείαν ἀυτȣ̃, At his Appearance, and his Kingdom.] ‘ This Appearance, ſaith ‘ Mr. Mede, is the Appearance of Chriſt ; the ‘ Word, ἐπιφάνεια, always importing Chriſt's ‘ Advent, who, after the Reſurrection, and ‘ the Judgment of the Quick and Dead, ‘ muſt give up his Mediatory Kingdom to ‘ the Father ; it therefore muſt ſignify ſome ‘ other Kingdom, proper to Chriſt's Second ‘ Coming ; and what can that be, but the ‘ Kingdom of the Millennium ? ’ But,

1. This Appearance of Chriſt, is his Glorious Appearance, when we ſhall receive the Bleſſed Hope, i. e. the Eternal Happineſs we hope for, Tit. 2. 13. when we ſhall appear with him in Glory, Coloſ. 3. 4. when we ſhall be made like unto him, and ſee him as he is, 1 John 3. 2. Which cannot be expected, till after this ſuppoſed Millennium. It is the ſame with the Revelation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt from Heaven, 2 Theſſ. 1. 7. His Glorious Revelation, 1 Pet. 4. 13. And with his παρȣσία, Second Coming, which is, a Coming with all his Saints, 2 Theſſ. 3. 13. a Coming of our Lord from Heaven, 1 Theſſ. 4. 15, 16. Now Mr. Mede himſelf confeſſes, That he dares not ſo much as imagine that the Preſence of Chriſt in the Millenary Kingdom, would be viſible upon Earth : For the Kingdom of Chriſt, ſaith he, p. 603. ever hath, and ſhall be Regnum Cœlorum, a Kingdom whoſe Throne and Kingly Reſidence is in Heaven. And Thirdly, At this Appearance, and this Kingdom, ſaith the Apoſtle, He ſhall Judge the Quick and the Dead ; not the Dead only, but the Quick and Dead ; not ſome of them only, but all of them without exception. Now the Judgment of the Dead, is to be after the Concluſion of the ſuppoſed Millennium, Rev. 20. 12.

2. Though Chriſt will, after the Judgment of the Quick and Dead is compleated, give up his Mediatory Kingdom ; yet ſince that very Judgment conſiſts in Retribution of his final Puniſhments upon his Enemies, and crowning of his Loyal Subjects with Eternal Glory, which are the two chief Acts of Kingly Government, and the very End for which all Power was committed to him, John 17. 2. it very properly is ſtyled his Kingdom. And though he ſhall then deliver up this Kingdom, as it is a Kingdom which reſpects the Rewarding of his Servants, and the Puniſhment of his Enemies, when the firſt ſhall be crown'd with eternal Glory, and the laſt doom'd to endleſs Puniſhments ; yet ſhall he ſtill continue to be King of Saints, highly exalted above them in Honour and Dignity, and honoured ſtill by them with religious Reſpect and Veneration.

Ver. 2. Κήρυξον, Preach, &c. ] In Timotheo omnes Paſtores officii ſui commonitos eſſe voluit Spiritus Sanctus. Eſthius.

Ibid. Εὐκαίρως, ϗ ἀκαίρως, in Seaſon, and out of Seaſon. ] That is, ſaith Chryſoſtom, not only when thou art in the Church, but alſo in thine Houſe ; not only in Times of Peace and Safety, but alſo when thou art in Priſon ; not only in Time of Health, but even when thou art about to Die.

Ver. 4. Ἐπὶ τȣ̀ς μύθȣς, To Fables.] To the Fabulous Divinity of the Gnoſticks, made up of Gentiliſm and Judaiſm, ſay ſome ; but it doth not appear that the Fabulous Divinity of the Gnoſticks, mention'd by Irenæus, was then hatch'd : 'Tis far more probable, that he here ſpeaks of the Jewiſh Doctors, and their Fabulous Traditions ; for in his Firſt Epiſtle he ſaith, He left Timothy at Epheſus, that he might charge ſome among them, not to teach other Doctrines, nor to give heed to Fables, and endleſs Genealogies, 1 Tim. 1. 3, 4. which, as it relates to the Genealogies of the Jews, touching their Tribes, their Relation to the Houſe of David, and their Traditionary Men, ſee the Note there : So, v. 7. the Apoſtle plainly tells us, they were Teachers of the Law ; which Simon, and his Followers, ſaid, was not to be regarded. And in his Epiſtle to Titus, he ſends a like Exhortation to him, to preſerve the Cretians from giving heed to Jewiſh Fables, Tit. 1. 14. and Doctrines of Men that turn from the Truth ; which the Gnoſticks, who never ſincerely embraced the Truth, could not do ; and to avoid fooliſh Queſtions, and Genealogies, and Contentions, ϗ μάχας νομικὰς, and Quarrels about the Law, as being unprofitable and vain, chap. 3. 9.

Ver. 8. Ἐν ἐκείνῃ τῇ ἡμέρᾳ, At that Day. ] The Council of Florence hath defined, That pure and cleanſed Souls, when they quit the Body, are preſently received into Heaven, and there have a clear Viſion of the Holy Trinity. And the Trent Council, Seſſ. 25. hath laid this as the Foundation of the Invocation of Saints departed, that they do now, cum Chriſto regnare, & æterna fœlicitate in Cœlo frui ; ‘ reign ‘ with Chriſt, and enjoy eternal Felicity in ‘ Heaven.’ But in this they ſeem to deviate from Scripture, and the Primitive Antiquity : I ſay, from Scripture ; For,

1. Charity is repreſented by St. Paul, as the moſt excellent of Chriſtian Vertues, and therefore that which will obtain the higheſt Recompence ; and yet the Motive by which our Lord excites us to perform it, runneth thus; Thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the Reſurrection of the Juſt. Luke 14. 14.

2. To thoſe who ſuffer Death, and Perſecution, for the Name of Chriſt, our Lord hath promiſed a great Reward in Heaven, Matth. 5. 12. but this Reward will only be conferred upon them, at the Revelation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt from Heaven with his mighty Angels, 2 Theſſ. 1. 7. The Trial of their Faith, ſhall be found to Praiſe, Glory, and Honour, ἐν ἀποκαλύψει, at the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Pet. 1. 17. Then they, who Communicate with him in Sufferings, ſhall Rejoyce with him, ἐν τῇ ἀποκαλύψει, at the Revelation of his Glory, 1 Pet. 4. 13. Till then, the Souls of them who were ſlain for the Word of God are repreſented, as under the Altar, Rev. 6. 9.

3. To thoſe who feed the Flock of Chriſt, a great Reward is promiſed, even a never-fading Crown of Glory; but it is to be received then only, when the Great Shepherd doth appear, 1 Pet. 5. 4. A Reward is to be render'd to the Servants of God, the Saints, and Prophets; but it is to be rendered, when the Time comes that the Dead ſhall be Judged, Rev. 11. 18. The Apoſtles are to have their Manſions in Heaven with Chriſt, but not till He comes again from Heaven; for then, ſaith He, I will receive you to my ſelf; that where I am, you may be alſo, John 14. 2, 3.

4. The Retribution to every Man according to his Works, is alſo to be made at the ſame Time; for the Son of Man will come in the Glory of his Father, with his holy Angels; and then will he render to every Man according to his Works, Matth. 16. 27. At the End of the World ſhall the Righteous ſhine as the Sun, in the Kingdom of their Father, Matth. 13. 40, 43. This ſhall be done, in the Day when God ſhall judge the Secrets of Mens Hearts, Rom. 2. 15. and when we ſhall appear before the Judgment-Seat of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 5. 12. Rev. 22. 10.

5. Hence, in the Scripture, the Time of Recompence, and the Time of Judgment, are repreſented as the ſame; as in theſe Words, The Time is come that the Dead ſhall be judged, and that thou ſhould'ſt give Rewards to thy Servants the Prophets, and to the Saints, Rev. 11. 18. The Time of Glory, and of the Apparition of our Lord; as in theſe Words, When Chriſt, who is our Life, ſhall appear, then ſhall you appear with him in Glory, Coloſ. 3. 4. The Time of Chriſt's Appearance, and of our Salvation; for, He ſhall appear a Second Time without Sin, unto Salvation, Heb. 9. 28. The Time of his Appearing, and of our Beatifick Viſion; for, when he doth appear, we ſhall be like him; for we ſhall ſee him as he is, 1 John 3. 2.

6. Hence Chriſtians are ſo often ſaid to expect the Adoption of the Sons of God, viz. the Redemption of the Body from Corruption, Rom. 8. 23. To expect the Revelation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Cor. 1. 7. To expect the Son of God from Heaven, 1 Theſſ. 1. 10. To expect the Bleſſed Hope, and Glorious Appearance of the Great God, and our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, Tit. 2. 14. To hope for the Grace that ſhall be given them at the Revelation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Pet. 1. 13.

Now let it be obſerved, That the Body, compared to the Soul, is the vileſt, and leaſt conſiderable Part of Man; and therefore, the Hope, the Glory, the Reward, Inheritance, Adoption, Bliſs and Happineſs, reſerved to the Time of the Reſurrection, cannot reſpect the Body only. Moreover, the Apoſtle ſaith of the Inceſtuous Perſon, That his Body was delivered up to Satan, for the Deſtruction of the Fleſh, that his Soul might be ſaved in the Day of the Lord Jeſus, 1 Cor. 5. 5. Which ſhews, That the Compleat Salvation of the Soul is then to be expected.

As for the Judgment of Primitive Antiquity in this Matter, it may be learn'd from theſe Conſiderations:

1. That they aſcribe this Opinion, of the Soul's immediate Aſcent to Heaven, and its enjoyment of God's immediate Preſence after Death, to the Hereticks of thoſe Times; repreſenting it as proper to the Followers of Valentinus, Baſilides, and Marcion; and after them, as a part of the Hereſy of the Manichees. Thus Juſtin Martyr, ſpeaking of thoſe who were called Chriſtians, but blaſphemed the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, he ſaith, in his Dialogue with Trypho, p. 307, 353. They deny'd the Reſurrection, and held ἅμα τῷ ἀποθνήσκειν τὰς ψυχὰς αὐτῶν ἀναλαμβάνεσθαι εἰς τὸν οὐρανὸν, that as ſoon as they died their Souls were received into Heaven: Irenæus ſaith in like manner, (a) That the Hereticks deſpiſed the Formation of God, i. e. the Body formed by him, and not receiving [the Doctrine of] the Salvation of the Fleſh; Simul atque mortui fuerint dicunt ſe ſupergredi Cœlos & Demiurgum, & ire ad Matrem, vel ad eum qui ipſis affingitur Patrem, ſay, 'That as ſoon as they 'are dead, they aſcend above the Heavens, 'and go to him whom they call their 'Father.' And having ſaid, That our Lord's Soul went not to Heaven, but continued in the Place of the Dead till the Reſurrection; he ſaith, 'This is ſufficient to confound thoſe 'Men, qui dicunt interiorem hominem ipſorum derelinquentem hoc Corpus in ſuper-cœleſtem aſcendere locum, who ſay, 'That their Inward 'Man, leaving the Body here, aſcends to 'the ſuper-celeſtial Manſions.' And then he gives the Orthodox Opinion thus; (b) It is manifeſt, that the Souls of the Diſciples of our Lord, ſhall go into the inviſible Place appointed for them by God, expecting the Reſurrection; and then receiving their Bodies, and riſing with them, as our Lord did, ſhall come into the Preſence of God. Tertullian having produced the ſame Inſtance of the Death of Chriſt, and the Continuance of his Soul, apud inferos, till the Reſurrection of the Body; he poſitively concludes, That, (c) Nulli patet Cœlum, terrâ adhuc ſalvâ, cum tranſactione enim Mundi reſerabuntur regna Cœlorum; ‘ Heaven is opened to none whilſt the ‘ Earth remains; the Kingdom of Heaven ‘ being only to be opened at the Diſſolu‘ tion of the World. ’ And in his 4th Book againſt Marcion, he ſaith, (d) The Boſom of Abraham, which is higher than the Inferi, but not ſo high as Heaven, is that which gives Refreſhment to the Souls of the Juſt, till the Conſummation of all things produce the Reſurrection of all, with a full Reward.

(a) Adv. Hær. l. 5. c. 31. p. 491.

The Manichees, who alſo denied the Reſurrection of the Body, contended, That Good Souls had their whole Reward immediately after Death; becauſe Chriſt promiſed to the Thief, That he ſhould be that Day with him in Paradiſe. To which Objection, St. Chryſoſtom anſwers, by Conceſſion, That the Thief was indeed admitted to Paradiſe; but then he adds, That Paradiſe was not the ſame with Heaven, μὴ γὰρ ταυτά. ἔχει τὰ ἀγαθὰ ἅπερ ὁ Θεὸς ἡμῖν ἐπαγγέλλεται, for it contains not the good things which God hath promiſed to us; and then concludes, That if God promiſed the Kingdom of Heaven, and only brought the Thief into Paradiſe, οὐδέπω ἀπέδωκεν αὐτῷ τὰ ἀγαθὰ, he hath not yet given to him the good Things promiſed.

2. That they expreſly teach, That the Souls of Good Men remain till the Day of Judgment, in a certain Place, extra Cælum beatorum, out of Heaven, expecting the Day of Judgment, and of Retribution. Thus (e) Juſtin Martyr ſaith, That no Souls die; but τὰς μὲν τῶν εὐσεβῶν ἐν κρείττονί τινι χώρῳ μένειν, τὰς δ' ἀδίκους καὶ πονηρὰς ἐν χείρονι, τὸν τῆς κρίσεως ἐκδεχομένας χρόνον, that the Souls of Good Men remain in a better Place, the Souls of Bad Men in a worſe, expecting the Day of Judgment. (f) Irenæus gives us the Tradition of the Church, touching this Matter, thus; The Preſbyters, who were the Diſciples of the Apoſtles, ſay, Thoſe that were tranſlated, were carried into Paradiſe; for that Place is prepared for Juſt Men, and ſuch as have the Spirit, and there they remain till the Conſummation, expecting, or beginning Immortality; and that there ſhall be New Heavens, and New Earth; and then, Οἱ μὲν καταξιωθέντες τῆς ἐν οὐρανῷ διατριβῆς ἐκεῖσε χωρήσουσιν, They that are worthy of the Celeſtial Manſions, ſhall go thither. (g) Tertullian, having cited thoſe Words of the Apoſtle, And the God of Peace ſanctify you throughout, in Body, Soul, and Spirit, and keep you unblameable to the Coming of the Lord, 1 Theſſ. 5. 23. ſaith thus, Habes omnem ſubſtantiam hominis ſaluti deſtinatam, nec alio tempore quam in adventu Domini, qui clavis eſt Reſurrectionis; ‘ Here you ſee the whole ‘ Subſtance of Man deſigned for Salvation, ‘ nor at any other Time but the Appear‘ ance of our Lord, who is the Key of the ‘ Reſurrection. There is a Place, ſaith No‘ vatian, (h) quò piorum animæ, impiorumque ‘ ducuntur futuri Judiciis præjudicia ſentientes; ‘ whither the Souls of Good and Wicked ‘ Men are carried, having ſome Fore-taſtes ‘ of their future Judgment. ’ And (i) Caius, a Presbyter of the Church of Rome, ſaith, That Juſt Souls being celebrated by the Angels placed over them, ἄγονται εἰς χωρίον φωτεινὸν ἐν ᾧ οἱ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς δίκαιοι πολιτεύονται, are led by them into a Place of Light, called the Boſom of Abraham, where the Juſt from the Beginning have been; where they are delighted with the Viſion of the Juſt Fathers, expecting τὴν μετὰ τοῦτο χωρίον ἀνάπαυσιν, καὶ αἰώνιον ἀναβίωσιν ἐν οὐρανῷ, after this Place, their Reſt and Everlaſting Habitation in Heaven. Let no Man think, ſaith (k) Lactantius, Animas poſt mortem protinus judicari, That Souls are forthwith judged after Death; They are all held in one common Cuſtody, till the Time may come that the Great Judge ſhall make a Trial of their Merits. See Dall. de Pœn. & Satisf. lib. 5. c. 3, 4, 5, 6.

Ver. 10. Ἀγαπήσας τὸν νῦν αἰῶνα, Having loved this preſent World.] He doth not ſay, that Demas had forſaken the Chriſtian Religion, or that he betook himſelf to his own Secular Affairs, forſaking his Attendance on the Service of God in the Church, or prefer'd the things of this Life, before thoſe of a future; but as the Ancients do expound the words, he left the Apoſtle in this Time of Danger, conſulting the ſafety of his own Life; for ὁ νῦν αἰὼν, in the Scripture Phraſe, ſtill ſignifies, this preſent Life; ſo, οἱ πλούσιοι ἐν τῷ νῦν αἰῶνι, are thoſe that are Rich in this Life, 1 Tim. 6. 17. To live Soberly, Righteouſly, and Godlily, ἐν τῷ νῦν αἰῶνι, is to do it in this preſent Life: See Mark 10. 30. 1 Tim. 4. 8. He ſeems therefore only to ſay of him here, what he ſays of others, v. 16. In my firſt Apology no Man ſtood by me, but all left me.

f Ver. 11. Luke.] Hence it appears, that Luke muſt be alive at the Twelfth or Thirteenth of Nero, when this Epiſtle was endited.

g Ibid. Εὔχρηστος εἰς διακονίαν, He is profitable for the Miniſtry:] I. e. For the Work of an Evangeliſt, v. 5. As St. Peter, being ſhortly to put off his Tabernacle, was the more diligent in giving Inſtruction to the Churches of the Jews, 2 Pet. 1. 13, 14. So was St. Paul, now in Bonds, in ſending his Meſſengers to the Churches of the Gentiles, v. 10. 12.

h Ver. 12. To Epheſus.] Hence it is evident, that Timothy, at the Writing of this Epiſtle, was not at Epheſus: For if ſo, Why ſhould the Apoſtle advertiſe him, that he had ſent Tychicus thither?

i Ver. 13. Τὸν φαιλόνην, The Cloak:] Or rather, the Roll; for, φαιλόνη, ſaith Phavorinus, is εἰλητάριον μεμβράνινον, a Parchment rolled up; φελόνη εἴλητον τομάριον μεμβράνινον, a folded Vellum, or Parchment: And Heſychius ſaith the ſame.

k Ibid. Ὃν ἀπέλιπον ἐν Τρωάδι, Which I left at Troas:] Not when he went from Troas to Aſſos, in his Journey to Jeruſalem; for then, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, he could have no cauſe to leave any thing of moment with him, having ſo many that accompanied him in that Journey, Acts 20. 4, 6. and a Ship ſtill attending on them, v. 13. but in his Travels after he was ſet at liberty, and had left Rome.

l Ibid. Ἐρχόμενος, Coming,] Probably from thence; for he does not bid him ſend thither for them, or go thither to fetch them: Whence it follows, that St. Timothy was then at Troas when this Epiſtle was directed to him.

m Ver. 14. Ἀποδῴη,] The King's Manuſcript reads, ἀποδώσει, will or ſhall reward him. And all the Ancients note, that this is not an Imprecation, but πρόῤῥησις πρέπουσα ἀνδρὶ Ἀποστόλῳ, a Prediction becoming an Apoſtle. So Pſeudo Juſtin, Qu. & Reſp. 125. So Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, Theophylact, on the Place. Who this Alexander was, or where he liv'd, is uncertain; as alſo whether he were a Chriſtian, but zealous for the Jewiſh Rites, as he muſt be, if he were the Alexander delivered up to Satan, 1 Tim. 1. 20. or an Heathen, zealous, as Demetrius was, for his Trade, and on that account oppoſing the Apoſtle.

n Ver. 16. Ἐν τῇ πρώτῃ μου ἀπολογίᾳ, In my firſt Apology.] If the Date of this Epiſtle, contended for in the Preface, ſtand good, this could not be his firſt Defence of the Goſpel, of which he ſpeaks, Philip. 1. 17. For after that he was ſet at Liberty, whereas after this he is ſtill a Priſoner, Chap. 1. 8. and 2. 9. moreover Timothy was then with him at Rome, as appears from the Salutations then ſent to the Churches of Philippi, Chap. 1. 1. and Coloſſ. 1. 1. from St. Paul and Timothy; yea he was a Priſoner there even after that St. Paul was ſet at Liberty, and ſo needed not to be taught how things went with the Apoſtle then. He therefore calls this his firſt Apology, or Defence, becauſe, after he had made it, he was ſtill kept in Bonds, Chap. 1. 8. and 2. 9. and ſo reſerved for another Hearing. He eſcaped then, ſay (l) Chryſoſtom and OEcumenius; But when he inſtructed Nero's Butler or Cup bearer in the Faith, he was cut off.

o Ver. 17. Παρέστη, ſtood by me,] In a Viſion to comfort and ſupport me, as Acts 18. 9. So ἐπιστὰς is uſed, Acts 23. 11. and παρέστη, Acts 27. 23. or, to give me a Mouth and Wiſdom, according to his Promiſe, Luke 12. 12. and 21. 14, 15.

p Ibid. Ἐκ στόματος λέοντος, From the Mouth of the Lion;] I. e. of Nero, or of Helius Cæſareanus. So when (m) Tiberius died, Marſyas ſaid to Agrippa, τέθνηκεν ὁ λέων, The Lion is dead. And ſo ſpeaks Eſther touching Artaxerxes, Put a Word into my Mouth, ἐνώπιον τοῦ λέοντος, before the Lion, Eſth. 14. 13.

q Ver. 18. Καὶ ῥύσεταί με, And will deliver me.] If he will deliver him, ſaith Chryſoſtom, why ſaith he, I am now offered? Mark therefore his Words, he ſaith not, he will again deliver me out of the Mouth of the Lion; but only that he will preſerve me from every evil work; and to his heavenly Kingdom.

r Ver. 20. That St. Paul was in Bonds when he writ this Epiſtle, and that at Rome, he himſelf ſaith, Chap. 1. 8, 17. Now this Verſe affords two Arguments, to prove he could not be then in his firſt Bonds. 1*ſt*, From theſe Words, Eraſtus abode at Corinth; When was it, when St. Paul went from Corinth to go to Jeruſalem? Then Timothy accompanied him, at leaſt as far as Aſia, and ſo needed not to be told that from Rome ſo long after: It therefore muſt refer to the time when, ſaith the Reverend Biſhop Pearſon, St. Paul went from Nicopolis to Corinth, A. D. 65. and the 12th of Nero. 2*dly*, From theſe Words, Trophimus have I left at Miletum, ſick: Now this cannot relate to the time when St. Paul went to Miletus, near Epheſus, Acts 20. 17. for as Timothy was then with him, Acts 20. 4, 15. ſo was not Trophimus then left at Miletum, but carried up thence with St. Paul to Jeruſalem, Acts 21. 29. Nor did St. Paul ever return thither, Acts 20. 25. He muſt be therefore left at Miletus in Crete, where St. Paul was, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, after his firſt Bonds, A. D. 64. Ner. 10.

THE PREFACE TO THE Epiſtle of St. PAUL to TITUS.

Sect. 1. T*HAT St.* Paul was at Crete, we learn from theſe Words of this Epiſtle to Titus, I left thee in Crete: When he went thither is uncertain. Dr. Lightfoot conjectures that he touched there when he went from Macedonia to Greece, Acts 20. 2. For, ſaith he, if we conſider that after their parting at Epheſus, when Titus was ſent to Corinth with his Firſt Epiſtle to them, they never met till Titus cometh up to him, when he was come from Epheſus to Macedonia, 2 Cor. 7. 5, 6. We may thence learn, that in that firſt Journey to Macedonia, he left him not at Crete, becauſe Titus and he were not yet met again after their parting at Epheſus; and yet, at his ſecond Return thither, he had not only left him there, but writes to him to come thence to Nicopolis, bordering on Macedonia, Chap. 3. 12. So that this Epiſtle, ſaith he, muſt be writ in his Return, or at his coming thither, A. D. 55. and not from Nicopolis, as the Poſtſcript dates it; for he ſaith not, I have determined to winter, ἐνταῦθα, here, but ἐκεῖ, there; which ſhews he was not yet come thither.

Sect. 2. But that it could not be written at that time, the learned Biſhop Pearſon proves, not only from the Silence of St. Luke in that very Chapter, where he ſo particularly enumerates all St. Paul's Journeys, after he came from Epheſus, till his arrival at Jeruſalem, without the leaſt mention of his being at Crete; but ſaith expreſly, that διελθών, paſſing through thoſe Parts, [viz. of Macedonia,] and exhorting them with many words, he came to Achaia, repreſenting him ſtill in tranſitu, and as paſſing immediately from Macedonia to Greece, not going from Macedonia farther beyond it than was to it, and then returning back to Greece, as he muſt have done had he gone from Macedonia to Crete, and ſo to Achaia. 2dly, This Opinion he more demonſtratively confutes from theſe Words, chap. 3. 12. When I ſend to thee Artemas, or Tychicus, make haſte to come unto me to Nicopolis, for I have determined there to winter; for, beſides that Artemas, before his going to Jeruſalem, ſeems not to have join'd St. Paul, and Tychicus then was part of his Retinue, there is not any mention of St. Paul's going to Nicopolis, in the whole Hiſtory of his Journey to Jeruſalem; nor is it poſſible he ſhould then determine to winter at Nicopolis, who being at Philippi in the Days of unleavened Bread, made all the haſte he could to be at Jeruſalem before Pentecoſt, Acts 20. 6, 16. See more to this purpoſe, Diſſert. 1. De Succeſſ. prim. Romæ Epiſc. c. 9. §. 7. He therefore places St. Paul's Journey to Crete after his Freedom from his Bonds at Rome, A. D. 63. and the 10*th of* Nero, and ſaith that this Epiſtle was written the Year following: That it was writ after his Freedom from the Bonds in which he was, from his going to Jeruſalem, till his Freedom at Rome, he gathers from this Note of (a) Chryſoſtom and Theophylact, that the Apoſtle ſeemeth to have been then at eaſe, as making no mention in it of his Bonds, or his Temptations, as he doth in his Epiſtle to the Epheſians, chap. 3. 1. and 4. 1. to the Philippians, chap. 1. 7, 13, 14. to the Coloſſians, chap. 4. 18. to Philemon, v. 1, 9. and in his Second Epiſtle to Timothy, chap. 1. 8. and 2. 9. That after his Freedom he determined to go to Philippi in Macedonia, he himſelf intimates, Phil. 1. 26. and 2. 24. And this, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, he did in the 12th of Nero, in which Year he wrote this Epiſtle. And that he writ it a little after he had been at Crete, may be gathered from thoſe words, 2 Tim. 4. 20. Trophimus have I left at Miletum ſick; which cannot be underſtood of Miletus near Epheſus, mention'd, Acts 20. 17. for from thence he carried him to Jeruſalem, Acts 21. 29. never returning thither, Acts 20. 25. He muſt be therefore left ſick at Miletus in Crete, mention'd by (b) Homer, and by (*) Strabo.

Sect. 3. It is the Opinion of all the Ancient Commentators upon this Epiſtle, that Titus was left in Crete, not only to Ordain Biſhops in every City, and Deacons to miniſter to them, but alſo to rebuke ſharply, and with Authority, unruly Walkers; And this Epiſtle was writ to him, ſay the (c) Ancients, to make him watchful over, and to oppoſe himſelf againſt the Jews and Judaizers in that Iſland, as many Paſſages in this Epiſtle do ſufficiently demonſtrate.

Sect. 4. But the great Controverſy concerning this, and the Epiſtle to Timothy, is, whether Timothy and Titus were indeed made Biſhops, the one of Epheſus and the Proconſular Aſia, the other of Crete, having Authority to make, (d) καὶ τοσούτων ἐπισκόπων κρίσιν, and Juriſdiction over ſo many Biſhops as were in thoſe Precincts. Now of this matter, I confeſs I can find nothing in any Writer of the firſt three Centuries, nor any intimation that they bore that Name: But this Defect is abundantly ſupplied by the concurrent Suffrage of the Fourth and Fifth Centuries. For,

1ſt, As for St. Timothy, he is ſtiled Biſhop of Epheſus by (e) Euſebius, and that with reſpect to former Hiſtories; and the ſame he ſaith of Titus. And the Council of (f) Chalcedon reckons from Timothy to their time twenty ſeven Biſhops. The (g) Anonymous Author of his Life, in Photius, makes him Biſhop of the Metropolis of Epheſus, with ſeven Aſſiſtants; and either he, or Photius, ſay, that he was conſtituted Biſhop by St. Paul; and the (h) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions ſay the ſame, as do alſo (i) St. Jerom, and all the Ancient Commentators on his Epiſtles.

2dly, That Titus had τὴν νῆσον ὁλόκληρον, the whole Iſland of Crete committed to his care, is teſtified not only by Euſebius, but alſo by St. Jerom in his Catalogue, by St. Ambroſe, Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, in the Preface to this Epiſtle, to omit many others cited by Dr. Cave in the Life of Titus, p. 58, 59. Now to paſs my Judgment in this caſe;

1ſt, I aſſert, that if by ſaying Timothy and Titus were Biſhops, the one of Epheſus, the other of Crete, we underſtand that they took upon them thoſe Churches or Dioceſes, as their fixed and peculiar Charge, in which they were to preſide for Term of Life: I believe that Timothy and Titus were not thus Biſhops. For,

1ſt, Both Timothy and Titus were Evangeliſts, and therefore were to do the Work of an Evangeliſt: Now the Work of an Evangeliſt, ſaith (k) Euſebius, was this, to lay the Foundations of the Faith in barbarous Nations, to conſtitute them Paſtors, and having committed to them the Cultivating of thoſe new Plantations, they paſs'd on to other Countries and Nations.

2*dly, As for* Titus, he was only left at Crete to ordain Elders in every City, and to ſet in order the things that were wanting; having therefore done that Work, he had done all that was aſſign'd him in that Station: And therefore St. Paul ſends for him the very next Year to Nicopolis, Tit. 3. 12. And ſo, according to Biſhop Pearſon's Chronology, he was left at Crete only, A. D. 64. and ſent for thence, A. D. 65. and returned thither, as the Ancients conjecture, after the Death of St. Paul: For (l) they ſay, he died in the 94th Year of his Age, and was buried in Crete.

As for Timothy, St. Paul ſaith, he exhorted him to abide at Epheſus when he went into Macedonia: Now as he writes to the Church of Philippi in Macedonia, A. D. 62. and the 9th of Nero, that he hoped to be ſhortly with them, Philip. 1. 25, 26. and 2. 24. So, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, he went thither A. D. 64. and the 11th of Nero, and writ his Firſt Epiſtle to him, A. D. 65. Two Years after this, he ſends for him to Rome, 2 Tim. 4. 9, 21. and there he continued, as the Ancients conjecture, till the Martyrdom of St. Paul; after which time he muſt, as they ſuppoſe, return to Epheſus: For they tell us, that in the Reign of Domitian he was Martyr'd in that City, and lay buried there. But ſince we read not any thing in Scripture ture of their Return to either of theſe Places afterwards, and the Authorities on which this Return dependeth, are not very ancient, we cannot much rely upon them.

Prop. 2. But if by Biſhops we only underſtand Perſons who had Authority to Ordain, and to Govern the Clergy of their Province, and to exerciſe Acts of Diſcipline and Cenſure, over more than one ſingle Congregation, I believe both Timothy and Titus had this Epiſcopal Juriſdiction, and ſo might properly be ſtiled Biſhops. For,

1ſt, That the Juriſdiction of Titus extended to all the Chriſtians in the whole Iſland of Crete, is apparent from theſe Words, For this Cauſe left I thee in Crete, that thou mighteſt ſet in order the things that are wanting, and ordain Elders in every City, Tit. 1. 5. Hence is he ſaid to have received the Epiſcopal Care, τῆς ἐπὶ Κρήτης ἐκκλησιῶν, of the Churches in Crete, and to have had the whole Iſland committed to him.

And if the Church of Epheſus, committed to the Care of Timothy, did not exceed the compaß of one particular Congregation, St. Paul had very little Succeß in the great Pains he took for three whole Years to teach 'em publickly, and from Houſe to Houſe, exhorting every one of them Night and Day, Acts 20. 30, 31. Whereas St. Paul himſelf informs us, that at Epheſus, a great Door and effectual, was open'd to him, 1 Cor. 16. 8, 9. St. Luke, that all that dwelt in Aſia heard the Word of the Lord Jeſus, both Jews and Gentiles; that the Word of God prevailed and grew mightily, and that Fear fell upon them all, and the Name of the Lord Jeſus was magnified, Acts 19. 10, 17, 20. But that which puts this Matter beyond doubt, is the Obſervation of the Learned Biſhop Stillingfleet, That the Elders St. Paul ſends for to Miletus, were all of Epheſus, and to them he commits not only the Church of Epheſus, but all the Flock over which the Holy Ghoſt had made them Overſeers, i. e. all that had been Converted in Aſia, through his means, during his Abode there three Years. Irenæus indeed ſaith, he ſummon'd them from the neighbouring Cities, as well as Epheſus: But, ſaith he, St. Paul was in ſo great haſte, that he would not ſo much as go to Epheſus, nor ſend any whither but to that City; and yet thoſe to whom he committed the whole Flock, then in Aſia, came from Epheſus to Miletus: Which makes it probable, that there St. Paul had raiſed a Nurſery for the Churches thereabout; as Clemens obſerves the Apoſtles were wont to do in fruitful Soils, with a Proſpect of ſuch Churches as were to be formed, τῶν μελλόντων πιστεύειν, of thoſe that ſhould after believe: and the ſame St. Clement obſerving that they did this, δοκιμάσαντες τῷ πνεύματι, making trial of them by their Spiritual Gifts, he very probably conjectures, that the twelve Perſons, who, when he laid his Hands upon them, received the Holy Ghoſt, and ſpake with Tongues, and propheſied, Acts 19. 6, 7. being thus qualified in an extraordinary manner to be Teachers of others, might be in the number of thoſe Elders whom St. Paul charges to take heed to themſelves, and to all the Flock over which the Holy Ghoſt had made them Overſeers, v. 28.

As to the Juriſdiction belonging to them in their ſeveral Diſtricts, it is alſo manifeſt concerning Timothy, that he was ſet over the Houſe of God, 1 Tim. 3. 14, 15. That in that Houſe he was to ordain, and to lay Hands on the Elders to be choſen to that Office, Chap. 5. 22. to chuſe ſuch to the Epiſcopal Office, or to the Office of Elders, who were duly qualified for that Work, Chap. 3. 2, 7. to admit and conſecrate others to the Office of Deacons, v. 8. to take Widows into the number of Deaconeſſes, under ſuch Qualifications, and to refuſe others, Chap. 5. 9, 11. to receive Accuſations againſt the Elders, chap. 5. 19. and to rebuke them, v. 20. Which plainly ſhews there was a Right of judging and cenſuring Offenders in Timothy, by virtue of his Office. He had Power alſo to order the Maintenance of the Elders, v. 17. to take care that the Publick Offices of Divine Worſhip were performed regularly, chap. 2. 1, 8. to charge others not to teach any other Doctrine than what they had received, chap. 1. 3. to command and teach with Authority, chap. 4. 11. and not to ſuffer others to deſpiſe his Authority, v. 12. And all theſe things ſeem plainly to belong to the Truſt committed to him, chap. 6. 20.

And as for Titus, 'tis certain he was left in Crete by St. Paul, to ſet in order the things which were wanting, chap. 1. 5. and in order to this end, to inſpect the Qualifications of them who were to be admitted to the Epiſcopal Office, v. 7. and ſo to ordain Elders in every City. And he was alſo to admoniſh and reject Hereticks, chap. 3. 10.

Now I confeß, that theſe two Inſtances, abſolutely taken, afford us no convincing Arguments for a ſetled Dioceſan Epiſcopacy, becauſe there is nothing which proves they did, or were to exerciſe theſe Acts of Government, rather as Biſhops than Evangeliſts; for it is certain that the Order of Evangeliſts was ſuperior to that of Governments, and ſo included an Authority to do thoſe Acts of Government which belonged to Biſhops. Accordingly, in thoſe places where theſe Evangeliſts preached, they did (m) ποιμένας καθιστάναι, conſtitute Paſtors, and then went on to preach in other places. Yet theſe things evidently follow hence;

(m) Euſeb. Eccl. Hiſt. l. 3. c. 37.

1. That ſuch Superiority over other Paſtors, cannot be contrary to the Goſpel Rule; or that the Nature of Church Government doth not imply an Equality among the Governors of it: And that the Apoſtles, if they pleaſed, might have fixed Perſons in any other Churches, to exerciſe theſe Acts of Eccleſiaſtical Authority and Juriſdiction, as well as St. Paul placed theſe two Perſons, the one at Epheſus, the other at Crete, for theſe Ends.

2. That it is not repugnant to the Conſtitutions of Churches in the Apoſtolical Times, for Men to have Juriſdiction over more than one particular Congregation; for ſuch a Power Titus had over all Crete, and Timothy over many Elders: Which, had it been contrary to the Nature of Church-Government, would not have been permitted, and much leſs ordained, by St. Paul, in any of the Churches planted by him.

3. Hence alſo it appears, that the Apoſtolical Power of governing Churches, and ordaining Elders in them; was not ſo limited to the Perſons of the Apoſtles, but that it might be communicated to others whom the Apoſtles would intruſt with it; and therefore might be continued in the Church after their Deceaſe: And if it be granted, that ſuch an Apoſtolical Power of governing Churches, might be committed to others, and was actually ſo by the Apoſtles; it remains only to enquire, Whether, upon their Remove, or Departure; they did entruſt any Perſons in ſuch a manner, as it is certain, from Scripture, St. Paul did Timothy, as to the Churches of Aſia: Of which we ſhall diſcourſe hereafter.

4. From theſe words, The things which thou haſt heard from me, confirm'd by many Witneſſes, commit thou to faithful Men, who ſhall be able to teach others alſo; it may be fairly argued, that the Apoſtle here appoints St. Timothy to (n) conſtitute a Succeſſion of Men veſted with Eccleſiaſtical Authority, to teach them, and command others to obſerve them. And from thoſe words to Titus, I left thee in Crete, to ordain Elders, κατὰ πόλιν, ὡς ἐγώ σοι διεταξάμην, in every City, as I ordered thee, Tit. 1. 5. For a Biſhop muſt be blameleſs, as the Steward of God, v. 7. 'Tis alſo fairly gather'd, that a Succeſſion of Biſhops was to be conſtituted in every City, as Perſons that were to take care of the Church of God there, 1 Tim. 3. 5. And my Conjecture is, That St. Paul, after his Liberty from his firſt Bonds, having travel'd into Spain and Judea, and from thence to Macedonia, began to ſettle this Church-Government in all the Churches where they before were wanting; that ſo, after his Death, they might be all provided with them: That, upon this Account, Titus was ſent by him to Crete, chap. 1. 5. and afterwards to Dalmatia, 2 Tim. 4. 11. And that the Firſt Epiſtle to Timothy was not writ to him to require him to ſtay at Epheſus, where Biſhops had been ſetled long before; but to inſtruct him how to behave himſelf in the Church of God in general, chap. 3. 15. doing the Office of an Evangeliſt, by Ordaining Church-Governors where he found them wanting, and ordering other Matters, as he ſaw them needful, in any of thoſe Places to which he reſorted. But then, if we take in the Suffrage of Antiquity, and conſult them who were neareſt to the Fountain of Church-Government, we ſhall find ſtill greater Reaſon to believe that it was διάταξις Ἀποστολική, an Apoſtolical Ordinance, to appoint Biſhops with the chief Juriſdiction over Cities: For we find plainly, by the fore-mentioned Inſtances, that the Apoſtles had this Power in themſelves, and did convey it to ſome others; but whether they did this univerſally, and with a deſign to continue this Order, being an Enquiry about Matter of Fact, muſt be prov'd by the beſt means we can uſe in a Matter of Fact of ſo great Antiquity. Now there can be no ſtronger Proof of ſuch a Matter of Fact, than the general Senſe, and concurrent Practice of the Chriſtian Church in the Ages next ſucceeding the Apoſtles. And this general Senſe of the Chriſtian Church may be demonſtrated;

1. From undoubted Teſtimonies affording a clear Evidence of this Succeſſion in the moſt conſpicuous Churches. And as for the undoubted Teſtimonies of this Succeſſion in the moſt conſpicuous Churches, I ſhall firſt appeal, ſaith the learned Biſhop of Worceſter, to Irenæus and Tertullian, as leaſt liable to Exception. The former not only mentions a Succeſſion of Perſons to the Apoſtles; but he ſaith, (o) The Apoſtles committed the Care of the Churches to them, and left them to ſucceed in their Places. Which implies, that as the Apoſtles had themſelves the Care of Miniſtring to the Church, and the Power of Governing, and Preſiding over it; ſo they committed it to the Biſhops whom they choſe to ſucceed them. Tertullian not only mentions them in general who ſucceeded the (p)

Add to this, thoſe words of Mr. Dodwel, to thoſe who deny'd the Preſidency of Biſhops over the Church in thoſe Ages: What can they ſay to the Angels in the Revelations? What, to the Teſtimony of Irenæus, concerning St. Polycarp? What to the Teſtimony of (t) Clemens Alexandrinus, who mentions Biſhops among other Officers of the Church, ſetled by St. John? What to the Teſtimony of (u) Hegeſippus, who makes the Kinſmen of our Saviour, ἡγήσασθαι τῶν ἐκκλησιῶν, to have been Governors of the Churches, from Domitian's Time to that of Trajan? What to thoſe who mention (x) St. James, as made Biſhop of Jeruſalem by the Apoſtles themſelves? What of the Seven Polycrates mentions as Biſhops in his own See, before himſelf? Nay, What to all thoſe Catalogues of Biſhops ſucceeding in the Four Patriarchal Sees; particularly the Fifteen in Jeruſalem, from St. James, to the Deſtruction of the Jews under Hadrian? Nay, What to the Succeſſion of all the Apoſtolical Sees, to which the Fathers of the Second Century do ſo ſolemnly appeal, to prove their own Doctrine Apoſtolical, in oppoſition to the contrary Pretences of the Hereticks; Can they think them all to have been either wilful Forgeries, or general Miſtakes, in a Matter of Fact ſo near their own Time, without ſo much as any likely Ground in Hiſtory? How will they then aſſure us, that they were not miſtaſten, in delivering to us the Books of the Apoſtles, which were not more notorious to them than their Government.

2. This general Senſe of the Church, may be demonſtrated, from the Unreaſonableneſs of the Suppoſition, That the Form of Government left to the Churches by the Apoſtles, ſhould be ſo quickly changed, as they ſuppoſe, who do conceive that the Apoſtles left no Governors ſuperiour to Presbyters, or Paſtors of one Congregation, in the Church: For it is clearly proved, by the learned Biſhop of Cheſter, that the Writers of the Second Century diſtinctly mention'd the ſeveral Orders of Biſhops, and their inferiour Presbyters, in the ſame Church; and thereby give us reaſon to conclude, that Diſparity was ſetled in that Age, and therefore it is very improbable it ſhould be otherwiſe in the preceding Age of the Apoſtles; for that in the Frame and Subſtance of the Eſtabliſh'd Government of the Church, a thing always in Uſe and Practice, there ſhould be ſo ſudden a Change, ſo univerſal a Corruption, in ſo ſhort a Time: And that all Chriſtians, all the Degraded Clergy, without the leaſt Degree of Oppoſition that we meet with, or we read of, ſhould conſpire in, or conſent to this Innovation, and Corruption, is a thing morally impoſſible: For, as Tertullian argues in a like Caſe, (y) What all Chriſtian Churches did ſo early agree in practiſing uniformly, came not by Error, but by Tradition. The Improbability of this ſudden and general Innovation, will be further evident, if we conſider;

1. The Subjects of this Conſtitution, viz. the Perſons appointed by the Apoſtles, or Apoſtolical Men, to govern and preſide in every Church; they being conſtant Objects of every Perſon's Common Senſe, ſeen in every Aſſembly, employed in every Eccleſiaſtical Affair, publick or private, in which Chriſtians ſick or well, living or dying, were concern'd. Now in a Matter of this kind, which was the daily Object of the Senſes of all Chriſtians, we cannot eaſily conceive how they could poſſibly miſtake, and not perceive that ſuch a Change was made, if really it was done.

Again, We ſhall be more convinc'd, that this was not perform'd by Conſpiracy, or by a joint Conſent of Chriſtians, to make this Alteration in that Form of Government which the Apoſtles had eſtabliſhed, if we conſider,

1. The general Agreement of all Churches in this Matter; ſince not one ſingle Church can be produced, in which this Government did not obtain. For how can we imagine, that in a Time when no General Council could meet to appoint it, and when there were no Chriſtian Princes to ſet it forward on a Political Account; and when, by reaſon of the Heat of Perſecution, and the Diſtance of Chriſtian Churches, there was ſo little Commerce and Intercourſe between them, from the Churches of Armenia and Perſia in the Eaſt, to thoſe of Spain in the Weſt; from the African Churches in the South, to our Britiſh Churches in the North; this Conſtitution ſhould univerſally be received, and ſubmitted to, if it had not been eſtabliſh'd by the Apoſtles, or the firſt Founders of thoſe Churches?

2. If we conſider how much it did concern all Churches, that ſuch an Innovation ſhould not obtain amongſt them, and tamely be ſubmitted to; for all the People were obliged to know their Governors to which they were by Scripture oblig'd to ſubmit, and ſo they could not yield to this Innovation, without the greateſt Danger to their Souls: The Presbyters, if they had by the Apoſtles been advanced to the higheſt Power, would not ſo weakly have ſubmitted to an Authority uſurp'd over them; but either out of a juſt Zeal to aſſert their Freedom, or out of Indignation at the Inſolence of the Uſurping Biſhops, or out of that Unwillingneſs to ſubmit and obey, which is natural to all Men, would have aſſerted their Equality.

3. This will be further evident, if we conſider, that even the Perſons then exalted could have no Motive or Temptation to accept of this Advancement; for Men do not eaſily deſire a Change, but upon proſpect of ſome Eaſe, or Temporal Advantage; much leſs when they perceive the Change is like to add to their Trouble, and encreaſe their Danger. Now this was really the Caſe of the firſt Chriſtian Biſhops, they being ſtill expoſed to the ſharpeſt Fury of their Perſecutors, and commonly begun with firſt, when any Storm was rais'd againſt the Church: Their Labours alſo were very great; for the Care of the Flock lay on them, and they were unweary'd in the Diſcharge of the Paſtoral Care. Can we then reaſonably think, that they could be ſo fond of ſo much Toil, and Peril, as to violate the Inſtitution of the Bleſſed Jeſus, or his Apoſtles, to obtain it?

CHAP. I.

a Verſe 1. PAUL, [a] a Servant of God, and an Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, b [b] according to [ κτ̀, for the Promotion of ] the Faith of God's Elect, and the acknow-c ledging of [c] the Truth, which is after Godlineſs.

d 2. [d] In [ ἐπ', with that ] hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lye, [hath] promiſed before the World began, [ i. e. from the Beginning of Ages. ]

3. But hath in due time manifeſted ἐφανέρωσε δὲ καιροῖς ἰδίοις, and hath in its proper Seaſon manifeſted this ] his Word [ of Promiſe, ] through preaching [ of it to the Gentiles ; ] which [ Office ] is committed to me according to the Commandment of God our Saviour.

4. [ I Paul write this ] to [ thee, O ] Titus, mine own Son after the common Faith, [ wiſhing to thee ] Grace, Mercy, and Peace from God the Father, and [ from ] the Lord Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour.

5. [ Advertiſing thee that ] For this cauſe left I thee in Crete, that thou ſhould'ſt ſet in order the things that [as yet] are wanting, e and ordain [e] Elders in every City, as I had appointed thee.

f 6. If any be blameleſs, [f] the Husband of one Wife, [neither guilty of Polygamy, nor married again after divorce from his former Wife ; ſee Note on 1 Tim. 3. 2. ] having faithful Children, not accuſed of riot, or unruly.

7. [g] For a Biſhop muſt be blameleſs, as [being ] the Steward of God, not ſelf-will'd ; not ſoon angry, not given to wine, no ſtriker, not given to filthy lucre ;

8. [h] But a lover of hoſpitality, a lover of h
good Men, [or things,] ſober, [or prudent,] juſt, holy, temperate.

9. Holding faſt the faithful Word, as he hath been taught, [ κτ̀ τὴν διδαχὴν, according to the Doctrine of Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, ] that he may be able, by ſound Doctrine, [i] both to i exhort, [ both to admoniſh, or inſtruct in ſound Doctrine, ] and to convince the Gain-ſayer.

10. For there are many unruly [k] and vain- k talkers [ in Crete, ] and Deceivers [ of Mens Minds, ] [l] eſpecially thoſe of the Circum- l ciſion :

11. Whoſe mouths muſt be ſtopped, who ſubvert whole houſes, teaching things which they ought not [ to teach, ] for filthy lucre's ſake.

12. One of themſelves, [even Epimenides]
[m] a Prophet of their own, ſaid, The Cretians m are always lyars, evil beaſts, [n] ſlow-bellies, n
[ i. e. Gluttons. ]

13. This witneſs is true [ of them who inhabit Crete, whether Natives or Jews : ] wherefore, [o] rebuke them ſharply, ] ἔλεγχε o αὐτοὺς ἀποτόμως, convince them powerfully] that they be found in the Faith ;

15. Not giving heed [p] to Jewiſh Fables, p and Commandments of Men, who turn from the Faith.

15. [ For whatſoever they may ſay or think, concerning unclean Meats, Perſons, or Things ; ] To the pure, [ the Gentile, whoſe heart is purified by Faith, ] all things are pure [in their uſe : ] but unto them that [ though they count themſelves the only pure Perſons ] are defiled, and unbelieving, is nothing [truly] pure ; but even their Mind and Conſcience is defiled, [and by that their Actions.]

q 16. [q] They profeſs that they know God [above others, Rom. 2. 17.] but in works they [practically] deny him, being abominable [now to him, of whom they were once beloved,] and diſobedient, and to every good work reprobate.

Annotations on Chap. I.

Verſe 1. Δοῦλος Θεοῦ, A Servant of God.] He writes not this to confirm his Authority to Titus, who doubted not at all of it; but to confirm it to others with whom he did converſe, or to whom this Epiſtle might come; it being of uſe not only to direct Titus then, but all Biſhops and Rulers of the Church for ever.

b Ibid. Κατὰ πίστιν, For the promotion of the Faith of God's Elect;] I. e. The Faith of Chriſtians in the general, they being all γένος ἐκλεκτόν, an elect Generation, 1 Pet. 2. 9. and St. Paul being an Apoſtle, in reference to them all, to them to whom he was a Savour of Death, as well as to them to whom he was a Savour of Life, 2 Cor. 2. 16.

c Ibid. Τῆς κατ' εὐσέβειαν ἀληθείας, The Truth which is after Godlineſs;] The Myſtery of Godlineſs; 1 Tim. 3. 16. The Doctrine which is after Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 3. This is therefore only neceſſary to be believed, ſo far as that Belief is neceſſary to an Holy Life. To confirm this Inference, let theſe following Arguments be conſidered,

1ſt, That, which hath the Promiſe of this Life, and that which is to come, muſt be ſufficient to ſecure us of the Enjoyment of the Life to come; but Godlineſs, ſaith the Apoſtle, hath the Promiſe of this Life, and that which is to come, 1 Tim. 4. 18. Ergo. Again, that which hath Contentment is great Gain, muſt ſure avail us to Salvation, ſeeing without Salvation we can gain nothing which is truly Good, but Godlineſs with Contentment is great Gain, 1 Tim. 6. 6. Ergo,

2dly, If this be the great End, for which ἡ χάρις τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡ σωτήριος the ſaving Grace of God hath appear'd to us, viz. to teach us that denying all Ungodlineſs, and worldly Luſts, we ſhould live Soberly, Righteouſly, and Godly in this preſent World; and if by doing ſo, we may expect the bleſſed Hope, and glorious Appearance of our Lord with Comfort, then muſt this Holineſs adminiſter to us an Aſſurance of our future Happineſs: Now all this is the expreſs ſaying of St. Paul, Tit. 2. 11, 12, 14. Ergo.

3dly, By what we do entirely attain the End for which our Saviour died, or ſuffer'd on the Croſs, by that we muſt attain Aſſurance of the Benefits of his Death, and Paſſion, viz. Remiſſion of Sins, Juſtification, and Salvation, but this we do by dying to Sin, and living unto Righteouſneſs; that is, by being Holy in our Lives and Converſations: For Chriſt bore our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, that we being dead to Sin, might live to Righteouſneſs, 1 Pet. 2. 24. And to as many as are thus conformed to his Death, by dying unto Sin, he hath promiſed that they ſhall be conformed to him in Likeneſs of his Reſurrection, Rom. 8. 11. Faith therefore can be no farther neceſſary, than it is requiſite to engage us to dye unto Sin, and to live to Righteouſneſs.

4thly, This will be farther evident even from the Nature of true Holineſs; for ſeeing that conſiſteth in a Participation of the Divine Nature, 2 Pet. 1. 4. In putting on the New Man, which is created after God in Righteouſneſs and true Holineſs, Eph. 4. 24. in being Holy in all manner of Converſation, as he that has called us is Holy, 1 Pet. 6. 11. it plainly follows, either that they who live to God, who are like him in Holineſs, who have the Image of God inſtamped upon them, and who are made partakers of the Divine Nature, may notwithſtanding periſh everlaſtingly, or that true Holineſs may render us ſecure of Happineſs.

5thly, It ſeems evident, that a good, and a wiſe God cannot reveal Things only to ſtuff our Heads with Notions, when they have no Influence upon our Hearts to make us better, ſince then to diſbelieve them would be pernicious, and yet the believing them would do us no good: And a wiſe God muſt require this Faith to no End, his Deſign in requiring us to believe in Jeſus Chriſt, being this, that believing we may have Life thro' his Name, John 20. 31. and the very End of our Faith is the Salvation of our Souls, 1 Pet. 1. 9. He therefore can require us to believe nothing but what hath a real Tendency to the Obtainment of that Life, and that Salvation which is the End of our whole Faith.

Ver. 2, 3. Note, By comparing theſe two d Verſes with thoſe Words in Timothy, He hath ſaved us, and called us with an holy Calling; not according to our Works, but according to his own Purpoſe, and Grace, which was given us in Chriſt Jeſus, πρὸ χρόνων αἰωνίων, before the World began; but is now made manifeſt by the appearing of our Saviour Chriſt, who hath aboliſhed Death, and hath brought Life and Immortality to light through the Goſpel: Whereunto I am appointed a Preacher, and an Apoſtle, and a Teacher of the Gentiles, 2 Tim. 1. 9, 10, 11. I ſay, from theſe Words compared together, it may be inferr'd,

1ſt, That the Promiſe of Eternal Life, mention'd in both places, is the Promiſe of calling thoſe Gentiles, to whom St. Paul was an Apoſtle, to that Faith which had the Promiſe of Eternal Life annexed to it: For this Promiſe God is ſaid to have performed by St. Paul's preaching this Word of Life to the Gentiles.

2*dly*, That this Hope of Eternal Life was not made manifeſt till the appearing of our Saviour, and the Preaching of his Goſpel to the World; he having brought Life and Immortality to light by the Goſpel, 2 Tim. 1. 10. and manifeſted the Hope of it by the Preaching of the Word of Faith.

3*dly*, Seeing no ſuch Promiſe could be made to Men, no ſuch Grace given to them, before there were any Men in the World, theſe Words, πρὸ χρόνων αἰωνίων, cannot properly be rendered, before the World began; but as Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, and Oecumenius render them, ἄνωθεν ἐξ ἀρχῆς, of old Time, or from the beginning. So the Revelation of the Calling of the Gentiles is ſtiled, the Revelation of the Myſtery, χρόνοις αἰωνίοις σεσιγημένου, kept ſecret from Men ſince the World began, Rom. 16. 25. but now manifeſted by the Scriptures of the Prophets. This Promiſe therefore was contained in the Writings of the Prophets, and either muſt relate to the Promiſe made to Adam immediately after the Fall, that the Seed of the Woman ſhould break the Serpent's Head, which was a Promiſe made from the beginning, and πρὸ χρόνων αἰωνίων, before any of the three Ages of the World were paſs'd; or to the Promiſe made to Abraham, that in his Seed, ſhould all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed; which was a Promiſe made a long time ago, and before the firſt Age of the World expired. So Zacharias ſpeaks of the Promiſe of the Meſſias, made διὰ τῶν ἀπ' αἰῶνος προφητῶν, by the holy Prophets from the beginning, Luke 1. 70. And Jeruſalem is mention'd as an Apoſtatizing City, ἀφ' ἡμερῶν αἰῶνος, from the Days of old, Ezr. 4. 15, 19. and ἀπ' αἰῶνος, of old, Eſdr. 2. 23, 26. If it refer to the Promiſe or Declaration made to Adam, that the Seed of the Woman ſhould bruiſe the Serpent's Head, that muſt be a Declaration that the Meſſiah ſhould exempt us from that Mortality the Serpent had brought upon the Seed of Adam, and conſequently a Promiſe that he ſhould procure for us an happy Reſurrection to Eternal Life: If we refer it to the Promiſe made to Abraham, In thee ſhall all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed, we, by that Bleſſing, being made the adopted Sons of God, and Heirs according to the Promiſe, Gal. 3. 29. Muſt have a Title by it to the Redemption of our Bodies, and muſt become Sons of the Reſurrection to Eternal Life, and by it receiving the Promiſe of that Spirit, which is the Earneſt of that Inheritance, Gal. 3. 14. muſt thereby be aſſured of it.

Ver. 5. Πρεσβυτέρους.] Hence it appears that at the firſt Converſion of the Cretians to the Faith, they had no Biſhops or Presbyters ſet over them, but had all their Church-Offices performed by Men aſſiſted by that Holy Spirit which God ſhed on them abundantly, through Faith in Chriſt, chap. 3. 6. though out of theſe Biſhops and Deacons uſually were choſen; but then it is obſervable that things were then wanting; or, that this was a Deficiency in that Church. e

Ver. 6. Μιᾶς γυναικὸς ἀνήρ, The Husband of one Wife.] Here Chryſoſtom, Oecumenius, and Theophylact, have well obſerv'd againſt the Hereticks and Papiſts, that Marriage is ſo Honourable, that any Clergy man may aſcend to the Epiſcopal Throne with it, ὥστε μετ' αὐτοῦ καὶ ἐπὶ τὸν ἅγιον θρόνον δύνασθαι ἀναβαίνειν, Chryſoſt. Theoph. Yea, that he may do the Office of a Biſhop, and retain the Nuptial Bed, ὡς δυναμένου καὶ μετὰ γάμου ἐπισκοπῆς προνοεῖν τινός. Oecum. f

To ſhew the Antiquity of that Interpretation of thoſe Words, The Husband of one Wife, which I incline to, St. Jerome ſaith, that Quidam de hoc loco ita ſentiunt, Judaicæ, inquiunt conſuetudinis fuit vel binas uxores habere, vel plures, quod etiam in veteri lege de Abraham, & Jacob, legimus, & hoc nunc volunt eſſe præceptum, ne is qui Epiſcopus eſt eligendus, uno tempore duas pariter habeat uxores. He alſo ſeems to ſhew his Diſlike of the other Opinion in theſe Words, Multi ſuperſtitioſius magis quàm veriùs, etiam eos, qui cùm Gentiles fuerint, & unam uxorem habuerint, quâ amiſſâ poſt baptiſmum Chriſti alteram duxerint, putant in Sacerdotio non eligendos.

Ver. 7. Ἀνέγκλητον εἶναι, I left thee in Crete to ordain Elders, if any be blameleſs; for a Biſhop muſt be blameleſs.] Hence, ſay the Greek and Latin Commentators, it is manifeſt that the ſame Perſon is called a Presbyter in the 5th, and a Biſhop in the 7th Verſe, Καὶ ἐντεῦθεν δῆλον ὡς τοὺς πρεσβυτέρους, ἐπισκόπους ὠνόμαζον, εἰρηκὼς γὰρ ἵνα καταστήσῃς κατὰ πόλιν πρεσβυτέρους ἐπήγαγε, δεῖ γὰρ ἐπίσκοπον ἀνέγκλητον εἶναι, ἐν ἑκάστῃ δὲ πόλει οὐκ ἐπισκόπους, ἀλλὰ πρεσβυτέρους ἔθος εἶναι πολλούς. Theodoret. When he had ſaid, I left thee in Crete, that thou mightest ordain Presbyters in every City, (a) Poſtea intulit, Oportet enim Epiſcopum ſine Crimine eſſe, tanquam Dei diſpenſatorem, idem eſt ergo Presbyter qui Epiſcopus; He after makes this Inference, For a Biſhop muſt be blameleſs; the Biſhop therefore, and Presbyter is here the ſame. The Reverend and Learned Biſhop Pearſon proves from St. Clemens of Alexandria, Tertullian, and Origen, that in their Judgment the Apoſtle ſpeaks of Presbyters properly ſo called; as doth alſo Theodoret, from this Argument, That the Apoſtle requires Preſ- g byters in the plural to be ordain'd in every City, whereas there was to be only one ſingle Biſhop in a City. But I find no Anſwer to the Argument, that the ſame Perſon is a Presbyter in the 5th, who is a Biſhop in the 7th Verſe; and therefore I ſtill incline to the Opinion of Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, St. Jerom, Oecumenius and Theophylact, that the Names were then common.

Ver. 7.] A Biſhop muſt be blameleſs.] St. Jerome underſtanding this of Presbyters, ſpeaks to the Biſhops thus; Audiant Epiſcopi, qui habent conſtituendi Presbyteros per urbes ſingulas poteſtatem, ſub quali lege Eccleſiaſticæ conſtitutionis ordo teneatur: And then proceeds thus; At nunc cernimus plurimos hanc rem beneficium facere, ut non quærant eos qui poſſunt Eccleſiæ plus prodeſſe & in Eccleſiâ erigere columnas, ſed quos vel ipſi amant, vel quorum obſequiis ſunt deliniti, vel pro quibus majorum quiſquam rogaverit, & ut deteriora taceam, qui ut clerici fierent muneribus impetrarunt.

h Ver. 8. Φιλόξενον, A Lover of Hoſpitality.] Not in the Modern Senſe of keeping Hoſpitality, that is, a great Table for Perſons of Quality to come to; but, ſay St. Chryſoſtom and Theophylact, τὰ αὐτοῦ τοῖς ξένοις προϊέμενος καὶ τοῖς δεομένοις, one ſo far from filthy Lucre, that he ſpends what he has upon the Stranger and the Poor. Σώφρονα οὐ τὸν νηστεύοντα εἶπεν ἐνταῦθα, ἀλλὰ τὸν πάθους κρατοῦντα, He ſaith Sober, i. e. not one that is much in Faſting, but an exact Governour of his Paſſions, his Tongue, Hands, and Eyes.

i Ver. 9. Παρακαλεῖν.] I. e. Νουθετεῖν, Theoph. See Rom. 12. 8. Τὸ δὲ μάλιστα χαρακτηρίζον τὸν Ἐπίσκοπον, τὸ διδάσκειν ἐστίν, the chief Character of a Biſhop is τὸ διδασκαλικόν, his ability to teach, ſay Chryſoſtom and Theophylact.

k Ver. 10. Ματαιολόγοι, vain Talkers.] That the Jews were ματαιολόγοι, vain Talkers, and ἑτεροδιδασκαλοῦντες, Teachers of things which they ought not, we learn, 1 Tim. 1. 3, 4, 6. and that they were deſirous of filthy Lucre, robbing and devouring thoſe they taught, ſee 2 Cor. 11. 20. of the Covetouſneſs of the Phariſees, the great Sticklers for the neceſſity of Circumciſion, and of the Obſervation of the Law of Moſes by all Chriſtians, Acts 15. 5. Our Saviour gives a large account, Matth. 23. 14, 25. Luke 16. 14. Their Mouths muſt be ſtopp'd, not with force, but with Conviction, v. 9. by ſuch Strength of Conviction, ſay the Fathers, as will not ſuffer them to ſpeak any thing by way of Anſwer, or gainſaying the Truth.

Ver. 11. Μάλιστα δὲ οἱ ἐκ περιτομῆς, Eſpecially they of the Circumciſion.] He does not ſay, l eſpecially thoſe Gentiles or Samaritans, who are Advocates for the Obſervation of the Jewiſh Law, but οἱ ἐκ περιτομῆς, they of the Circumciſion, which, throughout the New Teſtament, ſignifies the Jews; Men of that Nation and Religion; ſo, Acts 10. 45. And οἱ ἐκ περιτομῆς, the Jews which came with Peter were amazed, when they ſaw the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt poured out upon the Gentiles, Acts 11. 2. οἱ ἐκ περιτομῆς, the Jews contended with Peter, ſaying, Thou wenteſt in to Men uncircumciſed, and didſt eat with them. See Rom. 4. 12. and 15. 8. Gal. 2. 7, 8, 9. Epheſ. 2. 11. Col. 4. 11. Moreover, the Gnoſticks and Simonians were ſo far from being Advocates for the Obſervation of the Jewiſh Law, that it was one part of their Doctrine, (b) νόμῳ καὶ προφήταις μὴ χρῆσθαι, that no man ſhould obſerve the Law or the Prophets. See Note on 1 Tim. 1, 7. They therefore cannot be the Men here intended.

Ver. 12. Προφήτης, A Prophet of their m own.] Theodoret expreſly ſays, this Poet was Callimachus; Oecumenius, and Theophylact cite the Words of Callimachus, and ſo doth Chryſoſtom, though he confeſſes the Poet was Epimenides. Callimachus it could not be, for he was no Cretian, but a Cyrenian, nor hath he this whole Verſe, but only the beginning of it, Κρῆτες ἀεὶ ψεῦσται, which, ſaith St. Jerome, he borrow'd from Epimenides; who by (c) Plato is ſtiled ἀνὴρ θεῖος, by (d) Diodorus Siculus, ὁ θεόλογος, the Divine; by (e) Diogenes Laertius, θεοφιλέστατος, and γνωστικότατος, one skilful in Divination; by (f) Cicero, futura præſentiens, & vaticinans per furorem, one that foretold things future by Extaſy; by (g) Plutarch, σοφὸς περὶ τὰ θεῖα, a wiſe Man concerning Divine Things; by (h) Apuleius, Fatidicus, a Sooth-ſayer; by (i) Maximus Tyrius, δεινὸς τὰ θεῖα, one skill'd in Divine Things; by Dion Pruſienſis, and the Apoſtle here, one of their Prophets.

without adding to it the neceſſity of obſerving the Jewiſh Law or Rites, by the Gentiles.

p Ver. 14. Ἰουδαϊκοῖς μύθοις.] By Jewiſh Fables, ſome here underſtand the Gnoſticks Cabbaliſtical Interpretations of the Old Teſtament; But (1*ſt*,) if we look into Irenæus, we ſhall find their ſenſeleſs Interpretations chiefly related to the New Teſtament. Their 30 Æones they gathered from the 30 Years our Saviour ſpent in Silence, before he preached, and from the Parable of thoſe who wrought in the Vineyard, and from St. Paul; from whom he ſhews, l. 1. c. 1. p. 16, 18. they gather'd moſt of their wild Fancies, and ſo they muſt in time be after the writing of his Epiſtles. (2*dly*,) It does not appear that the Cabbaliſtical Jews had any ſuch Interpretations as favour'd the mad Doctrine of the Gnoſticks. The Fathers therefore generally interpret theſe Words of the vain Traditions of the Jews, eſpecially concerning Meats, and other things, to be abſtained from as unclean, which our Lord alſo ſtiles the Doctrines of Men, Matth. 15. 9. and of the Teachers of them, St. Paul in his Epiſtle to Timothy, ſaith, that they were turned from the Faith, 1 Tim. 1. 5, 6. And this, ſaith Oecumenius, is evident from the enſuing Words.

Ver. 15. To the Clean all things are Clean.] Here, ſaith Jerom; Conſiderandum ne iſta tractantes, occaſionem illi Hæreſi demus, quæ juxta Apocalypſin, & ipſum quoque Apoſtolum Paulum ſcribentem ad Corinthios, putant de Idolothytis eſſe veſcendum, quia omnia munda ſunt mundis.

q Ver. 16. It is the Opinion of all the Ancient Commentators upon the place, That the Apoſtle ſpeaks this adverſus Judæos, againſt the Jews, nor is there any thing ſaid in theſe two Verſes, which may not be applied to them. For,

1*ſt*, We have obſerved already how the Scripture gives thoſe very Names to the unbelieving Jews, which they were wont to give unto the Gentiles, ſtiling them Dogs, Philip. 3. 2. as they ſtiled the Gentiles; and Veſſels of Wrath, Rom. 9. 22. 1 Theſſ. 2. 16. who thought themſelves the only Veſſels of Mercy; and here defiled, who counted themſelves the only pure Servants of God, Neh. 2. 20.

2*dly*, Of their Profeſſion to know God, when in Works they deny'd him, the Apoſtle gives a large account, Rom. 2. from v. 17. to v. 25. and again, chap. 3. from v. 10. to v. 19. That they were abominable in the ſight of God, our Lord not only ſaith of the Phariſees, Luke 16. 15. but St. Paul of the Jews in general, declaring that they pleaſed not God; yea, they were ſo diſpleaſing to him, that Wrath was come upon them to the uttermoſt, 1 Theſſ. 2. 15, 16. Of their Diſobedience to the Law, we read in the fore-cited Places of the Romans, and of their evil Works, Phil. 3. 2. 2 Cor. 11. 13. 15. And laſtly, that a defiled Mind and Conſcience polluted all their Actions, even thoſe that were done according to the Will and the Command of God. ## CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. BUT [howſoever they live and teach] ſpeak thou the things which become ſound doctrine.

a 2. [To wit,] That the [a] aged men be ſober, grave, temperate, ſound in faith, [ſincere] in charity, and [conſtant in] patience.

b 3. The [b] aged women likewiſe, that they be in behaviour, [in Habit and Geſture,] as becometh holineſs, not falſe accuſers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things, [of Piety, Charity, Chaſtity, to thoſe with whom they do converſe.]

4. That they may teach the young women to be ſober, to love their huſbands, to love their children.

5. To be diſcreet, chaſte, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own huſbands, that the Word of God be not blaſphemed, [by reaſon of their Crimes.]

3. Young men likewiſe exhort to be ſober-minded, [Gr. σωφρονεῖν, to govern not only their Concupiſcible, but their Iraſcible Paſſions.]

7. In all things ſhewing thy ſelf a pattern of good works, in doctrine ſhewing uncorruptneſs, gravity, [c] ſincerity; c d 8. [d] Sound ſpeech that cannot be condemned, that he that is of the contrary part [whether Jew or Gentile,] may be aſhamed [of their oppoſition to you] having no evil thing to ſay of you.

9. Exhort ſervants to be obedient to their own maſters, and to pleaſe them well in all [lawful] things, [e] not anſwering again. e

10. Not purloining [or filching from their Maſters,] but ſhewing all good fidelity, that they may adorn the Doctrine of God our Saviour in all things [belonging to their ſtation.]

11. For the grace of God that bringeth ſalvation, hath appeared to all men, [as well Servants as Maſters, yea to Men of all Nations;]

f 12. [f] Teaching us, that denying [all] ungodlineſs, and worldly luſts, we ſhould live ſoberly, righteouſly, and godly in this preſent world.

13. Looking for that bleſſed hope, and the g the glorious appearance of the [g] great God, and our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

14. Who gave himſelf for us, that he h might [h] redeem us from all iniquity, and [ſo
i might] purify to himſelf [i] a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

15. Theſe things ſpeak, and exhort, and rebuke [the Oppoſers of this Doctrine] with all Authority: Let no man deſpiſe thee, [but uſe the Cenſures of the Church, and deliver up to Satan thoſe Jews who gainſay this Doctrine.]

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 2. Πρεσβύτας, The aged.] See the Note on Philemon 9. So the Word ſignifies in all the other Places of the New Teſtament where it is found; ſo ἐγὼ γάρ εἰμι ϖρεσβύτης, I am aged, ſaith Zacharias, Luke 1. 18. and Παῦλος ϖρεσβύτης, is Paul the aged, Philem. 9. And in this Senſe the true St. Jerome, and all the Greek Commentators on the Place, expound it. The Reverend Dr. Hammond thinks it here ſignifies Church-Officers, and in particular the Deacons, mention'd by Timothy, after the Biſhops, 1 Tim. 3. But of five Qualifications there required of the Deacons, v. 8. the Apoſtle here mentions only one, that of Gravity; nor is it neceſſary that theſe ϖρεσβύται ſhould be Church-Officers, becauſe the Apoſtle here enumerates their Qualifications: For as St. Jerome on the place obſerves, he reckons up the Qualifications of the younger Women, v. 4, 5. and of the younger Men, v. 6. and of the Servants, v. 9, 10. But hence it will not follow that they were Church-Officers. Nor, 2*dly*, Becauſe Titus was ſent to ordain ſuch; for we find not that he was ſent to ordain any but Presbyters or Biſhops, ch. 2. 5, 7. tho' doubtleſs he did ordain Deacons to attend them.

b Ver. 3. Πρεσβύτιδας.] That the Aged Women here import the Deaconeſſes of the Church, ſome of the Commentators ſay was the Opinion of ſome Ancients; and indeed they were ſo neceſſary, 1. For the Baptiſm of Women, when that was performed by Dipping, as in the Apoſtles Days it was: And 2*dly*, For the converting ſome young Women to, and the inſtructing others in the Faith they had already owned; which aged Women, though not permitted to ſpeak in the Church, might do in private Houſes, without ſcandal; but the Apoſtles, and a young Timothy, could ſcarcely do without Suſpicion. That for theſe Reaſons I doubt not but this Office obtain'd in the firſt Preaching of the Goſpel.

Ver. 4. Ἵνα σωφρονίζωσι τὰς νέας, that they may teach, or admoniſh the young Women.] Stephanus renders the Words thus, that they may teach them by Chaſtiſement; but Women, who had Husbands, and Children, as theſe in the next Verſe are ſuppoſed to have, were not to be chaſtiſed by others. Obſerve then, that Young Men, and Women, become Wiſe by hearkening to the Admonitions, and Inſtructions of Perſons Aged, and experienc'd in the Practice of it, and they who were ſet over the Youth, and the Young Women for this End were called by the Greeks Σωφρονιστῆρες, that is, Directors of their Manners, becauſe they admoniſhed them how to behave themſelves in their Stations, hence Σωφρονιστὴς is by Heſychius rendered νουθετὴς, an Admoniſher, and in Julius Pollux, Σωφρονίζειν, is νουθετεῖν, to admoniſh, and Σωφρονισμὸς, is the ſame with νουθεσία, Admonition, l. 3. c. 17. p. 153. l. 41, &c.

Ver. 5. That the Word of God be not blaſphemed.] For ſay Theodoret and Theophylact, when Wives leave their Husbands, or Servants their Maſters, προφάσει τῆς εὐσεβείας, from a Pretence of Religion, they cauſe Men to ſpeak Evil of the Goſpel.

c Ver. 7. Ἀφθαρσίαν, Sincerity.] This Word is not to be found in Chryſoſtom, Theophylact, nor in many Copies; but it is in Theodoret, Oecumenius, Cod. Alex. Arab.

d Ver. 8. The Doctrine to be preached muſt be pure and free from all corrupt Mixtures; it muſt be entire, ſo as to want nothing neceſſary to be known; it muſt be ſuch as is ὑγιὴς, wholſome and beneficial to the Hearer; it muſt be delivered with Gravity, and with Care, that there be nothing ſpoken which may be ſubject to Reprehenſion. And he that teacheth it muſt in his Converſation practiſe ſuitable to what he teacheth, leaſt his own Heart ſhould inwardly condemn him, and he ſhould be condemned both by God, and Man from his own Mouth.

e Ver. 9. Μὴ ἀντιλέγοντες, Not anſwering again.] Not murmuring againſt their Commanders, nor contradicting them, but only with Submiſſion pleading their own Cauſe, for that even Nature doth allow.

f Ver. 12. The firſt thing Chriſtianity requires of them who would enjoy this ſaving Grace, is to deny all practical Ungodlineſs, by carefully abſtaining from all Idolatry, Superſtition, and falſe Worſhip; and to diſcard all thoſe Principles which tend to cheriſh in us a prophane and irreligious Converſation, viz. all Principles of Atheiſm and Infidelity, all Denial of Providence, and of a future Recompence; for as our falſe Worſhip will render our whole Service vain, and our pretended Piety a Provocation; ſo theſe pernicious Principles will render our Religion none at all: For how can he be ſeriouſly employed in Religious Actions, who queſtions the very Object of Religion, denies the Motives to it, and reckons it a vain thing to ſerve the Lord?

2dly, To deny all worldly Luſts; i. e. All inordinate Affections to the Enjoyments of this preſent World, as knowing, that the Friendſhip of this World is Enmity to God; all the Pollutions which are in the World through Luſt, 2 Pet. 2. 20. walking not in Riot and Drunkenneſs, in Banquettings and Revelling, in Laſciviouſneſs and Uncleanneſs, in Strife and Envy; but putting on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and making no Proviſions for the Fleſh, to fulfil the Luſts thereof, Rom. 13. 13, 14. 1 Pet. 4. 2, 3.

3dly, To live ſoberly in the due moderation of all our Appetites, the exact Government of all our Paſſions, and in the regular Exerciſe of our Affections and Deſires; i. e. We muſt ſo far reſtrain our angry Paſſions, that they do never indecently boil up within us, or break forth into opprobrious Words, or rancorous Expreſſions, or proceed to malicious and ſpiteful Actions; and that we never do exert them, but upon occaſion of ſomething which is truly evil, and diſpleaſing to God, or when it may be for the benefit of others: We muſt ſo moderate our Affections to, and our Deſires of, all worldly things, as to ſit down contented with our preſent Portion, not being anxiouſly ſolicitous about them, not purſuing them by unlawful means, not much caſt down when we loſe them, nor much delighted with them when we do enjoy them; but living ſtill as Men whoſe Converſation is in Heaven, and whoſe Hearts are chiefly ſet on Things above. We muſt ſo temper our Deſires of Applauſe, and Reputation in this World, as only to purſue it by exact Regards to what is Virtuous and Praiſe-worthy, and for Vertuous Ends; the doing Good to others, never endeavouring to obtain or to preſerve it by any ſiniſter Attempts, ſinful Compliances, or by neglect of Duty. We muſt ſo regulate the Cravings of the Throat, and the Gratifications of the Palate, as not to eat, or drink, to the impairing of our Health, or Reaſon; to the inflaming of our Luſts or Paſſions; or to the rendering ourſelves unfit for the Performance of that Duty which we owe to God. We muſt be ſo moderate, in reference to the Pleaſures of the World, that all the Pleaſures in which we do allow ourſelves, may be ſtill ἡδοναὶ ἀμεταμέλητοι, ſuch as call for no Repentance; we muſt purſue them with ſuch Indifference, as that we can freely deny ourſelves in the Enjoyment of them, when the Concernments of God's Glory, or the Welfare of our own or other Men's Souls is prejudiced by them; preferring ſtill the Pleaſures of Religion much above them.

4thly, We muſt live Righteouſly, i. e. in all the Offices of exact Truth and Juſtice betwixt Man and Man, being true in our Words, exact to the Performance of our Promiſes; doing no Injury to any, in his good Name, Eſtate, or Perſon, much leſs in the Concerments of his Soul, but dealing ſtill with others as we would be dealt with.

We muſt live, δικαίως, Charitably; preſerving an unfeigned Good-will, an affectionate Kindneſs to, and having a ſincere Concernment for the Good of all Men: And this Affection muſt reſtrain us not only from biting them with the Tongue, ſuſpecting evil of them, or doing evil to them; but muſt engage us to hope well, and believe well of them, where we know nothing to the contrary; to rejoyce in their Proſperity, to be ready to promote it, to ſympathize with them in their Afflictions; and, as far as we are able, to ſupply their Wants, relieve their Miſeries, and contribute to the Eaſe and Comfort of their Lives; and more eſpecially, to labour to prevent their Ruin, and further the eternal Intereſts of their precious Souls; to conceal the Evil that we know of others, where no Neceſſity, i. e. no Duty to our ſelves, our Brother, or the Publick, requires us to divulge it; to endure all things, without returning Evil for Evil; to be Long-ſuffering, and bear with Patience the Infirmities of others: That, laſtly, upon any reaſonable Submiſſion, any fair Acknowledgment of the Offence, any deſire of Reconciliation, we be eaſy to be intreated, and ready to forgive: In a Word, that in all Caſes of the ſame kind, we prefer the Publick before our Private Intereſt.

5thly, To teach us to live Godly: 1. By keeping up an high Eſteem, an Admiration of God in our Minds, acknowledging his Excellencies, by our repairing to, and our continual Dependance on his Wiſdom, Power, and Goodneſs, in our Addreſſes to the Throne of Grace; by aſcribing all the Mercies we enjoy, to his ſole, free, and undeſerved Goodneſs, and therefore highly eſteeming them, paying the Tribute of our Praiſes, and ſuitable returns of Duty for them, and by performing that Publick and External Homage to the Author of them, which may beſt teſtify to others the inward Veneration we have for him. 2dly, By yielding a firm Aſſent to all his Revelations, depending on his All-ſufficiency, and Goodneſs, to order all things for us to the beſt, and hoping in his Mercy, for Preſervation from, or Support under, and a good Iſſue from the Troubles of this preſent Life, and a ſupply of all thoſe Bleſſings which he ſees needful for us, or moſt conducing to our Good. 3dly, By valuing him as our Chief, and All-ſufficient Good, the only proper Object of our Happineſs, and upon that account preferring him before whatever ſtands in competition with him; having none in Heaven but Him, and none on Earth that we deſire in Compariſon with Him; doing all things to his Glory, and for Promotion of his Honour, and being zealous to remove whatſoever doth obſtruct, or oppoſe it. 4thly, By being in the Fear of the Lord all the Day long, and herein exerciſing ourſelves to have always Conſciences void of Offence towards God, ſo that we never wilfully do any thing which argues a Contempt of Him, or is a Provocation to the pure Eyes of his Glory. 5thly, By acquainting ourſelves with his ſacred Will, that we may do it; eſteeming all his Commandments concerning all things, to be right; yielding a chearful, conſtant, and ſincere Obedience to them, labouring to walk before him to all well-pleaſing; and when we are convinced that we have deviated from his good and holy Laws, returning by a ſpeedy and ſincere Repentance, and Reformation of our evil Ways. 6thly, By an humble Submiſſion to his Chaſtiſements, and a contented Acquieſcence in all the Diſpenſations of his Providence, and an entire Reſignation of Ourſelves and our Concernments to the pleaſure of his good and holy Will.

Thus Philo doth inform us, That he that would be truly Virtuous, muſt, in the firſt place, μεταναστεύειν τοῦ σώματος, become an Exile from the Enjoyments of the Body, ſo far as not to be enſlaved, ἐπιθυμίαις καὶ ἡδοναῖς, to the importunate Deſires of worldly things, or to the Pleaſures of the World, οὔτε φόβοις οὔτε λύπαις, nor to the fears of loſing them; nor to exceſs of Grief, that he doth not enjoy them: That being thus prepared, he muſt govern his whole Life by theſe three Rules, or Canons, τῷ φιλοθέῳ, καὶ φιλαρέτῳ, καὶ φιλανθρώπῳ, the love of God, the love of Virtue, and the love of Man. Lib. quod omnis probus liber, p. 676. C.

Ver. 10. Κατὰ μίαν, καὶ δευτέραν νουθεσίαν.] See this Reading confirm'd by full Authority, and the Miſtakes of Dr. Mills diſcover'd, Examen Millii in locum.

Ver. 13. τοῦ μεγάλου Θεοῦ, The Great God.] Here it deſerveth to be noted, That it is highly probable that Jeſus Chriſt is here ſtyled the Great God: 1ſt, Becauſe in the Original the Article is prefix'd only before the Great God, and therefore ſeems to require this Conſtruction, the Appearance of Jeſus Chriſt the Great God, and our Saviour. 2dly, Becauſe as God the Father is not ſaid properly to appear; ſo the Word ἐπιφάνεια never occurs in the New Teſtament, but when it is applied to Jeſus Chriſt, and to ſome Coming of his; the Places in which it is to be found, being only theſe, 2 Theſ. 2. 8. 1 Tim. 6. 14. 2 Tim. 1. 10. and 4. 1, 8. 3dly, Becauſe Chriſt is emphatically ſtyled our Hope, the Hope of Glory, Col. 1. 23. 1 Tim. 1. 1. And, laſtly, Becauſe not only all the Ancient Commentators on the Place, do ſo interpret this Text, but the Ante-Nicene Fathers alſo: (a) Hippolytus, ſpeaking of the Appearance of our God and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt; and (b) Clemens of Alexandria, proving Chriſt to be both God and Man, our Creator, and the Author of all our Good Things, from theſe very Words of St. Paul. Vid. Tract. de Vera Chriſti Deitate, p. 44, 45.

Ver. 14. Ἵνα λυτρώσηται, That he might redeem and purify.] The Words λυτρῶσαι, and καθαρίσαι, here uſed, being Sacrificial; the firſt ſignifying Redemption, by paying a Price, here ſaid to be, the giving himſelf; the ſecond, To purify from the Guilt of Sin, by an Atonement offered for it, Heb. 9. 22. 1 Joh. 1. 7, 9. I conceive the Import of them to be this, that Chriſt our Saviour gave himſelf a Ranſom for us, to redeem us from the Guilt and Puniſhment of our Sins; that being, by this Atonement, thus puriſy'd, and reconcil'd to God, we might become, as the Jews were before, a peculiar People to him, and upon that account zealous of good Works.

Ibid. λαὸν περιούσιον, A peculiar People.] So Segullah is rendered by the Septuagint, Exod. 19. 5. You ſhall be to me, λαὸς περιούσιος, a peculiar People above all People, Deut. 7. 6. Jehovah thy God hath choſen thee to be unto him, λαὸν περιούσιον, a peculiar People above all the People of the Earth; ſo, chap. 14. 2. and 26. 18. This, by the Chaldee, is always rendered —— A beloved People. This Title belonged to all Iſrael in general, Pſal. 135. 4. Jehovah hath choſen Jacob for himſelf, and Iſrael for his peculiar People. As therefore all Iſrael, being ſanctified to the Lord, became to him a peculiar Treaſure, and a beloved People, above all other Nations or Religions in the World; ſo are now all Chriſtians, God having purified their Hearts by Faith, Acts 15. 9. 2dly, As then Salvation was of the Jews, John 4. 22. and belonged to others, only by being Proſelytes ſo far as to own their God, or their Religion; ſo now that Salvation which is promiſed in the Goſpel, and which conſiſts in Life Eternal, is promiſed only to them who own the God and Saviour of the Chriſtians, or embrace their Religion: For this is the Teſtimony that God hath given us, Eternal Life; and that Life is in his Son: He that hath the Son, hath Life; he that hath not the Son, hath not Life, 1 John 5. 11, 12.

2. To ſpeak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, [Gr. no fighters,] but gentle, ſhew-

b ing all [b] meekneſs to all men, [with whom they do converſe.]

c d 3. [c] For we [d] ourſelves alſo were ſometimes fooliſh, diſobedient, deceived, ſerving divers luſts and pleaſures, living in malice and envy, hateful [to,] and hating one another. [See Chap. 1. 10, 11, 12.]

e 4. [e] But after that the kindneſs and love of God our Saviour towards Man appeared;

5. Not by works of Righteouſneſs which we have done, but according to his mercy he ſaved us, by the waſhing of Regeneration [in Baptiſm,] and [by the] renewing of the Holy Ghoſt, [given then to the Baptized.]

6. Which he ſhed on us abundantly through Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour.

7. That being [thus] juſtified by his [free] grace, we ſhould be made Heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8. This is a faithful ſaying, and theſe things I will that thou affirm conſtantly, that they who have believed in God, might be careful [f] to maintain good works; theſe f things are good and profitable unto men.

9. [g] But avoid fooliſh Queſtions, and Ge- g nealogies, and Contentions, and Strivings about the Law, for they are unprofitable and vain.

10. [h] A Man that is an Heretick, after h the firſt and ſecond admonition, reject:

11. Knowing that he who is ſuch, is ſubverted, and ſinneth, being condemned of himſelf.

12. When I ſhall ſend Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, [to ſupply thy abſence, ſay the Ancients,] be diligent to come unto me to [i] Ni- i copolis; for I have determined there to winter.

13. Bring Zenas the Lawyer, and Apollos, on their journey diligently, [and ſee] that nothing be wanting to them.

14. And let ours [i. e. Chriſtians] alſo learn to maintain good works, for neceſſary uſes, that they be not unfruitful. [See Note on Ver. 8.]

15. All that are with me ſalute thee. Greet them that love us in [and for] the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1. ᵃ Ἀρχαῖς καὶ ἐξουσίαις ὑποτάσσεσθαι, To be ſubject to Principalities.] Beſides the turbulent Spirit of the Jews then in Crete, (a) Suidas hath left upon Record concerning them, That the Cretians, fearing they ſhould ſuffer Puniſhment from their Superiors, ſtirred up the People, exhorting them to maintain the liberty which they always had enjoy'd. By which we ſee how needful this Inſtruction was.

b Ver. 2. Ἐπιείκεια, Meekneſs.] This is that Virtue which inclines us to be eaſy and merciful to Offenders, kind in interpreting the Actions of others, and yielding, in Matters of our own Concern, for Peace-ſake: And we ſhew all Meekneſs, not by being never ſevere, (for Severity at ſome times, towards ſome Perſons, is neceſſary,) but by being mild in all Caſes, in which the Circumſtances of Time, Place, and Perſons, will admit of it.

c Ver. 3. Ἦμεν γάρ ποτε, For we ourſelves were ſometimes.] That theſe were the Vices that reigned in the Heathen World, ſee Rom. 1. 26, 31. and 13. 13. Coloſſ. 3. 5, 8. That the Cretians were prone to Diſobedience, we have proved from Suidas: That they were fooliſh, and deceived, is evident from their multitude of Falſe Gods, mention'd by Diodorus Siculus, l. 5. and their vain Imagination, in thinking that their Gods were mortal, with which Callimachus charges them. The Luſts and Pleaſures they ſerved, were Unnatural Luſts, ſay OEcumenius and Theophylact: Of which the Athenian, in (b) Plato, ſpeaketh thus to Clinias of Crete; Of Unnatural Luſts your Cities are chiefly guilty; for, taking up your Laws from Jupiter, and retaining the Fable of his Ganymede, they committed this Unnatural Luſt, in Imitation of their Jupiter.

d Ibid. Καὶ ἡμεῖς, We ourſelves.] I cannot think, as St. Jerom doth, that St. Paul here condemns himſelf as one formerly guilty of all theſe Vices; for then he could not have ſaid, that he had lived, before his Converſion, in all good conſcience towards God, Acts 23. 1. That he had ſerved God, from his Progenitors, with a pure Conſcience, 2 Tim. 1. 3. And that, as to the Righteouſneſs which was by the Law, he was blameleſs, Phil. 3. 6. Nor is any thing more common with St. Paul, than to ſpeak thus, in the Perſon of thoſe to whom he writes. See the Note on Eph. 2. 3.

e Ver. 4. —— 7. For the Explication of theſe four Verſes, let it be obſerved;

1ſt, That the Apoſtle, in the very next Verſe, ſaith, This is a faithful Saying; and of this I will that thou affirm conſtantly, That they who have believed in God, ſhould be careful to maintain good works: And as he ſaith, That we are juſtified by Grace; ſo doth he teach us, that this Grace hath appeared, for this very end, to teach us, denying ungodlineſs, and worldly luſts, to live righteouſly, ſoberly and godly, in this preſent world, looking for this bleſſed hope; clearly inſinuating, that without living godly, righteouſly, and ſoberly, we cannot reaſonably hope for Happineſs at our Lord's Second Coming. Wherefore theſe Words could never be intended to excuſe Chriſtians from a neceſſity of being Holy, in order to their being Happy.

2dly, That the Apoſtle only ſaith, We are not ſaved by works of Righteouſneſs which we have done before Faith, before the Laver of Regeneration; but doth not in the leaſt exclude the Works of Righteouſneſs they ſhould hereafter do, by virtue of the new Nature given to them, and the Renewing of the Holy Ghoſt, from being Conditions of their future Happineſs; and therefore hence it doth not follow, as Eſthius ſuggeſts, that God hath predeſtinated us to Salvation, of his meer Mercy, without any reſpect to our Works; but only, that he hath thus freely called any Nation to the knowledge of that Faith that will, in the end, bring Salvation to them that obey the Preſcripts of it.

3dly, That when the Apoſtle ſaith, By his Mercy he ſaved us; his meaning is, that by his free Mercy he brought us from a State of Wrath and Condemnation, into the Way of Salvation; in which if we walk, and continue, we ſhall aſſuredly obtain Salvation. See Note on Eph. 2. 8, 9.

4thly, Some, by the Laver of Regeneration, underſtand that Inward Renovation which cleanſeth the Soul, as Waſhing doth the Body; but that the Apoſtle, by the Laver of Regeneration, underſtands that Baptiſm by which Chriſtians, coming then from Heatheniſm, engaged to renounce Idolatry, the Works of the Fleſh, and of the World, and dedicated themſelves to the Service of the Sacred Trinity, and teſtified their Faith in Chriſt, cannot reaſonably be doubted, if we conſider;

1ſt, How expreſly our Saviour ſaith, We muſt be born again of Water, and of the Holy Ghoſt, that we may enter into the Kingdom of God, Joh. 3. 5. How he Commiſſionated his Apoſtles to make Diſciples in all Nations, by baptizing them, Matth. 28. 16. And how, from the Beginning, the word παλιγγενεσία, Regeneration, uſed here, was uſed to denote Baptiſm, as (c) Juſtin Martyr, (d) Irenæus, and Clemens (e) of Alexandria, do inform us.

2dly, That the ſame Apoſtle elſewhere aſcribes this Virtue to Baptiſm, ſaying, That Chriſt doth purify and cleanſe his Body, by the waſhing of Water, Eph. 5. 26. and that St. Peter ſaith, that Baptiſm now ſaves us, 1 Pet. 3. 21. And that Baptiſm, at the firſt, was ſtill attended with the Vouchſafement of the Holy Ghoſt, here joined unto this Laver of Regeneration, John 3. 5. So that all Chriſtians are ſaid to be baptized into one Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 13. who is here ſaid to be plentifully poured out upon Believers.

5thly, That being juſtified by Faith, we become the Sons of God, Joh. 1. 12. and being Sons of God, are Heirs of Glory, Rom. 8. 17. and Sons of the Reſurrection; or ſuch as, if we do continue in the Faith, and our Baptiſmal Covenant, ſhall enjoy an happy Reſurrection, Luke 20. 36. See Note upon that Place, and upon Rom. 8. 17.

Ver. 8. Καλῶν ἔργων προΐστασθαι, To maintain good works:] That is, ſay ſome, to employ themſelves in honeſt Trades and Profeſſions: But all the Ancient Commentators on this, and the 14th Verſe, interpret theſe words of Alms-deeds, or Charity, to ſupply the neceſſary Wants of Orphans, Widows, &c. And they are followed by the learned Dr. Barrow, who obſerves, ' That as in every Kind, that which is moſt ' excellent, doth commonly aſſume the ' Name of the whole Kind; ſo are theſe ' Works of Charity, by way of Excellency, ' ſtyled good Works." Thus Dorcas was full of Good Works, i. e. of Alms-deeds which ſhe did, Acts 9. 36. See you abound in every good work, i. e. in all Charitable Offices, 2 Cor. 9. 8. Let a Widow be well-reported of for good works, 1 Tim. 5. 10. i. e. for bringing up Children, lodging Strangers, waſhing the Saints feet, relieving the Afflicted, and following every good work. Charge them who are rich in this world, that they be rich in good works, 1 Tim. 6. 18. See Heb. 10. 24. And this Senſe may be confirmed, 1. From the Phraſe itſelf; for it is not ἐργάζεσθαι τὰ καλὰ ἔργα, but προΐστασθαι καλῶν ἔργων. Now προΐστασθαι ſignifies, to excel and outſtrip others in Good Works; which, as to Works of Charity, is certainly the Chriſtian's Duty, and was the thing by which the Primitive Ages gain'd great Credit to Chriſtianity: But it is not the Chriſtian's Duty to labour more than others at their Trades, or Callings. 2dly, From the Reaſon here aſſigned, why they muſt excel in Good Works; becauſe they were not only profitable, but καλά, Creditable in the ſight of Men, as are ſuch Works of Charity more conſpicuouſly, than labouring in our Profeſſions; and v. 15. That they be not unfruitful; i. e. ſaith Dr. Hammond, That they may have to give to others; theſe Acts of Charity being ſtyled, Fruit abounding to their account, Phil. 4. 17. Good Fruits, Jam. 3. 17. The Fruits of Righteouſneſs, v. 18.

g Ver. 9. See Note on 1 Tim. 1. 4. And note here, and from that Place, this excellent Rule; That Diſputes about Matters which only ſerve to beget Strife and Contention, but tend little to Edification in the Faith, or to the Edifying of the Body in Love, Eph. 4. 16. or the promoting that Doctrine which is after Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 3. are vain Talking, and unprofitable Diſputes.

h Ver. 10. Hence we may learn who is an Heretick, in the Apoſtle's ſenſe.

1. He is one who, ἐξέστραπται, is perverted from the true Faith; holding ſome Doctrine, or Opinion, which ſubverteth the Foundation of it, 2 Tim. 2. 18. and 1 Tim. 1. 19, 20. 2dly, He is αὐτοκατάκριτος, a Man condemned by his own Conſcience, and who, in what he doth maintain, or practiſe, ſins againſt his own Convictions: For 1ſt, The Apoſtle ſaith not to Titus, Do thou convince or inform him of his Error, but do thou admoniſh him of his Fault; which ſhews the Crime lay not in his Head, or his miſtaken Judgment, for that can never be corrected by Admonition, but only by Inſtruction; but that it lay in the Irregularity of his Affections, and the Perverſeneſs of his Will: And 2dly, Becauſe otherwiſe he could not condemn himſelf by maintaining his Hereſy; For no Man who acts according to his Judgment, how erroneous ſoever it may be, is ſelf-condemned in that Action.

Obj. 1. Againſt this Expoſition it is objected, 1. That he who oppugns a Doctrine which he knows to be true, is indeed perverſe, but he is no Heretick.

Anſw. 1. Yes, he is properly an Heretick, according to St. Auſtin, becauſe he follows, or ſtarts a new Opinion, not from Regard to Truth, but to Vain-glory, or Temporal Advantage. Whence ſaith he, Errare poſſum, Hæreticus eſſe nolo; I may err, but I will not be an Heretick; placing Hereſy not in the Judgment, but the Will.

2dly, He is ſo alſo, according to the proper import of the word, becauſe he properly doth chuſe to be of his Opinion: Whereas the Judgment of the erroneous Perſon doth oblige him to hold his Error, it being not in our Power to believe otherwiſe than our Mind and Judgment doth inform us; ſo that in this caſe we do not properly αἱρετίζειν, chuſe what Opinion we will hold. And, 3dly, He is moſt properly an Heretick in the Scripture-ſenſe, which ſtill aſcribeth to ſuch Men, ſomething relating not to the Error of their Judgments, but to the Perverſeneſs of their Wills, or the Corruption of their Affections; As that they deſigned not to ſerve the Lord, but their own Bellies, Rom. 16. 18. That they turned away from the Truth, ſuppoſing that Gain was Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5. That they taught things which they ought not, for filthy Lucre's ſake, Tit. 1. 11. That through Covetouſneſs, with feigned Words, they made Merchandiſe of them whom they deceived, 2 Pet. 2. 3, 14. Having Hearts exerciſed with covetous Practices, and that they went greedily after the Error of Balaam for Reward, Jude 11. Matth. 24. 11. 1 John 4. 1. 2 Cor. 11. 13. 2 Pet. 2. 1. 1 Tim. 4. 2.

Hence they are often ſtiled, falſe Prophets, falſe Chriſts, falſe Apoſtles, falſe Teachers, deceitful Workers, transforming themſelves into the Apoſtles of Chriſt; Men who inſinuated their Doctrines ἐν ὑποκρίσει ψευδολόγων, by hypocritical Falſhoods, who preached up the Neceſſity of Circumcision, not that they themſelves obſerv'd the Law, or thought it neceſſary ſo to do, but that they might avoid Perſecution, Galat. 6. 12, 13. That they were Men riſen up among Chriſtians, ſpeaking perverſe things to draw away Diſciples after them, Acts 20. 30. Wolves in Sheep's Cloathing, Matth. 7. 15. Men that went out from them, when indeed they were not of them, 1 John 2. 19.

Object. 2. 2dly, It is objected, that there be few who oppoſe the Truth wittingly, and they are only known to God, not to the Church; which therefore cannot admoniſh, avoid, or excommunicate them. He therefore muſt be ſelf-condemned, not becauſe he maintains what himſelf thinks to be falſe, but becauſe he inflicts upon himſelf that Puniſhment, and Condemnation, which the Biſhop and Church uſeth to do upon Malefactors, by ſeparating himſelf from the Communion of the Faithful.

Anſw. To this I anſwer, 1ſt, That I do not find that the Word αὐτοκατάκριτος, bears any other ſenſe but this, viz. one condemn'd by his own Mind, or inward Sentence, ὑφ' ἑαυτοῦ, καὶ τῆς οἰκείας συνειδήσεως κατακρινόμενον, ſaith OEcumenius. 2dly, Nor is it true that Hereticks did always cut themſelves off from the Church; for then what need was there of their Excommunication? The Scripture ſhews the contrary, declaring that theſe falſe Teachers, that brought in damnable Doctrines, were ἐν ὑμῖν, lurking among Chriſtians, 2 Pet. 2. 1. 1 Joh. 2. 19. 2 Pet. 2. 13. Jude 12. 19. Yea, ſaith the Apoſtle, there muſt be Hereſies ἐν ὑμῖν, among you, 1 Cor. 11. 9. they kept their Love-feaſts with them, till for fear of Perſecution, they departed from them, Gal. 6. 12. They were inwardly Wolves, but in Sheep's Cloathing, εὐπροσωπήσαντες ἐν αὐτοῖς, making a fair ſhew among them. Moreover what need was there of avoiding Men already ſeparated, and gone out from them? Or to what end ſhould the Apoſtle give them any Admonitions, or excommunicate them who had already excluded themſelves from the Churches Communion? This Expoſition therefore agrees not with the Words of the Apoſtle.

And whereas it is ſaid, ſuch Hereticks are only known to God; I hope they might be known alſo to Titus, the only Perſon here bid either to admoniſh or avoid them, eſpecially if we conſider, that to him belonged in thoſe times, διάκρισις πνευμάτων, the diſcerning of Spirits. Moreover, the Church of thoſe Times, in which the Apoſtles were ſtill preaching, could eaſily know whether the Doctrines which others taught in oppoſition to them, were indeed Doctrines received from the Apoſtles, or not; if they were not, they who taught them muſt know they received no ſuch Doctrine from them, and ſo muſt be ſelf-condemned in teaching it as received from them, or as the Faith once delivered to the Saints; and they who heard them muſt know they wilfully oppoſed the Doctrine of thoſe Apoſtles, who had confirmed the Faith with ſuch authentick Teſtimonies, as their Oppoſers could not queſtion. Moreover, they being then bid to try the Spirits, whether they were of God, 1 John 4. 1. and the Gift of diſcerning Spirits being then given to the Prophets who managed the Church Affairs, they might then very well be able to judge of theſe Deceivers, and falſe Teachers.

Ver. 12. Theſe Words made the Author of the Poſtſcript date this Epiſtle from Nicopolis of Macedonia, whereas they rather prove the contrary; for he ſaith not I have determined to winter here, but there, which ſhews he was not yet come thither.

Epiſtle of St. PAUL to PHILEMON.

SOME have thought this Epiſtle was not worthy to be rank'd among the Epiſtles of St. Paul, as being writ upon an Occaſion of no great moment: But it contains Inſtructions ſufficient for ſo ſhort an Epiſtle, as, V. g.

1ſt, That no Chriſtian, though of the meaneſt ſort, is to be contemn'd: That Chriſtianity makes the vileſt Servant both profitable, and worthy to be highly loved, and honoured by Perſons in the higheſt Dignity; Oneſimus being by the Apoſtle ſtiled his Son, and his Bowels.

2dly, That Chriſtianity doth not impair the Power of Maſters over their Servants, or give any Authority to them who convert them, to uſe them as their Servants, without leave granted from their Maſters.

3dly, That Servants ought to make ſatisfaction for any Wrong or Injury they have done to their Maſters.

4thly, That there is an Affection due from the Maſter to a profitable Servant.

Who then, ſay the (a) Greek Interpreters, would refuſe to number an Epiſtle ſo profitable, with the reſt?

The (b) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions have made this Philemon Biſhop of Coloſs, and St. Jerom ſeems to incline to that Opinion; but (c) Hilary the Deacon ſaith expreſly, that he was of no Eccleſiaſtical Dignity, but one of the Laity. Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact, ſeem alſo of the ſame Opinion.

This Epiſtle was writ in the ſame Year with that to the Philippians, viz. the 8th of Nero, A. D. 62. when St. Paul expected to be delivered from his Bonds, v. 22.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. I Paul, a Priſoner of Jeſus Chriſt, and Timothy our Brother, [write] to Philemon, our dearly beloved and a [a] Fellow-labourer.

b 2. And to our [b] beloved Appia, and c d Archippus [c] our Fellow-ſoldier, and [d] to the Church in thy houſe.

3. [And I wiſh] Grace to you, and Peace
e from [e] God our Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

4. I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my Prayers; [or I thank my God always when I mention thee in my Prayers.]

f 5. Hearing [f] of thy Love and Faith, which [Faith] thou haſt towards the Lord Jeſus, and [Love] to all his Saints.

g 6. [And my Prayer is,] that [g] the Communication of thy Faith, [or, thy Liberality to the Saints, which is the Fruit of thy Faith,] may become effectual [to bring others to it,] by the acknowledgment of every good thing which is in you in Chriſt Jeſus, [or, may become effectual to the acknowledgment of thy good Works by other Chriſtians who have ſuch inſtances of thy Charity.]

7. [And I have reaſon thus to give thanks to God for thee,] for we have great Joy and Conſolation in thy Love [to the Saints,] becauſe [hereby] the bowels of the Saints [yearning for Relief,] are refreſhed by thee, Brother.

8. Wherefore, though I might be much bold, [or having great Power] in Chriſt, to enjoin thee that which is convenient:

9. Yet, for love's ſake, I rather beſeech thee, [or, I rather beſeech thee for love's ſake,] being ſuch an one as Paul [the Apoſtle of Chriſt, [h] the aged, [and upon that account worthy of Reverence,] and now alſo a priſoner of Jeſus Chriſt, [and therefore worthy of Reſpect, Gal. 6. 17. Epheſ. 4. 1. Coloſſ. 4. 18.]

10. I beſeech thee [I ſay] for my Son Oneſimus, whom I have begotten, [i. e. converted to the Faith when I was] in my Bonds.

11. Who in times paſt was to thee [an] [i] unprofitable [Servant, v. 18, 19.] but now [if received, will be] profitable to thee, and [if ſent back,] to me.

12. Whom I have ſent again [unto thee, he being in Duty thine, and not to be employ'd by others, or detain'd without thy leave;] thou therefore receive him, [him, I ſay,] that is mine own Bowels; [he being as dear to me, as if he had proceeded from mine own Bowels.]

13. Whom I would [willingly] have retained with me, that [k] in thy ſtead he might have miniſter'd to me [being] in the Bonds of the Goſpel.

14. But without thy mind would I do nothing [of this nature,] that thy benefit [or the Advantage I receive from him who is thy Servant] ſhould not be [on thy part] [l] as it were [a matter] of neceſſity, [becauſe thou could'ſt not have him returned to thee,] but willingly, [by thy own Grant.]

15. For perhaps he therefore departed [from thee] for a ſeaſon, [m] that thou ſhould'ſt receive him again for ever, [i. e. to ſerve thee during Life.]

16. [That thou ſhould'ſt receive him, I ſay,] not now as a Servant [only] but above a Servant, [as being alſo in Chriſt,] a Brother, n [n] beloved eſpecially [or, particularly] to me;

but how much more to thee, both in the fleſh, and in the Lord? [i. e. as being of thy Family, and of thy Faith.]

17. If thou count me therefore a Partner [in thy Friendſhip,] receive him as my ſelf.

18. If he hath wrong'd thee [in any thing,] or oweth thee ought, put that on my account.

19. I Paul have written it with my own hand, [and ſo have enter'd into a ſolemn Obligation, that] I will repay it; albeit I do not ſay unto thee, [i. e. I inſiſt upon it,] how thou oweſt to me, [by whom thou waſt converted,] even thy ownſelf, [or, the well-being of thy Soul] beſides.

20. [o] Yea, Brother, [Gr. ναὶ, I pray thee o
therefore] let me [for thy Compliance with me in this Matter] have joy of thee in the Lord, [p] refreſh my bowels in the Lord. p

21. Having confidence in thy obedience, I wrote [thus] to thee, knowing thou wilt alſo do more than I ſay.

22. But withal, prepare me alſo a lodging, [wherefore prepare me a lodging alſo;] for I truſt, that, [q] through your Prayers, I ſhall q be given to you.

23. There ſalute thee Epaphras, my fellow-priſoner in Chriſt Jeſus.

24. Marcus, Ariſtarchus, Demas, Lucas, my fellow-labourers.

25. The Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt be with your Spirit. Amen.

Annotations on the Epiſtle of St. Paul to Philemon.

a Verſe 1. KAΙ` συνεργῷ ἡμῶν, Our Fellow-labourer,] Hence Chryſoſtom conjectures, that he muſt be one of the Clergy: But this is no good Argument, ſeeing Chriſtians in general that promoted the Intereſts of Chriſtianity, and even Women, are by the Apoſtle ſtyled συνεργοὶ, his Fellow-labourers. For the firſt, ſee John 3. v. 8. For the ſecond, Rom. 16. 3.

b Ver. 2. Ἀπφίᾳ τῇ ἀγαπητῇ.] He ſalutes alſo Appia the Wife of Philemon; as OEcumenius and Theophylact conjecture, and Theodoret poſitively aſſerts, and that very probably, ſhe being here rank'd before Archippus: And this he doth, that he might obtain her Good-will alſo in behalf of Oneſimus.

c Ibid. Συστρατιώτῃ, Our Fellow-ſoldier.] So alſo he calls Epaphroditus Fellow-priſoner with him at Rome, Philip. 2. 23, 25. either becauſe they ſuffer'd with him as good Soldiers of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Tim. 2. 3. Or, as St. Jerom (a) ſaith, becauſe being Miniſters with him in the Work of the Goſpel, Phil. 2. 25. Col. 4. 17. they were more particularly engaged in fighting the good fight of Faith. See Note on 1 Tim. 1. 18.

d Ibid. Καὶ τῇ κατ' οἶκον σου ἐκκλησίᾳ, And to the Church in thy Houſe.] He calls his Houſe a Church, ſaith Theodoret, ὡς εὐσεβείᾳ λαμπρυνομένη, as being illuſtrious, for the Piety of all its Members. See Note on 1 Cor. 16. 19.

e Ver. 3. Ἀπὸ Θεοῦ Πατρὸς, ϗ Κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, From God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.] Ex quo oſtenditur unam Filii Patriſque eſſe naturam, cùm id poteſt Filius præſtare quod Pater, & dicitur id Pater præſtare quod Filius. Hieronymus in locum.

f Ver. 5. Τὴν ἀγάπην ϗ τὴν πίστιν, Thy Love and Faith.] Here the Apoſtle uſeth the Figure Syntheſis; for Faith is to be referr'd to Chriſt; and Love, to the Saints; according to thoſe words of the ſame Apoſtle, We give thanks for you, ſince we heard of your faith in Chriſt Jeſus, and of the love which you have to all the Saints, Coloſ. 1. 4. So, Matth. 12. 22. The Blind and Dumb both ſpake and ſaw; i. e. The Blind ſaw, and the Dumb ſpake: 1 Cor. 6. 11. But ye are ſanctified, but ye are juſtified in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and by the Spirit of our God; i. e. Ye are ſanctified by the Spirit, and juſtified by the Name of Jeſus. And ſo Theodoret interprets theſe words. Hence therefore Papiſts vainly gather, that we may place our Faith in Saints departed; for even their own (b) Eſthius declares, That, in the Eccleſiaſtical Phraſe, to Believe in any one, is a Profeſſion of Divinity.

'Tis alſo further to be noted from theſe words, That we ought to render Thanks to God, not only for the Bleſſings vouchſafed to ourſelves, but to others alſo, Rom. 1. 8. 1 Cor. 1. 4. Eph. 1. 16.

g Ver. 6. Ἡ κοινωνία, The Communication.] Κοινωνίαν πίστεως τὴν ἐλεημοσύνην καλεῖ ὡς διὰ πολλῆς πίστεως γενομένην. Theodoret, OEcumenius, and Theophylact, expound theſe words thus; ‘I pray that the Faith in Chriſt, which thou ‘haſt common with us, may be operative in ‘thee, to make thee know how to perform ‘every Good Work.

h Ver. 9. Πρεσβύτης, The Aged.] This Epiſtle being writ, at the furtheſt, but twenty-eight Years from his Converſion, when he is ſtyled Νεανίας, a young Man, Acts 7. 58. it is enquired how he could be now Πρεσβύτης, Paul the Aged?

I anſwer, That both the words, Νεανίσκος, Young, and Πρεσβύτης, Aged, are of that large ſignification, as is ſufficient to remove this ſeeming Difficulty. (c) Phavorinus, from Hippocrates, ſaith, a Man is ſtiled Νεανίσκος, a young Man, till twenty-eight; and Πρεσβύτης, Aged, from forty-nine to fifty ſix; making but twenty-one Years Difference betwixt them: Elſewhere he ſaith, that Old Age begins, ἀπ' ἐτῶν ἑξήκοντα ἐννέα, from ſixty-nine Years; but then he ſaith, a Man is, Νεανίσκος, Young, from twenty-three, ἕως ἐτῶν τεσσαράκοντα ἑνός, till forty-one Years; making the difference between them twenty-eight Years: Varro, in Cœlius Rhodiginus, lib. 29. cap. 21. ſays, a Man is Juvenis, Young, till forty-five, and Aged at Sixty. And thus St. Paul, according to the Computation of (d) St. Chryſoſtom, might be a young Man of thirty-five Years, at his Converſion; an old Man at the Writing this Epiſtle, as being then ſixty-three, and ſuffering Martyrdom in the Fourteenth Year of Nero.

Ver. 11. Ἄχρηστος.] Not only an unprofitable, but an injurious Servant, having not only run away from his Maſter, but purloin'd ſome of his Goods, and ſpent what he had thus purloin'd: For had it not been thus, ſaith (e) St. Jerom, the Apoſtle needed not to have ſtipulated for Satisfaction of the Injury, v. 18, 19.

k Ver. 13. Ὑπὲρ σοῦ, In thy ſtead.] A Miniſtry ſeems due, from all that are able, towards thoſe that ſuffer, and are in Bonds for Chriſt's ſake; and when it is not performed, there ſeems to be a lack of Service due to them, eſpecially to the Ambaſſadors of Chriſt, Phil. 2. 30.

l Ver. 14. Ὡς κατ' ἀνάγκην, As of Neceſſity.] Here again, Freedom of Will is put in Oppoſition to Neceſſity. See Note on 2 Cor. 9. 7. according to thoſe words of Seneca, De Benef. lib. 2. cap. 4. Si vis ſcire an velim, effice ut poſſim nolle.

Ver. 15. Ἵνα αἰώνιον αὐτὸν ἀπέχῃς, That thou mighteſt have him during life.] Δουλεύσει αὐτῷ εἰς αἰῶνα, He ſhall ſerve him during life, Exod. 21. 6. Ἔσται σοι οἰκέτης εἰς αἰῶνα, He ſhall be thy ſervant whilſt he lives, Deut. 15. 17. Καθήσεται εἰς αἰῶνα, He ſhall abide for ever there, 1 Sam. 1. 22. that is, ἕως ἡμέρας θανάτου αὐτοῦ, till the Day of his Death, v. 11. All the Days of his Life, v. 28.

Ver. 16. Ἀγαπητὸν, Beloved.] Note here, that Love is due even to Bond-ſervants from their Maſters, when they are uſeful and profitable to them; for where Advantage is received from the Labours of another, there Love is due.

Ver. 20 Ναί.] As the Hebrew נא, is verbum obſecrandi, a word of Entreating; ſo is the Greek ναί very frequently. See Note on Matth. 15. 27.

Ibid. Μοῦ τὰ σπλάγχνα, Refreſh my Bowels:] Either meaning Oneſimus, whom he calls his Bowels, v. 12. or rather himſelf, whoſe Bowels would be refreſhed by Philemon's receiving Oneſimus kindly, for the Lord's ſake.

Ver. 22. Διὰ τῶν προσευχῶν ὑμῶν, By your Prayers.] The Apoſtle knew the Efficacy of the Prayers of the Church, for Preſervation of Chriſt's eminent Servants from impendent Dangers; as in the Caſe of Peter, Acts 12. and therefore, in moſt of his Epiſtles, he doth moſt earneſtly intreat them, that he might be enabled to preach the Goſpel with Freedom and Succeſs, Eph. 6. 19. Coloſſ. 4. 3. 2 Theſſ. 3. 1. and for Deliverance from the Malice of his Perſecutors, Rom. 15. 30, 31. 2 Theſſ. 3. 2. or elſe expreſs his Confidence that their Prayers will be effectual to that End, as here; and 2 Cor. 1. 10, 11. and 4. 14, 15. Phil. 1. 19. And had he thus conceived of Prayers, directed to Angels, and Departed Saints, why doth he not afford one Inſtance of them in all his Epiſtles?

THE PREFACE TO THE Epiſtle to the HEBREWS.

By way of Preface to this excellent Epiſtle, I ſhall enquire,

1. Concerning the Author of it.
2. Touching the Canonical Authority of this Epiſtle.
3. Concerning the Language in which it was originally written.
4. To whom it was endicted, and ſent; and when.
5. Concerning the Occaſion and Deſign of Writing this Epiſtle. And,

I. That St. Paul was the Author of this Epiſtle, I prove,

1. From theſe words of St. Peter, As our dear Brother Paul, according to the Wiſdom given to him, hath written unto you, as in all his Epiſtles, 2 Pet. 3. 15, 16. Whence it is evident, 1. That the Apoſtle Paul had writ to them to whom St. Peter was then writing; i. e. to the Believing Jews in general, 2 Pet. 1. 1. to thoſe of the Diſperſion, mention'd 1 Pet. 1. 1. 2. That he writ to them ſome certain Letter, diſtinct from all his other Epiſtolary Writings; as appears from thoſe words, As alſo in all his Epiſtles, i. e. his other Epiſtles. Since then none of the Ancients ſay that this Epiſtle was loſt, it muſt be that which bears the Name of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews.

Obj. To this it is anſwer'd, That the Epiſtle intended by St. Peter, may be that written to the Romans, in which he ſpeaketh to the Jews by Name, Chap. 2. 17. and in which is an Exhortation found, to count the Long-ſuffering of God, Salvation, or that which leadeth to Repentance, v. 4.

Anſw. But, 1. That which is written there, is plainly written to the Unbelieving Jews, and concerns them only: Whereas St. Peter writes to the Brethren, Chap. 3. 12. the Beloved, ver. 1, 14, 17. to them who had receiv'd like precious Faith, Chap. 1. 1. He therefore could not mean the Jews of whom St. Paul ſpeaks in the Epiſtle to the Romans; Nor, 2dly, can that Epiſtle be properly ſaid to be writ to the Diſperſed Jews, it being writ to thoſe at Rome only, Chap. 1. 7. and chiefly to the Gentiles there, Chap. 1. 13. and 11. 13. and 15. 15, 16. (3dly,) The words, Chap. 2. 4. are not an Exhortation, to count the Long-ſuffering of God, Salvation; but a Reproof, for deſpiſing this Long-ſuffering: Whereas in the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, Chap. 10. he commends their Patience under Sufferings, and aſſures them, it would find Salvation; and that if they lived by Faith, their Lord would come, and would not tarry.

Arg. 2. A Second Argument to prove St. Paul the Author of this Epiſtle, is taken from theſe words, Know ye, that our Brother Timothy is ſet at liberty? With whom, if he come quickly, I will ſee you. They of Italy ſalute you, Chap. 13. 23, 24. And from thoſe alſo, Pray for us; and, Do this now the rather, that I may be reſtored to you the ſooner, v. 18, 19. For, 1. It is cuſtomary with St. Paul, when he writes to others, to call St. Timothy his Brother: So, Paul the Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, and Timothy our Brother, 2 Cor. 1. 1. And again, Coloſ. 1. 1. in the ſame words; We ſent Timothy our Brother, 1 Theſ. 3. 2. And, Paul a Priſoner of Jeſus Chriſt, and Timothy our Brother, Philem. v. 1. This Timothy was a Priſoner at Rome, in the 7th Year of Nero; and ſet at liberty the 8th, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, Harm. p. 139, 140. Of which here the Author of this Epiſtle gives notice, and ſaith, he would come with him to them; i. e. to the Jews in Judæa, to whom, I ſhall prove anon, that this Epiſtle was endicted. Now Timothy, we know, was ſtill the Companion of St. Paul. Laſtly, He deſires them to pray for him; which is frequently done by St. Paul, in moſt of his Epiſtles, viz. In that directed to the Romans, Rom. 15. 30. To the Epheſians, Epheſ. 6. 19. To the Philippians, Philip. 1. 19. To the Coloſſians, Coloſ. 4. 3. And to the Theſſalonians, 2 Theſ. 3. 1. and is never done in any of the Catholick Epiſtles. Pray for me, ſaith he, that I may be reſtored to you the ſooner. Now Paul was ſent bound from Judæa to Rome; and therefore his Re- turn from Rome to Judæa, was properly a Reſtoring of him to them. And that he was thus reſtor'd to them, we learn from (a) St. Chryſoſtom, declaring, that being at liberty, he went to Spain, thence to Judæa, and ſo back to Rome.

Arg. 3. That this Epiſtle was Written or Compoſed by St. Paul, may yet more ſtrongly be concluded from the Authority of the Ancients, for that they did deliver this as the Epiſtle of St. Paul; and that they were not raſh in ſo doing, we learn from the words of (b) Origen. Now among theſe Ancients, we may reckon,

1. Clemens Romanus, the Companion of, and Co-worker with St. Paul; who, as (c) Euſebius and (d) St. Jerom note, hath many Notions which are in this Epiſtle, and uſed many Expreſſions, Word for Word, taken thence: Which ſhew this Epiſtle not to be new, and to be duly reckon'd among the Writings of this Apoſtle.

2. Irenæus, in the ſecond Century, by whom this Epiſtle is ſuppoſed to be cited as a Book written by the Spirit, Adv. Hær. l. 3. c. 6. But not to inſiſt on that, as being uncertain,

3. (e) Clemens Alexandrinus cites thoſe words of St. Paul, Without Faith it is impoſſible to pleaſe God, Heb. 11. 6. adding, that Faith is the Subſtance of Things hoped for, the Evidence of Things not ſeen, ibid. v. 1. κατὰ τὸν θεῖον Ἀπόστολον, according to the Divine Apoſtle. And again, he ſaith, (f) Ὁ θεῖος Ἀπόστολος, The Divine Apoſtle fears not to ſay, Remember the former Days, in which ye being enlightened, ſuffer'd a great Fight of Affliction, Heb. 10. 32. And ſo he cites him on to the end of that Chapter; then gives the Subſtance of the 11*th Chapter, and the Exhortation in the Beginning of the* 12*th,* v. 1, 2. And that this Divine Apoſtle was St. Paul, we are aſſur'd from theſe Words, (g) Ἐπεὶ καὶ Παῦλος τοῖς Ἑβραίοις γράφων τοῖς ἀνακάμπτουσιν εἰς νόμον ἐκ πίστεως, Paul alſo writing to the Hebrews, relapſing from Faith unto the Law, ſaith, Ye have need that one teach you again which be the firſt Principles of the Oracles of God, and are become ſuch as have need of Milk, and not of ſtrong Meat, Heb. 5. 12.

4. In the Third Century, (h) Origen, citing the very words now mention'd, and the following words, v. 13, 14. For every one that uſeth Milk, is unſkilful in the Word of Righteouſneſs; he ſaith, He that writ this, was the ſame Paul who ſaid to the Corinthians, I have fed you with Milk, and not with Meat, &c. 1 Cor. 3. 2. In his (i) Philocalia he ſaith, The Apoſtle Paul, who ſaid to the Corinthians, Theſe things happen'd in a Figure, and they were written for us on whom the Ends of the Ages are come, 1 Cor. 10. 11. doth alſo in another Epiſtle uſe theſe words, relating to the Tabernacle, Thou ſhalt make all things according to the Pattern ſhewed thee in the Mount, Heb. 8. 5. And that the (k) Apoſtle, who ſaid, Jeruſalem which is above, is free, and is the Mother of us all, Gal. 4. 6. ſaid alſo in another Epiſtle, Ye are come to Mount Sion, the City of the Living God, the Heavenly Jeruſalem, and to Myriads of Angels, &c. Heb. 12. 22, 23. In his (l) Exhortation to Martyrdom, he hath theſe words, Φησί που ὁ Παῦλος, St. Paul, ſpeaking ſomewhere to them who ſuffer'd from the Beginning, and exhorting them to ſuffer patiently the Trials which afterwards fell upon them for the Word, ſaith, Call to remembrance the former Days, in which ye being enlighten'd, ſuffer'd a great Fight of Afflictions— Caſt not away therefore your Confidence, which hath great recompence of Reward; for ye have need of Patience, Heb. 10. 32, 33, 34, 35, 36. And in his Anſwer to Africanus, having cited theſe words from this Epiſtle, They were ſtoned, they were ſawn aſunder, they were ſlain with the Sword, Heb. 11. 37. he ſaith, (m) If any Perſon, being preſſed with theſe words, ſhould fall into the Opinion of them who reject this Epiſtle, as none of St. Paul's, he would uſe other words, to demonſtrate to him that it was the Epiſtle of St. Paul. He alſo adds, That (n) the Sentences contain'd in it are admirable, and no whit inferiour to the Writings of the Apoſtles; as he who diligently reads them muſt confeſs.

In a word, When this Epiſtle was denied by the Arians in the Fourth Century, becauſe they were not able to reſiſt the Conviction it affords us of our Lord's Divinity, (o) Theodoret ſaith, They ought at leaſt to revere the length of Time, in which the Children of the Church have read this Epiſtle in the Churches, viz. as long as they have read the Apoſtolick Writings: Or, if this be not ſufficient to perſuade them, they ſhould hearken to (p) Euſebius, of whom they boaſt as of the Patron of their Doctrine; for he confeſſes this was St. Paul's Epiſtle, and he declares that all the Ancients had this Opinion of it.

That they of Rome, and other Latins, did for a while reject this Epiſtle, will not much weaken this Tradition; if we conſider,

1. That this Epiſtle was not writ to them, but to the Hebrews, who, as Euſebius (q) teſtifies, delighted much in it.

2dly, That it was rejected by them, not that they had any thing to ſay againſt it, but becauſe they could not anſwer the Arguments which the Novatian Schiſmaticks among them produced from the 6th and 10th Chapters of this Epiſtle, againſt receiving lapſed Penitents into the Church, whence, as Philaſtrius informs us, they rejected it, as thinking it was depraved by Hereticks. Or,

3dly, Becauſe it wants its Name, which he conceal'd, not as St. Jerom conjectures, διὰ φθόνον, to avoid the Offence of thoſe who liked not his Perſon, by reaſon of his Doctrine concerning the Non-obſervation of their Law, for it is evident from his Deſire of their Prayers, and from his Intimation that he deſigned ſhortly to be with them, that he muſt be well known unto them; but, as Theodoret obſerves, becauſe he was made an Apoſtle, not of the Circumciſion, but of the Gentiles. Laſtly, The Difference in Style ſome mention, is ſo nice a thing, and may happen upon ſo many Accounts, that it deſerves not to be looked on as an Argument of any Force againſt plain Teſtimonies of the Ancients, that St. Paul was the Author of this Work.

2dly, That this Epiſtle was written and directed to the Jews dwelling in Judea and Paleſtine, is the Opinion of the (r) Ancients, tho' not ſo as to exclude the believing Jews of the Diſperſion. This may be argued from the Endorſement of it, To the Hebrews, rather than To the Jews. It cannot be imagined but that he ſends it to be delivered at a certain place, within ſome reaſonable compaſs, ſeeing the Bearer of it, whoever he was, could not deliver it to all the Jews diſpers'd through the whole World; and becauſe he directs them to pray, that he might be reſtored to them, and promiſeth to come and ſee them. The Title therefore, To the Hebrews, muſt determine the Place, and point out the Jews that dwelt in Judea, or the Land of Iſrael; and this Senſe doth the Holy Ghoſt put upon the Title, The Hebrews, when it is ſaid, There was a murmuring of the Helleniſts againſt the Hebrews, Acts 6. 1. By the Helleniſts meaning the Jews that dwelt in Foreign Countries, among the Greeks; and by the Hebrews thoſe that dwelt in Judæa. So again, 2 Cor. 11. 22. Are they Hebrews? ſo am I: Are they Iſraelites? ſo am I. And Phil. 3. 5. Of the Stock of Iſrael, an Hebrew of the Hebrews, i. e. an Hebrew not only by Deſcent, as were all of the Stock of Iſrael, but by Language which ſome of them had loſt; and by Habitation in the Holy Land, and not among the uncircumciſed Gentiles, he being bred up at the Feet of Gamaliel. And ſo it is moſt proper to underſtand the Inſcription of this Epiſtle, namely, that St. Paul directs and ſends it to the believing Jews of Judæa, which he ſtiles his own Nation, Acts 24. 17. For though he, doubtleſs, did intend it alſo for the Benefit of the believing Jews diſpers'd, yet might he ſend it firſt and chiefly to thoſe in Judæa, the principal Seat of the Circumciſion, from whence it might in time diffuſe itſelf through the whole Circumference of the Circumciſion.

But hence it cannot reaſonably be concluded that this Epiſtle was writ in Hebrew, or in Syriack: For the Goſpel of St. John, and his firſt Epiſtle, the Catholick Epiſtles of St. James, Peter, and St. Jude, were alſo written to the Jews, and yet were writ in Greek, that being a Tongue ſo well known to the Jews, that they call it the vulgar Tongue; therefore in all the Diſcourſes of the Jews with the Roman Governors, who underſtood the Greek Tongue, we never read, either in Scripture, or Joſephus, that the Jews ſpake to them, or they unto the Jews, by an Interpreter; nor is there any of the Ancients who pretends to have ſeen any Hebrew Copy of this Epiſtle. That it was writ in Greek, appears not only from the Paſſages of Scripture, ſo often cited in it from the Septuagint, even where they differ from the Hebrew, Chap. 1. 6. 3. 8, 9, 10. 8. 8, 9. 10. 5, 37, 38. but alſo from Chap. 7. 2. where we read thus, πρῶτον μὲν ἑρμηνευόμενος βασιλεὺς δικαιοσύνης, firſt being interpreted King of Righteouſneſs, and afterwards King of Salem, which is King of Peace; for both the Word Melchiſedeck, and King of Salem, being in the firſt Verſe, ſhould 4thly, As for the Time when this Epiſtle was indited, 1. It ſeems evident, that it was written after that to the Coloſſians and to Philemon; for there he is Paul the Priſoner, here he is ſet at Liberty, and hoping to come quickly to them to whom he writes: Thoſe Epiſtles therefore being writ in the 62d Year of Chriſt, and the 8th of Nero, this muſt at leaſt be written in the following Year. Again, in the Epiſtle to the Coloſſians, we have mention of St. Timothy, but nothing of his Bonds; here we have mention both of his Impriſonment and his enſuing Liberty, which may well caſt this Epiſtle into the 9th of Nero, where it is placed by Biſhop Pearſon.

Laſtly, To ſpeak a little of the Occaſion of it: I have ſhew'd in the Preface to the 2d Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, and in the Preface to the Epiſtle of St. James, that it was written chiefly to prevent that Epidemical Apoſtacy from Chriſt to Moſes, which the believing Jews were then too prone to. But we learn alſo from the Matter of the Epiſtle, that it was written to prove that Jeſus was the Son of God: Now in what Senſe this chiefly was denied by the Jews, we learn from the Goſpel of St. John, where, when our Lord had ſaid, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work, John 5. 17. The Jews ſeek to kill him, becauſe πατέρα ἴδιον ἔλεγε τὸν Θεὸν, he ſaid God was his own Father, making himſelf equal to God, v. 18. And again, We ſtone thee, ſay they, for Blaſphemy, becauſe thou, being a Man, makeſt thy ſelf God, John 10. 33. What was this Blaſphemy of which they thus accuſe him? It was only this, that he ſaid, I am the Son of God, v. 36. 'Tis therefore plain, they judged it the ſame thing to ſay he was the Son of God, and to ſay that he was God; whence we may rationally conclude, 'twas alſo in this Senſe that the Apoſtle here aſſerts, and doth endeavour to confirm this Truth.

And, Laſtly, This Epiſtle being written to Perſons now relapſing from Chriſt to Moſes, and to the Law given, ſaid they, by Angels; this ſeems to be the Reaſon why the Apoſtle is ſo large in ſhewing that Chriſt was greater than the Angels, a greater Law-giver than Moſes, a greater Prieſt than Aaron, and that the Levitical Prieſthood, Covenant, and Law, were to give place to Chriſt our great High Prieſt, to his new Law of Liberty, and that new Covenant he had eſtabliſhed upon better Promiſes.

CHAP. I.

a Verſe 1. GOD who [a] at ſundry
b times, and [b] in divers manners, ſpake in time paſt unto the Fathers
by the Prophets;

2. Hath in theſe laſt days [the Times of the Meſſiah, ſee Note on 2 Tim. 3. 1.] ſpoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed cd [ἔθηκε, conſtituted,] [c] Heir of all things, [d] by whom alſo he made the Worlds.

e 3. Who being the [e] brightneſs of his Glory,
f and the [f] expreſs Image of his Perſon,
g [or Character of his Subſiſtence,] and [g] upholding
all things by the Word of his Power,
h [h] when he had [Gr. having] by himſelf purged our Sins, ſat down on the Right hand of the Majeſty on high.

4. Being made [Gr. being] ſo much better than the Angels, [and ſuperior to them by this Exaltation to the Right hand of Majeſty] as he i hath by inheritance obtained [i] a more excellent name [Title and Authority] than they.

5. For to which of the Angels ſaid he k at any time [as he did to Chriſt] [k] Thou art my ſon, this day have I begotten thee? And again [to Solomon the Son of David, what did more eminently belong to this Son and Lord of l David] [l] I will be to him a Father, and he ſhall be to me a Son [2 Sam. 7. 14. 1 Chron.
22. 10.]

6. And again, when he bringeth in [ὅταν δὲ πάλιν, and when he brings again] the firſt begotten [from the Dead, Col. 1. 18.] into m the World, he ſaith, And [m] let all the Angels of God worſhip him, [eſtabliſhing thus his Dominion over them, and their Subjection to him, and alſo the Divine Excellence of him who was thus to be worſhipped by the higheſt of created Beings.]

7. And [moreover, ſpeaking] [n] of the Angels, n he [i. e. David only,] ſaith, [He is that God] who maketh his Angels Spirits, [or Winds,] and his Miniſters a Flame of Fire; [giving them no higher Titles than thoſe of his Meſſengers and Miniſters, and ſhewing their efficacy and ſwiftneſs in doing his Commandments, and hearkening to the Voice of his Words, by comparing them to the Winds, and Fire, Pſal. 123.
20, 21.]

8. But [ſpeaking] to [of] the Son, he
[i. e. David, moved by the Holy Ghoſt,] ſaith, Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever, a Sceptre of Righteouſneſs is the Sceptre of thy Kingdom [Pſal. 45. 7.]

9. Thou haſt loved Righteouſneſs, and hated Iniquity; therefore [o] God, even thy o God, hath anointed thee with the Oil of gladneſs, [i. e. advanced thee in Eminence, and Dignity] above thy fellows, [*ſtiling him, in theſe Words, God, and an eternal King; aſcribing to him a Throne and Kingdom, and a righteous Government, to reward his righteous Servants, whom he loves, and to puniſh his obdurate Enemies, whoſe Iniquities render them hateful to him.
So that theſe words again prove both his Divine Nature, and his Exaltation to the Government of the whole World.*]

10. And [that alſo by him be made the Heavens, is teſtified in theſe words ſpoken of him,]
[p] Thou, Lord, in the beginning, haſt laid the p Foundation of the Earth; and the Heavens are the works of thy hands.

11. They ſhall periſh, but thou remaineſt; and they ſhall all wax old, as doth a Garment.

12. And as a Veſture ſhalt thou fold them up, and they ſhall be changed; but thou art the ſame, and thy years ſhall not fail, [Pſ. 102.]

13. But, [yea,] to which of the Angels ſaid he at any time, [as he did to Chriſt, Pſal. 110. 1.] [q] Sit thou on my right-hand, till I make thine Enemies thy foot-ſtool.

14. Are they not all [declared, Pſal. 103. 20, 21. and 104. 4. to be] miniſtering Spirits, ſent forth [not for Government and Dominion, but] to miniſter for them, who [being Sons by Adoption] ſhall be [alſo] [r] Heirs of Salvation.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. Πόλυμερῶς, At ſundry times.] Before the Flood by Enoch, Jude 14. and Noah, 2 Pet. 2. 5. after the Flood by Abraham the Prophet, Gen. 20. 7. who gave to his Children, and Houſhold after him, the Commandments of the Lord, Gen. 18. 19. By Jacob, propheſying to his Sons of things to come in the laſt Days, Gen. 49. 1. By Moſes during their Abode in the Wilderneſs; by Deborah, Samuel, and other Prophets, in the time of the Judges, Judg. 6. 8. By Nathan, in the time of David and Solomon; by Iſaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel, in the time of the Kings; by Daniel, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi, in and after the Captivity.

b Ibid. Πολυτρόπως, In divers manners.] In a Cloud, Fire, a ſtill Breath; by Viſions, Dreams, a Voice from Heaven, and by the Holy Spirit ſpeaking in the Prophets, 2 Pet. 1. 21.

c Ver. 2. Κληρονόμον πάντων, Heir of all things.] As it were by Succeſſion to his Father, who now judgeth no Man, but hath given all Judgment to his Son, Joh. 5. 22. Heb. 3. 6. We cannot deſire a fairer Comment on theſe words, than that of the Socinians on the place, that (a) Chriſt is made Heir of all things in Heaven and Earth, yea of Heaven and Earth itſelf; that he is Heir and Lord of all Angels, and of all Men living and dead, Rom. 14. 8, 9. That he is abſolutely the Heir of all things, and hath the higheſt Empire and Dominion over all Angels, and Men; by which words is ſignified the higheſt Excellency and Divinity, and, as it were, the Unity of Chriſt with God, though with Diverſity, in that he is his Son and Heir, and received this Dominion from another. And I believe 'tis as impoſſible to underſtand how a Man ſhould have this Empire over all things in Heaven and Earth, and over Death itſelf, and yet be a mere Man, as it is to underſtand any Myſtery of the Sacred Trinity. The Word Heir doth alſo ſignify Lord of all things, ſee the Note on Coloſſ. 1. 15.

d Ibid. Δι' οὗ καὶ τοὺς αἰῶνας ἐποίησεν, By whom alſo he made the Worlds.] That is, ſaith Grotius, propter quem, for whom he made them, according to the Doctrine of the Rabbins, that the World was made for the Meſſiah. But this Expoſition is contrary to the Rule of all (b) Grammarians, that τὸ διὰ ὅτε μὲν συντάσσεται γενικῇ μεσιτείαν, ὅτε δὲ αἰτιατικῇ αἰτίαν δηλοῖ, that the Prepoſition διὰ, when it is joined with a Genitive Caſe, ſignifies the means by which, and the final cauſe only, when it is joined with an Accuſative Caſe. 'Tis contrary to the Expoſition of all the Greek Fathers, who unanimouſly ſay, τοῦτο δηλωτικὸν τῆς θεότητος, this ſhews the Divinity of Chriſt. It is alſo without example in the New Teſtament, for διὰ τῆς δόξης τοῦ Πατρὸς, Rom. 6. 4. which is the only place he cites, ſignifies by the Glory, or Power of the Father, by which Chriſt was raiſed from the dead, Eph. 1. 19. Coloſ. 2. 12. The Socinians by the Worlds here underſtand the New Creation, or the Church begun by Chriſt's Miniſtry upon Earth, begotten and renewed by the Evangelical Diſpenſation. But neither can this Expoſition ſtand; For (1.) Though Chriſt be ſtiled in ſome of the Greek Verſions, πατὴρ τοῦ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, Iſai. 9. 6. The Father of the Age to come, yet οἱ αἰῶνες abſolutely put, doth never ſignifie the Church or Evangelical State; nor doth the Scripture ever ſpeak of the World to come in the Plural, but in the Singular Number only, preſerving the Phraſe Holam Habba, as they received it from the Jews. (2*dly*.) Were this the import of the words, the Worlds might as well have been ſaid to have been created, or made by Chriſt's Apoſtles, they being the great Converters of the World; or at leaſt, this being done by them aſſiſted by the Power of Chriſt, after he had been thus made Heir of all things, it muſt have properly been ſaid that Chriſt made the Worlds by his Apoſtles, which yet the Holy Ghoſt never thinks fit to intimate. Moreover, whereas this making of the World by Je- ſus Chriſt, is done by his Prophetick Office, i. e. his ſpeaking to us in the laſt days, the Apoſtle had mention'd this already, and makes a plain gradation from it to his Kingly Office, in ſaying he was conſtituted Lord of all things, not ſpeaking of making the World by way of Conſecution, thus, καὶ δι' οὗ, and by whom; but by way of farther gradation, δι' οὗ καὶ, by whom alſo he made the World; as if he ſhould have ſaid, Nor is it to be wondered that he ſhould be conſtituted Lord of the whole World, ſeeing he made the whole. And that the Apoſtle here doth ſpeak, not of the Reforming of the New, but of the Forming of the Old World, he himſelf ſufficiently inſtructs us, by ſaying in this ſame Epiſtle, By Faith we underſtand, κατηρτίσθαι τοὺς αἰῶνας ῥήματι Θεοῦ, that the Worlds were formed by the Word of God, chap. 11. 3. For that by τοὺς αἰῶνας, we are to underſtand the Material World, the Socinian Commentators grant, and the Parallel Place in St. Peter doth enforce, when he ſaith, that the Heavens were of old, and the Earth, ἐξ ὕδατος συνεστῶσα τῷ τοῦ Θεοῦ λόγῳ, conſiſting out of Water by the Word of God, 2 Pet. 3. 3. and this World is mention'd in both Places in the Plural Number, agreeably to the Phraſe and Doctrine of the Jews, * who ſpeak of עולמים, i. e. the Worlds, in the Plural, and divide them into עולם הזה, or עולם השפל, i. e. this Inferior and Habitable World, called by St. Peter, ὁ τότε κόσμος, the then World which periſhed by Water; v. 6. and the עולם העליון; Superior World, that is, the Heavens. And it is no improbable Conjecture, that when St. Peter ſaith, the Heavens and Earth conſiſted by the Word of God; and St. Paul, that by Faith we learn that the Worlds were framed, ῥήματι Θεοῦ, by the Word of God, they mean this ſubſtantial Word of which the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking; for the word דבר ſeems plainly to be uſed in this ſenſe, when we read in the Targum of Jeruſalem, on Gen. 28. 11. דהוה דבוריה, For his Word, i. e. the Word of God, deſired to ſpeak with Jacob; and in that of Jonathan, דבירא, the Word would ſpeak with him; which in Bereſchith Rabba, § 68. runs thus, God would ſpeak with him; and the word ῥῆμα, ſeems alſo to be either uſed in this ſenſe, or applied to the λόγος, oft by (b) Philo, as when he ſaith, that Moſes was tranſlated, διὰ ῥήματος τοῦ αἰτίου, δι' οὗ καὶ σύμπας κόσμος ἐδημιουργεῖτο, by the Word of the Firſt Cauſe, by which the World was made; and that God made both (c) the Heavens and the Earth by a Word, by his moſt illuſtrious and reſplendent λόγος. And to be ſure, Philo was of the ſame opinion with St. Paul, that the Word made and faſhioned the World, whence he ſo often mentions, the Divine Word (d) adorning all things, the Word of God that maketh the World, the Word by which the World is faſhioned and made, and by which, as his Organ, God gave being to it; and ſaith in words like thoſe of the Apoſtle, (e) That God poſſeſſeth all things, uſing that Word as the Diſpenſer of his Gifts, by which alſo he made the World. And this was alſo the Doctrine of all the Primitive Fathers from the Beginning, as well as of all the Commentators on this Text. (f) St. Barnabas declares, that he is the Lord of the World, the Maker of the Sun, the Perſon by whom, and to whom are all things. He is, ſaith (g) Juſtin Martyr, the Word by which the Heaven, the Earth, and every Creature was made, by whom God at the Beginning made and ordained all things, viz. the Heavens and the Earth, and by whom he will renew them. This (h) Irenæus delivers as the Rule of Faith contained in the Scripture, which they who hold to, may eaſily prove, that the Hereticks had deviated from the Truth. He adds, that the Barbarians who held the Ancient Tradition, did believe in one God, the Maker of Heaven and Earth, and of all things therein, by Jeſus Chriſt the Son of God; and this Doctrine he repeats almoſt an hundred times elſewhere. Our Doctrine, ſaith (i) Athenagoras, celebrates one God,

God the Creator of all things, who made all things by Jeſus Chriſt, from whom, and by whom all things were made. God, ſaith (k) Theophilus, made all things by him, and he is called the Beginning, becauſe he is the Principle, and Ruler of all things made by him. He adds, That by this Principle God made the Heavens: That God ſaid to him, Let us make Man; he being his Word, by which he made all things. Him, (l) ſaith Tatian, we know to have been the Author of the World; for that which was begotten in the beginning, gave beginning to the things made. He made Man the Image of his Immortality, and before Man he made the Angels. We Rational Creatures, ſaith (m) Clemens of Alexandria, are the Work of God the Word; for he was and is the Divine Principle of all things, by whom all things were made, and who, as the Framer of all things, in the beginning, gave alſo life to us; by whom are all things; who made Man, our God and Maker, the Cauſe of the Creation. In the Third Century we learn the ſame from (n) Origen, (o) Tertullian, (p) Novatian, (q) St. Cyprian, and others cited by the learned Dr. Bull. So that in theſe two Verſes there be viſible theſe Gradations; one, from Chriſt's Prophetick Office to his Kingly Office conferred on him as Heir of all things; the other, from his Kingly Office to the Foundation of it, laid in his Divine Nature, and in the Work of the Creation; it being, ſay Irenæus, and the Ancient Fathers, fit that he ſhould reform, and govern the World, by whom 'twas formed: that he ſhould give new Life to Man, who gave him his Being, and firſt Breath.

Ver. 3. Ἀπαύγασμα τῆς δόξης, i. e. The Reſplendence, or ſhining-forth of his Glory.] This Metaphor ſome of the Fathers think is taken from the Sun, whence (r) Juſtin Martyr ſaith, he proceedeth from the Father, as τὸ τοῦ ἡλίου φῶς, the Light of the Sun, without Diviſion, or Separation from him. Others with him, παραδείγματος χάριν, for Example's ſake, ſay (ſ) he proceedeth ὡς ἀπὸ πυρὸς ἀναπυρέμμα πυρά, as Fire is kindled from Fire without the Diminution of the Fire that kindles it, or as ἀπὸ δαδὸς δᾷς, as one Torch is lighted from another, which is the Metaphor of Tatian, p. 145. which Metaphors they have borrowed from (t) Philo, who ſpeaking of the Spirit in Moſes, derived upon the Seventy Elders, cautions us not to underſtand this to be done, κατ᾽ ἀποκοπὴν, καὶ διάζευξιν, by Abſciſſion, or Disjunction, ἀλλ᾽ οἷα γένοιτ᾽ ἂν ἀπὸ πυρὸς, but as Light from Fire, at which if you light a thouſand Torches, it is not diminiſhed. Accordingly the Nicene Council ſtyle him Light of Light, and hence they argue his Conſubſtantiality with the Father, who produces not another Eſſence, or Subſtance, in the Son, but communicates the ſame Eſſence to him. The like Notions the Jews ſeem to have had of their Λόγος, or Wiſdom, which is with them the ſame: For the Book of Wiſdom ſaith of her, that ſhe is, ἀπόῤῥοια τῆς τοῦ παντοκράτορος δόξης εἰλικρινὴς, καὶ ἀπαύγασμα φωτὸς ἀϊδίου, an Efflux of the ſincere Glory of the Almighty, and the Splendour of Eternal Light, chap. 7. 25, 26. And (u) Philo ſaith of the Λόγος, that he is τὸ τοῦ ἀοράτου καὶ μεγίστου Θεοῦ περιφεγγέστατον καὶ περιαυγέστατον φῶς, the moſt illuſtrious and ſplendid Light of the Inviſible and Higheſt God. And this the Jews might better underſtand, if it were taken, as probably it was, from the Glory that conducted them out of Egypt, and led them through the Wilderneſs, and dwelt among them, firſt in the Ark, and Tabernacle, and afterwards in the Temple. For 'tis obſervable,

1. That this δόξα, Glory, or Schechinah, ſo often mention'd in the Old Teſtament, and in the Writings of the Jews, was not the Cloud itſelf, that being only the Cover of it, but the Light, Fire, or Splendour that iſſued from it. So Exod. 24. 16. And the Glory of the Lord dwelt upon Mount Sinai, and the Cloud covered it, (viz. the Glory of the Lord) ſix days; and the ſight of the Glory of the Lord (when it broke out of the Cloud after ſix days) was as burning fire on the top of the Mount, in the ſight of the People of Iſrael. And Exod. 40. 34. Then a Cloud covered the Tent of the Congregation, and the Glory of the Lord filled the Tabernacle. And v. 35. Moſes was not able to enter into the Tent of the Congregation, becauſe the Cloud abode thereon, and the Glory of the Lord filled the houſe, 1 Kings 8. 10, 11. And when he went to receive his Commands, it is ſaid, And Moſes drew near to the thick Darkneſs where God was, Exod. 20. 21. And laſtly, God is ſaid to go before them by Day in a Pillar of a Cloud, and by Night in the Pillar of Fire, Exod. 13. 21. Numb 14. 14.

Again, The Ark in which this Glory dwelt between the Cherubims, is call'd, כבוד יי, the Glory of the Lord, i. e. of that glorious Majeſty who dwelt in it; whence the God of Iſrael is often ſtyled the God that ſitteth between the Cherubims; becauſe here, ſay the (x) Jews, he fixed his Reſidence, and Preſence, notwithſtanding that he fills Heaven and Earth, and his Majeſty is in Heaven, and in all the Earth. And when the Ark was to be taken up and carried any-whither, they ſung thus, Ariſe, Jehovah, and let thine Enemies be ſcattered, Numb. 10. 35. Pſal. 68. 2. and when it reſted, thus, Give reſt, Jehovah, to the many thouſands of Iſrael; not ſtyling the Ark, Jehovah, but the glorious Majeſty that dwelt in it, or him, and the Ark of his ſtrength, Pſal. 132. 8. where alſo it may be noted, That the Targum of Jeruſalem and Jonathan read thus; Riſe up, O Word of the Lord, and Return, O Word of the Lord. And Pſal. 24. when the Ark was brought from the Houſe of Obed-Edom, and ſettled in Mount-Sion, and placed in the Holy of Holies, they ſung thus; Lift up your heads, O ye Gates, that the King of Glory may come in, i. e. the Lord of Hoſts, who dwelt in the Ark.

Accordingly our Lord Jeſus, after his Aſcenſion, appeared ſtill in, or with the Glory of the Lord. When he was transfigured on Mount Tabor, he was in this Splendour, Matth. 17. 2. ſtyled by St. Peter, μεγαλοπρεπὴς δόξα, the Magnificent Glory, 2 Pet. 1. 17. So he appeared to Stephen, who ſaw the Glory of the Lord, and Jeſus ſtanding at the Right hand of God, Acts 7. 55. So to Saul, when a Light brighter than the Sun ſhone round about him, and he heard a Voice out of it, ſaying to him, I am Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt, Acts 9. 5. and 26. 13. He being ὁ Κύριος τῆς δόξης, the Lord of Glory, 1 Cor. 2. 8. ſee Rev. 1. 14, 15. and 2. 18. and 18. 1. and 19. 12. And becauſe of God's Reſidence in this Glory, the word Glory doth often ſignifie God himſelf; as when we read of the Throne, and the Houſe of Glory, i. e. of the Glorious God. So (y) Rabbi Joſeph Abbo; It is the manner of the Scripture, to call the Viſible Glory and Splendour of the Divine Majeſty, by the Name of God. So Pſal. 106. 20. They turned their Glory into the ſimilitude of a Calf: Jer. 2. 12. My People have changed their Glory for that which doth not profit. And ſo the Fathers ſeem to take the word Glory here for the Divine Glory. Note,

3*dly*, That from this Glory, when God did any wondrous Works of Power, Mercy, and Judgment, there is ſaid to be an Emanation or Shining-forth of Glory; as when Fire went forth from the Glory of the Lord, to conſume their Sacrifices, in token of his favourable Acceptance of them. So Lev. 9. 23, 24. The Glory of the Lord appeared, and there came a Fire out from before the Lord, and conſumed upon the Altar the Burnt Offering, and the Fat. So 2 Chron. 7. 1, 2, 3. Accordingly they begg'd his Favour, in theſe words; Thou that dwelleſt between the Cherubims, ſhine forth, Pſal. 80. 1. See Pſal. 50. 2. Deut. 33. 2. And to conſume Tranſgreſſors, viz. Nadab and Abihu, Lev. 10. 2. and the Two hundred and fifty Men that offered Incenſe, Numb. 16. 35. See Exod. 14. 24, 25. And in like manner may the Son be ſaid to be ἀπαύγασμα τῆς δόξης, an Emanation or Shining-forth from the Glory of the Father; as being before all things; Prolatus à Patre, ſive generatus; begotten or brought-forth by the Father, ſaith Irenæus, l. 2. c. 48. 4. 28. being always in Him, but τῶν ὑλικῶν ξυμπάντων ἰδέα καὶ ἐνέργεια εἶναι προελθών, coming forth before all things, to be the Idea, and Active Power of all Material Beings: So Athenagoras, p. 10. The Word, whom the Father begat, ἐξερευξάμενος πρὸ πάντων, ſending him forth before all things, who was always in God, and became λόγος προφορικὸς, when he would create the World. So (z) Theophilus, whom he made, προπηδᾷν, to leap from him, ſay (a) Juſtin Martyr and Tatian, he being in him before all Ages; προελθὼν ὁ λόγος δημιουργίας, the Word coming forth, which is the Cauſe of the Creation, προγεννηθεὶς δι' οὗ τὰ πάντα, and fore-begotten, by which all things were made, ſaith (b) Clemens Alexandrinus. The Word brought forth by the Father, and by that Prolation generated, and therefore the Son of God, ſaith (c) Tertullian.

f Ibid. Καὶ χαρακτὴρ τῆς ὑποστάσεως αὐτοῦ, The Impreſſion, or Repreſentation of his Subſiſtence.] The Phraſe ſignifies, ſaith Theodoret, that he ſubſiſts by himſelf, καὶ ἐν ἑαυτῷ δείκνυσι τοὺς πατρικοὺς χαρακτῆρας, and in himſelf repreſents the Characters of his Father. Χαρακτὴρ, ſaith Phavorinus, is διατύπωσις δηλοῦσα τὴν ὑπόστασιν, a Form or Draught manifeſting the Subſtance whence it was taken. Ὑπόστασις, ſaith he, is the Subſtance with the Properties; οὐσία μετὰ τῶν ἰδιωμάτων, or συνδρομὴ τῶν περὶ ἑκάστου ἰδιωμάτων, a Concourſe of all the Properties of any Being; ſo that the Character of his Subſiſtence here, is according to him, a Draught manifeſting, or exhibiting the Subſtance and Properties of God. According to the Greek Commentators on the Place, it is the ſame with our Lord's being in the Form of God, before he took our Nature on him, Phil. 2. 5. Accordingly, Wiſdom is, by the Author of the Book that bears that Name, ſtyled ἔσοπτρον ἀκηλίδωτον τῆς τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐνεργείας, καὶ εἰκὼν τῆς ἀγαθότητος αὐτοῦ, The unſpotted Mirrour of the Power or Activity of God, and the Image of his Goodneſs, Chap. 7. 26. The Λόγος is, ſaith (d) Philo, ἀΐδιος εἰκὼν αὐτοῦ, the Eternal Image of God. (e) The Image of God, δι' οὗ σύμπας ὁ κόσμος ἐδημιουργεῖτο, by which the whole World was made. And of the Angel which God ſent before Iſrael, in whom God's Name was, Exod. 23. 22. the Jews ſay he was, מלאך פניו, i. e. the Angel of his Face; becauſe, ſaith (f) R. M. Gerundenſis, God's Face, or Glory, might be ſeen in him, or be exactly repreſented by him; yea, the Government of the whole World was committed to him, and God had made him Lord over his whole Houſe, and had made all things ſubject to him. Now theſe things ſo exactly agree with what the Apoſtle here aſcribes to Chriſt, that I could not think them unworthy to be noted here.

g Ibid. Φέρων τε πάντα τῷ ῥήματι τῆς δυνάμεως αὐτοῦ, And upholding all things by the Word of his Power. The Hebrew word נשא, is ſometimes rendered φέρω, ſuſtineo; as when 'tis ſaid of Moſes, Numb. 11. 14, 17. I cannot φέρειν, ſuſtain, or bear all this People. And Deut. 1. 9, 12. How can I alone, φέρειν τὸν κόπον, bear the Labour of all this People? And of Chriſt, that φέρει, he bears the Burthen of our Sin, Iſa. 53. 4. Sometimes it ſignifies to govern; whence נשיא is ſometimes rendered βασιλεὺς, a King, Gen. 23. 6. ſometimes ἄρχων, a Prince, as it is rendered above ſixty times; ſometimes ἀρχηγὸς in the ſame ſenſe, Numb. 13. 3. and 16. 2. and ſometimes ἡγούμενος, a Governour, Joſ. 13. 22. 2 Chron. 5. 1. and the Greek φέρειν, ſignifies not only to ſuſtain, but alſo, ſuo arbitratu moderari, to govern at his Will: Now which of theſe two Senſes you put upon the words, it is not much material, ſince it is equally the Effect of a Divine Power to ſuſtain, and govern all things; whence this is, by the Jews, made the Deſcription of God himſelf, that he is a God, סכיל כלא, (g) ſuſtaining all things, the Heavens, the Earth, and the Abyſs, and bearing all People, ברוח מימרוה, by the Spirit of his Word. Accordingly of the Λόγος, (h) Philo often ſaith, That he is πηδαλιοῦχος καὶ κυβερνήτης πάντων, he that ſits at the Helm, and Governs all things: That he is (i) ὁ συνέχων καὶ διοικῶν τὰ πάντα, he that containeth and diſpenſeth all things: That God, as a King and Shepherd, rules according to Law and Right, and placing over us his firſt-begotten Son, (k) ὃς τὴν ἐπιμέλειαν τῆς ἱερᾶς ταύτης ἀγέλης οἷα τις μεγάλου βασιλέως ὕπαρχος διαδέχεται, who, as the Pro-Rex of the Great King, takes care of the Sacred Flock.

It remains yet to be enquired, whether theſe things are ſpoken of our Lord, as acting here on Earth, or purely of the Divine Nature he had before the World was made. The Socinians, and ſome others, think all this relates to our Saviour, as acting here on Earth; That he was the Splendour of his Father's Glory; becauſe God, who commanded the Light to ſhine out of Darkneſs, hath ſhined into our Hearts, to give the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6. On which account the Apoſtle ſaith, We have ſeen his Glory, the Glory as of the Only-begotten Son of God, John. 1. 14. That he was the Character of his Subſtance, or his Attributes, as he was the Image of the Inviſible God, Col. 1. 15. in which his Power, Wiſdom, Holineſs, Love and Mercy ſhined forth conſpicuouſly: That he did φέρειν, Præſtare, perform all things by the Word of his Power; as he made the Winds and Seas calm, rebuked Diſeaſes, and caſt out Devils by his Word. And Mr. Clerc is poſitive, That it muſt be the Human Nature which this Sacred Writer ſpake of, that the Jews might underſtand what he ſaid was true; for that alone is viſible; and nothing but what is ſuch, can be called the

Image, or brightneſs of any thing among Men. On the other hand it is certain that all the Fathers were of another mind; that when Philo and the ancient Jews ſpake thus of Wiſdom, the Logos, the Angel of God's Face, they underſtood all that they ſaid of the Logos, and Wiſdom ſubſiſting long before our Saviour's Incarnation, and ſo thought this Logos the Splendor and Image of the Father, when he was not viſible among Men; as the Apoſtle ſaith he was, when he was taken from them into Heaven. 'Tis certain alſo, that the preceding words, by whom alſo he made the Worlds, cannot be ſpoken of Chriſt Incarnate; and the words, upholding all things by the Word of his Power, ſeem to import the ſame with that Expreſſion of the Apoſtle, Col. 1. 17. By him all things conſiſt. Moreover, could theſe things be attributed to our Lord Chriſt as acting in the Fleſh, yet have I proved, Note on Col. 1. 15. that they muſt be aſcribed to a Divine Nature reſiding in him, or to God manifeſted in the Fleſh, and ſo what Mr. Clerk ſays muſt be the Human Nature, muſt, ſay I, be the Divine Nature.

h Ibid. Δι' ἑαυτȣ͂ καθαρισμὸν ποιησάμενος ἁμαρτιῶν, When he had by himſelf purged our Sins] I. e. When he had made himſelf an Expiatory Sacrifice, to purge us from the Guilt and Puniſhment of our Tranſgreſſions. To confirm this let it be noted,

Firſt, That this was the Opinion of all Nations, that their Expiatory Sacrifices were deſigned to take away the Guilt of Sin, and make Atonement for it to an offended Majeſty. For why are they ſtill ſaid, ἁγνίζειν, καθαρίζειν, purgare, luſtrare, to purge, and to make clean, but from their ſuppoſed Vertue to purify them from the Guilt of Sin? And becauſe Sin is often repreſented in the Law of Moſes, and in the Prophets, under the Metaphors of Uncleanneſs, Filthineſs, Defilement and Pollution; therefore their Sacrifices alſo are ſtill repreſented as cleanſing them from the Guilt and the Defilement of Sin, and ſo making the Pollution to paſs from them. Hence the Blood which made the Atonement is ſtiled, αἷμα καθαρισμȣ͂, the Blood of Cleanſing, or Purgation. So Exod. 30. 10. And Aaron ſhall make an Atonement upon the Horns of the Incenſe-Offering once a Year, ἀπὸ τȣ͂ αἵματος καθαρισμȣ͂ καθαριεῖ αὐτὸ, with the Blood of the Sin-Offering ſhall he make Atonement upon it. And the Sacrifice offered for Sin, is ſaid to be offered καθαρίσαι, to purifie them from it by an Atonement. So Lev. 9. 15. And he brought the People's Offering, and took the Goat which was the Sin-Offering, and ſlew it, ϗ ἐκαθάρισεν αὐτὸν, and offered it for Sin. And Lev. 16. 30. In the great day of Atonement, the Prieſt ſhall make an Atonement for you, καθαρίσαι ὑμᾶς, to cleanſe you, that you may be clean from all your Sins before the Lord, ϗ καθαρισθήσετε, and you ſhall be cleanſed. So Job is ſaid καθαρίζειν, to cleanſe his Sons from their ſuppoſed Sins by a Burnt Offering, Ch. 1. 5. and ſo he enquires, Ch. 7. 21. Why doſt thou not make καθαρισμὸν τῆς ἁμαρτίας μȣ; i. e. Why doſt thou not forgive my Sin? Since therefore it is very reaſonable to conceive that the word καθαρίζειν uſed in an Epiſtle written to the Jews touching the Expiatory Sacrifice of Chriſt, is uſed in the ſenſe in which they always took it when applied in the Old Teſtament, to Sacrifices which made Atonement for their Sins; it follows, that when the Apoſtle here ſaith, Chriſt made καθαρισμὸν, a purgation of our Sins by himſelf. And when he adds, That whereas the Blood of the Legal Sacrifices did expiate εἰς τὴν τῆς σαρκὸς καθαρότητα, to the Purification of the Fleſh, the Blood of Chriſt καθαριεῖ, ſhall much more expiate to the Purification of the Conſcience from the Guilt of Sin, Ch. 9. 13. When he proceeds to ſay, That whereas under the Law almoſt all things ἐν αἵματι καθαρίζεται, were purified by Blood, and without ſhedding of Blood there was no Remiſſion, v. 22, 23. And thence argues, That the heavenly things muſt be purged with better Sacrifices: He in theſe caſes muſt ſpeak of the Blood of Chriſt as making Atonement for our Sins, by purging away the Guilt of them, and averting the Puniſhment due to us for them. (See the Reading vindicating, Examen Millii.)

Ver. 4. Διαφορώτερον ὄνομα, A more excellent Name] I. e. not only Title, but Authority, and Superior Excellency. So Phil. 2. 9. God hath highly exalted him, and given him ὄνομα τὸ ὑπὲρ πᾶν ὄνομα, a Name above every Name, i. e. the higheſt Dignity and Power, that at the Name of Jeſus every knee ſhould bow; i. e. that all Creatures in Heaven, or Earth, or under it, ſhould own his Power and Dominion, v. 10. Eph. 1. 21. He hath ſet him at his Right hand, above all Principality, Power, Might and Dominion, ϗ παντὸς ὀνόματος, and every name. In both theſe ſenſes Chriſt hath a more excellent Name, viz. the Name of his only Son, v. 5. the Name of God, v. 8. and a more excellent Authority and Dignity, viz. that of ſitting at the Right hand of Majeſty, v. 13. and ruling all things by the word of his Power; and this Excellency he hath upon a better Foundation, as being the Maker of the World, &c. v. 2, 3. i

Ver. 5. Υἱός μȣ εἶ σὺ, Thou art my Son.] k (m) *R. mand, Jehovah hath ſaid unto me, Thou art my Son, &c. which alſo is apparent from the following words, I will give the Heathen for thine Inheritance, &c. v. 8. and from the Exhortation to all Kings to ſubmit to him. And that this was the ancient and receiv'd Expoſition of theſe words, confirm'd by the Holy Ghoſt, we learn from this Apoſtle, who diſputing with the Jews touching our Saviour's Reſurrection, when all Power in Heaven and Earth was given to him, Matth. 28. 18. he proves it from theſe very words, Acts 13. 33. And again, ſpeaking of his Prieſthood which he was to exerciſe in Heaven after his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, he proves it to the ſame Jews from the ſame words, Heb. 5. 5.

l Ibid. Ἔσομαι ἀυτῷ ἔις πατέρα, I will be to him a Father, &c.] Theſe words are cited from 2 Sam. 7. 14. and they do promiſe to Solomon, the Type of Chriſt, a Kingdom to be eſtabliſhed for ever, v. 13, 16. and ſo to Chriſt the Antitype, and eminently the Son of God, an everlaſting Kingdom and Dominion. See the Judgment of the Jewiſh Church, p. 61.

Note alſo, That though the Angels be ſometimes in Scripture called the Sons of God, Job 1. 6. 2. 1. 38. 7. God never ſaid to any of them, I will be to him a Father, to protect him in his Kingdom; much leſs, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee, to a Kingdom: And ſo theſe Paſſages, in the true and full Extent of them, cannot agree to any of the Angels.

m Ver. 6. Προσκυνησάτωσαν ἀυτῷ πάντες ἄγγελοι Θεȣ̃, Let all the Angels of God worſhip him.] 'Tis generally thought theſe words are cited from Pſalm 97. 7. where in the Septuagint we have words very like them, viz. προσκυνήσατε ἀυτῷ πάντες Ἄγγελοι ἀυτȣ̃, Worſhip him all his Angels; in the Hebrew it is indeed כל אלהים all ye Elohim; but then Aben Ezra's Note is, that ſome think כל אלהים הם המלאכים the word Elohim always denotes the Angels: And (o) Kimchi ſaith, the Hebrews did expound this Pſalm, of what was to come to paſs in the Days of the Meſſiah. In the Septuagint it is ſtiled a Pſalm of David, ὅτε ἡ γῆ ἀυτῷ καθίςατο, when the Land was eſtabliſhed to him, or when he was made Maſter of all thoſe Countries which God deſigned to be the Inheritance of Iſrael, and therefore may very properly be referr'd to the Son of David, at his Reſurrection, or his coming again into the World, that being the time when all Power in Heaven and Earth was given to him, when he was ſolemnly inaugurated, and inſtated in his Spiritual, and Heavenly Kingdom, and the Government was upon his Shoulders, and he ſat down on the Right hand of the Majeſty on high, v. 3.

But it is obſervable, that theſe words are expreſly to be found, Deut. 32. 43. as here they are cited: And it is certain from St. Paul, that God there ſpeaks of the Times when the Meſſiah was to be preached unto the Gentiles, for that the Gentiles ſhould glorify God for his Mercy, he proves from theſe words of the ſame Verſe, Rejoyce ye Gentiles with his People, Rom. 15. 9, 10. Accordingly the Jews expound many of the Words of Moſes here recorded. Thus Jonathan on v. 39. ſaith thus, When Memra d' Jehovah, the Word of the Lord ſhall reveal himſelf to redeem his People, he ſhall ſay to all People, See, I am he that am, and have been, and ſhall be; (See Heb. 13. 8.) I by my Word kill and make alive, I ſmite the People Iſrael, and I will heal them in the end of the Days. On v. 40. the Targum of Jeruſalem ſaith thus, I live במימרי by my Word for ever: That of Jonathan, I have prepared in the Heavens, בית שכנתי the Houſe of my Majeſty; that is, ſaith R. Solomon, מקום שכינתי the Place of my Majeſty; Expreſſions often uſed by (p) Philo to ſignify the λόγος, as when he ſaith, οἶκον ἔχειν τὸν ἑαυτȣ̃ λόγον, God hath his Houſe, viz. his own Word, and (q) that ὁ θεῖος λόγος, the Divine Word in his place; and upon v. 43. Jonathan Ben Uziel paraphraſeth thus, He with his Word will expiate for the Land, and for his People, viz. as the High-Prieſt did on the great Day of Expiation. The other words, He will render Vengeance to his Enemies, and make his Arrows drunk with the Blood of the Slain, are fit Expreſſions of Chriſt's exerciſe of his Kingly Government over his Enemies, by which he was to break them with a rod of Iron, and daſh them in pieces as a Potter's Veſſel, Pſal. 2. 9. The import of theſe words therefore may be this, When God was to introduce his Firſt-born again into the World by the Reſurrection, and give him Power and Dominion over all things in Heaven and Earth, he ſaid, Let all the Angels of God worſhip him, and own him as their Lord and Maker. Dr. Owen ſaith, this cannot be applied to the Reſurrection, becauſe Chriſt did not leave the World, or go out of it at his Death; but to this it may be anſwered that going hence, Pſalm 29. 13. and going out of the World, 1 Cor. 5. 10. are common Expreſſions to ſignify Death. And 2*dly*, God being ſaid to beget Chriſt, when he raiſed him from the dead, Pſa. 2. 7. Act. 13. 33. Heb. 5. 5. And gave him power over all things in Heaven and Earth, i. e. over all the World, this may be fitly called a ſecond Introduction of him into the World. 3*dly*, Whereas he ſaith, that theſe Words προσκυνήσαι ἀυτῷ

&c. cannot be taken from Deut. 32. 42. Becauſe there are no ſuch Words in the Original, and it is abſurd to think the Apoſtle ſhould cite that from the Scripture as the Word and Teſtimony of God, which indeed is not in it, nor was ever ſpoken by God, for this, and for Two other Reaſons offered by the Reverend Dr. Hammond, note on Pſal. 97. 7. I think it more reaſonable to conceive theſe Words were taken from the Pſalms.

n Ver. 7. Πρὸς τοὺς ἀγγέλους.] The Pſalmiſt ſpeaking, Pſal. 104. 4. not to, but of the Angels, it is neceſſary to tranſlate theſe words as our Verſion doth: Of the Angels he ſaith, and as the Hebrew אל, ſo the Greek πρὸς, is oft of the ſame import with de and περὶ. He ſpake this Parable πρὸς αὐτοὺς, concerning them, Luke 19. 20. Mark 12. 12. πρὸς δὲ τὸν Ἰσραὴλ, but of Iſrael he ſaith, Rom. 10. 21. πρὸς ὃν, of whom we ſpeak, Heb. 4. 13. So Neh. 2. 18. He ſpake to you of the good hand of God upon him, καὶ πρὸς τοὺς λόγους τοῦ βασιλέως, and of the words of the King. Of the Particle אל, ſee Noldius, p. 458.

o Ver. 9. Ὁ Θεὸς ὁ Θεός σου, God even thy God.] For Chriſt is God of God, according to the Nicene Symbol. Hence do the Primitive Fathers thus diſtinguiſh betwixt Him and the Father; That God the Father is that God above whom there is no other God: Whereas Chriſt is God of God; and as to that inferior to God the Father. So (r) Juſt. Mart. and Irenæus. That this Pſalm was ſpoken of the Meſſiah, is evident from the Targum on the place, which ſaith, Becauſe thou, O King Meſſiah, haſt loved Juſtice, &c. And on verſe 3. Thy Fairneſs, O King Meſſiah, exceeds the Sons of Men. To this purpoſe ſee Rabbi Solomon, and Aben Ezra, on this Pſalm.

p Ver. 10. That this Pſalm hath relation to the Times of the Meſſiah, we learn from the Chaldee Paraphraſt, which ſaith on v. 16. Zion is builded by the Word of the Lord: And from the Creation of a new People to praiſe the Lord, v. 18. which the Jews themſelves expound of the World to come, or the State of the Church under the Meſſiah: And 3*dly*, From the Calling of the Gentiles, mentioned, v. 15. So the Heathens ſhall fear the Name of the Lord; and all the Kings of the Earth thy Glory. And v. 22. When the People are gathered together, and the Kingdoms to ſerve the Lord. See the Judgment of the Jewiſh Church, p. 38. That theſe things are here ſpoken of, and applied to Chriſt, is alſo evident, 1. From the connective Particle καὶ, which knits this to the former Citation, and makes it to run thus: Of the Son it is ſaid, Thy Throne, O God, is for ever, καὶ, and of him it is alſo ſaid, Thou Lord in the beginning haſt laid the Foundations of the Earth. 2. From the Scope of the Apoſtle, which both before and after, is, to bring Teſtimonies to prove the Excellency of the Meſſiah, and the Truth of what he had aſſerted of him, v. 2, 3. and therefore he muſt purſue the ſame Deſign here. And 3*dly*, From the Conceſſion of the Socinians upon the place, That the latter words, which ſpeak of the Deſtruction of the Heavens, and the Earth, belong to Chriſt. Now theſe words, They ſhall periſh, but thou remaineſt, are plainly ſpoken of the ſame Perſon, who founded the Earth in the beginning; and therefore muſt equally belong to Chriſt; But here it's objected:

Obj. That if the Author of this Epiſtle had indeed believ'd that Chriſt was the Creator of the World, to what purpoſe doth he ſpend ſo much time to prove him more excellent than the Angels? For who can doubt that the Creator is more excellent than his Creatures?

Anſ. 1. He doth not abſolutely go about to prove him more excellent than the Angels, but comparatively, ſo far more excellent as the Titles given him in Scripture ſhew'd that he exceeded them; and that was as much as the Creator doth exceed his Creatures.

2*dly*, I have ſhew'd, Note on the 2d and 3d Verſes, that the Apoſtle had aſſerted not only Chriſt's Dignity, as Heir of all things; and ſo ſucceeding in his Father's Kingdom; but alſo that he was therefore Lord of all things, becauſe he made the World, and therefore was obliged in his Teſtimonies, to prove both theſe things; as he doth in moſt of the Teſtimonies produced.

3*dly*, As there were then divers Hereticks, who aſcribed the Creation of this viſible World to Angels, and not to Chriſt; ſo alſo were there divers Jews who held that they were God's Miniſters, or συνεργοὶ, Co-workers in the Creation of the World; and that God ſaid to them, Let us make Man, Gen. 1. 26. Now againſt theſe Jews and Hereticks, the Apoſtle very appoſitely proves, that the Creation of the World was not to be aſcribed to thoſe Angels, who, they ſay, gave the Law, Ch. 2. 2. but to that Jeſus from whom we have received the Goſpel. Of the Sayings of the Jews, concerning the Aſſiſtance of the Angels in framing Man, ſee Note on Ch.

2. 5. And Maimonides More Nevochim, Part 2 Chap. 6. Of Simon Magus Irenæus doth inform us, l. 1. c. 20. That he held that his Ennoia produced Angelos & Poteſtates, à quibus & Mundum hunc factum eſſe dixit; Angels and Powers by whom this World was made: That Menander alſo held, Mundum factum ab Angelis; That the World was made by Angels, Cap. 21. l. 2. c. 9. That Cerinthus held that the World was made by ſome ſeparate Virtues, inferior to God, l. 1. c. 22, 23. and that the World was not made by Chriſt, but that he rather came ad diſſolvenda omnia opera ejus Dei qui Mundum fecit, To diſſolve all the Works of that God who made the World: And laſtly, χριστῷ ὁμογενεῖς Ἀγγέλους συμπροβεβλῆσθαι, That the Angels were of the ſame Rank with Chriſt, and produced together with him. All which vain Fancies gave juſt occaſion to the Apoſtle to aſſert, that Chriſt was thus ſuperior to the Angels, and the Creator both of them and of the World. Accordingly, the Targum of Jeruſalem gives this Deſcription of the Word of the Lord, that it is he who ſaid to the World, Be, and it was; and who will ſay unto it, Be, and it ſhall be. Which words the Targum of B. Uziel (in Exod. 3. 14.) applies to the Lord himſelf.

q Ver. 13. Κάθου ἐκ δεξιῶν μου, Sit thou on my Right hand.] That theſe words were ſpoken of the Meſſiah, appears, 1. From the two Targums on this Pſalm, who both declare that this was ſpoken Bememreh, in, or to his Word. This is, ſaith R. Saadias Gaon, on Dan. 7. 13. the Meſſiah, our Righteouſneſs; as it is written, Pſalm 110. 1. The Lord ſaid to my Lord, Sit thou on my Right hand. R. Moſes Haddarſan ſays (Bereſch Rabba, in Gen. 18. 1.) Hereafter God will cauſe the Meſſiah to ſit on his Right hand; as it is ſaid, Pſal. 110. 1. The Lord ſaid unto my Lord, &c. Midraſh Tehillim, in Pſalm 2. 7. ſaith, The Affairs of the Meſſiah are ſet forth in the Hagiography in theſe words, Pſalm 110. The Lord ſaid. And again, R. Joden in Pſalm 18. 35. in the Name of R. Chija, ſaid, That in the Age of the Meſſiah, the bleſſed God will ſet the King Meſſiah on his Right hand; as it is written, The Lord ſaid to my Lord. And though on this Pſalm he expounds the words, firſt of Abraham, whom they introduce complaining that God has placed his Son on his Right hand, and him only on his Left; yet preſently follow theſe words, And ſo he ſaith to the Meſſiah. And R. Obadiah not only ſaith, The Pſalmiſt compoſed this Pſalm of the Meſſiah, but adds what illuſtrates v. 14. That God further ſaid, Thou ſhalt ſit on my Right hand, and the miniſtering Angels on my Left. See more in Cartw. Mellificium, p. 2969. And ſince our bleſſed Saviour confounded the Scribes and Phariſees with this Enquiry, How the Meſſiah could be the Son of David, ſince David here in Spirit calls him Lord? Matth. 22. 42. 'tis evident this was then the received the Expoſition of theſe words.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. THerefore we [knowing the excellency of the Perſon ſpeaking now to us in the Goſpel above all other Prophets, and above thoſe Angels which were employed in delivering the Law of Moſes,] ought to give the more earneſt heed to the things which a we have heard [from the Son of God,] [a] left at any time we would let them ſlip [out of our Memory.]
b 2. For if the word [b] ſpoken by Angels [from Sinai] was ſtedfaſt, [and by God's dealing with the Jews confirmed,] and every [wilful] Tranſgreſſion and Diſobedience [of it,] received a juſt recompence of reward: [The Atonements of the Law being only for Sins of Ignorance and Error, Chap. 5. 2. and cutting-off being the Puniſhment for wilful Sins, as being Acts of Rebellion againſt God their Governour;]
How ſhall we eſcape [the Divine Wrath] if c we [Chriſtians] neglect [c] ſo great Salvation?
which at the firſt began to be ſpoken by the d Lord [Chriſt himſelf,] and [after] was [d] confirmed to us by them that heard him.
4. God alſo bearing them witneſs both with Signs and Wonders, [as he did to Moſes
e delivering the Law to the Jews] and [e] with divers Miracles and Gifts [or Diſtributions] of the Holy Ghoſt [perform'd] according to his own will.
f 5. [f] For unto the Angels hath he not put in ſubjection the World to come, whereof we ſpeak [but unto Chriſt now crowned with Honour and Glory, v. 9. to whom all Power both in Heaven and Earth is given.]
g 6. [g] But one in a certain place [viz. David, Pſal. 8. 4.] teſtified, ſaying, Lord, what is Man, that thou art [ſo] mindful of him;
or the Son of Man, that thou [ſo] viſiteſt
him?
7. Thou madeſt him [but] a little lower than the Angels, thou crownedſt him with Glory and Honour, and didſt ſet him over the works of thine hands, [Pſal. 8.]
8. Thou haſt put all things [and ſo the World to come] in ſubjection under his feet;
for in [ſaying] that he [hath] put all [things] in ſubjection under him, [it is manifeſt that] he left nothing [beſides himſelf, 1 Cor. 15. 27.]
that is not put under him; but now [as for Adam and his Poſterity, of whom theſe things were primarily ſpoken] we ſee not yet all things put under him.
9. But we ſee Jeſus [the ſecond Adam] who was made a little lower than the Angels, for the ſuffering of Death, that he by the Grace of God might taſte Death for every Man, [already] [h] crowned with Glory and h Honour, [and therefore know that all things are,
and ſhall be ſubjected to him.]
10. [To this Jeſus, I ſay, who by the Grace of God taſted Death for every Man.] [i] For it i became him for whom are [were] all things, and by whom are [were] all things [order'd] in [his Deſign of] bringing many Sons to Glory, to [effect this, by] make-[ing] the Captain of their Salvation [k] perfect through k Sufferings; [τελειῶσαι, to conſecrate him to that Work, by Sufferings.]
11. For both he [our Prieſt] who ſanctifieth, l [i. e. by his Oblation purgeth us from Sin,] and they who are ſanctified, [or purged from it,] are all of one [Original, and Nature;]
for which cauſe he is not aſhamed to call them Brethren.
12. Saying [m] [Pſal. 22. 22.] I will declare m thy Name unto [among] my Brethren: In the midſt of the Church, [or, Congregation] will I ſing praiſe to thee.
13. And again, [Iſa. 8. 17.] [n] I will put n my truſt in him: And again, [v. 18.] Behold, I and the Children which God hath given me.
14. Foraſmuch then as the Children are Partakers of fleſh and Blood, he alſo himſelf likewiſe took part of the ſame; that through [the] Death [they had deſerved, and he ſuffer'd
in their ſtead,] he might deſtroy [evacuate, and fruſtrate] him [o] who had the power o
of Death, that is, the Devil; 15. And [might] deliver them [from the ſting of it,] who, [p] through fear of [the] p Death [threatened to the Poſterity of Adam, without any Promiſe of a Reſurrection,] were all their lives-time ſubject unto bondage.
16. For verily, he [q] took not on him the q Nature of [οὐκ ἐπιλαμβάνεται, he laid not hold of, he helped not the Fallen] Angels; but he took on him [Gr. he laid hold of] [r] the Seed r of Abraham.
17. Wherefore, in all things it behoved him to be made like to [theſe] his Brethren, that he might be a merciful [High-Prieſt to them, under all their Sufferings, and [a] faithful High-Prieſt [exactly performing his Prieſtly
Office] in things pertaining to God, [ſo as] to make reconciliation [ſ] for the Sins of the ſ People:
18. For in that he himſelf hath [actually] ſuffered, [t] being tempted, he is [become] t [u] able [and willing] to ſuccour them who u [at any time] are tempted, [i. e. expoſed to Sufferings.]

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. ΜΗ'ποτε παραῤῥυῶμεν.] Τουτέστι μὴ ἐκπέσωμεν, Leſt we fall off from them; ſo OEcumenius, Theophylact, and Phavorinus, which Senſe agrees well with the Scope of this Epiſtle: But the Senſe given by our Tranſlation, is alſo very good and proper; for in this Senſe παραῤῥεῖν is uſed, in thoſe words of Solomon; My Son, μὴ παραῤῥυῇς, τήρησον δὲ ἐμὴν βουλὴν, be not forgetful of, but keep in mind, or, lay up in thy Heart, my Counſel, Prov. 3. 21. So the Wiſe Man interprets himſelf, in the beginning of that Chapter; My Son, forget not my Precepts, but let thy Heart keep my Words, v. 1. So (a) Origen, ſpeaking of the Feſtivals of the Church, the Lord's Day, Eaſter, Pentecoſt, ſaith, The Common People had need of thoſe ſenſible Admonitions, or Memorials, of the Bleſſings then celebrated, ἵνα μὴ τέλεον παραῤῥυῇ, that they may not intirely ſlip out of their Memories: And this Tranſlation and Interpretation is confirm'd from the word ἀμελεῖν, v. 3. which ſignifies, to be unmindful of this great Salvation.

b Ver. 2. Ὁ δι' Ἀγγέλων λαληθεὶς λόγος, The Word ſpoken by Angels.] (b) Maimonides ſaith expreſly, Non invenies Deum ullum opus feciſſe niſi per manum alicujus Angeli; "God doth no "Work but by the Hand of ſome Angel." To confirm this, he cites that Paſſage of their Wiſe-Men, That God does nothing without conſulting before the Family above. And that in (c) Bereſchith Rabba, whereſoever it is ſaid in Scripture, ויהוה, and Jehovah did this, or that; Ibi intelligitur ipſe, & Domus Judicii ejus; There we muſt underſtand, that all things are done by him, Mediantibus Angelis, By the Mediation of Angels. (d) Joſephus ſaith, The Law was given, τοῦ Θεοῦ διαλεγομένου πρὸς αὐτοὺς περὶ τῶν πρακτέων, by God declaring to them what they ought to do. And yet he introduces Herod, proving that Legates, or Embaſſadors, were ſacred, from this, That (e) the Jews had received the choiceſt of their Laws from God, by Angels, i. e. by Meſſengers, or Legates, as that Name imports. (f) Philo is expreſs, that God ſpake the Law, δι' αὐτοῦ μόνου, οὐ προσχρησάμενος ἄλλῳ, by himſelf, uſing no other; but yet, ſaith the ſame (g) Philo, he did this, κελεύσας ἦχον ἀόρατον ἐν ἀέρι δημιουργηθῆναι, commanding an inviſible Sound to be formed in the Air. And to whom could this Command be directed, but to ſome of the Angels then attending on him? He therefore ſeems only to mean, that the Decalogue was adminiſtered by God himſelf ſpeaking to the People; and not by Moſes, the Mediator betwixt God and them, as the reſidue of his Laws were. For in his Book de Somniis, he obſerves, that the Holy Scripture ſpeaks of thoſe Dreams, as, θεόπεμπτοι, ſent from God, which proceed, διὰ τῶν ὑποφητῶν αὐτοῦ καὶ ὀπαδῶν ἀγγέλων, from his Miniſters, and Attendants the Angels, p. 461. He adds, That theſe Meſſengers are employed in bringing, τὰς τοῦ πατρὸς ἐπικελεύσεις τοῖς ἐκγόνοις, the Commands of the Father to his Sons. And that this is done, becauſe we cannot bear his immediate Chaſtiſements, nor yet his excellent Benefits, p. 455. F.

As for the Fathers, they ſeem univerſally to conſpire in this Doctrine, that the Apoſtle ſpeaks here, and Gal. 3. 19. Περὶ τῶν διακονησαμένων τῷ λόγῳ Ἀγγέλων, of the Angels miniſtering to the Delivery of the Law. So Origen (h); ſo Chryſoſtom on this Place; Theodoret on Gal. 3. 19. OEcumenius and Theophylact. (i) Origen, ſpeaking of Jeruſalem, ſaith, The Angels have now deſerted her, who before were always helpful to her: Δι' ὧν διατέτακται καὶ ὁ Μώσεως νόμος, by whom alſo the Law of Moſes was ordained; it being, ſaith the Apoſtle, ordained by Angels. The ſame is the Opinion of St. Jerom on Gal. 3. 19.

And tho' Jehovah ſpeaks to Moſes, in and from Mount Sinai, and from him the Jews received the Law; yet that he uſed the Miniſtry of Angels in the Diſpenſing of it, is evident from many Paſſages of the New Teſtament. For,

1. St. Stephen ſpeaketh thus unto the Jews, You have received the Law, εἰς διαταγὰς [κατὰ διαταγὰς, OEcum.] ἀγγέλων, by the Diſpoſition of Angels, and have not kept it, Acts 7. 53. Now when he was aggravating their Guilt, in Violating this Law, from the Conſideration of the Dignity of the Perſons who were by God employed in giving it to them, he would not have omitted the Son of God, or the λόγος, the principal Actor, and ſpoken of theſe inferior Miniſtering Spirits, could he both truly, and according to the then preſent Notion of the Jews, have ſaid it was the λόγος, who by his Father was employ'd in giving the Law. For tho' moſt of the Fathers ſay, the λόγος, or, the Son of God, appeared to Moſes, and the Patriarchs, and others under the Old Teſta-

2dly, When the Apoſtle Paul affirms, after St. Stephen, That the Law was, διαταγεὶς δι' ἀγγέλων, adminiſtered by Angels, Gal. 3. 19. he cannot reaſonably be ſuppoſed to mean only, that 'twas delivered inter Angelos, between Angels, or by God attended with his Angels. For, (1.) As by, is the proper import of the Word διὰ; ſo it is very rarely, if at all, that it is rendered inter, between, or among; it is ſo rendered indeed by our Tranſlators, 2 Tim. 2. 2. but with the Note in the Margin, by, to ſhew they thought it might there bear that ſenſe, as it doth thus; The Things which thou haſt heard from me, (and which have been confirmed) διὰ πολλῶν μαρτύρων, by many Witneſſes, commit to faithful Men. (2.) Seeing here the Word ſpoken δι' ἀγγέλων, being put in oppoſition to the Word ſpoken, διὰ Χριστοῦ by Chriſt, ſhews that διὰ retains its proper ſenſe, and muſt be rendered, by Angels; why ſhould we put another ſenſe on the ſame Particle uſed, Gal. 3. 19. by the ſame Apoſtle, with reſpect to the ſame Subject?

3dly, That the Word ſpoken by Angels here, reſpects the Law in general, and not only the Threatenings made by the Prophets, to whom the Λόγος ſent his Angels to bring back the People of Iſrael from their Wickedneſs, is alſo evident from the words: For, (1.) The Word ſpoken by Angels here, ſeems to be the ſame with the Word adminiſtered by Angels, Acts 7. 53. Gal. 3. 19. Now that was the Law, ſay both St. Stephen and St. Paul. (2.) It was ὁ Λόγος βέβαιος, the Word made firm, by the Miracles done by Moſes to eſtabliſh it, as was the Goſpel by more glorious Miracles: The Miracles done by Moſes being only σημεῖα καὶ τέρατα, Signs and Wonders; whereas the Goſpel was confirmed alſo by divers Powers, and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt, v. 4. (3.) As the Apoſtle ſaith here, Every Tranſgreſſion of this Word, received a juſt Recompence of Reward; ſo he ſaith, chap. 10. 28. He that deſpiſed Moſes his Law, died without Mercy; where the Argument being in ſenſe the ſame, demonſtrates that the Word ſpoken here, muſt be the Law of Moſes. (4.) We are properly ſaid to tranſgreſs, and diſobey a Law; but as for Threatenings, tho' we may diſregard, we are not properly ſaid to tranſgreſs them. In fine, I can anſwer the Argument of Slichtingius on the Place; "That God, in Perſon, could not give the "Law from Mount Sinai; ſince, were it "given by God himſelf, it muſt on that "account be preferr'd before the Goſpel:" By ſaying, the Compariſon is here made only betwixt God ſpeaking to the Jews by the Miniſtry of Angels, and the ſame God ſpeaking to us by his Son, which ſuppoſes God the Father to be the Supreme Author both of the Law, and the Goſpel; aſſerting only, that his Embaſſadors, or Miniſters in the one, were much inferiour to his Embaſſador, and his great Prophet, by whom the other was revealed: But I am not able to reſiſt the Evidence of his Second Argument, That the Oppoſition put between the Word ſpoken by (l) Angels to them, and the Goſpel delivered to us by the Son of God, will not permit us to own that the Law was given to the Jews by the ſame Son of God, ſeeing that Suppoſition wholly deſtroys the Force of the Apoſtle's Argument in this Place. But then I do not think that any Angel was ſo employ'd in the Delivery of the Law, as to take upon him the Perſon of God; or that any Creature ſaid, I am the Lord thy God, &c. but only, that the Divine Majeſty there preſent with his Thouſands of Angels, Deut. 33. 2. Pſal. 68. 17. made ſome of them his Miniſters to form the Voice, by which he ſaid, I am the Lord thy God, &c. And it may probably be conjectured, that where ever there is mention of an Angel and Jehovah together, or any Worſhip or Excellency ſpecified which is proper to God, there was an Appearance of the Schechinah, or Divine Majeſty, conjunct with the Angel. Dr. Leight. in his Note on Acts 7. 53. and in his Sermon on the Text, ſolves this Objection by ſaying that by Angels there, and here, and Gal. 3. 19. we are not to underſtand Angels properly ſo called, but God's Meſſengers, i. e. the Prophets and Teachers who are ſtiled Angels, Mal. 2. 7. 3. 1. But this ſeems a very forced Expoſition of theſe Words: For (1.) After St. Stephen had ſaid Acts 7. 53. that the Jews had ſlain thoſe Prophets, which had told them of the coming of that Juſt One, he adds this farther Aggravation of their Guilt, v. 53. that they had received the Law by the Diſpoſition of Angels, and had not kept it, plainly diſtinguiſhing theſe Angels from the Prophets. St. Paul alſo ſaith the Law was given by Angels in, or thro', or by the Hand of a Mediator, that is of their great Prophet Moſes, plainly again diſtinguiſhing thoſe Angels from that Prophet, when therefore the ſame St. Paul ſaith, the Law was ſpoken not by an Angel, to wit, Moſes, but by Angels, in the Plural Number, it is moſt reaſonable to interpret his Words to the ſame Senſe, eſpecially conſidering his Inference from theſe Words, v. 5. for God hath not ſubjected to Angels the World to come of which we now ſpeak.

c Ver. 3. τηλικαύτην σωτηρίαν, So great Salvation.] That under the Diſpenſation of the Goſpel, the Deliverance of the Faithful from Perſecutions, at, or after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ſhould here be repreſented as that great Salvation, which began to be ſpoken by the Lord, was teſtified to by the Apoſtles, and even by God himſelf, by ſo great Miracles, is incredible. No ſure, our Saviour brought Life and Immortality to light by the Goſpel, 2 Tim. 2. 11. His Apoſtles teſtified to us Eternal Life, 1 John 1. 2. And this is the Teſtimony of God himſelf, That He hath given us Eternal Life, and that Life is in his Son, 1 John 5. 11. See Note on Chap. 4. 3.

d Ibid. Ἐβεβαιώθη εἰς ἡμᾶς, Was confirmed to us,] Jews; not to us Apoſtles, by whom it was confirmed: Vain therefore is the Argument taken from theſe words, to prove St. Paul was not the Author of this Epiſtle; becauſe the Goſpel was not confirmed to him by them that heard Chriſt, he receiving it by immediate Revelation from him, Gal. 1. 12. And uſual is it with St. Paul, in this and other Epiſtles, to ſay We; when not he himſelf, but only they he ſpeaks to, or of, muſt be underſtood. So Chap. 6. 1. Let us go on to Perfection: See Chap. 10. 25. and 12. 1. Rom. 3. 5, 7. 1 Cor. 10. 8, 9. 2 Cor. 7. 1. Eph. 2. 3. 1 Theſ. 4. 15. Tit. 3. 3.

e Ver. 4. Ποικίλαις δυνάμεσι, With divers Miracles.] Becauſe, ſaith Theodoret, the Law was confirmed by Miracles, the Apoſtle thought it neceſſary to ſhew the Goſpel was in this ſuperiour to it, as it was in theſe two reſpects.

1. That the Apoſtles and Diſciples of our Lord abounded in theſe miraculous Diſpenſations which confirmed the Goſpel, as well as Chriſt himſelf.

2. That Moſes chiefly wrought σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα, Signs and Wonders; whereas the δυνάμεις, Powers, and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt, here mentioned, were the proper Confirmations of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation. For here are four things mentioned, which will admit of a diſtinct Conſideration; the firſt and ſecond are, σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα, Signs and Wonders, which refer to portentous Actions done in the Heavens, as when the Sun ſtood ſtill; In the Earth, as when it opened to ſwallow up Dathan and Abiram; In the Air, as when it was turned into Darkneſs; In the Waters, as when they were turned into Blood: And theſe were often wrought by Moſes and others under the Old Teſtament, and ſtill are ſtyled σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα. So Exod. 7. 3. πληθυνῶ τὰ σημεῖα μου ϗ τέρατα, I will multiply my Signs and Wonders in the Land of Egypt. And again, v. 9. Deut. 4. 32. He took his People out of that Nation, ἐν σημείοις ϗ τέρασι, by Signs and Wonders: Shewing, σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα μεγάλα, Signs and great Wonders upon Pharoah, and all his Houſe, Chap. 6. 22. and 7. 19. and 11. 3. 26. 8. 29. 3. And there aroſe not a Prophet like unto Moſes, ἐν πᾶσι τοῖς σημείοις ϗ τέρασιν, in all the Signs and Wonders which God ſent him to do in the Land of Egypt, Deut. 34. 11. See Nehem. 9. 10. Pſal. 134. 9. Jer. 32. 42. Thus Nebuchadonoſor declares, σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα, the Signs and Wonders, which the moſt High God had ſhewed to him, Dan. 4. 2. And Darius ſaith of him, Chap. 6. 27. ποιεῖ σημεῖα ϗ τέρατα ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ ϗ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς, He doth Signs and Wonders in the Heavens and on the Earth.

Moreover, Σημεῖα and Δυνάμεις are uſed in the New Teſtament, with relation to the Miracles wrought by the Apoſtles upon others, in caſting out Devils, making the Blind to ſee, and the Lame to walk, and healing all manner of Diſeaſes; now none of theſe things were done by Moſes, and very rarely by any of the Prophets. And laſtly, As for the Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt, conſiſting in the internal Gifts of Wiſdom, Knowledge, Faith, the Gifts of Tongues, and the Interpretation of them; theſe were peculiar to the Latter Days, that is, the Times of the Meſſiah.

Ver. 5. For Explication of theſe Words, let it be obſerved;

1. That both the Scriptures, the Jewiſh Records, and the Primitive Fathers, do repreſent the State preceding our Lord's Advent; and his Advancement to the Right Hand of Majeſty in the Heavens, as a State Subject to Angels, or in which God dealt with them by the Miniſtry of his Angels; this of the Jews hath partly been confirmed already, by ſhewing, that their Law was the Word ſpoken by Angels. That they were brought out of Egypt by the Miniſtry of an Angel, Moſes himſelf declares, in his Meſſage to the King of Edom, When we cried to the Lord, he heard our Voice, and ſent an Angel, and has brought us forth out of the Land of Egypt, Numb. 20. 16. This Angel ſaith the Targum of Jonathan, was a Miniſtering Angel. Nor is it to be thought the King of Edom, who had no Notion of the Logos, could underſtand him otherwiſe. And hence the Note of Paulus Fagius runs thus; Omnis Iſraelitici Populi ſalus, & ductio per Angelos adminiſtrata eſt; The whole Conduct and Preſervation of the People of Iſrael was adminiſtered by Angels. That they were led through the Wilderneſs by an Angel, and that an Angel drove out the Inhabitants of the Land of Canaan before them, we learn from theſe Words of God himſelf; Behold I ſend an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the Way, and bring thee into the Land I have prepared for thee, Exod. 23. 20. He ſhall go, ſaith the Greek, Ἡγούμενός σου, as thy Guide, and Captain. And v. 23. My Angel ſhall go before thee, and bring thee to the Amorites and Hittites, &c. and I will cut them off. Now that here he ſpeaks of a Miniſtering Angel, may be argued from theſe Words, My Name is in him; that is, as the Targums of Onkelos and Jonathan well expound the Phraſe, His Word is in my Name; By him I do declare my Will and Pleaſure. So Maimon. in More Nevoch. Part I. c. 64. Some think this Angel was the Eternal Son of God; But this I am afraid to aſſert, ſaith the Biſhop of Ely, becauſe it ſeems dangerous to me to call him ſimply an Angel, i. e. a Miniſter, or Meſſenger, without any ſuch Addition as that in Mal. 3. 3. The Angel of the Covenant; for ſo he was at his Incarnation, of which he there ſpeaks, before which I dare not aſcribe to him ſuch Miniſterial Works as theſe, of bringing the Children of Iſrael out of Egypt, and going before them to lead them in the Way to Canaan; this was properly the Work of an Angel, to whom Moſes aſcribes it. But though we thus underſtand it, this excludes not the Preſence of God himſelf, but rather proves it; for this Angel was ſent from the Schechinah, or Majeſtick Preſence of God which was in the Cloud, and is therefore ſtyled the Angel of his Preſence, Iſa. 63. 9. becauſe, ſaith the Targum, he was an Angel ſent מן קרמוהי, from before him, or, from before his Face: And thus it was true, which the Lord ſaid to Moſes, My Preſence ſhall go with thee, Exod. 33. 14. in the Cloud, and my Angel ſhall go before thee, Exod. 23. 23. as being ſent from before me, to conduct thee. And again, Exod. 33. 2. I will ſend an Angel before thee, and will drive out the Canaanite, the Amorite, &c. for I will not go up in the midſt of thee, for thou art a ſtiff-necked People, leſt I conſume thee in the way. He therefore who was to be ſent, could not be God himſelf, or the Divine Logos equal to him, for then he would have had the ſame reaſon to conſume them for their Diſobedience. Accordingly we find Maſius, on Joſh. 5. 14. confeſſing that the Jews generally thought this was the Angel Michael. And partly from them, and partly from Daniel, who ſtyles him Michael their Prince, Chap. 10. 21. and Michael the Prince which ſtandeth for the Children of thy People, Chap. 12. 1. it ſeems to be, that many (m) Chriſtian Fathers, and Ancient Commentators, have ſo expreſly ſaid, That God over all placed over them the Angel Michael, as Daniel hath taught us; and God alſo promiſed Moſes, he would ſend an Angel with his People. And both Theodoret, and St. Jerom, in their Comments on Dan. 11. 21. ſay, that Michael, eſt Archangelus cui creditus eſt Populus Judæorum, is that Archangel to whom was committed the Care of the People of the Jews. And the Author of the Recognitions, ſpeaking of God's dividing the Nations to Angels, adds, (n) That the Government of the Jews themſelves, and the diſpoſal of their Affairs, were by God committed to an Archangel. Certain it is from the Scripture, that the Law, which was the Foundation of the Judaical Church State was given by the Diſpoſition of Angels, Acts 7. 53. Gal. 3. 19. whence the Apoſtle here ſtiles it the Law ſpoken by Angels, v. 2. They being therefore ſo far intereſted in the Promulgation of the Law, as that it was given to the Jews by their Miniſtry (tho' they did this in the Name, and by the Authority of God) the Moſaical Church State was ſo far put in Subjection to them.

Now if this Suppoſition be admitted, and the World to come, according to the Jewiſh import of that Phraſe, be taken for the Goſpel-State, then the Apoſtle's Argument runs thus; "You have greater reaſon to take "heed to the Things taught by Chriſt under "the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, than had the "Jews to take heed to the Things taught "by the Moſaical Diſpenſation; for unto the "Angels God hath not ſubjected the Goſpel-State, "but unto Chriſt, i. e. to him who is more "able to reward his Obedient Servants, and "bring them into the Celeſtial Canaan, and "more able to conſume and puniſh them, "who do neglect the great Salvation ten"dered in this Diſpenſation.

As to the Gentile World, the Doctrine of the Jews, in relation to them, is evident from theſe Words of the Septuagint, when the Almighty divided the Nations, he ſet the Borders of them, κατ' ἀριθμὸν Ἀγγέλων Θεοῦ, according to the number of the Angels of God, Deut. 32. 8. That is, ſaith, R. Menachem, He placed Seventy Angels over the Seventy Nations. For ſaith the Son of Syrach, Ἑκάστῳ ἔθνει κατέστησεν ἡγούμενον, In the Diviſion of the Nations of the whole Earth, he ſet a Ruler over every People, Eccluſ. 17. 17. Accordingly in Daniel, we find mention of the Prince of Perſia, and of Greece, i. e. of the Angels which preſided over thoſe Places. (o) Euſebius doth frequently inform us, That all the Nations of the Earth were formerly, by Lot, divided to many Angels: And this was the Doctrine of (p) Juſtin Martyr, of (q) Irenæus, (r) Athenagoras, and the two (s) Clements. So that, in the Judgment of the Jews, and of the Primitive Fathers, all the whole Heathen World were ſubject to the Government of Angels.

And then the Argument of the Apoſtle is to this Effect; "That now the World of "Believers gather'd from the Heathens, is "put under Chriſt's immediate Power, and "ſubject not to Angels, but to Him who will "come in flaming Fire to execute Vengeance upon "all that obey not his Goſpel; and that there"fore it concerns them to give more dili"gent heed to the Words ſpoken by him, "and not to neglect that great Salvation "which he tenders".

Οἰκουμένην μέλλουσαν, The World to come.] This I conceive, imports primarily the Chriſtian State; and in order to the Government of that, the whole World ſubjected to Chriſt, from the Time of his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion; (when he ſat down on the right hand of the Majeſty on high, and had all Power in Heaven and Earth committed to him: For when God brought him, by his Reſurrection again, εἰς οἰκουμένην, into the Earth, he ſaid, Let all the Angels of God worſhip him; i. e. Let them all bow, and be ſubject to his Authority, chap. 1. 6.) to the Time when He ſhall aboliſh Death the laſt Enemy of his Subjects, and put the Crown upon their Heads, and condemn all his Enemies to endleſs Puniſhments, and ſo give up his Mediatory Kingdom to the Father, 1 Cor. 15. 28. And this I gather from the following Proof of this Subjection of the World to Chriſt, taken from Pſalm the 8th: For the Apoſtle plainly doth inſinuate, that it is begun already, in that Jeſus is already Crown'd with Glory and Honour, v. 9. and he as plainly teſtifies, that it muſt continue till the Day of Judgment, and only will be then compleated, by ſaying, That he muſt reign till all his Enemies be put under his feet, 1 Cor. 15. 25. and proving this, from thoſe words of the Pſalmiſt, For he hath put all things under his feet, v. 27. So then the Argument runs thus; "How ſhall they eſcape, who neglect "that great Salvation, tendered by Him "who hath all the World, and all things in "it, ſo ſubject to Him, as to continue ſo till "He hath put all his Enemies under his feet?

It may be alſo noted, That when this World to come, doth reſpect only the Chriſtian State, from the Reſurrection of Chriſt, to the Final Judgment, then it is ſtyled, Holam babba, the Age to come; which is the frequent import of the World to come, in the Jewiſh Writers; and in this ſenſe is Chriſt ſtyled, ὁ πατὴρ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, the Father of the World to come, Iſa. 9. 6. and the Gifts vouchſafed to Believers, and exerciſed by them in the firſt Ages of the Church, are ſtyled, in this Epiſtle, δυνάμεις μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, the Powers of the World to come: But when it alſo doth include that Earth in which they dwell, and in which they are to continue to the Day of Judgment, then is it ſtyled, οἰκουμένη μέλλουσα, the World to come, after the other four Kingdoms, which are ſtyled οἰκουμένη, the Earth, and are ſaid to have Dominion over all the Earth. Thus of the Kingdom of Aſſyria and Babylon, Daniel ſaith to Nebuchadonoſor, that God had made him Lord of all things, and ſettled his Kingdom where-ever the Sons of Men dwell, Dan. 2. 37, 38. And this Kingdom is, by Iſaiah, often ſtyled οἰκουμένη; and the Fall of it is repreſented as the Deſolation of the whole Earth. Thus, in his Viſion againſt Babylon, he ſaith, The Lord cometh, καταφθεῖραι πᾶσαν τὴν οἰκουμένην, to lay waſte the whole Earth, v. 6. Behold, the Day of the Lord comes cruel, and with fierce Anger, θεῖναι τὴν οἰκουμένην ἔρημον, to lay the Land [of Babylon] deſolate, chap. 13. 9. and v. 11. ἐντελοῦμαι τῇ οἰκουμένῃ ὅλῃ κακὰ, I will pronounce evil to the whole Earth; See alſo chap. 14. 26. Cyrus the King of Perſia ſpeaks thus; The Lord hath given me all the Kingdoms of the Earth, Ezra 1. 2. and he is ſtyled, τῆς οἰκουμένης ὁ Κύριος, the Lord of the Earth, Eſdr. 2. 3. And Artaxerxes, in his Epiſtle for the Deſtruction of the Jews, writes thus; Being Lord over many Nations, καὶ πάσης ἐπικρατήσας οἰκουμένης, and having Dominion over all the World, &c. Eſth. 13. 2, 4.

As for the Third, that is, the Grecian Monarchy, the Prophet Daniel ſaith expreſly of it, It ſhall bear Rule over all the Earth, Dan. 2. 39. Accordingly Alexander is celebrated, in all Hiſtorians and Poets which ſpeak of him, as the Conquerour of the World; when he came to Babylon, Embaſſadors were ſent unto him, ἐξ ἁπάσης σχεδὸν τῆς οἰκουμένης, from almoſt the whole World, ſaith Diodorus Siculus, Hiſt. l. 17. p. 579. and when he died, this Inſcription was writ upon his Tomb, Γᾶν ὑπ' ἐμοὶ τίθημαι, I have put the Earth under me. And Laſtly, As for the Roman Monarchy, as it was ſtyled by the Poets, παμβασιλεία, the Univerſal Kingdom; and by the Hiſtorians, Orbis Terrarum, the World; ſo is it in the Scripture repreſented as the Government, πάσης τῆς οἰκουμένης, of the whole Earth, Luke 2. 1. for, ſaith (t) Dionyſius Halicarnaſſæus, Ἡ Ῥωμαίων πόλις ἁπάσης μὲν ἄρχει τῆς γῆς, ὅση μὴ ἀνέμβατός ἐστιν, ἀλλ' ὑπ' ἀνθρώπων κατοικεῖται, Rome preſides over the whole habitable Earth: Now this Kingdom of Chriſt, being propheſied of by Daniel, as that which was to be ſet up after theſe Kingdoms which bore that Name, and to break in pieces all other Kingdoms, is therefore ſtyled ἡ οἰκουμένη μέλλουσα, the Kingdom of the World to come: And if (as we may probably conjecture from the Angel the Prince of Perſia, and the Angel the Prince of Greece, Dan. 10. 13, 20.) Angels were by God appointed to preſide over thoſe Monarchies; then hence ariſeth another Reaſon why the Apoſtle might ſay, Unto the Angels hath he not ſubjected the World to come, of which we ſpeak.

g Ver. 6, &c. Here note, 1. That tho' theſe words of the Pſalmiſt, may be allowed, in their firſt and obvious ſenſe, to relate to the Firſt Adam, created after God in his Similitude and Likeneſs, with reſpect to his Dominion; yet doth not this hinder that they be expounded in the Myſtical ſenſe, of Chriſt the Second Adam; for the Jews acknowledge, that the Firſt Adam was a Type of the Second Adam, that is, of Chriſt, who is by them ſtyled, האדם האחרון, the Laſt, or Second Adam. Moreover, the Myſtery of Adam, is, ſay they, the Myſtery of the Meſſiah; and the Man created the Sixth Day, ſignifies the Meſſiah. For thus they ſpeak; (u) Our Redemption is ſignified by the Six Days of the Creation, eſpecially by the Sixth in which Man was created; by whom we are not to underſtand the Nations of the World, but סוד אדם הוא. סוד משיח, the Myſtery of Man is the Myſtery of the Meſſiah; as it is ſaid, Dan. 7. 13 He came like to the Son of Man. And this lays a Foundation for the Inference of the Apoſtle, that what was ſpoken of Man in general, and more particularly related to the Firſt Adam, was only punctually fulfilled in the Second Adam, taking the Nature of Man on him: For, ſaith he, we ſee it not in any meaſure fulfilled in any other Man; but as for Chriſt, we do already ſee it actually fulfilled, as to the firſt Clauſe of it, he being now crowned with Glory and Honour, and ſo as all things are already ſubject to his Feet, as far as the preſent Neceſſities of the Church require, Eph. 1. 22. ſo will they compleatly and actually be ſo, when Death, the laſt Enemy, ſhall be deſtroyed, 1 Cor. 15. 25, 26, 27.

Ver. 7. Καὶ κατέστησας αὐτὸν ἐπὶ τὰ ἔργα τῶν χειρῶν σου.] Theſe Words are wanting in Oecumenius, Theophylact, and ſome MSS. but they are in Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, and all the ancient Verſions.

Ver. 9. Δόξῃ καὶ τιμῇ ἐστεφανωμένον, Crowned with Glory and Honour.] That theſe words are, in conſtruction, to follow the enſuing words, That He, by the Grace of God, might taſte Death for every Man; See Note on Chap. 7. 20. but the Apoſtle puts theſe words laſt, as being to diſcourſe of our Lord's Sufferings for us. h

Ibid. He, χάριτι Θεοῦ, by the Grace of God taſted Death.] * Origen in his Commentary upon the Goſpel of St. John twice ſaith that ſome Copies read χωρὶς Θεοῦ without God, ſo read the Syriac, and Ambroſe, l. 2. de fide ad Gratianum, c. 4. & Vigilius Tapſenſis, l. 2. p. 17. and 20. And this Reading either confutes the Patripaſſians, or confirms the Doctrine of Irenæus, that Chriſt ſuffered ἡσυχάζοντος τοῦ λόγου, the Divine Nature being quieſcent, and not exerting its Energy to ſtrengthen him againſt, or deliver him from theſe Sufferings; it making its Impreſſions upon the Humane Nature, ſaith Grotius, not always, but pro temporum ratione. Note alſo, that to taſt Death is a Jewiſh Phraſe ſignifying to dye, as when they ſay the firſt Adam was worthy not to taſt of Death.

i Ver. 10. Ἔπρεπε γὰρ.] Conveniens hoc fuit Dei Sapientiæ, ſaith Grotius: He thought fit to do this, ſaith Dr. Hammond; 1. Becauſe thus the ſame Nature ſuffered which had ſinned, and therefore purged us from the Guilt we in that Nature had contracted, and ſo diſſolved that Death to which we became ſubject by the Sin of Adam. This is the reaſon of Chriſt's Sufferings, which all the Primitive Fathers do ſuggeſt, and on which they eſpecially inſiſt; aſſigning this Reaſon of our Lord's Death, ἵνα τὸ θνητὸν ἡμῶν καθαρισθῇ, "That our obnoxiouſneſs to Death might be expiated". So (x) Ignatius. He died, ſaith (y) Juſtin Martyr, for Mankind, ὃ ἀπὸ τοῦ Ἀδὰμ ὑπὸ θάνατον, καὶ πλάνην τὴν τοῦ ὄφεως ἐπεπτώκει, which, from Adam, became ſubject to Death, and the Deceit of the Serpent. (z) Irenæus ſaith, That as Mankind, by Man overcome, was obnoxious to Death, ſic enim per Hominem victorem aſcendamus in Vitam; ſo by a Man conquering Death, we may riſe to Life: And as Death prevailed againſt us by Man, ſic iterum nos adverſus mortem per hominem accipiamus palmam, ſo we may prevail againſt it by Man; that as in the Animal Adam we all died, ſo in the Spiritual we might all be made alive. And (a) Athanaſius, in his Oration of the Incarnation, is very copious on this Subject; declaring, that Chriſt took our Nature on him, πάλιν τὸ φθαρτὸν εἰς ἀφθαρσίαν ἐπιστρέψαι, to reduce again our Corruptible to Incorruption; That our Lord ſeeing Mankind loſt by Death, exerciſing the Dominion of Corruption over them, and ſeeing the Puniſhment threatened to our Tranſgreſſion, διακρατῆσαν τὴν καθ' ἡμῶν φθορὰν, (b) prevailing over us to Corruption; and ſeeing the whole Race of Men ſubject to Death, he, in Compaſſion to them, (c) καὶ τὴν θανάτου κράτησιν οὐκ ἐνέγκας, and not enduring this Dominion of Death, that what he created might not periſh, took a Body to himſelf, not alien from ours; and becauſe we were all ſubject to Corruption, (d) ἀντὶ πάντων αὐτὸ θανάτῳ παραδιδοὺς, delivering it to the Death for us all, he offered it to the Father, that, as it were, all Men dying in him, the Law of the Corruption of Mankind might be diſſolved, and he might tranſlate them again to Incorruption: And this, (e) ſaith he, is the firſt Cauſe of his Incarnation. Hence many of them ſay, That (f) the Hand-writing which was blotted out by the Death of Chriſt, was the Threat made to Adam, In the Day that thou eateſt thereof thou ſhalt die. Here then is one Reaſon why the Death, or Blood of Bulls or Goats, could not take away Sin; viz. they did not partake of the ſame Nature that had ſinned, and therefore could not in that Nature diſſolve the Debt we had contracted, and ſo tranſlate us to Incorruption. 2. It became him thus to ſuffer, becauſe theſe Sufferings fitted him to be a merciful High Prieſt to them that ſuffer as he did, and alſo to be a faithful High Prieſt, to make Atonement for our Sins, v. 17. Obſerve here, that the Apoſtle doth not ſay, Chriſt's Sufferings were abſolutely neceſſary to ſatisfie Divine Juſtice; That Infinite Mercy could not pardon Sin, without a Satisfaction made to Juſtice; And that Infinite Wiſdom could contrive no other Way for the Atonement of our Sins: But, That Divine Wiſdom ſaw it fit that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, for the Ends fore-mentioned. And why then may not others be permitted to think, and ſpeak, with the Apoſtle, without adding that which the Apoſtle, in all this long and excellent Diſcourſe concerning the Ends, the Reaſon, and Neceſſity of our Saviour's Sufferings, thought not once fit to mention?

Ibid. τελειῶσαι διὰ παθημάτων, To ſanctifie, to conſecrate, and dedicate him to that Work, by his Sufferings.] That this is the true import of theſe words, will appear, 1. From the like words uſed by this Apoſtle, Chap. 5. 8, 9, 10. Tho' he were a Son, yet learned he Obedience by the things that he ſuffered, and being made perfect; [τελειωθεὶς,] i. e. being conſecrated, to his Prieſtly Office, he became the Author of Eternal Salvation to all that obey him, being called of him an High Prieſt after the Order of Melchiſedec. And again, Chap. 7. 27, 28. The Law maketh them High Prieſts which have Infirmity; but the Word of the Oath, which is after the Law, maketh the Son ſo, εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα τετελειωμένον, who is conſecrated an High Prieſt for evermore. 2*dly*, From the Collation made betwixt the Call of Aaron to his Prieſthood, and of Chriſt to his: For as Aaron took not this Honour to himſelf, but was called of God to it; ſo Chriſt glorified not himſelf to be made an High Prieſt, but was conſtituted ſo by him, who ſaid, Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec. Now the Conſecration of Aaron, and the Legal Prieſts, is continually expreſſed by this Word: For what is in the Hebrew, Thou ſhalt fill the hands of Aaron, and his Sons, and is by us tranſlated, Thou ſhalt conſecrate them, is by the Septuagint thus rendered, τελειώσεις Ἀαρὼν τὰς χεῖρας αὐτοῦ ἁγιάσαι αὐτοὺς. So Numb. 3. 3. ἐτελείωσαν τὰς χεῖρας αὐτῶν ἱερατεύειν, they conſecrated them to the Prieſthood. Accordingly the Prieſt conſecrated, is in the Greek, ὁ τετελειωμένος, Lev. 21. 10. The Day of his Conſecration, is ἡμέρα τῆς τελειώσεως, Lev. 8. 33. The Sacrifice then offered for Sin, is θυσία τελειώσεως the Burnt-Offering, ὁλοκαύτωμα τελειώσεως, v. 28. The Ram offered, is κριὸς τελειώσεως, v. 22. The Fleſh of Conſecration, τὸ κρέας τῆς τελειώσεως, Exod. 29. 34. By theſe Sufferings he became an High Prieſt for ever, after the Order of Melchiſedec; and the Author of Salvation to all that obey him: Becauſe appearing with this Sacrifice before God in Heaven for ever, He is able to ſave for ever, them that come unto God by him. k

Ver. 11. Ὁ ἁγιάζων, He that ſanctifies, &c.] I have ſhewed, Note on Chap. 9. 13. That the word ἁγιάζειν, in this Epiſtle, is uſed in the Sacrifical ſenſe, or with relation to the Expiation of Sin: In the Old Teſtament, when it reſpecteth Sacrifices, it ſometimes ſignifies to devote, conſecrate, and offer them to God. So Lev. 22. 3. The holy things which the Children of Iſrael hallow to the Lord, ὅσα ἂν ἁγιάζωσιν, which they ſhall offer to the Lord; for Numb. 18. 9. theſe Holy l

Things are thus enumerated, every Heave-Offering, v. 8. every Meat-Offering, every Sin-Offering, every Treſpaſs-Offering, Deut. 15. 19. all the Firſtlings of thy Flock thou ſhalt ſanctifie to the Lord thy God, ἁγιάσεις τῷ Κυρίῳ. For if they were clean, they were to be offered to God, and their Blood was to be ſprinkled on the Altar, and their Fat burnt for an Offering made by Fire, Numb. 18. 19. But if they were unclean, οὐ θύσεις αὐτὸ τῷ Κυρίῳ, Thou ſhalt not ſacrifice them to the Lord, ſaith the Text, Deut. 15. 21. And 1 Chron. 23. 13. Aaron was ſeparated, that he might ſanctifie the moſt holy Things, τοῦ ἁγιασθῆναι, i. e. that he might offer them in Sacrifice, and to burn Incenſe; for he was ſeparated to execute the Prieſthood, Exod. 28. 1. And that was to be performed by offering Gifts, and Sacrifices for Sin, Heb. 5. 1. And in this ſenſe, our Saviour ſaith, ὑπὲρ αὐτῶν ἁγιάσω ἐμαυτὸν ἵνα ὦσιν ἡγιασμένοι ἐν ἀληθείᾳ, for their Sakes I ſanctifie my ſelf; i. e. I offer my ſelf a Piacular Victim, that they may be ſanctified in the Truth, John 17. 19. i. e. that they may be conſecrated to their Office, or ſet apart for my Service: For as Aaron and his Sons were hallowed, and ſet apart for God's Service by a Sacrifice, to expiate them from their Sins; and this was done, ἁγιάζειν αὐτοὺς ὥστε ἱερατεύειν, to ſanctifie them to the Prieſthood, Exod. 29. 1, 14, 21. as well as by the Holy Anointing, Exod. 30. 30, 31. and 40. 13. So Chriſt's Apoſtles were ſanctified, and ſet apart to their Office, not only by the Unction of the Holy Ghoſt, but alſo by that Piacular Victim Chriſt offered for their Sins: And accordingly, in theſe Words, he that ſanctifies, is Chriſt that offers himſelf, that he might ſanctifie, ἁγιάζειν, i. e. purge them from their Sins by his own Blood, Heb. 13. 12. and they that are ſanctified, are they that by this Blood are purged from their Sins, and ſo are fitted to draw nigh to God, and made a Royal Prieſthood to ſhew forth his Praiſes, and offer up Spiritual Sacrifices acceptable to God, through Jeſus Chriſt.

2*dly*, The Word doth alſo ſignifie, to purge, purifie, and make clean, by Sacrifice, both in the Scripture, and Prophane Authors. Thus of the Altar, it is ſaid, He ſhall ſprinkle the Blood upon it with his Finger ſeven times, and he ſhall cleanſe it, and hallow it, καθαριεῖ αὐτὸ καὶ ἁγιάσει αὐτὸ, from the Uncleanneſs of the Children of Iſrael, Lev. 16. 19. So Exod. 29. 33. And they ſhall eat thoſe things, אשר כפר בהם, ἐν οἷς ἡγιάσθησαν ἐν αὐτοῖς, by which, or for whom, the Atonement was made, to conſecrate, καὶ ἁγιάσαι αὐτοὺς, and to ſanctifie them; and v. 39. Thou ſhalt cleanſe the Altar, בכפרך עליו, ἐν τῷ ἁγιάζειν σε ἐπ' αὐτῷ, when thou haſt made an Atonement for it. In Prophane Authors, to purge by Sacrifices, from Guilt or Uncleanneſs, is ſometimes ἁγιάζειν, ſometimes ἁγνίζειν; and the Sacrifices that did this, are ſtyled, ἁγνιστικά, Sacrifices of Purgation: According to this ſenſe of the Word, he that ſanctifieth, is he that purgeth; and they that are ſanctified, are they who are purged from the Guilt of Sin.

m Ver. 12. Pſal. 22. 22. This Pſalm being interpreted by the Jews themſelves concerning the Meſſiah, the Apoſtle might well apply this Paſſage of it to him.

n Ver. 13. I will put my truſt in him; and again, I, and the Children which God hath given me.] Theſe two Citations being from the ſame Place, Iſa. 8. 17. make but one Proof, that he who ſanctifies, and they who were ſanctified, have the ſame Nature; ſhewing, that he who ſaid, I will put my truſt in him called them whom God had given him, his Children, or Off-ſpring, and ſo declared them to be of the ſame Nature or Original with him. Now that theſe Words were anciently adapted to Chriſt, we learn from the Words of Simeon, who applies the Words following to him, Luke 2. 4. and from the Jews, who expound the Words, He ſhall be a Stumbling-ſtone, and a Rock of Offence, of our Saviour, Pug. Fid. Part. 2. c. 5. §. 2. to whom they are applied by St. Paul, Rom. 9. 33. and by St. Peter, 1 Pet. 2. 7. Dr. Owen here contends that the Words ἐγὼ ἔσομαι πεποιθὼς ἐν αὐτῷ are not taken from Iſaiah, 8. 17. where they are almoſt expreſly found, but from Pſal. 18. 3. Echaſah bo, ἐλπιῶ ἐπ' αὐτὸν, where they are not found; becauſe, ſaith he, were both theſe Citations taken from the ſame place the Apoſtle would not have ſaid, καὶ πάλιν, and again, this being an Evidence that he cites another place. To which the anſwer is that he doth ſo, citing the firſt Words from v. 17. and the ſecond from verſe 18.

o Ver. 14. Καταργήσῃ τὸ κράτος ἔχοντα τοῦ θανάτου, That had the Power of Death.] That by ſeducing Adam to eat of the forbidden fruit, the Devil, whom the Jews call'd Sammael, had Power to accuſe Men, and to demand that they might die according to the Threat pronounced againſt them, is the conſtant Opinion of the Jews. (g) Our Wiſe Men ſay, it is a Tradition, That Satan the Adverſary, the Angel of Death, deſcendeth and ſeduceth, aſcendeth and accuſeth, receives Power, and takes away the Soul or Life. Hence they ſay of him, That (h) he cauſed Death to the whole World.

Καταργεῖν τὸν Διάβολον, is to fruſtrate and bring to nought his deſign of ſubjecting all Men to the Power of Death, and keeping them under the Dominion of it; and render it of no effect, Rom. 3. 3, 21. and 4. 14. 1 Cor. 1. 28. and 2. 6. and 6. 13. and 13. 8, 10, 11. and 15. 24, 26. 2 Cor. 3. 7, 11, 13, 14. Gal. 3. 17. and 5. 11. 2 Theſ. 2. 8. And thus Chriſt is ſaid, καταργεῖν θανατὸν, to aboliſh Death, 2 Tim. 1. 10. That therefore we are ſtill ſubject to Death, is, ſay the Fathers, Not that we are now puniſh'd with it, but out of Mercy, that Sin might not be immortal in us, the Time of our Reſurrection being that in which Death ſhall be totally aboliſh'd, 1 Cor. 15. 26.

p Ver. 15. φόβῳ θανάτου, The Fear of Death.] That the whole Heathen World was ſubject to this Fear, and that it was the King of Terrors to them, ſee Note on Rom. 8. 2. From this Fear we are delivered at preſent, by our Deliverance from that Guilt of Sin, which alone makes it truly terrible, 1 Cor. 15. 55, 56. and by the Promiſe of a glorious Reſurrection, when Death ſhall be ſwallowed up in Victory, v. 54.

q Ver. 16. οὐκ ἐπιλαμβάνεται.] This word, ſay the Gloſſaries, ſignifies, Manum injicere, To lay hold upon; Manu prehendere, To hold with the Hand. So Ecclus. 4. 11. Wiſdom ἐπιλαμβάνεται, layeth hold of them that ſeek her. Suſan. v. 36, 40. The Man we could not hold, being too ſtrong for us; ταύτης δὲ ἐπιλαμβανόμενοι, but laying hold of her, we asked her, &c. And ſo, in the Septuagint, it ſignifies almoſt continually, ἐπιλαβοῦ, take hold of his Tail, Exod. 4. 4. See Kircher, in the words, חפש חוק אחז. But then, that he thus laid hold of fallen Man, and of the Seed of Abraham, by taking of the Humane Nature from one derived from the Stock of Abraham, that in that Nature he might ſuffer Death for the Propitiation of thoſe Sins, which rendered them ſo obnoxious to Death, is extreamly evident both from the Words preceding, and from the Words following; for ver. 14. we read thus, becauſe therefore the Children were Partakers of Fleſh and Blood, he alſo did partake of the ſame Fleſh and Blood, or Mortal Nature, that thro' (his) Death he might deſtroy him that had the Power of Death, for, ſaith he, he took hold of the Seed of Abraham, i. e. by partaking of the ſame Nature with them, v. 14. And again, he took hold on the Seed of Abraham, to reſcue them from that Death they feared by his own Death, v. 17. ὅθεν ὤφειλε, wherefore he ought in all things (belonging to their Nature) to be made like to his Brethren, that as their High Prieſt he might make an Atonement for the Sins of the People, by his Sacrifice made on the Croſs ἐν ᾧ γὰρ πέπονθεν, for in that he ſuffered, &c. v. 18.

Ibid. The Seed of Abraham.] The Note of the beſt Commentators here, is this, That the Apoſtle, writing to the Jews, thought it ſufficient to mention only the Mercies deſigned by the Meſſiah for the Jews. And true it is, that they confined the Seed of Abraham to themſelves; but the Apoſtle reckons all Believers as the Seed of Abraham, Rom. 4. 12, 16, 17. Gal. 3. 14, 29. tho' Chriſt is here ſaid to have taken upon him the Seed of Abraham, becauſe he derived his Fleſh from his Poſterity.

Ver. 17. Εἰς τὸ ἱλάσκεσθαι τὰς ἁμαρτίας τοῦ λαοῦ, To make Atonement for the Sins of the People: i. e. Ἱλάσκεσθαι τὸν Θεὸν περὶ ἁμαρτιῶν, To make Atonement to God for their Sins. So in (i) Porphiry, Ἀπομειλίττεσθαι τὰς τῶν πολλῶν ἁμαρτίας, to propitiate for the Sins of many, is in the ſame Place, ἀπομειλίττεσθαι τὸ θεῖον, to propitiate the Deity for them. This ſenſe the words require; for Chriſt is here ſaid to be a faithful High Prieſt, τὰ πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν εἰς τὸ ἱλάσκεσθαι, in things pertaining to God, that he might make Atonement, ſurely, to him. This Reconciliation therefore muſt reſpect God. Again, this Phraſe, when it reſpects the Jewiſh Sacrifices, hath ſtill relation to the Guilt of Sin to be expiated, and taken away by them; and every Sin-Offering offered by the Prieſt, is ſaid to be offered by him, ἱλάσκεσθαι περὶ ἁμαρτίας αὐτῶν, to make Atonement for their Sins, Lev. 4. 35. and 5. 6, 10. and 13. 44. Ezek. 44. 27. And of the Piacular Victim it is ſtill ſaid, καὶ ἐξιλάσεται περὶ αὐτῶν ὁ ἱερεὺς, καὶ ἀφεθήσεται αὐτοῖς ἡ ἁμαρτία, the Prieſt ſhall make Atonement for them, and the Sin ſhall be forgiven, Lev. 4. 20, 31. and 5. 6, 10, 13, 18. and 12. 7, 8. and 14. 18, 19, 29, 31. and 15. 30. and 19. 22. Numb. 6. 11. 15. 28. The Apoſtle therefore here ſpeaking to the Jews in the Phraſe always uſed by them, of ſuch Sacrifices as ſuffered in their ſtead, to expiate the Guilt of their Sin, muſt be ſuppoſed to teach them, that the like was done for them by our Saviour's Sacrifice.

Ver. 18. Πειρασθεὶς, Being tempted:] i. e. Expoſed to Agonies and Sufferings; for πειρασθῆναι, in the Epiſtles, ſignifies, to be expoſed to ſuch Afflictions, as ſubject us to great Temptations to deſiſt from our Duty and Obedience; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, No Temptation hath befallen you, but what is ἀνθρώπινος, ſupportable by Man; for the Lord is faithful, who will not ſuffer you, πειρασθῆναι, to be tempted above what you are able, [or, expoſed to Sufferings beyond your Strength,] but will, with the Temptation, make a way [ſo far] to eſcape, that you may be able to bear it, 1 Cor. 10. 13. So the Apoſtle, finding his Theſſalonians, ἐν ταῖς θλίψεσι, in great Afflictions from their Perſecutors, ſends to know their Faith, μήπως ἐπείρασεν ὑμᾶς ὁ πειράζων, leſt the Tempter might have prevailed on them, by reaſon of theſe Tribulations, to deſert it, 1 Theſ. 9. 3, 4, 5. Rev. 2. 10. Fear none of thoſe things which thou ſhalt ſuffer: Behold, Satan ſhall caſt ſome of you into Priſon, ἵνα πειρασθῆτε, that you may be tempted, i. e. be tried by Temptations. See Jam. 1. 2, 12. 1 Pet. 1. 6. 2 Pet. 2. 9. Rev. 3. 10. So here, our Saviour, tried by theſe Agonies, which He ſuffered in the Hour of Darkneſs, when the Tempter fell upon him with all his Fury, is become experimentally able to ſuccour us under thoſe Sufferings, which render Obedience ſo hard to Fleſh and Blood.

CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. WHerefore, holy Brethren, Partakers of the heavenly Calling, [i. e. the Calling to Celeſtial Bleſſings,] conſider the Apoſtle and High Prieſt of our Profeſſion, Chriſt Jeſus, [who as our Apoſtle, taught theſe things; and, as our High-Prieſt, ſuffered, to obtain theſe Bleſſings for us, and confirm them to us.]

ab 2. [a] Who was faithful to [b] him that appointed him [to be an Apoſtle and High-Prieſt;] as alſo [it is ſaid of] Moſes, [that he] was faithful in all his Houſe, [i. e. in all the Houſe of God, Numb. 12. 7.]

3. For this Man [this Jeſus] was counted worthy of [or, dignified with] more c Glory than Moſes, inaſmuch as he [c] who hath builded [Gr. ὁ κατασκευάσας, who orders, or governs] the Houſe, hath more honour than the Houſe, [of which Moſes only was a part.]

4. For every Houſe is builded [κατασκευάζεται, ordered and governed] by ſome d Man; but [d] he that built [ὁ κατασκευάσας, that orders and governs] all things, is God.

5. And Moſes verily was faithful in [the Adminiſtration of] all [things in] his e Houſe; [but this he was only] [e] as a Servant, for a teſtimony of thoſe things which were to be ſpoken after, [by God to them.]

6. But Chriſt as a Son [is placed] over his own Houſe, [i. e. he enters upon the Government of it, as an Heir and Succeſſor into the Rights of his Father; the Father now Judging no Man, but having committed all Judgment to his Son, John 5. 22.] whoſe Houſe we [Chriſtians] are, [and ſhall f continue to be] if we hold faſt the [f] Confi- g dence, and the [g] Rejoicing of the Hope firm to the end.

h 7. Wherefore, as the [h] Holy Ghoſt, i ſaith [by David, Pſal. 95. 8.] [i] To day if you will hear his voice.

8. Harden not your hearts, as [your Fore-fathers did,] in the [Time of] Provocation in the Day of Temptation in the Wilderneſs: [Hence learn, that 'twas in their Power to prevent the Hardneſs of their Hearts.]

9. [k] When [Where] your Fathers k
[l] tempted me, [i. e. doubted of my Preſence l with them, ſaying, Is the Lord among us, or not? Exod. 17. 7. Numb. 14. 11, 21.]
[m] proved me, and ſaw my works [n] forty m n years.

10. Wherefore, I was grieved with that Generation, and ſaid, They do always err in their Hearts, [not with the Heart believing, v. 11.] and they have not known my Ways, [i. e. not hearkened to me, to walk in them, v. 22.]

11. So I ſware in my Wrath, [v. 21.]
[o] They ſhall not enter [Gr. If they ſhall enter] o into my Reſt, [i. e. into the Land where they were to reſt from their Wars.]

12. Take heed [therefore,] Brethren, leſt there be any of you [as there was in them,] an evil heart of unbelief, [p] in departing p from the [q] Living God. q

13. But exhort one another [to ſtedfaſtneſs in the Faith] daily, while it is called to Day, [before the Night cometh upon you,
John 12. 35.] [r] leſt any of you be hardened, r through the Deceitfulneſs of Sin.

14. For we are made Partakers of [the Bleſſings purchaſed by] Chriſt, if we hold the [ſ] beginning of our Confidence ſtedfaſt ſ to the end.

15. While it is ſaid, [Gr. Ἐν τῷ λέγεσθαι, In that it is ſaid,] To Day if you will hear his Voice, harden not your Hearts, as in the Provocation. [You may diſcern the Miſchief of Unbelief, and Hardneſs of Heart, and the Neceſſity of the Exhortation tendered, v. 12. 13.]

16. [t] For ſome, when they had heard, t did provoke; howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt, [not Caleb, and Joſhua.]

17. But [And] with whom was he grieved forty Years? Was it not with them that had ſinned, [by Unbelief,] whoſe Carcaſes fell in the Wilderneſs?

18. And to whom ſware he, that they ſhould not enter into his Reſt, but to them that believed not?

19. [u] So we ſee, [Καὶ βλέπομεν, We ſee therefore,] that they could not enter in, becauſe of Unbelief.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 2. Πιστὸν ὄντα, Who was faithful, &c.] I. e. As Moſes faithfully diſcharged all that the Lord commanded him to ſay, or do for the Church of Iſrael; ſo Chriſt was faithful in the Diſcharge of his Prophetick Office, doing and ſpeaking as the Father had given him Commandment, John 12. 49, 50. and 14. 10. And in his Prieſtly Office, in laying down his Life for the Sheep, according to the Commandment he had received from the Father, John 10. 18. and doing all things requiſite to make Atonement for the Sins of the People, Chap. 2. 17. I know indeed the Criticks ſay, נאמן, and πιστὸς, ſignifie one eſtabliſh'd in his Office; as in thoſe words, πιστὸς Σαμουὴλ εἰς προφήτην τοῦ κυρίου, Samuel was eſtabliſhed a Prophet to the Lord: But this Criticiſm is here needleſs; and the word πιστὸς, Chap. 2. 17. bearing not this Senſe, I chuſe rather to follow the ordinary import of the word.

b Ibid. Τῷ ποιήσαντι αὐτὸν, To him that appointed him.] So the word ſignifies, 1 Sam. 12. 6. God is witneſs, ὁ ποιήσας, who appointed, or choſe Moſes and Aaron. See v. 8.

c Ver. 3. Ὁ κατασκευάσας.] Is he that orders, and governs, and provides, or prepares all things. So Phavorinus, κατασκευάζω, καταρτύομαι, ἐξαρτύομαι, ordino, guberno, moderor. And thus, τὴν πολιτείαν, καὶ πόλεις κατασκευάσθηναι, in Plato, Epiſt. 11. is to have Cities and Polities well ordered. So Wiſd. 9. 2. Thou in thy Wiſdom, κατασκευάσας ἄνθρωπον, haſt ordered Man to have dominion over thy Creatures. Thus Philo, de Cherub. p. 100. ſaith, God is the Cauſe of the World, δι' οὗ γέγονεν, by which it was made, and the λόγος δι' οὗ κατεσκευάσθη, Logos the Cauſe by which it was ordered, or put into that Frame and Order in which it is. The words preceding, ἠξίωται, he was dignified with more Honour, ſeem plainly to refer to Chriſt's Regal Office, by which all Power in Heaven and Earth was given to him, and he was made Head over all things for his Church, which is his Body, and in which he dwells, as in his Houſe, Eph. 2. 21, 22. And this to me ſeems to eſtabliſh this ſenſe of the Word.

d Ver. 4. Ὁ δὲ κατασκευάσας τὰ πάντα ὁ Θεός, He that built all things is God.] The Apoſtle, ſay the Socinians on the Place, proves Chriſtum tanto præſtantiorem eſſe Moſe, quanto Deus præſtantior eſt ſuo Populo, qui Dei Domus eſt, idque merito; "That Chriſt is as much more "Excellent than Moſes, as God is more Excellent than his own People. And this they "had juſt Cauſe to ſay. And if ſo, Chriſt, muſt be properly and truly God; for nothing elſe can ſo far excel Moſes, the chiefeſt of that People, as God himſelf excels them: By this Interpretation therefore they do not avoid, but confirm the Argument for our Saviour's Deity, from this Text. The Argument ſeems plainly to runs thus; He that governs all things is God; but Chriſt, as Pater Familias, Father of his Family, governs all things in his Houſe, that is, the Church diſperſed throughout all the World; and hath, in order thereunto, all Judgment, and all Power in Heaven and Earth, committed to him, He therefore muſt be God; that is, the Exerciſe of his Kingly Office ſhews, that he muſt be God, as well as Man. Thus Philo, De Victim. Offer. p. 661. C. often ſaith of that Power, καθ' ἣν ἀνῆπται τῶν ὅλων τὸ κράτος, to which the Government of all things is committed, that οὐκ ἀνθρώπων μόνον, ἀλλὰ καὶ θεῶν ἐστὶ Θεὸς, μέγας τίς ἐστιν, ὄντως καὶ ἰσχυρὸς, καὶ κραταιός, He is God not only of Men, but Angels, a Great Being, who truly doth Exiſt, both Strong, and Mighty.

e Ver. 5. Ὡς θεράπων, As a Servant.] The Government of Iſræl was a Theocracy, where God gave all the Laws and Precepts; and Moſes, only as his Servant and Miniſter, told them what things God thought fit to command them: But the Government of the Chriſtian Church is entirely committed to our Lord Jeſus, and He as Supreme Head, and Lord of all Things, governs both it, and all Things in Earth and Heaven for the Good of it; and therefore if he be not truly God, God doth not now govern the World as formerly, but hath given up the Adminiſtration of it to a Creature. [Whoſe Houſe we are;] Chriſt living in our Hearts by Faith, Gal. 2. 20. Eph. 3. 17. abiding in us by his Spirit, John 14. 23. Rom. 8. 9, 10, 11. and dwelling in our Bodies, and in the Body of the Church, as in his Temple, 1 Cor. 3. 16, 17. and 6. 17. 2 Cor. 6. 15, 16. Eph. 2. 20, 21, 22. and 4. 16.

Ver. 6. Παῤῥησίαν, The Confidence,] Or, The free Profeſſion of the Faith; for παῤῥησία, is a liberty or freedom of Speaking; as when 'tis ſaid of Chriſt, that he ſpake, ἐν παῤῥησίᾳ, freely, Mark 8. 32. John 7. 13, 18, 20. and of his Apoſtles, that they ſpake, μετὰ παῤῥησίας, with all freedom and courage, Acts 2. 29. and 4. 13, 29, 31. and 28. 31. 2 Cor. 3. 12. and 7. 14. Eph. 6. 19. Phil. 1. 20. 1 Tim. 3. 13. Heb. 4. 16. So Phavorinus, Παῤῥησιάζομαι, ἐλευθεροστομῶ.

g Ibid. Καύχημα τῆς ἐλπίδος, The Rejoycing of Hope;] i. e. The Hope which cauſes us to Rejoyce, in Expectation of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. 2 Cor. 1. 14. Gal. 6. 4. if we hold this firm unto the end. Which ſuppoſes, that they who were Partakers of this Heavenly Calling, and had at preſent this Cauſe of Rejoycing, might not hold it firm unto the end, but might fall off from it, v. 14. might depart from the living God, v. 11. chap. 4. 11. Yea, the Apoſtle, in this Epiſtle, plainly doth ſuppoſe, that they who had taſted of the heavenly Gift, and were made Partakers of the Holy Ghoſt, &c. might fall away, chap. 6. 4, 5, 6. That the Juſt who live by Faith, might draw back unto Perdition, chap. 10. 38, 39. that they might fall from the Grace of God, chap. 12. 15. See the Reading of the Text juſtified, Examen Millii hic.

h Ver. 7. Τὸ πνεῦμα τὸ ἅγιον, The Holy Ghoſt ſaith,] Hence it appears, that David writ his Pſalms, by the Afflatus, or Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt. See Note on Matth. 23. 43.

i Ibid. Σήμερον, To day.] At preſent; for now is the day of Salvation, 2 Cor. 6. 2. the preſent Time being only ours. We muſt do God's Commandments to day, ſay the Jews, from Deut. 7. 11. and receive the Reward to morrow. We muſt repent to day, leſt we die to morrow, before we have repented. See Cartw. in locum. And again, If Iſrael would repent but one day, the Meſſiah would come; and this they prove from theſe words of the Pſalmiſt, אם בקלו תשמעו, when you hear his Voice, ſpeaking in the Prophets; or as the Targum, אם במימריה, when you hear him ſpeaking by the Word, proceeding from the Father, harden not your Hearts. That this is the frequent ſenſe of the Particle אם, ſee Noldius, p. 89. §. 31. And it is alſo the ſenſe of the Greek, ἐάν. So ἐὰν εἴπῃ, when he ſaid thus, Gen. 13. 8. ἐὰν ἐξέλθωσιν, when the Daughters of Shilo come forth, Judg. 21. 21. ἐὰν κοιμηθῶ, when I lie down, 1 Sam. 11. 12. ἐὰν πληρωθῶσι, when thy days be fulfilled, 1 Kings 13. 31. ἐὰν ἀποθάνω, when I die, Job 7. 4. ἐὰν κάθῃ, when thou ſitteſt; ἐὰν καθεύδῃς, when thou lieſt down, Prov. 3. 24, 25. ἐὰν πορεύῃ, when thou goeſt; ἐὰν τρέχῃς, when thou runneſt, Prov. 4. 12. See alſo in the New Teſtament, ἐὰν ὑψωθῶ, when I ſhall be lifted up, John 12. 32. ἐὰν πορευθῶ, when I ſhall go, John 14. 3. and 16. 7. ἐὰν φανερωθῇ, when he ſhall appear, 1 John 3. 2. Theſe words are therefore to be extended to the whole Time of their hearing God, ſpeaking to them by his Prophets, and eſpecially to the Time of God's ſpeaking to them by his Son, who was to bring them into a better Reſt than that of Canaan, into which Joſhua led them.

k Ver. 9. When, Οὗ, Where.] So the Hebrew אשר is render'd, Numb. 22. 26. Deut. 8. 15. Pſal. 84. 3. Eccleſ. 8. 10. So Numb. 20. 13. Theſe are the Waters of Contention, אשר, where the Children of Iſrael contended.

l Ibid. Ἐπείρασάν με, Tempted me.] That to tempt God, in the Scripture Phraſe, is always to diſtruſt his Power, or Goodneſs, after ſufficient Demonſtrations given of it; See Note on Matth. 4. 7. And note here, That the Apoſtle ſaith, they tempted Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 9. which ſhews, that theſe words may truly be applied to Him.

m Ibid. Ἐδοκίμασαν, Proved me.] The Hebrew word which is here rendered proved me, is Mal. 3. 16. rendered by the Greek ἀντέστησαν, they reſiſted God; and by the Chaldee, the Syriac, and by our Verſion, they who tempted God; that is, ſaith Dr. Pocock, who went about to try and prove him, whether he could or would puniſh Sinners, and to provoke, and dare him to do his worſt, to execute his Judgments, if he were a God of Judgment; and then, to ſee his Works forty Years, muſt be, to ſee his Judgments executed upon them forty Years.

n Ibid. Τεσσαράκοντα ἔτη, Forty Years] If this be the right connexion of the words, then, to ſee God's Works forty Years, muſt be, to ſee his Puniſhments ſo long upon them, as he plainly threatened they ſhould, ſaying, You ſhall bear your Iniquities forty Years, Numb. 14. 33. and that ſo viſibly, that all the Nations ſhould diſcern his Judgments on them; For, Surely as I live, ſaith he, all the Earth ſhall be filled with the Glory of God, v. 21. But if, according to the Reading of the Hebrew, and the Septuagint, the forty Years ſhould be added to the following Verſe, thus, Wherefore, I was angry with that Generation forty Years, as the Apoſtle doth intimate by that Enquiry, v. 17. with whom was he angry forty Years? Then the גם ראו, and ἢ εἶδον, will be beſt rendered, though they ſaw my Work, as גם ſignifies, Noldius, p. 220. And ἢ, Luke 18. 7. John 16. 32. Acts 7. 5. According as God ſpeaks to them, Numb. 14. 22. For all theſe Men which have ſeen my Glory, and my Signs which I did in Ægypt, and in the Wilderneſs, and yet have tempted me theſe ten times, and have not hearkened to my Voice, ſurely they ſhall not ſee the Land. And v. 11. How long will it be e're they believe me, after all the Signs? &c.

o Ver. 11. אם יבאון, Εἰ εἰσελεύσονται, If they ſhall enter:] I. e. Let me not be God, or, Let me not be true, if they enter. This is a Form of Swearing very frequent in the Old Teſtament. So Deut. 1. 35. The Lord was wroth, and ſwore, ſaying, εἰ ὄψεται, אם יראה, If any of theſe Men ſhall ſee that good Land of Promiſe, Pſal. 95. 11. So 1 Sam. 3. 14. אם יתכפר, εἰ ἐξιλασθήσεται, If the Iniquity of the Houſe of Eli ſhall be purged with Sacrifice, Pſalm 89. 5. Once have I ſworn by my Holineſs, אם אכזב, εἰ ψεύσομαι, If I fail David, Pſalm 132. 2, 3. Lord, Remember David, how he ſware, אם אבא, εἰ εἰσελεύσομαι, If I go into my Tabernacle, אם אעלה, εἰ ἀναβήσομαι, if I climb up into my Bed, אם אתן, εἰ δώσω, if I give ſleep to my Eyes. So Mark 8. 12. Verily, I ſay unto you, εἰ δοθήσεται τῇ γενεᾷ ταύτῃ σημεῖον, Let me not be true, if a Sign be given to this Generation; where Chriſt himſelf ſwears, and therefore cannot be ſuppoſed abſolutely to forbid all Swearing, Matth. 5. 34.

p Ver. 12. Ἐν τῷ ἀποστῆναι, In departing.] The Jews that tempted God, Numb. 14. are ſaid, ἀποστῆναι, to depart from the Land of Canaan, ver. 31. They ſaid one to another, Come, let us make a Captain, καὶ ἀποστρέψωμεν, and let us turn back into Egypt, ver. 4. and are ſaid, οὐ πιστεύειν, not to believe God, ver. 11.

q Ibid. The Living God:] So ſtiled, to ſhew that he is always able to puniſh Unbelievers. Note alſo, That as he who believeth in Chriſt, believeth in God the Father alſo, John 12. 44. So he that deſerts him, doth alſo deſert the Father who ſent him, and makes him a Lyar, 1 John 5. 9, 10. For he that denies the Son, hath not the Father, 1 John 3. 23.

r Ver. 13. Ἵνα μὴ σκληρυνθῇ τις, Leſt any Man be hardened.] To be hardened, in the New Teſtament, imports Infidelity, and want of Faith. Thus Chriſt upbraids to his Diſciples their Unbelief, καὶ σκληροκαρδίαν, and hardneſs of heart, that they believed not, Mark 16. 14. And the Jews that believed not, are ſaid to be hardened, Acts 19. 9. and ſo it will be evident that here it ſignifies, to him that compares v. 15. with v. 19.

ſ Ver. 14. Τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς ὑποστάσεως, The Beginning of their Hope.] That Hope to which we have fled for Refuge, chap. 6. 18. That Hope which cauſeth us to rejoice, v. 6. Faith being, ἐλπιζομένων ὑπόστασις, the firm Expectation of things hoped for, chap. 11. See the Note there.

Ver. 16. Τινὲς γὰρ ἀκούσαντες παρεπίκραναν, ἀλλ' οὐ πάντες, &c.] I would render theſe words thus; For who are they, that hearing, did provoke? Were they not all that came forth out of Egypt? For, 1. Τινὲς ſignifies as well who, as ſome. So Acts 19. 15. Τίνες ἐστὲ, Who are ye? Rev. 7. 13. Τίνες εἰσὶ, Who are they that are cloathed with white Robes? Iſa. 60. 8. Τίνες οἵδε, Who are theſe? So Heb. 1. 5. Τίνι γὰρ, For to whom of the Angels ſaid he? And here, v. 18. Τίσι δὲ, To whom did he ſwear? So Joſephus, cap. 17. of his Maccabees, Τίνες οὐκ ἐθαύμασαν τοὺς τῆς θείας νομοθεσίας ἀθλητάς; Τίνες οὐκ ἐξεπλάγησαν; Who did not admire? Who were not aſtoniſhed at the Champions of the Divine Law? And then the Anſwer to this Enquiry muſt be this, Were they a few? Yea, were they not all? &c. As if it had been οὐχὶ πάντες; 'Tis alſo evident, that οὐ and οὐκ are often Interrogatives, as 1 Cor. 12. 15. John 8. 42. See Noldius, p. 487. And if the Greek will bear this Conſtruction, it anſwers beſt, (1.) To the Story, as it is repreſented, Numb. 14. For notwithſtanding the Exception made, v. 38. of Joſhua and Caleb, it is ſaid, v. 12. that πᾶσα ἡ συναγωγὴ, all the Congregation, καὶ πάντες, and all the Children of Iſrael murmured againſt Moſes and Aaron; that πᾶσα ἡ συναγωγὴ, all the Congregation ſpake of ſtoning Joſhua and Caleb, v. 10. and πάντες οἱ ἄνδρες, all the Men, v. 22. are the οἱ παροξύναντες, Provokers, v. 23. the συναγωγὴ πονηρὰ, evil Congregation, and the Murmurers, v. 27, 35. Joſ. 5. 6. And (2.) It agrees beſt with the following Verſes, which are plainly Interrogatives and Anſwers, With whom was he grieved? Was it not with them? To whom ſware he? Was it not to them that believed not? And laſtly, with the Cloſe of the Argument, which ſaith generally, They could not enter in.

Ver. 19. Καὶ here ſignifies idcirco, therefore; as the Hebrew ו often does: See Noldius, p. 279. So Joſh. 23. 11. Καὶ φυλάξετε, Take good heed therefore. Pſal. 2. 10. Καὶ νῦν σύνετε, Be wiſe now therefore. See Pſal. 7. 7. and 18. 42.

CHAP. IV.

Verſe 1. LET us therefore fear, leſt a Promiſe being left us of entering into his Reſt [in the Celeſtial Canaan, as to them in the Terreſtrial,] any of you a ſhould [a] ſeem to come ſhort of it, [i. e. ſhould fail of it.]

2. For to us was [Gr. is] the Goſpel preached as well as to you [Gr. as it was alſo] to them, [they being οἱ πρότερον εὐαγγελισθέντες, the firſt to whom it was preached; or formerly Evangelized, v. 6.] but the word preached [Gr. heard] did not profit them, not being mixed with Faith in them that heard it. [That is, we have now the glad Tidings, and Goſpel-promiſe of a future reſt; as they alſo had in Types, their reſt in Canaan being a Type of their future reſt with God in the heavenly Canaan.]

3. For they which have believed do enter into reſt, as [may be gather'd from what] he ſaid, as I have ſworn, if they ſhall enter into my reſt. Altho' the Works were finiſhed from the Foundation of the World] [Gr. καίτοι τῶν ἔργων ἀπὸ καταβολῆς τοῦ κόσμου γενηθέντων, and indeed, or for [ſee Budæus, and Stephanus] this Phraſe my reſt, relates to the Works done by God from the Foundation of the World. This ſenſe ſeems certain from the Reaſon following.]

4. For he [Moſes] ſpake in a certain place [Gen. 2. 1.] of the ſeventh day [from the Beginning of God's Work of Creation, ſaying] and God did reſt the Seventh Day from all his Works.

5. And in this place he [i. e. God] ſaith] again [long after] if they ſhall enter into my reſt [i. e. if they ſhall have a reſt from their Labours, and travels reſembling that of mine from the Creation of the World, ſee v. 10.]

6. Seeing therefore it remains that ſome muſt enter in [to the reſt of God ſpoken of in theſe Words] and they to whom it was firſt preached [οἱ πρότερον εὐαγγελισθέντες they who had the Goſpel firſt preached to them, concerning this reſt of God] entered not in [to it] becauſe of unbelief.

d 7. [d] Again, he [God] limiteth a certain Day, ſaying in [theſe words of] David, To day, after ſo long a time [of their continuance in the Reſt of Canaan,] as it is [there] ſaid, To day if you will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, [&c. ſpeaking not of the Reſt of Canaan, of which they were poſſeſſed in the days of Joſhua, as he ſaith to the Reubenites and Gadites: And now the Lord hath given Reſt unto your Brethren, as he promiſed them, Joſh. 22. 4.]

8. [e] For if Jeſus [i. e. Joſhua] had given e them [a] Reſt [like to that of God,] then would not he [i. e. God, by David,] afterward have ſpoken of another Day [of Reſt, after their Reſt in Canaan.]

9. There remaineth therefore [yet] a [more glorious and compleat] [f] Reſt to the f People of God.

10. For he that is [thus] entered into his Reſt, he alſo hath ceaſed from his own Works, [i. e. from the Labours and Travels of this Life, Rev. 14. 13.] as God [after he had finiſhed the Creation] did from his.

11. Let us labour therefore to enter into that Reſt, [which yet remaineth for the People of God,] leſt any Man fall, [Gr. that we may not fall from it,] after the ſame example of Unbelief, [by our Infidelity, as they did.]

12. [g] For the Word of God, [mention'd g v. 1, 2.] is quick and powerful, and ſharper than any two-edged Sword, piercing even to the dividing aſunder of Soul and Spirit, and of the Joints and Marrow, and is a Diſcerner [or, Cenſurer] of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart.

13. Neither is there any Creature which is not manifeſt in his ſight, [whoſe Word this is,] but all things are naked and open to the Eyes of him [h] with whom we have to do; h [Gr. to whom we muſt give an account, and ſo there is no hope theſe Unbelievers ſhould eſcape his Judgments.]

14. Seeing then that we have a great High Prieſt, [merciful, and faithful to make Reconciliation for our Sins, chap. 2. 17.] that is paſſed into the Heavens, [to appear for ever there to make Interceſſion, and to prepare this Reſting place for us, John 14. 2. even] Jeſus the Son of God, let us hold faſt our Profeſſion [without wavering.]

15. For we have not an High Prieſt who cannot be touched with the ſenſe of our Infirmities, but [one who] was in all points tempted [i. e. expoſed to Sufferings] like as we are, [and this] without Sin, [to deſerve the leaſt of them; See Note on Chap. 2. 18.]

16. Let us therefore, [depending on his Power, his Interceſſion for, and Sympathy with us,] come boldly [i] to the Throne of Grace, [this Ἱλαστήριον, or Mercy-ſeat, Rom. 3. 25.] that we may i obtain Mercy [in the Pardon of our Sins,] and find Grace [or, Favour] to [a ſuitable] help in time of need, [Gr. εἰς εὔκαιρον βοήθειαν, for ſeaſonable Help in all our Sufferings for his ſake.]

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. Δοκῇ τις ὑστερηκέναι, Should ſeem to come ſhort.] That the word ὑστερηκέναι, ſignifies to fail of, or fall from any thing, ſee Note on Chap. 12. 13. and that δοκέω, is oft an Expletive, all Criticks do acknowledge; ſo μὴ δόξητε λέγειν, ſay not, Mat. 3. 9. οἱ δοκοῦντες ἄρχειν, they who rule, Mark 10. 42. ὃ δοκεῖ ἔχειν, that which he hath, Luke 8. 18. Matth. 25. 29. ὁ δοκῶν ἑστάναι, he that ſtandeth, 1 Cor. 10. 12. See the Note on 1 Cor. 7. 40.

b Ver. 2. Καθάπερ κἀκεῖνοι, As well as they.] This, by ſome, is referr'd to their hearing of the Law, as in the Paraphraſe; by others, as probably to the Goſpel Bleſſings then typified to them; for the Apoſtle informs us, that they all did eat the ſame Spiritual Meat, and drank the ſame Spiritual Drink; for they drank of the Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 3, 4. This ſounds flat to them only who are averſe to this Doctrine, that the Bleſſings of the Goſpel were typified to the Jews; but is confirmed from v. 6.

c Ver. 3. Εἰς τὴν κατάπαυσίν μου, Into my Reſt.] Upon the true Interpretation of theſe words here, and v. 1. κατάπαυσιν αὐτοῦ, depends the true ſenſe of this Chapter. Now ſome refer this to that Deliverance from their Perſecutors, and the Peaceable Days of Profeſſing the Goſpel, the Chriſtians in Judæa, and elſewhere, ſhould enjoy after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem: But to this I can by no means aſſent; for, (1.) The bearing of the Croſs, the ſuffering Perſecution, being ſo often hinted as the Portion of all that will live godly, I cannot believe that a Promiſe of Deliverance from them ſhould be ſo often repreſented by the Holy Ghoſt, as the great Goſpel Bleſſing promiſed to Believers, the ἐπαγγελία, the Evangelical Promiſe made to Chriſtians by God, that they ſhould enter into his Reſt, v. 1. the Sabbatiſm remaining for the People of God, v. 9. The Reſt which they ſhould ſtrive to enter into, v. 11. and be afraid leſt they ſhould fail of, v. 2. (2.) I know of no ſuch happy Change of the Affairs of Chriſtians in all other Parts of the World, that the Apoſtle ſhould here, and almoſt in all his other Epiſtles, ſpeak of it, as this Interpretation maketh him to do, as one of the greateſt Bleſſings of Chriſtianity; nor were there any ſuch Halcyon-Days enjoy'd by Chriſtians after the Deſolation of Jeruſalem. This will be evident from Chriſt's Meſſage to the Aſiatick Churches, after the Times of Domitian; for there he ſpeaks to the Angel of the Church of Smyrna, Fear none of thoſe things which thou art about to ſuffer: Behold, Satan is about to caſt ſome of you into Priſon, that ye may be tried ten Days. Be thou faithful to the Death, and I will give thee a Crown of Life, Rev. 2. 10. To the Church of Pergamus, thus; I know thy Works, and where thou dwelleſt, where is the Throne of Satan, and thou holdeſt my Name, and haſt not denied the Faith in the Days in which Antipas my faithful Martyr ſuffered, who was ſlain among you where Satan dwells, ibid. v. 13. To the Church of Philadelphia, thus; Becauſe thou haſt kept the Word of my Patience, I will alſo keep thee from the Hour of Temptation, which ſhall come upon all the World, to try them that dwell upon the Earth, Chap. 3. 10. This Argument a Reverend Perſon endeavours to evade, by ſaying, That John writ his Revelations in the 9th Year of Claudius. But 1*ſt*, This is contrary to the Teſtimony of all Antiquity, excepting only the ſingle Teſtimony of Epiphanius; which alſo is fully anſwered by Dr. More: For it is generally agreed, that he writ his Revelation in, or after he came from the Iſle of Patmos, as may be proved from chap. 1. 9, 10, 11. Now all the Ancients ſay, that John was baniſhed thither by Domitian, and writ his Revelations about that time. So (a) Irenæus ſpeaks expreſly, ſaying, If the Name of Antichriſt had been to be divulged, it would have been mentioned by him who ſaw the Revelation; for it was not ſeen long ago, but almoſt in our Age, at the End of the Reign of Domitian; which Paſſage cannot be underſtood of the Name only of the Beaſt, but of the whole Revelation: As is evident, (1.) Becauſe Euſebius, who cites this Paſſage, muſt underſtand him ſo; for he ſaith, That he returned from his Exile in this Iſland, μετὰ τὴν Δομιτιανοῦ τελευτὴν, c. 23. after the Death of Domitian; and ſo he muſt have writ his Revelation while he lived. And (2.) Becauſe the Name of the Beaſt is not ſaid to be revealed to the Evangeliſt, but only the Number of his Name. And (3.) The Words, καὶ τὴν Ἀποκάλυψιν ἑωρακότος, even force this ſenſe; for they are properly rendered, who ſaw alſo the Revelation, diſtinguiſhing the Revelation from the Name. And laſtly, A Name cannot properly be ſaid to be ſeen, nor doth St. John ever uſe any ſuch Expreſſion about it; but a Revelation may be properly ſaid to be ſeen, and St. John often ſaith he ſaw them. Again, in this Perſecution of Domitian, ſaith (b) Euſebius κατέχει λόγος, The Tradition runs, That John the Evangeliſt was baniſhed to the Iſle of Patmos, for the Teſtimony he gave to the Divine Word. And in his (c) Chronicon he adds, That under him the Apoſtle John being baniſhed into the Iſle of Patmos, ἔνθα τὴν ἀποκάλυψιν ἑώρακεν ὡς δηλοῖ Εἰρηναῖος, there ſaw his Revelation, as Irenæus teſtifies; which both confirms the Tradition, and gives the true ſenſe of the Words of Irenaus, cited by him. So alſo (d) St. Jerom ſaith, That St. John being baniſhed into the Iſle of Patmos, in the 14th Year of Domitian, Scripſit Apocalypſin, compoſed the Book of the Revelations. So almoſt all the Greek and Latin Writers, ſaith Huet. in Orig. com. p. 72. Vid. Oroſ. l. 7. c. 10, 11. Martyr. Timoth. apud Phot. Cod. 254. p. 1403. l. 1. Aret. in Apoc. 1. 9. (2.) 'Tis certain, from the ſecond Text here cited, that Antipas had ſuffered Martyrdom before the Writing of theſe Epiſtles to the Churches. Now that Antipas ſuffered Martyrdom under Domitian, the Old R. Martyrology aſſures us: And Dr. Hammond on the Place confeſſes; 'Tis therefore evident, that St. John, ſpeaking of this Martyrdom, which happen'd in the Days of Domitian, as a thing paſt, muſt write the Revelations in, or after the Reign of Domitian. This the Doctor ſaw, and therefore interprets theſe Words, Thou haſt not denied my Faith, καὶ ἐν ταῖς ἡμέραις, even in thoſe Days [of fiery Trial,] in which Antipas, ἀπεκτάνθη, was, or hath been ſlain: Thus the Time is approaching wherein Antipas, I foreſee, will be cruelly martyred; that is, [if this was written in the 9th of Claudius, and Antipas ſlain the 10th of Domitian,] I foreſee he will be ſlain forty Years hence: Which Deſcant, to ſpeak in his own Words, is too vain to be ſeriouſly conſidered. Laſtly, The Chriſtians had no ſuch Halcyon-Days for any conſiderable Time after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; for Jeruſalem was deſtroyed, Anno Chriſti 70; and the ſecond Perſecution began under Domitian, Anno Domini 96. They had therefore only Reſt for twenty Years, and then comes the ſecond Perſecution, in which many * Chriſtians were exiled, and ſome ſuffered Martyrdom; for even Heathen Writers, ſaith (e) Euſebius, mention τὸν διωγμὸν, καὶ τὰ ἐν αὐτῷ μαρτύρια, the Perſecutions, and the Martyrdoms of our Men. And in his Chronicon he ſaith, That Brutus, in his Hiſtory, affirms, That πολλοὶ χριστιανῶν ἐμαρτύρησαν κατὰ Δομιτιανὸν, many Chriſtians ſuffered Martyrdom under Domitian. Ten Years after the End of this Perſecution, comes on a third Perſecution under Trajan; In which, ſaith (f) Euſebius, ſo great and heavy was the Perſecution in moſt Places, that Pliny, one of the celebrated Preſidents of the Provinces, being moved with the Multitude of the Martyrs, writ to the Emperor concerning the Multitude of the Martyrs that had ſuffered; and received this Anſwer from him, That they ſhould not be enquired after, but only puniſhed as they fell into their Hands. And that (g) though hereupon the Open Perſecutions ceaſed, yet in divers Provinces they continued, and exerciſed many of the Chriſtians with divers kinds of Martyrdom.

In the 17th Year of Trajan, the Jews in Meſopotamia rebel, and many Myriads of them periſh. In the 2d of Hadrian they rebel again, and overcome. In the 17th of Hadrian, Barchochebas ſet up for their Meſſiah, and drew an infinite multitude of Jews after him. Now all theſe, and eſpecially the laſt, were ſevere Perſecutors of the Chriſtians of thoſe Places. For (h) Juſtin Martyr oft informs us, That even after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, they retained ſtill the ſame Hatred to the Chriſtians, and cut them off where-ever they had Power and Opportunity. And in the Days of Barchochebas, put thoſe Chriſtians to exquiſite Torments, who would not deny Chriſt. And could theſe be the Times of Quiet and Safety to the Chriſtians, from their Perſecutors? And of Proſperous and Peaceable Days for the Publick Worſhip and Service of God? Is this the Ἐπαγγελία, Goſpel Promiſe of a Reſt, and Sabbatiſm to the People of God? The Reward which it is juſt with God to render them for all their Sufferings for his ſake? 2 Theſ. 1. 7. See Dr. Hammond on that Place.

To come then to the true import of this Phraſe, let it be noted, that there is a double Reſt mentioned in this and the former Chapters, viz.

1. The Reſt promiſed to the Jews in the Land of Canaan, chap. 3. 11. And this, ſaith the Apoſtle, could not be the Reſt of God: For if Joſhua had given them [ſuch]

Reſt, David could not have ſpoken of another Day, v. 8. Why not? ſaith Mr. Cl. Anſwer, Becauſe then, by entering into that, they would have already entered into the Reſt of God.

2*dly*, A Reſt after the Example of God, ceaſing from his Labours when he had finiſhed the Creation, which is the Reſt of the Bleſſed that die in the Lord, ἵνα ἀναπαύσονται ἐκ τῶν κόπων αὐτῶν, that they may reſt from their Labours, Rev. 14. 13. And that this is the Reſt which the Apoſtle now begins to ſpeak of, is evident from theſe Words, v. 10. He that is entered into Reſt, he hath alſo ceaſed from his own Works, as God did from his: For what can we underſtand by reſting from his own Works, but, as the (k) Fathers do interpret it, τῶν διωγμῶν, τῶν πειρασμῶν, τῶν θλίψεων, from his Perſecutions, Temptations, and Afflictions, to which he is obnoxious in this preſent World? The Phraſe ſeems plainly to be taken from Iſa. 57. 1. where it is ſaid of the Righteous taken away from the Evil to come, they ſhall enter into Peace, they ſhall reſt in their Beds. Of this Reſt, that of Canaan, and the Sabbatiſm there obſerved, were a Type, as the Jews themſelves inform us; and therefore it ſeems reaſonable to interpret theſe Words agreeably to that ſenſe.

d Ver. 7. Here Mr. le Clerc ſpeaks thus; "I ſay again, There is no mention in the Pſalmiſt, of any future Reſt: Which, if true, there is no ſenſe in the Apoſtle's Words, nor any ſtrength in his Argument; for it doth evidently run thus, There muſt be a Reſt to the People of God, beſides, i. e. ſucceeding that which Joſhua procured them in the Land of Canaan; becauſe the Pſalmiſt, ſo long after their Reſt in Canaan, makes mention of a future Reſt: So the Apoſtle. There is no mention in the Apoſtle of a future Reſt, ſaith Mr. le Clerc. He had ſpoken in one Place, of the Reſt of God, ſaith the Apoſtle, v. 4. And he ſpeaks again, ἐν τούτῳ, in this Place of the Pſalmiſt, of this Reſt, v. 5. into which Unbelievers not entering, in this Paſſage of David, he again, τινὰ ὁρίζει ἡμέραν, ſets, on defines a certain Day, by ſaying to them, who lived ſo long after theſe Unbelievers miſcarried, To day if you will hear his Voice, (and ſo enjoy this Reſt,) chap. 3. 18, 19. harden not your Hearts; ſpeaking there of a Reſt not already enjoyed, but hereafter to be enjoyed by them, and ſo not of the Reſt procured to them by Joſhua: εἰ γὰρ, for if Joſhua had given them the Reſt called, The Reſt of God, David would not have here ſpoken of another Day of Reſt; but having done ſo, ἄρα, certo utique, we conclude, there remains yet a Reſt to be enjoyed by the People of God.

Ver. 8. Εἰ γὰρ Ἰησοῦς, For if Joſhua.] For e Explication of the Apoſtle's Argument, here let it be noted, that all the Greek Commentators on this Place concur in this, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of a threefold Reſt.

1*ſt*, Of the Reſt of God, mentioned, Gen. 2. 2. in theſe words, And God reſted on the Seventh Day from all his Works that he had done. Which Reſt, ſay the Ancients, was the ſymbol of the Reſt of the Juſt from all their Labours. So (l) Irenæus ſaith, The Seventh Day, which was ſanctified, and in which God reſted from all his Works, is the true Sabbath of the Juſt in which they ſhall do no earthly Labour: And (m) Origen ſaith, that Celſus underſtood not the Myſtery of the Seventh Day, and the Reſt of God in which all that had done their Work in Six, and had left nothing undone which belonged to them, ſhould feaſt with God, aſcending to the Viſion of him, and in that to the general Feſtivity of the Juſt and Bleſſed. And again, (n) If we farther enquire which are the true Sabbaths, we ſhall find that the Obſervation of the true Sabbath reaches beyond the World; the true Sabbath, in which God will reſt from all his Works, being the World to come, then when all Grief, Sorrow, and Sighing ſhall fly away, and God ſhall be all in all.

2*dly*, Of the Reſt of the Jews in Canaan: which is the Reſt God ſware the Murmuring and Unbelieving Jews ſhould not enjoy, perhaps as well in the Spiritual Senſe, as in the Natural. For the Jews themſelves repreſent their Sin, as that in which they made bold, (o) ψευδολογίαν καταψεύδειν τοῦ Θεοῦ, to charge God with a Lye. And the (p) Jeruſalem Targum ſaith, God threatened to remember it in the Day of Judgment. In Midraſh Tillim, an evil Tongue is ſaid to be worſe than Idolatry: And this is proved from what theſe Rebels ſpake againſt God, גזר דין, the Sentence of Judgment being paſſed upon them for their Evil Words, Numb. 14. 28. Now Idolatry is ſtill reckoned by them a Sin excluſive from the Heavenly Canaan,

(m) Οὐ γὰρ οἶδέ τις ἣ τοῦ Σαββάτου, καὶ τῆς καταπαύσεως Θεοῦ ἡμέρα, ἐν ᾗ ἑορτάσωσιν ἅμα τῷ Θεῷ, οἱ πάντα τὰ ἔργα ἑαυτῶν τῇ ἓξ ἡμέραις πεποιηκότες, καὶ διὰ τὸ μηδὲν παραλελοιπέναι τῶν ἐπιβαλλόντων ἀναβαίνοντες ἐπὶ τὴν θεωρίαν, καὶ τὴν ἐν αὐτῇ τῶν δικαίων, καὶ μακαρίων πανήγυριν, L. 6. p. 317.

(n) Si altiùs repetamus quæ ſint vera Sabbata, ultra hunc mundum eſt veri Sabbati obſervatio —— Erit ergo verum Sabbatum in quo requieſcet Deus ab omnibus operibus ſuis, ſeculum futurum, tunc cum aufugiet dolor, & triſtitia & gemitus, & erit omnia, & in omnibus Deus, Hom. 23. in Numb. F. 136. (o) Joſeph. l. 3. c. 13. (p) In Pſal. 39. 2.

they ſhall not enter into the Reſt of the Houſe of my Sanctuary, ſaith the Chaldee, on Pſalm 95. 11. However, thoſe Jews who entered into Canaan, when they were to have Reſt from all their Enemies round about, ſo as to dwell ſafely, Deut. 12. 9, 10. did ſo far diſobey the Voice of the Lord, that he ſaid he would not drive their Enemies out from before them, but would leave them to be as Thorns in their Sides, and Pricks in their Eyes, to vex them in the Land where they dwelt, Judg. 2. 2, 3. Joſh. 23. 13. Numb. 33. 55. So that the Jews themſelves expected a farther Completion of that Promiſe, in the Times of the Meſſiah, as we learn from thoſe words of Zacharias the Father of the Baptiſt; Bleſſed be the God of Iſrael, who hath viſited, and redeemed his People, and hath raiſed up a mighty Salvation for us in the Houſe of his Servant David, as he ſpake by the mouth of his holy Prophets which have been ſince the World began, that we ſhould be ſaved from our Enemies, and from the hands of all that hate us: That we being delivered out of the hands of our Enemies, might ſerve him without fear, Luke 1. 68, 74. And hence the Apoſtle here concludes, that Joſhua gave them not the Reſt, emphatically ſtyled The Reſt of God, as reſembling his Reſt from all his Works, when he had finiſhed the World; and ſo there muſt be yet another Reſt remaining to the People of God, as it follows, v. 9.

f Ver. 9. A Reſt, Σαββατισμός.] The Apoſtle, by thus changing the word Ἀνάπαυσις, Reſt, into Sabbatiſm, and by comparing of this Sabbatiſm with the Reſt of God on the Sabbath, or Seventh Day, clearly leads us to the Interpretation of all the Ancient Chriſtians, that our Glorious and Compleat Reſt hereafter with God, is that of which God's Reſting on the Seventh Day was a Symbol; and to the Spiritual Sabbath, of which the Jewiſh Doctors ſpeak ſo generally, as the great thing ſignified by their Sabbath; as when they ſay, (q) The Sabbath was given to be דוגמא של העולם הבא, δεῖγμα, a Sign, or Exemplar of the World to come. The Sabbath-Day, what is it? (r) A Figure of the Land of the Living, to wit, of the World, or Age to come, the Age of Souls; the Age of Conſolations. Thus in their Deſcants upon the 92d Pſalm, which bears this Title both in the Hebrew, and the Greek, A Song, ליום השבת, εἰς τὴν ἡμέραν τοῦ Σαββάτου, upon the Sabbath-Day, They ſay, (ſ) This is the Age to come, שכלו שבת, which is all Sabbath. The Pſalmiſt, ſaith R. Solomon Jarchi, in locum, ſpeaks of the buſineſs of the World to come, which is all Sabbath. A Pſalm upon the Sabbath-Day, ſaith R. Eliezer, Cap. 19. p. 42. that is, upon the Day which is all Sabbath, and Reſt, in the Life of the World to come. And again, Cap. 18. p. 41. The Bleſſed Lord created ſeven Worlds, (i. e. Ages,) but one of them is all Sabbath, and Reſt in Life Eternal: where he refers to their Common Opinion, That the World ſhould continue Six thouſand Years, and then a Perpetual Sabbath ſhould begin, typified by God's Reſting the Seventh Day, and Bleſſing it. So Bereſchith Rabba; If we expound the Seventh Day of the Seven thouſand Years, which is the World to come, the Expoſition is, And he bleſſed; becauſe that in the Seventh thouſand all Souls ſhall be bound in the Bundle of Life; for there ſhall be there the Augmentation of the Holy Ghoſt, wherein we ſhall delight ourſelves. And ſo our Rabbins, of bleſſed Memory, have ſaid in their Commentaries, God bleſſed the Seventh Day, the Holy God bleſſed the World to come, which beginneth in the Seventh thouſand of Years. (t) Philo is very copious in this Allegory, who diſputing againſt thoſe, who, having learn'd that the Written Laws were σύμβολα νοητῶν πραγμάτων, Symbols of Intellectual Things, did upon that account neglect them, ſaith, That though the Seventh Day was a Document of the Power of God, and of the Reſt of the Creature, yet was not the Outward Reſt to be caſt off. And again; 'Tis fitly ſaid, δι' ὑπονοιῶν, by Allegories, or Figurative Expreſſions, the Sabbaths of the Land ſhall be Meat for you, Lev. 25. 6. (u) For Reſt in God producing the greateſt Good, Peace ſecure from War, is only that which truly nouriſheth, and is to be enjoyed with Pleaſure. And a third time, (x) This is the reaſon of the Seventh Day, or the Septenary, i. e. of the Soul reſting in God, and performing no more mortal Works.

g Ver. 12. Ὁ λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Word of God.] The Apoſtle ſeems not to ſpeak here of the Eſſential Word of God, the Second Perſon of the Trinity. (1*ſt.*) Becauſe St. Paul, in all his Writings, never applies this Phraſe to our Lord Chriſt, it being peculiar to St. John. (2*dly.*) The Apoſtle muſt have very abruptly ſpoken here of him, under this Metaphor, of whom nothing went before, but very appoſitely of the Goſpel to which theſe Attributes do well agree; for, (1.) The Word is quick and vital, not only promiſing Life to the Obedient, but threatening Death to the Diſobedient, from the Living God, who can quickly execute it, chap. 3. 12. (2*dly*,) 'Tis powerful, being the Power of God for the deſtruction of ſtrong holds, and every thing that exalts it ſelf againſt the knowledge of God, 2 Cor. 10. 4, 7. (3*dly*,) 'Tis ſharper than a two-edged Sword, and piercing even to the dividing aſunder of the Soul and Spirit, the Joints and the Marrow; ſlaying Ananias and Sapphira, and delivering up others to Satan, for the deſtruction of the Fleſh, 1 Cor. 5. 5. 1 Tim. 1. 20. 'Tis, (4*thly*,) A Diſcerner of the Thoughts and Intentions of the Heart, there being then a Gift of Diſcerning Spirits, attending the Preachers of it, by which they judged and diſcerned of them; and ſo the Secrets of their Hearts were made manifeſt, 1 Cor. 14. 24, 25. And, which makes this extremely pertinent to the preſent Exhortation, all this was very viſible in the Inſtance of the Unbelievers here mentioned, to terrify the Jews from falling by the ſame Example of Unbelief. For, (1.) The Word of Threatening was ſo quick upon thoſe Spies, who brought up the evil Report upon the Land, that they died immediately by the Hand of God, or by the Plague before the Lord, Numb. 14. 37. And as for the reſt of the Unbelievers, they were conſumed, ſaith Moſes, by God's Anger, and by his Wrath were troubled: They were carried away as with a Flood; they vaniſhed as a Dream, or as the Morning-Graſs, which in the Evening is cut down, and withereth, Pſal. 90. 5, 6. And thus they found the weight of that Threat, γνώσεσθε τὸν θυμὸν τῆς ὀργῆς μου, Ye ſhall know the vehemency of my Wrath, Numb. 14. 34. They were alſo thus puniſhed for the Evil Intentions of their Hearts; for, ſaith St. Stephen, in their Hearts they turned back into Ægypt, Acts 7. 30. So that, by The Word of God, I am inclined to underſtand his Threats denounced againſt Unbelievers, Numb. 14. Pſal. 95. 11. It alſo may deſerve to be noted, that Philo, lib. de Cherub. p. 86. G. aſcribes moſt of theſe Epithets to the Λόγος, ſaying, The Flaming Sword, was a Symbol of the Word, eſpecially of the Firſt Cauſe, ὀξυκινότατον γὰρ καὶ θερμὸν ὁ λόγος, for his word is quick and fervent. And again, (y) God, ſaith he, whetting his Sword, the Diſſector of all things, divides the inform Eſſence of all things, and cuts them in the middle.

h Ver. 13. Παρ' ὃν ἡμῖν ὁ λόγος, To whom we muſt render an account.] So Matth. 12. 36. Of every idle word that Men ſhall ſpeak, ἀποδώσουσι λόγον, they ſhall give an account in the Day of Judgment, Matth. 18. 23. The Kingdom of Heaven is like to a certain King, who would, συνᾶραι λόγον, make up an account with his Servants, Luke 16. 2. Ἀπόδος λόγον, give up an account of thy Stewardſhip, Rom. 14. 12. Every one, λόγον δώσει τῷ Θεῷ, ſhall give an account of himſelf to God, Philip. 4. 17. I deſire Fruit that may abound, εἰς λόγον ὑμῶν, to your account; Heb. 13. 17. ὡς λόγον ἀποδώσαντες, as they that muſt give an account, 1 Pet. 3. 15. Being always ready to give to every one that asks you, λόγον, an account of the hope that is in you. And Chap. 4. 5. Οἱ ἀποδώσουσι λόγον, who ſhall give an account to him that is ready to judge the Quick and Dead.

Ver. 16. To the Throne of God.] The Jews ſay, i God hath a double Throne, one of Judgment, and the other of Mercy; and when he beholds the World obnoxious to Condemnation, he riſes from his Throne of Judgment, and places himſelf on that of Mercy. This Throne of Mercy, is our Bleſſed Jeſus, ſtiled by this Apoſtle Ἱλαστήριον, the true Propitiatory, or Mercy Seat: By this High Prieſt and Interceſſor, muſt we come unto God, he being able to ſave to the utmoſt, them that come unto God by him, chap. 7. 25.

Note alſo, That ſome Great Men think, the Reſt and Sabbatiſm, diſcourſed of, Chapters the third and the fourth, refers to the Millennium, or the Time of the Converſion of the Jewiſh Nation, and the New Heavens, and New Earth, then promiſed; but I am not able to aſſent to that Opinion, for this Reaſon, that the Apoſtle writes to the believing Jews of the preſent Age, warning them, That there be not in them an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God, and exhorting them to continue unto the end in Faith, Chap. 3. 13, 14. that ſo they might not fail of this Reſt of God; and to fear, leſt a Promiſe being made of entering into this Reſt, any of them ſhould fall ſhort of it, Chap. 4. 1, 2. And again, v. 11. Let us give diligence to enter into this Reſt, that we fall not by the ſame Example of Unbelief. Now theſe Exhortations could not properly be directed to the believing Jews of that Age, concerning the Millennium, or the glorious Times which were to happen at the Converſion of the Jewiſh Nation, they being to die 1700 Years before that Converſion, which is not yet accompliſhed, and before thoſe glorious Days, which are not yet come; for what advantage, in reference to that, could they receive by this Diligence, who were to die ſo long before it happen'd, and being once in Heaven or Paradiſe, could neither expect nor deſire to come down thence to be Partakers of any Enjoyments, or better Company here on Earth? But theſe Exhortations are very properly directed to them, to take care they fail not of their Reſt in the Celeſtial Canaan, typified by their Reſt in the Earthly Canaan, the time when they ſhould reſt with God, ſaith Origen, aſcending to the Viſion of him, the reſt of Souls in the Land of the Living, the Reſt in the Life and the World to come, and in Life eternal; See Note on v. 8, 10. Seeing theſe Bleſſings only can belong to, and at the time of Retribution will only be conferred upon them who uſe this Diligence. And hitherto the Apoſtle ſeems plainly to refer it, when he ſpeaks of ſo great Salvation, Chap. 2. 3. of bringing many Sons to Glory; V. 10. of their being Partakers, κλήσεως ἐπȣρανίȣ, of an Heavenly Calling, Chap. 3. 1. The Hope and Confidence of which he exhorts them to hold faſt unto the end, V. 6. and then immediately begins his Diſcourſe of this Reſt.

CHAP. V.

LET us come, ſaith he, to God's Throne of Grace with freedom, as having there ſuch an High-Prieſt in whom are all things by way of excellency to be found, for which the Levitical Prieſthood was ordained, and repaired to; as having,

1. A better Prieſthood, viz. after the Order of Melchiſedeck, Chap. 7.
2. A better Conſecration to it, viz. by an Oath.
3. A better Tabernacle in which he miniſters.
4. A better Sacrifice offer'd there.
5. A better Covenant eſtabliſh'd in his Blood.

Verſe 1. For every High-Prieſt taken from among Men, is ordained for [the ſervice of] a Men, in things [a] pertaining to [the Worſhip and Propitiation of] God, that he may offer
b both [b] Gifts and Sacrifices for Sins.

2. [And he is one] who can have compaſſic on [c] on the Ignorant, and on them that are out of [Gr. err from] the way, [offering willingly, and interceding affectionately on their behalf;] for that he himſelf alſo is compaſſed with [the like] Infirmity.

3. And by reaſon hereof [of which Infirmities] he ought [by God's Command, and from the nature of d the thing,] as for the People, ſo alſo [d] for himſelf, to offer [Sacrifices] for Sins.

e 4. And [e] no Man taketh this Honour to himſelf, but he [only enjoys it] who is called of God, as was Aaron, [and his Poſterity.]

5. [And] ſo alſo [was it with our Lord] Chriſt, [for he] glorified not himſelf, to be made an High-Prieſt, but he [appointed him to be ſo] who ſaid unto him, Thou art my Son, f [f] to day have I begotten thee.

6. As he ſaith alſo [of him] in another place, Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the order of Melchiſedeck; [as being raiſed up to appear for ever in the Heavens, and there officiate as a Prieſt for us.]

7. Who in the days of his [continuance in the] Fleſh, when he had offered up [Gr. offering up] Prayers and Supplications, with ſtrong Cryings and Tears to him that was able to ſave him from Death, and was [Gr. being] [g] heard [h] in that he feared; [and being heard g h ſo far as to obtain deliverance from his Fears, which he did by an Angel ſent to ſtrengthen him, Luke 22. 43.]

8. Though he were a Son, yet learned he [the difficulty of] Obedience [to Death] by the things which he ſuffered; [i. e. by the Agonies and Terrors which he ſuffered at the apprehenſion and approach of the Death he was to ſuffer, and ſo was the more fitted to be to us a compaſſionate High-Prieſt under our Sufferings for his ſake.]

9. And being [by theſe Sufferings] [i] made i perfect, [τελειωθεὶς, conſecrated to his Prieſthood] he became the Author of eternal Salvation to all them that obey him.

10. [Being] called [or conſtituted] of God an High-Prieſt after the Order of Melchiſedeck, [i. e. for ever.]

11. Of whom [i. e. whoſe Prieſthood,] we have many things to ſay, and [thoſe] [k] hard k to be uttered, [or explained, not from the nature of the things themſelves, but] ſeeing [ἐπεὶ, becauſe] ye are dull of hearing.

12. For when for the time [you have profeſſed the Faith] you ought to [have been able to] be Teachers [of it to others,] you have need that one teach you again, which be the [l] firſt l
Principles of the Oracles of God, and are become ſuch as have need of Milk, [the Food of Babes,] and not of ſtrong Meat, [the Food of Men.]

13. For every one that uſeth Milk is [as yet] unſkilful in the Word of Righteouſneſs, for he is [but] a Babe [in Chriſt, 1 Cor. 3. 2. 14. 20. Gal. 4. 19. Eph. 4. 14.]

14. But ſtrong Meat belongeth to them [only] [m] who are of full Age, [i. e. Perfect Men] m even [to] thoſe who by reaſon of uſe have their Senſes exerciſed to diſcern both good and evil.

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Verſe 1. TA' πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν, In things pertaining to God.] To procure and perform thoſe things which relate to the Worſhip, and the Propitiation of the Deity. So Crellius.

b Ibid. Δῶρά τε καὶ θυσίας, Gifts and Sacrifices.] Both theſe may relate to Sacrifices for Sin; for not only Peace-Offerings, but Gifts of any kind are called חקרבנות, δῶρα, Matth. 5. 23. and מנחה is by the Seventy Interpreters often rendered θυσία, Gen. 4. 3, 5. Exod. 29. 41. 30. 9. 40. 26. Levit. and Numbers, Centies.

c Ver. 2. Τοῖς ἀγνοοῦσι καὶ πλανωμένοις.] He refers to the Sins which go under the Names of אשם וחטאת; for the Word חטאת belongs properly to the thing in doing which we err from the way; and an Expiatory Sacrifice was therefore required from him that did ſo, becauſe he knew שחטא ושגג כדרך, that he had erred and gone from the way: But אשם was a Sin committed out of Ignorance of the Command of God. So Abarbinel. For Sins committed ἑκουσίως, wittingly, and with an high hand, or from a Will ſet in oppoſition to the Law of God, there was no Sacrifice appointed by the Law: And to this the Apoſtle alludes, Chap. 10. 26. ſaying, to them that ſin wilfully there remains no more Sacrifice for Sin.

d Ver. 3. Περὶ ἑαυτοῦ, For himſelf.] Here Grotius notes, that this being ſpoken generally of every Prieſt taken from among Men, Chriſt alſo muſt have offered for himſelf a Sacrifice for Sin, i. e. that he might be delivered from thoſe Sorrows which were the Puniſhment of Sin, and were inflicted on him upon occaſion of our Sins. But in this he ſeems guilty of great and manifold Miſtakes; for 1. The Apoſtle plainly ſpeaks of the ſinful Infirmities of theſe Prieſts, who therefore were to offer for their own Sin, Chap. 7. 27. Whereas of Chriſt he declares, That though he was in all other things made like to us, yet χωρὶς ἁμαρτίας, without Sin, Chap. 4. 15. That he offered himſelf to God a Lamb without ſpot, Chap. 9. 14. That being thus holy, free from evil, undefiled, and ſeparate from Sinners, he needed not, upon a Day, as thoſe High Prieſts, to offer up Sacrifice firſt for his own Sins, and then for the Peoples, Chap. 7. 26, 27. 2. He was not, nor could he, after he became our Surety, be delivered from thoſe Sorrows, which were the Puniſhment of our Sins, he being as our Expiatory Sacrifice, not only on occaſion of our Sins, but in our ſtead, to bear the Puniſhment of our Iniquity.

e Ver. 4. Καὶ οὐχ ἑαυτῷ τις, No Man.] I. e. According to the Law, ſay moſt Interpreters, but I ſee no neceſſity of this Limitation, it being true that no Man can promiſe to himſelf God will accept his Offerings, who hath no Commiſſion from God to make ſuch Offerings; whence doth ariſe a good Argument, to ſhew that Sacrifices are of Divine, and not of Human Inſtitution only.

f Ver. 5. This Day.] I have ſhewed, Note on Chap. 2. 10. that Chriſt was by his Death conſecrated to his Prieſthood; whence it muſt follow, that he could not exerciſe his Sacerdotal Function till after Death; and this the Apoſtle ſheweth here, by ſaying, He was made an High-Prieſt by the Father, ſaying, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee; for that this relates unto the Reſurrection of our Lord, is evident, becauſe we find the ſame Apoſtle proving his Reſurrection from theſe words, Acts 13. 33. which he could not have done, had they not been intended as a Prediction of his Reſurrection.

g Ver. 7. Εἰσακουσθεὶς, he was heard.] I. e. Delivered from his Fear. So the Word doth, and muſt ſignify, when it relates to Prayer for Deliverance from Evils. So Pſal. 22. 21. Σῶσόν με, Save me from the Mouth of the Lion; καὶ ἀπὸ κεράτων μονοκερώτων, and hear me from the Horns of the Unicorn. Pſal. 34. 6. This poor Man cried, καὶ εἰσήκουσε αὐτοῦ, and the Lord heard him, and ſaved him out of all his Troubles. And v. 4. I ſought the Lord, καὶ εἰσήκουσε, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my Fears. Pſal. 55. 2. Attend unto me, καὶ εἰσάκουσόν με, and hear me, ἀπὸ φωνῆς ἐχθροῦ, καὶ ἀπὸ θλίψεως ἁμαρτωλοῦ, from the voice of the Enemy, and from the Vexation of the Wicked. And v. 16. I cried to the Lord, and the Lord εἰσήκουσέ μου, heard me, v. 18. He delivered my life, ἀπὸ τῶν ἐγγιζόντων μοι, from thoſe that drew nigh to me, Eccluſ. 51. 10. 11. εἰσηκούσθη ἡ δέησις μου, my Prayer was heard, for thou ſavedſt me from Deſtruction. See Pſal. 31. 7.

h Ibid. Ἀπὸ τῆς εὐλαβείας, From his Fear.] Some would have this rendered ſo, he was heard by reaſon of his Reverence of God; but it is truly rendered, from his Fear; and ſo the word continually ſignifies both in the Old and the New Teſtament, and when 'tis uſed, as it very often is, by Philo, So Joſh. 22. 24. ἕνεκεν εὐλαβείας ἐποιήσαμεν τοῦτο, We did this out of fear. And Wiſd. 17. 8. καταγέλαστον εὐλάβειαν ἐνόσουν, they were affected with a ridiculous Fear, Heb. 12. 28. Let us ſerve God acceptably, μετ' αἰδοῦς καὶ εὐλαβείας, with Reverence and godly Fear. Acts 23. 10. εὐλαβηθεὶς ὁ χιλίαρχος, the Captain fearing. Heb. 11. 7. Noah εὐλαβηθεὶς, fearing, prepared an Ark, So Joſephus, ſaith of the King, Eſther's

Husband, That he held forth the Scepter, εὐλαβείας αὐτὴν ἀπολύων, delivering her from her Fear. And in the Septuagint, εὐλαβεῖσθαι ἀπὸ προσώπου Κυρίου, is to fear before God, Exod. 3. 6. Jer. 5. 22. Hab. 2. 20. Zeph. 1. 7. 3. 13. Zech. 2. 13. and εὐλαβεῖσθαι ἀπὸ προσώπου αὐτοῦ, is to fear before Man, or be afraid of Men. 1 Sam. 18. 15. Job. 19. 29. Iſai. 57. 11. Jer. 22. 25. Ecclus. 7. 7. This Senſe alſo the Particle ἀπὸ doth require, which rarely doth import the meritorious Cauſe: His Prayers and Tears, alſo do expreſs the greatneſs of his Fears; and laſtly, The ſcope of the Apoſtle requires this ſenſe, he being here repreſenting our Lord as one of like Paſſions with us, that he might ſhew, he was a merciful High-Prieſt. This Fear he became ſubject to, ſay Grotius and the Fathers, becauſe the Divinity for a ſeaſon as it were withdrew its Influence from the Human Nature, καὶ γὰρ τὴν ἀνθρωπότητα τοῦτο παθεῖν ἡ θεότης συνεχώρησε, for the Deity permitted the Humanity thus to ſuffer, ſaith Theodoret. And this doubtleſs all thoſe Fathers intended, who followed that Reading, Chap. 2. 9. that he taſted Death for every Man, χωρὶς Θεοῦ; for that this was no Depravation of the Neſtorians, as OEcumenius and Theophylact fanſied, is evident from this, that his words are thus cited by (a) Origen, and by St. (b) Ambroſe, who lived before Neſtorius.

Ver. 8. Ἔμαθεν ἀφ᾽ ὧν ἔπαθε τὴν ὑπακοὴν,] He learned Obedience from the things that he ſuffered.

Ibid. Ἔμαθεν ὑπακοὴν, he learned Obedience by the things that he ſuffered] Theſe Words I have expounded thus: He learned (the Difficulty of) Obedience (to the Death) by the things that he ſuffered. But I conceive they may be alſo rendered, and expounded thus, v. 7. He was heard, and deliver'd from his Fears, to wit, from thoſe Fears, which threw him into an Agony in the Garden, and againſt which an Angel was ſent from Heaven to comfort him, v. 8. καίπερ ὢν υἱὸς, tho' being a Son (even the proper Son of God) he taught us Obedience by the things that he ſuffered, or by the Death he ſuffered in Obedience to the Will, and Commandment of his Father, Joh. 10. 18. for as the Hebrew Lamed ſignifies both to learn, and to teach, and is by the Septuagint above Twenty times rendered διδάσκειν to teach, and as the Word learn in our Language ſignifies alſo to teach, as in theſe Words of the Old Tranſlation, Pſalm 119. 66. Oh learn me Underſtanding, and Knowledge; ſo alſo ſaith * Euſtathius the Word μανθάνω is μέση λέξις, a Word that ſignifies both to teach, and to be taught, and is ſo uſed by the Authors that lived after Homer's time, and by the Sophiſters.

Ver. 9. Τελειωθεὶς, Made perfect.] That this word is here taken in the Notion of Conſecration, may appear, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, by the words following; as the Application of it, being pronounced, or declared an High-Prieſt, which belongs to Chriſt after his Reſurrection, and not before, that being the time when he entered into his heavenly Tabernacle, living there for ever to appear before God, and exerciſe that Function in his Preſence for us; and ſo he became an High-Prieſt for ever. i

Ver. 11. Δυσερμήνευτος, Hard to be uttered.] See here what are St. Paul's δυσνόητα, things hard to be underſtood, 2 Pet. 3. 16. viz. thoſe things which were not ſo in themſelves, or through the Difficulty of the matter revealed, but through the Imbecillity and Weakneſs of them to whom they were ſpoken. k

Ver. 12. Στοιχεῖα τῆς ἀρχῆς τῶν λογίων τοῦ Θεοῦ, The firſt Principles of the Oracles of God.] It is the Deſcant of all the (c) ancient Commentators on this place, that by theſe firſt Principles the Apoſtle underſtands the Humanity of Chriſt, becauſe the Preachers of the Goſpel ſpake of that only, to them who were not yet perfect in the Faith: And yet this ſeemeth neither to be true, nor ſafe; not true, becauſe the Apoſtle had in the 1ſt and 2d Chapters of this Epiſtle, as all theſe Commentators teach, ſpoken to theſe rude Jews of the Deity of Chriſt; and becauſe he mentions not Chriſt's Human Nature among the Principles of the Doctrines of Chriſt, reckoned up Chap. 6. 1, 2. Not ſafe, becauſe it ſeems to intimate that Chriſtians might be taught the Faith before they had Knowledge of the Divinity of Chriſt, and conſequently that this was no neceſſary part of Chriſtian Faith. l

Note ſecondly, That hence we may fairly gueſs who were, in the Epiſtles to St. Timothy, the Teachers of the Law, who neither underſtood what they ſaid, nor whereof they affirm'd, 1 Tim. 1. 7. and the ἑτεροδιδάσκαλοι, the falſe Teachers, who were proud, knowing nothing, but doting about Queſtions, and ſtrifes of Words; Men of corrupt Minds, and deſtitute of the Truth, Chap. 5. 3, 4, 5. and who they were who were always learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the Truth, 2. Tim. 3. 7. viz. not the Gnoſticks, but in all likelihood, the Note thirdly, That this ſeems not to be ſpoken of all the Jews, but only of the greateſt part of them; that therefore which is ſpoken of the Deity of Chriſt, the Melchiſedecian Prieſthood, the virtue of Chriſt's Prieſthood, belonged to the more perfect, who were not to be debarr'd of the Knowledge of theſe things, by reaſon of the Imbecillity of their Brethren.

m Ver. 14. Τελείων δὲ.] See the ſenſe of the word perfect, Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6. This Metaphor ſeems to be taken from the digeſtion of the Stomach; that which is light of Digeſtion, and needs not much Concoction, as ſolid Food, and ſtrong meat doth, being here repreſented by the Name of Milk; and ſo in reference to the Judgment, that which can eaſily be learned, and apprehended aright, and in which we are in no great Danger of miſtaking, as are the firſt Principles of Religion, mentioned, Chap. 6. is compared to Milk; but that we cannot eaſily diſcern, and about which we are ſubject to Miſtakes, and wrong Conceptions, as the things, mentioned in the former Note, were to the Jews, is called ſtrong Meat.

CHAP. VI.

Verſe 1. THerefore leaving the Principles of the Doctrine of Chriſt [tho'
your ſmall Proficiency in them makes it ſeem almoſt
a neceſſary to diſcourſe anew of them to you,] [a] let us go on unto perfection] i. e. to the Doctrines which will render you perfect Men in the knowledge of Chriſt,] not laying again the Foundation of [Chriſtianity in the Doctrines of] Repentance from dead works [i. e. from works deſerving Death,
Rom. 6. 23. 8. 13.] and of Faith towards God.
b 2. [And] of the [b] Doctrine of Baptiſms, [that of Water and of the Spirit, by which they that repent and believe, are initiated into the Church
c of Chriſt,] and [c] of Laying-on of Hands [after Baptiſm, for the receiving of the Holy Ghoſt,] and of d the Reſurrection of the Dead, and [d] of eternal Judgment; [the great Motives to engage all Chriſtians herein to exerciſe themſelves, to have always Conſciences void of Offence towards God, and towards all Men, Acts 34. 15, 16]
e 3. [e] And this will we do, if God permit.
4. [I ſay, let us not attempt wholly to lay again the Foundation of Chriſtianity;] for it is impoſſible f for thoſe who were once [f] enlightened [in g Baptiſm,] and [g] have taſted of the heavenly Gift, and were made Partakers of the Holy Ghoſt, [ſent down from Heaven, and conferred on them by the Impoſition of Hands.]
h 5. And have [h] taſted the good word of God, [preached among them with ſuch variety of Tongues, and confirmed by ſo many Miracles,] and i [have ſeen and felt] [i] the Powers of the World to come.
6. If they ſhall fall away [from Chriſtianity] k [k] to renew them again to Repentance, ſeeing they [by ſo doing] crucify to themſelves, [or by themſelves,] the Son of God afreſh, and put him to an open ſhame.
7. For [as] the Earth which drinketh in the Rain which cometh oft [from Heaven] upon it, and [ſo] brings forth Herbs meet for them by whom it is dreſſed, receiveth [farther] bleſſing from God [ſo is it with them who become fruitful under the Dew and Showers of Divine
Grace.]
8. But that [Earth] which [being thus dreſſed and watered] beareth [only] Thorns and Briars, is [l] rejected and nigh unto Curſing, l whoſe end is to be burnt.
9. But, Beloved, we are perſuaded better things of you, and things that accompany Salvation, though we thus ſpeak [to warn you of the Danger of falling off from the Chriſtian Faith.]
10. For [if you be not wanting to your ſelves]
God is not unrighteous to forget [m] your work m [of Faith,] and [your] labour of Love, which you have ſhewed to his Name, in that you have miniſtered to the [Neceſſities of the] Saints, and [yet] do miniſter [to them.]
11. And we deſire [ἐπιθυμοῦμεν δὲ, we deſire therefore] that every one of you do ſhew the ſame diligence [which hitherto you have done] to the [intent that you may retain a] full aſſurance of hope to the end.
12. [n] That ye be not ſlothful [Gr. may not n be ſlothful] but followers of them, who through faith and patience inherit [-ed] the Promiſes.
13. For when God [upon his Faith in offering his Son Iſaac,] made a Promiſe to Abraham, [o] becauſe he could ſwear by no [one] greater, o
he ſware by himſelf.
14. Saying, Surely, bleſſing I will bleſs thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee.
15. And ſo [accordingly] after he had patiently endured, he obtained the [p] Promiſe p
[of a Seed multiplied greatly to him, Gen. 22. 17.]
16. [God confirming his Faith in the Promiſes made to him after the manner of Men:] For men verily ſwear by the greater, and an Oath for confirmation is to them an [q] End of all ſtrife, q [or Contradiction.]

17. Wherein [ἐν ᾧ, in which thing accordingly,] God [being] willing more abundantly to ſhew [not only to Abraham, but alſo] to the Heirs of Promiſe the immutability of his Counſel, confirmed it by an Oath.

18. That by two immutable things in which it was impoſſible for God to lye [viz. his Promiſe and his Oath,] we might have a ſtrong Conſolation, who have fled for Refuge to lay hold upon the Hope ſet before us. [Who to eſcape the Wrath impendent on the unbelieving Jews here and hereafter, have fled to the Hope of Glory ſet before us in Chriſt Jeſus, the lively hope of an Inheritance incorruptible, to which we are begotten by Chriſt Jeſus, 1 Pet. 1. 3.]

19. Which Hope we have as an Anchor of the Soul both ſure and ſtedfaſt [in all the Storms and Billows of the World,] and which [r] entereth r into that within [Gr. the inward part of] the Vail.

20. Whither the Fore-runner is for us entered, even Jeſus, [who is] made an High-Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec. [And ſo one that can never die, or miſcarry in his Office, but lives for ever, there to appear in the Preſence of God for us; Chap. 7. 24, 25.]

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Verſe 1. Ἐπὶ τὴν τελειότητα, To perfection.] That to be perfect ſignifies to be fully inſtructed in the Principles of Chriſtian Faith, ſee Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6.

b Ver. 2. Βαπτισμῶν διδαχῆς, The Doctrine of Baptiſms.] He ſpeaks not of the Baptiſm of John, and of Chriſt, for the Baptiſm of John was preparatory to Repentance, and Faith in Chriſt; nor of the Baptiſm of Martyrdom, that being not ordinarily known to the Jews by that name, but of the double Baptiſm, of which the Baptiſt ſpake in theſe words, I baptize you with Water, but there is one who cometh after me, he ſhall baptize you with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Fire, Mat. 3. 11. and of which our Saviour ſpeaks to Nicodemus, ſaying, Except a Man be born again of Water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God, John 3. 5. For this in order follows the Doctrine of Repentance, and Faith in God, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

c Ibid. Ἐπιθέσεώς τε χειρῶν, Impoſition of Hands.] Impoſition of Hands was uſed in Ordination, Healing of the Sick, and Abſolution of Penitents; but this Impoſition of Hands was not common to all Chriſtians, nor joined with Baptiſm; nor was it to be reckoned among the Principles, or initiatory Doctrines of the Chriſtian Faith. It remains therefore that we underſtand this of the Impoſition of the Apoſtles Hands, uſed after Baptiſm for the receiving of the Holy Ghoſt, mention'd, Acts 8. 17. Then laid they their Hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghoſt. See Chap. 19. 6.

d Ibid. Καὶ κρίματος αἰωνίου, Of eternal Judgment.] Hence Interpreters obſerve, That the Doctrine of Origen, touching the Period of the Torments of the Damned, is here condemned: And indeed the Primitive Fathers, not Origen himſelf excepted, taught the contrary.

If we do not the Will of Chriſt, (a) ſaith Clemens Romanus, οὐδὲν ἡμᾶς ῥύσεται τῆς αἰωνίου κολάσεως, nothing will deliver us from eternal Puniſhment: The black way in (b) Barnabas is ὁδὸς τοῦ θανάτου αἰωνίου μετὰ τιμωρίας, the way of eternal Death with Puniſhment. The Puniſhment of the Damned, ſaith (c) Juſtin Martyr, is κόλασις καὶ τιμωρία ἐν αἰωνίῳ πυρὶ. Κόλασις ἀπέραντος, κόλασις αἰώνιος, πυρὸς αἰωνίου δίκη, endleſs Puniſhment, and Torment in eternal Fire. In (d) Theophylus, it is κόλασις αἰώνιος, αἰώνιος τιμωρία, eternal Puniſhment. (e) Irenæus in his Symbol of Faith, makes this one Article, That τοὺς ἀσεβεῖς καὶ ἀδίκους εἰς τὸ αἰώνιον πῦρ πέμψῃ, Chriſt would ſend the Ungodly and Unjuſt into everlaſting Fire.

(f) Tertullian declares, Omnes homines aut cruciatui deſtinari aut refrigerio, utroque ſempiterno, that all Men are appointed to eternal Torments or Refreſhments. And if any Man, ſaith he, thinks the Wicked are to be conſumed, and not puniſhed, let him remember, ignem Gehennæ æternum prædicari in pœnam æternam, that Hell-fire is ſtiled eternal becauſe deſigned for eternal Puniſhment; and thence concludes their Subſtance will remain for ever, whoſe Puniſhment doth ſo. St. (g) Cyprian ſaith, Servantur cum corporibus ſuis animæ infinitis cruciatibus ad dolorem; that the Souls of the Wicked are kept with their Bodies, to be grieved with endleſs Torments. Tormentis nec modus ullus aut terminus, There is no meaſure nor end of their Torment, ſaith (h) Minutius. Laſtly, (i) Origen reckons this among the Doctrines defined by the Church, That every Soul, when it goes out of this World ſhall either enjoy the Inheritance of eternal Life and Bliſs, if its Deeds have rendered it fit for Life, ſive igni æterno, ac ſuppliciis mancimancipanda eſt, or, is to be delivered up to eternal Fire and Puniſhment, if its Sins have deſerved that State.

e Ver. 3. Καὶ τοῦτο ποιήσομεν, And this will we do, &c.] This Verſe by Grotius and Dr. Hammond is thus interpreted; We purpoſe ſome other time to inſtruct you farther in theſe Rudiments of Chriſtianity, if you do not in the mean time fall from the Chriſtian Faith, Ch. 2. 1, 3. If there be not in you an evil Heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God, Chap. 3. 12. If you fall not after the ſame Example of unbelief which your Fore-Fathers gave, Chap. 4. 11.

Others put this Verſe in a Parentheſis, and make it to relate to theſe words, v. 1. Let us go on unto perfection, or to the higher Doctrines of Chriſtianity, as God willing we now intend to do. So Acts 18. 21. God willing I will return unto you. I will come to you ſpeedily if God will, 1 Cor. 4. 19. And this Interpretation I like beſt.

f Ver. 4. Φωτισθέντες, Enlightened.] That Baptiſm from the beginning was called φωτισμὸς, Illumination, we learn from the concurrent Teſtimonies of (k) Juſtin Martyr, (l) Irenæus, and Clemens Alexandrinus, which makes it very probable that this Phraſe obtained from the beginning of Chriſtianity, and ſo this anſwers to the Doctrine of Baptiſms, v. 2.

g Ibid. Γευσαμένους τε τῆς δωρεᾶς τῆς ἐπουρανίου, And have taſted of the Heavenly Gift.] I. e. The Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven, ſtiled by our Saviour, τὴν δωρεὰν τοῦ Θεοῦ, the Gift of God, John 4. 10. Thus our Saviour diſcourſing of Baptiſm by Water and the Holy Ghoſt, and of Regeneration, ἄνωθεν, from above, by virtue of this Spirit, ſaith, he diſcourſed περὶ τῶν ἐπουρανίων, of heavenly Things, John 3. 12. and they who were ſealed with the Spirit of Promiſe, Eph. 1. 13. are ſaid to be bleſſed with Spiritual Bleſſings, ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις, in heavenly Things; and this Gift was imparted by Impoſition of Hands, Acts 8. 17. 19. 6.

h Ver. 5. Καὶ καλὸν γευσάμενος ῥῆμα, And have taſted the good Word of God.] I. e. And have been acquainted with the Goſpel, which affords the Promiſe of Remiſſion of Sins, and of Juſtification here, and of a Reſurrection to eternal Life hereafter, v. 2. So the Promiſe of bringing the Children of Iſrael into the Land of Canaan, is ſtiled הדבר הטוב ῥῆμα καλὸν, a good Word, Joſh. 21. 45. 23. 15. the word of God for bringing his People out of Captivity, is ſtiled דברי הטוב, my good Word, Jer. 29. 10. The words of Conſolation which the Angel ſpake to Jeruſalem, are דברים, טובים ῥήματα καλὰ, good Words, Zach. 1. 13. The Promiſe made to God's People of Remiſſion of Sins, and Peace and Truth in the Days of the Meſſiah, is הדבר הטוב, a good Word. And the Prophet ſpeaking of the Meſſiah, ſaith, My Heart meditateth a good Word, דבר טוב, λόγον ἀγαθὸν, Pſal. 45. 1. This word they ſaw confirmed by the Gift of Tongues and Prophecy, vouchſafed to the firſt Preachers of it, and daily experimented in their Aſſemblies, 1 Cor. 14. and ſo they could not but be convinced of the Truth of it.

Ibid. Δυνάμεις τε μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, The Powers of the World to come.] The World to come doth, in the Language of the Prophets, and of the Jewiſh Doctors, ſignify the Times of the Meſſiah, who in the Prophet Iſaiah, is called ὁ πατὴρ μέλλοντος αἰῶνος, the Father of the World to come. See Note on Chap. 2. 5. The Powers, therefore, of the World to come, according to the Scripture Idiotiſm, muſt be the external Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, viz. the Gifts of Faith, of Healing, of Caſting out Devils, ἐνεργήματα δυνάμεων, 1 Cor. 12. 8, 9. the working of Miracles, or the Operations of Powers. Or, Secondly, This fourth Particular may anſwer to the Day of Judgment, which is the fourth thing mentioned, v. 2. as the three former ſeem to do to the three other things there mentioned, and then the Powers of the World to come may ſignify the powerful Perſuaſions the Doctrine of a future Judgment adminiſters to Repentance, and a New Life, Acts 17. 30, 31. 2 Cor. 5. 10, 11. though of this import of the Phraſe I find no Example.

Ver. 6. Ἀδύνατον τοὺς πάλιν ἀνακαινίζειν εἰς μετάνοιαν, It is impoſſible to renew theſe to Repentance.] For theſe being all the means, internal and external, by which God gave Teſtimony to the Truth of Chriſtian Faith, and the prophetick Office and glorious Reſurrection of our Lord; they, ſaith the Apoſtle, who, after a full Experience of them, do of their own accord renounce that Faith, cannot be renewed to Repentance, becauſe they have already reſiſted all that Evidence which God ſaw fit to give Men of the Truth of that Faith, and of this Meſſiah; and ſo they become guilty of that Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt, which, ſaith our Saviour, ſhall never be forgiven, Matth. 12. 32. k

But then the παραπεσόντες, Men that thus fall away, are not thoſe who lapſe in the Times of Perſecution, and much leſs thoſe, who, through the Temptations of the Fleſh, may ſometimes fall into great Sins, for to ſuch the Apoſtle grants place for Repentance, 2 Cor. 12. 21. and one of theſe he delivers to Satan for the Deſtruction of the Fleſh, that the Spirit might be ſaved in the Day of the Lord Jeſus, 1 Cor. 5. 5. Exhorting his Corinthians, upon his Repentance, to receive him into their Communion, 2 Cor. 2. 7, 8. But ſuch as, after theſe Experiences of the truth of Chriſtian Faith, have voluntarily renounced it, relapſing either to Heatheniſm or Judaiſm; for they are ſuch as apoſtatize from the Living God, Chap. 3. 12. ſuch as fall through Unbelief, Chap. 4. 11. ſuch as hold not the Profeſſion of the Faith, Chap. 10. 23. ſuch as draw back from the Faith, v. 38.

2*dly*, This will be farther evident from the Deſcription of theſe Perſons, they being here ſaid ἀνασταυροῦν ἑαυτοῖς, by themſelves to crucify Chriſt afreſh, and παραδειγματίζειν, to put him to an open ſhame, as one that deſerved the Puniſhment which the Jews inflicted on him; and being Apoſtate Jews; to crucify Chriſt again.

l Ver. 8. Ἀδόκιμος, Rejected.] It is rejected of the Husbandman, who will ſpend no more labour upon it, but leave it to be ſcorched by the Heat, and ſo to be like the Heath, which is the Emblem of the curſed Man, Jer. 17. 5, 6. or like the barren Fig-Tree which the Lord curſed, ſaying, never Fruit grow on thee more, Matth. 21. 19. Accordingly, they on whom the Showers of Divine Grace fall down from Heaven, if they bring forth no good Fruit, ſhall be ἀδόκιμοι, rejected by God, continue under the Curſe of the Law, and their end ſhall be Deſtruction.

m Ver. 10. Τοῦ ἔργου ὑμῶν, Your Work.] This ſeems to be the ἔργον πίστεως, Work of Faith mentioned, 1 Theſſ. 1. 3. 2 Theſſ. 1. 11. and joined with ὁ κόπος τῆς ἀγάπης, the Labour of Love, as here; and which is ſtiled ἔργον ἀγαθὸν, the good Work, Phil. 1. 6. Rom. 2. 7. See Note on that Verſe, the following Exhortation being this, That they would continue in the Faith to the End, and be Imitators of them, who through Faith and Patience did inherit the Promiſes.

n Ver. 12. Ἵνα μὴ νωθροὶ, That ye be not ſlothful.] I. e. God being ſo engaged on his part to let nothing be wanting which is requiſite to enable you to perſevere, and ſo to enjoy the Fruits of your Faith in the Salvation of your Souls, ſee that ye be not ſlothful, nor fainthearted, but ſtill continuing the ſame Chriſtian Diligence to the end, that ſo you may at laſt enjoy the Bleſſings promiſed by this Goſpel, and live in an aſſured hope of them, as your Father Abraham did.

o Ver. 13. Ἐπεὶ κατ' οὐδενὸς εἶχε μείζονος ὀμόσαι, Becauſe he could ſwear by no greater.] So Philo, ὁρᾷς γὰρ ὅτι οὐ καθ' ἑτέρου ὀμνύει ὁ Θεός, οὐδὲν γὰρ αὐτοῦ κρεῖττον, ἀλλὰ καθ' ἑαυτοῦ, thou ſeeſt that God ſweareth not by another, for there is nothing better than he, but by himſelf. Leg. Alleg. l. 2. p. 75. D.

Ver. 13. He ſwears, δι' ἑαυτοῦ, by himſelf.] It may perhaps be not unworthy of our Obſervation, that where God ſaith in the Old Teſtament, I ſwear by my ſelf, the Jeruſalem Targum renders this frequently bemimri, by my Word, as Exod. 17. 16. Deut. 1. 1. 32. 22, 26.

Ver. 15. Τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν, The Promiſe.] This P cannot be underſtood of Iſaac, the promiſed Seed, he being not only born, but offer'd, when God made this Promiſe to Abraham; nor can it be ſaid that he inherited the Promiſe becauſe he ſaw it afar off, that being a ſign he did not yet inherit it, or that he did this in his Poſterity; for the Apoſtle ſaith, he himſelf inherited the Promiſes; which is exactly true of the Words cited here by the Apoſtle, Surely, bleſſing I will bleſs thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thee; for the Book of Geneſis aſſures us, this Promiſe was exactly fulfill'd in his Life; for the Lord bleſſed him in all things, Gen. 24. 1. He had a numerous Seed by his Wife Keturah, Gen. 25. to whom he gave Gifts, v. 6. From Iſhmael aroſe twelve Sons, which were Princes of their Tribes, v. 13, 16. He lived fifteen years after the Birth of Jacob and Eſau by Rebeckah, of whom the Oracle declared, that there were two Nations in her Womb; for Iſaac was ſixty years old when they were born to him, v. 23, 26. He himſelf was born when Abraham was an hundred years old, Gen. 21. 5. Abraham was an hundred and ſeventy five years old when he died, Gen. 25. 7. He therefore lived fifteen Years after the Birth of Jacob and Eſau, and ninety Years after the Birth of Iſhmael; and ſo lived to ſee this Promiſe verified to him.

q Ver. 16. Ἀντιλογίας πέρας, An end of Contradiction.] (m) Diodorus Siculus informs us, that the Egyptians ſtiled an Oath, μεγίστην πίστιν, the greateſt Confirmation. It is, ſaith D. Halicarnaſſenſis, τελευταία πίστις, the laſt or utmoſt Aſſurance. 'Tis, in the Language of Procopius, ὕστατον καὶ ἐχυρώτατον πίστεώς τε καὶ ἀληθείας ἐνέχυρον, the laſt and firmeſt Pledge of Faith and Truth. That the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of Promiſſory Oaths, is evident from the occaſion of this Diſcourſe, viz. his Promiſe made to Abraham. Now theſe Oaths being equally conducing to this good End in all Ages, we have juſt reaſon to believe that Chriſtianity allows of them for theſe Ends.

r Ver. 19. Εἰς τὸ ἐσώτερον τοῦ καταπετάσματος; Which entereth into the Vail;] Which being the Hope of the Heavenly Manſions typified by the Sanctum Sanctorum, within the Vail, carries our Expectations thither: The Jews had the higheſt Expectations from the Service of the High-Prieſt entering into the Holy of Holies; if on the Day of Expiation he came out alive, (n) there was great Joy, for then they thought they were accepted. How then may we rejoice in Contemplation of that Heavenly Sanctuary!

CHAP. VII.

Verſe 1. [WHich Order, ſure, was very excellent, and therefore fit to repreſent the Prieſthood of the Holy Jeſus, the King of Saints, and Prince of Peace.] For this a Melchiſedec, [a] King of Salem, Prieſt of the moſt high God, who met Abraham returning from the ſlaughter of the [four] Kings, [mentioned, Gen. 14. 9.] and bleſſed him, [v. 18.]

2. To whom Abraham alſo gave a tenth part of all [the Spoils taken by him,] firſt being by interpretation [of the word Melchiſedec,] King of Righteouſneſs, and after that alſo [ſtiled] King of Salem, which [by Interpretation] is King of Peace. [And being]

b 3. [b] Without Father, [or] without Mother [of any Prieſtly Order,] without Deſcent [from c any of the Pedigree of Abraham, V. 7.] [c] having neither beginning of Days [from which his Prieſtly Office was to commence] nor end of Life, [in d which it terminated,] but [being] [d] made like unto the Son [a Son] of God, abideth a Prieſt continually.

4. Now conſider how great this Man [Gr. he] was, unto whom even the Patriarch
e Abraham gave [e] the tenth of the Spoils, [which anciently were given to Kings and Prieſts, as belonging to God whom they ſerved or repreſented.]

5. And verily they that are of the Sons of Levi, who receive [i. e. they indeed of the Sons of Levi receiving] the Office of the Prieſthood, have a Commandment to take Tithes of the People, according to the Law, that is, of their Brethren, though they come out of the Loins of Abraham; [i. e. They receive Tithes only by virtue of the Law, and that from them only who come out of the Loins of Abraham, as well as they, Numb. 18. 21, 26.]

f 6. But he [f] whoſe Deſcent is not counted from them [being no kin to Abraham] received Tithes of Abraham [himſelf,] and bleſſed him, who had the Promiſes, [that in him ſhould all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed.]

7. And without all Contradiction, [in all ſolemn Benedictions, ex officio] the leſs is bleſſed of the better, [and ſo he that bleſſed Abraham muſt be greater than he was.]

8. And here [under the Levitical Prieſthood] Men that die receive Tithes, but there [in the inſtance of Melchiſedec] [g] he [received them] of whom g it is witneſſed [Pſal. 110. 4.] that he liveth.

9. And [h] as I may ſo ſay, [the Family of] Levi alſo, who receiveth Tithes, paid Tithes in h Abraham.

10. For he was yet in the Loins of his Father [Abraham] when Melchiſedec met him.

11. If therefore [i] Perfection [i. e. full Expiation of Sins] were [to be obtained] by the i Levitical Prieſthood [as it muſt have been, had it come by the Law, ver. 18, 19.] for [k] under [Gr. about] it, the People received the Law, k what further need was there, that another Prieſt ſhould ariſe [as the Pſalmiſt ſaith] after the Order of Melchiſedec, and not be [rather] called [a Prieſt] after the Order of Aaron?

12. [And yet you ſee this need there was;] for the Prieſthood being changed [i. e. tranſlated from the Order of Aaron, to that of Melchiſedec,] there is made of neceſſity a change alſo of the Law [concerning Prieſthood, V. 14. or touching Prieſts to be repaired to for Expiation.]

13. [And this change is ſignified by theſe words, Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec;] for he [i. e. Chriſt,] of whom theſe things [words] are ſpoken, pertaineth to another Tribe [than that of Levi,] of which [Tribe] no man gave attendance at the Altar.

14. For it is evident that our Lord [to whom theſe words belong] ſprang out of [the Tribe of] Judah, of which Tribe Moſes ſpake nothing concerning Prieſthood.

15. And it is yet far more evident [by ſaying] [l] for that [Gr. εἰ that] after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec [not of Aaron, V. 11.] there ariſeth l another Prieſt.

16. Who is made [a Prieſt] not after the Law of a carnal Commandment, [relating to Men that are Fleſh and Blood, and ſo infirm, and ſubject to Mortality; for all fleſh is graſs, Iſa. 40. 6. and therefore muſt be ſucceded by others,] but after the power of an endleſs [or indiſſoluble] Life.

16. For [thus] he teſtifieth [by ſaying,] Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec.

18. I ſay, not after the Law of a carnal Commandment,] for there is verily [in theſe words] a diſannulling of the Commandment going before, [the preceding Commandment concern-
m ing the Levitical Prieſthood and Sacrifices,] [m] for n the weakneſs [of it as to Juſtification,] and [n] unprofitableneſs of it [as to the Expiation of Sin.]

o 19. For [thus] [o] the Law made nothing p perfect, but the bringing in [p] of a bet-q ter hope did, by [q] which we draw nigh to God.

r 20. [r] And [by ſo much is Jeſus made the Mediator of a better Covenant,] inaſmuch as [his Prieſthood, by virtue of which he became this Mediator, was] not without an Oath, [as was that of the Tribe of Levi.]

21. For thoſe Prieſts were made [ſuch] without an Oath; but this with an Oath, by him that ſaid unto him, [Pſal. 110. 4.] The Lord ſware, and will not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec. [Now where no Oath intervenes, God may change his Inſtitution, but not after his Oath.]

22. [I ſay,] By ſo much was Jeſus made a Surety of a better Teſtament, [eſtabliſhed upon better Promiſes, chap. 8. 6.]

23. And [to proceed in the Compariſon,] they truly were many Prieſts [ſucceſſively,] becauſe they were not ſuffered to continue by reaſon of Death.

24. But this Man, [Gr. but he, i. e. Jeſus, v. 22. becauſe he continueth [for] ever, hath an unchangeable [High-] Prieſthood, [which paſſeth not away, and ſo admits of no ſucceſſion to it.]

25. Wherefore, he is able alſo to ſave them to the uttermoſt, [Gr. for ever,] that come unto God by him, ſeeing he ever liveth to make Interceſſion for them, [and by that Interceſſion to become the Propitiation for their Sins for ever, 1 John 2. 2.]

26. [And thus was he an High Prieſt ſuited to our Condition :] For ſuch an High Prieſt became us [Sinners,] who is holy, [i. e. conſecrated to his Office, and ſo Holineſs to the Lord, Exod. 28. 36.] [ſ] harmleſs, [ἄκακος, free from evil in himſelf;] undefiled, [by the Impurities of others;] ſeparate from Sinners; [and ſo not liable to any Defilement by dwelling among them,] and [therefore] made higher than the Heavens; [he being aſcended far above the Heavens, Eph. 4. 10. and paſſed through the Heavens, Heb. 4. 14. into the preſence of God, there to appear for ever for us.] ſ

27. [And ſo one] who needeth not daily, as thoſe High Prieſts [under the Law did,] to offer up Sacrifice firſt for his own Sins, [which he, being free from evil, v. 26. could not do,] and then for [the Sins of] the People; [t] for t this [laſt] he did once when he offered up himſelf.

28. For the Law maketh Men High Prieſts which have infirmity, [ſubjecting them to Sin, and by that to Mortality, whence they have need to offer, as well for themſelves as for the People, v. 27.] but the word of the Oath, which was ſince the Law, [as being in the Pſalms written after it,] maketh the Son [our High Prieſt,] who is conſecrated [to this Office] for evermore; [he being not ſubject to thoſe Infirmities which brought Mortality upon others.

Annotations on Chap. VII.

a Verſe 1. Βασιλεὺς Σαλὴμ, King of Salem.] They ſeem miſtaken, who think this Salem was the ſame with Jeruſalem; for it is plain from this very Place, Gen. 14. 15, 16, 17. that Salem was in the Way which led from the Valley of Damaſcus unto Sodom. (a) St. Jerom alſo ſaith, that he learned, ab eruditiſſimis Gentis illius, from the moſt learned of the Jews, that Salem was not Jeruſalem, but a Town near Scythopolis, which till then was called Salem: And it retained its Name in our Saviour's Days, as appears by the Evangeliſt, ſaying, that St. John baptized near Salem, John 3. 23. Now of this Melchiſedeck, King of Salem, let it be noted,

1. That he muſt be a Man, not an Angel, not the Holy Spirit: For, (1*ſt*,) Every High Prieſt, ſaith the Apoſtle, is taken from among Men, chap. 5. 1. (2*dly*,) The Scripture ſtill ſpeaks of him as a Man, deſcribing him by his proper Name, his Kingly Dignity, and the City where he dwelt, and by his Perſonal Actions, proper to a Man, his bringing forth Bread and Wine; and his receiving the Tithes of the Spoils. And (3*dly*,) From theſe words, Conſider, πηλίκος οὗτος, what an eminent Perſon this Melchiſedeck was, to whom Abraham gave the Tenth of the Spoils; things, ſurely, which neither Angels nor the Holy Spirit would receive, nor was it neceſſary to prove their Dignity. Accordingly (b) Joſephus ſaith expreſly, that he was a King of the City of Salem; and (c) Philo, that he was a King, and not a Tyrant.

2*dly*, He could not be Sem, as the Jews vainly imagin; for the Apoſtle ſaith here expreſly, that Melchiſedeck was not γενεαλογούμενος ἐξ αὐτῶν, i. e. one who had his Pedigree or Deſcent from them; which is not true of Sem: Nor could he be ſaid to be without Father, or Mother, whoſe Genealogy is evident from Adam, Gen. 5. 32. and 10. 1. and who was the Son of Noah. Nor was Sem's Prieſthood, if he had any, of a different Order from Levi's, who was in his Loins, as well as Levi was in the Loins of Abraham; and therefore it could not be ſaid, that Levi paid him Tithes in the Loins of Abraham, but it would be as true, that he received Tithes in the Loins of Sem; for according to this Interpretation, he was in the Loins both of him that received Tithes, and of him that paid them; which deſtroys the whole Argument of the Apoſtle here. Moreover, there is no viſible Cauſe why Moſes ſhould call Sem, whom he ſo often mentions, by any other Name than his own, by which he doth ſo oft make mention of him; nor is it likely that Sem reigned in the Land of Canaan, which now was in the Poſſeſſion of his Brother's Son; nor could Abraham be ſaid to ſojourn there, as in a ſtrange Countrey, if his Noble Anceſtor Sem had been King there.

3*dly*, Much leſs could he be the Eternal Λόγος, or the Son of God himſelf; for as he only was a Prieſt according to his Human Nature, i. e. that Nature in which he was inferiour to God, and which he had not yet aſſumed, and was then conſtituted an High Prieſt, when God ſaid to him, at his Reſurrection, This Day have I begotten thee, chap. 5. 5. ſo could he not be an High Prieſt after his own Order, or made like unto himſelf. But Melchiſedeck was in this like unto him, that he was both a Prieſt of the moſt high God, and a King alſo in that Country, thoſe two Offices being anciently in the ſame Perſon; whence the Hebrew כהן, a Prieſt, is by the Targum often rendered רבא, a Prince; ſee Gen. 41. 45. Exod. 2. 16. and 3. 1. 2 Sam. 8. 18. and 20. 26. 1 Kings 4. 6. Job 12. 19. and on thoſe words, Pſal. 110. 4. Thou art a Prieſt for ever, [Thou ſhalt be a great Prince for ever,] is the Deſcant of the Targum.

Note alſo, that here again Mr. le Clerc is inſufferable, when he ſays, “ Becauſe the Allegorical Writers of the Jews at that Time accommodated innumerable Places to the Meſſiah, not relying upon any Grammatical Interpretation, but a certain old Cuſtom of explaining the Scripture after this manner; and becauſe they interpreted Pſal. 110. of the Meſſiah, the Sacred Writer makes uſe of that Interpretation to his Purpoſe; and becauſe they ackowledged the Meſſiah ought to be like Melchiſedeck, he reaſons againſt them from their own Conceſſions, not againſt other Men who might have denied what he affirmed: Otherwiſe, if the thing be conſidered in itſelf, no ſtrong or Grammatical Argument can be drawn againſt others from that Hiſtory; and therefore ſuch things are not too much to be urged now, becauſe that way of explaining Scripture is grown out of uſe: That is, The Apoſtle proceeds all along upon weak Grounds, and urges Arguments that in themſelves depend on Falſhoods, only becauſe ſome ſilly Jews had ſaid the ſame thing before him. I read indeed in Prophane (d) Celſus, this vile Reflection on the Sacred Penmen, That they produce things unknown, Phanatical, uncertain, and which no wiſe Man thinks to be of any ſtrength: But I am ſorry to find a Chriſtian Writer thus expoſing them to the Contempt and Scorn of Anti-ſcripturiſts. Chriſt is a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec, ſaith the Apoſtle, chap. 6. 20. So indeed you tell us out of the idle Tales, and Allegorical Interpretations of ſome Brain-ſick Jews, ſaith Mr. le Clerc; but without all Ground. It is περισσότερον κατάδηλον, exceeding manifeſt, ſaith the Apoſtle, that another Prieſt ſhould ariſe after the Order of Melchiſedec, chap. 7. 15. 'Tis no ſuch thing, ſaith Mr. le Clerc: This follows only from the vain Conceſſions of the Jews: Another Man may deny what you thus confidently affirm. It is exceeding manifeſt, ſaith the Apoſtle; for the Scripture teſtifies this, by ſaying, Thou art a Prieſt for ever after the Order of Melchiſedec, v. 17. And God hath confirmed this by an Oath, in theſe words, The Lord ſware, and will not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for ever. You make uſe of a Rabbinical Interpretation, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, and call that falſly a Scripture-Teſtimony; but another Man may deny what you thus aſſume, for no ſtrong or Grammatical Argument can be drawn from theſe words.

b Ver. 3. Ἀπάτωρ, &c. Without Father, without Mother, &c.] It being certain that theſe things cannot be properly ſpoken of a Man, it is neceſſary to interpret them as I have done in the Paraphraſe; and to this Interpretation the Apoſtle leads, by ſtyling him, ἀγενεαλόγητον, without Pedigree, as being μὴ γενεαλογούμενος ἐξ αὐτῶν, not of the Genealogy of the People of Abraham.

c Ibid. Μήτε ἀρχὴν ἡμερῶν, μήτε ζωῆς τέλος ἔχων, Having neither beginning of Days, nor end of Life.] Though I have placed another Expoſition of theſe Words in the Paraphraſe, I condemn not the ordinary Senſe which Interpreters put upon theſe Words, viz. that in Scripture there is nothing ſaid of the Beginning or End of his Life; for ſo Philo ſaith of Cain, Perhaps the Sign that Cain ſhould not be killed, was this, τὸ μηδέποτε ἀναιρεθῆναι, that he ſhould never be taken away by Death, οὐδὲ γὰρ θάνατον αὐτοῦ διὰ πάσης τῆς νομοθεσίας δεδήλωκεν, for Moſes hath ſaid nothing of his Death, L. quod Deter. p. 145. C.

d Ibid. Ἀφωμοιωμένος δὲ τῷ υἱῷ τοῦ Θεοῦ, But made like to a Son of God.] All the Interpreters I have met with, refer this to Chriſt, of whom Melchiſedec was a Type, he being the Anti-type, as being emphatically a King of Righteouſneſs, and a Prince of Peace, without Earthly Father, as to his Divinity; without Mother, as being not of the Genealogy of the Aaronical Prieſthood; without beginning of Days as to his Divine Nature, and without end of Life as to his Prieſthood. But the Apoſtle is not here ſpeaking of Melchiſedec's Likeneſs to Chriſt, but of Chriſt's Likeneſs to him, as being a Prieſt after the Order of Melchiſedec: Nor do theſe things well ſuit with our Lord Chriſt, who, as to his Human Nature, was not without Mother, nor as to his Prieſthood without beginning of Days, Luke 3. 23. I therefore rather think, that as in all the former Characters ſo here the Apoſtle ſpeaks of Melchiſedec, and ſaith, he was, in this, like to a Son of God, or to one of the Angels, who are immortal, and never ceaſe to be: For it is certain, that the Angels are often ſtyled the Sons of God, ſo Job 1. 6. Bene heloim, The Sons of God, are, in the Septuagint, ἄγγελοι τοῦ Θεοῦ. So alſo Chap. 2. 1. and Chap. 38. 7. and Pſal. 29. 1. Chald. So Dan. 3. 25. The Viſion of the fourth, is like υἱῷ τοῦ Θεοῦ, a Son of God, i. e. an Angel of God: For ſo it follows, v. 28. He ſent his Angel, and delivered them. It is the Obſervation of the Book of Wiſdom, Chap. 2. 3. that Man was made immortal, and to be an Image of God's Eternity; and at their Reſurrection, ſaith St. Luke, they ſhall die no more, but ſhall be like unto the Angels, καὶ υἱοί εἰσι τοῦ Θεοῦ, and are the Sons of God, being Sons of the Reſurrection; and our υἱοθεσία, or Sonſhip, is by this Apoſtle made to conſiſt in the Redemption of the Body from Corruption. See Note on Rom. 8. 23. Melchiſedec therefore being here repreſented as one who had no end of his Life; and upon that account, one who abides a Prieſt for ever, is in this ſaid to be like to a Son of God; whence, v. 8. the Apoſtle oppoſes him to Prieſts that die, ſaying, there he received Tithes, of whom it is teſtified that he liveth, viz. Pſal. 110. 4.

Ver. 4. Δεκάτην τῶν ἀκροθινίων, The Tenths of the Spoils.] Τὰ ἀκροθίνια, ſaith Phavorinus, are τὰ τῶν πολεμίων, the Spoils of War; they are, ſaith Heſychius and Suidas, αἱ λαφύρων ἀπαρχαὶ, the Firſt-fruits of the Prey; or, as (e) Joſephus ſaith, δεκάτη τῆς λείας, the Tenths of what was gotten by War; it being a very ancient Cuſtom to give partly to the Gods, and partly to Kings, the Tenths or Firſt-fruits of theſe Spoils: And ſo Melchiſedec might here receive them both as a King, and as a Prieſt. That they were given to the Gods, we learn from thoſe words of (f) Arrian; We ought, in Hunting, to begin from the Gods, and to preſent to them the Firſt-fruits of what we have taken, οὐ μεῖον ἢ ἐν τῇ νίκῃ πολέμου ἀκροθίνια, no leſs than in a Victory in War, the chief of the Spoils. Thus did the Athenians, ſaith (g) Herodotus, who, τῶν λύτρων τὴν δεκάτην ἀνέθηκαν, conſe- e

See this as to both parts, largely proved by (h) Dr. Spencer. And evident it is, that Abraham here paid not the Tithes of all he had, but only the Tenths of the Spoils: 1. Becauſe he had nothing elſe there, the Remainder of his Eſtate being at Mamre. 2*dly*, The manner of paying Tithes being not this, that a Man ſhall pay the Tenth of all he hath, but only that he pay the Tenth of his Increaſe; and that not whenever he meets the Prieſt, but at the time of Harveſt only, or when he receives from God's Hands the Encreaſe of it: It cannot then be thought reaſonable, that Abraham ſhould give to Melchiſedec the Tithes of any other Spoils than thoſe he had now reaped by way of Harveſt.

f Ver. 6. g Ver. 8. [He] They ſeem to be miſtaken, who think this belongs only to Chriſt, and not at all to Melchiſedec: The contrary is manifeſt, (1.) From the Particle καὶ, which ſhews that the Apoſtle is ſtill ſpeaking of the ſame Perſon, i. e. Melchiſedec; and from the three following Verſes, which all ſpeak of him; nor is here more ſaid of him than v. 3. where 'tis affirmed, he had neither beginning of Days, nor end of Life. And by the Oppoſition betwixt the Aaronical Prieſts as dying, and Him as living; and by the word μαρτυρούμενος, which reſpects a Teſtimony of this thing, it is evident that the Apoſtle infers this from the words of the Pſalmiſt, Thou art a Prieſt for ever, after the Order of Melchiſedec.

h Ver. 9. Ὡς ἔπος εἰπεῖν,] Is not here, to ſpeak briefly, and, as in a word; but, ὡς ἂν εἴπῃ τις, as a Man may ſay, or, ἵνα οὕτως εἴπω, that I may ſo ſay; becauſe, ſaith Theophylact, it was τόλμημα, a harſh Figure; For in ſuch a manner, ſaith (k) Quintilian, we uſe to mollifie harſh Expreſſions: Which is enough to guard us againſt the Inference which ſome make from theſe words, that in like manner we may be ſaid to have ſinned in Adam, as being in the Loins of Adam when he ſinned. Which may be granted τρόπον τίνα, in a manner, becauſe we derived from him that Death which was the Puniſhment of his Sin, as coming from the Loins of one Mortal, and deriving from him a Nature ſubject to that Sin which deſerveth Death: And more cannot be inferr'd from theſe words, becauſe the Apoſtle here ſays no more of Levi, but that he, in a manner, paid Tithes in Abraham. (2.) Becauſe, by the like Argument, it may be proved, that Jeſus Chriſt himſelf, as Man, paid Tithes to Melchiſedec; for he alſo was in the Loins of Abraham, when Melchiſedec met him, and conſequently that he was alſo inferiour to Melchiſedec; which perhaps was the very reaſon why the Apoſtle thus mollifies his words, and is ſo careful to let us know he uſeth here a Form of Speech which is not proper and exact, and ſuch as ought not to be preſſed too far: And therefore, (3.) The Subject-Matter fairly ſhews the Difference; for Tithes are paid out of ſuch things as are the Father's Goods, and ſo would have deſcended, by the Laws of Nature and Nations, to their Poſterity, had they not been thus given to another; but good and evil Actions are merely Perſonal, and therefore, tho' the Effects of both may, and often do, deſcend unto Poſterity, the good Actions of the Parents bringing Temporal Bleſſings on their Off-ſpring, and their evil Actions ſubjecting them to Temporal Calamities and Diſeaſes; yet their Merit or Demerit, cannot be properly derived or propagated to their Poſterity: for as no Man is a good Man, in the account of God, purely becauſe his Father, or ſome of his Progenitors, were ſo; ſo neither is any Man properly a Sinner, or evil in the ſight of God, merely becauſe his Parents were ſo before he was born.

Ver. 11. Τελείωσις, Perfection.] That this word, relating to Prieſts and Oblations, ſignifies Expiation, and Purification, ſee Note on Chap. 10. 1. i l Ver. 15. Εἰ, For that.] The Particle εἰ, often ſignifies quod, that, in Scripture, as doth the Hebrew אִם. So Acts 26. 8. Why ſhould it be thought impoſſible, εἰ Θεὸς νεκροὺς ἐγείρει, that God ſhould raiſe the Dead? And ver. 23. Εἰ παθητὸς ὁ Χριστὸς, εἰ πρῶτος, &c. That Chriſt hath ſuffered, and that he is the firſt that aroſe from the Dead. So Jeremiah 2. 28. Where are thy Gods? εἰ ἀναστήσονται, that they may ariſe and ſave thee? See 1 Tim. 5. 10. 2 Chron. 6. 18.

m Ver. 18. Διὰ τὸ αὐτῆς ἀσθενὲς, For the Weakneſs of it.] For what the Law could not do; i. e. that Deliverance from Death, that Juſtification to Life it could not give, ἐν ᾧ ἠσθένει διὰ τῆς σαρκὸς, in that it was weak through the Fleſh, rendering us ſubject to the Tranſgreſſion of it, and ſo to Death by the Sentence of it, Chriſt, by his Sacrifice for Sin, did, Rom. 8. 3.

n Ibid. Τὸ ἀνωφελὲς, The Unprofitableneſs,] Of the Law here mentioned, muſt not be taken abſolutely, for that the Apoſtle denies, declaring, in his Anſwer to that Queſtion: What advantage then hath the Jew [above the Gentile?] or, Τίς ἡ ὠφέλεια; What is the Profit of the Circumciſion? That it is much every way, Rom. 3. 1, 2. And reckoning among their Advantages, the giving of the Law, Rom. 9. 4. and ſhewing the Uſes of it, and the Reaſon which moved God to give it, Rom. 7. 8. Gal. 3. 19, 24. But the Precepts of the Ceremonial Law were, ἀσθενῆ καὶ πτωχὰ στοιχεῖα, weak and beggarly Elements, compared to thoſe of the Goſpel, Gal. 4. 9. and wholly unprofitable as to Juſtification, or the Abſolution of the Sinner, or Tranſgreſſor of it, from the Guilt of Sin, as the Apoſtle teſtifies in theſe words, Rom. 3. 9. What then are we [Jews] better than they [the Gentiles?] οὐ πάντως, not altogether: for we have before proved [touching] both Jews [Chapter the ſecond,] and Gentiles [Chapter the firſt,] that they are all under Sin, [and ſo both equally ſtand in need of Juſtification by Faith.]

o Ver. 19. Οὐδὲν γὰρ ἐτελείωσεν ὁ νόμος, For the Law made nothing perfect.] Nor is it to be wondered, that the Law, of which the Levitical Prieſthood was the chiefeſt part, and that only which concern'd the Expiation Sin, ſhould be thus diſannull'd, ſince it was thus weak and unprofitable as to the Abſolution of the Sinner from the Guilt of Sin, and could not, by its Sacrifices, τελειῶσαι, procure an Abſolution as to Conſcience, to thoſe that came unto God by them, from the Guilt of Sin, chap. 10. 1, 2. They could not make the Worſhippers of God by them perfect, as appertaining to Conſcience, chap. 9. 9. i. e. ſo as to have no more Conſcience of the Guilt of Sin. This made it neceſſary that they ſhould give place to the Introduction of a better Hope.

p Ibid. Ἐπεισαγωγὴ κρείττονος ἐλπίδος, The Introduction of a better Hope:] I. e. The Introduction of that Sacrifice which gives a better Hope; a Hope of entering, not into an Earthly Tabernacle, which was all the Jewiſh Sacrifices could procure, (the Way of entering into the Holy of Holies being not yet made manifeſt, chap. 9. 8.) but of entering within the Vail, chap. 6. 19. The Hope of good things to come, by a better and more perfect Tabernacle, chap. 9. 11. The Hope, not of an Annual, but of an Eternal Redemption, v. 12. not of an Inheritance to be continued for a little time in the Land of Canaan, but of an Eternal Inheritance, v. 15. Chriſt being entered, not into an Earthly Tabernacle, as the Aaronical Prieſts only did, which was the Figure of the True, but into Heaven itſelf, there to appear in the Preſence of God for us, chap. 9. 24. and ſo procuring to us freedom to enter into the Holieſt by the Blood of Jeſus.

q Ibid. Δι᾽ ἧς ἐγγίζομεν τῷ Θεῷ, By which we draw nigh to God:] Having our Conſciences purged from dead Works, by the Blood of Chriſt, to ſerve the Living God, chap. 9. 14. and having through him freedom to come unto him with full aſſurance of Faith, chap. 10. 22. and by which we are made, ἐγγὺς, nigh to God through the Blood of Jeſus, Eph. 2. 13. and have acceſs unto the Father, v. 18.

r Ver. 20. Καὶ καθ᾽ ὅσον —— κατὰ τοσοῦτον.] Here is plainly the Figure called σύγχυσις, or συμπλοκὴ, verborum, that which is put laſt, being to be conſtrued firſt, as is manifeſt from the ὁ δὲ, but he, relating to the Mediator of the better Covenant, in the following Verſe. So Mark 14. 23, 24. And taking the Cup, he gave thanks, and gave it to them, and they all drank of it; and he ſaid unto them, This is the Blood of the New Teſtament, &c. For it is manifeſt from Matth. 26. 27, 28. that Chriſt firſt ſaid, This is my Blood of the New Teſtament, before they drank of it. And ſo thoſe words, v. 23. And they all drank of it, muſt in conſtruction follow thoſe of v. 24. This is the Blood of the New Teſtament. So, Rev. 20. 12. And I ſaw the Dead, ſmall and great, ſtanding before the Throne of God, and they were judged, &c. And, v. 13. And the Sea gave up her Dead, and Death and Hades gave up their Dead, and they were judged according to their Works: And yet 'tis certain, that the Sea and Hades muſt give up their Dead, before they could ſtand before the Throne of God, or be judged. So, Heb. 2. 1. We ſee Jeſus made a little lower than the Angels, for the ſuffering of Death, crowned with Glory and Honour, that he by the Grace of God, might taſte Death for every Man; i. e. for the ſuffering Death, that ſo by the Grace of God he might taſte Death for every Man, crowned with Glory and Honour.

ſ Ver. 26. Ἄκακος, Harmleſs.] Ἄκακος τίς

ἔστιν ἀπόνηρος, the word imports, one free from Sin; ſo Chryſoſtom and Theophylact: And this place, ſaith (l) Philo, muſt be the Property of a true High-Prieſt, for ὁ πρὸς ἀλήθειαν ἀρχιερεὺς, καὶ μὴ ψευδώνυμος, ἀμέτοχος ἁμαρτημάτων ἐστι, he that truly, and not improperly, bears that Name, is free from Sin: And of him that was to enter once a Year into the Holy of Holies, (m) he ſaith, He muſt be, ὁλόκληρος καὶ παντελὴς, περὶ μηδὲν, μὴ μέγα, μὴ μικρὸν, ἁπλῶς κηραίνων πάθος, ἀλλ' ἀρτίῳ καὶ πλήρει καὶ πάντα τελειοτάτῃ κεχρημένος φύσει, entire, perfect in all things, not tainted at all with any Paſſion great or ſmall, but of a Nature ſound, whole, and every way perfect, (κεχωρισμένος ἀπὸ τῶν ἁμαρτωλῶν, ſeparate from Sinners.) This muſt ſignifie ſomething different from ἄκακος, free from Evil, and undefiled by Sin. And what can that be, beſides what I have hinted in the Paraphraſe? Now to clear up this, let it be noted, That though the Holy of Holies was the Place into which none entered but the High-Prieſt, and he only once a Year, after a Sin-Offering had been firſt offered for him, yet God commands that an Atonement ſhould be made for the Holy Place, becauſe of the Uncleanneſs of the Children of Iſrael, and becauſe of their Tranſgreſſions in all their Sins, Lev. 16. 16. i. e. becauſe it was ſeated among an unclean People, it needed an Atonement. That therefore our High-Prieſt might be every way clean and undefiled, he was to be, not only free from Sin, but alſo Separate from Sinners, as the (n) High-Prieſt was ſeven Days before the Expiation, and when he made the Expiation, Lev. 16. 17.

Ver. 27. Τοῦτο γὰρ ἐποίησεν ἐφάπαξ, For this he did once for all.] Grotius, and the Socinians, contend, That Chriſt is here ſaid to have offer'd up himſelf for his own Sins; but then, by Sins, they ſay, is improperly ſignified his Natural Infirmities and Sufferings. But where hath the word Sin any ſuch import? It is indeed ſometimes applied to Impurities, not Moral, but only Legal: As in the Caſe of Menſtruous Women, Lev. 12. 8. and 15. 13. and to Leproſies ſent by the Hand of God, for the Puniſhment of Sin, Lev. 14. 30. but never to any thing which by the Law of Moſes was accounted no Defilement. And how improper is it to make the ſame words, uſed but once, ſignifie properly Sin, when reſpecting the People, and only Sufferings, with reſpect to Chriſt? Moreover, how did he offer up himſelf for his own Sufferings? Did he Suffer, that he might not Suffer? Or that he might not be obnoxious to them? The Interpretation therefore of all the Antient Commentators, which I have given in the Paraphraſe, ought to ſtand in oppoſition to this vain Invention.

CHAP. VIII.

Verſe 1. NOW [For] of the things which we have ſpoken, this is the Sum; [i.e. to give you a Summary of the things ſpoken in the former Chapters, touching our High-Prieſt Chriſt Jeſus; Or, but the chief of the things ſpoken is this, that] we have [in him] ſuch an High-Prieſt, who is ſet on the right hand of the Throne of the Majeſty in the Heavens, [there to officiate for us.]

2. [And who is therfore] A Miniſter of the [Heavenly] Sanctuary, and of the true Taber-a nacle, [a] which the Lord pitched, and not Man, [for by the Word of the Lord were the Heavens made, Pſal. 32.]

3. An High-Prieſt, I ſay, of the Heavenly Sanctuary, and therefore one who muſt have ſomething to offer in that Sanctuary:] For every High-Prieſt is ordained to offer Gifts and Sacrifices [in that Sanctuary in which he executes that Office;] wherefore it is of neceſſity that this Man [the High-Prieſt in Heaven] have ſomewhat to offer [there.]

4. [I ſay, there, and not on Earth:] For if he were on Earth, he ſhould not be a Prieſt, [or, had he been [ſtill] on Earth, he had not been a Prieſt at all,] ſeeing that there are [other] Prieſts that [are appointed to] offer Gifts according to the Law.

5. [b] Who ſerve to the example and ſhadow b of heavenly things, [or, in that Holy Place and Tabernacle, which is an Example and Shadow of the Heavenly,] as [we learn from what] Moſes was admoniſhed of God, when he was about to make the Tabernacle. For ſee (ſaith he) [Exod. 25. 40.] that thou make all things according to the Pattern ſhewed to thee in the Mount. [For calling it, ὁ τύπος, a Type or Pattern, he ſhews that it was only a reſemblance of the things in Heaven, and not the heavenly things themſelves, chap. 9. 23.]

6. But now he [Chriſt] hath obtained a more excellent Miniſtry, [viz. that of officiating in the Heavenly Sanctuary,] by how much alſo, [Gr. ὅσῳ καὶ, inaſmuch as alſo] he is the Mediator of a better Covenant, which was eſtabliſhed upon c [c] better Promiſes.

7. [A better Covenant, I ſay:] For if that firſt Covenant [made by Moſes with the Jews] had
d been [d] faultleſs, [ſo that God ſhould have found no cauſe of blaming them who lived under it;] then ſhould no place have been ſought for [the introduction of ] the ſecond.

8. [But ſo it was not ;] for finding fault with them [for the breach of it] he [i. e. the Prophet] ſaith, Behold, the days come (ſaith the Lord) when I will make a New Covenant with the Houſe of Iſrael, and with the Houſe of Judah.

9. Not according to the Covenant that I made with their Fathers, in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the Land of Egypt; becauſe they continued not in [ the obſervance of ] my Covenant, and I e [therefore] [e] regarded them not, ſaith the Lord, [Jer. 31. 31, 32, 33.]

10. [I ſay, Not according to that Covenant:] For this is the Covenant that I will make with the Houſe of Iſrael, after thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will put my Laws into their Mind; and write them in their hearts; and I will be to them a God, and they ſhall be to me a People.

11. And they ſhall not [have need to] teach every Man his Neighbour, and every Man his Brother, ſaying, Know the Lord; for all ſhall know me, from the leaſt to the greateſt.

12. [I ſay, I will be their God:] For I will be merciful to their Unrighteouſneſs, and their Sins and their Iniquities will I remember no more.

13. In that he ſaith, [f] A New Covenant, he f hath made [a Declaration that] the firſt [is] Old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old, is ready to vaniſh away.

Annotations on Chap. VIII.

a Verſe 2. ‘HN ἔπηξεν ὁ Κύριος, The Sanctuary which the Lord pitched, and not Man;] That is, of Heaven itſelf. For, 1*ſt*, Τὸ ἅγιον, in this Epiſtle, being put abſolutely, oft ſignifies the Heavenly Sanctuary, the Holy Manſion in which the Divine Majeſty reſides glorioufly, in oppoſition to the ἅγιον κοσμικὸν, Earthly Holy, mention'd, chap. 9. 1. And the true Tabernacle which the Lord pitched, and not Man, is the Heavenly Tabernacle, ſet in oppoſition to the χειροποιητὸν, or that of Moſes, which was made with hands, and ſtyled, by the Chaldee Paraphraſt, the Sanctuary above, in which the Angels ſing God's Praiſes, Pſal. 29. 9. So, chap. 9. 11. Chriſt being come an High Prieſt of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect Tabernacle, οὐ χειροποιήτου, not made with hands, that is to ſay, not of this building, but by his own Blood he entered once into the Holy Place, (ἐφάπαξ εἰς τὰ ἅγια, once for all into the Holy Places.) Chap. 10. 19. having freedom of acceſs into the Holy Place, and having an High Prieſt over the Houſe of God. And, Chap. 9. 23, 24. It was neceſſary that the Examples of the things in the Heavens ſhould be purified with theſe, but the heavenly things themſelves with better Sacrifices than theſe. For Chriſt entered not into the Holy Places made with Hands, εἰς χειροποίητα ἅγια, which are the Figures of the True, but into Heaven itſelf, to appear now in the Preſence of God for us. And this is ſuitable to the old Notions of the Jews, who oft declare, that the chief Intention of making the Tabernacle, and other Things, was, That they might be a Book of Wiſdom to inſtruct them in the Things above, which they reſpected; and that when Moſes made one Tabernacle on Earth, another was made by the Angels in Heaven, Buxt. Hiſt. Arcæ, p. 83, 84. It alſo was their Opinion, That the ſecond Part of the Tabernacle was made to be an Image of the Viſible World; and the Holy of Holies, to be a Reſemblance, Mundi Supercœleſtis, of the Celeſtial World. So (a) Philo often calls the Tabernacle of the Jews, τὸ χειροποιητὸν, and ſays, It was a Shadow or Reſemblance, τοῦ Ἀρχετύπου, of the Archetypal or Original in Heaven. Moſes, ſays he, framed τὰ ἀρχέτυπα, the Archetypal Plan of the Tabernacle; Bezeleel only, τὰ αὐτῶν μιμήματα, the Reſemblance of Things; and this he proves by the Apoſtle's Argument, uſed, v. 5. For Moſes, ſaith he, uſed God for his Guide, who ſaid to him, See thou make all Things according to the Pattern ſhewed thee in the Mount. (b) Bezeleel, ſaith he, ſignifies one, ἐν σκιαῖς ποιῶν, employed in making Shadows; whereas Moſes was employed, not to frame the Shadows, but, ἀρχετύπους φύσεις αὐτὰς τῶν πραγμάτων, the Archetypal Natures of the Things themſelves. (c) Elſewhere he diſtinguiſheth betwixt the τὰ ὁρώμενα ἐκ τῆς ἀψύχου καὶ φθαρτῆς δημιουργηθέντα ὕλης, viſible things of the Tabernacle, made of inanimate and corruptible Matter, and τὰ ἀόρατα καὶ τὰ νοητὰ θεωρήματα, the inviſible and intellectual Idea's, of which the other were the Images. (d) The firſt he calls ἱερὸν χειροποιητὸν, the Sanctuary made with hands, of which Moſes had the incorporeal Idea's. And (e) Joſephus ſaith, That the Second Part of the Tabernacle ſignified that Earth in which Men converſed, but the Third Part was appropriated to God, Heaven being inacceſſible to Men; which ſeems to be the very thing the Apoſtle intendeth by thoſe words, The Holy Ghoſt thus ſignifying, that the way into the Holieſt of all was not yet manifeſted, whilſt the firſt Tabernacle was yet ſtanding, Heb. 9. 8.

b Ver. 5. Ὑποδείγματι καὶ σκιᾷ, To the Example and Shadow.] Theſe words, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, can by no means ſignifie a Prefiguration of ſomething future, for Heaven was a great while before the Tabernacle, and Temple; But this Argument is of no force; for though Heaven be Older than the Tabernacle, yet that conſidered as a Place in which the Jews then worſhipped, and enjoyed Communion with God, might be a Type of that Place in which they were hereafter to worſhip and enjoy him.

The Argument of the Apoſtle is to this effect: Chriſt could not be a Prieſt on Earth, becauſe he could have there no Tabernacle in which to offer Sacrifice; the only Place God had appointed upon Earth to offer Sacrifice in, being the Moſaical Tabernacle, and the Temple, in which no other Sacrifices could be offered but thoſe appointed by the Law; no Oblation made, or to be made, but by the Levitical Prieſthood. Moreover, this Tabernacle being the Shadow of the Heavenly one, that muſt ſucceed it as the Subſtance; therefore the Oblation to be made by this High Prieſt after the Order of Melchiſedec, muſt be made in that Tabernacle which was to ſucceed and follow this, as being the Subſtance of that Shadow. So OEcumenius here; Had he not died, and been received up into Heaven, οὐκ ἂν ἦν ἱερεὺς, he had not been a Prieſt.

c Ver. 6. Better Promiſes.] Thoſe of the Law being only Temporal Promiſes, relating to Bleſſings to be conferred upon them in the Land of Canaan; this Covenant had the Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance, to be conferred upon them in the Celeſtian Canaan, chap. 9. 15. Theſe Spiritual Promiſes were indeed made to the Fathers alſo of old, before the Law, whence they are ſaid, by Faith, to look for a better Country, that is, an heavenly, and to have expected a City that hath Foundations, whoſe Builder and Maker is God, Heb. 11. 10, 16. But then theſe Promiſes of a Saviour, and of ſuch Salvation by Him, were not made in and by the Law, but long before it, Rom. 4. 13. Gal. 3. 15, 17. as they muſt be, if made to them who lived and died long before it. Under the Law alſo they had Spiritual Promiſes, and Types of the Meſſiah in it, who was the Promiſed Seed, in whom all theſe Promiſes were made and by whom they were purchaſed; but then they had not theſe Promiſes by the Law, nor theſe Bleſſings by the Levitical Prieſthood, but by Virtue of the Lamb ſlain from the Beginning.

d Ver. 7. Ἄμεμπτος, If the firſt Covenant had been faultleſs:] That is, ſay the Fathers, εἰ ἀμέμπτους ἐποίει, If it could have made them blameleſs that were under it. So Theodoret, Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, Theophylact; and ſo the words following do force us to interpret this Clauſe; for the Apoſtle and the Prophet plainly charge the Breach of the Old Covenant upon the Jews themſelves, blaming them for it, v. 9. I know ſome Interpreters render the words, μεμφόμενος αὐτοῖς λέγει, blaming it, he ſaith to them; but the Obſervation of the Ancient Fathers is this, οὐκ εἶπε μεμφόμενος αὐτῇ, ἀλλὰ μεμφόμενος αὐτοῖς, he ſaid not, blaming it, but, blaming them; and the words following, becauſe they continued not in that Covenant, do juſtifie that Expoſition.

Object. But you will ſay, How doth it follow that the Covenant was faulty, becauſe the Jews continued not in it, any more than that the New Covenant is alſo faulty, becauſe many Chriſtians do not obſerve the Conditions of it? I anſwer, That the word faulty, doth not here ſignifie ſinful in itſelf, for ſo this Apoſtle denies it to be faulty, Rom. 7. 7. but only imperfect and defective as to the great End of the Covenant, Do this, and live, it being a Law that could not give Life, Gal. 3. 21. and as to the preſerving thoſe that were under it from offending, and ſo becoming blame-worthy, and obnoxious before God, Rom. 3. 29. This being premiſed, I ſay, two things ſhew, that the Prophet and the Apoſtle ſo lay the fault on them, as plainly to inſinuate, there was alſo an Imperfection and Deficiency in the Law they were under, which miniſtered Occaſion to it; 1*ſt,* Becauſe he lays the blame, not on ſome refractory Perſons only, but on the whole Houſe of Iſrael and Judah. Now where all, Good and Bad, come under blame, there muſt be ſome Imperfection and Defect in the Law, with reference to the two great Ends fore-mentioned. 2*dly,* Becauſe, for the Prevention of this Blame, God, by his Prophet, doth not call them to a more exact Obſervance of that Law and Covenant, but promiſeth a New Covenant; plainly Inſinuating thereby, that there was need of a new and better Covenant, to prevent their Tranſgreſſion, and render them fit Objects of his Grace and Favour for the future. Accordingly this weakneſs of the Law, is by St. Paul reſolved, partly into ſuch Cauſes as reſpect the Offenders, and partly into ſuch as reſpect the Law itſelf. Into ſuch as reſpect the Offenders, as, v. 9. the weakneſs of the Fleſh, which made them unable to perform that exact Obedience the Law required, and ſo it became unable to juſtifie them; for this the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. and their Carnal Inclinations, which made them averſe to the Spiritual Precepts of the Law, Rom. 7. 14. And this the New Covenant remedied, by requiring not perfect, but only ſincere Obedience, as the Condition of thoſe Bleſſings which it promiſeth, and giving the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit to perform that Obedience. For, to come to the Imperfections of the Law itſelf, compared with this New Covenant;

Firſt, The firſt is this, That the Law required exact Obedience, but gave no inward Spiritual Aſſiſtance for the Performance of that Duty. Hence the Apoſtle puts this difference betwixt the Law and the Goſpel, that the firſt is only the Miniſtration of the Letter, the ſecond is the Miniſtration of the Spirit, 2 Cor. 3. That under the Law, the Jews ſerved God in the oldneſs of the Letter; whereas under the Goſpel, we ſerve him in the newneſs of the Spirit, Rom. 7. 5. That then the Inclinations and Deſires of the Things forbidden by the Law, wrought in our Members to bring forth fruit unto Death; whereas, if we, through the Spirit, do mortifie the deeds of the Fleſh, we ſhall live, Rom. 8. 13. Then, the good which they would, they did not, Rom. 7. 19. But now, the Righteouſneſs of the Law is fulfilled in us, who walk not after the Fleſh, but after the Spirit, Rom. 8. 4.

Secondly, The Law not only made all that were ſubject to it obnoxious to Condemnation for the Guilt of Sin, but alſo was unable to remove that Guilt, and clear the Conſcience from the Senſe and Terror of it. It could not juſtifie us, ſaith the Apoſtle; For by the Deeds of the Law ſhall no fleſh be juſtified, Rom. 3. 20. Gal. 2. 16. i. e. it could not abſolve us from Condemnation on the account of Sin; it could not, by the Sacrifices it offered daily, take away the guilt of Sin, Heb. 10. 4, 11. and ſo could not make the Worſhipper perfect as pertaining to Conſcience, Heb. 9. 9. whereas, by Virtue of the Blood of Chriſt, as a full Remiſſion of them was procured, ſo that God would remember them no more, Heb. 10. 17, 18. and ſo the Conſcience was by it purified from dead Works, Heb. 9. 14.

Thirdly, The Law, conſidered not as Moral, that being the Law common to all Mankind, but as purely Moſaical, contained in it only Ceremonial Precepts, which had no real or intrinſick Goodneſs in them to commend them to our Practice; whence, by the Apoſtle, it is ſaid to conſiſt of Outward and Carnal Ordinances, impoſed on them only till the time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. and to contain only the Elements of the World, Gal. 4. 3. weak and beggarly Elements, v. 9. whereas the New Covenant is a Law written in the Heart, v. 10.

Laſtly, As the Moſaical Law had no inward Goodneſs to commend it, ſo alſo was it wanting in the Promiſe of thoſe Spiritual and Eternal Bleſſings, which are the ſovereign Motives to Obedience, and to Purification of our ſelves from all Filthineſs of Fleſh and Spirit; whereas, by Virtue of the Death of Chriſt, a Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance is procured for us, Heb. 9. 15. and an entrance into the Holy of Holies through the Blood of Jeſus, Chap. 10. 19. On which account the Apoſtle ſaith, The Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did, Heb. 7. 19.

Ver. 9. And I regarded them not.] Κἀγὼ ἠμέλησα αὐτῶν. So the Septuagint, and from them the Apoſtle; whereas the Hebrew runs, ואנכי בעלתי בם, and, or though, I was an Husband to them: But the Learned Dr. Pocock hath ſhewed that the Hebrew בעל not only ſignifies in the Arabick, to govern, and be a Husband, but alſo to refuſe, deſpiſe, and nauſeate. And ſo it well accords with the words of the Septuagint. e

Ver. 13. For explication of this New Covenant, let it be conſidered, f

Firſt, That it is expreſly promiſed to be made with the whole Houſe of Iſrael, with them to whom the Old Covenant was made, with them who were brought out of the Land of Ægypt; it therefore is not a Promiſe made to, or a Covenant made with, ſome few Elect, and Choſen People out of Iſrael and Judah, but with thoſe who abode not in their former Covenant, and ſo were not regarded by God. Now hence it is manifeſt,

That this can be no Promiſe of abſolute Election, or vouchſafing irreſiſtible Grace to any of the Jews, becauſe then the whole Nation of the Jews muſt have been converted. 2*dly*, Becauſe this is a Promiſe of ſomething to be done in the laſt times, or in the times of the Meſſiah, whereas God hath at all times his Elect, and doth at all times vouchſafe them his effectual Grace. 3*dly*, Becauſe this is here called a Covenant, which implies two Parties covenanting or ſtipulating; the One Obedience, the Other Bleſſings on the Performance of it; whereas an abſolute Promiſe admits of no Conditions. 4*thly*, The Elect always perſiſted in their Covenant with God, and were always regarded by him, they always were his People, and he always was their God; this therefore can be no New Covenant with them.

Secondly, This being a Promiſe of a New Covenant, of which New Covenant Chriſt is declared here to be the Mediator through his Blood; it cannot properly be ſaid to be fulfilled in the complete import of it before our Saviour's Sufferings, and the Preaching of Juſtification through Faith in his Blood. Nor ſeems it to have been yet accompliſhed in the extent, and the full meaning of it, as it will be when the Blindneſs of the Jews ſhall be removed, and ſo all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, Rom. 11. 25, 26. For this is God's Covenant with them, when he ſhall take away their Sins, v. 28. which though he did make good at the firſt preaching of the Goſpel to as many as believed in Jeſus; yet ſince that was the time of the falling and caſting-off the Generality of that Nation, a Remnant only being then preſerved from Judicial Blindneſs, I believe there will be a time when this, and other like Promiſes made to them in the Old Teſtament, ſhall have a more complete accompliſhment. But to proceed to the proper Import of the Words;

Firſt, I conceive that the Phraſe, I will put my Laws into their Mind, and write them on their Hearts, imports, That he would clearly and perſpicuouſly make known his Will to them, and by his Holy Spirit make ſuch a deep Impreſſion of it on their Spirits, and ſo continually bring it to their remembrance, that it ſhould be as powerful upon them, and as preſent to them, as if it were writ upon their Hearts. For theſe two Metaphors, both in the Scripture and the Jewiſh Writers, chiefly ſignify two things;

1. A clear and a perſpicuous Revelation of the Mind and Will of God, ſo that we need not be at much Pains to ſearch it out: As in theſe words, The Commandment which I command thee this day, is not hidden from thee, neither is it far from thee; the word is near unto thee in thy mouth καὶ ἐν τῇ καρδίᾳ σου, and in thy heart, and in thy hands, that thou ſhouldſt do it. See I have ſet before thee Life and Death, Deut. 30. 11, 14. And ſo, ſaith the Apoſtle, is it with that word of Faith which we preach, 'tis nigh to the Chriſtian in his Mouth to confeſs, and in his Heart to believe it, Rom. 10. 8, 9. And the Law written in the Hearts of Heathens, is the Law ſo plainly taught them, that their own Conſciences do inwardly condemn them when they do tranſgreſs it, Rom. 2. 15. This alſo is apparent from the conſequent Effect of writing this Law in the Chriſtians Hearts, and putting it in their inward parts, viz. that they ſhall have no need to teach every one his Neighbour, ſaying, Know the Lord; for they ſhall all know him from the leaſt to the greateſt. This Law therefore muſt be plain to the Capacities of, and eaſy to be perceived by them all: And to this Interpretation the (e) Fathers give a general Conſent.

2. An efficacious Impreſſion of them on the Soul, and on the Memory, ſo that we do not let them ſlip out of our Minds. So, Deut. 6. 6. Theſe words which I command thee this day ſhall be in thy Heart, they ſhall be כתיבין על לוח ליבכון, writ upon the Table of thy Heart, ſaith Jonathan B. Uziel, and thou ſhalt talk of them when thou ſitteſt in thine Houſe, and when thou walkeſt by the Way, and when thou lieſt down, and when thou riſeſt up, v. 7. They ſhall be ἐν καρδίᾳ καὶ ψυχῇ σου, in thy Heart and Soul, ſaith the Septuagint. As the Expreſſion is, Deut. 11. 18. by which Expreſſions he requires μὴ ἀποστῆναι τὸν νόμον ἀπὸ τῆς καρδίας αὐτῶν, that the Law ſhould not depart from their Hearts, 2 Maccab. 2. 3. So, Prov. 3. 1. My Son forget not my Law, but let thy Heart keep my Commandments, v. 3. Write them upon the Table of thy Heart. And again, Chap. 7. 1. My Son keep my words, and lay up my Commandments with thee: Bind them upon thy finger, write them upon the Table of thy heart, v. 3. So the Targum on Cant. 8. 9. ſaith, God will remember them for the ſake of the Law which is written, על לוחא דלבא, upon the Table of the Heart of his Children. And Jer. 17. 1. The Sin of Judah is ſaid to be written on the table of their hearts, as if their Memory of it, and Affection to it, could never be obliterated. And the Targum on Job 30. 4. ſaith, They who let the Law ſlip על לוח ולבהון, from the table of their hearts, burning coals ſhall be their meat. So frequent is this Phraſe to this Senſe, both in the Scripture, and the Jewiſh Writers. Accordingly Clemens gives this Commendation of the Corinthians, that the Commandments of the Lord ἐπὶ τὰ πλάκη τῆς καρδίας αὐτῶν ἐγέγραπτο, were written upon the tables of their hearts.

That the words in which this New Covenant is framed, Jer. 31, 33, 34, 35. may have a more exact and full Completion, at the ſecond Calling of the Jewiſh Nation, this Apoſtle ſeems to intimate, Rom. 11. 27. but that they alſo were fulfilled by the firſt Advent of our Lord, can only be denied by them who think, with M. le Clerc, that the Apoſtle argues upon unſound Foundations; for he moſt clearly ſaith, That the Old Covenant was only to continue till the New Covenant, in which God promiſed to be merciful to our Iniquities, took place; and alſo that this New Covenant was eſtabliſhed in the Blood of Jeſus, the Mediator of a better Covenant, v. 6. and proves that Chriſt had by his Sufferings perfectly procured the Remiſſion of the Sins of them that were ſanctified, or cleanſed from the Guilt of Sin by Faith in his Blood, by the words of this New Covenant, Chap. 10. 14, 15, 16, 17. Secondly, He ſays, that the old Covenant there mentioned, was to vaniſh away at the coming of this New Covenant, v. 13. and thereby intimates that this New Covenant mentioned, Jer. 31. 33. began to take place, even from the Abolition of the Old Covenant, conſiſting in Ordinances which were only to continue till the time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 11. and which were taken away by the Death of Chriſt: This therefore ſeems to be one of thoſe places which prove there will be a double Completion of the Promiſes and Predictions contained in the Old, and perhaps in the New Teſtament, and thereby ſhew they may admit of a double Senſe, the one relating to the firſt, the other to the ſecond Coming of our Lord.

Ver. 13. Ἐγγὺς ἀφανισμοῦ, is ready to vaniſh away.] Tho' the Judaical Sacrifices which ſignified the Death of Chriſt, after his Death ceaſed to be obliging, and their Diſcrimination from all other Nations, on the Account of Circumciſion, and the Diſtinction of Meats, ceaſed, as St. Paul often teſtifies; yet theſe Words ſeem to intimate, that the Church, State and Polity of the Jews was not to come to its full Period, till the Deſtruction of the Temple, and City of Jeruſalem.

CHAP. IX.

Verſe 1. [THE Apoſtle had declared, Chap. 8. V. 5. that the Tabernacle had only a Shadow of heavenly things, this he now proceeds a to ſhew in the following words.] Then verily [a] the firſt Covenant had [εἶχε μὲν οὖν πρώτη σκηνὴ,
the firſt Tabernacle therefore had] alſo Ordinances of Divine Service, and a worldly Sanctuary, [in which that Worſhip, and theſe Ordinances were perform'd.]

2. For there was a Tabernacle made, the firſt [Gr. σκηνὴ γὰρ κατεσκευάσθη ἡ πρώτη, for a firſt Tabernacle was prepared] wherein was the Candleſtick, and the Table, and the Shewbread, b which [firſt Tabernacle] is [b] called the Sanctuary, [or Holy.]

3. And after the ſecond Vail the [other] Tabernacle [was prepared, ver. 2, 6.] which is called the holieſt of all:

c 4. Which had [for its uſe] the [c] golden Cenſer, [uſed only on the Day of Expiation,] and the Ark of the Covenant overlaid round about d with Gold, [d] in which was the golden Pot that had Manna, and Aaron's Rod that budded, [Numb. 17. 10. Exod. 16. 33. 34.] and the Tables of the Covenant, [1 Kings 8. 9.]

e 5. And over it [the Ark, were] the [e] Cherubims of Glory ſhadowing the Mercy-ſeat, of which we cannot now ſpeak particularly, [ſo
as to give the myſtical ſignification of them.]

6. Now when theſe things were thus ordained,
[or, theſe things being thus prepared] the Prieſt went always into the firſt Tabernacle, accompliſhing
the ſervice of God.

7. But into the ſecond went the High-f Prieſt alone [f] once every year, [i. e. one Day
only in the year, and then] not without Blood, which he offered for himſelf [firſt,] and g [then] for the [g] Errors of [Gr. Sins of Ignorance committed by] the People.

8. The Holy Ghoſt, [by whoſe Afflatus Moſes was directed to prepare the Tabernacle, this ſignifying [by this Admiſſion of the High Prieſt alone, and that but once a year, and that then only when all the People were gone out of the Tabernacle of the Congrega- h tion,] that [h] the way into the [true] holieſt of all was not yet made manifeſt, while as the firſt Tabernacle was yet ſtanding.

9. Which was a Figure for the time then preſent, [ἥτις παραβολὴ εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τὸν ἐνεστηκότα, which figure continues till this preſent time, viz.
in the like ſervice performed in the Temple,] in which were [προσφέρονται, are] offered both Gifts and Sacrifices, that could not [μὴ δυνάμεναι, which Sacrifices cannot] make him who did the Service, [i. e. who brings theſe Gifts and Offerings]
[i] perfect, as pertaining to the Conſcience. i

10. [As being converſant] only in Meats, and Drinks [to be abſtained from by theſe Worſhippers, Lev. 10. 9.] and divers Waſhings [to be then uſed
by the Prieſts officiating, Exod. 29. 4. by the Levites, Numbers 8. 7. and by the People defiled,
Lev. 15. 8. before they might enter into the Temple;] and [in other] carnal Ordinances [which only ſanctified to the purifying of the Fleſh, V. 13.
and were therefore] impoſed on them [only] [k] until k
the time of Reformation [of all things, by this new High Prieſt.] [Theſe carnal Ordinances include all the Sacrifices, and other Services perform'd in the Tabernacle.]

11. But Chriſt being come [γενόμενος, made] a High Prieſt, [not of preſent temporal Bleſſings in the Land of Canaan, but] of good things to come, [not by the Service of the Tabernacle made with hands,
V. 23. but] by [a Service perform'd in] a greater and more perfect [l] Tabernacle, not made with l hands, that is to ſay, not of this building,
[i. e. the building of this worldly Sanctuary, V. 1.]

12. Neither [yet to be procured as the Moſaical
Bleſſings were,] by the Blood of Goats and Calves, but by his own Blood; He [to procure thoſe
good things for us] entered in [not as the High Prieſt did yearly into the earthly Tabernacle, but, ἐφάπαξ, once [for all] into the [Heavenly] Holy Place [with this blood,] having obtained [for us by it not an annual, but an] [m] eternal Redemption. m

13. For if the Blood of Bulls and Goats, and the Aſhes of an Heifer ſprinkling the unclean, [Num. 9. 2, 4.] [n] ſanctifieth to the purifying n of the Fleſh from Ceremonial Defilements, and ſoprocures
a free admiſſion to the ſervice of the Tabernacle:]

14. How much more ſhall the Blood of Chriſt, who [being ſanctified] through the eternal Spirit, [o] offered himſelf [as a Lamb] with- o out ſpot to God? [John 1. 29. 1 Pet. 1. 19.]
[p] purge your Conſcience from dead Works, p [i. e. from Works deſerving Death, Rom. 6. 23.
that ſo you may be admitted] [q] to ſerve the living q
God, [in his Church here, and in his heavenly Sanctuary
hereafter, Chap. 10. 19, 20, 21.]

15. [r] And for this cauſe [διὰ τοῦτο, or by r this Blood] he is [become] the Mediator of the New Teſtament, [in which he promiſes to be merciful to our Iniquities,] that by means of [his] Death, [ſ] for the Redemption of the Tranſ- ſ greſſions that were [committed by us] under the firſt Teſtament, [and not by that fully expiated,] they which are called [to be God's Church and People,] might receive [t] the Promiſe of [an] t eternal Inheritance.

16. [I ſay, by means of his Death] For where a Teſtament is [that is unchangeable,] there muſt u alſo of neceſſity be the Death [u] of the Teſtator.

17. For a Teſtament is of force [only] after Men are dead, otherwiſe it is of no ſtrength at all while the Teſtator liveth, [and ſo hath power to revoke his Teſtament.]

18. Whereupon [ὅθεν, whence it is that] neither the firſt Teſtament [made with the Jews, Exod. 24. 8.] was dedicated without Blood, [which Blood ſhewed the Death of the Sacrifice was neceſſary to make that Teſtament.]

19. For when Moſes had ſpoken every Precept to all the People according to the Law [given at x Mount Sinai,] he took the [x] Blood of Calves and of Goats, with Water [mixed with the Blood, to keep it from congealing,] and [with] ſcarlet Wool, and Hyſſop, [the Wool to receive and imbibe the Blood, and the Hyſſop to ſprinkle it, Exod. 12. 22. Lev. 14. 49, 50. Pſal. 51. 7.] and ſprinkled [the Blood] both [upon] the Book, [of the Covenant, and [upon] all the People.

y 20. Saying, This is the Blood of the [y] Teſtament which God hath enjoined to you.

z 21. Moreover, he [z] ſprinkled likewiſe with Blood both the Tabernacle, and all the Veſſels of the Miniſtry.

aa 22. And [aa] almoſt all things are by the Law purged [purified] with Blood; and without ſhedding of Blood is no Remiſſion.

23. It was therefore neceſſary, by virtue of the Moſaick Inſtitution] that the patterns of things bb [bb] in the Heavens ſhould be purified with theſe [Sacrifices,] but the Heavenly things themſelves [i. e. our Bodies to be received into Heaven are to be purified] with better Sacrifices than theſe.

24. [I ſay the Heavenly things themſelves,] For Chriſt is not entered into the Holy Places [of the Tabernacle] made with hands, which are the figures of the true [Holy Place;] but into Heaven it ſelf, now to appear in the Preſence of God, [and ſo prepare and conſecrate thoſe Manſions] for us.

25. [It was not neceſſary, I ſay, that he ſhould enter with his Blood, as the High Prieſt did into the Earthly Tabernacle,] nor yet that he ſhould offer himſelf often, as the High Prieſt [did, who] entereth into the Holy Place every year with [the] Blood of others, [to make an Annual Atonement for the Guilt of Sin:]

26. (For then muſt he often have ſuffer'd [cc] ſince the foundation of the World,) [his of- c fering himſelf before God with his Blood being the conſequence of his Sufferings.] but now once [dd] in the d end of the world [ἐπὶ συντελείᾳ τῶν αἰώνων, in the end of the Ages] hath he appeared to put away [the Guilt of] Sin, by the Sacrifice of himſelf.

27. And [in this the Death of Chriſt reſembles that of all other Men; for] as it is appointed unto all Men once to die, but after this [comes] the Judgment [when they ſhall die no more:]

28. So Chriſt was [Gr. being] once offer'd to bear the Sins of many, and unto them that look for him ſhall he appear] Gr. ſhall appear to them that look for him] the ſecond time [ee] without e [any more Sacrifice for] Sin unto Salvation, [i. e. for their Salvation.]

Annotations on Chap. IX.

a Verſe 1. ʿH Πρώτη διαθήκη, The firſt Covenant.] Some of the Ancients, as Chryſoſtom, read only ἡ πρώτη, but none of them read διαθήκη, but many of them σκηνὴ, as Theodoret and OEcumenius; and this I believe to be the true Reading: For 'tis well obſerv'd by the Fathers, who do, and who do not read the word σκηνὴ, that the Apoſtle having before proved from the Enallage of the Prieſt and Prieſthood, and of the former Covenant; that an end was put unto the Jewiſh Conſtitutions; proceeds now to prove the ſame from the Conſideration of that Tabernacle which was a ſhadow of good things to come. Secondly, Becauſe the Thread, or the Contexture of the Apoſtle's Argument ſeems plainly to require this Reading; For the Tabernacle conſiſting of two parts, an outward Houſe called the Holy Place, and an inward Houſe called the Holy of Holies; the Apoſtle here calleth the outward Houſe the firſt Tabernacle, and diſcourſes of it as ſuch, v. 1, 2. and then, v. 3. proceeds to the Holy of Holies, or the ſecond Tabernacle, ſaying, the firſt, or outward Tabernacle had a worldly Sanctuary, in which the Rites of the Jewiſh Worſhip were perform'd; for a firſt Tabernacle was prepar'd by Moſes, containing ſuch and ſuch things; and then a ſecond, containing other things; now this firſt Tabernacle is called a worldly Tabernacle, becauſe, as both the Jews and Fathers ſay, it was deſigned to repreſent this lower World; the Earth and the Sea, ſaith (a) Joſephus, It was κοσμοῦ τοῦ αἰσθητοῦ σύμβολον, a Symbol of the ſenſitive World, ſaith (b) Clemens Alexandrinus. See Dr. Spencer de legibus Hebr. p. 188.

The δικαιώματα λατρείας, are the Conſtitutions, or the Rites, and Rules of Worſhip preſcribed to be uſed in the Service of the Tabernacle; δικαιώματα, τουτέστι, σύμβολα, θεσμοὺς, νομοθεσίας, Ordinances, that is, Symbols, Conſtitutions, Laws. So Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, Theophylact.

(b) Strom. 5. p. 562. B.

b Ver. 2. Ἥτις λέγεται ἅγια, Which is called the Sanctuary.] Or, as other Copies read, ἥτις λέγεται ἁγία, Which is called Holy.] Vain therefore is the Argument of Mr. le Clerc, that the Writer of this Epiſtle did not well underſtand Hebrew, and therefore cannot be thought to have been St. Paul, but rather ſome Grecian; to wit, becauſe he calls the Sanctuary only ἅγια, Holies; whereas, according to the conſtant uſage of the Hebrew, he ſhould have called it ἅγια τῶν ἁγίων, Holy of Holies. For (1.) All this depends on an uncertain Accent; read but ἁγία, and there is no foundation for this Argument; ſeeing then, the Apoſtle ſpeaks not of the Sanctuary, but of the firſt Tabernacle, which was only called Holy. And ſo Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, and Theophylact read; and Theodoret obſerves, that the Tabernacle was divided into two parts by the Vail, the one was called Holy, the other the Holy of Holies; and that ἡ πρώτη εἶπεν, ὡς πρὸς τὰ ἅγια τῶν ἁγίων, the Apoſtle calls this the firſt Tabernacle, to diſtinguiſh it from the Sanctuary, as it is evident he doth from the Verſe following, which demonſtrates that ἁγία is the true Reading in this Verſe. (2*dly*,) It depends upon a falſe Criticiſm, for מִן הַקֹּדֶשׁ, 1 Kings 8. 8. ſignifies ex Adyto, or from the moſt Holy Place, where the Ark was, as appears from 2 Chron. 5. 8. See Dr. Lightfoot's Treatiſe of the Temple, Chap. 15. Sect. 4.

c Ver. 4. Χρυσοῦν θυμιατήριον, The Golden Cenſer.] Of this Golden Cenſer, the Jews inform us, that it was only uſed on the great day of Expiation, when the High Prieſt entered into the Holy of Holies; and that on other days they offered Incenſe in a Silver Cenſer. So Maimonides and Abarbinel. See Buxt. Hiſt. Arcæ, p. 76.

d Ibid. Ἐν ᾗ, In which, &c.] Of the Ark the Scripture ſaith expreſly, That there was nothing in it but the Tables of the Covenant, 1 Kings 8. 9. 2 Chron. 5. 10. Whereas the Pot of Manna, and Aaron's Rod, are here ſaid to be alſo in it. To ſolve this Difficulty, ſome Interpreters ſay, That, as v. 2. the Apoſtle tells us what was in the firſt Tabernacle, viz. the Candleſtick, the Table, and the Shew-bread: So here he ſeems to tell us, not what was ſtrictly in the Ark, but in the Holy of Holies, ſaying, it had for its uſe the Golden Cenſer; and the Ark, and in it the Tables of the Covenant; the Pot of Manna, and Aaron's Rod. But the words, over it were the Cherubims, relating not to the Holy of Holies, but only to the Ark, confute that Expoſition.

Others ſay, That the Pot of Manna, and Aaron's Rod, are ſaid to be in the Ark, as being placed in the Receptacles of the Ark, or the Coffers in the ſide of it, mentioned, Deut. 31. 26. 1 Sam. 6. 8. Hence they are ſaid to be laid up, not in, but before the Ark of the Teſtimony, Exod. 16. 34. Numb. 17. 10. or with the Ark, as ב, which anſwers to ἐν, here ſignifies, viz. cum, ad, prope, juxta. See Noldius de partic. p. 144, 145. So ἐν Γαβάων is near Gibeon, Joſh. 10. 10. and ἐν Κιριαθιαρείμ, near Kiriah Jearim, Judg. 18. 12. Bochart. Hieroz. l. 2. c. 50. p. 590. And this Expoſition ſolves the Difficulty, and agrees fully with the Tradition of the Jews; for that there were ſuch Capſula's to the Ark for this uſe, is owned, ſaith (c) Buxtorf, both by the Talmud of Jeruſalem and Babylon. (d) Maimonides ſaith, There was a Stone in the Weſt part of the Holy of Holies, on which the Ark was placed, and before it the Pot of Manna, and the Rod of Aaron. Moſes Mikkotſi ſays the ſame, and (e) Abarbinel adds, That our Interpreters write that, this place does not deny that the Pot of Manna, and the Rod of Aaron were kept there for the Children of Iſrael, as it is ſaid in a certain Tradition of our Rabbins.

Ver. 5. Cherubims of Glory.] So called, be- e cauſe the Glory of the Lord dwelt between the Cherubims, and ſhined forth from them, Pſal. 80. 1. Thou that dwelleſt between the Cherubims, ſhine forth: And they being Emblems of the Angelical Nature, were alſo Emblems of the Divine Preſence, before which the Angels ſtood continually.

Ver. 7. Ἅπαξ τοῦ ἐνιαυτοῦ, Once every Year.] f
The Prieſt entered into the Holy of Holies on the great Day of Expiation four times, to offer Incenſe, Lev. 16. 12. to offer the Blood of the Goat, v. 15. and to make an Atonement for himſelf, ver. 17. which makes it neceſſary to paraphraſe the words as I have done.

Ignorance of the People.] 'Tis certain that the Law allow'd of Sacrifices for Sins committed not out of mere Ignorance, i. e. for Lying, and Falſe Swearing, Lev. 6. 1. 6. We therefore muſt either ſay with Vatablus and Munſter in locum, that Sins committed through the violence of our Paſſions and Affections are called Sins of Ignorance, and ſo they ſtand oppoſed to Sins of Preſumption, Numb. 15. 27, 28, 30. or that the Sins of the People are here ſo ſtiled becauſe they are moſtly ſuch.

Holy of Holies.] I. e. into the Heavens, was not yet revealed nor opened. Thus did the Jews themſelves interpret this Symbol, ſaying, that (f) the Adytum, ὃ τοῖς ἱερεῦσιν ἦν ἄβατον, which was inacceſſible to the Prieſts, repreſented the Heaven where God dwelt. This Interpretation all the Ancient Commentators give us of this place, viz. Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, Theophylact, ſaying, Theſe things were ſo prepared, that they might learn, ὅτι τὰ ἅγια τῶν ἁγίων, τουτέστιν, ὁ οὐρανὸς ἔτι ἐστὶν ἄβατος, that is, that Heaven, repreſented by the Holy of Holies, was as yet inacceſſible, for Chriſt firſt entered into Heaven, καὶ βατὸν ἡμῖν τοῦτον ἀπέφηνε, and ſo rendered it acceſſible to us: And therefore, as the Apoſtle ſaith here, μήπω πεφανερῶσθαι τὴν ἁγίων ὁδὸν, the way into this Holy of Holies was not yet manifeſted. So he ſaith in the next Chapter, that we Chriſtians have τὴν εἴσοδον τῶν ἁγίων ἐν τῷ αἵματι Ἰησοῦ, an Entrance into Heaven by the Blood of Jeſus, and ὁδὸν πρόσφατον, a new Way which he hath made new through his Fleſh, i. e. Our Forerunner being thus entered into Heaven with his Blood to appear before God, and ſo to prepare theſe Manſions for us, the way of our entrance into Heaven is now made manifeſt. And this the Ancients ſay was ſignified by the rending of the Veil, at our Lord's Death, viz. τὰ ἄβατα εἶναι λοιπὸν βατὰ, τὸν οὐρανὸν ἀνοιγήσεσθαι, that Heaven, before inacceſſible. was now opened, and a Way was made into the true Holy of Holies; Chryſoſtom, Hom. 88. in Matth. p. 541. and the Hope of Chriſtians being now to enter within the Veil, becauſe our Forerunner is gone before, Heb. 6. 19, 20. Seems to intimate the ſame Thing.

Ἥτις παραβολὴ εἰς τὸν καιρὸν τὸν ἐνεστηκότα καθ' ὅν, &c.] Here the Vulgar, and Oecumenius read καθ' ἥν, which, ſaith Dr. Mills is the true reading, adding, that κατὰ συνείδησιν acceſſit aliunde, has been added to the Text. The Second oppoſes the Æthiopic, which is a Verſion of no Credit, to the Syriac, Arabic, Vulgar, all the Greek Scholiaſts, and Cyril. Alex. who all own the reading of the Text, which Liberty, if it be allow'd, the Scripture muſt be a very uncertain, and precarious Rule. In the firſt the reading of the Text is approved by Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, Theophylact, Cyril. of Alex. de Ador. Sp. p. 347. and by all the Eaſtern Verſions. The other reading indeed gives a very good Senſe thus, which Tabernacle was a Figure of the preſent Time, according to which Figure, Gifts, and Sacrifices were offered: But ſince the reading of the Text, which runs thus, (which Figure continues to this preſent Time, in which (by the Jews) are ſtill offered Gifts and Sacrifices) bears the ſome Senſe, and is ſupported by better Authority, what Reaſon can be given why it ſhould be changed?

i Ver. 9. Τελειῶσαι κατὰ συνείδησιν, To perfect according to the Conſcience.] The beſt account of this Phraſe, relating to what the Law and its Sacrifices could not do, may be learn'd from what the New Covenant, and the Blood of Chriſt, in which it was eſtabliſh'd, is ſaid to do. 1. Then, that Blood offered in the Preſence of God, is ſaid to take away Sins εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, ſo as that there ſhall be no return of them upon the Conſcience; no need of any more Oblation for the Sins of ſuch a Perſon, there being in him no more Conſciouſneſs of Guilt, after his Juſtification by Faith in the Blood of Jeſus. For where Remiſſion of Sins is, there is no more Offering for Sins, becauſe the Tenor of the New Covenant runs thus, Their Sins and their Iniquities will I remember no more, Chap. 10. 17, 18. Hence the Apoſtle argues thus, That the Law, with thoſe Sacrifices which were offered every year, could not, εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς τελειῶσαι, perfect for ever them that come to God with them, becauſe if they could have done that, the Worſhippers once purged by them, would have had no more Conſcience of Sins, Heb. 10. 1, 2. i. e. they would not have been ſtill conſcious of the Guilt of Sin, and ſo could have no need yearly to repeat the ſame Sacrifices. And of our Saviour's Sacrifice he ſpeaketh thus, That by one Offering, τετελείωκεν εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, he hath perfected for ever them that are ſanctified, i. e. are purged by it from the Guilt of Sin, Heb. 10. 14. Wherefore, to perfect according to the Conſcience, is ſo fully to expiate from the Guilt of Sin, that it ſhall no more be remembered by God, and we ſhall have no more Conſcience of the Guilt of it. Now the Conſequents of this full Remiſſion are theſe two, 1. A coming unto God with freedom, and full aſſurance of Acceptance with him. This the Apoſtle frequently aſcribes unto the Death of Chriſt, who ſuffered for our Sins, that he might bring us to God, 1 Pet. 3. 18. ſaying, By him who hath reconciled us to God by the Croſs, We have freedom and acceſs with confidence to the Father by Faith in him, Eph. 2. 16, 18. 3. 12. and upon that account exhorts us to come to him in full aſſurance of Faith, having our Hearts ſprinkled from an evil Conſcience, Heb. 10. 22. 2dly, A right of entrance into Heaven. This, ſaith the Apoſtle, could not be obtained by the Service of the Tabernacle, v. 8. but only by the Death of Chriſt, by which the way into the Holy of Holies is laid open, Chap. 10. 19, 20. Eternal Redemption is obtained for us, Chap. 9. 12. and we receive the Promiſe of an eternal inheritance; and ſo it conſequentially ſignifies to have a full Aſſurance of Acceptance with God here, and of Happineſs with him hereafter.

Ver. 9. Which could not perfect according to the Conſcience.] To clear up what hath been ſaid upon this Verſe, let it be noted, that God declares the Tenour of the New Covenant ſhould run thus: I will be merciful to their Iniquities, and remember their Sins no more. Whence obſerve,

1ſt, That there was no ſuch Promiſe, or Condition made under the Old Covenant, that requiring for every new Sin of Ignorance, a new Oblation, whereas Sins of Ignorance and Infirmity being not contrary to the Sincerity of our Obedience, they do not violate the New Covenant, and ſo are pardoned by Virtue of the Blood of the New Covenant ſhed, ἐφάπαξ, once for all for the Remiſſion of Sins, for if we thus ſin, ſaith the Apoſtle John, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jeſus Chriſt the Righteous, and he is the Propitiation for our Sins, 1 John 2. 2. And if we walk in the Light as he is in the Light, the Blood of Chriſt cleanſed us from all Sin, 1 John 1. 7.

2*dly*, Obſerve that the Legal Sacrifices ſerv'd only for the Purification of the Fleſh from Ceremonial Defilements, and reſtored to them only a Right to the Benefits of the Moſaical Covenants, viz. Life, and Proſperity in the Land of Canaan, but did not ſo far purify the Conſcience, as to procure them an admittance into the heavenly Canaan, which if they had entirely cleanſed them from the Guilt, and the Defilement of Sin, they would have done; and hence the Apoſtle ſays, The way into the Holy of Holies was not opened, whilſt the firſt Tabernacle was ſtanding, verſe 8. See the Note there.

k Ver. 10. Μέχρι καιροῦ διορθώσεως, Till the time of Reformation.] That is, as the next Verſe expounds it, till the coming of Chriſt, the Meſſiah of the Jews, when they themſelves expected a Reformation of the Law, ſaying, That (g) the Law which was learned in that Age, was Vanity, in reſpect of the Law of the Age to come, That is, ſaith the Gloſs on Ecclef. 11. 8. לפני תירתי של משיח, in reſpect of the Law of the Meſſiah; and that then the Law will be renewed. For (h) our Doctors, ſaith the Author of Sepher Ikkarim, declare, That all Iſrael ſhall receive a ſecond Law from the Mouth of God immediately, as formerly; and this they all prove, as the Apoſtle doth, Chap. 8. from Jer. 31. 31, 32, 33.

l Ver. 8. That the Tabernacle here mentioned is not the Body of Chriſt, but Heaven itſelf, ſee Note on Chap. 8. 2.

m Ver. 12. Αἰωνίαν λύτρωσιν, Eternal Redemption.] Here it is evident, 1. That this our High Prieſt hath procured for us a perfect and perpetual Expiation from the Guilt of Sin, and this Schlictingius on the Place fully grants. 2. That this λύτρωσις, or Redemption, was procured by the Blood of Chriſt, we having, ἀπολύτρωσιν, Redemption through his Blood, even the Remiſſion of Sin, Eph. 1. 7. That therefore was the λύτρον, or Price paid, to procure this Redemption. That this ἀπολύτρωσις παραβάσεων, Redemption from Tranſgreſſions was made, θανάτου γενομένου, by the Death of Chriſt, ſuffering as a Piacular Victim for us, there being no other way of procuring this Remiſſion under the Law, v. 22. and ſo no other known to, or heard of by the Jews. And laſtly, that ſuffering thus, he alſo muſt ſuffer in our ſtead, as all Piacular Victims did. Whence he is ſaid to give his Life, λύτρον ἀντὶ πολλῶν, a Ranſom for many, Matth. 20. 28. ἀντίλυτρον ὑπὲρ πάντων, a Ranſom for all, 1 Tim. 2. 5. See the Note there.

n Ver. 13. Ἁγιάζει πρὸς τὴν τῆς σαρκὸς καθαρότητα, Sanctifies to the purifying of the Fleſh.] It is truly obſerved by the Reverend Dr. Hammond, That to ſanctify to the purifying of the Fleſh, is to make legally clean, i. e. ſo as that they might come into the Congregation again, it being the Sanctification τῶν κεκοινωμένων, of the Unclean; but ſtill in a Metaphorical Signification, as cleanſing ſignifies Expiation, and obtaining Pardon of Sin; and when this is done by a Sacrifice, ἁγιάζειν, ſignifies to expiate, and cleanſe from Guilt by virtue of it. In which ſenſe it is uſed throughout this Epiſtle, and that agreeably to the import of it, when it relates to Sacrifices, in the Old Teſtament. So, Chap. 10. 10. ἡγιασμένοι ἐσμὲν, we are ſanctified, i. e. are purged from the Guilt of Sin, by the Body, or as other Copies read, by the Blood of Chriſt, offered once for all. And, v. 15. By one Offering he hath perfected for ever them that are ſanctified, i. e. hath entirely purged them who by this Offering are cleanſed from the Guilt of Sin: He being offered once, εἰς τὸ πολλῶν ἀνενεγκεῖν τὰς ἁμαρτίας, to bear, or take away the Sins of many, and εἰς ἀθέτησιν ἁμαρτίας, for the putting away Sin by the Sacrifice of himſelf, Chapter 9. 26, 27. and verſe 29. where it is ſtiled the Blood of the Covenant, ἐν ᾧ ἡγιάσθη, by which he, who now counted it as common, was ſanctified, or cleanſed from the Guilt of Sin, it being the Blood ſhed for the Remiſſion of Sin, the Blood of that New Covenant which ſaid, I will be merciful to their Impieties, and their Sins and their Tranſgreſſions will I remember no more, verſe 17, 18. So, Chap. 13. 12. Therefore Jeſus, that he might ſanctify the People by his own Blood, ſuffer'd without the Camp: Where both the Blood ſanctifying, and τὸ περὶ ἁμαρτίας, the Sacrifice for Sin, ver. 11. to which it anſwers, ſhew that Chriſt ſanctified the People by the Oblation of himſelf as a Sin-Offering, to cleanſe them from the Guilt of Sin. See Note on Heb. 2. 11.

Ver. 14. Διὰ Πνεύματος αἰωνίου.] The Vulgar, Chryſoſtom, and Cyril. Alex. de R. Fide, pag. 73. read ἁγίου, but Theodoret, OEcumenius, Theophylact, Athanaſ. Ep. ad Serap. pag. 180. Ambroſ. de Sp. S. cap. 8. Cod. Alex. Syr. Arab. read as the Text.

Ver. 14. Ἑαυτὸν προσήνεγκεν, Offered him- o ſelf without ſpot to God.] In Heaven, ſaith Dr. Hammond; For that Oblation, ſaith Grotius, muſt be here underſtood which anſwers to the Legal Oblation made in the Holy of Holies, which the Oblation of Chriſt upon the Croſs doth not, but his Oblation in the Heavens. Againſt this Interpretation ſome object, That Chriſt preſenting himſelf with his Blood in the Heavens, is never ſtiled an Oblation; but that is a plain Miſtake, ſee Note on Chapter 8. 3, 4. and of evil Conſequence; for if Chriſt had no Oblation to offer in Heaven, he could not be an High Prieſt there, ſince every High Prieſt muſt have ſomething to offer in that Sanctuary, in which he exerciſes his Prieſtly Office. But yet it being ſaid, not that he offered up his Blood, but that προσήνεγκεν ἑαυτὸν, he offered up himſelf, which he did upon the Croſs, Eph. 5. 2. Heb. 9. 25, 28. And the προσφορὰ, or Oblation of the Sacrifice, being properly the giving it up to the Death, or to be a Piacular Victim in the Sinner's ſtead, theſe words may very well be thus interpreted, Who through the Holy Spirit, by which he was ſanctified from the very Womb, offered himſelf a Piacular Victim without ſpot to God. But then the Blood of Chriſt here mentioned as purging the Conſcience from dead Works, muſt be his Blood preſented before God in the Heavenly Sanctuary; for the Apoſtle had ſpoken before, v. 7. of the Blood brought into the Holy of Holies by the Aaronical High Prieſt, and declared that it could not perfectly expiate the Conſcience from the Guilt of Sin, v. 10. and therefore here the Analogy requires that he ſhould ſpeak of the Blood of Chriſt, brought by our High Prieſt into the Heavenly Sanctuary. Moreover he had ſaid before, that he entered with his Blood into the Holy of Holies, v. 12. and therefore, v. 14. muſt be ſtill ſpeaking of the Effect or Influence of this Blood, there preſented for us.

(h) Voiſin. ibid. p. 123.

p Ibid. Καθαριεῖ συνείδησιν ἀπὸ νεκρῶν ἔργων, Purge the Conſcience from dead works.] Τὸ καθαρίζειν, here, as the Compariſon clearly ſhews, being in ſenſe the ſame with ἁγιάζειν in the Verſe preceding, muſt ſignify the cleanſing of the Conſcience, not from the Inclination to Sin, by the Holy Spirit, but from the Guilt of Sin, by the Blood ſhed for the Remiſſion of it. And (2*dly.*) This is the conſtant ſenſe of the word καθαρίζειν in the Old Teſtament, when joined with ἀπὸ ἁμαρτιῶν. So, Lev. 14. 19. The Prieſt ſhall make an Atonement for him that is to be cleanſed from his Uncleanneſs, ἐξιλάσεται ὁ ἱερεὺς περὶ τοῦ καθαριζομένου ἀπὸ τῆς ἁμαρτίας αὐτοῦ. And, Chap. 16. 30. The Prieſt ſhall make an Atonement for you to cleanſe you, καθαρίσαι ὑμᾶς ἀπὸ πασῶν τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν ὑμῶν, from all your Sins. So, Joſh. 22. 17. Pſal. 51. 3. Jer. 33. 8. Ezek. 24. 13. Hence then it follows that the dead works from which their Conſcience was to be thus cleanſed, muſt ſignify Works which deſerved Death by the Tenor of the Old Covenant.

q Ibid. Λατρεύειν Θεῷ ζῶντι, To ſerve the living God.] God being an Holy God, can enter into Covenant with none, or admit them into his Service, whilſt they lie under the Guilt of Sin unpardoned, and ſo have not found Grace in his ſight. Noah found Grace in the Eyes of God, and with him he eſtabliſhed his Covenant, Gen. 6. 8, 18. Abraham believes in God, and this was counted to him for Righteouſneſs; and then the Lord makes a Covenant with him by Sacrifice, Gen. 15. 10, 18. So, Exod. 24. 6. the Jews offer Burnt-Offerings, and ſacrifice Peace-Offerings to the Lord, and the Blood is ſprinkled upon all the People, and then he enters into Covenant with them. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith, Let us draw nigh to God with full aſſurance of Faith, having our Hearts ſprinkled from an evil (or condemning) Conſcience, Heb. 10. 22.

r Ver. 15. Διὰ τοῦτο,] May either relate to the End of Chriſt's Mediatory Office, and ſo be rendered for this End, or for this Cauſe; or to the Means, by which that New Covenant, of which he is the Mediator, was eſtabliſhed, and then it will be beſt rendered, by this Blood; his Blood being ſtiled, the Blood of the New Covenant, Matth. 26. 28. Mark. 14. 24. and the Covenant being ſtiled, the New Covenant in his Blood, Luke 22. 20. 1 Cor. 11. 25.

s Ibid. Εἰς ἀπολύτρωσιν τῶν ἐπὶ τῇ πρώτῃ διαθήκῃ παραβάσεων, For the Redemption of Sins under the Firſt Covenant.] St. Paul's Deſign in the Epiſtles to the Romans and Galatians, is to ſhew, that the Law could not juſtify any Man, i. e. that it could not procure his Abſolution from the Guilt of Sin, but rather left all guilty before God; and his Deſign in this Epiſtle is to ſhew, that the Sacrifices offered under the Law, could never take away Sin, Chap. 10. 4. And hence ariſeth the Neceſſity that Chriſt ſhould ſhed his Blood for the Redemption, i. e. for the Remiſſion of Sins committed under the Old Covenant, before we could be capable of entering into the New, or have a right to the Bleſſings of it.

t Ibid. Τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν, The Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance] The immediate Promiſe of the New Covenant, eſtabliſhed in the Blood of Chriſt, is Remiſſion of Sins, Chap. 10. 17. but then this being an Eternal Redemption from them, v. 12. and ſuch as perfects for ever them that are ſanctified, Chap. 10. 14. upon it neceſſarily follows the Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance, there being nothing to exclude us from it, but the Guilt of Sin. Hence is there a cloſe Connexion betwixt Chriſt's overcoming Death, and bringing Life and Immortality to light; and this emphatically is ſtiled the Promiſe of the Goſpel, Tit. 1. 2. 1 John 1. 2. and 5. 11.

u Ver. 16. Ἀνάγκη φέρεσθαι, There muſt be.] There muſt be produced, ſaith Dr. Hammond, as the word φέρειν ſignifies, John 18. 28. Acts 25. 7. there muſt intervene. So Schimidius and Budæus.

x Ver. 19. Τὸ αἷμα τῶν μόσχων, &c. The Blood of Calves and Goats.] There ſeems no need of the Conjecture of Biſhop Uſher, and others, that beſides the Burnt-Offerings, and Peace-Offerings mentioned by Moſes, Exodus 24. 5. there were then offered Sin-Offerings, the Holocauſts themſelves being expiatory Sacrifices, as is evident from theſe words, Lev. 1. 4. He ſhall put his hand on the head of the Burnt-Offering, and it ſhall be accepted ed for him, to make Atonement for him: Now the (i) Jewiſh Doctors tell us, That this Impoſition of Hands was always joined with Confeſſion of Sins over the Sacrifice, which Confeſſion ſtill concluded with a Prayer, that the Sacrifice might be an Expiation for them. And the Phraſe, it ſhall be accepted, ἐξιλάσασθαι περὶ αὐτοῦ, to make an Atonement for him, uſed here, and Levit. 14. 20. concerning Holocauſts, is as much as ever is ſaid of Expiatory Sacrifices. (2*dly*,) This may be farther urged from the word Kepher, uſed concerning Holocauſts, Lev. 1. 3. that being the word uſed to import Expiation for Sin; on which account the Syriac Verſion ſaith, that the Burnt-Offering was deſigned, ad placationem obtinendam à Deo, To appeaſe God: And the (k) Chaldee Paraphraſt, That the Burnt-Offering came ad expiandum pro cogitationibus Cordis, To expiate for the Thoughts of the Heart. And 'twas the general Opinion of the Jews, ſaith (l) Dr. Outram, that ſome kind of Sins were expiated by Holocauſts. And (3*dly*,) All the Sacrifices of Living Creatures before the Law, were Holocauſts, and yet 'tis certain that many of them were offered to appeaſe God, and expiate for Sin. Thus Noah, after the Flood, offered Burnt-Offerings, Gen. 8. 20. and yet Joſephus, Antiq. l. 1. c. 4. hath inform'd us, that he offer'd a Sacrifice to atone God, and appeaſe his Diſpleaſure. The Sacrifices which Job offer'd for his Children, were Burnt-Offerings, yet were they alſo Offerings for Sin, Job 1. 5. the reaſon of their Oblation being aſſigned, It may be that my Sons have ſinned. The Oblation which God commanded his Friends to make, was a Burnt-Offering, Job. 42. 7. and yet it was offered to appeaſe God's Wrath, and prevailed, with the Prayer of Job, λύειν τὴν ἁμαρτίαν αὐτοῖς, to procure Abſolution from their Sin. Nevertheleſs becauſe Joſephus, ſpeaking of this matter, mentions the Blood, τῶν κριῶν σφαγέντων, of the Rams ſlain, as the Apoſtle doth τῶν τράγων, the Blood of the Goats: Hence it ſeems neceſſary to allow theſe alſo were ſlain then, either as Sin-Offerings, or as Burnt-Offerings, as they are allowed to be, Lev. 1. 2, 3, 10.

Ver. 20. Διαθήκη, Covenant, or Teſtament.] This Diſcourſe, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, is to be look'd upon merely as the Play of an Helleniſtical Writer; who, becauſe he ſaw that διαθήκη was uſed for that Covenant whereof Chriſt is the Mediator, and ſignified alſo a Teſtament; and Chriſt was dead, thence deduced Conſectaries which are true indeed, conſidered in themſelves, but here rely upon weak Principles, rather to ſet off his Diſcourſe, according to the Cuſtom of that Age, than to convert the Jews to the Faith by the force of Reaſoning. Thus is the great Apoſtle of the Gentiles turned into a Jewiſh Rabbin, ſetting off his Diſcourſe by weak Reaſonings, becauſe it was cuſtomary for the Jews to do ſo. Our word and Preaching is, ſaith the Apoſtle, not in the words of Man's Wiſdom, but in demonſtration of the Spirit, 1 Cor. 2. 4. By your leave, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, you ſometimes ſpeak not in the words of Man's Wiſdom, but of Jewiſh Folly, talking plainly like an Allegorical Philo, making often ſuch Accommodations of Scripture, and ſuch Conſequences deduced from them, in which no regard at all is had to Grammar. We ſpeak the Wiſdom of God, ſaith the Apoſtle, ibid. ver. 7. No, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, your Diſcourſe is to be look'd upon merely as the Play of an Helleniſtical Writer. We ſpeak the things which God hath revealed unto us by his Spirit, and have received this Spirit, that we may know the things which are freely given us of God; which things we ſpeak not in words taught by Human Wiſdom, but in words taught us by the Holy Ghoſt. No, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, even in things relating to the New Covenant, eſtabliſhed in the Blood of Chriſt, your Diſcourſe relies upon weak Principles, and is no better than playing with the Ambiguity of Words, and deducing Conſequences without any regard to Grammar. For true it is indeed, That a Teſtament is ratified by the Death of the Teſtator; and Chriſt is dead, but Chriſt was not the Mediator of a Teſtament; for Teſtaments do not want Mediators: And if it ſhould be granted that he was, he could not be thought at once a Mediator and a Teſtator, by whoſe Death alone a Teſtament was confirmed. The Teſtator here is God the Father, whoſe Heirs Men are in Conjunction with Chriſt, but God the Father can in no ſenſe be ſaid to die. Thus Mr. le Clerc confutes the Author, and yet ſays, he does not leſſen the Authority of this Epiſtle, though others think he plainly overthrows it; but, God be thanked, he does it ſtill without juſt ground. For,

1*ſt*, 'Tis plainly falſe that God can be the Teſtator here; and that for his own Reaſon, becauſe God the Father can in no ſenſe be ſaid to die: For a Teſtator muſt have his Teſtament; and where there is a valid Teſtament, there, ſaith the Apoſtle, muſt of neceſſity be the Death of the Teſtator. A Teſtament, ſaith Mr. le Clerc, being ratified by the Death of the Teſtator.

Secondly, I grant, that Chriſt was not the Mediator of a Teſtament, but then he was the Mediator of a Covenant; which, as it was ſealed with, and confirmed by his Blood, procuring for us ſuch Bleſſings as he by his Will deſigned for, and declared ſhould be conferred upon Believers, through Faith in his Blood, became alſo a Teſtament. Thus when he ſaid, For their ſakes, ἁγιάζω ἐμαυτὸν, John 17. 19. i. e. I offer up my ſelf as a Piacular Victim, that they might be ſanctified, or truly purged from their Sins; he adds, (m) as his Laſt Will and Teſtament; Father, I will that thoſe whom thou haſt given me, be with me where I am. So here he is become an High Prieſt of Good Things to come, purchaſing Eternal Redemption for us by his Blood. And, v. 15. he became the Mediator of that New Covenant, in which God promiſed to be merciful to our Tranſgreſſions, and to remember our Sins no more; procuring the Remiſſion of them by the intervention of his Death, that we that believe in him might receive the Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance, which he died to entitle us to, and confer upon us; whence it is ſtiled, the purchaſed Poſſeſſion. This therefore was his Will and Teſtament, that they for whom he died ſhould live through him, and this Teſtament could not be confirmed but by his Death: He therefore was at once the Mediator, in whom the New Covenant, promiſing to us Remiſſion of Sins, was made; and the Teſtator, by whoſe Death the Teſtament, that they who believed in him ſhould have Eternal Life, was ratified.

(k) Ibid. p. 111. Sect. 7.
(l) Dr. Outram de Sacrif. l. 1. c. 15. Sect. 8, 9, 10.

Moreover, what if, after all, here ſhould be nothing ſaid of a Teſtator, but only of a Mediator of ſuch a Covenant as was to be ratified in the Blood of Jeſus? this ſure would confound all that Mr. le Clerc here offers; and yet I think, with ſubmiſſion to better Judgments, that even this may be maintained againſt him.

For tho' there be here mention, v. 16, 17. τοῦ διαθεμένου, yet it is not neceſſary that word ſhould ſignify a Teſtator properly ſo called, but only a Promiſer, and one that confirms his Promiſe with his own Blood. For διατίθεμι, in Phavorinus, is ὑπισχνοῦμαι, συντίθεμαι, I Promiſe, I Covenant, and διατίθεσθαι διαθήκην, is very commonly in Prophane Authors, to enter into Covenant; and ſo the Phraſe διαθήσομαι διαθήκην, and διέθετο διαθήκην, (n) is conſtantly uſed in the Old Teſtament; and therefore the Participle διαθέμενος, derived from the ſame Verb, muſt probably have the ſame ſignification here, in which it is ſtill uſed by the Septuagint, and which it always bears in the New Teſtament. Thus, Acts 3. 25. You are the Children, διαθήκης ἧς διέθετο, of the Covenant which God made with our Fathers. Luke 22. 29. Κἀγὼ διατίθεμαι ὑμῖν, And I appoint to you a Kingdom, καθὼς διέθετο, as my Father hath appointed me. So here, chap. 8. 10. and 10. 16. Αὕτη ἡ διαθήκη ἣν διαθήσομαι, This is the Covenant which I will make with the Houſe of Iſrael. And becauſe Covenants were uſually made, Victimas cædendo, by Sacrifices, and eſtabliſhed in Blood, as both the Hebrew Berith, the Latin Fœdus, and the Greek σπονδὴ, whence the word Spondeo is derived, ſhew; and the Phraſes, ὅρκια τέμνειν, fœdus ferire, and percutere; accordingly it was in the New Covenant eſtabliſhed in the Blood of Jeſus. Hence the Apoſtle ſpeaks thus of this Covenant, and the Appointer, Diſpoſer, or the Maker of it:

Ver. 15. That by Virtue of this Blood, he is become the Mediator of a better Covenant.

Ver. 16. For where there is a Covenant, [θανάτου γινομένου, made by Death, or ratified by the Blood of him that makes it, V. 15.] there of neceſſity muſt intervene Death, τοῦ διαθεμένου, of him that makes the Covenant, or Promiſe.

Ver. 17. For a Covenant [of this nature] is only from [ἐπὶ νεκροῖς] in the Death of them who make it,] as other Covenants were ratified by the Death of the Sacrifices uſed at the making of them,] and is of no force whilſt [ὁ διαθέμενος] the Maker of the Covenant lives.

Ver. 18. Whence [i. e. becauſe without ſhedding of Blood there is no Remiſſion; ſo it was alſo in] the firſt Covenant, [for it] was not dedicated without Blood.

To this ſenſe the Contexture of the Apoſtle's Argument doth plainly lead; for Chapter the 8th, he introduceth the Promiſe of a New Covenant, in which God engageth to be merciful to our Iniquities, and to remember our Sins no more, v. 12. and ſo by removing our Guilt, made us fit to be Partakers of an eternal Inheritance. This Remiſſion of Sins, ſaith he, could not be purchaſed by the Gifts and Sacrifices under the Law, for they could not fully purge the Conſcience from the Guilt of Sin, chap. 9. 9. but Chriſt, by his own Blood, hath purchaſed Eternal Redemption for us, v. 12. and by this Blood, he is become the Mediator of a better Covenant; he having ſuffered Death, for the Remiſſion of Sins committed under the Old Covenant, that we might receive the Promiſe of an Eternal Inheritance, v. 15.

And this Death was neceſſary for him to ſuffer, for the obtaining of theſe Ends; for where there is ſuch a Covenant, there is a Neceſſity that the Death of him who ratifies this Covenant with his Blood, ſhould intervene: For ſuch a Covenant is only ratified upon the Death of them by whom it is made, and is of no force, whilſt he lives that makes the Covenant, becauſe this Remiſſion of Sins is not to be procured without ſhedding of Blood: Which was a thing ſo abſolutely neceſſary under the Law, that neither was the firſt Covenant dedicated or eſtabliſhed without Blood.

Now if this be ſo, here is no playing with the Ambiguity of the word διαθήκη, nor any intimation of an Helleniſt, but rather of an Hebrew, uſing the word in the ſenſe which both the Hebrew, Berith, uſually bears, and in which διαθήκη anſwers to it in the Septuagint: And ſo there was no juſt Occaſion for the dangerous Reflections which Mr. le Clerc hath made on this Diſcourſe of the Apoſtle.

z Ver. 21. Ἐῤῥάντισε, &c.] Of this ſprinkling of the Tabernacle, and all the Veſſels, we read nothing in the Place of Exodus forecited, or in any other part of the Law, but (o) Joſephus ſaith, That Moſes did θεραπεύειν τὴν σκηνὴν, καὶ τὰ περὶ αὐτὴν σκεύη ἐλαίῳ, καὶ τῷ αἵματι τῶν ταύρων καὶ κριῶν σφαγέντων, conſecrate for God's ſervice the Tabernacle, and all the Veſſels of it, anointing them with Oil, and with the Blood of Bulls and Rams.

aa Ver. 22. Almoſt all things] He ſaith, almoſt; becauſe ſome things which could abide the Fire, were purified by the Fire, Numb. 31. 23. and others by Water, Lev. 16. 28.

bb Ver. 23. Αὐτὰ δὲ τὰ ἐπουράνια, The Heavenly things.] For Explication of theſe Words, let it be obſerved, 1ſt, That the Apoſtle here ſpeaketh all along, not of Purification of Perſons, but of Things, of the Tabernacle, and of the Veſſels of it, v. 21. of the τὰ πάντα, all other things which were to be purified; of the ὑποδείγματα τῶν ἐν οὐρανοῖς, the Patterns of the Things in Heaven, v. 23. that is, the Tabernacle and the Utenſils of it. Chap. 8. 5. The heavenly Things themſelves, oppoſed to them, cannot therefore ſignify Men in general, viz. the Church Triumphant, or Militant, or in particular, our Souls or Conſciences, but the Heavenly Place, ſtiled, v. 24. Heaven itſelf, the Place into which Chriſt entered, in which he appears before God, the Place of which the Tabernacle made with hands was a figure.

2dly, Obſerve, That by God's Appointment an Atonement was to be made for the Holy Place, by the Blood of a Sin-Offering ſprinkled upon, and before the Mercy-Seat ſeven times, becauſe of the Uncleanneſs of the Children of Iſrael, and becauſe of their Tranſgreſſions and their Sins, Lev. 16. 16. Now theſe could not defile that Holy Place into which they never entered, but yet they rendered them and their Services unworthy to appear, and to be tendered before it, as they ſtill did, worſhipping towards, or before this foot-ſtool of the Divine Majeſty. An Atonement was alſo to be made for the Tabernacle of the Congregation, in which God dwelt among them, becauſe of their Uncleanneſſes, which rendered them unworthy to come into that Tabernacle where he was preſent; whence 'tis obſervable, that no Man was permitted to be in the Tabernacle, till the Atonement was made for it; ſo that the Purification of the Holy of Holies, was only the Preparing of it to be ſtill a Mercy Seat, to which they might repair with their Prayers, Praiſes and Adorations, and from which God might graciouſly ſhine forth upon them, when purified by his Atonement from the Defilements of their Sins. And the Purification of the Tabernacle, was only to prepare it to be a Place in which they might preſent their Perſons before God, thus cleanſed by this Atonement from the Guilt of Sin.

And in like manner was Heaven it ſelf to be prepared, or purified for us, by our Lord's entrance into it with his own Atonement, or Propitiatory Sacrifice. 1ſt, That our Prayers and Praiſes might aſcend up thither, and be accepted at God's Mercy-Seat, as being offered to God by our High Prieſt, and rendered acceptable by the Atonement he had made for the Pollutions cleaving to them. Hence is he repreſented as having a Golden Cenſer, and much Incenſe to offer, with the Prayers of all Saints, Rev. 8. 3, 4. 2dly, That our Perſons might be admitted into this Heavenly Tabernacle, as being cleanſed by his Blood from thoſe Defilements which they had contracted. Accordingly our Lord tells his Diſciples, In my Father's Houſe are many Manſions; I go to prepare a Place for you, John 14. 2, 3. And here he is ſaid to purifie and prepare theſe Heavenly Manſions for us, by entering into Heaven, there to appear with his Blood of ſprinkling in the Preſence of God for us.

cc Ver. 26. And in all theſe Places it manifeſtly ſignifies, from the Beginning of the World. See Pſal. 78. 2. Matth. 13. 35. and therefore muſt in reaſon bear the ſame import in this Text; and then it proves, againſt Crellius, that the Sufferings of Chriſt had reſpect to all preceding Generations: For if his Sufferings had not reſpected the Sins of the whole World, where is the neceſſity, upon the Suppoſition here made, of the reiteration of his Sacrifice, that he ſhould have ſuffered from the beginning of the World?

CHAP. X.

[THE Legal High Prieſt, I ſay, went yearly into the Holy of Holies, v. 25. as it was neceſſary for him to do in that imperfect Diſpenſation ;] a 1. For the Law having [only] [a] a ſhadow of b good things to come, and [b] not the very Ic mage of the things [themſelves,] can [c] never with thoſe Sacrifices, which they [who officiated under it] offer'd year by year continually, make the Comers thereunto perfect, [ i. e. abſolved from the guilt of Sin, for ever.].

d 2. For [d] then would they have ceaſed to be offer'd, becauſe that the Worſhippers once purged [by them, εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, for ever,] would have had no more conſcience of Sin; [i. e. would not have been after conſcious of the Guilt of Sin.]

3. But [ ſo far are they from procuring this perpetual Remiſſion, or freeing thoſe that offer'd them, from being any more conſcious of Sin, that] in thoſe Sacrifices there is a Remembrance again made of Sins every Year, [ viz. in the great Day of Expiation ; whereas, where there is full Remiſſion of Sins, there is no remembrance of them any more, and ſo no more Offering for Sin needful, v. 16, 17.]

4. They could not, I ſay, expiate for ever, or clear them from all conſcience of Sin ;] For it is impoſſi-
e ble that the Blood of Bulls and Goats [e] ſhould take away Sins [for ever, ſo that no further Sacrifice ſhould be needful to that End.]

5. Wherefore, when he, [the Lamb of God
f that taketh away the Sins of the World,] [f] cometh into the World, he [in the Pſalmiſt] ſaith, Sag crifice and Offering thou would'ſt not, but [g] a Body haſt thou prepared [for] me; [i. e. thou wouldeſt not have them to continue after my Coming into the World to offer myſelf a Sacrifice for the Sins of the World, they being only to continue till the Time of Reformation, chap. 9. 10. and here, v. 9.]

6. In Burnt-Offerings and Sacrifices for Sin thou haſt had no pleaſure.

h 7. Then ſaid I, Lo, I come, [as] [h] in the Volume [or, Roll] of the Book it is written of me, to do [τοῦ ποιῆσαι, that I ſhould do] thy Will, O God ; [i. e. to offer my Body a Sacrifice for Sin, according to thy Will ]

8. Above, when he ſaid, [ἀνώτερον λέγων when he, i. e. Chriſt, had ſaid before, Pſal. 40. 6. Sacrifice, and Offerings, and Burnt-Offerings, and Offering for Sin, thou would'ſt not, neither hadſt pleaſure therein, [ſpeaking of the Sacrifices] which are offered by the Law ;

9. Then ſaid he [ afterwards, v. 7.] Lo, I come to do thy Will, O God: [And thus] he taketh away the firſt, [the Legal Sacrifices,] that he may eſtabliſh the ſecond, [the Oblation of his Body, v. 10.]

10. [i] By the which [k] Will we are ſanctified, i k through the Offering [Gr. οἱ διὰ τῆς προσφορᾶς, who are ſanctified by the Offering] of the Body of Jeſus Chriſt [ἐφάπαξ] once for all, not as the Legal Sacrifices, once every Year, chap. 9. 25, 26.]

11. And every Prieſt [according to the Law] ſtandeth [Gr. ſtood] daily miniſtering, and offering often times the ſame Sacrifices, which can never take away [the Guilt of] Sins.

12. But this Man [Chriſt Jeſus,] after he had offered one Sacrifice for Sins, [by which the Guilt of them hath been fully taken away, Heb. 1. 3. ῦ]
[l] for ever ſat down on the Right-hand of l
God, [and ſo is placed over all his Works, according to Pſal. 8. 6.]

13. From henceforth expecting till his Enemies be made his footſtool ; [till the Devil, Antichriſt, Death the Wages of Sin, and the laſt Enemy be aboliſhed, 1 Cor. 15. 25. and ſo the following words of the Pſalmiſt, Thou haſt put all things in ſubjection under his feet, be fully accompliſh'd..

14. For by [this] one Offering [of himſelf to the Death for us,] he hath [m] perfected for ever, m [ i. e. compleatly expiated the Sins of ] them that are ſanctified, [through faith in his Blood procuring the Remiſſion of Sins, Acts 26. 18.]

15. Wherefore, [And of this] the Holy Ghoſt alſo is a Witneſs to us : For after he had ſaid before:

16. This is the Covenant that I will make them ; After thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will put my Laws into their hearts, and in [or, upon] their minds will I write them, Jer. 31. 33.]

[17. He adds, as a further Promiſe, or part of the New Covenant,] And their Sins and Iniquities will I remember no more.

18. Now where [ſuch a] Remiſſion of theſe is, [as cuts off the remembrance of them any more,] there is [n] no more [need of] offering for Sin ; n [See v. 2, 3.]

19. Having therefore, Brethren, boldneſs, [or, liberty ;] [See Note on Chap. 3. 6.] to enter into the Holieſt by the Blood of Jeſus, [from which the Jews were typically debarred, the Way into the Holieſt being not then revealed, Chap. 9. 8.]

20. By a new [o] and [p] living Way, which he op hath conſecrated, [or, made new,] for us thro' the Veil, that is to ſay, [through] his Fleſh, [offered for our Sins upon the Croſs.]

21. And having [ſuch] [q] an High Prieſt q over the Houſe of God, [i. e. the Church, chap. 3. 6. 1 Tim. 3. 15. or, over the Houſe not made with hands, in which God dwells, chap. 8. 1, 2. and 9. 1. 11.]

22. Let us [who are of this Houſe, chap. 3. 6. and for whom this Freedom is procured by this High Prieſt,] draw near [to God] with a true [upright] heart, in full aſſurance of Faith, [that our Services ſhall be accepted now, and our Perſons hereafter admitted into his Preſence, as] having [r] our hearts ſprinkled [by the Blood of Jeſus] from [the accuſations of] an evil Conſcience, and our Bodies waſhed with pure water, [viz. the Laver of Regeneration.]

23. Let us hold faſt the Profeſſion of our Faith, [Gr. the Hope we profeſs] without wavering, [or, being moved from the Hope of our Calling, Col. 2. 23. that Hope which cauſeth us to rejoice, chap. 3. 6. which entereth within the Veil, chap. 7. 27.] for he is faithful who hath promiſed [this Entrance into it.]

24. And let us conſider one another, [as Members of the ſame Body,] to provoke [one another] to Love, and to Good Works, [or, Works of Charity; See Note on Tit. 3. 8.]

25. Not forſaking the aſſembling of ourſelves together, [not drawing back from Chriſtianity to Judaiſm, v. 26, 38.] as the manner of ſome is, [who, for fear of Perſecution from the Jews, return to the Worſhip of the Synagogue, v. 32, 36.] but exhorting one another [to Perſeverance in the Faith;] and [that] ſo much the more, as you ſee [f] the Day [of Vengeance upon the Unbelieving and Apoſtatizing Jews,] approaching.

26. [t] For if we ſin wilfully, [by renouncing and falling off from Chriſtianity,] after that we have received the knowledge of the Truth, there remains no more Sacrifice for Sin, [οὐκ ἔτι, there is not yet left any other Sacrifice, beſides that which you reject, to purge you from the Guilt of Sin; and therefore nothing can remain for ſuch Apoſtates,]

27. But a certain fearful looking for of Judgment, and fiery Indignation, which ſhall devour the Adverſaries [of Chriſt, the Son of God, v. 29.]

28. [And of this you may be aſſured, from what befel thoſe who revolted from the Law of Moſes; for,] He that deſpiſed Moſes's Law, died without mercy, under [the Teſtimony of] two or three Witneſſes [of that Apoſtacy, Numb. 15. 30, 31. Deut. 27. 2—7.]

29. Of how much ſorer Puniſhment, ſuppoſe ye [then] ſhall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, [uſing him with the greateſt contempt,] and hath accounted the Blood of the [New] Covenant, [u] wherewith he was ſanctified, [or, purged from the Guilt of his Sins, chap. 2. 11. and 9. 13. and 13. 12.] an unholy thing, [ſuch as pollutes, rather than purges, as being the Blood of a Malefactor,] and hath done deſpight to the Spirit of Grace, [by refuſing to own him as the Spirit of God; yea, rejecting him as a Lying Spirit; and his Gifts and Miracles, as Illuſions.]

30. For we know him that hath ſaid, [i. e. who introduceth God thus ſpeaking,] Vengeance belongeth to me, and I will recompenſe, [x] ſaith the Lord, [Deut. 32. 35.] And [y] again [in the ſame place, v. 36. ſaith of him,] The Lord ſhall judge his People.

31. It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the Living God, [who ever lives to puniſh thoſe who revolt from him. See chap. 3. 12.]

32. But call to remembrance, [Ἀναμιμνήσκεσθε δὲ, Remember therefore] the former Days, in which, after ye were illuminated, [i. e. baptized into the Chriſtian Faith, chap. 6. 4.] you endured [courageouſly,] a great Fight, [Gr. Conflict] of Afflictions: [For a great Perſecution then befel the Church, which was at Jeruſalem, Acts 8. 2. 1 Theſ. 2. 14.]

33. Partly while you were made a gazingſtock, [or Spectacle,] both by Reproaches and Afflictions, and partly while ye became Companions of them that were ſo uſed, [Acts 5. 41. The Apoſtles, eſpecially Paul and Barnabas, Acts 14. 5, 19, 20. and 17. 10, 14, 15.]

34. For ye had Compaſſion of me in [z] my Bonds, [Acts 20. 23. and 21. 4, 11, 12, 13.] and took joyfully the ſpoiling of your Goods; knowing in your ſelves, [by the Teſtimony of that Spirit who is the Earneſt of our future Inheritance, Epheſ. 1. 14. and 4. 30.] that you have in Heaven a better and an enduring Subſtance.

35. Caſt not away therefore your confidence, [παῤῥησίαν, your freedom in profeſſion of the Faith,] which hath great Recompence of Reward; [for with the mouth Confeſſion is made unto Salvation, Rom. 10. 10.]

36. For ye have need of Patience; that after ye have done the Will of God, [i. e. have ſuffered according to his Will, 1 Pet. 4. 19.] ye might receive [aa] the Promiſe, [Reward.]

37. For [the Viſion of Habakkuk, reſpecting the Coming of Chriſt, and exhorting you to wait for him, ſaid then, yet for a time, as I do now, yet a little while, [bb] and he that ſhall come, [Gr. ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that cometh now to reward your Patience,] will come, and will not tarry.

38. [It alſo adds theſe words of Comfort to the Faithful, and Terror to the Revolter, Expect him now, Δίκαιος δὲ, [For] the Juſt ſhall live by [his] Faith: [cc] but if any Man draw back, [καὶ ἐὰν ὑποστείληται, and if he draw back from it,] my Soul, [ſaith God,] ſhall have no pleaſure in him.

39. But we [I hope, chap. 6. 9.] are not of them that draw back to Perdition; but of them that believe, to the ſaving of the Soul.

Annotations on Chap. X.

a Verſe 1. Σκίαν τῶν μελλόντων ἀγαθῶν, A Shadow of good things to come,] I. e. Of thoſe good things to come, of which Chriſt is the High Prieſt; their Tabernacle being only a Shadow or Figure of that Celeſtial Tabernacle, into which he, as our Fore-runner, hath already entered, chap. 9. 11. the Purgation they obtained, by their Sacrifices, from the Defilements of the Fleſh, of the Purifications of our Conſciences from dead Works, v. 13, 14. their Annual Redemption, of the Eternal Redemption obtained by Chriſt, v. 12. their freedom of Entrance, being cleanſed by their Sacrifices, into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, of our freedom to enter into the Holy of Holies.

b Ibid. Οὐκ αὐτὴν τὴν εἰκόνα τῶν πραγμάτων, Not the very Image of the things.] The Apoſtle here diſtinguiſhing betwixt the Things, and the Image of them; I think the word Image cannot properly be render'd Subſtance: But we under the Goſpel do enjoy ſuch lively Repreſentations of the Good Things to come, as are both Aſſurances and Foretaſtes, and Beginnings of them, the Earneſts of our future Glory, in the enjoyment of the Holy Spirit, who is the earneſt of it, Eph. 1. 14. and by whom we are changed into the Image of our glorious Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 18. the Image of our enjoyment of God, and dwelling for ever with him, by being made an Habitation of God through the Spirit, Eph. 2. 22. the Image of our Entrance into his Preſence, in that freedom of acceſs we have already to the Father through Chriſt, Eph. 2. 18. and 3. 12. The Image of our final Abſolution, in that Juſtification which is attended with that Peace of God which paſſeth all Underſtanding. And this ſufficiently anſwers the Objection of Eſthius againſt this Senſe, viz. That a more expreſs Signification of theſe future Good Things would not more efficaciouſly avail towards the Exhibition of them. For ſuch an Image of them, as alſo is an Earneſt, Foretaſte, Aſſurance, and an Inchoation of them, is ſufficient to make the Comers to God perfect for ever, as far as we are capable of being ſo in this Life; as being fully aſſured of the entire Pardon of our paſt Sins, ſo as that they ſhall not be remembered any more, and of the Enjoyment of thoſe future Bleſſings, of which we have received already the Earneſt, Firſt-fruits, and Aſſurance.

c Ibid. Εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς οὐδέποτε δύναται τοὺς προσερχομένους τελειῶσαι, Could never make the Comers to them perfect for ever.] All Interpreters allow a σύγχυσις, or Trajection of the words in this Verſe. Now this which I make in the Tranſlation, ſeems to be confirmed by the Effect of our Lord's Sacrifice oppoſed to theſe; for that, ſaith the Apoſtle, τετελείωκεν εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, hath perfected for ever them that were ſanctified, i. e. hath cleanſed them for ever from the Guilt of Sin, v. 14. That therefore which he here denies to the Legal Sacrifices, muſt be alſo this, that they could τελειῶσαι εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, expiate Sins for ever; or ſo as that they who were once purged by them, ſhould have no more Conſcience of Sin, v. 2. and to this ſenſe the following Argument inclines.

The words τελειοῦν, and τελειῶσαι, have two ſignifications; the one is Agoniſtical, and then it ſignifies to Reward and Crown, as in thoſe words, That they without us, μὴ τελειωθῶσι, might not be made perfect, i. e. be crowned, or have their full Reward, Heb. 11. 40. See the Note there. The other is Sacrifical; for when it is joined with Sacrifices, or hath relation to them, it ſignifies, ἁγιάζειν, καὶ καθαρίζεσθαι, to ſanctifie and purge from the Guilt of Sin. Whence τελειώσεις is render'd by Heſychius and Phavorinus, ἁγιάζεις. So the Sin-Offering, by which Aaron and his Sons were ſanctified, and ſet apart for the Prieſthood, is ſtiled, θυσία τελειώσεως, Exod. 29. 34. And the Sacrifice by which the Temple was ſanctified, or purged from its Defilements, is ſtiled, θυσία τελειώσεως, 2 Mac. 2. 9. and therefore what is here, cannot make perfect, is, v. 4. cannot ἀφαίρειν ἁμαρτίας, take away Sins; and v. 2. καθαρίζεσθαι, is to purge from the Conſcience of Sin: See Chap. 9. 9, 12, 14.

And laſtly, The word προσερχομένους here, ſeems not to ſignifie, the Comers to it, i. e. the Law, but, the Comers to God for Pardon, by theſe Legal Sacrifices; for the word in this whole Epiſtle ſtill relates to Coming to God, as the Phraſe is expreſly, chap. 7. 25. and 11. 6. the Coming to the Throne of Grace, chap. 4. 16. and in this Chapter, v. 2. προσερχώμεθα, Let us come [to God] with a true heart.

Ver. 2. Ἐπεὶ οὐκ ἂν ἐπαύσαντο προσφερόμεναι, For then they would not have ceaſed to be offered.] d
Some, leaving out the οὐκ, tranſlate the words thus, For then ſure they would have ceaſed to be offered; but the οὐκ is found in Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, OEcumenius, Theophylact, and the Alexandrian Manuſcript, and therefore ought not to be omitted: Others, with the Arabick Verſion, read the words Interrogatively; For then would they not have ceaſed to be offered? Which gives a very good ſenſe. But yet there ſeems to be another ſenſe of them very agreeable to the Context; viz. for then they would not have ceaſed, or been taken away, to give place to another Sacrifice for Sin, as the Apoſtle proves they were, from v. 5. to the 9th.

Ver. 4. Ἀφαίρειν ἁμαρτίας, To take away Sins;] e
Is not, as Grotius here notes, efficere ne ultra peccetur, to make us ſin no more; for that is not the Effect of Chriſt's Blood, but, as far as in this

this imperfect State we are enabled ſo to do of his ſanctifying Spirit. Moreover, the Apoſtle ſpeaks, v. 1. of Expiation of the Conſcience from the Guilt of Sin, of Expiation by the Legal Sacrifices which did not inwardly ſanctify, of Purgation by the Oblation of them, v. 2. from that Sin of which there was a Yearly Remembrance in the Oblation of thoſe Sacrifices to make Atonement for them, v. 3. and therefore the ἀδύνατον γὰρ, which connects this Verſe with the former, and ſhews that to be impoſſible to be effected, which he had ſaid before was not effected by thoſe Sacrifices, muſt confine this Phraſe to the taking away the Guilt of Sins, by (a) Expiation and Atonement for them; not to the Removal of the Power and Dominion of them, by internal Sanctification. And ſo, ἀφαίρειν ἁμαρτίαν always ſignifies, either to take away Sin by a mere Act of Grace, abſolving from the Puniſhment due to it; as when Nathan ſaid to David, Ἀφέλη ὁ Κύριος τὸ ἁμάρτημά σου, The Lord hath taken away thy Sin; thou ſhalt not die, 2 Sam. 12. 13. And the Seraphim to Iſaiah; This hath touched thy Lips, καὶ ἀφελεῖ τὰς ἁμαρτίας σου, and he will take away thy Sins, Iſa. 6. 7. And Iſa. 27. 9. By this, ἀφαιρεθήσεται ἀνομία Ἰακὼβ, ſhall the Iniquity of Jacob be forgiven; and this is his Bleſſing, ὅταν ἀφέλωμαι τὴν ἁμαρτίαν αὐτοῦ, when I ſhall take away his Sin. And when God ſaith to Joſhua, ἰδοὺ ἀφῄρηκα τὰς ἀνομίας σου, behold I have taken away thy Sins, Zach. 3. 4. Or when this Phraſe hath relation to a Sacrifice, to take it away by that; as when 'tis ſaid, Lev. 10. 17. Wherefore have you not eaten the Sin-Offering in the Holy Place, ſeeing it is moſt Holy, and God hath given it you, ἵνα ἀφέλητε τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τῆς συναγωγῆς, καὶ ἐξιλάσεσθε περὶ αὐτῶν ἔναντι Κυρίου, that you might bear [away] the Iniquity of the Congregation, to make an Atonement for them before the Lord? See v. 11.

f Ver. 5. Εἰσερχόμενος εἰς τὸν κόσμον, Coming into the World.] The Socinian Gloſs here, de ingreſſu Chriſti in mundum futurum, i. e. of Chriſt's going out of this World into the next, or into Heaven, is ſo abſurd, that it needs no Refutation; his Coming into the World, in the Scripture Phraſe, being, his deſcending from Heaven, to be with us, John 16. 28. I came down from the Father, and came into the World; and his going hence into Heaven, being ſtiled, his leaving of the World, John 13. 1. and 16. 28. and 17. 11. And tho' the Phraſe of entering into the World, may ſometimes in St. John import, Chriſt's entering on his Prophetick Office, or his appearing publickly in the World, as ὁ ἐρχόμενος, is that Prophet which was to come into the World; yet the connexion of it here with the Time, when a Body was prepared for him, will not ſuffer us to doubt that it importeth here his Aſſumption of the Human Nature, and his being born into the World in it. And ſo this Phraſe is uſed, when Chriſt is ſtiled the true Light that enlighteneth every Man that cometh into the World, John 1. 9. For though the Grammatical Conſtruction doth not hinder but that ἐρχόμενον εἰς τὸν κόσμον, may be conſtrued with Light, thus, which coming into the World, enlighteneth every Man; yet כל באו עולם, all that come into the World, being the conſtant Phraſe by which the Jews expreſs all Men living, as Dr. Lightfoot on the Place obſerves; and the Jews themſelves, ſpeaking of God himſelf after this manner, אתה מואר כל באו עולם, (b) Thou art he that illuminates every Man that comes into the World; this is a plain Confirmation of our Tranſlation of theſe Words.

Ibid. Σῶμα κατηρτίσω μοι, A Body haſt thou prepared, or framed for me.] The words in the Hebrew are, אזנים כרית לי, my Ears haſt thou bored, in plain Alluſion to the Ceremony uſed to a Slave that would not have his Liberty, but would continue in his Obedience to his Maſter, and would not go free, Exod. 21. 6. Deut. 15. 17. And ſeeing this was done out of love to his Maſter; the boring of his Ear, ſeems not to be commanded as a Note of Infamy, but as a ſolemn devoting of him to his Maſter's ſervice; tho' were it uſed as a Mark of Servitude, it anſwers ſtill exactly to our Saviour, who took upon him, ſaith the Apoſtle, μορφὴν δούλου, the form of a Servant, or of a Slave, and became obedient to the Death for us, when he might have been free from it, out of love to his Father, and us his Children, Heb. 2. 14. And becauſe he only could appear in this form, and performed this Obedience in the Body he aſſumed for this Purpoſe, the Seventy Interpreters, perhaps by the internal Motion of the Holy Spirit, tranſlated the Phraſe thus, A Body haſt thou prepared, or framed for me; for that the Apoſtle did not change the Tranſlation of the Septuagint, but find it thus, his words declare, when he ſaith, he taketh away the firſt, viz. Sacrifice, and offering, according to the Law, that he might eſtabliſh the latter, i. e. the Oblation of his Body, or his Obedience to the Death in the Body thus prepared for him. So read Theodoret, St. Auſtin, Euthymius, St. Chryſoſtom, Apollinarius, and Ambroſius; ſo read the Arabick and Æthiopick Verſions; and they who read otherwiſe, may be ſuppoſed to have followed not the Greek, but the Hebrew. And this Reading the Apoſtle approves, and follows, as the true meaning of the Hebrew Phraſe, and that which ſo fitly doth expreſs our Saviour's Oblation of himſelf, as that Sacrifice which was to put an end to thoſe which only were the Types and Shadows of it: And this giving up himſelf intirely a Servant, to do the Will of God; on which g account, Slaves and Servants, who were altogether at the Beck and Will of their Lords, were both by Jews and Heathens call'd σώματα, Bodies. Thus Raguel gave to Tobias half his Goods, σώματα, καὶ κτήνη, καὶ ἀργύριον, Servants, and Cattle, and Money, Tobit 10. 10. The Sale of the Captive Jews by Nicanor, is in the Greek thus, ἀνορισμὸς Ἰουδαϊκῶν σωμάτων, 2 Maccab. 8. 11. Joſeph. Antiq. Jud. l. 12. c. 2. p. 390. F. So all the Servants of the Men of Sichem are, πάντα τὰ σώματα αὐτῶν, Gen. 34. 29. And σώματα is by our Tranſlation rendered Slaves, Rev. 18. 13. So Ariſtotle, Strabo, Demoſthenes, and J. Pollux, uſe the word. See Conſtantine.

(b) Vejikra Rab. Sect. 31.

I do not find that the Ancient Jews interpreted theſe Words of Chriſt in expreſs Terms, but they ſay enough to juſtify the Apoſtle's Argument from this Text. For hence they conclude, that (c) God had no principal regard to Sacrifices, and that Obedience and Praiſe was better than Sacrifice; and that, (d) a further Salvation was to be expected, even the Salvation of God. Pſalm 50. 23. Iſaiah 45. 17. which was תשועת עולמים, an Eternal Salvation; or, in the Language of the Apoſtle here, Salvation, εἰς τὸ παντελὲς, for ever, Hebr. 7. 25. εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, chap. 10. 14.

h Ver. 7. In the Volume of thy Book it is written of me, that I ſhould come to do thy Will.] It being there written, that the Meſſiah was to make his Life an Offering for Sin, Iſa. 53. 10. and by that to cauſe theſe Offerings and Sacrifices to ceaſe, Dan. 9. 27. therefore he is ſaid to go to his Croſs, as it was written of him, Matth. 26. 24. And the Rulers of the Jews are ſaid to have fulfilled the Scriptures, in condemning him, and to have done that which was written of him, Acts 13. 27, 29. See Luke 24. 44, 46.

i Ver. 10. Though perhaps the Article οἱ ſhould be left out, it being not read by Chryſoſtom and Theodoret, or by the Syriac Verſion; yet becauſe it is in the Alexandrian Copy, in OEcumenius, Theophylact, the Arabick Verſion, and in many Manuſcript Copies, I thought fit to give it a place in the Paraphraſe, and then 'tis eaſy to perceive that ἡγιάσμεθα muſt be repeated, to compleat the ſenſe.

k Ibid. Ἐν ᾧ θελήματι, By the which Will.] Chriſt had ſaid, in the Pſalmiſt, that his Father would not have the Sacrifices and Oblations of the Law continued, but that his Will was, that he ſhould once for all ſuffer for the Sin of Man; by the execution of which Will, perform'd by Chriſt's Oblation of his Body for us, we are ſanctified: Where ἁγιάζειν, or ἁγιάζεσθαι, doth not ſignify, to be freed from the Power and Dominion of Sin, but from the Guilt of it, as is proved, Note on Chap. 9. 13. and this is farther proved, from the Means of this Sanctification, viz. the Oblation of Chriſt's Body, that being offered as a Piacular Victim, to purge us from the Guilt of Sin, and from the Condemnation due unto us for it: Nor doth the Apoſtle here underſtand the Oblation of Chriſt's Body in the Heavens for us, that being properly his Interceſſion, but the Oblation of his Body on the Croſs, and his Sufferings, Heb. 2. 10, 11. and Chap. 13. 12. And laſtly, This being effected by the Oblation of Chriſt's Body, ἐφάπαξ, once for all: As it reſtrains the word to his Oblation on the Croſs, which was but once performed, and is paſt; whereas his Appearance in the Heavens for us is ſtill preſent and perpetual: So doth it perfectly overthrow the pretended Sacrifice of the Maſs; for if by this one Oblation, he hath perfected for ever them that are ſanctified, what Efficacy can there be in this vain Repetition of it? Nay, muſt it not import, that Remiſſion of Sins is not fully obtained for us by our Lord's Sacrifice on the Croſs? For, ſaith the Apoſtle, where Remiſſion of theſe is, there is no more Offering for Sin, v. 18.

l Ver. 12. Εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, For ever.] By comparing this with v. 14. By one Offering, he hath perfected, εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, for ever them that are ſanctified, and with v. 1. where it is denied that the Legal Sacrifices could, τελειῶσαι εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, expiate Sins for ever; and from the Streſs the Apoſtle here, v. 10. and elſewhere, lays upon this προσφορᾷ ἐφάπαξ, Oblation once for all, I imagine that theſe words may be better render'd thus, This Man, after he had offer'd one Sacrifice for Sin for ever, is ſate down.

m Ver. 14. That τετελείωκεν εἰς τὸ διηνεκὲς, is, to expiate Sin for ever, ſee Note on v. 1. And that the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of them who are ſanctified by this Expiation, hath been obſerved, Note on Chap. 9. 13. as is apparent from the Teſtimony of the Holy Ghoſt produced here to confirm this, viz. that God would remember their Sins no more, v. 17.

A Queſtion ariſeth from v. 4. and 11. upon what Ground it is here aſſerted, that the Legal Sacrifices could never take away Sin? And wherein lies the difference, in point of Expiation, between the Sacrifices of the Law, and the Oblation of the Body of Chriſt, that one could purge the Conſcience from the Senſe of Guilt, and take away Sin for ever, and the other could not? ' If all muſt be reſolved into Divine Appointment, and Divine Acceptation, how is it impoſſible that the Blood of Bulls and Goats ſhould take away Sin? Was it not poſſible that God might have appointed and accepted of the Life of a Beaſt, inſtead of that of the greateſt Malefactor, who ‘ thereby might be freed, not only from a ‘ Temporal, but likewiſe from the Obligation ‘ to Eternal Death? Now in Anſwer to this Queſtion, I conceive that Divine Acceptation muſt neither wholly be excluded, nor wholly be aſſigned, as the Cauſe that the Oblation of our Saviour's Body, was thus available for that Expiation of the Guilt of Sin, which could not be obtained by the Legal Sacrifices.

And firſt, I ſay, Divine Acceptation muſt not, yea, cannot wholly be excluded; for that would render the Oblation of our Lord's Body, of what Virtue ſoever it might be in itſelf, wholly unable to procure the Pardon of our Sin, and exclude all true Remiſſion, and Forgiveneſs of Sin. For,

1ſt, The Puniſhment of another, being not the thing threatened, or required, but only the Death of the Offender, can be of no avail to free the Criminal from Puniſhment, tho' he that is the Subſtitute, be never ſo able, or ſo well inclin'd to ſuffer it; unleſs the Governor, or he to whom the Execution of the Law belongs, be willing to accept of his Vicarious Puniſhment; and whenſoever he is pleaſed, and ſees juſt cauſe to do ſo, it is an Act of Grace and Favour to the Criminal, and a Remiſſion of his Perſonal Obligation to bear the Puniſhment he had deſerved. In Puniſhments inflicted on the Criminal, it is true, that ſo far as he ſuffers what the Law exacts, ſo far doth he diſſolve the Obligation to further Puniſhment, and ſo far muſt his Puniſhment be inconſiſtent with Remiſſion; for as far as any Man is puniſhed, he is not forgiven. But by Admiſſion of another to ſuffer in our ſtead, we are as much forgiven as we could be, did he not ſuffer in our ſtead, becauſe we are as much exempted from ſuffering any Puniſhment on the account of our Offences; and how can we be more forgiven than we are by ſuch an Act, as removes from us the whole Puniſhment as much as if we had never offended? The Vicarious Puniſhment is indeed the Motive and the Procuring Cauſe of this Forgiveneſs, as it renders it conſiſtent with the Governour's Honour, and with the Ends of Government to grant it, but it takes off nothing from the Freedom of the Pardon.

Secondly, I add, That Divine Acceptation muſt not be aſſigned as the only Cauſe that the Oblation of our Saviour's Body was thus available for the Expiation of the Guilt of Sin; for then no reaſon can be given, why he might not have accepted of the Blood of Bulls and Goats, and much more of the Sufferings of any ordinary Man, for the procuring our Exemption from the Guilt of Sin; whereas two Reaſons have been already offered in the Note on Chap. 2. 14. why the Blood of Bulls and Goats could never take away Sin; viz. 1ſt, Becauſe they were not of the ſame Nature and Original with Man, who ſinned, and ſo could not diſſolve the Debt his Nature had contracted. 2dly, They never could procure for us a Reſurrection, and ſo they could not free us from that Eternal Death our Sins deſerved; nor could any mortal Man do it, becauſe he never could have Power to raiſe his own Body; only that Jeſus who had Power to lay down his Life, and take it up again, (who hath Life in himſelf, and who can make the Dead hear the Voice of the Son of Man, and live,) can do this. Indeed they could do nothing of that which was requiſite, ſaith this Epiſtle, and the whole Scripture, for that End. But the great reaſon why the Blood of Bulls and Goats could never take away Sins, is this, that they could never anſwer the great Ends of Puniſhment, and thereby render it conſiſtent with the Honour of the Governour, and with the Ends of Government, to admit the Subſtitution of them in our ſtead. Now the Ends which wiſe Men do aſſign of Puniſhments, are theſe:

1ſt, Παράδειγμα, That they who ſuffer, may be Exemplary to others, and may, by what they ſuffer, deter others from the commiſſion of the like Offences, by letting them, in their Example, know what they muſt ſuffer when the Guilt of their own Sins is laid upon them.

2dly, Νουθεσία, That the Offender may learn Wiſdom, by the Rod: That the Remembrance of what was ſuffered for it, might prevent the Repetition of his Sin; and that he may be fitted to embrace that Counſel of our Saviour, Sin no more, leſt a worſe thing come upon thee.

3dly, Τιμωρία, The Vindication of the Prince's Honour, and the Preſervation of the Laws he hath eſtabliſhed, from Contempt. Now to apply this to our Purpoſe: I ſay,

1. That by the Obedience of our Lord Chriſt unto the Death in our ſtead, theſe Ends of Puniſhment are very ſignally obtained, and that with more advantage to God's Glory, than if the Puniſhment of our Offences had been inflicted upon us; and ſo God, by it, may be truly ſaid to have been ſatisfied, ſeeing that Juſtice, which conſiſts in Puniſhing for the Tranſgreſſion of a Law, is truly ſatisfied, when all thoſe Ends for which the Puniſhment of the Offender could be deſired, are obtained,

2. I add, That none of theſe Ends could be at all obtained by the Suffering of Bulls and Goats, and not comparatively by the Sufferings of any mortal Man whatſoever. And,

1ſt, God, by this Diſpenſation, hath given us the beſt and moſt effectual Example to deter us from Sin. For three things only can be requiſite to this end, that the Puniſhment of Sin be inſupportable, when we ſuffer it; inevitable, when we, by our Rebellions, have made ourſelves the Veſſels of God's Wrath; and that we have a lively ſenſe, and deep impreſſion of all this upon our Spirits. Now,

The Example of our Saviour's Sufferings, ſhews how inſupportable the Puniſhment will be, which Juſtice will inflict upon the Sinner; for if the Apprehenſion of it produced ſuch Agonies and Conſternations in the Soul of Chriſt, that God ſaw need to ſend an Angel to ſupport him under them, how muſt the Sinner ſink under that Burden, when it is laid upon his Shoulders? If he who was the well-beloved Son of God, found it ſo dreadful to lie under the Burden for ſome hours; to lie expoſed for ever to it, muſt be far more intolerable: If the Conſideration of God's Paternal Love, and of the glorious Iſſues of his Sufferings, was ſcarce ſufficient to ſupport our Lord under the Terrors of that Cup; what will ſupport the Sinner, when he ſhall know himſelf to be the everlaſting Object of God's Wrath?

This Example alſo ſhews, that Impenitent Sinners cannot eſcape this Wrath of God, ſince he inflicted ſo great a Puniſhment on the beloved of his Soul, when he became our Surety. For if on this account God ſpared not his only Son, we may be ſure he will not ſpare his Stubborn Enemies. With what ſtrong Cries, and with what Earneſtneſs, did our Lord pray to be delivered from this Cup? And yet when he had made his Soul an Offering for Sin, thus did it pleaſe the Lord to bruiſe him. If then his Ears were ſhut againſt the Cries of his Beloved Son, how can they be opened to the Howlings of Rebellious Sinners? If God was pleaſed to lay ſo great a Load on him who was but Sponſor for our Sins, their Puniſhment cannot be milder who commit them. And,

Laſtly, This Example gives us the moſt lively ſenſe, and deep impreſſion of theſe things, as being the moſt ſenſible Demonſtration of God's Indignation againſt Sin, which is recorded in the Sacred Writings. To find God drowning the whole World, and raining Fire and Brimſtone on Sodom and Gomorrah for Sin; to ſee the Darling Objects of his Love, the Jewiſh Nation, become for above 1700 Years the Objects of his ſoreſt Wrath, are Inſtances ſufficient to deter Men from Sin: But then to ſee God mix a Cup ſo bitter, ſo full of Gall and Wormwood, for his own innocent and well beloved Son, and make him drink it off, only becauſe he undertook to be our Surety; to ſee him lifted up upon the Croſs, the Earth trembling under him, as if unable to bear his Weight, the Heavens darkened over him, as if ſhut againſt his Cry, and all this becauſe our Sins did meet upon him, is a ſure and eminent Demonſtration of God's Indignation againſt Sin.

2*dly*, Whereas inevitable Ruin muſt have followed, upon the Execution of the deſerved Puniſhment on the Offender's Perſon, God, by this Method, hath taken a moſt excellent Way for Reformation of the Sinner, which was the ſecond End of Puniſhment. For what can be a more effectual Motive to abſtain from Sin, than this Example, which ſo clearly repreſents the greatneſs of the Provocation in the greatneſs of the Puniſhment, and ſhews it is impoſſible that guilty Perſons ſhould avoid the Stroke of God's Vindictive Juſtice, or bear the Weight of his Almighty Arm?

3*dly*, God, by this Diſpenſation, hath ſufficiently conſulted the Preſervation of his Honour, and ſecured the Reverence and Obſervation of his Laws; which was the third great End of Puniſhment. For,

God, by declaring thus, he would not pardon our Offences, without this Satisfaction made for the Violation of his Law, hath fully vindicated his Inſtitutions from Contempt; ſeeing, by this Example, he hath let all Men know, that though he be a God of great Long Suffering and Mercy, he will by no means clear the Sinner, or ſuffer Sin to go unpuniſhed.

Again, God, by his Diſpenſation, hath vindicated his Honour, more than if he had deſtroyed the Sinner, having more evidently ſhewed his Hatred of, and great Diſpleaſure againſt Sin, by puniſhing it ſo ſeverely in his only Son, when he became our Surety: For the greater the Inducement is to remit the Puniſhment of Sin, the greater muſt be his Hatred who inflicts it; that therefore this Conſideration, That he who ſuffer'd, was his Well-beloved Son, would not induce him to remit the Puniſhment, muſt be the higheſt Demonſtration of his moſt perfect Hatred of all Iniquity.

But that none of theſe Ends could be at all obtained by the ſubſtitution of a Bull, or Goat, or Ram, to ſuffer in our ſtead, muſt be extremely evident, this being a ſubſtitution very ſupportable, eſpecially by the Rich, who very freely ſpend much more upon the ſatisfaction of their Luſts, and who would therefore gladly buy a freedom to commit them at ſo ſmall Expence. This then would be ſo far from tending to reform the Sinner, that it would rather be a great encouragement to him to continue in his evil Courſes, when he thus knew the Damage would be very little to him; this alſo could not tend to the Honour of the Lawgiver, but rather would tempt Men to conceive that his Diſpleaſure againſt Sin could not be great, ſince he required ſo little to repair his Honour, and that he was not much concerned for any Satisfaction for the Violations of his Law, when ſuch ſlight Matters were by him thought ſufficient Expiations for them.

Moreover, the Oblations of any Ordinary Man could not procure this Expiation for us: 1. Becauſe he could only ſuffer that Puniſhment he had deſerved by his own Sins: Now evident it is, no Satisfaction can be made by me for others, by ſuffering that which Juſtice doth require me to ſuffer for my own Offences. 2. Becauſe he could not overcome Death, he never could raiſe up himſelf from the Grave, and ſo could not procure that Re-

Redemption from it to another, which he could not obtain for his ownſelf. Nor, 3. Is it viſible how he can ſerve the Ends of Juſtice, or of Government, by doing ſo, more than the Criminal himſelf would do by his own Sufferings. For, 1. What great Indication would it be of Divine Hatred to Sin, that he required only the Death of a mortal Man, to expiate the Sins of the whole World? Or, 2. What Diſcouragement could this afford to Sinners from continuing in their evil Courſes, or what great Dread of Divine Vengeance? For if, as 'twas conjectured by moſt Nations, the Death of a Malefactor might be ſufficient for this Purpoſe, what Nation could ever want ſuch Expiations for their Sins? Or, if it were to be a good Man, ſeeing they bore ſo great love to Mankind in general, and to their Country in particular, ſome of them would ſtill be ready to offer their own Lives, for Preſervation of their Nation: Or how, by this, would God conſult either the Honour of his Government, or ſecure the Reverence and Obſervation of his Laws, by thus requiring only one Criminal to ſuffer leſs than he himſelf deſerved, to make Atonement for the continual Violations of his Sacred Laws by a whole Nation, or even the whole Race of Men?

Ver. 18. Οὐκ ἔτι προσφορὰ, No more offering for Sin.] From theſe, and many other Paſſages of this Epiſtle, the Sacrifice of the Maſs declared by the Trent Council, Seſſ. 22. Can. 2, 3. to be a true and proper propitiatory Sacrifice for Sin, is utterly overthrown. For, 1. From theſe words of the Apoſtle, It was not needful that he ſhould offer himſelf often, for then muſt he have often ſuffered, Chap. 9. 24, 25, 26. it is very evident, that Chriſt cannot offer himſelf, but he muſt ſuffer: Since then they dare not ſay that Chriſt ſuffers in the Maſs, neither can they ſay that Chriſt offers himſelf there. 2*dly*, From thoſe words, Without ſhedding of Blood there is no Remiſſion, Chap. 9. 22. it follows, either that the Sacrifice of the Maſs muſt be a bloody Sacrifice, and ſo Chriſt's Blood muſt be as often ſhed, as he is offered in the Maſs, or elſe that it obtaineth no Remiſſion of Sin. 3*dly*, This follows from theſe words, By one Oblation he hath perfected, [i. e. hath perfectly and fully expiated, and that] for ever them that are ſanctified; for what neceſſity of, what virtue can there be in, doing that again, which is perfectly and fully done already, and that for ever? And laſtly, Where Remiſſion of Sins is ſo obtained by Chriſt's own Oblation, that God will remember them no more, there is, ſaith the Apoſtle, no more need of Offering for Sin; but by the Blood of Chriſt, the Blood of the New Teſtament, ſuch Remiſſion is obtained, ſaith the ſame Apoſtle, v. 15, 17. Ergo, &c.

Ver. 20. Ὁδὸν πρόσφατον, A New Way.] The Way into the Higheſt Heaven being before ἄβατος, impaſſable, ſaith Joſephus; (See Note on Chap. 9. 8.) there being no Entrance for us into that Place, till our Fore-runner had entered into it, Chap. 7. 20. till he had purified, and prepared it for us by his better Sacrifice, Chap. 9. 23. John 14. 2. This was the Doctrine of all the Primitive Chriſtians, That Chriſt, by his Death, opened this Veil for the Juſt that were from Adam, (e) ἀποκεκλεισμένοι, excluded from thoſe bliſsful Regions: (f) That διέσχισε φραγμὸν τὸν ἐξ αἰῶνος μὴ σχισθέντα, he rent open the Incloſure which from the Beginning had not been laid open. Hence (g) Tertullian ſaith, the Patriarchs were Dominicæ Reſurrectionis Appendices, the Appendants of our Lord's Reſurrection; and therefore, as καὶ ἔχοντες is here to be repeated from v. 19. ſo the Prepoſition διὰ, through, ſeems here not to denote the Means, or the Condition of Entrance into the Holy of Holies; but rather the Term to be paſſed through; as if he ſhould have ſaid, We have a new Way of Entrance through the Veil, now rent; which, before it was ſo, hindered our Entrance into that Place; that is, through the Fleſh, or Body of Chriſt broken upon the Croſs, and ſo letting out that Blood which procures that Entrance, as the Blood the High Prieſt carried with him procured his Entrance, chap. 9. 7.

Ibid. Καὶ ζῶσαν, And Living Way:] That is, ζωοποιοῦσαν, leading to, and giving Life, ſaith Grotius. He dying for us, that we might live through him, 1 John 4. 9. Thus the Bread of Life, John 6. and the Word of Life, Acts 5. 20. Phil. 2. 16. is the Bread and Word giving Life, in oppoſition to the dead Shadows of the Law, ſaith Dr. Hammond, or the Sacrifices preſcribed by it, all whoſe Virtue was in their Death; we being reconciled by the Death of Chriſt, but ſaved by his Life, Rom. 5. 10. Our Acceſs to theſe Manſions being obtained by this Fore-runner, made higher than the Heavens, chap. 7. 26. made a Prieſt there, after the Power of an Endleſs Life, v. 16. and therefore able to ſave us to the uttermoſt, becauſe he lives for ever, there to make Interceſſion for us, v. 25.

Ver. 21. An High Prieſt;] I. e. an High Prieſt ſo merciful, and able to help us when tempted, and ſo faithful in the Performance of his Office, chap. 2. 14.

Ver. 22. Ἐῤῥαντισμένοι τὰς καρδίας, Having our Hearts ſprinkled from an Evil Conſcience, &c.] Here is a manifeſt alluſion to the Things requiſite to procure to a defiled Jew admittance to God's Sacred Preſence in the Temple, or the Tabernacle. The Jewiſh Maxim ſaith, that the very Root and Eſſence of the Sacrifice was Sprinkling of Blood; and therefore, on the great Day of Expiation, the Bullock for the Sin-Offering, and the Goat for the Sin-Offering, which was brought in to make Atonement in the Holy Place for the People, was ſprinkled before the Mercy-ſeat ſeven times, Lev. 16. 14, 15, 27. and ſo they were made clean from all their Sins before the Lord, v. 30. and admitted again into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, from which they were excluded till this ſprinkling was performed, v. 17. Again, when the Iſraelites were in a great fear, that by coming near the Tabernacle, they ſhould be conſumed, ſaying, Behold, we die, we periſh; whoſoever cometh any thing near unto the Tabernacle of the Lord, ſhall die, Numb. 17. 12, 13. God appoints the Water made of the Aſhes of the Red Heifer, to cleanſe them from thoſe Legal Impurities, which rendered them unfit to come into his Tabernacle, and made it dangerous for them to approach unto it, ſtyling it on that account a Purification from Sin, v. 9. and this Water was to be ſprinkled on the Unclean, and he was to waſh his Cloaths, and bathe himſelf in Water, and being thus purified, might come into the Sanctuary, v. 19, 20. This ſprinkling of the Blood and Water, ſanctifying to the Purifying of the Fleſh, Heb. 9. 13. Let us therefore, ſaith the Apoſtle, who have [not our Fleſh only, but] our Conſciences purified from the Guilt of Sin, by the ſprinkling [not of the Blood of Bulls and Goats, but] of the Blood of Chriſt, and have our High Prieſt ſtill preſenting this Blood before the Mercy-ſeat, and who have our Bodies waſhed with the pure Water of Baptiſm, the Laver of Regeneration, [as the Cloaths and Bodies of the Unclean were with Fountain-Water,] draw near to God with greater freedom than they could.

Ver. 25. Ἡμέρα, The Day approaching;] I. e. The Day of the Lord's coming to deſtroy the Unbelieving Jews, and to execute his Vengeance on them, for rejecting and crucifying their Meſſiah, ſtiled by St. Luke, the Days of Vengeance, chap. 21, 22. ἡμέρα τῆς εἰσόδου αὐτοῦ, the Day of the Lord's Coming, which who can bear? ſaith the Prophet, Mal. 3. 2. ἡμέρα καιομένη ὡς κλίβανος, the Day burning like an Oven; ἡμέρα ἡ ἐρχομένη, the Day coming that ſhall ſo burn up them that do wickedly, as not to leave them Root or Branch; ἡμέρα Κυρίου ἐγγίζουσα, the Day of the Lord drawing near, when all the Inhabitants of the Land ſhall tremble, Joel 2. 1. μεγάλη ἡ ἡμέρα Κυρίου καὶ ἐπιφανής, the great and terrible Day of the Lord, V. 11. 31. ἡμέρα αὐτοῦ, the Day of the Son of Man. That this is the meaning of the Place, will appear from the ſcope of the Apoſtle, which is to terrifie them he writes to, by the Conſideration of that dreadful Day of Vengeance threatened to the Unbelieving Jews, not only by our Lord, but their own Prophets, and now near at hand; as it follows from v. 26. to v. 32.

Ver. 26. Ἑκουσίως γὰρ ἁμαρτανόντων ὑμῶν, For if we Sin wilfully.] That theſe words do not concern every Sin committed knowingly againſt the Laws of Chriſt, but only ſuch as do conſiſt in Apoſtatizing from the Faith, after we have received the Knowledge of it, and rejecting him as our Prophet and Law-giver, will appear, 1. From the parallel Place, chap. 6. 4, 5, 6. for they who there cannot be renewed unto Repentance, are they who fall away from the Faith, after they have been enlightened, &c. which plainly anſwers to theſe words here, they who ſin wilfully, after they have received the knowledge of the Truth; they are there ſaid to crucifie afreſh the Lord of Life, and to put him to an open ſhame; yea, to fall away after they have taſted of the heavenly Gift, and have been made Partakers of the Holy Ghoſt; which alſo anſwers to the trampling under foot the Son of God, and the doing deſpite to the Spirit of Grace. 2. From the Inſtances produced out of the Old Teſtament; for the Argument uſed, v. 28. from the Compariſon of him who deſpiſed Moſes's Law, and therefore was to die without mercy, under the hand of two or three Witneſſes, Deut. 17. 6. plainly concerns them only who tranſgreſſed God's Covenant, by going and ſerving other Gods, V. 2, 3. And as for thoſe who ſinned voluntarily, or, with an high hand, under the Law, and ſo were to be cut off, and have no Sacrifice allow'd to expiate their Sin, Numb. 15. 30, 31. they were ſuch as blaſphemed or reproached the Lord, i. e. revolted from, and would not own him as their Governor; they deſpiſed the word of the Lord; they made the Covenant given in Sinai void, by contemning the Authority by which it was enjoined, as the Hebrew ſignifies, and ſo they were indeed Apoſtates from God. 3. From the preceding Exhortation, v. 25. not to fall off from the Aſſemblies of Chriſtians; and the following, not to caſt away their Confidence, V. 35. not to draw back from the Faith, V. 38. it being better not to have known the Way of Righteouſneſs, than having known it, to depart from the holy Commandment delivered to them, 2 Pet. 2. 21. And laſtly, from the Expreſſions uſed, v. 29. which can agree to none beſides Apoſtates from the Chriſtian Faith: For, to tread the Son of God under Foot, muſt ſurely ſignifie the extremeſt Contempt that can be caſt upon him; to count the Blood of the Covenant, by which we are purified, itſelf, κοινὸν, unclean, and polluting, can be only done by him who looks on Chriſt, not as the Saviour of the World by it, but as one who deſerved to ſuffer what from the Jews he did: And to do deſpite to the Spirit of Grace, cannot well ſignifie leſs than that which our Lord ſtiles the Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt, which Men cannot commit, and in their Hearts continue Chriſtians.

Ver. 29. Ἐν ᾧ ἡγιάσθη, By which he was ſanctified.] That this refers, not to Chriſt ſanctifying himſelf, or offering himſelf as a Piacular Victim for us, John 17. 19. but to him who counted this Blood an unholy thing, ſeems clear, 1.

From

1. From the conſtant uſage of this Phraſe in this Epiſtle, where he that is ſanctified, is he that is purged from the Guilt of Sin, Chap. 2. 11. and in this very Chapter, where it is ſaid, v. 10. that we are ἡγιασμένοι, ſanctified by the Oblation of the Body [or, the Blood] of Chriſt; and, v. 14. that by one Oblation he hath perfected for ever, τοὺς ἁγιαζομένους, them that are ſanctified. 2*dly*, From the Phraſe, the Blood of the [New] Covenant; i. e. of that Covenant in which God promiſes to be merciful to our Iniquities, and remember our Sins no more, chap. 8. 12. and 10. 17. 3*dly*, Becauſe tho' Chriſt is ſaid to ſanctifie himſelf, yet is he never ſaid to be ſanctified, but only ἁγιάζειν τὸν λαὸν, to ſanctifie the People by his own Blood, chap. 13. 12. See the Reading juſtified, Examen Millii.

x Ver. 30. Saith the Lord, Λέγει Κύριος.] Theſe words are not to be found in many Manuſcripts; they are not in the Vulgar, Syriac or Æthiopic Verſion; not in the Original, or in the Septuagint; and therefore ſeem to have crept in here from Rom. 12. 19. where inſtead of οἴδαμεν γὰρ τὸν εἰπόντα, we know him that ſpeaketh, we find, γέγραπται γὰρ, for it is written; which Reading Chryſoſtom here hath, and without theſe words the ſenſe runs better.

y Ibid. And again.] Not Pſalm 135. 14. the words there being taken from Deut. 32. 36. but in the ſame Place, or in the following Verſe. So, Chap. 2. 13. I will put my truſt in him, Iſa. 8. 17. Καὶ πάλιν, And again, V. 18. Behold, I, and the Children which God hath given me.

z Ver. 34. Τοῖς δεσμοῖς μου, My Bonds.] Were this certainly the true Reading, it would fairly prove St. Paul the Author of this Epiſtle; but the other Reading, τοῖς δεσμίοις συνεπαθήσατε, you had compaſſion of them that were bound, is more likely to be the true Reading; for ſo reads the Alexandrian, and two other Manuſcripts, the Syriac, the Vulgar Latin, and St. Chryſoſtom.

Ibid. γινώσκοντες ἔχειν ἐν ἑαυτοῖς κρείττονα ὕπαρξιν ἐν οὐρανοῖς, καὶ μένουσαν.] Note that Origen in his Book de Martyrio, omits the Words ἐν ἑαυτοῖς, that (*) Clemens of Alexandria reads ἑαυτοὺς, that ſome read inſtead of it ὑμᾶς, and that all the Ancient Verſions follow this reading; Note alſo, That all the Greek Fathers read ἐν οὐρανοῖς, which two various readings make the Greek run clear and ſmooth. See Examen Millii in locum.

a Ver. 36. Τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν, The Promiſe.] That is primarily the Recompence of Reward, mentioned, v. 35. So, Chap. 11. 39. ἐπαγγελία, the Promiſe is the ſame with the Recompence of Reward, V. 26. the things not ſeen, but hoped for, which are the Objects of our Faith, v. 1. But then this Epiſtle being directed to the Believing Jews, who had both from their Prophets, and from our Lord, a Promiſe, that in the great and terrible Day of the Lord, whoſoever ſhould call upon the Name of the Lord, ſhould be ſaved, Joel 2. 32. and that the εὐαγγελιζόμενοι οὓς Κύριος προσκέκληται, i. e. they, whom the Lord had called by his Goſpel, ſhould be delivered, ibid. That when the Day was to come that burned like an Oven, then was the Sun of Righteouſneſs to riſe on them that feared him, with healing on his Wings, Mal. 4. 1, 2. that he who endured to the end, ſhall be ſaved, Matth. 24. 13. and to whom it was ſaid, Hab. 2. 3, 4. The Viſion is, עוד למועד, yet for a time then, now for a very little time, ὑπόμενον αὐτὸν, with patience wait for him [the Meſſiah, ſay the Jews,] for he that cometh will come, and will not tarry. Wait for him, ſay the (h) Jews, לקבל שכר, to receive your Reward: Chriſt alſo having taught them by a Parable, that God would come, ἐν τάχει, ſpeedily, to avenge his Elect who cried unto him, under Proſecutions, Day and Night, Luke 18. I believe, that the receiving this Promiſe verified to them, which tended ſo exceedingly to confirm their Faith, might be here intended, eſpecially if we conſider that the Apoſtle could not properly affirm of our Lord's coming to Judgment, that it was μικρὸν ὅσον ὅσον, a very very little while, and he would come, and would not tarry.

Ver. 37. Ὁ ἐρχόμενος.] This is the peculiar Title given to the Meſſiah by the Jews, as we learn from the Baptiſt's Queſtion to him, Σὺ εἶ ὁ ἐρχόμενος; Art thou he that ſhould come, or look we for another? Matth. 11. 3. and from the Hoſanna's of the Jews, ſung to him in theſe words, Bleſſed be, ὁ ἐρχόμενος, he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Matth. 21. 9. And the Jews do not only interpret this Paſſage of him, but alſo encourage themſelves to wait for him, by this very Argument of the Apoſtle, לקבל שכר, That they may receive their Reward; for (i) Bleſſed, ſay they, are all that hope in him, Iſa. 30. 18. bb

Ver. 38. Ὑποστείληται, If any Man draw back.] cc The Reverend Dr. Hammond hath ſhewed from Phavorinus, and from Acts 20. 20, 21. Gal. 2. 12. that this word ſignifies to draw back, refuſe, and fly from a thing; and ſo the Object of it being here Faith, muſt ſignifie, his flying from, and drawing back from the Faith, or refuſing ſtill to profeſs it; and ſo, as it follows, muſt be, his drawing back unto Perdition; and becauſe this is done uſually from fear of Perſecutions, hence it is joined with Fear, Gal. 2. 12. Peter, ὑπέστειλεν ἑαυτὸν, withdrew himſelf, fearing the Circumciſion; and ſometimes is put to ſignify Fear; ſo, Deut. 1. 17. μὴ ὑποστείλῃ πρόσωπον ἀνθρώπου, you

ſhall not be afraid of the face of Man ; and becauſe Men's cowardly Fears make them to hide, diſſemble, and play the Hypocrite, hence it is reckoned by (k) Julius Pollux, among the words which ſignify to conceal and hide ; and by Heſychius and Suidas, is rendered, ὑποκρίνεται, δολιεύεται, he plays the Hypocrite, and deals deceitfully; all which, in things which do reſpect our God, and our Religion, are pernicious to the Soul ; eſpecially if we conſider, that he that draws back, ſtands oppoſed, v. 39. to him that believeth, and therefore is an Unbeliever ; and, v. 38. to him that liveth by his Faith, and therefore can have none, or only a dead Faith : And laſtly, that God here ſolemnly declares, his Soul ſhall have no pleaſure in him, and then he muſt ſtill lie under his ſad Diſpleaſure.

Note, 2*dly*, That ἐὰν δὲ ὑποστείληται, refers plainly to the Juſt Man, the Man who lives by his Faith ; and in the Prophet, to him that is with Faith and Patience to wait for the Accompliſhment of the Viſion ; and, v. 39. the ὑποστειλάμενος, the Drawer back, ſtands oppoſed to him that believeth to the Salvation of his Soul. The words do therefore plainly ſuppoſe, that the Juſt Man who liveth by that Faith, in which, if he perſiſted, he would ſave his Soul, may draw back unto Perdition. And this is alſo evident from the enſuing words, My Soul ſhall take no pleaſure in him ; for they do plainly intimate, that God took pleaſure in him before his drawing back ; for otherwiſe this Threat would ſignify nothing, the Lord taking pleaſure in no Man but in Juſt Men only, and ſuch as live by Faith.

Note, 3*dly*, That ἐὰν δὲ may be rendered, not hypothetically, and if, but cum vero ſemet ſubſtraxerit, but when he ſhall draw back ; which I have ſhewn to be the common import of the Greek ἐὰν, Note on Chap. 3. 15. But if we read them hypothetically, the Suppoſition cannot be of a Thing impoſſible ; for then God muſt be ſuppoſed to ſpeak thus, If the Juſt Man do that which I know is impoſſible for him to do, and which I am obliged by promiſe to preſerve him from doing, my Soul ſhall have no pleaſure in him ; which is to make God ſeriouſly to threaten Men for ſuch a Sin, of which they are not capable, and of which they are engaged to believe they are not capable, if they believe the Doctrine of Perſeverance, and ſo to threaten them to none effect.

CHAP. XI.

Verſe 1. NOW [ the ] Faith [ by which the Juſt Man lives, chap. 10. 38.]
a is the [a] Subſtance, [or, the firm Expectation] of things hoped for, the Evidence of things not ſeen, [i. e. by which we are confirmed in the Truth of them.]

2. For by it the Elders, [i. e. the Fathers before and ſince the Flood,] obtained a good Report, [or, Teſtimony from God, left on Record in Holy Scriptures.]

3. Through [that] Faith [which is the Evidence of things not ſeen,] we underſtand that the Worlds, [the lower, middle, and ſuperiour Worlds ;
b See Note on Chap. 1. 2.] were framed [b] by the Word of God, ſo that [the] things [of them] which are ſeen, were not made of things which do [did then] appear, [but] ἐκ τῶν ἀοράτων, of things not then viſible, Gen. 1. 2.]

c 4. By Faith, Abel offered to God [c] a more excellent Sacrifice than [ that of ] Cain, by which [Faith] he obtained witneſs, [i. e. a Teſtimony from God,] that he was Righteous, [or, d accepted by him,] [d] God teſtifying [his acceptance] of his Gifts ; and by it, he being dead, yet ſpeaketh ; [i. e. declareth by his Faith, that God is a Rewarder of the Righteous, though they die.]

5. By [virtue of this] Faith, [that God would reward thoſe that ſerve him, tho' in this World he might not do it,] Enoch was tranſlated, that he ſhould not ſee Death, and [e] was not found e
[on Earth], becauſe God had tranſlated him [from it ;] for before his Tranſlation, he had this Teſtimony [from God, Gen. 5. 22, 24.]
that he pleaſed God.

6. [f] But without [this] Faith, it is impoſſi- f
ble to pleaſe him ; for he that cometh to God [in way of Duty,] muſt believe that he is, and that he is a Rewarder of them that diligently ſeek [to pleaſe] him. To believe that he is, relates to that Faith which is the Evidence of things not ſeen ; for God is inviſible : To believe that he is a Rewarder, to that Faith, which is the Expectation of things hoped for.]

7. By Faith, Noah being warned by God of things not ſeen as yet, [i. e. of a future Deluge,] moved with fear [of what God threatened,] prepared an Ark, to the ſaving of his Houſe [from that Deluge,] by the which he condemned the [Old] World, [which would not believe his Prediction of this Deluge,] and became [g] Heir of g
the Righteouſneſs which is by Faith.

8. By Faith [ in God's Promiſe ] Abraham,

when he was called to go out into a Place which he ſhould after receive for an Inheritance obeyed ; and he went out, not knowing whither he went, [no, not ſo much as what the Land of Promiſe was ; God's firſt Command unto him being only this, Get thee into a Land which I ſhall tell thee of, Gen. 12. 1.]

9. By Faith, [Gen. 12. 7, 13, 15.] he ſojourned in the Land of Promiſe, as in a ſtrange Country, dwelling in Tabernacles with Iſaac and Jacob, the Heirs with him of the ſame Promiſe ; [it being renewed to Iſaac, Gen. 26. 3. and to Jacob, Gen. 28. 13.]

10. [h] For [God having ſaid unto him, I am thy ſhield, and thy Reward ſhall be exceeding great, Gen. 15. 1.] he looked for a City which hath Foundations, [an heavenly one, v. 16. which cannot be ſhaken, Heb. 12. 28.] whoſe Builder and Maker is God ; [it being, not a Building made with Hands, as thoſe on Earth, but, eternal in the Heavens, 2 Cor. 5. 1. Heb. 9. 11.

11. By Faith alſo, Sarah herſelf, [who at firſt believed not, Gen. 18. 12. after that the Lord had renewed the Promiſe to her, ſaying, At the time appointed I will return unto thee, according to the time of Life, and Sarah ſhall have a Son, v. 14.] received ſtrength to conceive Seed, and was delivered of a Child, when ſhe was paſt [the ordinary] Age [of bearing Children,] becauſe ſhe judged Him faithful who had promiſed.

12. Therefore ſprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, [his Body being dead ; and the Womb of Sarah dead, as to the Procreation of Children, Rom. 4. 19.] ſo many as the Stars of the Sky in multitude, and as the Sand which is by the Sea-ſhore innumerable,] according to God's Promiſe, Gen. 15. 5. and 22. 17.]

13. Theſe all [forementiond that died, or all theſe Patriarchs,] died in Faith, not having received the [i] Promiſes, but having ſeen them afar off, and were perſwaded of them, and embraced them [as certain,] and confeſſed that they [themſelves] were [only] Strangers and Pilgrims on the Earth.

14. [I ſay, they died in Faith, or in firm Expectation, not only of theſe Temporal, but of Spiritual and Heavenly Promiſes :] For they that ſay ſuch things, [viz. that they, even in the Land of Promiſe, are Pilgrims and Strangers,] declare plainly, that they ſeek a Country, [where they may reſt, and dwell, when this their Pilgrimage on Earth is ended.]

15. And truly, if they had been [only] mindful of that Country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned [to it, i. e. from Canaan and Egypt, to Ur of the Chaldeans.]

16. But now [by this profeſſing themſelves Strangers and Pilgrims upon Earth, they declare that] they k [k] deſire a better Country, that is, [not one on Earth, where they profeſs they are but Strangers, but] an Heavenly ; wherefore [the] [l] God [of l
Heaven] is not aſhamed to be called their God, and to own them as his Sons, and Children,] for he hath prepared for them a [heavenly] City.

17. By Faith [in God's Power, v. 19.] Abraham, when he was tried, [m] offered up Iſaac, m [laying him upon the Wood, which was on the Altar, Gen. 22. 9.] and he that had received the Promiſes [of a numerous Seed to iſſue from him] offered up his only begotten Son.

18. [Even him] of whom it was ſaid [by God,] That in Iſaac ſhall thy Seed be called.

19. Accounting that God was able to raiſe him up even from the Dead, from whence alſo he received him in a figure, [i. e. from his own dead Body, and the dead Womb of Sarah Rom. 4. 19.]

20. By Faith, [or, a firm Expectation that God would make good his Benediction,] Iſaac [n] bleſſed n
Jacob and Eſau, concerning things to come, [Gen. 27.]

21. By [the like] Faith, Jacob, when he was dying bleſſed both the Sons of Joſeph, [o] and worſhipped [God, leaning] upon the top o
of his ſtaff, [by which he was ſupported from falling.]

22. By Faith, Joſeph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the Children of Iſrael [out of Egypt, ſaying, God will ſurely viſit you, and bring you out of this Land, Gen. 50. 24. and gave commandment concerning his Bones, [that they ſhould be carried with them when they returned to Canaan, v. 25. which was an Evidence of his Faith in the Promiſe of God.]

23. By [the] Faith [of his Parents, that God would ſend them a Deliverer,] Moſes, when he was born, was hid three Months of his Parents, becauſe they ſaw he was [p] a proper p
[Gr. comely] Child, [and therefore hoped he might be that Deliverer God had promiſed,] and [therefore] they were not [ſo] afraid of the King's Commandment, [as to deliver him up to be ſlain.]

24. [q] By Faith, [in God's Promiſe of a De- q
liverance out of Egypt,] Moſes, when he was come to years [of Diſcretion,] refuſed to be called the Son of Pharaoh's Daughter ;

25. Chuſing rather, [by his owning himſelf to be one of them,] to ſuffer Affliction with the People of God, than to enjoy [in Pharaoh's Court] the pleaſure of ſin for a ſeaſon.

26. Eſteeming the [r] reproach of Chriſt r greater Riches than the Treaſures of Egypt ; for he had reſpect unto the [ſ] Recompence of ſ the Reward.

27. By Faith, he forſook Egypt, [t] not t fearing the wrath of the King, [when he purſued after him, Exod. 14. 13.] for he endured, as ſeeing him [preſent with them] who is inviſible ; [and therefore ſaid unto the People, V. 30. Fear ye not, ſtand ſtill, and ſee the Salvation of God, Exod. 14. 14.

28. Through Faith [ in God's Promiſe, That upon ſeeing the Blood of the Paſchal Lamb upon the upper Door-poſts, and the two Side-poſts of the Houſes of the Iſraelites, he would paſs over them, when he ſlew the Firſt-born of the Egyptians, Exod. 12. 13, 23. ] he kept the Paſſover and [ obſerved ] the ſprinkling of [ the ] Blood [of it ; and this he did,] leſt he that deſtroyed the Firſt-born, [ See Note on 1 Cor. 10. 10. ] ſhould touch them.

u 29. By Faith they paſſed [u] through the Red-Sea, as by dry Land ; which the Egyptians eſſaying to do, were drowned.

30. By Faith [ in God's Promiſe, Joſh. 6. 5. ] the Walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compaſſed about ſeven days.

x 31. [x] By Faith, the Harlot Rahab periſhed not with them that believed not ; [which Faith ſhe teſtified, ] when ſhe had received the Spies with Peace.

32. And what ſhall I more ſay ? for the time would fail me, ſhould I [ proceed ] to tell of Gideon, [who, through Faith overthrew the Midianites, Judges 7. ] and of Barak, [ who ſlew the Canaanites, Judges 4.] and of Samſon, [who vexed the Philiſtines ; ] and of Jephtha, [who ſlew the Ammonites, Judges 11. and] of David alſo and Samuel, and of the Prophets ;

33. Who, through Faith, ſubdued Kingdoms, [as Joſhua and David did ;] wrought Righteouſneſs, [as Abraham, Gen. 15. 6. Phinehas, Pſal. 106. 30. or turned the People from Idolatry, into the way of Righteouſneſs, as Samuel, 1 Sam. 12. Elijah, 1 Kings 18. 39.] obtained Promiſes, [as Abraham, and David ;] ſtopped the mouths of Lions, [as Daniel.]

34. Quenched the violence of Fire, [as the three children, Dan. 3. 17.] eſcaped the edge of the ſword, [as David the ſword of Goliah, 1 Sam. 17. 46, 47. and of Saul ; the Jews, the Sword of Haman, Eſt. 4. 14. ## Annotations on Chap. XI.

a Verſe 1. ʽΥπόστασις τῶν ἐλπιζομένων.] The word ὑπόστασις in the Old Teſtament, anſwers either to the Hebrew תקוה, which ſignifies Expectation, as Ruth 1. 12. Ἔστι μοι ὑπόστασις; Have I any Expectation of an Husband? Ezek. 19. 5. ἀπώλετο ὑπόστασις αὐτῆς, her Expectation was loſt: or to the word תוחלת, which is of the ſame import, as Pſal. 39. 7. Ἡ ὑπόστασίς μου παρὰ σοί ἐστι, My Expectation is from thee, Pſal. 89. 47. It alſo bears the ſame ſenſe in the New Teſtament, ſignifying there a confidence of Expectation, as 2 Cor. 9. 4. leſt we ſhould be aſhamed, ἐν τῇ ὑποστάσει ταύτῃ τῆς καυχήσεως, in this confidence of boaſting: And, Chap. 11. 17. That which I ſpeak, I ſpeak not after the Lord, but as it were fooliſhly, ἐν τῇ ὑποστάσει ταύτῃ τῆς καυχήσεως, in this confidence of boaſting: And in this Epiſtle, chap. 3. 14. we are made Partakers of Chriſt, if we hold, τὴν ἀρχὴν τῆς ὑποστάσεως, the beginning of our confidence firm to the end. And this import of the word accords beſt with the Inſtances of this Faith that follow, they being ſuch as generally conſiſted in the Expectation of ſome future Good, which, ſaith the Apoſtle, they have not yet received completely, v. 39. Hence it is that I render the words thus, Faith is the Confidence, or firm Expectation, of things hoped for.

b Ver. 3. Ῥήματι Θεοῦ, By the word of God: ] That is, as the comparing this with Chap. 1. 3. ſhews, by the Word of the Divine Λόγος. So Philo, ſpeaking of the Framing of the Heaven and Earth, ſaith, Τῷ γὰρ περιφανεστάτῳ καὶ τηλαυγεστάτῳ ἑαυτοῦ λόγῳ, ῥήματι ὁ Θεὸς ἀμφότερα ποιεῖ, God made them both by his illuſtrious and ſplendid Logos, with a Word, Leg. Alleg. l. 1. p. 33. G. And of Moſes he ſaith, That dying, he did not, ἐκλείπειν, ceaſe to be, nor was he gathered to the moſt, as others, ἀλλὰ διὰ ῥήματος τοῦ αἰτίου μετανίσταται, δι' οὗ καὶ ὁ σύμπας κόσμος ἐδημιουργεῖτο, but he was tranſlated by the Word, or Command of that Cauſe, by which the whole World was made, L. de Sacrif. Abel. & Cain, p. 102. C. Now whether this ῥῆμα, be the Word of the Father ſpeaking to the Son, or Logos, or the Word of the λόγος, ſaying, let them be made, and they were made, it is hence evident, that this Logos muſt be a Perſon, and not an Attribute. See the Note on Heb. 1. 3.

c Ver. 4. Πλείονα θυσίαν, A more excellent Sacrifice.] Philo, in his Diſcourſe on this Subject, De Sacr. Cain & Abel. p. 107. makes the Defect of Cain's Sacrifice to conſiſt in two things: 1*ſt,* That he did not offer it ſoon enough, but, μεθ' ἡμέρας, after certain Days. 2*dly,* That he did not offer of the Firſt-fruits of the Earth, as did Abel of the Firſt-fruits of his Sheep, but only of the Fruits; but there is no ground for either of theſe things in the Text, which ſeems to intimate, that they both Offered at the ſame time; nor doth it ſay, that Cain Offered not of the Firſt-fruits of the Earth. The Apoſtle here plainly diſcovers, that the thing which gave the preference to Abel's Sacrifice above that of Cain's, was his Faith, viz. that Faith which is the Subſtance of things hoped for, or his Expectation, or Perſuaſion, that God would certainly reward thoſe who diligently endeavour to pleaſe him in this or in the other World. Accordingly the Targum of Jeruſalem, and Jonathan B. Uziel upon the Place, declare, That Cain denied, that there would be any Future Judgment or Rewards hereafter to the Juſt; and that Abel did maintain the contrary, That there ſhould be a Future Recompence for the Righteous: And this he, being dead, yet preaches by his Faith; for this Faith, which God ſo ſignally approved of, and confirmed with ſo great a Teſtimony, he will not ſuffer to go unrewarded, as he muſt do in one ſo quickly ſlain, becauſe God thus preferred his Sacrifice before his Brother's, if he did not reward him in the other World. And therefore Philo ſays, that ſeeming to die, as to this corruptible Life, ζῇ τὴν ἄφθαρτον, καὶ τὴν ἐπὶ Θεῷ ζωὴν εὐδαίμονα, he lived the incorruptible and bleſſed Life in God, l. quod Deter. &c. p. 127. C. D. To ſay, as do the Fathers, He yet ſpeaketh, becauſe he is ſtill celebrated in the World, is to ſay nothing proper to Abel, that being alſo true of all the other Patriarchs; and to refer this to the Cry of his Blood for Vengeance, is to refer to that which ſeemeth not to be the Commendation of his Faith, by which the Apoſtle here declares he ſpeaketh.

Ibid. Μαρτυροῦντος, God teſtified upon his Gifts.] d That is, ſaith Theodotion, ἐνέπρησε, he cauſed Fire to deſcend from Heaven and conſume his Sacrifice, and thereby teſtified his acceptance of it: So he diſcovered his Acceptance of the Sacrifice of Abraham, Gen. 15. 17. and of the Sacrifices of Aaron, Lev. 9. 24. of Gideon, Judges 6. 21. of David, 1 Chron. 21. 26. of Solomon, 2 Chron. 7. 1. and of Elijah, 1 Kings 18. 38. And accordingly the Prayer of the Iſraelites for their King runs thus, The Lord remember all thy Offerings, and turn to Aſhes thy Burnt-Sacrifice, Pſalm 20. 3. To this agrees the interpretation of R. Solomon and Aben Ezra, among the Jews; of OEcumenius and Theophylact, on the e Ver. 5. Οὐκ εὑρίσκετο, Was not found on Earth; becauſe God had tranſlated him.] God killed him not, ſaith Onkelos: And this we may ſufficiently learn from the Story, Gen. 5. for of all the reſt mentioned in that Chapter, it is ſaid, they died; but of him this is not ſaid, but only that he was not, becauſe God took him, ὅτι μετέθηκεν αὐτὸν ὁ Θεὸς, becauſe God tranſlated him, ſaith the Septuagint, the Book of Wiſdom, and the Son of Syrach, Wiſd. 4. 10. Ecclus. 14. 44. Moreover it is ſaid of Noah, and of Abraham, that they walked with God, Gen. 6. 9. 17. 1. but it is not ſaid that they were not, becauſe God took them; this Phraſe muſt therefore import ſomething which happened not to them: Many of the Hebrew Doctors ſay, that he was taken into Heaven, or into Paradiſe; He was taken into Heaven by the Word of the Lord, ſaith the Targum of Jonathan; He was tranſlated into Paradiſe, ſay the Arabick and Æthiopick Verſions: God ſhew'd him the Tree of Life, ſay R. Menechem and Zoar, in 2 Kings 2. 1. He tranſlaed him into Paradiſe, ſay Kimchi and (b) Menaſſeh Ben Iſrael. Hence Munſter on the Place ſpeaks thus, Aſſerunt noſtri hunc Enoch cum corpore & anima tranſlatum eſſe in Paradiſum. To be tranſlated, ſaith (c) Philo, is μετοικίαν στέλλεσθαι τὴν ἀπὸ θνητοῦ βίου πρὸς τὸν ἀθάνατον, to go from this mortal to immortal Life. The ſame was the Opinion of the Ancient Fathers, of (d) Irenæus, and of (e) Pſeudo-Juſtin, who ſaith, That they who roſe with Chriſt are with Enoch and Elias, ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ, in Paradiſe. See others cited for this Opinion by Feuardentius upon Irenæus. Note, laſtly, that this Tranſlation into Paradiſe was the Fruit of his Faith, that Faith which was the Expectation of things hoped for, and that God would reward his Diligence in ſeeking him; for ſince he by this Faith obtained this Teſtimony, that he pleaſed God, God could not take him hence in Diſpleaſure, but out of Favour to him.

f Ver. 6. In this ſixth Verſe we have the Heathens Creed, That God is, and that he is the Rewarder of them that diligently ſeek him; without which the Apoſtle declares, 1*ſt*, That it was impoſſible for them to pleaſe God, and ſo God muſt either have laid upon them no Obligations to pleaſe him, or required what he knew to be impoſſible, or given them ſufficient means to know this. 2*dly*, That they could have no ſufficient Motives to ſerve him, or to come unto him in expectation of his Bleſſing upon them that did ſo, and therefore the Heathens embraced this as a Principle of Natural Religion, That God could not ſuffer it to go ill with good Men, either in Life or Death, but would be ſure to take care of, and provide good things for them. Thus (f) Socrates requeſts his Judges to receive this as a certain Truth, That a good Man living or dying, can be ſubject to no evil, becauſe the Gods never neglect his Affairs; and this is commended by (g) Cicero, and by (h) Iamblichus, as the great Principle which Philoſophy ſuggeſts, as an Encouragement to Virtue. That if we believe that nothing is concealed from God, we muſt believe that which happens to the Friend of God, happens for the beſt; and that what ſeeming Evils happen to him, will do him good, in this, or in the other Life. For he can never be neglected by the Gods, who is deſirous to be a vertuous and good Man, and as like to God as he is able; but περὶ τοῦ ἀδίκου τἀναντία τούτων δεῖ διανοεῖσθαι, of the wicked and unjuſt Man we are to believe juſt the contrary. And this again (i) Iamblichus delivers as a great Principle of Philoſophy, That 'if we believe 'there is a God, who is Lord of all things, 'we muſt own, that whatſoever is good and 'honeſt muſt be asked of him, for all Men 'give good things to them they love and re'joyce in, and the contrary to them to whom 'they are diſaffected, and therefore much more 'will the Gods do ſo.' Another Principle alſo founded in the Nature of Man, and laid down by them as the foundation of all Religion, was this, That if Piety were not advantageous to them, no Man would embrace it, it being natural to all Men to purſue their Advantage, and to decline the contrary. So (k) Arrian upon Epictetus, lays down this for an Axiom, That 'if Piety and Profit did not go together, 'Piety would be preſerved in none; the rea'ſon is, becauſe nothing is ſo natural to us as 'to affect and purſue our own Advantage, ſo 'that if you place what is holy and juſt in that 'which profits, you preſerve them; but (l) 'if you ſeparate what is honeſt from what is 'advantageous, you deſtroy what is juſt and 'honeſt, as being weighed down by profit.'

(m) Simplicius adds, That ‘where is Profit ‘there we place our Piety;’ and thence infers, That ‘we cannot love, honour, and worſhip the Deity, whatſoever Reaſons may be ‘alledged for ſo doing, if we conceive him ‘hurtful, and not profitable to us, becauſe every living Creature flies what is hurtful, ‘and the Cauſes of it, and affects and follows what is profitable:’ And this they learned from their Maſter (n) Epictetus, who lays the foundation of all Religion upon this Principle, That where Profit is there is Piety: And he, perhaps, from Plato, who lays it down for an Axiom, that τὸ μὲν ὠφέλιμον καλὸν, τὸ δὲ βλαβερὸν αἰσχρὸν, what was good was profitable, what evil hurtful.

g Ver. 7. Κληρονόμος, &c. Heir of the Righteouſneſs;] I.e. of the Happineſs promiſed to them who are juſtified by Faith, or to Perſons who by Faith had an Hereditary Right to it, viz. not only to the temporal Salvation the Ark afforded, but to that ſpiritual and celeſtial, which the Ark typify'd, 1 Pet. 3. 21. For being juſtify'd through Faith, we are made heirs through hope of eternal Life, Tit. 3. 7. Heirs of Salvation, Heb. 1. 14. Heirs of the Kingdom. Jam. 2. 5. See Note on Gal. 3. 29. and on Heb. 1. 14.

h Ver. 10. Thy exceeding great Reward.] Thus the Jeruſalem Targum and that of Jonathan interpret this Phraſe, Fear not, the Reward of thy Works ſhall be great in the World to come. So ought we, ſaith Theophylact, to look to things above, and make no great account of thoſe on Earth.

Ver. 12. Καὶ ταῦτα.] Some Manuſcripts read τοῦτο, but all the Greek Scholiaſts read καὶ ταῦτα, being according to the Cuſtom of the Greek Language uſed by Way of Amplification, and ſignifying idque, is well rendered by our Tranſlation, And that.

i Ver. 13. Τὰς ἐπαγγελίας, The Promiſes.] Here note, That theſe words καὶ πεισθέντες, and were perſwaded, are neither to be found in the ancient Verſion, nor the Greek Commentators. 2. That the Promiſes here mentioned as not received by theſe Patriarchs, cannot be temporal Promiſes; for οὗτοι πάντες, all theſe, as it cannot be referred to the whole Jewiſh Offſpring, ſince many of 'em, as the Apoſtle has obſerv'd, Chap. 3. 18, 19. Chap. 4. 2, 6, 11. died in unbelief; ſo neither to Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob only; for 1*ſt*, They are not all that died in Faith; and, 2*dly*, The ſame is ſaid of all in general, v. 39. οὗτοι πάντες, theſe all died in Faith, not having received the Promiſe. Now we find no temporal Promiſe made to Abel, and to Enoch, and that temporal Promiſe which God made to Noah, he fulfilled. 2. The Text ſaith, They embraced them, confeſſing they were Strangers and Pilgrims upon Earth; whence the Apoſtle makes this Inference, That they ſought another Country, that is, an heavenly; which makes it neceſſary to conceive that the Promiſes here mentioned, as not received, were, as OEcumenius ſaith, τὰ οὐράνια, Heavenly Promiſes, τὰ περὶ τῆς βασιλείας τῶν οὐρανῶν, καὶ τῆς ἀναστάσεως the Promiſe of the Kingdom of Heaven and the Reſurrection, ſaith Theophylact. Thus (o) Philo ſaith, οἱ κατὰ Μωυσῆν σοφοὶ πάντες εἰσάγονται παροικοῦντες, all the wiſe Men are introduced by Moſes as Strangers, their Souls coming from Heaven to travel here on Earth, and that they deſire to return thither; πατρίδα μὲν τὸν οὐράνιον ἐν ᾧ πολιτεύονται, ξένον δὲ τὸν περίγειον ἐν ᾧ παρῴκησαν νομίζουσαι, looking upon Heaven as the City where they dwell, and the Earth in which they travel, as their Place of Pilgrimage. And again, Πᾶσα μὲν ψυχὴ σοφοῦ πατρίδα μὲν οὐρανόν, γῆν δὲ ξένην ἔλαχε, the Soul of every wiſe Man looks on Heaven as his Country, the Earth as the Place of his Pilgrimage, De Agric. p. 153. So did Abraham, ſaying, I am a Stranger and a Sojourner with you, Gen. 23. 4. And Jacob calling the time he lived here, the years of his Pilgrimage, Gen. 47. 9. So David, ſaying, I am a Stranger with thee, and a Sojourner as all my Fathers were, Pſalm 39. 12. The ſame he ſpeaks of the whole Jewiſh Nation, ſaying, 1 Chron. 29. 15. We are Strangers before thee, and Sojourners, as were all our Fathers. And this he learned out of the Law, where God ſpeaks thus to them, Lev. 25. 23. The Land is mine, for ye are Strangers and Sojourners with me, ἐναντίον μου, ſaith the Septuagint. Accordingly the Philoſophers taught, that to die was to go into our Country, πρὸς τὴν πατρίδα τὴν ἀληθινὴν ὅθεν ἤλθομεν, to the true Country whence we came, Simpl. in Epict. p. 77.

Ver. 16. Κρείττονος ὀρέγονται, They deſire a k better Country.] The Ancient Jews declare, That the Earthly Canaan was a Type of the Spiritual Canaan, and the Promiſe of living in it for ever, was a Parable repreſenting their future Happineſs in the World to come. (p) It is written, all Iſraelites have their Portion in the world to come, as it is ſaid, And thy People ſhall be all juſt, they ſhall inherit the Land for ever, Iſa. 60. 21. This Land, ſaith (q) Maimonides, is a Parable, as if he ſhould ſay, the Land of the Living; and that is the world to come. And R. Menachen in Gen. 12. refers it to the Land which is above, watered with Waters which are above. If they received this Parabolical Interpretation from the Patriarchs, here is the reaſon of their Faith, and Expectation of this better Country. Vain here is the Interpretation of Mr. le Clerc, both upon the 10*th* and 16*th* Verſe; for 1*ſt*, A City which has foundations, is, ſaith he, Jeruſalem; whereas in Abraham's Time there was no ſuch City that he could expect; nor was that a City which could not be ſhaken, Heb. 12. 28. it having been long ſince deſtroyed: Nor was it a City, whoſe Builder and Maker was God, but Man. Again he expected a better Country, that is an Heavenly, i. e. the Land of Canaan, which was an Anti-type of Heaven; ſo Mr. le Clerc in flat contradiction to the Apoſtle ſaying, the Country they expected was not that from whence they came out, v. 14, 15. i. e. was not Canaan, but an heavenly Country; and he adds, God had provided for them a City, not Jeruſalem ſure, but an heavenly City.

l Ibid. οὐκ ἐπαισχύνεται, God is not aſhamed to be called their God; ] I. e. The God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob. To be their God, and their Father is the ſame thing. Thus, Jer. 31. 1. I will be the God of all the Families of Iſrael, v. 9. is thus varied, I am a Father to Iſrael. I will be their God, and they ſhall be my People, 2 Cor. 6. 16. is v. 18. I will be a Father to you, and you ſhall be my Sons and my Daughters. To be ſons of God is to be Heirs of God, Rom. 8. 17. to be Sons of the Reſurrection, Luke 20. 36. to inherit all things, Apoc. 20. 7. And the υἱοθεσία, or Adoption promiſed by God, is the Redemption of the Body from Corruption. See Note on Matth. 22. 31, 32. and on Rom. 18. 17, 23. and this is the Reaſon why God, taking upon himſelf the Title of their God and Father, anſwers this Title, by preparing for them a City.

m Ver. 17. Προσενήνοχεν, He offered up Iſaac. ] So ſpeaks the new Teſtament twice, here, and James 2. 21. So the Jews conſtantly, (r) Philo informs us, that though the Fact was not perfected, yet it was preſerved in the Minds of the Readers, and mentioned in the ſacred Volumes as a thing entire, and abſolutely done. And to this day they pray, * That God would be gracious to them for the Merit of the Sacrifice of Iſaac, according to the Prayer which both the Targum of Jeruſalem, and Jonathan mention on Gen. 22. 14. as made by Abraham; to this effect, viz. I beſeech thee, O God, by thy Mercies, that when the Sons of Iſaac ſhall offer to thee in the time of their neceſſity, thou wilt be mindful of this binding of Iſaac. Hence have they framed this Story, (ſ) That when the Knife touched the Throat of Iſaac, his Soul departed, and that when God ſaid, Lay not thy hand upon the Lad, it returned, and ſo he being dead, revived. And truly Abraham, having done all that belonged to him to do towards this Offering his Son, and being fully reſolved to have gone through the Work, had not God's Call reſtrained him, may well be ſaid, in the Divine Conſtruction, to have actually done it; and to this ſome refer Abraham's receiving Iſaac from the Dead in a Figure, he being thus ſnatched from the Jaws of Death, and reſtored to him when he expected nothing but his Death.

Ver. 20. Εὐλόγησε τὸν Ἰακώβ, Bleſſed Jacob. ] It may be enquired how he could bleſs Jacob by Faith, when he knew not that it was Jacob? To this I anſwer, That to the bleſſing him by Faith, it was not neceſſary he ſhould know him to be the Perſon he intended thus to bleſs, but only that he ſhould feel the Divine Afflatus, or the Spirit of Prophecy upon him when he bleſſed him; that being ſufficient to confirm him, that his Benediction ſhould be eſtabliſhed by that God before whom he bleſſed him, and who guided his Lips and his Heart in it: And though we have tranſlated it as a Prayer, it moſtly runs in the Future Tenſe, and may wholly be tranſlated as a Prophecy, and ſo it muſt be uttered in Faith. And whereas it is objected farther, that Iſaac thought he was bleſſing Eſau; now ſo to bleſs him as to make him Lord over his Brother, v. 29. could not be ſpoken in Faith, becauſe the Oracle had before declared to Rebecca, that the Elder ſhould ſerve the Younger: I anſwer 1*ſt*, That this rather is an Argument againſt the Truth of his Benediction, than the Faith of it; it rather proves that Iſaac ſhould not thus have bleſſed Eſau, than that he believed not what he ſaid: But indeed it proves neither, for Iſaac might feel ſuch a ſtrong Afflatus upon him, as might convince him that his Benediction derived from the gift of Prophecy, and ſo would certainly be accompliſhed, whomſoever it concerned. 2*dly*, The Learned Biſhop of Ely on v. 4. anſwers, That either Rebekah had not acquainted Iſaac with the Oracle, or it ſeems he did not underſtand it as Rebekah did.

Ver. 21. Καὶ προσεκύνησεν, And worſhipped ] God, for the aſſurance he had of being buried in the Land of Promiſe, which he deſired out of Faith in the Promiſe God had made to him, Gen. 28. 13.

Ver. 23. Ἀστεῖος, A comely Child. ] He was, ſaith St. Stephen, ἀστεῖος τῷ Θεῷ, of a very excellent Beauty, Acts 7. 20. μορφῇ θεῖος, of a

Divine Form, ſaith (t) Joſephus; of an Angelical Form ſay the (u) Jews. He was, ſaith Juſtin, one, quem formæ pulchritudo commendabat, renowned for his Beauty. (x) Joſephus alſo adds, that an Egyptian Scribe, to whoſe Predictions they gave great Credit, had foretold one ſhould be born of Iſrael, who if he came to Age, ſhould grievouſly afflict the Egyptians, and bring out the Iſraelites from among them; and that God had by a Viſion declared to Amram, that this Child to be born to him, ſhould deliver the Iſraelites out of Egypt; which if true, gives a farther ground of their Faith.

Ver. 24. Joſephus informs us, that when Pharoah had put the Crown upon his Head, adopting him as the Son of his Daughter, to be his Succeſſor, he let the Crown fall to the Ground, and ſtamped upon it with his Feet. But the words μέγας γενόμενος being the very words uſed, Exod. 2. 11. where it is ſaid, It came to paſs that when Moſes was grown, he went out unto his Brethren; the Apoſtle doubtleſs had relation to them, and interpreted his going out unto them, to be his owning himſelf to be one of them: It came into his heart, ſaith Stephen, to viſit his Brethren, Acts 7. 23. i. e. to join himſelf to the afflicted Jews.

r Ver. 26. Τὸν ὀνειδισμὸν, The Reproach of Chriſt.] The Seed of Abraham, even before they went down to Egypt, are ſtiled the Chriſts of God, Pſalm 105. 15. μὴ ἅψησθε τῶν χριστῶν μου, touch not my Chriſts. And the Prophet Habakkuck ſpeaking of God's Judgments upon Pharoah, and God's Deliverance of them from him, ſaith, ἐξῆλθες εἰς σωτηρίαν λαοῦ σου τοῦ σῶσαι τὸν χριστόν σου, thou wenteſt forth for the Salvation of thy People, to preſerve thy Chriſt, Hab. 3. 13. So that the Reproach of Chriſt may be the Reproach of the People of God, v. 15. Moreover, the Reproach which he and they ſuffered, was for their Faith in the promiſed Seed, and that was Chriſt, Gal. 3. 16. on which account it might be truly ſtiled the Reproach of Chriſt, as the Afflictions of the Apoſtle are ſtiled the Afflictions of Chriſt, Col. 1. 24. and he himſelf the Priſoner of Chriſt, Eph. 3. 1. as being the Reproach he ſuffered for his Faith in the Promiſed Seed, which was Chriſt.

Ibid. Photius here ſaith, the Reproach of Moſes may be called the Reproach of Chriſt, as being ſuch as Chriſt ſuffer'd, οἷος ὁ Χριστὸς ἔπαθε, in which Senſe we are bid to go forth to him without the Camp bearing his reproach, Chap. 13. 13. Betwixt this, and the following Verſe ſome Latin Copies inſert theſe Words, fide magnus factus Moſes occidit Ægyptium conſiderans dolorem ſuorum, which Dr. Mills thinks genuine, tho' they are neither own'd by any of the Verſions, nor any of the Greek Commentators.

Ibid. Εἰς τὴν μισθαποδοσίαν. The Recompence of Reward] Here mentioned, could not be Temporal, for Moſes came not into the Land of Canaan, nor could he expect any greater Bleſſing in that kind, than he might have had in Egypt. He therefore muſt have reſpect to ſome Spiritual and Heavenly Recompence.

Ver. 27. Μὴ φοβηθεὶς, Not fearing.] It is expreſly ſaid, that Moſes, when he fled from the Face of Pharoah, feared, Exod. 2. 14. and it is farther evident from theſe words of God to him, Go, return into Egypt, for all the Men are dead that ſought thy life, Chap. 4. 19. And therefore they who refer this to that flight, ſay, He did not fear his Wrath, ſo as to diſtruſt the Providence of God in working a Deliverance to his People by his hand: But his unwillingneſs when God commanded him to go back to Egypt, confutes this Gloſs. Others ſay, he feared not the Wrath of the King, when he ſaid unto him, Take heed to thy ſelf, ſee my face no more, for in that day thou ſeeſt my face, thou ſhalt die, Exod. 10. 28. But then he had not forſook Egypt, and when he went from it, he did ſo by the Command of Pharaoh, Exod. 12. 31. and ſo needed not to fear him. Againſt the Expoſition given in the Paraphraſe, it is objected, that it agrees not with the order of the words, becauſe the Paſſover mentioned, v. 28. was kept in Egypt. But this Objection will be of little force, if we conſider, that other things are mentioned in this Chapter out of the order in which they were performed: Thus, v. 32. Gideon is mentioned before Barak, and Samſon before Jephtha, as alſo, v. 33, 34, 35, 36. t

Ver. 29. Through the Red Sea.] That this they truly did, ſee Note on 1 Cor. 10. 1. u

Ver. 31. She teſtified her Faith, not only by preſerving thus the Spies, but by ſaying to them, I know that the Lord hath given you this Land, Joſh. 2. 9. and again, The Lord your God he is God in Heaven above, and on Earth beneath, V. 11. x

Ver. 37. Ἐπειράσθησαν.] That this is not the right Reading, may eaſily be gathered from this one Conſideration, that after two ſuch great Puniſhments, as ſtoning, and being ſawn aſunder, it is very improper to introduce their being tempted, which ſignifies no certain kind of Puniſhment at all, and is included in all the other Puniſhments, here mentioned. Some therefore read ἐπυράσθησαν, ſome ἐπυρώσθησαν, ſome ἐπρήσθησαν, all ſignifying they were burnt; which Reading agrees well with the Story of the Maccabees, where they bring Eleazar and the Young Men ἐπὶ τὸ πῦρ καταφλέγοντες αὐτοὺς, to the Fire, and burnt their Fleſh; ſo that Joſephus (from c. 6. to c. 12.) ſaith they were ὡς ἐπὶ πυρὶ μετασχηματιζόμενοι εἰς ἀφθαρσίαν, as one might ſay, tranſlated in the Fire to Incorruption. But yet I prefer the Opinion of thoſe who think this was an Error ariſing ἐκ διττογραφίας, from writing the ſame y word twice, or rather that ſome who knew not what ἐπρίσθησαν meant, writ for it ἐπειράσθησαν, and ſo in time they came to be both written, becauſe the Syriack hath not ἐπειράσθησαν. (y) Euſebius cites St. Paul's words, thus ἐλιθάσθησαν, ἐπρίσθησαν, ἐν φόνῳ μαχαίρας ἀπέθανον. (z) Tertullian paraphraſes them thus, Hieremias lapidatur, Eſaias ſecatur, Zacharias inter altare & ædem trucidatur. (a) Clemens of Alexandria reads thus, ἐλιθάσθησαν, ἐπειράσθησαν, ἐν φόνῳ, &c. which gives juſt ground to conjecture that ſome ignorant Writer put ἐπειράσθησαν for ἐπρίσθησαν. This Fault is very viſible in the Tranſcriber of (b) Origen, for in his fourth Homily on Jeremy, we read in the Greek ἐπρίσθησαν, ἐπειράσθησαν, but in the Old Tranſlation there is only ſecti, occaſione gladii occubuerunt. And in the 15th (c) Homily ἄλλον ἐλιθαβόλησαν, ἄλλον ἐπρίσθησαν, ἄλλον ἐπέκτειναν, which ſhews that Origen did not own the word ἐπειράσθησαν: And though we find the word again in his (d) Homilies on St. Matthew, yet whoſoever reads the place will find that Origen takes no notice of it, but proceeds immediately from ἐπρίσθησαν to ἐν φόνῳ μαχαίρας ἀπέθανον, ſaying, the word ἐπρίσθησαν, refers to Iſaias, and the words ἐν φόνῳ μαχαίρας ἀπέθανον, to Zacharias, In the Fourth Dialogue againſt Marcion, p. 125. he proves that the Prophets were not Phantoms, but Men, conſiſting of Fleſh and Blood, becauſe ὁ μὲν ἐπρίσθη σαρκὶ, ὁ δὲ ἐλιθάσθη, καὶ οἱ λοιποὶ ἐν φόνῳ μαχαίρας ἀπέθανον, one of them was ſawn aſunder, another was ſtoned, and the reſt were killed by the ſword: And in his Exhortation to Martyrdom, p. 232. he adds, The Writer of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews ſaith, ἐλιθάσθησαν, ἐπρίσθησαν, ἐν φόνῳ μαχαίρας ἀπέθανον, they were ſtoned, they were ſawn aſunder, they were ſlain with the Sword; from all which Places it is evident, that ἐπρίσθησαν was the Reading followed by the Antients.

z Ver. 39. Οὐκ ἐκομίσαντο τὴν ἐπαγγελίαν, or as ſome Copies read, τὰς ἐπαγγελίας, received not the Promiſes. ] Theſe words being the ſame with thoſe in v. 13. of this Chapter, all theſe died in Faith, μὴ λάβοντες ἐπαγγελίας, not having received the Promiſes; it is reaſonable to interpret them to the ſame ſenſe, viz. of their not having received the heavenly Kingdom, and bleſſed Reſurrection they expected. And ſo the whole current of this Epiſtle will force us to interpret them; for 'tis the Promiſe of entering into Reſt after we have ceaſed from our Labour here on Earth, Chap. 4. 1, 10. the Promiſe of an eternal Inheritance, Chap. 9. 15. The Promiſe we are to receive after we have patiently done the Will of God, Chap. 10. 36.

Ver. 40. Κρεῖττόν τι περὶ ἡμῶν, Some better thing concerning us.] viz. Our hope of entering into the Vail, by reaſon of our Fore-runner entering in thither firſt, Chap. 6. 19, 20. We having an High-Prieſt higher than the Heavens, Chap. 7. 26. ſet on the Throne of Majeſty in the Heavens, Chap. 8. 1. who by his Death hath procured, that they which are called might receive the Promiſe of an eternal Inheritance, Chap. 9. 15. and who hath by his Entrance into this Holy Place with his Blood, purified and prepared theſe Holy Places for us, V. 23, 24. the way into which was not opened before, V. 8. and given us freedom of Entrance into the Holieſt through the Blood of Jeſus, by this new way which he hath conſecrated through his Fleſh, Chap. 10. 20. we being therefore come to Mount Sion, the City of the Living God, to the heavenly Jeruſalem, and to the Spirits of juſt Men made perfect, Chap. 12. 22. aa

Ibid. Ἵνα μὴ χωρὶς ἡμῶν τελειωθῶσι, That they without us may not be made perfect.] This all the Fathers interpret of their receiving their Crowns or their rewards hereafter. Thus of Abel and Noah, St. Chryſoſtom ſaith, That they might not be Crowned before us ἕνα ὥρισε πᾶσι τῶν στεφάνων καιρὸν, God hath appointed one time of Coronation for them all. Οὐδέπω τῶν στεφάνων ἐπήλαυσαν, they have not yet obtained their Crowns, ſaith Theodoret, God expecting ſtill thoſe that are to combat, that he may proclaim them Victors all together. (e) Origen having cited this place, ſaith thus; You ſee that Abraham yet expects to obtain perfection, yea Iſaac and Jacob, and all the Prophets expect us, that with us they may obtain perfect Bliſs. Yea he ſays the ſame, not only of all the Saints of the New Teſtament, but even of the bleſſed Apoſtles, ſaying, (f) Even the Apoſtles have not received their Joy, but wait that I might be partaker with them; nor do the Saints departed obtain the full reward of their good Actions. Nor did the Primitive Fathers mean this only of their Bodies, but alſo of their Souls, which they conceived not to be exalted to the higheſt heavens; ſaying that they had not yet received their full reward, yea that they were not to expect it till the Day of Judgment. See Note on 2 Tim. 4. 8. and therefore I cannot but wonder to hear a very Learned Perſon in his Note on this Place ſaying, It will be acknowledg'd by all, that then, i. e. at our Saviour's Reſurrection, the Patriarchs received this Promiſe, or that the Sufferers bb

here mentioned then received it; eſpecially when the Apoſtle here ſaith, They were tortured, not accepting a Deliverance, that they might obtain a better reſurrection, which ſure they have not yet obtained: And I more admire that this ſhould by him be interpreted of deliverance from their Perſecutors, and Reſt from Perſecutions, For is this Promiſe fulfilled to Chriſtians? to them who, if they will live godly, muſt ſuffer Perſecutions? And through many Tribulations enter into the Kingdom of God? And do they who were thus tortur'd find this Perfection with us? Or had they any other Reſt or Freedom from them, than what Death gave them? Surely the Expoſition of all the Ancient Fathers is much to be preferred before this new and ſingular Invention; as alſo before the new Doctrine of the Florentine Council, That the Souls of Saints departed do already behold the face of God in Heaven.

CHAP. XII.

Verſe 1. WHerefore ſeeing we alſo are compaſſed about with ſo
a great a [a] Cloud [i. e. a Multitude] of Witneſſes, let us, [who are to run our Chriſtian Race,] lay aſide every weight, [of worldly Cares and Affections,]
b and the [b] Sin which doth ſo eaſily beſet [and circumvent] us, [and ſo hinders our Feet from making a due Progreſs in it,] and let us run with Patience the Race that is ſet before us.

2. [c] Looking unto Jeſus, [who by his Prophetick Office was] the Author and [by his Regal Office will be the] Finiſher of our Faith;
d who for the [d] Joy that was ſet before him,
[as the Reward of his Sufferings,] endured the Croſs, deſpiſing the Shame [of it,] and [therefore] is ſet down at the Right hand of the Throne of God.

3. For conſider him, who [being ſo excellent a Perſon, and ſo dear to God, yet] endured [patiently] ſuch contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf, [ſuch blaſphemies againſt his Doctrine, ſuch Calumnies againſt his Perſon, ſuch mali-e cious and unwearied Attempts againſt his Life,] [e] leſt ye be wearied and faint in your Minds, [under the Conflict of Afflictions ye endure.]

4. [For which Fainting you have no ſuch cauſe as this Captain of Salvation, and this Cloud of f Witneſſes had; For] [f] ye have not reſiſted unto Blood, [as they did] ſtriving againſt Sin.

5. And [by your proneneſs to grow weary, and even faint under the Combat,] you ſeem to] have forgotten the Exhortation which ſpeaketh to you as to Children, [thus,] My g Son [g] deſpiſe not thou [be not ſlothful and diſſpirited under] the chaſtening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him, [Prov.
3. 11, 12.]

6. For whom the Lord loveth he chaſteneth, and ſcourgeth every Son whom he receiveth, [into that Relation.]

7. If ye [then] endure chaſtening, God dealeth with you as [a Father] with [his] Sons: for what Son is there whom the Father chaſteneth not [for his offences?]

h 8. [h] But if ye be without [ſuch] Chaſtiſements whereof all [Sons] are partakers, then are ye [treated as] Baſtards [whom the reputed Parent diſregards,] and not [as] Sons [whom he loves, v. 6.]

9. Furthermore, [εἰ δὲ, and if] we have had Fathers of our fleſh, which corrected us, and [yet] we gave them Reverence, [and Honour, in expectation of the long Life promiſed to them that do ſo, Exod. 20. 12.] ſhall we not much rather be in ſubjection to the [i] Father of [our] Spirits, [who gives and who i re-calls our Spirits at pleaſure,] and [ſo] live [everlaſtingly?]

10. For they verily [k] for a few days k chaſtened us after their own pleaſure, [Gr. as ſeemed beſt to them;] but he [our heavenly Father doth it] for our [own] profit, that we might be Partakers of his Holineſs.

11. [Nor let it diſcourage you that theſe Afflictions ſeem grievous to the fleſh, πᾶσα δὲ,] For no chaſtening for the preſent ſeemeth joyous, but grievous [to it:] nevertheleſs afterwards
it yieldeth the peaceable fruits of Righteouſneſs to them that are [l] exerciſed thereby, l [i. e. thoſe fruits of Righteouſneſs which end in Peace.]

12. Wherefore lift up the hands which hang down, [as if wearied with, and giving over the Combat,] and [ſtrengthen] the feeble knees, [which ſeem unable to ſtand firm, and run on this Race with Patience; See Note on
v. 3.]

13. And [ſo] make [ποιήσατε, ye will make] [m] ſtraight Paths for your Feet, [to walk in] m leſt that which is lame be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed: [Gr. ἵνα μὴ, that that which is lame may not be turned out of the way, but rather may be healed.]

14. [And in order thereunto,] [n] Follow Peace n with all Men, and Holineſs, without which no Man ſhall ſee the Lord.

15. Looking diligently, leſt any Man [o] fail o of the Grace [Gr. ὑστερῶν ἀπὸ, fall from the Grace] of God, leſt any root of bitterneſs ſpringing up, trouble you, and thereby many be defiled.

16. Leſt there be any Fornicator, or profane Perſon [among you, ſuch] as [was] Eſau, p who for one morſel of Meat ſold his [p] Birthright.

17. For ye know how that afterwards when he would have inherited the Bleſſing [he had loſt,] he was rejected, [by his Father, ſaying of Jacob, I have bleſſed him, and he ſhall be bleſſed,] for he found no place of Repentance, [no change of the Bleſſing pronounced by his q Father,] [q] though he ſought it carefully with Tears, [crying with an exceeding great and bitter Cry, Gen. 27. 34.]

18. For ye [believing Jews] are not come [as your Fore-fathers when they entered into the Old Covenant with God,] unto the Mount that might be touched, [and ſo you might die,
Exod. 19. 12.] and that burned with Fire, [Gr. to the burning Fire, Deut. 5. 23.] nor to to the blackneſs and darkneſs, [cauſed by the Cloud, ſtiled νεφέλη γνοφώδης, Exod. 19. 16.
and [to the] Tempeſt, [of Thunder and Lightning, Deut. 5. 22.]

19. And the ſound of a [the] Trumpet,
[exceeding loud, which made the People tremble, Exod. 19. 16.] and the [great] Voice of Words, which [was ſo terrible, that] they that heard [it,] entreated that the Word ſhould not be ſpoken to them any more, [leſt they died for it, Exod. 20. 19. Deut. 5. 25, 18, 16.]

r 20. For they could not endure [r] that which was commanded, [that ſevere cautionary Command which runs thus,] and if ſo much as a Beaſt touch the Mountain, it ſhall be ſtoned, or thruſt through with a Dart.

21. And ſo terrible was the ſight, that ſ [ſ] Moſes ſaid, I exceedingly fear and quake.

22. But ye are come, [under the Goſpel Diſpenſation, to things of a more excellent nature, not apt to terrifie, and diſcourage, but create Joy and Comfort to you; not as then, to Mount Sinai, but] t [t] to Mount Sion, [whence you expect all your Spiritual Bleſſings; not to the Terreſtrial Jeruſalem, which is in bondage with her Children, Gal. 4. 25.] but u to the City of the living God, [u] the heavenly Jeruſalem, [not to thouſands of Angels attending on God, as at Mount Sinai, Pſal. 68. 17. but] to an [x] innumerable Company of Angels, [miniſtering x to them who ſhall be Heirs of Salvation, Heb. 1. 14.]

23. [And] To the general Aſſembly, and Church [not of the Jews, and of the Firſt born regiſtered among them, Numb. 1. 16. but] [y] of the y
Firſt born who are written in Heaven, [z] and to z
God [now declared to be] the Judge of all [Acts
17. 30, 31.] [aa] and to the Spirits of juſt Men aa made perfect, [who have run their Race, and are to be crowned at the great day, 2 Tim. 4. 8.]

24. And to Jeſus the Mediator [not of the Old Covenant, which promiſed only the Land of Canaan, but] of the New Covenant, [eſtabliſhed in his Blood, by which we receive the Promiſe of an eternal Inheritance, Heb. 9. 15.] and to the [bb] Blood of bb ſprinkling, [cc] which ſpeaketh better things than cc that of Abel.

25. [dd] See [therefore] that ye [ee] refuſe not dd him that ſpeaketh, [now by his Son to you:] For ee if they eſcaped not [God's ſevere Judgments] who refuſed him that ſpake on Earth [by Moſes,] much more ſhall not we eſcape, if we turn away from him that ſpeaketh [by his Son coming down, and by his Spirit ſent down] from Heaven,
[1 Pet. 1. 12.]

26. [ff] Whoſe Voice then ſhook the Earth, ff
[when the Law was given, Exod. 19. 18. Pſal.
68. 8.] but now under this Diſpenſation] he hath promiſed [yet a further ſhaking,] ſaying, [gg] Yet gg once more, [at the making my New Covenant,] [hh] I ſhake not the Earth only, but alſo Heaven, hh [Hag. 2. 7, 8.]

27. And this word, Yet once more, ſignifieth the removing of thoſe things that are ſhaken, as of things that are made, that thoſe things which cannot be ſhaken may remain.

28. Wherefore we receiving [the Promiſe of] a Kingdom that cannot be moved, [or ſhaken, or give place to another,] [ii] let us have ii [or retain that] Grace, whereby [alone] we may ſerve God acceptably, with Reverence and godly Fear.

29. For our God is [to the Diſobedient and Rebellious among us, as he was to them, Deut. 4. 24.
9. 3.] a [kk] conſuming Fire. kk

Annotations on Chap. XII.

Verſe 1. Νέφος, a Cloud,] for a Multitude, is a Phraſe uſed by Homer, who calls a Multitude of Foot-men νέφος πεζῶν, which (a) Virgil thus tranſlates, Inſequitur nimbus peditum; This Cloud of Witneſſes therefore, contains all the Worthies mentioned in the former Chapter, who by their Words and Actions have teſtified how much the Objects of their Faith were valued before all worldly things, and how equitable it was to endure afflictions, not accepting a Deliverance, that they might obtain a better Reſurrection.

Ibid. Τὴν εὐπερίστατον ἁμαρτίαν, The Sin that eaſily beſets us.] The Apoſtle being here ſpeaking of the Chriſtian's Race, this Phraſe is beſt interpreted with relation to it, and ſo it muſt reſpect the Sin which cleaves to our Affections, which are the Feet of the Soul, like a long Garment wrapt about us, and ſo hinders the Running of our Chriſtian Race; for it is either our Affection to, and our Deſire of, what we ought not to deſire or affect at all, or which we ought not comparatively to affect or deſire, which gives the Riſe and Prevalence of all Temptations to Sin, and renders ſelf-denial ſo exceeding difficult: He therefore requires us to put off this Sin as Racers did their Garments, running naked, that without hinderance we may run our Chriſtian Race.

Ver. 2. Ἀφορῶντες, &c. Looking to Jeſus.] As an Example of Patience under Sufferings, fit to be imitated by his Diſciples, and as one glorioſly recompenſed in his Human Nature for the Sufferings he ſuſtained in it, and as one who will give to us the ſame happy Repoſe after our Sufferings; He having, as the Author of our Faith, promiſed, and being able, as the Finiſher of our Faith, to confer that glorious Recompence, Chap. 10. 35, 36.

Ibid. Ἀντὶ τῆς προκειμένης αὐτῷ χαρᾶς, For the Joy ſet before him.] That ἀντὶ is uſed for the final Cauſe, appears from theſe Examples in the New Teſtament; He gave himſelf a Ranſom ἀντὶ πολλῶν, for many, Mat. 20. 28. Render not evil ἀντὶ κακοῦ, for evil, Rom. 12. 17. Her Hair was given ἀντὶ περιβολαίου, for a Covering, 1 Cor. 11. 15. Ἀντὶ τούτου, for this cauſe ſhall a Man leave Father and Mother. And here, v. 16. ἀντὶ βρώσεως μιᾶς, for one morſel of Bread he ſold his Birth-right. See 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. 1 Pet. 3. 9. Note alſo, that the Apoſtle goes on in his Agoniſtical Terms, and having ſpoken, v. 1. of the προκείμενος ἡμῖν ἀγὼν, the Race before us to run, he here ſpeaks in the ſame Language, of the Joy ſet before our Saviour in his Race; that is, of the βραβεῖον, the Prize, or Crown placed in his View for his Encouragement to run it: It being the Cuſtom in thoſe Games (b) to hang the Crown at the End of the Goal, that he who came firſt to it, might ſnatch it, or lay hold of it: The Joy ſet before him muſt therefore be the Proſpect of that Majeſty and Glory, Power and Dominion, he in his human Nature was to be inveſted with, as the Reward of theſe his Sufferings. He for the ſuffering of Death being Crowned with Majeſty and Honour, Heb. 2. 9. God having therefore highly exalted him, and given him a name above every name, Phil. 2. 9. And thus we have juſt cauſe to look upon him as an Example of Faith, and Patience, and of God's eſpecial Favour to them that ſuffer for his ſake.

Ver. 3. Ἵνα μὴ κάμητε ἐκλυόμενοι, Leſt you be wearied, and faint in your Minds.] Theſe alſo are two Agoniſtical Terms; the one ſignifies to be weary, as in thoſe words of (c) C. Marcius, Νικώντων οὐκ ἔστι τὸ κάμνειν, Conquerors muſt not be weary, and ſo give over the Fight; the other to faint, and be diſpirited, ſo that we can run, or fight no longer: And becauſe in thoſe Combats they fought ὀρθοστάδην, ſtanding upright, and χεῖρας ἐκτείνοντες, ſtretching out their hands, therefore the Apoſtle exhorts them in their ſpiritual Combat, to ſtretch out the Hands that hang down, and ἀνορθοῦν, to erect their feeble Knees, v. 12. Faber. Agon. l. 1. c. 8.

Ver. 4. Ἀνταγωνιζόμενοι μέχρις αἵματος, Ye have not reſiſted unto Blood.] This is another Agoniſtical Expreſſion belonging to the Pugiles, who were oft beſmeared with Blood, and ſometimes died under the Blows they received from the Clubs of their Adverſary, Faber. Agon. l. 1. c. 7.

Ver. 5. Μὴ ὀλιγώρει] Ὀλιγωρεῖν is, ſay Phavorinus and Heſychius, ἀμελεῖν, ῥᾳθυμεῖν, to be unregardful of, to be ſlothful; ὀλίγωρος, μικρόψυχος, to be Creſt-fallen, ἀναπίπτειν, animo concidere, to faint, and be diſpirited. Τὸ ἀναπίπτειν, κυρίως ἐπὶ ψυχῆς ἐστὶν οἷον ἀθυμεῖν, ὀλιγωρεῖν, Athen. Ver. 7. God dealeth with us as with his Sons.] Here the Note of Chryſoſtom is this, that from thoſe things, whence Men uſually conclude they are deſerted by God, the Apoſtle ſhews, that God demonſtrates his fatherly Affection to them.

i Ver. 9. Τῷ πατρὶ τῶν πνευμάτων, To the Father of Spirits.] This Phraſe is not here put to ſignify the Author of our New Spiritual Birth; for Spiritual Graces and Diſpoſitions, are never call'd Πνεύματα, Spirits, in Scripture; nor is the Holy Spirit, who produceth them, ever mention'd in the Plural, when they are ſpoken of. It is plainly an Hebrew Phraſe, uſed twice by Moſes when he ſpeaks thus to God, O God of the Spirits of all Fleſh, Numb. 16. 22. And again, Let the Lord, the God of the Spirits of all Fleſh, ſet a Man over the Congregation, Numb. 27. 16. And he is ſo ſtiled, both as the Creator of them, or that God who formeth the Spirit of Man within him, Zach. 12. 1. and the Preſerver and Governour of them; The God in whoſe hand is the Soul of all Living, and the Spirit of all Fleſh of Man, Job. 12. 10. and into whoſe hands they do return at death, Ecclef. 12. 7. according to that Old Tradition of the Heathens, preſerved in (d) Epicharmus, That Man dying. ἀπῆλθεν ὅθεν ἦλθε πάλιν, γᾶ μὲν εἰς γᾶν, πνεῦμα δ' ἄνω, returns from whence he came, his Earthly part to the Earth, his Spirit upwards: And the Tradition of the Hebrews, that in the Time of our Diſſolution, (e) God comes, and takes away his Part, and leaves the Part of our Father and Mother, ſtiled here, the Fathers of the Fleſh: (f) Joſephus ſaith, That at the Formation of Adam, God made Man out of the Earth, and ſent into him a Soul and Spirit. (g) Philo ſaith, that his Body was indeed made of Earth, ſhaped into Human Form, but his Soul was only derived from the Maker and Governor of all things; and this was ſignify'd by theſe words, He breathed into him the breath of life; ſo that, though according to his Viſible Part he was Mortal, as to his Inviſible he was Immortal: Hence ſaith the Targum of Jonathan, on Numb. 16. 22. and 27. 16. It is God that putteth the Spirit of the Soul in the Bodies of all Men: And the Targum of Jeruſalem, It is God who ruleth over the Soul of all Fleſh. See Pug. Fid. p. 401.

k Ver. 10. Πρὸς ὀλίγας ἡμέρας, For a Few Days,] Seems not here to refer to the Days of Children's Minority, for that makes nothing to the purpoſe of the Apoſtle's Argument; and the Motive to ſuffer Divine Chaſtiſements uſed by the Scripture, is, not that they are long, but that they are but for a very little while, Heb. 10. 17. momentary, 2 Cor. 4. 17. ὀλίγον ἄρτι, but for a little, 1 Pet. 1. 6. nor is κατὰ τὸ δοκοῦν αὐτοῖς, after their pleaſure, but, as it ſeemed good to them: This therefore ſeems to be the meaning of the words, That Earthly Parents chaſtiſe their Children, aiming at that which ſeems beſt for them in this preſent Life, conſiſting of few Days, or for their Temporal Good in this Life; but God doth it for their Spiritual and Eternal Benefit, to make them here Partakers of his Holineſs, and ſo to fit them for the peaceable fruits of Righteouſneſs hereafter.

l Ver. 11. The word γεγυμνασμένοις, uſed here ſhews that the Phraſe is Agoniſtical, and taken from the Exerciſes perform'd by them naked in the Olympick Games, where one of the Crowns given to the Victors being στέφανος ἐλαϊνὸς, of Olive, the Symbol of Peace: Hence Faber conceives, the Chriſtian's Crown, is here repreſented by the Peaceable Fruit of Righteouſneſs.

m Ver. 13. Τροχιὰς ὀρθὰς, Straight Paths:] I. e. Make ſtreight Paths in the Way of Chriſtianity, not ſtepping out of it to avoid Perſecution; that they who are already lame and feeble, may not be moved, by your Example, to go out of it, but rather, by your Conſtancy in i, may be confirm'd.

n Ver. 14. Be of a pure and peaceable Converſation, towards all with whom you do converſe; for as this is neceſſary in order to your living with God, ſo will it tend much to prevent the Perſecutions of Men.

o Ver. 15. That ὑστερηκέναι, is the ſame with ἀφίστασθαι, to depart from the Grace of God, which brings Salvation, or, to depart from the Faith, and, by ſo doing, fall ſhort of the promiſed Reſt, Heb. 4. 1. the words of the Apoſtle, and his ſcope, which is to preſerve the Jews from backſliding from Chriſtianity to Judaiſm and the following Exhortation, not to refuſe him that ſpeaketh now, v. 25. and ἔχειν τὴν χάριν, to retain and hold faſt the Grace of God, v. 28. ſufficiently ſhew. But this is ſtill more clear from the words of Deut. 29. 18. whence this whole Verſe is taken, which runs thus; μή τίς ἐστιν ἐν ὑμῖν — τινὸς ἡ διανοία ἐξέκλινεν ἀπὸ Κυρίου, leſt there be among you any Man or Woman whoſe Heart turneth away from the Lord our God, to go and ſerve the Gods of the Nations, μή τίς ἐστιν ἐν ὑμῖν ῥίζα ἄνω φύουσα ἐν χολῇ καὶ πικρίᾳ, leſt there ſhould be among you a Root ſpringing with Gall and Wormwood; which makes it probable, that the true Reading here ſhould be, not ἐνοχλῇ, but ἐν χολῇ; tho' it be certain that the word ἐνοχλέω ſignifies to create trouble to our ſelves, or others, as, Dan. 6. 21. Eſth. 2. 22 29. and in thoſe words of Antoninus, l. 7. §. 16. Τὸ ἡγεμονικὸν αὐτὸ οὐκ ἑαυτῷ ἐνοχλεῖ; Doth not the mind create Trouble to itſelf? See the full Conſent of the Power and Dominion over the Younger; for he ſucceeded in the Government of the Family, or Kingdom: Reuben, thou art my Firſt born, the Excellency of Dignity, and the Excellency of Power, Gen. 49. 3. The Kingdom gave he to Jehoram, becauſe he was the Firſt born, 2 Chron. 21. 3. This Iſaac gave to Jacob, in theſe words, Be thou a Maſter to thy Brethren, and let thy Mother's Sons bow down to thee, Gen. 27. 29. (3). The Honour of Prieſthood in their own Family at leaſt: So, Exod. 24. 5. He ſent the Young men, [Chald. the Firſt born] of the Sons of Iſrael, and they offered Burnt-Offerings, and ſacrificed Sacrifices to Jehovah. Afterwards the Levites were taken into the Service of God, inſtead of all the Firſt born among the Children of Iſrael, Numb. 3. 41. conſecrated before to God, Exod. 22. 29. Numb. 8. 17. Gen. 25. 29. This Birth right Eſau ſold, when he was faint, ἐκλείπων, and this ſhews how proper this Inſtance is to preſerve them from being wearied, and fainting in their Mind.

The Targum of B. Uziel ſaith, That he was made faint by committing Idolatry, ſhedding innocent Blood, and going in to a Damſel betrothed that Day; and this ſhews him a Fornicator, both in the Spiritual and Carnal Senſe, and a Prophane Perſon. And laſtly, Mercer ſaith, Primogenituram Hæreditatem cœleſtem adumbraſſe; That the Primogeniture was a Type of their Celeſtial Inheritance: Which alſo ſeems to be hinted by the Paraphraſes on the Place; for that of Uziel ſaith, He denied the Life of the World to come, and contemned his Birth-right: And the Targum of Jeruſalem, That he contemned his Birth-right, and deſpiſed his Part in the Life to come, and denied the Reſurrection: And Chryſoſtom here ſtiles him, ἀκρατὴς ϗ πνευματικῶν ἀπεμβολῶν· And as this ſhews his Prophaneneſs, ſo alſo doth it ſhew the Appoſiteneſs of his Example to the Apoſtle's Purpoſe.

Ver. 17. Ἐκζητήσας μετὰ δακρύων αὐτήν. Though he ſought it carefully with Tears.] Though theſe words, thus expounded, do not immediately prove that true Repentance may find no Acceptance with God, (that which Eſau ſought with Tears, being not his own Repentance, but the Bleſſing which Iſaac gave to Jacob, and would not repent of, Gen. 27. 33.) yet are they deſigned to inſinuate, that Men may ſo deſpiſe the Bleſſings of Chriſtianity, as to be after thought unworthy to enjoy them; that by their Apoſtacy they may fall ſo entirely from God, as that he will not be prevailed on to reſtore them to their loſt and deſpiſed Privileges, upon their Tears and Faſtings; as is apparent in the Caſe of the Jews, who have large Times of Penance and Humiliation, but are not to this Day reſtored to the Grace and Favour of God, and to the Priviledge of being his peculiar People, and Firſt born, as once they were.

Ver. 18. Ψηλαφωμένῳ ὄρει, to the Mountain, that might be touched. And therefore was corporeal, and terrene, and by being touched after the Prohibition, Ex. 19. 12. would procure preſent Death: But you are come to the ſpiritual and heavenly Zion, which will certainly give Life to all that belong to it.

Ver. 20. Τὸ διαστελλόμενον.] Διαστέλλομαι, ſignifies, to Command with Vehemence, or Severity. Matth. 16. 20. Mark 5. 43. and 8. 15. r

Ver. 21. Μωϋσῆς εἶπεν, Moſes ſaid.] This, Interpreters think, St. Paul received by Tradition of his Anceſtors, tho' no Footſteps of this Tradition have been found among them. But doubtleſs the Apoſtle had reſpect to Deut. 9. where, v. 15. Moſes ſees the Mount burning up to Heaven, and, v. 9, 19. ſaith, Ἔκφοβός εἰμι, I exceedingly fear. ſ

Ver. 22. And 'tis here ſtiled, the Heavenly Jeruſalem; not that Heaven is primarily intended by it, and not the Church of Chriſt on Earth; but, Propter Originem, & finem, As having its Riſe from Heaven, and as leading to it; on which account the Goſpel State is ſtiled oft the Kingdom of Heaven. u

Ver. 23. Πρωτοτόκων, Of the Firſt born:] I. e. Of the Apoſtles who received the Firſt-fruits of the Spirit, Rom. 8. 23. and of the Churches which received firſt the Chriſtian Faith, Epheſ. 1. 12. (whoſe Names are written in Heaven,) i. e. who are enrolled among the Citizens of the New and Heavenly Jeruſalem, or among the Juſt, for whom the Kingdom is prepared. In this rejoyce, ſaith Chriſt, that your Names are written in Heaven, Luke 10. 20. Thus, Exod. 32. 32. Moſes by the Targum, is introduced ſpeaking thus, I know thou haſt writ my Name in the Book of the Juſt: And of the Falſe Prophets, the Targum on Ezek. 13. 9. ſaith, y ſaith, They ſhall not be written in the Book of eternal Life, which is written for the Juſt of the Houſe of Iſrael; and into this Kingdom they only are to enter, whoſe Names are thus enrolled in the Book of Life, Rev. 21. 27.

z Ibid. Καὶ κριτῇ Θεῷ, And to God the Judge of all;] Who will adjudge the Crown of Glory to thoſe who have fought the good fight of Faith, 2 Tim. 4. 8. who run this race with Patience, 1 Cor. 9. 24, 25. and will give them the Kingdom prepared for them, Matth. 25. 34. Luke 12. 32.

aa Ibid. And to the Spirits of Juſt Men, τετελειωμένων, Made perfect.] This word here, cannot well ſignifie them who are crowned in the Agoniſtical ſenſe; becauſe the Apoſtle, in the former Chapter, had aſſerted of thoſe Witneſſes which died in Faith, That they had not yet received the Promiſe, and were not to be crowned before us Chriſtians; and ſaith, That he himſelf expected to receive his Crown only at the Great Day, 2 Tim. 4. 8. But it ſignifies, either that they had fulfilled their Courſe, and ſo reſted from their Labours and Conflicts, as Chryſoſtom here ſaith, and ſo have nothing more to do, but to receive their Crown: Or, in the other ſenſe of the word, τελειοῦσθαι to be made perfect in Holineſs, or to be perfectly purged from all Guilt of Sin, and ſo fit to be admitted to this Kingdom: In which ſenſe the Apoſtle here denies that there was any τελείωσις, or perfect Expiation, made by the Levitical Prieſthood; the Law making nothing perfect, Heb. 7. 11, 16. And that the Offerings preſcribed by it, could not τελειῶσαι, make perfect the Worſhipper, as to his Conſcience, Heb. 9. 9. that they could not τελειῶσαι εἰς τὸ διηνεκές, perfect him for ever, ſo as that he ſhould need no farther Expiation for Sin, Heb. 10. 1. and that Chriſt, by one Offering, τετελείωκεν εἰς τὸ διηνεκές, had perfectly expiated for ever them that were ſanctified, V. 14. And accordingly the Targum upon 1 Chron. 21. 15. ſaith, God ſaw the Houſe of his Sanctuary, which is above the Heavens, where the Souls of the Juſt are, and hence it is evident, that the Souls of juſt Men, are not reduc'd by Death to a State of Inſenſibility, for can a Soul that reaſons, and perceives good Things, be made perfect by perceiving nothing at all? Can a Spirit, which here enjoyed the Pleaſures of a good Conſcience, of a Life of Faith, and of Communion with God, and the Comforts of the Holy Ghoſt, be advanced to Perfection by a total Deprivation of all thoſe Satisfactions, and Enjoyments?

bb Ver. 24. Αἵματι ῥαντισμοῦ, The Blood of Sprinkling.] Not that of Bulls and Goats, with which Moſes ſprinkled the People, when they entered into the Old Covenant, Exod. 24. 8. and the Tabernacle, and the Veſſels of the Miniſtry, to ſanctifie them for the Levitical Service; but the Blood of Chriſt, by which the Heavenly Places are purified, and prepared for us, chap. 9. 23, 24. and by which we have Enterance into the Holieſt, chap. 10. 19, 20. Whereas the Blood ſprinkled ſeven Times, for their Purification under the Old Teſtament, was ſprinkled before the Veil, becauſe the Prieſts could not enter with it within the Veil.

cc Ibid. Κρείττονα λαλοῦντα παρὰ τὸν, or, παρὰ τὸ Ἄβελ. Which ſpeaketh better things than that of Abel.] Than the Blood of Abel; not becauſe that called for Vengeance, this for Mercy; but, than the Blood of the Sacrifice of Abel offered by Faith, By which God teſtified his Acceptance, and by which, he being dead, yet ſpeaks, Heb. 11. 4. That, procuring Acceptance for himſelf alone; this, for all Believers: That, ſpeaking only for him, and declaring him Righteous; this, interceding to God, for the Juſtification of all Men, through Faith in his Blood.

dd Ver. 25. χρηματίζοντα, Him that ſpeaketh.] This word both in the Old and New Teſtament, ſignifies ſpeaking as from God, or Words proceeding from him. See Jer. 25. 30. and 26. 3. and 29. 23. and 30. 2. and 36. 4. Mat. 2. 22. Luke 2. 26. Acts 10. 22. Rom. 11. 4. Heb. 8. 5. and 11. 7. So, 2 Maccab. 2. 4. χρηματισμοῦ γενηθέντος αὐτῷ, the Prophet being warned of God, commanded that the Ark ſhould go with him.

ee Ibid. Μὴ παραιτήσησθε, Refuſe not.] As they did, ſaith Theodoret, deſiring, ἀντὶ τοῦ Θεοῦ τὸν Μωσέα λαβεῖν, inſtead of God, to have Moſes; by ſaying, Speak thou to us, and let not God ſpeak to us, Exod. 29. 19. deſiring not God, but an Angel, ſaith Philo on theſe Words, De Somniis, p. 455. E. See Note on Coloſ. 2. 19.

ff Ver. 26. οὗ ἡ φωνὴ, Whoſe Voice.] He ſpeaks here not of the Voice of Chriſt, but of the God of Iſrael, who at his Appearance on Sinai, ſhook the Earth; of his Voice, who made the Promiſe, that Chriſt, the Deſire of all Nations ſhould come. Nor can the Apoſtle, or the Prophet, ſpeak of Chriſt's Second Coming, to give New Heavens and New Earth, by the Converſion of the Jewiſh Nation: For, 1*ſt*, This Shaking, was to be the Fore-runner of the Coming of the Deſire of all Nations, or Contemporary with it; now he was to come to fill that very Houſe then built with Glory, and to make the Glory of it greater than the Glory of that Houſe built by Solomon. The Prophet muſt therefore ſpeak of ſhaking antecedent to the Deſtruction of the Temple. And therefore the Apoſtle, ſpeaking of the very thing promiſed in the words of the Prophet Haggai, muſt alſo ſpeak of the Firſt Advent of our Lord. 2*dly*, The Prophet ſpeaks of a Shaking which was to happen after a little time, Hag. 2. 7 and therefore not of an Advent of our Saviour, after Two thouſand Years expired, yet to come. And 3*dly*, The Apoſtle ſays plainly, That Chriſtians had then received that Kingdom which could not be ſhaken, to give place to another; and upon that grounds his Exhortation to them, to retain or hold faſt the Grace received, v. 28. Which ſhews, it was not a Kingdom yet to come after One thouſand ſeven hundred Years; but that which, throughout the Goſpel, is ſtiled the Kingdom of God, and of Heaven, and is ſaid to be then come unto them, Matth. 12. 28.

g Ibid. Ἔτι ἅπαξ, Yet once more.] The word yet, ſignifies, that there was yet to be another Shaking, for the Introduction of another Covenant, and conſequently for the Aboliſhing the Firſt; and the word once only, that there ſhould be no more Shaking, after the Introduction of the Second Covenant.

h Ibid. Ἐγὼ σείω, I ſhake not the Earth only, but the Heavens, Hag. 2. 7.] The Ancient Jews ſpeak of this Place thus; I will give a ſhort Glory to the Iſraelites, and afterwards ſhall the Meſſiah come. Talm. Tr. Sanhedr. c. 11. expounding this Place of the Coming of the Meſſiah, they add, That as the Firſt Tabernacle and Temple were built, and deſtroyed, ſo was the Second Temple; but the Meſſiah ſhould build a Temple, and God had built a Tabernacle, and Temple in the Heavens, which ſhould never be deſtroyed, Pug. Fid. p. 304—309.

Now this Shaking of the Heaven and Earth, being to be accompliſhed at the Coming of the Meſſiah, or, the Deſire of all Nations, cannot ſignifie the Removal and Subverſion of the Material Heavens and Earth, they being not thus ſhaken at Chriſt's Coming: But this is a Metaphor frequently uſed in the Prophets, to ſignifie the Subverſion of a State and Kingdom, and of the Government which obtains amongſt them; as when the Prophet, ſpeaking of the Deſtruction of Babylon, ſaith, I will make the Heavens ſhake, and the Earth ſhall be removed out of its place, Iſa. 13. 13. And of the Deſtruction of the Jews by the Aſſyrians, he uſeth theſe very words, The Earth ſhall be moved, and the Heavens ſhaken, Joel 2. 10. See Judges 5. 4. Pſal. 77. 18. Iſa. 24. 19, 20. Thus, at our Lord's Coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem, ſay ſome Interpreters; to deſtroy Antichriſt, as others think; the Powers of Heaven ſhall be ſhaken, Mat. 24. 30. Mark 13. 25. and Luke 21. 26. Which import of this Phraſe being not underſtood by Eſthius, he, without cauſe, rejecteth this interpretation of the word.

2*dly,* This Shaking, being for the Removal of things which were ſhaken, and they being not the Material Earth, muſt ſignifie the things which were then introduced with the ſhaking of the Earth; i. e. the Covenant made, and the Worſhip, and Tabernacle, and other Materials then appointed to be made with Hands for God's Service; which as the Apoſtle, throughout this whole Epiſtle, contends, were to be aboliſhed, and to continue only till the Time of Reformation, chap. 9. 10. and then to give place to that New Covenant and Diſpenſation, which procured for us, an Eternal Redemption, and an Entrance, not into the Holy Places made with Hands, but into Heaven itſelf.

Ver. 28. Ἔχωμεν χάριν.] It is the Obſervation of Criticks here, and elſewhere, that ἔχειν, to have, is often put for κατέχειν, to retain, or hold faſt: So ἔχειν πίστιν καὶ ἀγαθὴν συνείδησιν, is to hold Faith and a good Conſcience, 1 Tim. 1. 19. ἔχειν τὸ μυστήριον τῆς πίστεως, to hold the Myſtery of Faith; ὑποτύπωσιν ἔχειν, to hold faſt the form of ſound words, 2 Tim. 1. 13. χάρις, throughout the whole New Teſtament, doth ſignifie the Favour and the Grace of God, ſo freely tendered to us in the Goſpel; (See Note on 2 Cor. 6. 1.) So that the import of theſe words ſeems to be this; Let us continue ſtedfaſt in that Faith and Diſpenſation deliver'd in the Goſpel, as being that alone which renders both our Perſons and our Services acceptable to God; Let us not fall from the Grace of God, v. 15. Let us not caſt off our Confidence, chap. 10. 35. Let us hold faſt the Profeſſion of our Hope without wavering, v. 23. continuing to ſerve God with an holy Reverence. ii

Ver. 29. Πῦρ καταναλίσκον, A conſuming Fire;] kk To conſume thine Enemies, if thou obey him, and to bring them down before thy face, Deut. 9. 3. but to conſume thee, if thou forget the Covenant thou haſt made with him, Deut. 4. 24. This hath relation to the Schechinah, or Glorious Preſence of God, the ſight of which was like devouring Fire, Exod. 24. 17. and from which went out Fire to conſume Nadab and Abihu, Lev. 10. 2. and thoſe Two hundred and fifty Perſons which burned Incenſe, Numb. 16. 35. and of which Pſalmiſt ſpeaketh in theſe words, A Fire burned in their Congregations, the Flame burnt up the Wicked, Pſal. 106. 18.

and be content with ſuch things as ye have [at preſent;] for he hath ſaid, [Deut. 31.
6. Joſh. 1. 5.] I will never leave thee, nor forſake thee.

6. So that we may boldly ſay, [as the Pſalmiſt doth, Pſal. 56. 4.] The Lord is my Helper, and I will not fear what Man ſhall do unto me.

7. Remember them which have the Rule over you, [Gr. Be mindful of your Governors, or Guides,] who have ſpoken to you the Word of God, whoſe Faith follow; conſidering the End [or,
Cloſe] of their Converſation, [with what Conſtancy and Perſeverance they continued in the Faith, and ſealed it with their Blood, in hopes of that Crown of Glory Chriſt had promiſed to them that were faithful to the Death.]

8. [Even that] Jeſus Chriſt, [who both, as to his e Doctrine, and his Promiſes, is] the ſame [e] yeſterday, and to day, and for ever.

9. Be not carried about with diverſe and f [f] ſtrange Doctrines, [i. e. Doctrines diverſe from them, and new, i. e. not taught by thoſe Guides who ſpake to you the Word of God, V. 7.] for it is a good

h and ſtrengthened] [h] with Grace, [i. e. the Senſe of the Divine Favour, and the Grace brought to us by the Goſpel;] and not with Meats [eaten at the Jewiſh Feſtivals, and their Peace-Offerings,] which have not profited [to the purifying of the Conſcience from Guilt, Heb. 9. 9.] them that have been occupied therein.

10. We [Chriſtians] have [a Sacrifice upon] i [i] an Altar, [that of the Croſs,] of which they have no right to eat, [or, to partake,] who ſerve the

12. Wherefore, Jeſus alſo, [our Sin-Offering, the Perſon typified by their's offered on the Great Day of Expiation, Lev. 16.] that he might ſanctifie the People with his own Blood, [carried into the Heavenly Sanctuary,] [l] ſuffered without the Gate. [He l
*therefore thus anſwering the Type of that Sin-Offering, of which neither Prieſt nor People were to eat; they who do ſtill adhere to the Legal Inſtitutions, are by that Law
excluded from partaking of this Sacrifice.*]

13. Let us go forth therefore to him without the Camp, [the Terreſtrial Jeruſalem, the Jewiſh Church, and Service,] [m] bearing his Reproach. m

14. For here we [eſpecially, who are thus perſecuted,] have no continuing City; but we ſeek one to come, [even the City of the Living God, chap. 12. 22.]

15. By him therefore [our High Prieſt,] let us offer the [Chriſtian] [n] Sacrifice of Praiſe to God n continually, that is, [in the language of the Prophet, Hoſea 14. 2.] [o] the fruit of our Lips, giving o
thanks to his Name.

16. But, [And for the other Chriſtian Sacrifices, thoſe of Alms,] to do good and communicate forget not, for with ſuch Sacrifices God is [ſtill] well pleaſed.

17. Obey them that have [p] the rule over you, p [your Biſhops, and Paſtors, V. 24.] and ſubmit your ſelves [to their godly Admonitions,] for they watch for your Souls, as they that muſt give an Account [to God for them,] that they may do it [q] with q joy, [in the Preſence of Chriſt, that they have gained you to him, and built you up in your Faith, 1 Theſ. 2.
19.] and not with grief, [that they could not prevail upon you to live ſuitably to their Inſtructions;] for that is unprofitable for you, [and pernicious to you.]

18. Pray for us, [for our Freedom, and Succeſs in Preaching the Goſpel, Epheſ. 6. 19. Col. 4. 3. and our Deliverance from the Enemies of our Faith, 1 Theſ. 3.
1, 2.] for we truſt we have a good Conſcience in [r] all things, [being] willing to live honeſtly. r

19. But I beſeech you the rather to do this [now,] that I may be reſtored to you the ſooner.

20. [ſ] Now the God of Peace, that brought ſ again from the Dead our Lord Jeſus, that Great Shepherd of the Sheep, through, [with] the Blood of the Everlaſting Covenant, [to be offered by him in the Heavenly Sanctuary,]

21. [t] Make you perfect in every good work t to do his Will, [u] working in you [by his Grace u given to, and his Spirit reſiding in you,] that which is well pleaſing in his ſight, through Jeſus Chriſt, [x] to whom be glory for ever. Amen. x

22. And I beſeech you, Brethren, ſuffer the Word of Exhortation, [to Perſeverance with Patience in the Chriſtian Faith;] for I have written a Letter to you, [of this Subject,] in [as] few Words, [as the Importance of the Matter, and my Affection to you, would permit.]

23. Know ye, that our Brother Timothy, [See the Preface,] is ſet at liberty; with whom,
if he comes [hither again,] ſhortly I will [God willing] ſee you.

24. Salute all them that have the [y] rule over y you, and all the Saints: They of Italy ſalute you.

25. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. XIII.

Verſe 2. Ἀγγέλους, Angels.] It follows not hence, ſay the Commentators here, that all the three Perſons which appeared to Abraham were created Angels; for one of them being ſtiled by Abraham, the Judge of all the Earth, Gen. 18. 24. Jehovah, v. 22. and Abraham praying to him with ſo great Humility, Oh, let not the Lord be angry, and I will ſpeak unto him, who am but Duſt and Aſhes, v. 27, 31. It ſeems more proper with the Ancients to conceive, he at leaſt ſhould be the Son of God, the Angel of the Covenant; for the Word of God, ſaith * Juſtin Martyr, Καὶ Ἄγγελος καλεῖται, καὶ Θεὸς, καὶ Κύριος, καὶ ἀνὴρ, καὶ ἄνθρωπος, Ἀβραὰμ καὶ Ἰσαὰκ φανεὶς. Yet ſince, in the opinion of the Jews, they were three Angels, (as Ainſworth and Cartwright note upon the Place, the Apoſtle, writing to them, ſaith no more of them;) I rather think, with the Reverend Biſhop of Ely, that it may be granted, that the three that appeared to Abraham, were created Angels; but then they appeared only as the Retinue of the Schechinah, or Divine Majeſty, ſtiled the Lord, v. 1. and v. 13. For after the ſame Men, who came in, and did eat with Abraham, and roſe from the Table, were departed, v. 16. and 22. Abraham ſtands yet before the Lord, that is, before the Divine Majeſty who appear'd to him, v. 1. and ſtiles him the Judge of the whole Earth. And this agrees well with the Opinion of the Jews, who, as they acknowledge that the three Men whom Abraham entertained were created Angels; ſo alſo do they own that there was then a ſeparate Appearance, or Divine Majeſty, which talked with Abraham. And this takes off the Obſervation of Crellius, and others, on this Place, That the Name Jehovah is given to Angels; for according to this Interpretation, the Name Jehovah is not given to any of the three Angels which were entertained by Abraham, but only to the Schechinah, or Divine Majeſty, which appeared with them, and ſpake to Abraham, from v. 10, to the 17th, and to whom, after the Departure of theſe three, one into Heaven, and two to Sodom, Abraham ſtill ſpeaks to the end of that Chapter.

b Ver. 4. Τίμιος ὁ γάμος, Marriage is Honourable.] It is not worth diſputing, whether theſe words ſhould be rendered as a Precept, thus, Let honourable Marriage, and the Bed undefiled, obtain among all; or, as our Verſion renders them, by way of Aſſertion. The Obſervation of the Ancients upon the Place is this, That Marriage is honourable in all Perſons, (a) Old and Young, and in all things.

Ibid. Κρινεῖ ὁ Θεὸς, God will judge;] I. e. Κατακρινεῖ, He will condemn them; So, John 3. 16. God ſent not his Son into the World, ἵνα κρίνῃ τὸν κόσμον, that he might condemn the World. He that reſiſteth, ſhall receive to himſelf, κρῖμα, Puniſhment, or Condemnation, Rom. 13. 3. So, Matth. 23. 14. 1 Cor. 11. 29. 1 Tim. 3. 6. Jude 4. Mark 3. 29. Luke 23. 40. τοῦτον κρίναντες, by condemning Chriſt, they fulfilled the Voice of the Prophets, Acts 13. 27. That the Apoſtle here ſhould give theſe Cautions againſt the Gnoſticks amongſt the Jews, is ſaid without Ground, for no Man can prove that any Gnoſticks had been then among them; but they had then the Sect of the (b) Nicolaitans among them, mention'd, Rev. 2. 6, 15. who did ἀναιδῶς ἐκπορνεύειν, fornicate without ſhame, holding Whoredom and Adultery to be things indifferent. Moreover, (c) Juſtin Martyr ſaith, That where-ever they travelled, they multiplied to themſelves Wives, ὀνόματι γάμου, under pretence of Marriage; (See Note on Rom. 2. 22.) On which Account there was Ground ſufficient for this Exhortation. Note hence, that Whoredom is a mortal Sin. c

Ver. 5. Hence we learn, 1*ſt,* That we are then Covetouſly minded, when we are not content with the Things we enjoy at preſent, but are impatiently deſirous of having more. d

2*dly,* That what God promiſes to any of his Servants, may, in like Circumſtances, be applied to them all; for this Promiſe, which the Apoſtle here makes and applies to all good Chriſtians, was particularly made to Joſhua, chap. 1. 5.

Ver. 8. I. e. Through all Times, and Ages: For, as (d) Philo obſerves, Τριμερὴς γὰρ ὁ χρόνος, ἐκ παρεληλυθότος, καὶ ἐνεστῶτος, καὶ μέλλοντος, Time conſiſts of three Parts, the Paſt, Preſent, and to Come, and theſe three ſignifie, ἅπαντα τὸν αἰῶνα, all Time, or the whole Compaſs of it: So that, as the ſame Doctrine of Chriſtianity, muſt always be profeſſed by all Chriſtians, ſo the ſame Jeſus is always ready to aſſiſt and reward the ſincere Profeſſors of it. e

That the Apoſtle ſpeaks here, not of their Living, but Dead Guides, will appear, partly from his Exhortation to remember them, the living Guides being the Objects, not of their Memory, but Senſe; partly from the Phraſe ἐλάλησαν, who have ſpoken, which intimates, they had now left off ſpeaking; and partly from the ἔκβασις, the Cloſe, or Period, of their Converſation here on Earth, they are exhorted to look back unto their living Biſhops they are commanded to Obey, v. 17. their dead Biſhops to Remember, v. 7. for I think ſaith Origen on Matthew, (Ed. Huet. Tom. 1. p. 420.) He who is ſtiled by Chriſt, ὁ ἡγούμενος, a Guide, Luke 22. 26. is ὁ καλούμενος ἐν ταῖς Ἐκκλησίαις Ἐπίσκοπος, he who is called in the Churches a Biſhop.

f Ver. 9. Διδαχαῖς ξέναις,] I render, New Doctrines, and therefore ſtrange to the Ears of them that hear them firſt; ſo ξένα δαιμόνια, are New Dæmons, Acts 17. 18. and the Apoſtle ſaith, They were not to look upon their Fiery tryal, ὡς ξένου ὑμῖν συμβαίνοντος, as if ſome new thing had happened to them, 1 Pet. 4. 12.

g Ibid. Βεβαιοῦσθαι τὴν καρδίαν, That the Heart is eſtabliſhed,] Is an Hebrew Phraſe, ſignifying to Comfort, Strengthen, and Refreſh the Heart. So, Gen. 18. 5. I will fetch a morſel of Bread, וְסַעֲדוּ לִבְּכֶם, and comfort your Hearts, Judges 19. 5, 8. Στήριξον καρδίαν σου, Comfort thy Heart with a Morſel of Bread, of which the Pſalmiſt ſaith, That καρδίαν ἀνθρώπου στηρίζει, it ſtrengthens Man's Heart, Pſal. 104. 15. whence it is often ſtiled στήριγμα ἄρτου, Pſal. 105. 16. Ezek. 4. 16. and 5. 16. and 14. 13. the Staff of Bread.

h Ibid. The Grace here mention'd, is, ſay the Ancients, ἡ τῆς χάριτος διδασκαλία, the Doctrine of the Goſpel, or of the Grace of God tender'd in it. The Meats here mention'd, are the Meats eaten in the Jewiſh Feſtivals, New Moons, and Sabbaths, Col. 2. 16. or their Peace-Offerings and Oblations, ſtiled Βρώματα, Meats, Heb. 9. 10. which Feaſts ſome Jewiſh Zealots would have obſerved with the Chriſtian Feſtivals, viz their Paſſover, and Pentecoſt, 1 Cor. 11. and in the ſame riotous manner, v. 21. And theſe Sacrifices, or Peace-Offerings, they would have ſtill retained, perhaps as being not Sacrifices for Sin, but Free will-Offerings, and only Sacrifices of Praiſe: So that the import of theſe words is this; 'Tis good the Soul or Heart, be eſtabliſhed, refreſhed, and comforted, not with Meats eaten in the Jewiſh Feſtivals, or at their Euchariſtical Oblations, which profit or avail nothing to the Peace and Quiet of the Conſcience, but with the Divine Favour and that Goſpel-Grace by which Juſtification and Remiſſion of Sins is obtained through the Blood of Jeſus; of which they cannot be Partakers who ſtill cleave to the Legal Obſervations.

i Ver. 10. Θυσιαστήριον, An Altar.] That the Altar here, ſignifies the Sacrifice offered upon the Altar, is plain from this, that of this Altar they were to eat. So they that ate of the Jewiſh Sacrifices, are ſaid to be κοινωνοὶ θυσιαστηρίου, Partakers of the Altar, 1 Cor. 10. 18. i. e. of the Things offered at the Altar; and then it muſt import, the Body of our Lord offered, and broken on the Croſs; by partaking the Memorials of which Body, we teſtifie our Communion with Chriſt and his Church, ibid. v. 16, 17. and of this, ſaith the Apoſtle, they have not Right to partake who adhere ſtill to the Moſaical Oblations.

Ver. 11. Περὶ ἁμαρτίας.] That περὶ ἁμαρτίας, ſignifies a Sacrifice for Sin, or a Sin-Offering, ſee Note on 2 Cor. 5. ult.

Ver. 12. Without the Gate.] That Sin-Offering which was carried without the Camp, whilſt they were in the Wilderneſs, when the Temple was ſeated at Jeruſalem, was carried without the Gate of the City, Maimon. de Rat. Sacrif. Faciend. cap. 7. §. 4. Ainſw. in Lev. 6. 30. And this is the reaſon of the Variation of the Phraſe here.

Ver. 13. Τοίνυν ἐξερχώμεθα,] Some quarrel, with the Apoſtle, for beginning a Sentence with τοίνυν, which it is confeſſed that the beſt Græcians rarely do, but this ſaith Stephanus is not without Example; and Vigerius notes, τοίνυν initio quidem periodi ponitur, ſed tamen vocem ſequi, that is, it is ſometimes firſt in Poſition, but is not ſo in Conſtruction.

Ibid. His Reproach:] I. e. His Croſs, and Sufferings, which the Perſecuting Jews inflict upon his Followers, as they did upon Him, perſecuting them even to ſtrange Cities, Acts 26. 11. and from City to City.

Ver. 15. Θυσίαν αἰνέσεως, The Sacrifice of Praiſe.] The Jews ſay, that, In ſeculo futuro, (e) In the Age to come, (which often ſignifies the Age of the Meſſiah,) all Oblations ſhall ceaſe, but the Oblation of Thankſgiving, which ſhall never ceaſe; and that Praiſe is more acceptable to God than all Sacrifices; which they prove from thoſe words of the Pſalmiſt, I will not reprove thee for thy Sacrifices, becauſe they were not always before me: Offer unto God Thankſgiving, Pſalm 50. 23. He that offereth Praiſe, honoureth me. And the Greek Commentators obſerve, that the Sacrifices God now requires, are unbloody Sacrifices, to wit, thoſe of Praiſe and Thankſgiving, and Imitation of Chriſt. So Chryſoſtom, and OEcumenius.

Ibid. Καρπὸν χειλέων, The Calves of our Lips.] Hoſ. 14. 2. So the Jews themſelves interpret theſe words, What ſhall we render for the Calves of our Lips? (f) Dr. Pocock notes, That καρπὸς is here taken for κάρπωμα, which in the Septuagint ſignifies an Holocauſt; which being uſually of young Bullocks, correſponds to the Calves of our Lips, in Hebrew. So in the Song of the Three Children, καρπῶσαι ἐπὶ σοῦ, is to ſacrifice before thee, V. 14.

p Ver. 17. Τοῖς ἡγουμένοις ὑμῶν.] Περὶ Ἐπισκόπων λέγει, he ſpeaks of Biſhops, ſay Chryſoſtom, OEcumenius, and Theophylact. (g) Clemens Romanus places them before the Presbyters, ſaying, Τοῖς νόμοις Θεοῦ ἐπορεύεσθε, ὑποτασσόμενοι τοῖς ἡγουμένοις ὑμῶν καὶ τιμὴν τὴν καθήκουσαν ἀπονέμοντες τοῖς παρ' ὑμῖν Πρεσβυτέροις, Ye walked in the Laws of God, being ſubject to your Guides or Rulers, and giving convenient Honour to your Presbyters, or Elders.

q Ibid. Μετὰ χαρᾶς, With Joy: ] That is, ſay others, that they may go on with their Work joyfully, which they can only execute with Trouble and Sadneſs, when they find you refractory to their Admonitions: But theſe words, That they may do it, ſeem plainly to relate to the Account they muſt give up hereafter to God.

r Ver. 18. Ἐν πᾶσι, ] In all Times, Circumſtances, Things, and Places. Here is the true Teſt of an Upright Conſcience, that in all Times, Things, and Caſes, it renders us induſtrious to walk exactly according to the Rules of Righteouſneſs. The want of this, ſome of the Jews might ſuſpect in the Apoſtle, as not being concerned for the Obſervation of the Law.

ſ Ver. 20. Theſe words ſeem to expreſs all the three Offices of our Great Mediator, which are the Foundations of all our Prayers and Praiſes directed to God, and of all the Bleſſings we receive or expect from Him; his Prophetick Office, in that he is ſtiled the Great Shepherd of the Sheep; his Prieſtly Office, in that he is ſaid to be brought again from the Dead with the Blood of the Everlaſting Covenant; and his Kingly Office, in that he is ſtiled our Lord Jeſus.

t Ver. 21. Καταρτίσαι ὑμᾶς, Make you Perfect. ] Here is the Duty of every good Chriſtian, to be ready for every good Work, Tit. 3. 1. doing the Will of God from the Heart, Eph. 6. 6.

Ibid. Ποιῶν ἐν ὑμῖν, Working in you, &c. ] Here is the Power by which we are enabled ſo to do, and the Motive to the Performance of our Duty, viz. the Grace of God teaching us, denying all Ungodlineſs, and Worldly Luſts, to live Righteouſly, Soberly, and Godly, in this preſent World; and the Expectation of the bleſſed Hope and glorious Appearance of our Lord, to reward our Services, Tit. 2. 11, 12, 13. The Love of God the Father, in giving up his Son to the Death for us; and of Jeſus Chriſt, who gave himſelf for us, that he might redeem us from all Iniquity, and purifie to himſelf a peculiar People zealous of good Works, v. 14. and who died for All, that they who live, might not henceforth live unto themſelves, but unto him that died for them, 2 Cor. 5. 15. And laſtly, The Inward Aſſiſtances of the Holy Spirit, bringing theſe things to our remembrance, exciting us to the Performance of our Duty, ſtrengthening us againſt our Temptations, and comforting and ſupporting us under our Sufferings.

Ibid. Ποιῶν ἐν ὑμῖν τὸ εὐάρεστον ἐνώπιον αὐτοῦ, working in you that which is well pleaſing in his Sight.] That God doth ſome way work in us every good Work, and whatſoever is well pleaſing in his Sight, can be denied by none, who underſtand the Scriptures, and one would think it ſhould be as little the Subject of Diſpute, whether God works theſe things as a Vomit, or a Purge works in us by Phyſical, and irreſiſtible Operations, or whether he works on reaſonable Creatures by offering Reaſons to perſwade them, and upon Men endowed with a Will to make them willing, as all Men do by propounding Motives, and Encouragements of a prevailing Nature, to engage them to chooſe the Good, and refuſe the Evil, of which I have ſaid ſo much in the Treatiſe of Grace, annexed to 2 Cor. 6. 1. that I ſhall ſay nothing more at preſent, but that it is unaccountable how Actions ſhould be good, unleſs we conſent to them, or how they ſhould be ours, unleſs we chooſe, and do them. This Text is therefore vainly urged to prove that we are purely Paſſive in the Work of our Converſion, and that we neither do nor can do any thing towards it.

1*ſt*, Becauſe God evidently ſpeaks this to them who were already true Believers, and Converts to the Chriſtian Faith, and wanted only to be made perfect in every good Work; 2*dly*, Becauſe he exhorts all Chriſtians to Work out their Salvation with Fear and Trembling, upon this very Account, that it is God that worketh in them both to will and to do, Philip. 2. 13. For if God ſo worketh in us, that we do not co-operate with him, why are we commanded to work out our Salvation? For can we act where we are purely Paſſive? Or can that be a Reaſon, why we our ſelves ſhould act, that another will effectually do this very thing without our Co-operation? Is it not rather a Reaſon, why we ſhould not work at all; ſince this Work will be certainly performed without us? See more to this effect in the Note on 2 Philip. 13. Note alſo that the Word καταρτίσαι, which begins this Verſe, ſignifies fully to inſtruct, as in thoſe Words, Luke 6. 40. The Diſciple is not above his Maſter, κατηρτισμένος δὲ πᾶς, but he that is fully inſtructed is as his Maſter, 1 Cor. 1. 10. ἦτε δὲ κατηρτισμένοι, be ye perfectly inſtructed in the ſame Mind, and Judgment, Eph. 4. 12. God hath appointed Apoſtles, Prophets, and Evangeliſts, Paſtors, and Teachers, πρὸς τὸν καταρτισμὸν τῶν ἁγίων, for the full Inſtruction of the Saints, till we all come to the Unity of the Faith, and Knowledge of the Son of God, v. 13. So the Gloſſa Græco-latina, καταρτίζω, ſtruo, inſtruo, κατηρτισμένος, conſtructus, in- ſtructus, and in this Senſe this may be reaſonably deemed a Prayer that God would fully inſtruct the believing Jews in every good Work requiſite to be done in Obedience to his Will, and ſo would work in them that which was well pleaſing in his Sight, we being thus transformed by the renewing of our Mind εἰς τὸ δοκιμάζειν, that we may approve (and ſo be enclined to do) the Good, εὐάρεστον, well pleaſing, and perfect Will of God, Rom. 12. 2.

(g) Epiſt. ad Roman. §. 1.

u Ibid. Ὧ ἡ δόξα εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας τῶν αἰώνων, To whom be Glory for ever, Amen. [ Here Schlictingius ſaith, that he who is a Chriſtian, cannot be ignorant, that Glory for ever and ever, is to be aſcribed to Chriſt, as well as to the Father, as it is, Rev. 5. 12, 13. and 2 Pet. 3. 18. And how then can he be ignorant, that Chriſt is to be owned as the True God? This being the Doxology aſcribed in the New Teſtament, To Him, of whom, and by whom, and to whom are all things, Rom. 11. 36. To God the Father, Gal. 1. 5. To the Omnipotent God, Epheſ. 3. 20, 24. To Him who dwelleth in Light inacceſſible, 2 Tim. 4. 15, 16. To the God of all Grace, 1 Pet. 5. 10, 11. To the only Wiſe God our Saviour, Jude 25. In (h) St. Clemens, it is frequently aſcribed, Τῷ Θεῷ παντοκράτορι, To Almighty God, to whom be Glory for ever and ever, Amen, as a Character peculiarly belonging to Him. And in the (i) Jeruſalem Targum, this is the frequent Appendix to the mention of the great God, Let his Name be bleſſed, ( i. e. glorified ) for ever and ever, Amen. So that both in the Opinion of Jews and Chriſtians this was a Doxology proper to the True God.

Ver. 24. Τοὺς ἡγουμένους, That have the Rule over you. ] Hence it ſeems evident, that this Epiſtle was not ſent to the Biſhops, or Rulers of the Church, but to the whole Church, or to the Laity.

ON THE # Seven Catholick Epiſtles.

The GENERAL
PREFACE.

OF theſe Epiſtles in the General, I have only this to Note, That from the Fourth Century they have both obtained the Name of Catholick Epiſtles, and alſo have been ranked in the ſame Order in which they now ſtand in our Bibles, viz. by the Council of (a) Laodicea, by (b) Cyril of Jeruſalem, by (c) Athanaſius, and (d) Greg. Nazianzen; by (e) Amphilochius, and by others.

Only it is not eaſie to aſſign the Reaſon why they in a particular manner were ſo called: It could not be, becauſe they were paſſim receptæ ab omnibus, & ubique, generally received by all; for we learn from the Teſtimonies of (f) Origen, (g) Euſebius, (h) Amphilochius, and (i) St. Jerom, that the Ancients doubted of Four of the Seven, or Five of them.

OEcumenius, and others, ſay they were ſo ſtiled, becauſe they were written, not to one Nation, as were generally thoſe of St. Paul, ἀλλὰ καθόλȣ τοῖς πιςοῖς, ἤτοι Ἰȣδαίοις τοῖς ἐν τῇ διασπορᾷ, but generally to the Faithful, or to the Jews of the Diſperſion: Which laſt Expreſſion ſeems to hint the true reaſon of the Name, viz. becauſe excepting the two brief Epiſtles of St. John, they were written to the Jews diſperſed throughout the World. Which, though it be true alſo of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, yet hath that no Inſcription, and for a long time was alſo queſtioned; nor was it written to the diſperſed Jews, but to the Inhabitants of Judæa, chap. 13. and upon theſe Accounts might not come into the Number.

TO THE

General Epiſtle of St. JAMES.

§. 1. THAT the Author of this Epiſtle was an Apoſtle, hath been proved, Note on v. 1. whence it muſt follow, that could not be James the Son of Zebedee, becauſe that James was ſlain by Herod, A. D. 44. twenty eight Years before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which yet was nigh at hand, and even at the Door when this Epiſtle was endited; See Note on Chap. 5. 8, 9. Nor could be be James the Juſt, Biſhop of Jeruſalem, for he was no Apoſtle, if he was not the ſame Perſon with James the Leſs. It ſeemeth therefore that he was James the Son of Alphæus, Apoſtle, and Brother of our Lord, ſtiled James the Leſs, in diſtinction from James the Son of Zebedee, ſtiled the Greater, by reaſon of his Age. For that the James mentioned by St. Paul, Gal. 1. 19. was an Apoſtle in the ſtrict Acceptation of the Word, is evident from this, that having ſpoken of St. Peter, who doubtleſs was an Apoſtle in that ſenſe, he adds, Others of the Apoſtles ſaw I none, ſave James the Lord's Brother; and, Chap. 2. 6. he reckons him with Peter and John, among the ςύλοι, or the chief Pillars of the Church; and to me he ſeems to be the ſame with James the Biſhop of Jeruſalem. For,

1ſt, Of this James the Biſhop of Jeruſalem, who was ſtiled the Juſt, (a) St. Jerom ſaith, That he was the Son of Mary, the Siſter of the Mother of our Lord, of whom St. John makes mention, chap. 19. 25. where ſhe is ſtiled the Wife of Cleophas, or Alphæus; and by St. Mark, chap. 15. 40. the Mother of James the Leſs.

2dly, It ſeems highly probable, that the James mentioned, Acts 15. was ſtrictly an Apoſtle; for Paul and Barnabas were ſent up to the Apoſtles and Elders, ver. 2. they were received by the Apoſtles and Elders, ver. 4. The Apoſtles and Elders were gathered together, to decide the Queſtion touching the Circumciſion of the Gentiles, ver. 6. The firſt Perſon that ſpeaks to it is Peter the Apoſtle, the ſecond James, who having determined the Queſtion, it ſeemed good to the Apoſtles and Brethren to ſend Letters to the Churches, ver. 22. And theſe they ſend with this Inſcription, The Apoſtles, Elders and Brethren. In all which Places it it evident, that the Word Apoſtles, muſt be taken in the proper Senſe, they being ſtill diſtinguiſhed from all the Elders or Biſhops which were not Apoſtles: Nor can it be thought reaſonable that St. James here ſhould be ranked among the Elders, or the Inferior ſort of the Clergy; it remains then that he was in the ſtrict ſenſe an Apoſtle. There being therefore no other of that Name then living, but James the Son of Alphæus, who alſo was the Brother of our Lord, i. e. his Mother's Siſter's Son, (i. e. his Couſin) he, in all likelihood, muſt be the Biſhop of Jeruſalem.

3dly, The Story of Three that were called James, viz. James the Great, James the Leſs, and James Biſhop of Jeruſalem, is, ſaith (b) Dr. Cave, a great Miſtake, and built upon a ſandy Bottom; "For beſides that the "Scripture mentions no more than two of this "Name, and both Apoſtles, nothing can be "plainer than that St. James the Apoſtle, whom "St. Paul calls the Brother of our Lord, was "the ſame that preſided among the Apoſtles, "and determined in the Synod at Jeruſalem. "Nor do either (c) Clemens Alexandrinus, or

(c) Δύο δὲ γεγόνασιν Ἰάκωβοι, εἷς ὁ δίκαιος ὁ κατὰ τοῦ πτερυγίου βληθείς.——Ἕτερος δὲ ὁ καρατομηθείς, αὐτοῦ δὲ δικαίου ϗ ὁ Παῦλος μνημονεύει γράφων, ἕτερον δὲ τῶν Ἀποστόλων ἐκ εἶδον εἰ μὴ Ἰάκωβον τὸν ἀδελφὸν τοῦ Κυρίου. Clem. apud Euſeb. l. 2. c. 1. p. 38.

" Euſebius out of him, mention any more than " two, St. James put to Death by Herod, and " St. James the Juſt, Biſhop of Jeruſalem, " whom they expreſly affirm to be the ſame " with him whom St. Paul calls the Brother of " our Lord. Once indeed Euſebius makes our " St. James one of the Seventy, though elſe- " where quoting a Place of (d) Clemens of A- " lexandria, he numbers him with the chief of " the Apoſtles, and expreſly diſtinguiſhes him " from the Seventy Diſciples." And though (e) St. Jerom, when he repreſents the Opinion of others, ſtiles him the 13*th* Apoſtle, yet elſewhere, when ſpeaking his own ſenſe, he ſufficiently proves that there were but two, (f) James the Son of Zebedee, and the other the Son of Alpheus, the one Sirnamed the Greater, the other the Leſs; and he frequently ſtiles the Author of this Epiſtle writ to the Twelve Tribes, James the Apoſtle: Beſides, ſaith he, the main ſupport of the other Opinion is built upon the Authority of Clemens his Recognitions, a Book, in doubtful Caſes, of no Eſteem and Value.

§. 2. And having thus ſhewed, that James the Apoſtle, and Brother of our Lord, was the Author of this Epiſtle, we cannot reaſonably doubt the Authority of it; eſpecially if we conſider that it is cited by (g) Clemens Romanus four ſeveral times, and by (h) Ignatius in his genuine Epiſtle to the Epheſians, by (i) Origen in his Thirteenth Homily upon Geneſis. (k) Euſebius ſaith, It was known to moſt, and publickly read in moſt Chriſtian Chusches: (l) St. Jerom, That in proceſs of Time it obtained Authority. (m) Eſthius notes, " That they who before doubted of it, in the " Fourth Century embraced the Opinion of them " who received it, and that from thence no " Church, no Eccleſiaſtical Writer, is found " who ever doubted of it; but on the contrary, " all the Catalogues of the Books of Holy Scrip- " ture, publiſhed by General or Provincial " Councils, Roman Biſhops, or other Ortho- " dox Writers, number it among the Canonical " Scriptures; quæ probatio ad certam fidem faciendam cuique Catholico ſufficere debet; which Proof muſt give ſufficient Certainty of it to any Catholick. As for the ſeeming Contradiction of this Epiſtle to the Doctrine of Saint Paul, in the Matter of Juſtification by Faith, ſee it ſufficiently cleared in the Cloſe of the Annotations on the 2*d Chapter.*

§. 3. 4thly, That this Epiſtle was directed to the Twelve Tribes which were ſcattered abroad, the Words of this Epiſtle ſhew, but whether the Twelve Tribes import only thoſe of them which returned into Judæa, or thoſe of them alſo who were carried away by the Aſſyrians, and never returned to their own Nation, ſo as to make any more a diſtinct People, or a Body Politick, under their own Governors, is uncertain: That God had abſolutely determined, that the Ten Tribes ſhould never more return to ſuch a State, the Prophet Hoſea in many Places doth inform us; as when God by him ſaith, I will no more have Mercy on the Houſe of Iſrael, but I will utterly take them away, chap. 1. 6. That they ſhould be among the Gentiles as a Veſſel wherein is no Pleaſure, chap. 8. 8. That they ſhould not dwell in the Lord's Land, chap. 9. 3. And again, I will drive them out of my Houſe, I will love them no more: My God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not hearken to him, and they ſhall be Wanderers among the Nations, v. 15. 17.

And yet that God deſigned not to exclude them from the Bleſſings promiſed in the Days of the Meſſiah, or from being called into the Church of Chriſt, is as evident from many Expreſſions, and gracious Promiſes of God, recorded in that Prophet, concerning the ſame Tribes of Iſrael; as, v. g. That the Number of the Children of Iſrael ſhall be as the Sand of the Sea, which cannot be meaſured nor numbered: And it ſhall come to paſs, that in the Place where it was ſaid unto them, Ye are not my People; there it ſhall be ſaid unto them, Ye are the Sons of the Living God, chap. 1. 10, 11, &c. And again, I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in Righteouſneſs and Judgment, and in Loving-Kindneſs, and in Mercies; I will even betroth thee unto me in Faithfulneſs, and thou ſhalt know the Lord, chap. 2. 19, 20. I will have Mercy on her which had not obtained Mercy; and I will ſay to them which were not my People, Thou art my People; and they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God, v. 23. And again, Afterwards ſhall the Children of Iſrael return, and ſeek the Lord their God, and David their King, and ſhall fear the Lord, and his Goodneſs, in the latter Days, chap. 3. 5. See chap. 14. 4, 8. Now theſe Prophecies being not to be fulfilled upon them, by bringing them into their own Land; it ſeemeth reaſonable to conceive, they might be fulfilled, by calling them to embrace the Goſpel; and that by doing ſo, were thoſe words fulfilled, I will call them my People who were not my People, not only towards the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 24, 25, 26. but alſo towards thoſe Iſraelites of whom they primarily were ſpoken, 1 Pet. 2. 10. And to this the Inſcription ſeems to lead us, it being τῆ δωδεκα φυλαῖς, ταῖς ἐν τῇ διασπορᾷ, To the Twelve Tribes; To thoſe who are in the Diſperſion. That the Places whither theſe Ten Tribes were carried by the Aſſyrians, were well known to the other Jews, ſee proved by Dr. Lightfoot; that in Meſopotamia, Media, and Babylon, where they were placed, the Jews abounded in a very great meaſure. (n) Joſephus teſtifies, they had there three famous Univerſities, Neerda, Sorana, and Pombeditha. We therefore have great Reaſon to believe the Goſpel, was then preached among them, by the Apoſtles of the Circumciſion. See the Preface to the Firſt Epiſtle of St. John.

There is one farther Obſervation taken notice of by Grotius, and Dr. Hammond, That ſome part of this Epiſtle ſeems to be directed, not only to Believers, but even to the Unbelieving Jews, eſpecially the ſix firſt Verſes of the Fifth Chapter, where he ſaith, Ye have killed the Juſt, and he doth not reſiſt you; which cannot well agree to the Converted Jews, to whom he ſeems to turn his Speech, in theſe following Words, Be patient therefore, Brethren, v. 7. Yea, the whole Third and Fourth Chapters may be equally directed to both; the Name of Brethren ſuiting to both, when uſed by a Jew writing to them, Rom. 9. 2.

§. 4. As for the Occaſion of this Epiſtle, it ſeemeth to be written upon two Accounts.

1ſt, To correct the pernicious Errors both in Doctrine and Manners, which had crept into the Theology of the Jews, and had an evil Influence on their Practice. See Note on Chap. 2. 11. and v. 14. to the End of the Chapter.

2dly, To comfort and eſtabliſh the ſincere Believers, under the Preſſures which they then ſuffered, or were ſhortly to expect from the Unbelieving Jews, or their falſe Brethren. Where note,

1. That though the Jews, from the beginning of the Apoſtles Preaching, were ſtill incenſed againſt the Chriſtians; yet ſeeing Chriſtianity, whilſt they continued Preaching to the Jews, did not ſpread much among other Nations, and ſince the Jews were under Reſtraints in the Time of Caius, who had no good Affection to them, they could not proceed far in ſhewing their Hatred to the Chriſtian Faith. What Perſecutions therefore happened in thoſe early Times, concerned only the Churches of Judæa, or thereabouts, or ſpent themſelves on the chief Leaders, and Aſſerters of the Chriſtian Faith, St. Stephen, St. James, St. Peter, and St. Paul, or on the Churches converted from the Jewiſh Synagogues, and reached no farther than the Places where they were converted; and though they were begun by Inſtigation of the Jews, yet were they chiefly managed by the Heathen Powers, or by their own Country-men. For about the 39*th Year of* Chriſt, then had the Churches Peace throughout all Judæa, Galilee, and Samaria, Acts 9. 31. and ſo they ſeem to have continued till after the Council of Jeruſalem, the Churches being then eſtabliſhed in the Faith, and encreaſing in number daily, Acts 16. 5. Yea, when Paul comes to Rome, he receives all that came unto him for two whole Years, preaching the Kingdom of God, and teaching the Things which concerned the Lord Jeſus Chriſt with all confidence, no Man forbidding him, Acts 28. 30, 31. So that at leaſt till the 4*th or* 5*th Year of* Nero, the Goſpel was freely preached at Rome, without any Contradiction either of the Romans or the Jews: But then, in his 6th Year, afflicti ſuppliciis Chriſtiani, the Chriſtians were ſubjected to Puniſhment by him, ſaith (o) Suetonius; and it ſeems very probable, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, that even then Nero had by ſome Act or Edict ſuppreſſed Chriſtianity, not only at Rome, but alſo at Judæa; as he gathers from that Clauſe in Tacitus, Repreſſaque in præſens exitiabilis ſuperſtitio, rurſus erumpebat, non modo per Judæam originem ejus mali, ſed per urbem etiam; which ſhews, that before the Perſecution began, in the Tenth of Nero of which Tacitus there ſpeaks, Chriſtianity had been by him ſuppreſſed, not at Rome only, but Judæa. Here then ſome place St. Peter's πύρωσις πρὸς πειρασμὸν, burning for Trial, which forwarded the Defection which was ſo general in the Churches of the Jews that had received the Goſpel, they falling to Moſes again, or joining the Adheſion to the Law with the Profeſſion of the Goſpel, that ſo they might retain their Liberty, the Religion of the Jews not being at all ſuppreſſed by him, and that they might eſcape the Rage of the Jews; who doubtleſs, by his Example, would be induced to expreſs that Hatred they had ſtill borne againſt the Chriſtians. The ſame Nero, in his 10*th Year, renews this Perſecution of the* Chriſtians; and this he did, ſaith (p) Oroſius, not only at Rome, but by his Edict through all the Provinces of his Empire; and this encouraged the Jews every where to ſhew their utmoſt Rage againſt all thoſe of their Religion, whether Jews or Proſelytes, who had embraced the Faith of Chriſt ſincerely; and the more they drew nigh to their final Deſolation, the more did Satan inhance their Fury againſt thoſe Chriſtians whom he found the fatal Enemies and Overthrowers of his Kingdom.

§. 5. Note,

§. 5. Note, laſtly, That whereas Mr. le Clerc ſaith, ( Note on Chap. 5. 3. ) That Saint James doth not ſpeak here to the Jews who had embrac'd the Faith in Paleſtine, but to thoſe who were ſcattered abroad, ſeeing he ſpeaks to the whole Twelve Tribes, I doubt not but thoſe of Paleſtine muſt be included ; but when he adds, That thoſe Jews only who lived in Paleſtine, and the neighbouring Countries, and had riſen up in Arms againſt the Romans, were deſtroyed by them, ſuggeſting that the Jews, diſperſed through the other Parts of the Roman Empire, received no harm : This is a great Miſtake ; for theſe being the Days of Vengeance upon the Unbelievers of that Nation, God's ſevere Judgments reached them every where, as we may fully learn from the rueful Account ( q ) Joſephus gives us of their Calamities throughout all their Diſperſions : For, ſaith he, when the Romans had no Enemies left in Judæa, the Danger reach'd, πολλοῖς καὶ τῶν ἀπωτάτω κατοικούντων, to many of them living the remoteſt from it ; for many of them periſhed at Alexandria, and Cyrene, and in other Cities of Egypt, and throughout all Syria. And Eleazer, in ( r ) Joſephus, having reckon'd up many Places where they were cruelly ſlaughter'd, concludes thus, Μακρὸν ἄν ἔιη νῦν ἰδία λέγειν, 'Twould be too long to ſpeak of all theſe Places in particular.

We know from ( ſ ) Tacitus, and others, that the Jews were a Nation generally hated by all about them, and by thoſe among whom they lived, partly becauſe they uſed, Ritus contrarios cæteris mortalibus, Rites contrary to all other Nations, and ſpake and thought contemptuouſly of their Deities and Worſhip ; partly becauſe they bore, adverſùs omnes alios hoſtile odium, the greateſt Hatred to Men of other Nations, and ſhewed the greateſt Contempt of them, calling them Dogs, and thinking it unlawful to converſe with them, and a Pollution even to touch them. All Nations therefore where they lived, muſt, upon all Occaſions, be ready to riſe up againſt them, as we may learn from the Slaughter of them in ( t ) Cæſarea, Damaſcus, Scythopolis, and throughout all the Cities of Syria, about the beginning of the War, of which Joſephus gives us the Account. When therefore the Romans were very much incenſed againſt them, becauſe when other Nations had ſubmitted to their Empire, ſoli Judæi non ceſſiſſent, they dared to rebel, muſt they not be ſure to ſuffer in every Province where they dwelt, not only from the Roman Governors, but alſo from thoſe People in every Nation who bore ſo great Hatred to them ? And hence ( u ) Euſebius informs us, That they did thus ſuffer in all other Places.

2dly, ( x ) Joſephus doth confeſs, that the Jews in Judea did expect, ἄπαν τὸ ὑπὲρ Εὐφράτην ὁμόφυλον ἡμῖν συνεπαρθήσεσθαι, that all of their own Nation, even beyond Euphrates, ſhould be aſſiſtant to them in this War : And doubtleſs they were not wholly diſappointed in their Expectation ; for in their War commenced under Hadrian, ( y ) Dion expreſsly ſays, That the Jews out of all Nations came to their Help. We therefore reaſonably may conceive, this alſo was ſo in the former War under Veſpaſian and Titus, and then we cannot doubt that they who ſhared in the War, muſt alſo bear a Share in the Calamities it brought upon that Nation, in thoſe Days of Vengeance, which befel them for their Infidelity, and the Rejection of the True Meſſiah, of which the Jews who lived in other Nations were as guilty as thoſe who lived in Judæa.

§. 6. And hence alſo I return an Anſwer to an Objection which I foreſee may be made againſt my Interpretation of ſome Paſſages in the Fourth and Fifth Chapters of this Epiſtle, viz. that I reſtrain them to what was done to, and by the Jews in Judæa ; whereas this Epiſtle is written to the Twelve Tribes which were ſcattered abroad, v. 1.

For 1ſt, As all the Jews of the Diſperſion were under the Government of the Sanhedrim, and after, of the Patriarch of the Jews reſiding in Judæa, and obey'd his Pleaſure ; ſo many, both of Jews and Proſelytes, went up out of all Nations to their Feaſts : When the Holy Ghoſt fell down on the Apoſtles at the Day of Pentecoſt, we find them there, Acts 2. and when Jeruſalem was beſieged at their ( z ) Paſchal Feaſt ; and ſo, even upon that account, they muſt be ſomewhat concern'd in what was done and ſuffer'd in Judæa ; and if they ſided with them in that War, as I have ſhew'd it probable they did, they muſt be more concern'd in theſe Matters. But,

2dly, Joſephus tells us, That they had Wars about the ſame time in many Places of their Diſperſions with the Gentiles ; That when the Alexandrians, in the Reign of Nero, had impeach'd three of their Brethren as Enemies and Spies, (a) ἤρθη πᾶν τὸ Ἰουδαϊκον ἐπὶ τὴν ἄμυναν, all the Jews there roſe up to their Aid ; and that Tiberius Alexander, the Governor of the City, commanded the Roman Legions to ſlay them, καὶ τὰς κτήσεις αὐτῶν διαρπάζειν, καὶ τὰς

CHAP. I.

Ver. 1.[a] JAMES a Servant of God [ the Father, ] and of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [ ſendeth ] [b] to the twelve Tribes which are [c] ſcattered abroad, greeting.

2. My Brethren, count it [ matter, not of ſorrow, but of ] all joy, when [ through the Divine Permiſſion ] ye fall [d] into divers Temptations, [ i. e. Afflictions from the World. ]

3. Knowing this, that [ this outward Trouble ſent for ] [e] the trial of your Faith, [ by the help of God's over-ruling Grace, and the aid of his holy Spirit then eſpecially reſiding on you, 1 Pet. 4. 14.] worketh [ in you ] Patience.

4. But [ And ] let Patience have her perfect work [ in you, ] that [f] ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing [ to make you perfect in Chriſt Jeſus, and entire as to all Chriſtian Graces. ]

5. [ Εἰ δὲ, And ] If any of you lack wiſdom, [ how to exerciſe and preſerve this Patience, under the various Temptations he may be ſubject to, ] let him ask [ it ] of [ that ] God, who giveth to all Men liberally, [ whatſoever he ſees needful for us, ] and upbraideth [ us ] not, [ for want of this Wiſdom, ] and [ if he duly ask, ] [g] it ſhall be given him.

6. But [ then ] let him [ take care to ] [h] ask in Faith, nothing wavering; for he that wavereth [ in the time of Temptation, ] is like a wave of the Sea, driven with the Wind, and toſſed [ to and fro by every Temptation. ]

7. For let not [ μὴ γὰρ, let not then ] that Man think, that he ſhall receive any thing of the Lord.

8. [ For ] a double minded Man is unſtable in all his ways, [ and therefore cannot pray in Faith, as he that would be heard muſt do. ]

9. [ And if Temptations be Matter of the Chriſtian's Joy, ] Let the Brother of [i] low degree [ impoveriſhed by them, ] rejoyce [ ſtill, ] in that he is exalted [ to be rich in Faith, and an Heir of the Kingdom of God, chap. 2. 5. Luke 6. 20.]

10. But [ let ] the [k] rich [ rejoyce, ] in that he is made low; becauſe as the Flower of the Graſs he ſhall paſs away; [ Gr. For as the Flower of the Graſs he ſhall paſs away when it is ſcorched with the Sun; ]

11. For the Sun is no ſooner riſen with a burning heat, but it withereth the Graſs, and the Flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the faſhion of it periſheth; ſo alſo ſhall the rich Man fade away in his ways.

12. Bleſſed is the Man that [ thus ] endureth Temptation, [ for the ſake of Chriſt; ] for when he is tried, [ Gr. δόκιμος γενόμενος. being approved, ] he ſhall receive the Crown of Life, which the Lord hath promiſed to them that love him: [ i. e. being by his patient enduring of theſe Afflictions for the ſake of Chriſt, approved, as one that loves him more than the World, he ſhall receive the Reward promiſed to them that do ſo. ]

13. [ As for the other ſorts of Temptations unto Sin, ] Let no Man ſay, when he is [ thus ] tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any Man [ to it. ]

14. [l] But every Man is tempted, when he is drawn away by his own Luſt, and enticed, [ Gr. being drawn and enticed by his own Luſt. ]

15. Then when Luſt hath conceived, [i. e. obtained any conſent to, or approbation, and good-liking to the Deſire of the Senſual Appetite,] it bringeth forth [and engageth the Soul in] Sin; and Sin, when it is finiſhed, [in the deliberate outward Action, or ſuch Endeavours to perform and execute it, as want nothing on the part of the Will to the Completion of it, and much more when by a m cuſtomary Practice it becomes habitual,] [m] bringeth forth Death, [the Wages of Sin.]

16. Do not err, my beloved Brethren, [by aſcribing your Sin, or your Temptations to it, unto God.]

17. Every good Gift, and every perfect Gift, is from Above, and cometh down from the Father of Lights, [the Light of Nature, and of Grace,] with whom is no variableneſs, neither ſhadow of turning [from Good to Evil; He therefore never will deny thoſe Gifts to them that duly ask him, nor will he ever be wanting in his Grace and Favour to them that love him, and much leſs will he tempt any one to depart from him]

18. [For] of his own Will begat he us n [Jews] [n] by the Word of Truth, that we ſhould be a kind of Firſt-Fruits of his [New-] Creatures: [We therefore have little Cauſe to think he will do any thing to deſtroy that Life, or deny us any thing which he ſees neceſſary to preſerve that Life which he ſo freely gave.]

19. Wherefore, my beloved Brethren, [being regenerated by this Word of Truth,]
o let every Man be ſwift to hear [it,] [o] ſlow to ſpeak [ver. 26. or be a Teacher of it,
p chap. 3. 1.] [p] ſlow to Wrath, [or Contention,
about it.]

20. For the Wrath of Man worketh not the Righteouſneſs of God; [i. e. it tends not to beget or to improve that Faith by which we are righteous before God, but rather to hinder it in ourſelves, and others.

21. Wherefore, lay apart all filthineſs, [all evil luſtings, v. 14.] and ſuperfluity of Naughtineſs, [all the Diſtempers of your Tongue, and of your angry Paſſions, v. 19.] and receive with meekneſs the [q] ingrafted Word, which [being q
thus received,] is able to ſave your Souls.

22. But [that it may have this effect upon you,] be ye Doers of the Word, and not Hearers only, deceiving your ownſelves, [by thinking that ſufficient to procure favour with God.]

23. [r] For if any [Man] be a Hearer of the r Word [only,] and not a Doer [of it,] he is like unto a Man beholding his [own] natural Face [which he was born with,] in a Glaſs.

24. For he beholdeth himſelf, and goeth [preſently] his way, and ſtraightway forgets what manner of Man he was.

25. But whoſo looketh into the perfect Law of Liberty, [i. e. the Goſpel, which gives the Spirit of Liberty, and freedom from the Power of Sin, and Death, and from the Spirit of Bondage, Rom. 8. 2, 15. 2 Cor. 3. 17.] and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful Hearer, but a Doer of the Word; this Man ſhall be bleſſed in his Deed.

26. If any Man among you ſeem to be religious, and bridleth not his Tongue [from bitter Zeal, Contentions, and Imprecations, chap.
3. 10, 14.] [s] but deceiveth, [Gr. deceiving] ſ his own Heart, [thinks his Zeal for God will bear him out in all this,] that Man's Religion is vain, [chap. 3. 14, 15.]

27. Pure Religion, and undefiled before God, and [i. e. who is] the Father, is [viſible in] this, [that it engages the Chriſtian] [t] to viſit the t Fatherleſs and Widows in their Affliction, and to keep himſelf unſpotted from the World.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. J*Ames*] That this was James an Apoſtle, is confirmed from the Teſtimony of (a) Euſebius, who declares of that James to whom the Ancients aſcribed this Epiſtle, that he was the Brother of the Lord. The ſame we learn from the Syriack, Arabick, Vulgar, and Ethiopick Verſions, by all which he is ſtiled James the Apoſtle.

b Ibid. Ταῖς δώδεκα φυλαῖς, To the Twelve Tribes.] That ſome of the Ten Tribes remained in, and ſome of them returned to the Land of Iſrael, we are aſſured from the Cities of Manaſſeh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even to Nephthali, purged by Joſiah from their Idols, 2 Chron. 34. 6. from the Money ſent in to repair the Houſe of the Lord from Manaſſeh, Ephraim, and the Remnant of Iſrael, v. 9. from the mention made of the Children of Iſrael, that were come again out of their Captivity, Eſdr. 6. 21. and the Sin-Offering, made by Ezra at the Dedication of the Temple, of Twelve Goats, according to the number of the Tribes of Iſrael, v. 17. and from theſe following Words, chap. 8. 35. The Children of thoſe which had been carried away, which were come out of the Captivity, offered Twelve Goats for a Sin-Offering: And laſtly, from the mention of the Twelve Tribes by the Apoſtle Paul, who inſtantly ſerved God Day and Night, Acts 26. 7.

c Ibid. Ἐν τῇ διασπορᾷ, Which are ſcattered abroad.] That the Jews were diſperſed throughout the World, we learn from the Words of Agrippa, in his Oration to them, who tells them, That (b) there was not a Nation upon Earth where ſome part of them were not ſeated: And that if they of Judæa ſhould rebel, all of them that reſided in other Places would be deſtroyed, and every City would be filled with the Blood of them. From the Words of Strabo, cited by (c) Joſephus, That it was not eaſy to find an eminent Place in the whole World where the Jews did not reſide. From (d) Philo, in his Oration againſt Flaccus, where he makes mention, τῶν πανταχόθεν τῆς οἰκουμένης Ἰουδαίων, of the Jews diſperſed throughout all the World: Adding, That one Region could not contain the Jews, but (e) they dwelt in moſt of the flouriſhing Cities of Aſia, and in Europe, in the Iſlands, and in the Continents, not much leſs in Number than the Inhabitants; and introducing (f) Agrippa interceding to Caius for them, as inhabiting in the moſt celebrated Parts of Africa, Aſia, and Europe. And even (g) Cicero, in his Oration for another Flaccus, declares, That the Gold which the Jews ſent to their Temple at Jeruſalem, was ſent from Italy, and all the other Provinces of the Roman Empire.

(a) Eccl, Hiſt, l, 2. c, 23.

Ver. 2. Πειρασμοῖς ποικίλοις, Into divers Temptations.] Temptations, ſaith Oecumenius, are of two Kinds; 1*ſt*, Such as lead to Sin, which the Luſts of the Fleſh, and the Love of Riches, produce in us, 1 Tim. 6. 9. againſt which our Lord inſtructs us to pray that we enter not into them; and of theſe the Apoſtle begins to diſcourſe, v. 13. Or ſuch as are ſent for the Trial of our Conſtancy and Sincerity in the Faith; and to our Patience and Perſeverance under theſe, is promiſed a great Reward in Heaven: And of theſe the Apoſtle ſpeaketh here, and, v. 12. See Luke 22. 28. Heb. 4. 15.

Ver. 3. Τὸ δοκίμιον, The Trial of our Faith:] Being attended with theſe Aſſiſtances, and Conſolations of the Holy Ghoſt, and theſe firm Hopes of a moſt glorious Reward of all our Sufferings, tends naturally to make us bear them patiently (as the Apoſtle ſpeaketh here.) But then it is as true, that ὑπομονὴ κατεργάζεται τὴν δοκιμὴν, Rom. 5. 4. i. e. that this Patience worketh the Trial; and by that, in good Chriſtians, the Experience of their Sincerity and Conſtancy in the Faith; and therefore it concerns them not to faint under theſe Tribulations.

Ver. 4. Τέλειοι, That you may be perfect and entire.] For where there is this perfect Work of Patience, there muſt be a ſtrong Faith as the Foundation of it, a ſteddy Vertue, or Chriſtian Fortitude, enabling us thus to ſuſtain theſe fiery Trials; an exact Knowledge of our Duty, to bear theſe Afflictions with a meek and quiet Spirit, with Forgiveneſs of, Love to, and Prayer for them that perſecute us, which includes the Height of Charity, under the higheſt Provocations; a great Love to God, for whoſe Sake we ſuffer, and a ſtrong Affection to his Service; a greater Fear of his Diſpleaſure, than of the Wrath of Man; an entire Truſt and Dependance on him, and a full Reſignation to his Will of Providence, in which conſiſts the Life of Godlineſs; an exact Temperance, as to the Honours, Pleaſures, and Temporal Concernments of this Life we loſe by theſe our Sufferings, and a true Charity to our Chriſtian Brethren, for whoſe Example and Encouragement we do thus ſuffer. Now theſe are all the Graces which the Apoſtle Peter doth require to make us fruitful, and perfect Chriſtians, 2 Pet. 1, 5, 6, 7, 8.

Ver. 5. Δοθήσεται, It ſhall be given.] Hence it appears, that this Wiſdom depends not on our own Skill, or Strength; nor can it be obtained without Divine Aſſiſtance.

Ver. 6. Αἰτείτω—μηδὲν διακρινόμενος, ἀνὴρ γὰρ δίψυχος.] What is the ἀνὴρ δίψυχος, καὶ διακρινόμενος, the Double-minded, and the Wavering Man, we may learn from (h) Hermes, who informs us, that Viſions and Revelations are, διὰ τοὺς διψύχους, for the Double-minded, i. e. τοὺς διαλογιζομένους ἐν ταῖς καρδίαις αὐτῶν, εἰ ἄρα ἐστι ταῦτα ἢ οὐκ ἔστιν· that is, for them who reaſon in their Hearts, whether theſe things will be, or not. And again, (i) Credite Deo qui eſtis dubii, Believe in God, you that are doubtful, for he can do all things. Wo to the Doubtful, who have heard theſe things, and contemned them. And again (k) They that doubt of God, they are the Double-minded, who ſhall receive none of their Requeſts. See the whole Mandate to the ſame Effect. And from that of (l) Barnabas, touching him that walketh in the Way of Light, That, οὐ μὴ διψυχήσῃ, he will not be doubtful whether a thing will be ſo, or not. From the like Precept of the (m) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, μὴ γίνου δίψυχος, Be not doubtful in thy Prayer, whether thy Petition will be heard, or not: And from (n) St. Clement, With whom, οἱ δίψυχοι, the Doubtful are, οἱ διστάζοντες περὶ τῆς τοῦ Θεοῦ δυνάμεως, the Diſtruſters of the Power of God. This Faith therefore relates to Prayer, and is a firm Belief that God will afford to his ſincere Servants, under all their Sufferings for his ſake, ſuch Aid as will enable them to bear them with true Chriſtian Patience, 1 Cor. 10. 13. and ſuch Wiſdom as will direct them to improve theſe Sufferings to his Glory, and their Good. He that doubts of this, will be now Hoping, and anon Deſponding, apt to quit his Dependance on God, and lean on his own Wiſdom, and ready to caſt off that Religion which ſubjects him to theſe Temptations from which he expects no good Iſſue; and therefore wanting that Faith in God which is here made the Condition of an acceptable Prayer, &c. he cannot hope to obtain any thing of him.

(m) Lib. 7. c. 11. (n) Ep. ad Cor. §. 11. El. 23.

i Ver. 9. Ὁ ταπεινὸς, The Man of low Degree, ] In the Old Teſtament, is the poor and afflicted Man. So עני is, in the Septuagint, πένης, ταπεινὸς, the Poor, the Afflicted, עניה, πενία, ταπείνωσις, Poverty, or Lowneſs of State. And this Senſe here is confirmed from the oppoſition of the Rich to him.

k Ver. 10. Ὁ πλούσιος, The Rich. ] Let God ſaith (o) Philo, be the Matter of thy chief Joy, not Riches, Honour, Strength, or Beauty, theſe being μαραινόμενα τρόπον τινὰ πρὶν ἀνθῆσαι βεβαίως, things which wither before they are fully grown up. Let then the Chriſtian conſider, that the things he loſeth for the ſake of Chriſt, are only things of ſuch a fading nature; whereas he doth ſecure, by his Perſeverance, an Everlaſting Treaſure reſerved for him in the Heavens; and then he may rejoyce in his Humiliation. Note alſo an Ellipſis of the Verb καυχάσθω, Let him rejoyce, v. 10. to be taken from v. 9. So, John 15. 4. 1 Cor. 4. 15. Gal. 2. 7. Eph. 1. 12.

l Ver. 14. Note here, That the Deſires, or Luſtings of the Senſual Appetite, put us only under a State of Temptation, not of Actual Sin: They are indeed the Root of Sin, but ſo is Temptation to Sin, and the Suggeſtions of Satan; but they are not our Sins, till we conſent to them: They are not a Tranſgreſſion of the Law, for there is no Law given to the Senſual Appetite alone, but to the whole Man, who cannot hinder Senſual Appetites from ariſing in him before he perceives them; but he can reſtrain the Will from conſenting to them as ſoon as he perceives them; and can refuſe to admit of them, or ſuffer them to make ſtay in, or gain upon his Mind to contemplate them with delight, or aſſent to them: And this being all he can do, muſt be all he is obliged by the Law to do. There be many Scriptures urged againſt this Opinion in the Synopſis, but they are too impertinent to be inſiſted on.

Ver. 15. Ἀποκύει θάνατον, Bringeth forth Death: ] I. e. Not only deſerveth Death, for ſo doth the Conſent of the Will; but it renders us obnoxious to Death, and will end in it, without Repentance. Hence therefore note, That not only the Soul harden'd in Sin, and given up to the frequent Practice of the ſame Sin, is guilty of Mortal Sin, but every deliberate ſinful Action done againſt the Convictions and Checks of Conſcience, till by Repentance it is retracted, puts us under that State, as being a Breach of the Goſpel-Covenant of ſincere and impartial Obedience, a departing of the Heart from God, and a wilful and preſumptuous Sin: And therefore David, after his Adultery and Murder, prays that God would create in him the clean Heart, and renew in him the right Spirit. Tho' therefore God in Mercy may, and will deal with ſuch Men, not according to their particular Failures, but according to the general Tenor of their Lives; yet can they claim no Covenant-Right to ſuch a Favour, till they have throughly repented of ſuch wilful Sins, and returned to the ſincere Performance of their Duty.

Ver. 18. Λόγῳ ἀληθείας, By the Word of Truth. ] Here is a plain Evidence, that the Word of God is the Ordinary Means of our Regeneration, it being the Word preached, the Word we are to hear, v. 19. 22. and to receive with meekneſs, by which the New-Birth is by God wrought in us, and which, ſaith the Apoſtle, is able to ſave the Soul. And it is ſurely a great Diſparagement to the Word of God, to think that his Perſwaſions, Admonitions, Exhortations, and Threats, ſhould be all inſufficient to prevail with us to turn from our ſinful Courſes, and to turn to Him; when all Men who do uſe theſe Methods towards their Children, Servants, Friends, or Relations, do it in hopes they ſhall be ſucceſsful by theſe Means: Only this is not ſo to be underſtood, as to exclude the Bleſſing and Co-operation of God with the Word preached, or the Aſſiſtance of his Holy Spirit, ſetting it home upon our Hearts; provided this be not by way of Phyſical, but Moral Operation, by that Illumination of the Underſtanding from the Word, which produceth that Renovation in the Spirit of the Mind, by which we are enabled to diſcern, and to approve the good, and acceptable and perfect Will of God, Rom. 12. 2. Eph. 4. 23. to diſcern what is acceptable to the Lord, Eph. 5. 10. to underſtand what the Will of the Lord is, v. 17. the things that are moſt excellent. And if the Word of God be a perfect Rule, able to make us wiſe unto Salvation, and furniſh us for every good Work, ſure the Good Spirit may by his

Suggeſtion of the Truths delivered in it, by bringing them to our Remembrance, and opening our Underſtanding to perceive the Scriptures, remove that Darkneſs which is in our Minds, either by natural Corruption, or by the Miſts which Satan caſts upon them; whence the Apoſtle doth inform us, 2 Cor. 4. 3, 4. That if the Goſpel be hidden from any to whom it is preached, it is becauſe the God of this World hath blinded the Conceptions of their Minds, that the Light of the glorious Goſpel ſhould not ſhine into them. And 2*dly*, By making deep Impreſſions on the Mind, of the Advantages and Rewards promiſed to our Converſion, and ſincere Obedience, and the tremendous Evils threatened to the Diſobedient; and bringing theſe Things oft to our Remembrance, which, in the Scripture-Phraſe, is putting theſe Laws in our Minds, and writing them upon our Hearts, that we may not depart from him, Heb. 8. 10. See Note on Heb. 8. 10. For what Reaſon can be given, why the Spirit of Wiſdom, having enlightened the Eyes of our Underſtanding, to know what is the Hope of our Calling, and the glorious Riches of the Inheritance of the Saints, Eph. 1. 18. And theſe things being as firmly believed, and made thus preſent to our Minds, ſhould not have greater Prevalence upon our Wills to Obedience, than any temporal Concerns to yield Obedience to the Laws of Sin? 'Tis certain Satan can tempt us no other way, than by ſuggeſting ſome temporal Allurements and Advantages, or ſome temporal Loſſes, and Affrightments to us. Since then the Scripture doth aſſure us, this is our Victory over the World, even our Faith, 1 John 5. 4. even that Faith which is the firm Expectation of Things hoped for, the Evidence of Things not ſeen, Heb. 11. 1. Why ſhould not theſe Objects of our Faith preſented to us, and impreſſed on us by the Holy Spirit, be more powerful to baffle all the Temptations of Sin, Satan, and the World? If beyond this there be ſome Phyſical and Irreſiſtible Operation on God's part, requiſite to make Men know the Things which belong to their Peace, and knowing, to chuſe the Good, and refuſe the Evil, this being not wrought in them who are not born anew; why is the want of this New Birth, and this Spiritual Renovation, ſo oft imputed to Men's want of Conſideration, and of laying to Heart the Things propounded to them? Their not inclining their Ear to Wiſdom, and applying their Heart to Underſtanding? Their hatred of Knowledge, their rejecting the Counſel of God, and not chuſing the Fear of the Lord? Prov. 1. 24, 25, 29, 30. Why is it ſaid that they continue thus unreformed, becauſe they would have none of God's Counſel, but deſpiſed all his Reproofs; becauſe they would not frame their doings to turn unto the Lord? To omit innumerable Expreſſions of the like Import. See Note on Rom. 10. 17. 1 Pet. 1. 23.

Ver. 19. Slow to ſpeak.] It was the Imputation which the Heathens caſt upon the Chriſtians, that they were in publico muti, not being inclined palam loqui, to ſpeak openly of their Religion: And this is confeſſed by (p) Chriſtians to be true of the Laity, who were not by Office engaged to preach it to the World; That it was not their Cuſtom to aſſert and defend their Religion publickly, but only to give an Anſwer to them who required a Reaſon of the Hope that was in them: And in this Senſe good Commentators do expound theſe Words, viz. as an Admonition to be ſlow to ſpeak of Divine Things, and much more to be Teachers of them; but in the uſual Senſe it agrees with that of * Bias, Μίσει τὸ τάχυ λαλεῖν, μὴ ἁμαρτῇ, μετάνοια γὰρ ἀκολουθεῖ, Be averſe from raſh Speaking, leſt thou offend, for thou wilt repent of it; as θυμοῦ κρατεῖν, to curb our angry Paſſions, agrees with the following Words, be ſlow to Wrath. o

Ibid. Βραδὺς εἰς ὀργὴν, Slow to Wrath.] This was an Admonition needful for the Jewiſh Zealots, who were ἐξ ἐριθείας, of contentious Spirits; See Note on Rom. 2. 8. filled with Wrath againſt the Teachers of Chriſtianity, and eſpecially againſt thoſe who denied the Neceſſity of Circumciſing the Gentiles, or requiring them to obſerve the Law of Moſes, Acts 13. 45. and 17. 5. (q) They compelling all Men to be Circumciſed if they would abide with them; and looking upon this as a thing of abſolute Neceſſity, without which nothing elſe would ſatisfy them. p

Now theſe Diſputes naturally tended to obſtruct that Faith by which Men were juſtified, and not by Circumciſion, or the Works of the Law, and which in the Epiſtles of St. Paul is ſtill ſtiled the Righteouſneſs of God; See Note on Rom. 1. 17. (2.) They were very prone to ſet up for Teachers of the Law, tho' they underſtood not aright thoſe things of which they ſpake, 1 Tim. 1. 7. Rom. 2. 18. and this might give occaſion to the other Admonition here, to be ſlow to ſpeak. And, chap. 3. 1. they alſo were incontinent, and very prone to Luſtings, and to Fornications; See Note on Rom. 2. 22. 2 Tim. 3. 5. Heb. 12. 16. and therefore fitly are admoniſhed to lay aſide all filthineſs, and ſuperfluity of Naughtineſs.

Ver. 21. Τὸν ἔμφυτον λόγον, The ingrafted Word,] ſaith Oecumenius, is that Principle of Reaſon by which we are enabled to diſcern Good from Evil; but of that the Apoſtle would not ſay, that it is able to ſave our Souls. But the Apoſtles, or Preachers of the Chriſtian Faith, being ſaid, φυτεύειν, to plant the Word among their Hearers, 1 Cor. 3. 6, 7, 8. the ingrafted Word, ſeems to be the Word planted in the Heart of Believers by the Miniſters of Chriſt, which St. Barnabas ſtiles, τὴν ἔμφυτον δωρεὰν τῆς διδαχῆς αὐτοῦ, the ingrafted Gift of his Doctrine, §. 9. p. 6. So they who made the Jews underſtand the Law read to them, are ſaid, ἐμφυσιοῦν ἅμα τὴν ἀνάγνωσιν, to imprint upon them the Knowledge or Remembrance of what they read, Eſdr. 9. 48, 55. Againſt this Senſe it is objected, that the Word thus planted in us is not properly λόγος ἔμφυτος, but ἐμφυτευθεὶς, but ſince Νόμος ἔμφυτος, is the Law planted in the Heart by God, I think not this Criticiſm ſufficient to deſtroy the Senſe of the Words here given, eſpecially if we conſider, that all Filthineſs, and Superfluity of Naughtineſs, muſt be firſt laid aſide, that we may be fitted to receive with Meekneſs this λόγος ἔμφυτος, engrafted Word, which ſhews it cannot import any thing, which is by Nature always in us.

r Ver. 22. That many of the Jews had conceived an Opinion, that even the Study and Knowledge of the Law would procure them a Reward in Heaven; ſee Note on Rom. 2. 13.

ſ Ver. 26. Ἀπατῶν, &c. Deceiving his own Heart.] That the Unbelieving Jews had a Zeal for God, the Apoſtle bears them Record, Rom. 10. 2. but then that Zeal wrought ſo great a Bitterneſs of Spirit in them, that in thoſe very Synagogues in which they met to bleſs God, they imprecated a Curſe upon the Chriſtians created anew after his Image, chap. 3. 10. I being zealous for God, as all you are this Day, ſaith St. Paul, perſecuted this way unto the Death, Acts 22. 3, 4. and in thus doing, they thought they did God Service, John 16. 2. The Zealots among them, ſaith their own (r) Joſephus, who gave themſelves that Name, from their Zeal to what was Good, committed all manner of Wickedneſs, and accounted the worſt of Evils good. And yet (ſ) Eleazer, the Ring-leader of them, repreſents them as Perſons, who had cauſe to hope they ſhould be by God preſerved, as having not offended againſt him, and being guilty of no Fault, and being Teachers of others. That the Believing Jews, who urged upon the Gentiles the Neceſſity of Circumciſion, had a Zeal for God, we learn from Gal. 4. 17, 18. Yet that they had the Spirit of Contention and Envy, Phil. 1. 15, 16. and were deceitful Workers, the Apoſtle doth inform us; ſo that neither of them were truly Religious; and to thoſe latter the Apoſtle ſeems chiefly to ſpeak, in theſe Words, If ye have bitter Zeal and Strife in your Hearts, glory not, and lye not againſt the Truth, &c.

Ver. 27. Ἐπισκέπτεσθαι, To viſit the Fatherleſs, and Widows.] It is very true, that (t) Ignatius ſaith of ſome who maintained Opinions contrrary to the Grace of God come unto us, That they had no regard to Charity, to the Widow, and to the Orphan, to the Oppreſſed, to thoſe that were in Bonds, to the Hungry and Thirſty: But then it is not manifeſt from his Words that theſe were the Gnoſticks; nothing hinders, but what the Apoſtle here ſpeaks of, may be alſo true of the Jews, who, as (u) Joſephus notes, were great Enemies one to another, and wanted Mercy moſt of all; or to thoſe Zealots who ſpared none who would not be of their Opinion, and their bitter Zeal.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. MY Brethren, have not [a] the Faith of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Lord of Glory, [b] with reſpect of Perſons.

2. For if there come [c] into your Aſſemblies, [or, Conſiſtories for Judicature,] a Man with a Gold-Ring, in goodly Apparel, and there come in alſo a Poor Man in vile Raiment;

3. And ye have reſpect unto him that weareth gay Cloathing, and ſay unto him, Sit thou here in a good Place; and ſay to the Poor, Stand thou there, or ſit here under my Foot-ſtool.

4. [d] Are ye not then partial in your ſelves, [Do you not both put a difference among your ſelves on theſe accounts,] and [alſo are] become [e] Judges of evil thoughts? [in thinking that the Rich is to be preferred in Judgment, and the Poor deſpiſed, v. 6. on theſe accounts?

5. Hearken, my beloved Brethren, Hath not God choſen the Poor of this World, rich in Faith, and Heirs of the Kingdom which he hath promiſed to them that love him? [And are they fit to be deſpiſed by you, who are ſo highly honoured and enriched by him?]

6. But [ſo it is, that] ye have deſpiſed the Poor, [and had a partial Reſpect to the Rich: And yet] do not [theſe] Rich Men oppreſs you, and draw you before the Judgment-ſeats, [on the account of your Chriſtian Profeſſion?]

7. Do not they blaſpheme that worthy Name by which ye are called?

8. If [in this Matter] you fulfil the Royal Law, [which is,] according to [f] the Scripture, [ſaying,] Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf, ye do well; [for then ye will not be guilty of this reſpect of Perſons, for you would not be deſpiſed becauſe you are Poor, or have a Rich Man preferred before you in Judgment.]

9. But if ye have [ſuch] reſpect to Perſons, [as to honour the Rich, and deſpiſe the Poor, in Judicial Cauſes,] ye commit Sin, and are convinced of [or, by] the Law [now mentioned,] as Tranſgreſſors [of God's Law in the General; this Law comprehending all the Duties of the Second Table, Rom. 13. 9. Matth. 22. 39.]

10. For whoſoever ſhall keep the whole Law [in other Matters,] and yet [knowingly] offend in one point, he is guilty of all.

11. For he that ſaid, Do not commit Adultery, ſaid alſo, Do not Kill: Now if thou commit no Adultery, yet if thou Kill, thou art become [g] a Tranſgreſſor of the Law [of Love, mentioned, v. 8. which comprehends all the Duties of the Second Table, in which here the Apoſtle inſtanceth.]

12. So [therefore] ſpeak ye, and ſo do, as they that [know they] ſhall be judged [h] by the Law of Liberty.

13. [i] For he ſhall have Judgment without Mercy, who hath ſhewed no Mercy, [and ſo hath highly thwarted the great Law of Love;] and Mercy rejoiceth againſt, [or, triumpheth over] Judgment, [i. e. it enables the merciful Man to rejoice, as being free from the Judgment of Condemnation from that God, who to the merciful will ſhew himſelf merciful, Pſalm. 18. 27.

14. And let not any Jew or Chriſtian think his Faith ſufficient to juſtifie, and ſave him, without theſe Works of Charity and Mercy; for,] What doth it profit, my Brethren, though a Man ſay he hath Faith [in God, v. 19. or in Chriſt,] and hath not Works [to evidence his Faith?] Can [ſuch a naked, fruitleſs] Faith ſave him?

15. If a Brother or a Siſter be naked, and deſtitute of daily Food;

16. And one of you ſay unto them, Depart in Peace, be you warmed and filled, [wiſhing only that they may be ſo;] notwithſtanding ye give them not thoſe things which be needful for [the cloathing or feeding] the Body; what doth it profit [them to hear your kind Wiſhes?]

17. Even ſo Faith, if it hath not Works, is dead, [fruitleſs and lifeleſs as theſe Words,] being alone [without Works ſhewing the truth of it.]

18. [k] Yea, a Man may ſay [to ſuch a Solifidian,] Thou haſt [in thy Pretenſions] Faith, and I have [real] Works: Shew me thy Faith, [of which thou boaſteſt,] without thy Works, [which thou canſt never do; ſince Faith being ſeated in the Heart, can only be diſcovered by its Effects,] and I will ſhew thee my Faith by my Works, [as the Cauſe is demonſtrated by the Effect.]

19. Thou [being a Jew] believeſt that there is one God; thou [in that] doſt well, [but doeſt no more than the very devils, for] the * Devils alſo believe and tremble;] and if thou haſt no better Faith than they, thou haſt the ſame reaſon to tremble which they have.]

20. But wilt thou know, O vain Man, [who boaſteſt of a Faith deſtitute of Works,] that Faith without Works is dead, [and ſo unable to juſtifie and ſave thee? See it in the Example of that very Abraham, in thy Relation to whom thou ſo confideſt:

* Gigantes contremiſcunt, Targ. in Job 26. 4.

21. [For] was not Abraham, [whom we ſtile] our Father, juſtified by Works [proceeding from his Faith,] [l] when he had offered his Son Iſaac upon the Altar, [counting that God was able to raiſe him from the Dead? Heb. 11. 17, 19.]

l

22. Seeſt thou how, [Gr. Thou ſeeſt (by this Example, that] Faith wrought with his Works, [to produce them,] and by Works was Faith made perfect [in him.]

23. And the Scripture was [again] fulfilled, which ſaith, Abraham believed God, and it, [viz. that Faith which produced theſe Works] [m] was imputed to him for Righteouſneſs; and [upon that account] he was called the Friend of God.

m

24. Ye ſee then how that by Works [proceeding from Faith] a Man is juſtified; and not by Faith only, [alone without them.]

25. Likewiſe alſo, was not [n] Rahab the Harlot juſtified by Works [proceeding from her Faith,] when ſhe had received the Meſſengers, and had ſent them out another way? n

26. [And ſo it muſt be in all other Perſons who would be ſaved, they muſt ſhew their Faith by their Works:] [o] For as the Body without the Spirit is dead, ſo Faith without Works is dead alſo, [and therefore cannot ſave us, or give Life unto us.] o

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. Τὴν πίστιν τοῦ Κυρίου ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τῆς δόξης, The Faith of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, the Lord of Glory.] This Verſion ſeems obnoxious to this Exception, that the Pronoun ἡμῶν will not ſuffer the word Lord to be joined with Glory; therefore that which renders the Words thus, The Faith of the Glory of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt; or, Hold not the glorious Faith of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt with reſpect of Perſons, ſeems to be the better Verſion, and more agreeable to the Deſign of the Apoſtle, as giving the beſt Reaſon againſt the accepting Perſons on the account of their Riches, or their Gay Attire; becauſe their Faith hath cloathed them with a greater and more valuable Glory, which renders them more honourable than any Riches or Gay Cloathing could do. For this Faith, ſaith the Apoſtle, is the Miniſtration of Glory, and by it we all beholding the Glory of the Lord, are changed into the ſame Image from Glory to Glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 8, 18. See the Note there. And whom God hath juſtified by Faith, he hath alſo glorified, by giving them this Spirit of Glory, Rom. 8. 30. See the Note there.

b Ibid. Ἐν προσωποληψίαις, With reſpect of Perſons.] Προσωποληψία is the Reſpect of Perſons in Judgment, not purely according to the Merits of the Cauſe, but according to External Reſpects which relate not to it. As for inſtance, The Dread of any Man's Power, or the fear of what he may do to us, if we judge againſt him. So, Lev. 19. 15. Thou ſhalt not honour the Perſon of the Great, or reſpect the Perſon of the Poor; in Juſtice ſhalt thou judge thy Neighbour. And, Deut. 1. 17. Ye ſhall not reſpect Perſons in Judgment, ye ſhall bear alike the Small and the Great; ye ſhall not be afraid of the Face of Man, for the Judgment is the Lord's. Or, 2*dly*, The Poverty of any Man, which renders him leſs able to ſuffer the Puniſhment of his Injuſtice: Thou ſhalt not reſpect a Poor Man in his Cauſe, Exod. 23. 3. 3*dly*, It is the reſpecting Perſons in Judgment, by reaſon of any Gift, or hope of Gain, by favouring any Cauſe; Thou ſhalt not wreſt Judgment, thou ſhalt not reſpect Perſons, neither take a Gift, Deut. 16. 19. Or, 4*thly*, By reaſon of Relation, Affinity, Friendſhip, or Affection. In Spiritual or Evangelical Matters, it is to have regard to Men, in reference to things which render them neither better nor worſe, more or leſs acceptable in the ſight of God. As for Inſtance, To regard them, 1*ſt*, In reſpect to their Nation, and their Off-ſpring; Of a truth I perceive that God is no Reſpecter of Perſons; but in every Nation he that feareth him, and worketh Righteouſneſs, is accepted of him, Acts 10. 31. He will have no reſpect to Nations, or External Profeſſions, in his future Recompences, Rom. 2. 6, 10. Or, 2*dly*, With regard to their Condition, as being Maſters, or Servants: Hence Maſters are bid to deal with their Servants, as knowing they have a Maſter in Heaven, with whom is no reſpect of Perſons, Eph. 6. 9. And Servants to be juſt to their Maſters, becauſe he that is unjuſt ſhall receive for the wrong that he hath done, and there is no reſpect of Perſons with God, Col. 3. 25. 1 Pet. 1. 17. Or, 3*dly*, To their Quality; for God accepteth not the Perſons of Princes, nor regardeth the Rich more than the Poor, for they are all the Works his Hands, Job 34. 39. And this is the thing here cenſured.

Ver. 2. Εἰς τὴν Συναγωγὴν, Into your Aſſembly.] That here the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of Conſiſtories for Civil Judicatures, is argued, 1*ſt*, From the accepting of Perſons, mentioned, v. 1. which in the Old Teſtament, and the New, as oft as 'tis applied to Men, reſpecteth Human Judicatures. 2*dly*, From the Foot-ſtool, mentioned, v. 3. which obtained in their Judicial Conſiſtories, and which was proper to Princes on their Thrones, and Judges on c on their Tribunals. 3*dly*, From the Judges, mentioned, v. 4. and the κριτήρια, or Judgment-Seats, v. 6. 4*thly*, From the Law violated by this reſpect of Perſons, v. 8, 9. And laſtly, From the Canon of the Jews, by which it is provided, That when the Rich and Poor have a Suit together in their Conſiſtories, either both muſt ſit, or both ſtand, to avoid all Marks of Partiality. R. Levi Barcinon, l. 142. Juris Hebraici.

Yet becauſe the Jewiſh Chriſtians then had no diſtinct Churches of their own, much leſs any with ſuch diſtinct Seats for Men of Rank, or ſuch πρωτοκαθεδρίαι, Chief Places, as the Jews had, Matth. 23. 6. both in Judæa, Alexandria, and other Places, Campeg. Vitringa, de Synag. vet. l. 1. c. 9. but rather aſſembled ſtill in the Jewiſh Synagogues, where there was a Beth-din, or Houſe of Judgment, where the Head of the Synagogue, and the Seniors that aſſiſted him, ſat to give Judgment on Offenders, and where they were brought before them, and ſcourged for their Offences, Mat. 10. 17. and 23. 34. Acts 22. 19. and 26. 11. (ſee the Notes there;) the Aſſembly here mentioned might be a Jewiſh Synagogue. Moreover, the Jews living among the Gentiles, retained ſtill a Juriſdiction over Men of their own Nation, and Religion, even as to Matrimonial, and Pecuniary, as well as Religious Cauſes; and ſo the Jewiſh Chriſtians might be drawn before their Judgment-Seats on thoſe Accounts, v. 6. this being long after forbidden by a Law of Honorius and Theodoſius. 16 Cod. Theod. Tit. 8. Leg. 22. Vid. Not. Gothofr. p. 240.

Ver. 4. Καὶ οὐ διεκρίθητε ἐν ἑαυτοῖς;] Do you not put a Difference, or Diſcrimination among your ſelves on thoſe Accounts, which are Alien from the Cauſe? That this is the frequent ſenſe of the Word διακρινόμενοι, and διακρίνεσθαι, ſee Acts 15. 9. where οὐδὲν διέκρινε is rendered, He put no difference betwixt us and them. And, Jud. 22. where we read thus, Of ſome have Compaſſion, διακρινόμενοι, making a Difference. See Note on Rom. 14. 23.

Ibid. Κριταὶ διαλογισμῶν πονηρῶν, Judges of evil Thoughts:] I. e. Who paſs Judgment from your own evil Thoughts, as judging the Rich worthy of Reſpect in Judgment, for his Gorgeous Attire, and Outward Appearance, and the Poor fit to be deſpiſed for his Outward Meanneſs.

Ver. 8. Νόμον βασιλικὸν, The Royal Law.] Not ſo much becauſe it is the Law of Chriſt, our King, it being a Law of the Old Teſtament, as becauſe it is the Law which, of all Laws which concern our Neighbour, is moſt excellent, and which governs and moderates other Laws, eſpecially the Ceremonial and Poſitive Laws, which are to give place to that of Charity and Mercy. Moreover, The Jews themſelves ſo interpret this Law, as to forbid the Contempt of our Brother, as you may ſee in Dr. Cartwright's Mellificium on this Place.

Ver. 11. Παραβάτης νόμου, A Tranſgreſſor of the Law:] Or, Becauſe the Authority of the Law-giver is as much deſpiſed by the Breaking any one of his Laws, as by the Violation of them all; and he that by it will not be reſtrained from the Violation of it in one Point, under the like Temptations will do it in another. g

Note farther, That theſe words ſeem to be directly levelled againſt that looſe Doctrine of the Jewiſh Doctors, mention'd by (a) Dr. Pocock, That God gave ſo many Commandments to them, that by doing any of them they might be ſaved. So Kimchi expounds thoſe Words of Hoſea, Take away Iniquity, וקח טוב, and receive Good; i. e. ſaith he, receive in lieu of them any Good, איזה מצוה, any Commandment that we have done. It was a vulgar Rule among them, ſaith (b) Dr. Smith, That Men ſhould ſingle out ſome one Commandment of God's Law, and therein eſpecially exerciſe themſelves, that ſo they might make God their Friend by that, leſt in others they ſhould too much diſpleaſe him. And he cites from them this Rule, (c) He that obſerves any one Precept, it ſhall be well with him, and his Days ſhall be prolonged, and he ſhall poſſeſs the Earth. And this Precept was with them uſually that of the Sabbath, of Sacrifices, or of Tythes, for theſe they looked upon as the great Commandments of the Law, not thoſe of Mercy and Judgment, which in our Saviour's Account were ſo.

Ver. 12. Διὰ νόμου ἐλευθερίας, By the Law of Liberty:] By that Law of Love which makes all Men our Neighbours, and frees us from thoſe Reſtraints the Ceremonial Law, and the Traditions of the Jewiſh Doctors, lay upon them, of confining their Love, and freedom of Converſe to thoſe that were of their own Nation, or were circumciſed. The Jews had great need of theſe Inſtructions; for as they held it unlawful to converſe with Publicans and Sinners, Luke 15. 1, 2. tho' it were to inſtruct them in the Way of Life; ſo much more to come to, or converſe with one of another Nation, Acts 10. 28. yea, they would not ſuffer them to be among them, who would not be Circumciſed. Vid. Joſeph. in Vita ſua, p. 1007. B. h

Ver. 13. Of this Mercy the Jews were ſo unmindful, that (d) Joſephus having ſaid, They violated the Laws of Nature, and polluted the Divinity with their Injuſtice towards Men, he adds, That no good Affection was ſo entirely loſt among them, ὡς ἔλεος, as that of Mercy. i k Ver. 18. The Greek in moſt Copies runs thus, Δεῖξον μοὶ τὴν πίστιν σου ἐκ τῶν ἔργων σου, κἀγὼ δείξω σοι ἐκ τῶν ἔργων μου τὴν πίστιν μου· i. e. Shew me thy Faith by thy Works, and I will ſhew thee by my Works my Faith : I. e. Shew me, by the proper Fruits of it, the Faith of which thou boaſteſt, and I, by the ſame Effects, will ſhew I have that Faith alſo, tho' I boaſt not of it. But it is further to be obſerved, That ἐκ τῶν ἔργων σου, is left out in OEcumenius, and one Greek Copy ; and 2*dly*, That the Alexandrian MSS. and thoſe peruſed by Curcellæus, read χωρὶς τῶν ἔργων σου, without thy Works : So did the Vulgar, the Syriack, and the Æthiopick Verſions; and ſo the following words, v. 20. Know, O vain Man, that Faith, χωρὶς ἔργων, without Works, is dead, ſeem to require ; and this Reading our Tranſlation follows.

l Ver. 21. Ἀνενέγκας, &c. When he offered his Son Iſaac.] This being a greater Act of Faith than that by which he was at firſt juſtified, for that was only Faith in God's Promiſe, that he would raiſe up Seed from his dead Body, and the dead Womb of Sarah, Rom. 4. 20. This was a Belief, That he would raiſe up this very Seed, conſumed to Aſhes, from the Dead ; and therefore by this Work was his Faith made perfect, i. e. advanced to the greateſt height ; there being no more noble Act of Faith, than this of the Reſurrection of the Dead conſumed to Aſhes, and none by which we give more Glory to God. See Eccleſ. 44. 20.

m Ver. 23. Ἐλογίσθη αὐτῷ εἰς δικαιοσύνην, Was accounted to him for Righteouſneſs :] That is, It engaged God to own him as a truly religious Perſon, or one that did ſincerely fear him, by ſaying, Now I know that thou feareſt God, ſeeing thou haſt not with-held thy only Son from me, Gen. 22.15. Or as one who upon Trial had been found faithful: So Mattathias; Was not Abraham found faithful in Temptation, and that was accounted to him for Righteouſneſs ? 1 Maccab. 2. 52. and alſo to deal with him as a righteous Perſon, ſo as to renew the Covenant made with him, and to eſtabliſh it with an Oath, Gen. 22. 16, 17, 18. and to give him the high Title, not only of his Servant, but his Friend, 2 Chron. 20. 7. Iſa. 41. 8.

n Ver. 25. Ῥαὰβ ἡ πόρνη, Raab the Harlot.] That Raab had a ſtrong Faith in God, the Apoſtle teſtifies, by ſaying, By Faith Raab the Harlot periſhed not with thoſe that believed not, receiving the Spies in Peace, Heb. 11. 31. and this ſhe ſhewed, by ſaying, The Lord your God he is God in Heaven above, and in Earth beneath, Joſh. 2. 11. and this ſhe teſtified, by being ſo induſtrious to preſerve the Meſſengers, and to do all things agreed on betwixt them and her, for her ſafety.

o Ver. 26. There have been many Ways invented how to reconcile theſe Words of St. James, with the Apoſtle Paul, aſſerting, That a Man is juſtified by Faith, without the Deeds of the Law, Rom. 3. 28. As,

1*ſt*, That when St. Paul ſaith, We are juſtified by Faith, without the Works of the Law ; and that, To him that worketh not, but believeth, Faith is imputed unto him for Righteouſneſs, Rom. 4. 5. or to Juſtification; Juſtification, there aſcribed to Faith alone, imports only our Abſolution from Condemnation by reaſon of our paſt Offences committed before Faith, and our Reconciliation to God, by the Pardon, or not imputing them to Believers. It conſiſts, ſaith the Apoſtle, in the Remiſſion of Sins that are paſt, Rom. 3. 25. It is, ſaith Peter, the Purgation of us from our Old Sins, 2 Pet. 1. 9. It is effected by the Death of Chriſt procuring Redemption, for Sins committed under the Old Covenant, Heb. 9. 15. This is apparent from the chief Argument the Apoſtle uſeth to prove the neceſſity that both Jew and Gentile, ſhould be juſtified freely by his Grace, and not by the Works of the Law ; becauſe they were all under Sin, all become guilty before God, all having ſinned, and come ſhort of the Glory of God, Rom. 3. 9. and 19. 23. Whereas, ſaith he, being juſtified by Faith, we have peace with God, and rejoyce in hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 1, 2. Therefore, Chapter the 3d, he muſt be ſpeaking of the Condition of Jew and Gentile before Faith. So again, when the Apoſtle ſaith, The Scripture hath concluded all under Sin, that the Promiſe [of Juſtification] by [the] Faith of Jeſus Chriſt, might be given to them that believe [in him,] Gal. 3. 22, 23, 24. Wherefore the Law was [then] our School-maſter to bring us to Chriſt, that we might be juſtified by Faith [in him,] v. 25. But now after that Faith is come, we are no longer under a School-maſter, [i. e. under the Pædagogy of the Law,] v. 26. For ye are all the Children of God through Faith in Chriſt Jeſus ; He plainly inſinuates, that we cannot be juſtified by the Works of the Law ; becauſe the Law leads us to Chriſt for Juſtification, and ceaſeth, now the Way of Juſtification by Faith in Chriſt is made known. And again, We are juſtified by Grace, not of Works : For we are his Workmanſhip, created in Chriſt Jeſus to good Works, Eph. 2. 8, 9, 10. Where the Argument ſeems plainly to run thus ; We cannot be juſtified by Works preceding Faith, becauſe we do no good Works till by Faith we are intereſted in Chriſt Jeſus : Whereas St. James ſpeaks plainly of thoſe Works which follow Faith, are wrought by it, and are the Fruits of it, and of their neceſſity in order to our continuance in a State of Juſtification, and freedom from our final Condemnation.

2*dly*, That St. Paul excludes from Juſtification only thoſe Works which are oppoſed to Juſtification by an Act of Grace, and make it to be of Debt, and ſo give occaſion to our glorying in our being Righteous in the Sight of God, purely by reaſon of our Works, as in theſe Words, If it be of Grace, it is no more of Works, otherwiſe Grace is no more Grace; but if it be of Works, then it is no more of Grace, otherwiſe Work is no more Work, Rom. 11. 6. And again, To him that worketh, the Reward is reckoned, not of Grace, but of Debt: But to him that worketh not, but believeth, Faith is accounted unto him for Righteouſneſs, Rom. 4. 4, 5. And again, Where then is Glorying? It is excluded: By what Law? By that of Works? No; but by the Law of Faith, Rom. 3. 27. Whereas St. James requires only thoſe Works to our Salvation, and our continuance in a State of Juſtification, which proceed from, and are accepted through Grace, and ſo can never render our Juſtification of Debt, or give us a juſt ground of boaſting.

3dly, That St. Paul is arguing againſt the Jews, who ſought for Juſtification by Virtue of the Law of Moſes, and ſought it not by Faith, Rom. 9. 32. nor ever conceived that ſufficient for that End, declaring againſt that Way of Juſtification, becauſe it would confine the Bleſſing of Abraham to the Circumciſion only, Rom. 4. 9. and becauſe the Law of Moſes was Four Hundred and Thirty Years after the Promiſe made to Abraham, ſpeaking of that Law which ſaid, Do this, and live, Gal. 3. 17. which was our School-maſter, to bring us to Chriſt, and which was then to ceaſe, as to the Obligation of it; whereas St. James ſpeaks of Juſtification by Works performed under the Covenant of Grace, and as Conditions even of that New Covenant. Now I except not againſt any of theſe Ways of reconciling theſe two Apoſtles in their Diſcourſe upon this Subject; but then I alſo think we may add this other to them.

4thly, That St. Paul plainly ſpeaks to Chriſtians only, concerning their Juſtification from their paſt Offences by Faith in the Blood of Jeſus; but St. James ſpeaks as well to the unbelieving, as believing Jews, touching Faith in God, ſuch as Abraham had when he believed God's Promiſe, v. 23. and ſuch as Raab the Harlot had, v. 25. ſaying, Thou believeſt there is one God, v. 19. without the leaſt mention of Faith in Chriſt; and who, perhaps, thought it ſufficient to keep them in the Favour of God, and render them his Friends, that they had caſt off all Idolatry, and only owned the true God; proving this not to be ſufficient to procure the Divine Favour, unleſs by the Obedience of their Lives, they glorified him as God, ſince otherwiſe they only did in Words profeſs to own him, but in Works deny him, being diſobedient.

CHAP. III.

a Verſe 1. MY Brethren, [a] be not many Maſters, [i. e. διδάσκαλοι, Teachers of the Law,] knowing that [thereby] we ſhall receive the greater Condemnation, [for our Offences againſt that Law we teach to others.]

2. [And this we ought the rather to beware of;] For in many things we offend all, [againſt the Law, and more eſpecially in that Member that we employ in teaching of others, for] If any Man offend not in Word, the ſame
b is [b] a perfect Man, and able alſo to bridle, [curb, and direct the Motions of] the whole Body.

3. [I uſe the Metaphor of a Bridle as appoſite in this Caſe; for] Behold we put Bits [or Bridles] in the Horſes Mouths, that they may obey us, and [with them] we turn about their whole Bodies, [even ſo, if we by any means can bridle, and thereby govern the Tongue, by the like means we may govern the whole Man.]

4. Behold alſo the Ships, which though they be ſo great [in Bulk,] and are driven with fierce Winds; yet are they turned about with a very ſmall Helm, whitherſoever the Governour [or Pilot of the Ship] liſteth.

5. Even ſo [is it with] the Tongue, [as with this Bit and Helm: It] is a little Member, [c] and boaſteth great things, [ἢ μεγαλαυχεῖ, but it mightily exalts itſelf by its great Performances,] Behold how great a matter [how much Wood] a little Fire kindleth. c

6. [d] And the Tongue is [as] a Fire, a World of Iniquity [is kindled by it;] ſo is the Tongue amongſt our Members [as Fire among Wood,] that it defileth, [Gr. ſpotting or blackening] the whole body, and ſetteth [Gr. inflaming or ſetting] on fire the courſe of Nature, [or the Succeſſion of Men in the World;] and it is ſet on fire of Hell, [Gr. being ſet on fire by Hell.] d

7. [And it reſembles Fire in this alſo, that when it hath once got the Maſtery, it cannot eaſily be ſubdued, and extinguiſhed;] For every kind of Beaſts, and of Birds, and of Serpents, and things in the Sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed, [e] by Mankind. e

8. But the Tongue [of others] can no Man tame; it is an unruly Evil, [and like the Serpents mentioned, v. 7.] full of deadly Poiſon.

9. Therewith bleſs we God, even the Father [of us all;] and therewith [f] curſe we f Men,

g Men, which are made [g] after the Similitude of God, [and upon that account are to be reverenced by us.]

10. Out of the ſame Mouth proceedeth Bleſſing and Curſing. My Brethren, theſe things ought not ſo to be; [for]

11. Doth a Fountain ſend forth at the ſame place ſweet Water and bitter?

12. Can the Fig-tree, my Brethren, bear Olive-berries, or a Vine Figs? [ſurely no, Even] ſo no Fountain can both yield ſalt Water and freſh. [And if Nature produceth no ſuch contrary Fruits, much leſs ſhould Grace produce things ſo extremely oppoſite, as are Bleſſing and Curſing.]

h 13. Who [then] is [h] a wiſe Man, and endued with Knowledge among you? [to which you are great Pretenders,] let him ſhew out of a good Converſation his Works with Meekneſs of Wiſdom, [or the Works of Wiſdom with Meekneſs, i. e. let him by his Charity and Meekneſs towards his Brethren, ſhew forth his Wiſdom.]

i 14. But if ye have [i] bitter envying and ſtrife in your Hearts, glory not [of your Wiſdom,] and lie not againſt the truth [in pretending to be wiſe as to it.]

15. This Wiſdom deſcendeth not from above, but is earthly, [from the Love of earthly things,] ſenſual, [proceeding from the Luſts of the Fleſh, among which, Strife and Envy are reckoned, Gal. 5. 20.] deviliſh, [coming from Satan, the Promoter of Strife and Envy, and from Pride and Ambition, by which he fell, 1 Tim. 3. 6.]

16. For where envying and ſtrife is, [as the Root,] there is [k] confuſion and every k evil work, [as the Fruit.]

17. But the wiſdom which from above, is firſt pure, [from Senſuality and earthly mindedneſs, v. 15.] then peaceable, [and] gentle, [in oppoſition to Contention, v. 14.]
eaſy to be entreated, [or perſwaded, in oppoſition to the inflexibility of the Jews,] [l] full of l mercy and good fruits, [wanting in them,
v. 13.] [m] without partiality, and [n] without n m hypocriſy, [of which things the Jews were highly guilty.]

18. And the [o] fruit of Righteouſneſs is ſown o in Peace of [for, or to] them that make Peace.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1. Μή πολλοὶ διδάσκαλοι γίνεσθε, Be not many Teachers.] The Jews had not only in Judæa, but in their ſeveral Diſperſions, their מורים, or Doctors of the Law, who being created Doctors, Maſters, or Rabbins, by Impoſition of Hands, were authorized to teach the Law to others. This Office the Jews much affected, θέλοντες εἶναι νομοδιδάσκαλοι, affecting to be Teachers of the Law, 1 Tim. 1. 7. and being confident of their Abilities to be Guides to the Blind, a Light to them that ſat in Darkneſs, Inſtructors of the Fooliſh, and διδάσκαλοι νηπίων, Teachers of Babes, Rom. 2. 19, 20. And ſuch eſpecially were the Zealots among them. Whence (a) Eleazar the chief of them ſaith, 'They had 'eſpecial Reaſon to expect a Share in the Di'vine Favour, as being blameleſs as to the 'obſervation of the Law, and alſo Teachers 'of it to others.' This Affectation of that Office the Apoſtle here warns them to avoid, as that which would expoſe them to greater Condemnation, for their Offences againſt that Law they taught to others, and ſo confeſſed they knew themſelves.

b Ver. 2. Τέλειος ἀνὴρ, A perfect Man,] Is a Perſon fully inſtructed in his Duty. See Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6.

c Ver. 5. Καὶ μεγαλαυχεῖ, And boaſteth great things.] This Word ſignifies not only to vaunt of, but alſo to do great things; μεγάλα ἐργάζεται καλὰ, καὶ κακὰ, it works great good, and evil, ſaith OEcumenius: Magnificatrix eſt, It is a doer of great things, ſo Faber: It anſwers to the Hebrew ערץ, which ſignifies to be valid, and move it ſelf violently, to be haughty, and exalt itſelf, Pſal. 9. 19. Ezek. 16. 50. Zeph. 3. 11. Eccl. 48. 18. And this ſignification, both the Text, and the reſemblance of the Tongue to Fire, ſeem plainly to require. (See Examen Millii.)

Ver. 6. Ἡ γλῶσσα πῦρ, The Tongue is a Fire.] d The Compariſon of the Tongue to Fire, firſt blackening, and then waſting the whole World, (or Wood) is taken from the Scripture, and from the Sayings of the Hebrew Doctors: The froward Man bringeth Deſtruction, in his Mouth there is a burning Fire, Prov. 16. 27. And, v. 28. Λαμπτῆρα δόλου πυρσεύει κακοῖς, he kindles a Fire-brand of Deceit to the Wicked. As the Matter of Fire, κατὰ τὴν ὕλην πυρὸς, according to the Wood of the Fire, ſo it burneth; and the ſtronger they are that contend, the more they will be inflamed, Eccl. 28. 10. A haſty Contention kindleth a Fire, the Fire burning kindles great heaps, ſaith Ben Syra; which is thus explained, As a little Fire conſumes great heaps of Wood, ſo nothing more waſtes the World than an evil Tongue.

Note, 2*dly*, If the Original was, as our Tranſlation hath it, a World of Iniquity, ſomething muſt be added to it to make the Senſe complete, as I have done in the Paraphraſe, or as the Æthiopick, a World of Iniquity is contained in it. But the Syriack reads thus, And the wicked World is as the Wood; and this makes both the Senſe and the Similitude runs clear.

Ver. 7. Τῇ φύσει ἀνθρωπίνῃ, By Mankind,] Is the Hebrew Phraſe for Man, as ἀνθρωπίνη κτίσις is a Man, 1. Pet. 2. 13.

Ver. 9. Καταρώμεθα, Curſe we Men.] This the unbelieving Jews did towards the Chriſtians; curſing and anathematizing them in their Synagogues; as (b) Juſtin Martyr often teſtifieth to the Face of Trypho the Jew.

Ibid. Καθ' ὁμοίωσιν Θεοῦ, After the Similitude of God.] From this 9th Verſe it appears that Man loſt not the Image of God by the Fall; and thence 'tis probable that it conſiſts not primarily in Holineſs, but in Dominion, Gen. 1. 26.

Ver. 13. Ἐπιστήμων ἐν ὑμῖν, A wiſe Man among you.] That the Jews were great Pretenders to Knowledge, See Rom. 2. 18. That they gloried in the Title of Chochamim, or Wiſe-men, See Note on 1 Cor. 1. 20. 3. 18. Hence their Divines are ſtiled חכמי האמת Wiſe-men as to the Truth, ſaith Buxtorf.

Ver. 14. Ζῆλον πικρὸν καὶ ἐριθείαν, Bitter Envy and Strife.] The unbelieving Jews are repreſented ſtill as οἱ ἐξ ἐριθείας, Men of Contention, who obeyed not the Truth, Rom. 2. 8. Men who were filled with bitter Zeal againſt the Preachers of the Goſpel, Acts 13. 45. 17. 5. and very mad againſt them. And ſome of them who owned the Goſpel, did yet preach Chriſt, ἐξ ἐριθείας out of Contention, and Envy againſt St. Paul, Philip. 1. 15. and the Effects of their Diſputes were, ſaith the Apoſtle, φθόνος καὶ ἔρις, Envy and Strife, 1 Tim. 6. 4. ἔρεις καὶ μάχαι νομικαὶ, Contentions and Fightings about the Law: And where they were mixed with the converted Gentiles, we find eſpecial Cautions againſt Strife and Envy, as at Rome, Rom. 13. 13. againſt provoking one another, and envying one another, Gal. 5. 26. againſt doing things, through Strife and vain-Glory, Phil. 2. 3. Or Complaints of the abounding of theſe Vices, 1 Cor. 1. 11. 3. 3. See eſpecially 2 Cor. 12. 20.

Ver. 16. Ἀκαταστασία, Confuſion.] I. e. Tumult, Sedition, and Diſturbance of Peace, and Order; for Contention naturally tends to Fighting, and Envy to the Deſtruction of him we hate; φθονεῖτε καὶ ζηλοῦτε, you are envious and zealous againſt one another, Chap. 4. 2. and then it follows, μάχεσθε καὶ πολεμεῖτε, ye fight and war. k

Ver. 17. Μεστὴ ἐλέους, Full of Mercy.] Which, ſaith (c) Joſephus, of all good Paſſions was moſt of all loſt among the Jews. l

Ibid. Ἀδιάκριτος, Without Partiality.] Or, as the Word ſignifies, without putting a difference betwixt Men of their own, and other Nations, as the Jews did, counting all other Nations Dogs; unclean, not fit to be converſed with, and dealing with them accordingly; for as (d) Tacitus hath obſerved of them, Apud ipſos fides obſtinata, miſericordia in promptu, adverſus omnes alios hoſtile odium: They would be merciful to Men of their own Religion and Country, but hated of all mankind beſides; confining Brotherly Love to Men of their own Nation, as we learn from our Saviour's Parable of the good Samaritan. When they broke into Sects and Parties, they had the ſame Hatred to thoſe of their own Nation, who would not think and do as they did. The Zealots, and thoſe that were for War, ſet themſelves againſt, and even threatened Death to them who were for Peace, looking upon them as no better than Heathens, ſaith (e) Joſephus: Whereas true Chriſtian Wiſdom requires us to live peaceably with, and to do good to all. m

Ibid. Ἀνυπόκριτος, And without Hypocriſy.] For which our Saviour ſo ſeverely inveighs againſt the Scribes and Phariſees, the Leaders of the Jews. n

Ver. 18. Καρπὸς τῆς δικαιοσύνης, The Fruit of Righteouſneſs:] I. e. The Reward of Righteouſneſs to them who make it their buſineſs to live peaceably themſelves, and incline others to it, is here ſown happily and quietly, by the Preachers of the Goſpel of Peace declaring it to the World, and ſhall hereafter aſſuredly be reaped by them. Or thus, Theſe Fruits of Righteouſneſs now ſown by the Chriſtian endued with this Heavenly Wiſdom, will yield a plentiful and happy Crop to them who are Promoters of Peace. o

CHAP. IV.

a Verſe 1. FRom [a] whence comes Wars and Fightings among you [Jews?] Come they not hence, even of your Luſts [or Pleaſures] that war in your Members [againſt the Soul? 1 Pet. 2. 11.]

b 2. [b] Ye luſt, and have not: ye kill, and deſire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, becauſe ye ask not.

3. Ye ask, and receive not, becauſe ye ask amiſs, that ye may conſume it upon your Luſts.

4. Ye Adulterers and Adultereſſes, know ye not that the friendſhip of the World, [which ſtands in competition with, and indiſpoſeth you to believe, and obey God's Will,] is enmity with God, [and ſo Idolatry, which in the Language of Scripture is Adultery?] whoſoever therefore will be [thus] a Friend of the World, is the Enemy of God, [having renounced him to have Mammon for his Lord, Matth. 6. 24.]

c 5. [c] Do you think that the Scripture ſaith [Gr. ſpeaks] in vain, [againſt this Worldly mindedneſs,] The Spirit that dwelleth in us [Chriſtians,] luſteth [he] to envy, [as yours doth? v. 2. Is he not rather the Spirit of Love and Goodneſs, engaging us to love all Men, and eſpecially our Chriſtian Brethren? 1 Pet. 1. 22.]

6. But [ſo far is he from this Envy, that d where he dwells] [d] he giveth more Grace, [or Favour;] wherefore he [or it, the Scripture]
ſaith, God reſiſteth the Proud, but giveth Grace [or ſheweth Favour] to the Humble, [Prov. 3. 34.]

7. [Be ye then humble, and] ſubmit your ſelves therefore to [that] God [who giveth Grace to the Humble:] Reſiſt the Devil, [the Author of thoſe Wars, Envyings, and Luſtings which are among you,] and [then] he will fly from you.

e 8. [e] Draw nigh to God [by Prayer, Humi- liation, Repentance, and Obedience,] and he will f draw nigh to you [in Mercy:] [f] Cleanſe your Hands [from Rapine and Injuſtice,] ye Sinners, and purifie your Hearts [from the Love of the World,] ye double-minded, [whoſe hearts are divided betwixt God and Mammon.]

9. Be afflicted, and morn, and weep; let your Laughter be turned to Mourning, and g your Joy to [g] Heavineſs.

10. Humble your ſelves [therefore] in the ſight of the Lord, [and under his mighty Hand that is upon you, 1 Pet. 5. 6.] and he ſhall lift you up, [that he may exalt you ἐν καιρῷ, in that ſeaſon of his Viſitation, as he did then his faithful Servants, by a wonderful Deliverance, according to his Promiſe. See Note on Matth. 24. 31.]

11. [h] Speak not evil one of [or againſt] h another, Brethren; he that ſpeaketh evil of [or againſt] his Brother, and judgeth his Brother, ſpeaketh evil of the Law, and judgeth the Law, [or ſpeaketh againſt the Law, as being evil, or imperfect, in that it doth not command or condemn thoſe things which thou doſt command or condemn;] but if thou [take upon thee to] judge the Law, thou art not [in thy Behaviour as] a Doer of the Law, but a Judge [of it.]

12. [Whereas indeed] there is [only] one Law-giver, who is able to ſave and to deſtroy; who [therefore] art thou that judgeſt another?

13. Go to now, ye that [preſume to] ſay, To day or to morrow we will go into ſuch a City, and continue there a year, and buy and ſell, and get gain, [as if both Life, and the Advantages of Life depended wholly on your ſelves, and not at all on Divine Providence.]

14. Whereas ye [who ſpeak with ſuch confidence of the future] know not what ſhall be on the morrow; for, what is your Life? It is even [as] a Vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vaniſheth away.

15. [Thus you are wont to ſpeak;] For that [Gr. whereas] ye ought to ſay, [i] If the Lord i will, we ſhall live, and do this or that.

16. But now you rejoice in your Boaſtings [of the future,] all ſuch Rejoicing is evil as being an aſſuming to your ſelves what belongs to God only, and ſo an Evidence that you do not ſubject your own Will to the Will of God: For ſince this Life is ſo ſhort and uncertain, and thereby teaches you to think humbly, and ſpeak modeſtly, and with due dependance on the Divine Providence, with reſpect both to your Lives and future Actions; you by thus pleaſing your ſelves in theſe vain Boaſtings, and talking as if you were immortal, and independent upon Providence, are guilty of an evil Exaltation, and vain Boaſting.]

17. Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doth it not, to him it is Sin. [If after my Admonition to avoid this and other Crimes, you continue in them, you will be inexcuſably guilty of Sin, Joh. 15. 22. and the guilt of it will abide upon you, Joh. 9. 41. as it will alſo in all other things done againſt knowledge, and the Convictions of your Conſcience? for in ſuch things the Heart departs from, and rebels againſt the Lord; he that thus ſins, deſpiſeth the Word of the Lord, and reproacheth him that ſpake it, Numb. 15. 30, 31.]

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 1. Πόθεν πόλεμοι; Whence come Wars?] This Epiſtle ſeems to have been writ about the 8th year of Nero, and the 62d of Chriſt, the Year before the Death of James; before which time the Jews had great Wars and Fightings, not only with their Neighbours, (See Note on Matth. 24. 6.) but even among themſelves in every City, and Family, ſaith (a) Joſephus; nor only in Judæa, but in Alexandria, Syria, and many other places. See the Preface, §. 5, 6.

b Ver. 2. Ἐπιθυμεῖτε, &c. Ye luſt, &c.] For Explication of theſe words we are to note, that the Jews were then vehemently luſting after two things.

1ſt, Liberty and Freedom from Tribute; which was, ſay they, the Token of Subjection. (b) Joſephus ſaith they were continually clamouring, to have the Tributes took away, and that upon this very account; and (c) that the Zealots, the Band of Thieves, and their Magicians, were ſtill preſſing the People to fight for their Liberty from the Roman Yoke.

2dly, Dominion over other Nations: For having got this Fancy into their Heads, That their (d) Meſſiah was to be a Temporal Prince, who ſhould enable them to lord it over the Heathens, they were zealous to have theſe pretended Prophecies accompliſhed; and (e) the hopes of it encouraged them to fight. Whence we may paraphraſe on theſe two Verſes thus; You luſt [for Liberty and Dominion,] and you have it not; ye [in purſuit and deſire of them] kill, and [yet] you cannot obtain [them,] becauſe you ask not, [whether that be according to the Will of God which you ſo greedily deſire.] Ye ask theſe things, and receive them not, becauſe ye ask amiſs, that you may conſume them upon your Luſts; [viz. That having this Liberty and Empire, you may poſſeſs the good things of this World you luſt after, and may lord it over the Heathen World.]

Ver. 4. Φιλία τοῦ κόσμου ἔχθρα τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐστὶν, The Friendſhip of this World is enmity to God.] This One mentioned here by OEcumenius explains thus; κόσμον ἐνταῦθα πᾶσαν τὴν ὑλικὴν ζωὴν ἀποκαλεῖ, he here ſtiles the whole ſenſual Life, the World, ὡς μητέρα τῆς φθορᾶς ἧς ὁ μεταχεῖν σπεύδων ὀλιγώρως ἔχει τῶν θείων, καὶ ὑπεροπτικῶς, as being the Mother of Corruption, which he that is haſty to enjoy, overlooks, and deſpiſeth Divine Things: See the Text defended here Examen Millii.

Ver. 5. Ἢ δοκεῖτε ὅτι κενῶς ἡ γραφὴ λέγει; c Or, Do you think that the Scripture ſaith in vain? &c.] They who make this whole Verſe one Sentence, are obliged to ſhew where the Scripture hath theſe words, The Spirit that dwelleth in us luſteth to Envy; which no Interpreter hath yet ſucceſsfully attempted. But in the Expoſition given in the Paraphraſe, which makes the whole to conſiſt of two Queſtions, this is needleſs. Now in favour of this Expoſition, let it be noted, 1ſt, That nothing is more ordinary than for Particles to be repeated from the precedent Member. So, Pſal. 9. 19. The needy ſhall not always be forgotten, the Expectation of the Poor ſhall (not) periſh for ever. See Pſal. 38. 1. 44. 19. 1 Sam. 2. 3. Job 30. 25. 31. 20. Prov. 25. 27. 30. 3. So, אם, if, Pſal. 139. 8. Prov. 6. 1. 9. 12. See Glaſſius de ellipſi partic l. 4. tr. 2. obſerv. 10. p. 721. So here the Particle ἢ may be repeated thus, Or doth the Spirit that is in you luſt to Envy? Though the Senſe be full only by reading the Words by way of Interrogation. Note, 2dly, That not to ſpeak in vain, is not to do it without Cauſe or juſt Reaſon, as Ezek. 6. 10. And God, or the Scripture, is ſaid to ſpeak in vain to them who attend not to, or receive no Benefit by his words, Jer. 8. 8. So then the Senſe runs thus, Doth the Scripture ſpeak without cauſe againſt this Worldly-mindedneſs? Would it not have you attend to, and receive advantage by what it ſaith againſt it?

Ver. 6. Μείζονα δὲ δίδωσι χάριν, But he giveth more Grace.] d That חן and χάρις throughout the Scripture ſignifies Favour, and Good will; See Note on 2 Cor. 6. 1. And this Senſe the oppoſition here requires; God being diſpleaſed with, and oppoſing himſelf to the Proud, but ſhewing Favour to the Humble, and cauſing them to find Favour among Men, Prov. 3. 34. What Monſ. le Clerc here ſaith, 'That in thoſe times the 'Jews uſed to produce as out of Scripture, 'not only the Senſe of Places without re'garding the Words, but alſo a Jewiſh Tra'dition or Interpretation of Scripture, and 'ſo we are not to look for what is here 'ſaid, in the Old Teſtament,' is intolerable: For is it fit to make an Apoſtle, giving us thoſe Scriptures which are to be our Rule of Faith, ſpeak thus, Do you think the Scripture ſpeaks in vain, what it ſpeaks not at all? And to call a Jewiſh Tradition the Scripture?

e Ver. 8. Ἐγγίσατε τῷ Θεῷ, Draw nigh to God.] The way of drawing nigh to God being now, under the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, through Faith in Chriſt, and in his Blood ſhed for the Propitiation of our Sins, we being made nigh to him through the Blood of Chriſt, Eph. 2. 13. and through the Introduction of that better Hope, by which ἐγγίζομεν τῷ Θεῷ, we draw nigh to God, Heb. 7. 19. it being Chriſt alone by whom we have an Introduction to the Father through Faith in him, Eph. 2. 18. 3. 12. and who hath ſuffered for us that he might bring us to God, 1 Pet. 3. 18. This may be looked on as an Exhortation to the ἁμαρτωλοὶ, the unbelieving Jews to believe in Chriſt, and to the δίψυχοι, the wavering Jews, (See Note on Chap. 1. v. 8.) to cleave ſtedfaſtly to the Faith.

f Ibid. Καθαρίσατε χεῖρας, Cleanſe your Hands.] That the Hands of the Jews, and eſpecially of the Zealots among them, were full of Blood and Rapine, we learn from (f) Joſephus, who makes very often ſad Complaints of the Murders and Rapines committed by them. (See Chap. 5. 4. 6.) And ſo this Exhortation muſt be very properly directed to them. True alſo is the Note of Eſthius here, Porro ſi jubentur homines emundare manus, & purificare corda, nec jubetur quid impoſſibile, conſequens eſt eos poſſe hæc præſtare.

g Ver. 9. Εἰς κατήφειαν, Into heavineſs;] For now the Day of Vengeance upon the unbelieving and back-ſliding Jews approacheth, Luke 21. 22. Now the Coming of the Lord to execute Vengeance on them draweth near, Chap. 5. 8. When Wrath ſhall come upon them to the uttermoſt, 2 Theſ. 2. 16.

Ver. 11. Μὴ καταλαλεῖτε, ſpeak not evil] h For Explication of theſe words, let it be noted, that the great Exception which both the unbelieving Jews, and the Judaizing Chriſtians among them, had againſt the believing Gentiles, was this, That (g) they obſerved not their Feaſts or Sabbaths, and that they were not Circumciſed, whence they conclude they differ'd little from the Heathens. This was the thing for which the (h) Chriſtian Fathers did contend againſt them; viz. That the ancient Patriarchs of old were acceptable to God, and conſequently the Chriſtians, and eſpecially the converted Gentiles, might be acceptable to God without the Obſervation of theſe Feaſts and Sabbaths, or of Circumciſion. Hence the Apoſtle is ſo concerned that they ſhould not judge one another on the account of Days or Meats, Rom. 14. 4, 5, 6. Hence he inveighs againſt the Galatians, as being brought in Bondage by the Judaizers, to the Obſervation of Circumciſion, Chapter 5. 3. And of Days, Months, Times, and Years, Chap. 4. 10. And warns his Coloſſians not to be induced to follow thoſe Rudiments of the World, as being circumciſed in Chriſt, Coloſ. 2. 11. And ſaith, let no Man judge you in reſpect of Feaſts, or New-Moons, or of the Sabbaths, v. 16. So that the Argument of the Apoſtle here ſeems to run thus, Let no Man ſpeak againſt his Chriſtian Brethren the Gentiles, for not obſerving theſe things: for, the Law itſelf requiring theſe things, not of the Gentiles that even dwelt among them, but only of the Jews, he that ſpeaks againſt them, and judgeth them for the Non-obſervation of theſe things, he in effect ſpeaks againſt and judgeth that Law as deficient, which required not theſe things. And thou who takeſt upon thee to ſay they cannot be ſaved, Acts 15. 1. and ſo judgeſt them to Deſtruction without the Obſervation of them, thou even takeſt upon thee the Office of this great Law-giver, who alone is able to ſave and to deſtroy, and who, by not requiring thoſe things of the Gentiles, ſhews he will ſave them without them, and not deſtroy them for neglect of them. So the Targum on Ezek. 13. 18. brings in God ſpeaking to the Falſe Prophets thus, Can you kill or make alive the Souls of my People? Others indeed refer this to the Law of Chriſtian Love, but that is ſtill ſtiled the Law of Chriſt, Gal. 6. 2. or the Law of Liberty, Chap. 2. 12. but never abſolutely the Law, as here; and therefore I prefer the former Interpretation.

CHAP. V.

a Verſe 1. [a] GO to now, ye rich Men, [of the Jewiſh Nation, you will have cauſe to] weep and howl for the Miſeries that ſhall come [Gr. are coming] upon you.

2. Your Riches are corrupted, [or are as things putrified by being kept too long,] and your Garments [are become] Motheaten: [They being laid up in your Wardrobes, and not uſed to cloath your naked Brother, ſhall be as uſeleſs to you as if they were devoured by the Moth.]

3. Your Gold and Silver is canker'd, [or eaten out with Ruſt,] and the Ruſt of them ſhall be a Witneſs againſt you [of your
b Covetous and Worldly Minds,] [b] and ſhall eat your Fleſh as it were Fire: ye have heaped Treaſure together for the laſt days, [Gr. It ſhall eat your Fleſh as Fire, you have treaſur'd it up for the laſt days.]

c 4. Behold the [c] Hire of the Labourers which have reaped down your Fields, which is of you kept back by Fraud, crieth; and the Cries of them that have reaped, [and are thus defrauded of their Wages by you,] are enter'd into the Ears of the Lord of Sabbaoth.

d 5. [d] Ye have lived in Pleaſure on the Earth, and been wanton; ye have nouriſhe ed your hearts as in [or, for] [e] a day of ſlaughter.

f 6. Ye have condemned, [f] and killed the Juſt, and he doth not reſiſt you.

7. Be patient therefore, Brethren, unto the Coming of our Lord, [to avenge you of g theſe Murtherers;] behold, the [g] Husbandman waiteth for the precious Fruit of the Earth, and hath long Patience for it till he receive the early and latter Rain, [the firſt to make the Corn ſown ſwell and grow up, the latter to make the Ear plump before Harveſt.]

8. Be ye alſo patient; ſtabliſh your Hearts [in expectation of this Advent:] for [h] the Co- h ming of the Lord draweth nigh.

9. [i] Grudge not [Gr. groan not] one a- i gainſt another, Brethren, [as Men impatient, and deſiring Vengeance, uſe to do,] leſt ye be condemned, [as wanting in that Patience which ought to have it's perfect work in you, and in that Chriſtian Charity, which requires you to pray for Mercy, and not to cry for Vengeance on your Enemies:] Behold, the Judge [who will plead your Cauſe againſt your perſecuting Brethren] ſtandeth before the door.

10. Take my Brethren the Prophets, who have ſpoken [to you Jews] in the Name of the Lord, for an Example of ſuffering Afflictions, and of Patience, [i. e. of patient ſuffering; for they had experience of cruel Mockings, and of Death, and yet they ſuffered theſe things patiently: Behold, we count them happy that endure [Afflictions for Righteouſneſs ſake, and for the Trial of their Faith, Matth. 5. 12. 1 Pet. 4. 14.] ye have heard of the [k] Patience k of Job, and have ſeen [i. e. known] the End of the Lord, that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender Mercy, [as then he was to him a Deliverer, and a Rewarder of his Patience, ſo will he be to you.]

12. [l] But above all things, my Brethren, l ſwear not, neither by Heaven, nor by the Earth, nor by any other Oath, but let your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay; [i. e. let your Actions be agreeable to your Words: See m Note on 2 Cor. 1. 17.] [m] leſt ye fall into Condemnation.

13. Is any man among you afflicted? let him pray, [to God to alleviate and ſanctify his Affliction.] Is any merry? let him ſing Pſalms [of Praiſe, to that God who hath given him this Chearfulneſs of Spirit.] n 14. Is any [Man] ſick among you? [n] let him call for the Elders of the Church, and o let them pray over him, [o] anointing him with Oil in the Name of the Lord.

p 15. [p] And the Prayer of Faith ſhall ſave the Sick; and the Lord [in anſwer to this Prayer of Faith] ſhall raiſe him up; and if he q [q] hath committed [ſuch] Sins [as brought this Sickneſs on him,] they ſhall be forgiven him [upon this Prayer of Faith.]

16. Confeſs [therefore] your Faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: The [r] effectual fervent [Gr. r
the inſpired] Prayer of a righteous Man, availeth much.

17. Elias was a Man ſubject to like Paſſions as we are, and he prayed earneſtly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the Earth by the ſpace of [ſ] three years and ſix ſ months.

18. And he prayed again, and the Heaven gave Rain, and the Earth brought forth her Fruit.

19. Brethren, if any of you do err from the Faith, and one convert him;

20. [t] Let him know, that he who converteth t
the Sinner from the Error of his way, ſhall ſave a Soul from Death, and ſhall hide a multitude of Sins.

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Verſe 1. Ἄγε νῦν, Go to now.] This is only a form of Tranſition, Chap. 4. 13. and converting of Speech to any Perſon; as if he ſhould have ſaid, And now to ſpeak to you that are rich, I call upon you to weep, &c.

That this Prediction was exactly fulfilled by the ſlaughter and ſpoiling of the rich Jews throughout Galilee and Judæa, (a) Joſephus will not ſuffer us to doubt. For he informs us, that the Zealots ſpared none but thoſe who were ταπεινοὶ διὰ τύχην, poor and low in Fortune, and that they were ſo inſatiably rapacious, that they ſearched all the Houſes of the Rich, killing the Men, and abuſing the Women. And that it alſo was fulfilled touching thoſe of the Diſperſion, See the Preface, §. 5, 6.

b Ver. 3. It ſhall eat your Fleſh as Fire, ἐν ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις, in the laſt Days.] as the Ruſt eats into the Gold and Silver, ſo ſhall your Fleſh and Subſtance be eaten up as with Fire, as if you had treaſured up Fire in the midſt of it. For,

1*ſt*, This is a frequent Metaphor among the Prophets, who often ſpeak of the Fire eating up the Wicked, and devouring their Fleſh; Thou ſhalt make them as a fiery Oven in the time of thy Wrath, ϗ καταφάγεται αὐτοὺς πῦρ, and the Fire ſhall eat them up, Pſal. 21. 9. The Light of Iſrael ſhall be for a Fire, and his Holy One for a Flame, and it ſhall burn, ϗ φάγεται, and eat up his Thorns and Briars in one day, ϗ καταφάγεται ἀπὸ ψυχῆς ἕως σαρκῶν, and it ſhall eat up from the Soul to the Fleſh, Iſa. 10. 16, 17. Πῦρ τοὺς ἐναντίους ἔδεται, The Fire ſhall eat up the Adverſaries, Chap. 27. 11. Behold, the Name of the Lord cometh forth from far, burning with Anger, ϗ ἡ ὀργὴ τοῦ θυμοῦ ὡς πῦρ ἔδεται, and the Anger of his Fury, ſhall eat as the Fire, Chap. 30. 11. Behold I will make my Word in thy mouth Fire, and this People Wood, ϗ καταφάγεται αὐτοὺς, and it ſhall eat them up, Jer. 5. 14. They ſhall go out from one Fire, ϗ πῦρ αὐτοὺς καταφάγεται, and another Fire ſhall eat them up, Ezek. 15. 7. I will bring forth a Fire from the midſt of thee, and the Fire καταφάγεταί σε, ſhall eat thee up. See Amos 5. 6.

2*dly*, This was punctually fulfilled in the Deſtruction of that Nation by their own Seditions, and the Roman Wars. For amongſt the Sicarii and the Zealots, the Ringleaders of all their Seditions, it was Crime enough to be Rich, and their inſatiable Avarice induced them ſtill to make τῶν πλουσίων οἴκων ἔρευναν, a Search into the Houſes of the Rich: For them to remain among theſe Tyrants was Deſtruction; (b) for by falſe Accuſations they were ſlain as Deſerters, for their Subſtance. Yea, both their Subſtance and their Fleſh were (c) devoured by the Flames which burnt up the City and the Temple, and ſo conſumed both their dead Bodies, and their Subſtance, and their Wardrobes; and that which re-remained became a Prey to the Army of the Romans. See the like done in their Diſperſions, Preface, §. 6.

c Ver. 4. Ὁ μισθὸς, The Hire.] The Precept in the Law touching this matter running thus, Thou ſhalt not defraud thy Neighbour——The Wages of him that is hired ſhall not abide with thee all Night until the Morning, Lev. 19. 13. This keeping of it back, is truly ſtiled Fraud and Oppreſſion; and all Sins of that nature, cry to Heaven for Vengeance on the fraudulent Oppreſſor. So the Cry of the Iſraelites, under their Oppreſſion in the Land of Egypt, came up to God, Exod. 2. 23. 3. 7. The Cry of the afflicted Widow, and the Fatherleſs, Exodus 22. 27. The Cry of the Poor and the Afflicted, Job. 34. 28. Pſalm 9. 12. The Cry of him that wants his Pledge to cover him, Exod. 22. 27. And the Cry of him whoſe Wages is kept back. Thou ſhalt not oppreſs an hired Servant that is poor and needy; at his day thou ſhalt give him his Hire, neither ſhall the Sun go down upon it——leſt he cry againſt thee to the Lord, and it be a Sin unto thee, Deut. 24. 14, 15.

d Ver. 5. Ἐτρυφήσατε καὶ ἐσπαταλήσατε, Ye have lived in Pleaſure, and been wanton.] The firſt word Ἐτρυφήσατε, ſay Criticks, refers to their Luxurious Eating; the ſecond, ἐσπαταλήσατε, to their Carnal Luſtings and Laſciviouſneſs, 1 Tim. 5. 6. Ezek. 16. 49. both which were Vices the Jews then were very ſubject to, eating and drinking to exceſs in their Feaſts. See Note on 1 Cor. 11. 21. and were ſaith (d) Tacitus, Projectiſſima ad Libidinem Gens, a Nation very prone to Luſt.

e Ibid. As for a Day of Slaughter,] I. e. As the Sacrifices which are firſt fatten'd, and then ſlaughtered, ſaith the Chaldee on thoſe words, The Enemies of the Lord ſhall be as the Fat of Lambs, Pſal. 37. 20. (See Examen Millii.)

f Ver. 6. Ἐφονεύσατε, Ye have killed, &c.] Here OEcumenius ſaith, Ἀναντιῤῥήτως τὸ ἐφονεύσατε δίκαιον ἐπὶ τὸν Χριστὸν ἀναφέρεται, this is undoubtedly to be referred to Chriſt, who is emphatically ſtiled The Juſt One, Acts 3. 14. 7. 52. 22. 14. So (e) Juſtin Martyr, Ἀπεκτείνατε τὸν δίκαιον, Ye have killed the Juſt One, and before him the Prophets. But againſt this Interpretation it is objected by Eſthius, 1. That the Apoſtle here ſpeaks by way of Diſtinction to the Rich, who dragg'd the Chriſtians before the Tribunals; whereas the Death of Chriſt is imputed to the Princes and Rulers of the Jews, and to the People in general, Acts 3. 14. 7. 52. 13. 27, 28. 2. 'Tis ſaid in the Preſent Tenſe, And he doth not reſiſt you; whereas had this been ſpoken of Chriſt, it ſhould have been ſaid, He did not reſiſt you: And therefore OEcumenius doth acknowledge this is to be extended alſo to all thoſe Juſt Men, St. Stephen, and others who ſuffered in like manner from the Jews, according to our Lord's Prediction, Matth. 24. 9. and St. Paul's Confeſſion, That before his Converſion, he perſecuted this way unto the death, Acts 22. 4. Hence this Paſſage is connected to the enſuing Words directed to the Chriſtians in general, by this Particle, Therefore.

Ver. 7. The Husband man waiteth, &c.] So g the Targum of Jonathan, on 2 Sam. 23. 4. compareth thoſe who expect the Years of Conſolation, to the Husband-man, who in a Year of Drought waiteth for Rain upon the Earth. See the Text defended, Examen Millii.

Ver. 8. Ἡ παρουσία τοῦ Κυρίου ἤγγικε, The Coming h of the Lord is at hand.] He ſpeaks, ſaith (f) OEcumenius, of the Coming of the Romans to captivate the Jews, which he calls, The Coming of our Lord; as St. John does, chap. 21, 22. And this Expoſition is confirmed, 1*ſt*, From the conſtant Uſe of the like Phraſe, Ἐγγὺς ἡμέρα Κυρίου, The Day of the Lord is at hand, Iſa. 13. 6. Ezek. 30. 3. Joel 1. 15. and 2. 1. and 3. 14. Obad. v. 15. Zeph. 1. 7, 14. From the Evils which he ſaith are coming on the Rich, v. 1. and which then eſpecially came upon them. 2*dly*, From his ſaying, This Coming is at hand; and, The Judge ſtandeth at the Door, ver. 9. or in St. Peter's Phraſe, Τὸ τέλος ἤγγικε, The End is at hand, 1 Pet. 4. 7. which anſwers exactly to the Words of Chriſt, touching the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, Then ſhall, τὸ τέλος, the End come, Matth. 24. 14. It is near, ἐπὶ θύραις, even at the Door, v. 33. Her Deſolation, ἤγγικε, draweth nigh, Luke 21. 20. See Note on Philip. 4. 5. And this was a true Ground for Patience, and anſwers the Objection of Eſthius againſt this Expoſition.

Ver. 9. Μὴ στενάζετε, Groan not.] Theſe i Groanings, in the Scripture, have a Voice and Cry; and God is ſaid to hear them. Thus the Children of Iſrael groaned, by reaſon of their hard Bondage, κατεστέναξαν; and their Cry came up to God, Exod. 2. 23. And the Spirit is ſaid to intercede, in Chriſt's ſuffering Members, with Groans unuttered, Rom. 8. 26. Thus David prays, that God would hear the Voice of his Groanings, and the Groaning of the Priſoners, Pſal. 102. 5, 20. Theſe Groanings, when they are only the Natural Iſſues of an Afflicted Soul, move God to Pity, Jud. 2. 18. and remember us in Mercy, Exod. 6. 5. But when they are the Fruits of Impatience under Troubles, and a deſire of Revenge upon our Enemies, they tend to our Condemnation; and the Perſecuting Jews, being of the ſame Stock with the Converted Jews, their Groaning againſt them, is ſtiled groaning againſt one another.

(f) Λέγει δὲ τὴν Ῥωμαϊκὴν ἔφοδον, καὶ τὴν ὑπὸ τούτων αἰχμαλωσίαν τῶν Ἰουδαίων, ἣν καὶ παρουσίαν καλεῖ τοῦ Κυρίου, ὡς ὁ Ἰωάννης. Κεφ. ν. 22.

It is the Obſervation of (g) Juſtin, That the Converts among the Gentiles were not only more than thoſe among the Jews, and the Samaritans, but alſo, that they were better Chriſtians, and more truly ſo; for theſe Jewiſh Converts were ſtill Leavened with an Expectation of a Temporal Kingdom, and of Liberty from the Roman Yoke, and the Dominion over all Heathen Governors. Whence the Apoſtles do ſo frequently enjoin them to be ſubject to the Higher Powers, Rom. 13. 1. To be ſubject to Principalities and Powers, Tit. 3. 1. To be ſubject to every Human Ordinance, and not uſe the Liberty to which they were called, as a Cloak of Maliciouſneſs, 1 Pet. 2. 13, 16. Now theſe, as Dr. Hammond well obſerves, liv'd intermix'd with with the Unconverted Jews and Zealots, who were ſtill grudging, and contending againſt all that would not ſtand up for Liberty, and fight for this Temporal Kingdom, (h) accounting them no better than the very Heathens, on that account; and theſe may be the Grudgers here intended.

k Ver. 11. The Patience of Job.] Hence may we very probably conclude, That what is written in the Book of Job, is truly an Hiſtory of what happen'd to him; and not, as ſome conceive, a Parable or Fiction of a thing not truly done: For feigned Things contain no ſerious Motives to, nor juſt Examples of Patience. 2. We find this Holy Man number'd with Noah, and Daniel, as Perſons very prevalent in Prayer, Ezek. 14. 14, 20. As therefore Noah, and Daniel, were Perſons truly prevalent in their Supplications, Gen. 8. 21. Dan. 9. 23. ſo alſo Job muſt be, as he is repreſented, chap. 42. 8, 10.

l Ver. 12. Μὴ ὀμνύετε, Swear not :] I. e. Let not your Afflictions move you to uſe Raſh Oaths, as Men are wont to do when much provoked. That Raſh Oaths are only forbidden here, and Matth. 5. 34. ſee the Note there. The Oaths here forbid being ſuch as our Impatience under Sufferings, and our unbridled Paſſions do produce; or elſe the Oaths forbidden here, may be Illuſive Oaths, viz. ſuch as the Jews were free to uſe, becauſe they thought they did not bind; (See Note on Matth. 9. 34.) and ſo were free to make, to purchaſe their Deliverance.

m Ibid. Ἵνα μὴ ὑπὸ κρίσιν πέσητε, That ye fall not into Condemnation.] Some Copies read, εἰς ὑπόκρισιν, into Hypocriſy: But 1. This reading is not found in many Copies. 2. The Apoſtle, v. 9. puts them in mind of the Judge ſtanding at the Door, requiring them not to grudge againſt one another, leſt they be condemned by him; 'tis therefore far more probable he ſpeaketh alſo here of Condemnation by the Judge. 3. To be falſe to the Oath of God, is Perjury in the proper ſenſe, for which God threatens he will not hold the Offender guiltleſs, but is not properly Hypocriſy. If therefore this had been the meaning of St. James, Swear not, leſt you be tempted to the Violation of your Oaths, he ſhould have called that Perjury, not Hypocriſy.

n Ver. 14. Προσκαλεσάσθω τοὺς Πρεσβυτέρους τῆς Ἐκκλησίας, The Elders of the Church.] That it was the Office of the Presbyters, ἐπισκέπτεσθαι πάντας ἀσθενεῖς, to viſit all the Sick, we learn from the Epiſtle of Polycarp. ad Philip. §. 6. But that theſe Presbyters ſhould be Biſhops properly ſo called as ſome conceive, ſeems not very probable; for then it muſt not only be the Office of the Biſhop perſonally to viſit the Sick; but the Duty of every ſick Perſon to ſend to him, and to no other. Yea, there muſt be more than one Biſhop in the Church, of which the Sick Man is a Member, and he muſt be obliged to ſend to more; for the Text runs wholly in the Plural, let him call for the ELDERS of the Church, καὶ προσευξάσθωσαν, and let them, [not, one of them,] pray over him; and therefore the Sick Man muſt be obliged by this Text, to call for more than one of them, where more were to be had, as we know there were in the Primitive Conſtitution of the Church.

o Ibid. Anointing him with Oil.] This was agreeable to the Practice of the (i) Jews, who anointed the Sick, pro more, cuſtomarily, ſaith their Tradition: Hence, though our Lord only commiſſionated his Diſciples to heal the Sick, Matth. 10. 8. Luke 9. 2. yet St. Mark informs us, that they added their uſual Ceremonies in doing this, for they anointed many that were ſick, with Oil, and healed them, Mark 6. 13. And St. James, ſpeaking to the Elders of the Jews, bids them uſe this Unction in the Name of the Lord, as doubtleſs the Apoſtles did; as in Caſting out of Devils, Luke 10. 17. ſo in Healing the Sick, Acts 3. 16. and 4. 10, 30. And this Addition made the Cure Miraculous.

Goſpel, and to the Rulers or Elders of the Churches, was the Gift of Faith, as in theſe words, to another is given Faith by the ſame Spirit, 1 Cor. 12. 9. i. e. by a ſtrong Impulſe of the Spirit, fully perſwading them that God would enable them to do this or that. This ſeems to be that Faith which is ſtiled πίςις Θεȣ͂, the Faith of God, to which even the removing of Mountains, or the performing Things moſt difficult and extraordinary, is promiſed, Mark 11. 22, 23. Matth. 21. 21. and of which the Apoſtle ſpeaks, ſaying, If I had all Faith ſo as to remove Mountains, 1 Cor. 13. 2. and by which they healed the Sick, even by Faith in his Name, Acts 3. 16. and therefore this is here promiſed, that where the Prayer of the Elders was attended with ſuch a Faith, it ſhould be ſtill ſucceſsful for the Healing of the Sick; or the raiſing him up again from the Bed of Sickneſs; for σώσει, will ſave, is ἐγερεῖ, he will raiſe him up.

q Ibid. And if he hath committed Sins; ] I. e. Such Sins for which God was pleaſed to inflict this Bodily Diſeaſe upon him, as he did on the Members of the Church of Corinth, for their diſorderly celebrating the Lord's Supper; for which cauſe, ſaith the Apoſtle, many are weak and ſickly among you, 1 Cor. 11. 30. they being thus chaſten'd of the Lord, v. 32. And where the Sickneſs is by way of Chaſtiſement, the Healing it is a Teſtimony of God's Forgiveneſs of it. Hence, Thy Sins be forgiven, is our Lord's uſual Expreſſion when he healed the Sick, Matth. 9. 2, 6, 7. See the Note there; according to thoſe words of the Prophet Iſaiah, The Inhabitants ſhall not ſay they are ſick, the People ſhall be forgiven their Iniquity, chap. 33. 24. Hence it is evident, that here is no Foundation for the Sacrament of Extreme Unction, called by the Romiſh Church, the Sacrament of the Dying, and adminiſter'd for the Purgation of their Sins, when they ſeem paſt hopes of Recovery; for how can they gather a Sacrament of Extreme Unction, from an Unction that is not Extreme; or a perpetual Ordinance from an Action that was extraordinary and miraculous, and is long ſince ceaſed? How can they prove a Sacrament that is proper to Dying Perſons, from a Right uſed only upon Perſons who were not to die, but to be raiſed up from Sickneſs? Or promiſe to him Forgiveneſs of his Sins, to whom they cannot promiſe that Recovery which was the Token of it? Moreover, the Things already obſerved, afford us a ſufficient Anſwer to the Objections of Eſthius, againſt our Expoſition, which are theſe:

Object. 1. Firſt, That the Grace of Miracles extended not to Spiritual Effects, as the Forgiveneſs of Sins, but Temporal.

Anſw. This is ſaid in flat Contradiction to our Lord, who doth ſo often Preface his Miraculous Cures of the Sick with this Expreſſion, Thy Sins are forgiven thee, Matth. 9. 2. Nor was this Forgiveneſs ſo much a Spiritual Effect, as Temporal, it being only the Remiſſion of a Temporal Puniſhment of Sin, viz. Sickneſs inflicted for it.

Object. 2. Had the Apoſtle ſpoke of Miraculous Cures, he would only have adviſed them to call thoſe who had the Gift of Healing, whether Presbyters or not, all the Presbyters, and them only.

Anſw. He reaſonably adviſeth to call them, and them only, to Pray over the Sick, who were by Office appointed for that Work; and doth here only tell them what they might expect from it, when that Miraculous Faith was raiſed in them, which often, in thoſe Times of Miracles, accompanied their Prayers.

Object. 3. The Apoſtle ſpeaks of a ſick Chriſtian Brother to be anointed by a faithful Presbyter, whereas the Uſe of Miracles was chiefly for converting Infidels; and hence this Unction was not uſed towards Trophimus left at Miletum ſick, 2 Tim. 4. 20. or to Epaphroditus ſick near unto Death, Phil. 2. 27.

Anſw. If it were not uſed by St. Paul to them, and eſpecially to Epaphroditus, 'tis certain that he knew nothing of this Sacrament. 2. Eſthius hath no cauſe to aſſert, That of Miracles in general, which the Apoſtle ſaith only of the Gift of Tongues, That they were only for Unbelievers; the Gift of Healing, for ought he knows to the contrary, might be ſtill exerciſed upon Believers, but only under the Conduct of the Spirit raiſing up this Miraculous Faith, which aſſured them of it in reſpect to ſome, and not to others, as he ſaw fit. See Note on Phil. 2. 27.

Object. 4. That had the Apoſtle intended Miraculous Healing, Oil had not been preſcribed; Chriſt having ſaid, They ſhould lay their Hands on the Sick only, Mark 16. 18.

Anſw. One Ceremony excludes not the other; moreover, Laying on of Hands is there preſcribed in Preaching to the Gentiles, Anointing with Oil here to the Jews, as being cuſtomary in caſe of Sickneſs.

Object. 5. All the other Things deliver'd in this Epiſtle, belong to the Chriſtians of all Ages; this therefore muſt do ſo too.

Anſw. As if this hinder'd the Apoſtles, as they had occaſion, to give Rules touching the Spiritual Gifts proper to their own Times; that, when they ſpake of other Matters not to ceaſe, their Precepts reach unto all Times. St. Peter, in his following Epiſtle, hath one Direction concerning thoſe Spiritual Gifts, 1 Pet. 4. 10, 11. tho' the other Precepts contained in that Epiſtle do concern all Ages.

Ver. 16. Δέησις ἐνεργουμένη, The inſpired Prayer.] As they who were inwardly acted by an Evil Spirit were ſtiled ἐνεργούμενοι, ſo they that were acted by the Holy Spirit, and inwardly moved by his Impulſes, were alſo ἐνεργούμενοι in the good ſenſe; and therefore it ſeems moſt proper to apply theſe words, not to the Prayer of every Righteous Perſon, but to the Prayer offered by ſuch an extraordinary Impulſe: Not only from the force of this Expreſſion, but 2*dly*, from the ſame thing here mentioned as the Subject of this Prayer, that our Sick Brother may be healed, which was to be done by the Prayer of Faith, ver. 15. 3*dly*, From the Example of Elias; for his Prayer was the Prayer of Faith, in the ſenſe now mentioned; for he abſolutely foretold, and confirm'd it with an Oath, that there ſhould be no Rain thoſe Years, but according to his Word, 1 Kings 18. 1. And his Prayer for Rain, was, upon God's Promiſe, to ſend Rain upon the Earth, chap. 19. 1.

Ver. 17. Three Years, and ſix Months.] So, Luke 4. 35. When therefore it is ſaid, That Elijah came to Ahab in the third Year, and the Lord ſaid, I will ſend Rain upon the Earth; Note, That Elias tarried before a Year at the Brook Kerith, and then in the middle of the third Year came to Ahab.

Ver. 20. This ſeemeth to be meant, not of the Sins of the Perſon thus converted, (for the ſaving of his Soul includes the Remiſſion of his Sins,) but of the Sins of him that converts him; i. e. this charitable Work ſhall be ſo pleaſing to God, as to prevail with him to cover many of his Sins.

THE PREFACE TO THE First Epiſtle of St. PETER.

Concerning this Epiſtle, allow'd by the Church of all Ages, to be the Genuine Work of the Apoſtle Peter, it may be enquired, 1. When? 2. Whence? 3. To whom? 4. On what Account it was written? And,

Queſt. 1. 1ſt, Whereas it is ordinarily affirm'd by the Romaniſts, That this Epiſtle was Written in the Forty fourth Year of Chriſt, as that Opinion ſeems to have been taken up by them, in favour of their avowed Tenet, That St. Peter was Twenty five Years in that See; and therefore, he dying in the Year of our Lord 69, muſt have come thither in the Year 44. So is it eaſily confuted, both from this Epiſtle, and by many other cogent Arguments.

1. From theſe words of this Epiſtle, chap. 4. 8. Τὸ τέλος πάντων ἤγγικε, The end of all things is at hand: That is, ſaith Dr. Hammond, who alſo follows this Opinion, The great and fatal Deſtruction to the Obdurate Jews, ſo often ſpoken of by Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, is now near at hand. Which could not have been ſaid in the Forty fourth Year of Chriſt, that is, about Twenty ſix Years before it happen'd; ſeeing the Apoſtle St. Paul, in his Second Epiſtle to the Theſſalonians, writ, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, A. D. 51. warneth the Theſſalonians, not to be ſhaken by any Word, or Epiſtle, as coming from the Apoſtles; which intimated, that the Coming of the Lord was at hand; and ſo he muſt have contradicted St. Peter, had he delivered this poſitively Seven Years before. 2dly, The Apoſtle James hath the like Expreſſions, ſaying, Ἡ παρουσία τοῦ Κυρίου ἤγγικε, The Coming of the Lord draweth near, chap. 5. 8. Behold the Judge ſtands, πρὸ τῶν θυρῶν, before the Door. Whence Dr. Hammond and Dr. Lightfoot well conclude, That this Epiſtle could not be Written long before the Death of St. James, which happen'd in the Year 63. And this Argument concludes as ſtrongly for this Epiſtle's being Endited after the ſame Time. Add to this, That theſe Expreſſions, τέλος, and ἡ παρουσία τοῦ Κυρίου ἤγγικε, The End, the Coming of the Lord, is at hand, and, πρὸ τῶν θυρῶν, before the Door, are plainly taken from our Saviour's Words, in his Prediction of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; where alſo the Time is fixed, by two remarkable Characters: 1. When you ſhall ſee Jeruſalem compaſſed about with Armies, then know ye, ὅτι ἤγγικεν ἐρήμωσις αὐτῆς, that her Deſolation draweth near, Luke 21. 20. That is, ſaith Dr. Hammond, When you ſee Jeruſalem beſieged by the Romans, then know, the Deſtruction of the City is near. Now this happened not at all till the Twelfth of Nero, and the Sixty ſixth Year of our Lord, when (a) Ceſthius beſieged Jeruſalem: It happened not, ſay the beſt Interpreters, according to the Words of the Evangeliſt, till the Year 68, when Veſpaſian coming thither, his Army (b) compaſſed the City round about. Theſe, ſaith St. Luke, are the Days of Vengeance, when all things which are written, ſhall be fulfilled, v. 22. and then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in the Clouds, v. 27. Again, Our Lord having foretold all the Signs of his Coming, καὶ τῆς συντελείας, and of the End of the Jewiſh Age, adds, When you ſee all theſe things come to paſs, then know that this Deſolation, ἐγγύς ἐστιν ἐπὶ θύραις, is nigh, even at the door, Matth. 24. 33. Mark 13. 29. clearly ſhewing, that Phraſe importeth ſtill a nearer approach of that great Deſolation.

2dly, That St. Peter was not at Rome, nor departed from Judæa, till a long time after the Forty fourth Year of Chriſt, is ſo evident from the Hiſtory of the Acts, and the Epiſtles of St. Paul, that he that runs may read it. For, That St. Luke, in an Hiſtory, deſign'd eſpecially to record the Acts of St. Peter, and St. Paul, ſhould omit a Matter of ſuch vaſt Moment and Importance to the whole Chriſtian World, happening within that very Time in which he ſpeaketh of St. Peter; that ſaying of him, chap. 12. 17. He departed, and went to another Place; he ſhould not ſay, as Bellarmin and Baronius, that Place was Rome, but in flat Contradiction to them, that he went down from Judæa to Cæſarea, and there abode, v. 19. That he ſhould tell us how Aquila and Priſcilla came from Italy, becauſe Claudius had commanded that all the Jews ſhould depart from Rome; but ſhould not tell us, as they do, that St. Peter came thence to Jeruſalem on the ſame account, and therefore was found preſent at the Council of Jeruſalem about Six Years after, but ſpeak of him there, as if he never had left Jeruſalem: That in this Council he ſhould urge againſt the Neceſſity of impoſing Circumciſion on the Gentiles, only the Example of Cornelius, and his Kinſmen, converted and not circumciſed; and ſay not one word of the Church of Rome, the Seat of all Spiritual Power, and Infallibility, and to which all other Churches were to veil, and do Homage, converted by him in like manner, and free alſo from the Yoke of Circumciſion: Nay, That he ſhould not mention that ever he was there, in an Hiſtory continued till the Fifth of Nero, tho' he mentions his Travels to, his Preaching, and Abode at ſeveral other Places; theſe, ſure, are things ſufficient to convince all unprejudiced Perſons, that St. Peter was not then at Rome.

(b) Εἷργεν ἡ στρατιὰ πανταχόθεν τὴν πόλιν περιέχουσα. Ibid. l. 5. c. 28.

3dly, The ſame may ſtrongly be concluded from the Epiſtles of St. Paul. For about the Year 57, ſaith Biſhop Pearſon, he writ his Epiſtle to the Romans, in which he ſpends the greateſt part of one Chapter in ſaluting particular Perſons that were there: But yet we find no Salutation to St. Peter, who, had he been then at Rome, would doubtleſs have been mention'd in the firſt place; and yet in ſo large an Epiſtle, he neither is directly, nor indirectly, taken notice of. Moreover, St. Paul himſelf, in the beginning, intimates his earneſt deſire to come thither, that he might impart unto them ſome Spiritual Gifts, to the end they might be eſtabliſh'd in the Faith; for which there could be no apparent Cauſe, had the Apoſtle Peter been there ſo long before him. St. Paul himſelf ſoon after comes to Rome; which when the Brethren heard of, they came to meet him, as far as Appii Forum, Acts 28. 15. but not a word of St. Peter, either coming or ſending to him. When he is come, he goes not to ſojourn with, or ſo much as to ſalute St. Peter, (which ſure he would have done, if he had been there,) but dwells in his own hired Houſe. Being come, he calls the chief of the Jews together, who deſire to hear of him what he thought of the Sect of the Chriſtians, they knowing this only of it, that it was every where ſpoken againſt, ver. 22. And what then had St. Peter, the Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, been doing all this while among them? And how unlikely is it that there ſhould be then, as (c) Dr. Hammond ſaith, a Church conſiſting much of the Jews reſiding there? And how reflecting on the ſuppoſed Labours of Saint Peter, among the Jews there, are the following words, v. 26, 27, 28. that becauſe they would not hear, or be converted, he would not leave them to St. Peter, but turn unto the Gentiles, who would hear? After his coming to Rome, he writes Epiſtles to ſeveral Churches, to the Epheſians, Philippians, Coloſſians, and one to Philemon; in which two laſt we have ſent from Rome the Salutation of Ariſtarchus, Marcus, Juſtus, Epaphras, Luke, and Demas, Coloſ. 4. 10,—14. Philem. v. 23, 24. but not a word from St. Peter. In that to the Coloſſians, he tells them, he had no other Helpers, or Fellow-workers, unto the Kingdom of God, among the Jews, which had been a Comfort to him, but Ariſtarchus, Marcus, and Juſtus, chap. 4. 10, 11. which evidently excludes St. Peter. In his Epiſtle to Timothy, he ſaith, That at his firſt Anſwer at Rome, all Men forſook him, 2 Tim. 4. 16. which we can hardly believe, had St. Peter been there. He adds, That only Luke was with him; That Creſcens was gone to this Place, Titus to that, and Tychicus was left at another. Strange therefore it is, that if Saint Peter were then gone from Rome, St. Paul ſhould take no notice of it. Was he a Perſon ſo inconſiderable, as not to deſerve to be remembered? Or was he gone upon a ſleeveleſs Errand, not worthy of the Notice of St. Paul? Or was he not rather one, who being not at Rome, could give St. Paul no reaſon to take notice of him, when he writ from thence? But this Subject is ſo fully handled, and the Hypotheſis of Baronius ſo learnedly confuted by (d) Dr. Cave, that 'tis ſuperfluous to inſiſt longer on this Subject.

Queſt. 2. To the Second Enquiry, Whence this Epiſtle was Endited? I have returned a ſufficient Anſwer in the Note upon theſe Words, chap. 5. 13. The Church which is at Babylon ſaluteth you; by ſhewing that by Babylon, Rome is to be underſtood; whence this Epiſtle muſt be therefore written: And then it muſt be written after the Perſecution in the 10th of Nero, at which Time neither Paul nor Peter were at Rome.

Queſt. 3. That it was written to the Jews diſperſed through Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia [Minor.] and Bithynia, the Inſcription (e) ſhews; but that it muſt be alſo written either to the Gentiles proſelyted to the Jewiſh Religion, of whom ſee the Note on 1 Pet. 1. 1. or to the Converts of the Twelve Tribes ſcattered among the Heathens, and there ſerving their Gods, according to the Threat denounced upon them, Deut. 28. 36, 64. that they ſhould ſerve other Gods which neither they nor their Fathers had known, ſeems evident from theſe words, that they were deliver'd from their vain Converſation, deliver'd to them from their Fathers, chap. 1. 18. See the Note there: That in Times paſt they were not the People, but now are the People of God; That they had not obtained Mercy, but now had obtained Mercy, chap. 2. 10. which words were ſpoken of the Ten Tribes, Hoſ. 1. 10. and 2. 23. and that the Time paſt might ſuffice them to have done the Will of the Gentiles, when they walked in Laſciviouſneſs, Luſts, Exceſs of Wine, Revellings, Banquetings; and abominable Idolatries, chap. 4. 3.

Chriſt, [writeth] to the ab [a] Strangers [b] ſcattered
throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia [Minor,] and Bithynia.

c 2. That is, to thoſe of them who are] [c] Elect d [d] according to the Fore-knowledge of God e the Father, [e] through Sanctification of the f Spirit unto Obedience, and [to the] [f] ſprinkling of the Blood of Jeſus Chriſt; [wiſhing that] Grace to you, and Peace, [may] be multiplied.

g 3. Bleſſed be the [g] God and Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who according to his abundant Mercy hath begotten us again unto h a [h] lively, [Gr. living] Hope, by the Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt from the Dead.

4. [We being begotten by his Reſurrection, as the Firſt fruits of ours, 1 Cor. 15. 20, 23.] to [the Hope of] an Inheritance incorruptible
i and [i] undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reſerved in Heaven for you [Believers.]

k 5. [k] Who are kept by the Power of God l through Faith [l] unto [the] Salvation ready to be revealed in the laſt time.

6. Wherein [i. e. on the account of which] you greatly rejoice, though now for a ſeaſon
m [m] (if need be) ye are in heavineſs through manifold Temptations.

7. That the trial of your Faith being,
[which is] much more precious [and advantageous to you] than [the Trial] of Gold that n periſheth, though it be [n] tried by Fire, [or, though upon Trial it endure the Fire,] might be found to your praiſe, honour, and glory, at the Appearance of Jeſus Chriſt [in Glory.]

8. [o] Whom having not ſeen, ye love; o
in whom, though now you ſee him not, yet, [Gr. not now ſeeing, but] believing, ye rejoyce with joy unſpeakable, and full of glory.

9. Receiving the end of your Faith, [p] even p
the Salvation of [your] Souls.

10. Of which Salvation the Prophets have enquired, and ſearched diligently, who propheſied of the Grace that ſhould come unto you; [i. e. of the Grace to be brought unto us at the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, v. 13. Matth. 13.
17.]

11. [q] Searching what, or what manner q of time the [r] Spirit of Chriſt which was in r them did ſignifie, [or, to what time he did relate,] when he teſtified before hand [ſ] the Sufferings ſ of Chriſt, [in himſelf, and his Members,] and the Glories that ſhould follow [them, Dan. 9. 24.]

12. To whom it was revealed, that not unto themſelves, but unto us, they did miniſter
the [ſame] things which are now reported, [or, have been now declared] to you, by them who have preached the Goſpel to you, [t] with the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven; t which things the [u] Angels deſire to u look into.

13. [x] Wherefore, gird up the loins of x your mind; be ſober, [Gr. vigilant,] and hope to the end, for the Grace that is to be brought, [Gr. that is brought] to you at [by] the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt, [who hath brought life and immortality to light by the Goſpel, 2 Tim. 1. 10.

14. As [it becometh] obedient Children, not faſhioning yourſelves according to the former luſts [you practiſed] in your ignorance.

15. But as he [God the Father, v. 17.] who hath called you is holy, ſo be ye holy in all manner of Converſation.

16. Because it is written [thus,] Be ye holy, y for [y] I [the Lord your God,] am holy, [Lev. 11. 44. and 19. 2.]

17. And if ye call upon the Father, who z [z] without reſpect of Perſons judgeth according to every Man's works, paſs the time of your ſojourning here in fear [of Condemnation from this impartial Judge, at that day.]

18. Foraſmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, [ſuch] as [are] Silver and Gold, [ſuch as the Jews brought up to Jeruſalem to buy their Offerings,] aa from [the demerit of] your [aa] vain Converſation received by Tradition from your Fathers.

19. But with the precious Blood of Chriſt, bb [who was delivered up to Death for you,] as [b b] a Lamb without blemiſh, and without ſpot.

cc 20. Who verily was [cc] fore-ordained, [Gr. fore-known, i. e. deſigned as the Meſſiah,] before the foundation of the World, but was manifeſted in theſe laſt times for you [r ſakes.]

21. [d d] Who by [Faith in] him thus riſen,] dd do believe in God that raiſed him up from the Dead, that your Faith and Hope [of a bleſſed Reſurrection] might be in God.

22. Seeing ye have purified your Souls, in [by] obeying the Truth through the Spirit, [by whom you are enabled to perform this Obedience,] to unfeigned Love of the Brethren, [which is one part of that Obedience ;] ſee that you love, [Gr. ye will love] one another with a pure heart fervently :

23. Being born again, not of Corruptible Seed, [ as is that from which you had your firſt Nativity, whence you alſo who are thus begotten are Corruptible,] [e e] but of Incorruptible, ee
[as being born again] [f f] by the Word f f of God, which liveth and abideth for ever.

24. For all Fleſh is as Graſs, and all the Glory of Man, as the Flower of Graſs. [As then] the Graſs withereth, and the Flower of it falleth away, [ſo will it be with our Body of Fleſh.]

25. But the Word of the Lord, [ſaith the Prophet, Iſa. 40. 8.] endureth for ever, [in itſelf, as being of Eternal Truth ; and in its Effects upon us, as nouriſhing us to Life Eternal ;] and this is the Word which by the Goſpel is preached to you.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. Παρεπιδήμοις, To the Strangers.] He writes eſpecially to the Diſperſion of the Jews, to whom the word Strangers, or Foreigners, here chiefly doth belong; but not to them only, for he ſpeaks to them alſo who in Time paſt had walk'd according to the Will of the Gentiles, in abominable Idolatries, chap. 4. 3. and of them who formerly were not the People of God, and had not found Mercy : We therefore are to underſtand, that among them were many devout Greeks, and Proſelytes of the Gentiles, converted with them to the Chriſtian Faith. Thus when St. Paul and Barnabas preached in a Synagogue of the Jews at Iconium, a great multitude both of Jews and Greeks believed, Acts 14. 1. And Paul Preaching at Epheſus, and thereabouts, two Years, prevailed ſo, that all that dwelt in Aſia heard the Word of the Lord Jeſus, both Jews and Greeks, Acts 19. 10. See Chap. 17. 4, 12. and 18. 4. In the Acts of the Apoſtles, we read of Proſelytes of all Nations. They were reckoned, in the Days of David and Solomon, 153600 Perſons, 2 Chron. 2. 17. In the Days of Artaxerxes, we are told, that πολλοὶ τῶν ἐθνῶν περιετέμνοντο, καὶ Ἰουδάϊζον, many of the Heathens were circumciſed, and turned Jews, Eſth. 8. 17. And ſo it was alſo in the ſucceeding Ages; for (a) Joſephus informs us, That after the Times of Antiochus Epiphanes, the Jews, in Antioch, and other Places, always converting to their Worſhip a great many Greeks, made them, as it were, a part of themſelves : And at (b) Damaſcus, he ſaith, they would have deſtroy'd the Jews among them, but that they feared their own Wives, who all, except ſome few, were Converts to the Religion of the Jews.

Ibid. Διασπορᾶς, Of the Diſperſion ;] I. e. b Diſperſed through Pontus, &c. The Apoſtle ſpeaks not of the Diſperſion made by the Perſecution mention'd, Acts 8. 1. for that ſcattered the Chriſtians only through Judea and Samaria, ibid. Nor were they afterwards diſperſed farther, by the Malice of the Jews, but went themſelves to preach the Word, not in Aſia, but in the Parts of Syria, in Phœnice, Cyprus, and Antioch, Acts 11. 19. Of their Diſperſion thence into Aſia, we read not one word ; but that there were great Diſperſions before of the Jews through the Places here mentioned, from the Time of the Captivity under Salmanaſſer, we learn from (c) Agrippa's Addreſs to Caius, where he informs him, that they poſſeſſed moſt Parts of Aſia, to the utmoſt Borders of Bithynia and Pontus.

c Ver. 2. Ἐκλεκτοῖς, Elect: ] I. e. To the Converted Jews, ſtyled the Elect, Matth. 24. 22. See Note on Chap. 2. 9. So alſo OEcumenius interprets theſe Words, to the Elect, that is, τοῖς ἀφωρισμένοις ἐκ τῶν ἄλλων ἐθνῶν εἶναι λαὸν περιούσιον, to them that are ſeparated from other Nations, to be his Holy, and peculiar People.

d Ibid. Κατὰ πρόγνωσιν, According to the Foreknowledge of God, ] Diſcover'd in the Prophetical Writings, which foretold of theſe Bleſſings to be conveyed to them by the Meſſiah, who alſo is ſaid to be fore-known before the Foundations of the World, i. e. propheſied of from the Beginning, Gen. 3. 15. but manifeſted in the Laſt times for them, v. 20.

e Ibid. Ἐν ἁγιασμῷ, Through Sanctification of the Spirit,] The great Principle of all true Obedience; ſo, v. 22. Having ſanctified your Souls, or Lives, to the Obedience of the Truth thro' the Spirit.

f Ibid. Καὶ ῥαντισμὸν, and Sprinkling of the Blood of Jeſus.] By way of Obſignation of that Covenant, by which we are engaged to that Obedience; For ſo it was in the Delivery of the Old Law: For upon the reading of that Covenant in the Audience of all the People, and upon their profeſſing, All that the Lord hath ſaid, we will do, and be obedient, Moſes took the Blood, and ſprinkled it upon the People, and ſaid, Behold the Blood of the Covenant which the Lord hath made with you, concerning all theſe Words, Exod. 24. 7, 8. So Dr. Hammond. Or to that Sprinkling of the Blood of Jeſus Chriſt which cleanſeth us from all Sin, 1 John 1. 7. i. e. from all the ſinful Imperfections which cleave to our Obedience, and by which the full Pardon of our paſt Sins is procured, and we obtain an Entrance into the Holy of Holies, Heb. 10. 19, 20. and which procures for us, not only Acceptance upon Earth, but an Inheritance in Heaven, Heb. 9. 15. and 12. 24. whence this Blood is ſtyled αἷμα ῥαντισμοῦ, the Blood of Sprinkling, Heb. 12. 24. And of Chriſt it is ſaid, He ſhall ſprinkle many Nations, Iſa. 52. 15.

g Ver. 3. Ὁ Θεὸς καὶ Πατὴρ, The God and Father of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. ] Here, ſaith Schlictingius, as formerly, the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, diſtinguiſhed the One True God from any other; ſo now this Phraſe diſtinguiſheth him who is called his God and Father, from Jeſus Chriſt. But yet the (d) Primitive Fathers thought otherwiſe; for they ſtiffly maintained, againſt the Gnoſticks, who held there was another God above the God of Abraham, &c. or the God of the Jews, That he was the God and Father of all, ſupra quem non eſt alius; and yet, that Jeſus Chriſt was God, as being in the Father from all Eternity, and receiving the Divine Nature from him.

h Ibid. Εἰς ἐλπίδα ζῶσαν, To a Living Hope.] Either an hope that giveth Life, as ὕδωρ ζῶν, Living Water, John 4. 10, 11, 14. Ὁ ἄρτος ὁ ζῶν, The Living Bread which came down from Heaven, of which if a Man eat, he ſhall live for ever, John 6. 51. and 7. 38. Λόγια ζῶντα, The Living Oracles, Acts 7. 38. which if a Man obſerve, ſaith Moſes, he ſhall live by them, Levit. 18. 4. Ὁδὸς ζῶσα, A Living Way, Heb. 10. 20. as leading to Life Eternal. And Ζωῆς πηγαὶ, Living Fountains of Waters, Rev. 7. 17. for by Hope we are ſaved, Rom. 8. 24. Or a Hope that makes us active and lively, joyful and comfortable in our Lives, rejoycing in Hope of the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. in which ſenſe it is ſaid of the Word of God, that it is ζῶν καὶ ἐνεργὴς, living and active, Heb. 4. 12. Of the Members of Chriſt's Spiritual Houſe, that they are λίθοι ζῶντες, i. e. Living Stones, 1 Pet. 2. 5. And we are bid to offer our Bodies, θυσίαν ζῶσαν, A Living Sacrifice, Rom. 12. 1. Hence it ſeems to follow, that the Jews before had not this lively Hope which our Lord's Reſurrection miniſters.

i Ver. 4. Ἀμίαντον, Undefiled.] The Land in which Men who are Sinners dwell on Earth, is ſaid to be defiled by their Sins, Lev. 18. 28. Numb. 5. 3. and 35. 34. Deut. 21. 23. Iſa. 24. 5. Jer. 2. 7. and 16. 18. Heaven, into which no unclean thing can enter, being the only Inheritance undefiled. OEcumenius hence obſerves, 1ſt, That this therefore was not ſuch a Hope as that which was contained in the Law of Moſes, ἥτις θνητὴ, θνητοῖς ἐπαγγέλλεται θνητὰ, a dying Hope, which promiſed dying things to mortal Men: 2dly, That if this Inheritance be in Heaven, μυθώδης ἡ χιλιοέτης ἀποκατάστασις, the Opinion of the Millenaries muſt be Fabulous.

B. Solus & verus Deus ſuper quem alius non eſt. Iren. l. 3. c. 6. Neminem alium Deum vel Dominum vocaverunt Apoſtoli, niſi ſolum Deum verum patrem & verbum ejus, qui in omnibus principatum ejus habet, l. 3. c. 16.

Faith.] Not that all who have true Faith, are kept by the Power of God, ſo as that they ſhall certainly continue in the Faith; but, that they ſhall be thus preſerved, if they continue in the Faith, rooted, and ſettled, and are not removed from the Hope of the Goſpel, Col. 1. 23. If they hold the beginning of their Confidence firm unto the end, Heb. 3. 4. This Place therefore only proves, 1*ſt*, That all who are preſerved to Salvation are preſerved by God, but not that all true Believers will be certainly ſo kept. 2*dly*, This Place proves only, that they who are thus preſerved, are kept thro' Faith, i. e. if they hold the beginning of their Confidence firm to the End, Heb. 5. 14. for this Faith thus continued in them will render them victorious over the World, 1 John 5. 4. It will enable them to reſiſt the Devil ſo effectually, that he ſhall fly from them, 1 Pet. 5. 9. and to quench all the fiery Darts of Satan, Eph. 6. 16. And even to ſuffer Death not accepting a Deliverance, that they may obtain a better Reſurrection; but this Place does not prove that all, who are once true Believers, ſhall certainly continue in the Faith, and never make Shipwrack of the Faith, as did Hymenæus, and Alexander, 1 Tim. 1. 19. never have their Faith overturn'd as ſome had, 2 Tim. 2. 10. never draw back to perdition, as the Apoſtle ſuppoſeth ſome might do, Heb. 10. 38, 39.

l Ibid. Εἰς σωτηρίαν ἑτοίμην ἀποκαλυφθῆναι ἐν καιρῷ ἐσχάτῳ, The Salvation ready to be revealed in the Laſt Time:] I. e. ſay ſome, The Deliverance ready to be vouchſafed to the Chriſtians, at the Deſtruction of the Church and Polity of Jeruſalem, this being the Salvation then ready to be revealed. But this ſeems not very probable: 1. Becauſe in this Salvation Chriſtians are ſaid to rejoice greatly, or, to exult for joy, v. 6. which it becomes not them to do for Temporal, but for Spiritual Bleſſings. 2dly, Becauſe 'tis the Salvation, not of our Bodies, but our Souls, even that Salvation which is the End of our Faith, ver. 9. (See the Note there.) To the Argument produced for the other ſenſe from the words,

I anſwer, 1. That tho' the Laſt Times and Days, in the Plural, do moſtly ſignifie the Times of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, concurring with the Laſt Times of the Jewiſh State; yet the Laſt Time, or Day, in the Singular, often ſignifies the Time of the Reſurrection, or the Laſt Judgment, eſpecially when it is joined with the Reſurrection of the Body mention'd here, v. 3. So, John 6. 39. I will raiſe him up, ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ ἡμέρᾳ, in the Laſt Day. See ver. 40, 44, 45. chap. 11. 24. I know that he ſhall riſe in the Laſt Day; and, chap. 12. 48. The Word that I have ſpoken, ſhall judge him in the Laſt Day.

2dly, As there is mention of a double Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt; one, when he appeared as a Prophet to the World, ſtyled uſually Φανέρωσις, The Manifeſtation of Jeſus Chriſt; another, at the Day of Judgment, ſtyled Ἀποκάλυψις, The Revelation of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Cor. 1. 7. The Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt from Heaven, 2 Theſ. 1. 7. His glorious Revelation, 1 Pet. 4. 13. and here emphatically, The Revelation of Chriſt, v. 7, 13. So is there a double Revelation of the Salvation promiſed in the Goſpel; one, by the Preaching of the Goſpel, which brought Life and Salvation to light, 2 Tim. 1. 10. And a farther Revelation of it to be made hereafter, when Chriſt who is our Life ſhall appear, Col. 3. 3, 4. 1 John 3. 2. ſtyled, The Glory ready to be revealed, when the great Shepherd ſhall appear, 1 Pet. 5. 4. The Glory ready to be revealed at the Redemption of our Bodies, Rom. 8. 18, 23. to which this Paſſage may refer.

Ver. 6. Εἰ δέον ἐστὶ, If need be.] This is great m Conſolation, under all the Afflictions of God's Servants, That they then only ſhall befall them, when God ſees them needful for the Promotion of his Glory, or for the furtherance of our Salvation; as when they tend to make us Partakers of his Holineſs, and to work in us the comfortable Fruits of Righteouſneſs, Heb. 12. 10, 11. or, work for us an exceeding and eternal weight of Glory, 2 Corinth. 4. 17. by conforming us to him in Sufferings, to whom we ſhall be like in Glory, 1 Pet. 4. 13. Rom. 8. 17. 2 Tim. 2. 11.

Ver. 7. Διὰ πυρὸς δοκιμαζομένου.] Proved n to be genuine, by the Fire it endures; as your Faith is, by patiently enduring Fiery Trials. See Note on Chap. 4. 12.

Ver. 8. Ὃν οὐκ εἰδότες.] If this Reading o be true, it is moſt proper to tranſlate the words thus, whom having not known; if ὃν οὐκ ἰδόντες, as other Copies have it, and all the Verſions do tranſlate it, be the true Reading, then our Tranſlation is right alſo.

Ver. 9. Σωτηρίαν ψυχῶν,] The Preſervation p of your Lives; (ſo Dr. Hammond.) But there is no ὑμῶν in the Greek, to anſwer to the word your, in the Engliſh; and the Salvation of Lives, ſeems not ſo properly aſſigned as the End of our Faith, as the Salvation of Souls; as we may learn alſo from the following words.

Ver. 11. Εἰς τίνα ἢ ποῖον καιρὸν; What, or what q manner of Time?] The Particle εἰς, is oft redundant. (See Nold. p. 66, 67. and p. 464.) Or it may here be rendered de, of what Time, as, 2 Cor. 12. 6. Let no Man think, εἰς ἐμὲ, of me, more than he ought to think. Eph. 5. 32. I ſpeak, εἰς Χριστὸν, καὶ εἰς τὴν Ἐκκλησίαν, of Chriſt, and the Church, Acts 2. 25. David ſpake εἰς αὐτὸν, of him. So, Acts 25. 20. Heb. 7. 14. εἰς ἣν φυλὴν, of which Tribe. They teſtified of his Sufferings, ſaith OEcumenius, in thoſe Words of Iſaiah, He was led as a Sheep to the Slaughter.

Ibid.

r Ibid. Τὸ ἐν αὐτοῖς πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ, The Spirit of Chriſt which was in them :] That is, ſay the Socinians, The Spirit in them, which ſpake of Chriſt as the Word of Life, and of Salvation, is the Word which ſpeaks of Life, and of Salvation. But in this ſenſe he might as well have been ſtyled the Spirit of Antichriſt, or the Falſe Prophets, becauſe he alſo ſpake of them. All the Ancients agree in the other ſenſe, That (e) Chriſt ſpake by his Spirit in the Prophets, they being inſpired with his Grace, and taught by his Spirit, their Words proceeded from the Divine Word moving them, and by him they propheſied ; He ſpake in Iſaiah, in Elias, and in the Mouth of the Prophets. So the Fathers.

ſ Ibid. Τὰ εἰς Χριστὸν παθήματα, The Sufferings of Chriſt.] Not only in himſelf, but in his Members, and the Glories which ſhould be after, as well to them, as to their Saviour, Rom. 8. 18. 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12. 1 Pet. 4. 13. as appears from v. 13. where this Glory is ſtiled, the Grace to be brought to us at the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt.

t Ver. 12. Ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ, By the holy Spirit ſent down from Heaven.] Hence it is evident, that the Apoſtles, in all thoſe Writings in which they declared the Goſpel of Chriſt, were θεόπνευστοι, Men aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt ; and that they, in Preaching and Enditing the Goſpel, were acted by the ſame Spirit who moved formerly the Prophets. See the General Preface.

u Ibid. Παρακύψαι, Angels deſire to look into.] And ſhall holy Prophets be ſo deſirous to know the Time when theſe Things ſhould happen, and holy Angels ſo diligent to look into theſe glorious Revelations ; and ſhall we, to whom, and for whoſe Happineſs, this Goſpel was revealed, neglect not only to obtain, but even to know this great Salvation? Some refer this to Dan. 8. 13.

x Ver. 13. Note, That from this, and the foregoing Verſe, we have ſeveral Arguments to prove, theſe Things relate not to the Temporal Deliverance of Chriſtians from the Perſecution of the Jews, but to their Deliverance from the Guilt of Sin, by the Blood of Chriſt, v. 19. and that Eternal Deliverance which is the Object of the Chriſtian's Hope. For, 1ſt, That cannot properly be ſtiled, the Grace which is to come to us by the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt ; that being the Grace which brings Salvation, Titus 2. 11, 13. (2.) That was not the Thing which they who preached the Goſpel did, ἀναγγέλλειν ἡμῖν, declare unto us ; but, as St. John informs us, they did, ἀναγγέλλειν ζωὴν αἰώνιον, ſhew unto us Eternal Life, 1 John 1. 2. (3.) They could not be the Things the Angels did deſire to look into. (4.) The Motive to Perſeverance to the End, is not a Temporal Deliverance from the Jews, but a Spiritual and Eternal Deliverance, Rom. 8. 18. 2 Cor. 4. 17. Heb. 10. 35, 36.

y Ver. 16. Ἐγὼ ἅγιός εἰμι.] The Holineſs of God, in Scripture, hath reſpect to a double Object, viz. Sin ; and ſo it doth import, his perfect freedom from, his hatred of, and oppoſition to all Impiety. 1ſt, His entire freedom from all Impurity ; for God is Light, ſaith the Apoſtle, and in him is no Darkneſs at all, 1 John 1. 5. He is a Juſt God, and without Iniquity, Deut. 32. 4. A God of purer Eyes than to behold Evil, Hab. 1. 13. i. e. without the greateſt Deteſtation. 2dly, His perfect hatred of it ; whence he is ſaid to loath, deteſt, and to abhor it, and the Workers of it ; and it is ſtiled, the abominable thing which his Soul hateth, Jer. 44. 4. And ſince God's Nature is immutable, his Holineſs unchangeable, he muſt for ever hate with a moſt perfect Hatred whatſoever is unholy, and impure ; and to ſuppoſe an Interruption in his Hatred of Evil Doers, is to ſuppoſe he can ceaſe to be a pure and Holy God. And 3dly, From this Hatred, naturally flows a juſt Aſſurance of his Oppoſition to all Impiety and Unholineſs, that he by no means will clear the Guilty, Exod. 34. 7. or let the Sinner always go unpuniſhed, Nahum 1. 3. And this ſeems to be the import of the Holineſs of God we are here called to imitate, becauſe it ſtands in oppoſition to the former luſts of their Ignorance : Or, 2dly, God's Holineſs reſpects ſuch Perſons as are, by Conſecration, or by Reſemblance of him, holy ; and ſo it intimates his great Affection to them, and Concernment for them.

z Ver. 17. Ἀπροσωπολήπτως.] I. e. Without difference of Nations, whether Jew or Gentile, or without reſpect had to any Man's Progenitors, in the Great Day of his Account, Acts 10. 34, 35. Rom. 2. 58. See Note on James 2. 1.

a Ver. 18. Ἐκ τῆς ματαίας ὑμῶν ἀναστροφῆς, From your vain Converſation.] Two Expreſſions in this Chapter ſeem to intimate, that the Apoſtle ſpeaks here, not only to the Native Jews, but alſo to the Converted Gentiles. 1ſt, His Exhortation to them, not to faſhion themſelves according to their former luſts, ἐν τῇ ἀγνοίᾳ ὑμῶν, in their Ignorance; which Phraſe, in the New Teſtament, hath ſtill relation to the Times of Ignorance in which the Gentiles lay, before the Preaching of the Goſpel to them. So, Acts 17. 30. Τοὺς χρόνους τῆς ἀγνοίας, The Times of Ignorance God winked at, Eph. 4. 10. being darkened in your Mind, διὰ τὴν ἄγνοιαν, by the Ignorance that is in you. 2dly, This of their Converſation, received by Tradition from their Fore-fathers: For tho' the Scribes and Phariſees had delivered Traditions to the People, which render'd the Worſhip of God vain, Matth. 15. 9. yet a vain Converſation, received by Tradition from their Forefathers, ſeems rather to reſpect the Converſation of the Heathens, ἀναστροφὴ, being the word by which the Converſation of the Gentiles is deſigned, Epheſ. 2. 3. and 4. 22. 2 Pet. 2. 7, 18. and μάταια here added to it, determining the Converſation to the Worſhip of vain Gods, Acts 14. 15. Eph. 4. 17. Their Plea for their Religion, and vain Worſhip, being alſo this, that they received it from their Fathers, ſaying, That (f) they were not to be moved, by any Perſwaſions, from the Religion which they had (g) received from their Forefathers. But yet I confeſs, theſe things may relate to the Gentile Proſelytes among the Jews, which were very numerous. See Note on v. 1.

b Ver. 19. Ὡς ἀμνοῦ ἀμώμου, A Lamb without blemiſh.] Chriſt being Perfect, and without Spot of Sin, was typified by the Lamb, offered daily for their Sins; and that Lamb being bought with the Half-ſhekel every one gave for the buying of the daily Sacrifice, Exod. 30. 14, 15, 16. and which was therefore ſtiled Keſeph Kippurim, The Money of Expiations, and was ſent up to Jeruſalem from every City of Judæa, and all the Provinces where the Jews lived, in Silver and Gold, the Apoſtle may here allude to this, when he ſaith, You were not redeemed with Silver and Gold, by which the daily Sacrifice was bought, which made Atonement for your Souls, but with the precious Blood of Jeſus, who ſhed his Blood for your Redemption from that Death which by your Sins you had contracted. Others refer this to the Paſchal Lamb, by the ſprinkling of whoſe Blood, they were delivered from Deſtruction, when the Firſt-born of the Egyptians periſhed, Exod. 12. 11, 17. Both theſe Lambs were to be ἀμνοὶ ἄμωμοι, perfect, and without ſpot, that they might be accepted, Exod. 12. 5. Lev. 22. 21. Numb. 28. 3, 9, 11, 19, &c.

Ver. 20. Προεγνωσμένου, Foreknown.] The cc Jews ſay, that (h) "When God created "the World, he held forth his Hand under the Throne of Glory, and created "the Soul of the Meſſiah, and his Company, and ſaid to him, Wilt thou "heal and redeem my Sons, after Six "Thouſand Years? He anſwered, Yes. "God ſaid to him, If ſo, wilt thou bear "Chaſtiſements, to expiate their Iniquity, according to what is written, Iſai. "53. 4. Surely, he bore our Griefs? He "anſwered, I will endure them with Joy." And to this Repreſentation of this Covenant made with the Meſſiah, before the Creation of the World, it may be the Apoſtle here refers. See the Note on Eph. 1. 4. In the Style of (i) Philo, he is ἀΐδιος λόγος, The Eternal Word, The Firſt-born, and, The moſt Ancient Son of the Father, by whom all the Species were framed. This therefore is according to the received Opinion of the Jews.

Ver. 21. Πιστεύοντας εἰς Θεὸν, By him do believe in God.] dd Here the Socinians object thus; He by whom we believe in God, is not that God in whom we believe; for the Means of Faith can never be the Object of it: But Chriſt is he by whom we believe in God; Ergo, Chriſt is not God. To this I anſwer; That Chriſt, according to the Nature which died for us, and which was raiſed from the Dead, is he by whom we believe in God, i. e. own him to be able to raiſe us alſo from the Dead; and according to the ſame Nature we acknowledge him not to be God: But that hinders not his being God, according to that Nature by which he had Power to, and did actually raiſe himſelf from the Dead, John 10. 18. and 2. 19.

But ſtill they object, That by him, we believe in him that raiſed him from the Dead, that our Faith and Hope might be in God, to wit, the Father, Faith therefore and Hope in Chriſt, is not Faith and Hope in God. Anſw. 1. It only follows hence, that it is not Faith and Hope in God the Father; but 2dly, The Apoſtle here ſaith, That by Believing in him who raiſed up Chriſt from the Dead, we believe in God, becauſe we believe in that Divine Power which can raiſe us alſo from the Dead: Since therefore the Holy Scripture expreſsly and frequently aſſerts, That we ſhall be raiſed up from the Dead, by the Voice of the Son of God, John 5. 25, 28. and, That becauſe as the Father hath life in himſelf, and ſo is able to give Life to the Dead; ſo hath he given to the Son, to have Life in himſelf, v. 26. Seeing Chriſt often ſaith of him that believeth in him, I will raiſe him up at the laſt Day, John 6. 39, 40, 44, 45. for I am the Reſurrection and the Life, John 11. 24, 25. Since the Apoſtle ſaith, He hath Dominion over the Dead, and over the Living, Rom. 14. 9. That by him all Men ſhall be made alive, 1 Cor. 15. 22. and, That he will change our vile Bodies into the likeneſs of his Glorious Body, according to the mighty Power whereby he is able to ſubdue all things to himſelf; it rather follows hence, That our Faith and Hope in Chriſt thus raiſing us from the Dead, as his Father did him, is Faith and Hope in God.

Ver. 23. Ἀλλὰ ἀφθάρτου, Being born again of Incorruptible Seed.] Here is a further Evidence, that the Word of God is the ordinary Means of our New Birth: For 'tis τὸ ῥῆμα τὸ εὐαγγελισθὲν, the Word preached, (not any inward Word infuſed,) which is here ſtiled, that Incorruptible Seed from which this New Birth is derived.

Ibid. Διὰ λόγου ζῶντος Θεοῦ, The Living Word of God.] This Epithet is aſcribed to the Word of God, Heb. 4. 12. And that this is not ſpoken of the Living God, is evident; becauſe in the Greek it is not διὰ λόγου Θεοῦ ζῶντος, but ζῶντος Θεοῦ, i. e. not by the Word of the Living God, but by the Living Word of God. 2*dly*, That it is to be underſtood of the Word preached, is clear; becauſe the Epithet, living, and abiding for ever, agrees to the ſame thing. Now the Apoſtle ſaith, It is the Word preached, that abideth for ever; and ſo the Prophet Iſaiah had ſaid before him, chap. 40. 8. Τὸ δὲ ῥῆμα τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡμῶν μένει εἰς τὸν αἰῶνα.

20. ʸ For what [ground of] glory is it [to y you,] if when ye be buffeted for your faults, you ſhall take it patiently? But if when ye do well, and [yet] ſuffer for it, ye take it patiently; this is acceptable with God.

21. [And it is alſo ſuitable to your Profeſſion;] For even hereunto were ye called: Becauſe Chriſt alſo, [whoſe Followers ye profeſs to be,] ſuffered for us, leaving us an example [both of well-doing, and patient ſuffering, that ye ſhould follow his Steps.

22. [For he was one] who did no ſin, neither was guile found in his mouth, [and ſo he could not ſuffer for evil-doing.]

23. [And alſo one] who when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he ſuffered, he threatened not, but committed himſelf to him that judgeth righteouſly, [and ſo was an Example of perfect Patience.]

24. Who [was not only to us an Example of Sufferings, [but] his ownſelf ᶻ bare our Sins z in his own Body on the Tree; that we being dead to ſin, ſhould live unto righteouſneſs; by whoſe ſtripes ye were healed.

g Ver. 8. Εἰς ὃ καὶ ἐτέθησαν, Whereunto alſo they were appointed: ]. That is, ſaith the Reverend Dr. Hammond, they that diſobey the Goſpel, that ſtand out obſtinately againſt it, were appointed by God to ſtumble and fall at that Stone, i. e. to be bruiſed, and ruined by that Means, to be deſtroyed among the Crucifiers of the Meſſiah, and condemned with them hereafter; it being juſt with God, that they who will not reform, and amend, at the Preaching of the Goſpel, and ſo receive benefit by it, ſhould, for their Obſtinacy, be condemn'd, and ſo the worſe for it; Chriſt being ſet for the falling, as well as the riſing of many in Iſrael, Luke 2. 34. and the Goſpel being a Savour of Death to them that periſh, 2 Cor. 2. 15, 16. and they being thoſe whom ἔθετο ὁ Θεὸς εἰς ὀργὴν, God hath appointed for wrath, 1 Theſſ. 5. 6. And to be ſure it cannot ſignify, that God abſolutely ordained the Unbelieving Jews, εἰς ἀπείθειαν, to Diſobedience; for then this Diſobedience would be a Compliance with the Divine Ordinance, or Will, and ſo could not deſerve the Name of Diſobedience: Nor could this Diſobedience be objected to them as their Crime, unleſs Compliance with his Ordinance and Will be ſo, and it be a Fault to be ſuch as God by his immutable Counſel and Decree hath ordained we would be; or it ſhould render Men criminal, and obnoxious to Puniſhment, that they have not made void God's abſolute Decree, or done what that made it impoſſible for them to do. Wherefore this Paſſage cannot ſignify, that the Unbelieving Jews were appointed to Diſobedience; but only, that being diſobedient to the Goſpel ſo clearly revealed, and by ſo many Miracles and Diſtributions of the Holy Ghoſt confirm'd, they were appointed to the Puniſhment of that Diſobedience, to fall and periſh: For ſo the Hebrew בשל, and the Greek προσκόμμα, and σκάνδαλον, import, viz. the Ruin and Fall of them who ſtumble at this Stone; as hath been proved on Rom. 14. 13. See Prov. 16. 19. Iſai. 8. 14, 15. Jer. 6. 21. Ezek. 3. 20. and 21. 15. Zech. 12. 3. Matth. 21. 41. Luke 20. 18. So OEcumenius (c) on this Place. Or, 2*dly*, The words may be thus conſtrued, To them who are diſobedient, and through that Diſobedience ſtumble at the Word, this other Character of the Stone belongs, of a Stone of Stumbling; whereunto thoſe Stones were put, one for honour to the Believer, the other for a Stone of Stumbling to the Unbeliever and Diſobedient; for to both theſe Stones the Apoſtle Paul, Rom. 9. 33. and St. Peter here, do put this Preface, Behold, I lay in Zion a Stone. And this agrees with that of Simeon, Behold, this Child is placed for the fall and riſing of many in Iſrael, Luke 2. 34.

Ibid. The Titles here given to the Chriſtians, are the ſame which formerly were given to the whole Jewiſh Nation, and are accordingly to be interpreted. h

Γένος ἐκλεκτὸν, A Choſen or Elected Nation.] Not only the Righteous and Obedient Perſons among them, but the whole Nation of the Jews, are ſtiled the Elect of God, throughout the Old Teſtament: Thus, Deut. 4. 37. Becauſe he loved thy Fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, therefore, ἐξελέξατο τὸ σπέρμα αὐτῶν μετ᾽ αὐτοὺς ὑμᾶς, he choſe you their Seed after them, and brought you out of Egypt by his mighty Power. Where it is evident, that their whole Seed, even all that came out of Egypt, were the Elect, Deut. 7. 6, 7. Jehovah thy God hath choſen thee to be a peculiar People to himſelf, above all People that are on the face of the Earth. The Lord did not ſet his Love upon you, becauſe you were more in Number than any People; but becauſe the Lord loved you, and becauſe he would keep the Oath which he had ſworn to your Fathers, hath he brought you out with a mighty Hand, and redeemed you out of the Houſe of Bondmen. Where evident it is, 1ſt, That their being choſen, before other Nations, to be God's peculiar People, is their Election. 2dly, That all that were brought out of Egypt were thus beloved, and thus elected. 3dly, That to theſe Elect, and Choſen People, God only promiſeth to keep Covenant and Mercy, provided they would love him, and obey him; and that he threateneth to deſtroy them, and to repay them to their face, if they neglect ſo to do. In the 10th Chapter, v. 14, 15, 16. he ſpeaks thus, The Lord had a delight in thy Fathers, to love them, ϗ ἐξελέξατο, and he elected you their Seed after them above all People; circumciſe therefore the Fore-skin of your Hearts, and be no more ſtiff-necked. Where again evident it is, that the whole Seed of Abraham, by Iſaac, even the ſtiff-necked of them, were the Beloved, and Elect of God. Chap. 14. he ſaith to all to whom the following Precepts did belong, and therefore doubtleſs to all Iſrael, Thou art an holy People to the Lord thy God, καὶ σε ἐξελέξατο ὁ Κύριος, and the Lord hath choſen thee out to be a peculiar People above all Nations.

And with this Notion of the Words, accords the conſtant Uſe of the ſame Phraſe in all the Prophets and Sacred Writers of the Old Teſtament: Thus Solomon ſaith, 1 Kings 3. 8. Thy Servant is in the midſt of thy People, ὃν ἐξελέξω, which thou haſt elected; a great People, that cannot be numbered, nor counted for multitude. In the Book of Pſalms, the Jews in general are ſtiled, The Seed of Iſrael his Servant, the Children of Jacob, ἐκλεκτοὶ αὐτοῦ, his Elect, Pſal. 105. 6, 43. and 135. 4. There doth he ſay, Τὸν Ἰακὼβ ἑαυτῷ ἐξελέξατο ὁ Κύριος, The Lord hath choſen Jacob to himſelf, and Iſrael for his own Inheritance, Pſalm 106. 5. There doth he tell us, that the Lord brought forth his People with joy, ϗ τοὺς ἐκλεκτοὺς αὐτοῦ, and his Elect with gladneſs. There he deſires of God, χρηστότητα τῶν ἐκλεκτῶν, the Good of his Elect, to rejoyce in the gladneſs of his Nation; ſo that throughout the Pſalms, God's Servants, his People, his Nation, his Inheritance, and his Elect, are the ſame Perſons.

In the Evangelical Prophet we read, God ſpeaking of Jacob, ὃν ἐξελεξάμην, whom I have elected, and Iſrael whom I have loved, Iſai. 41. 8, 9. and to whom he ſpeaks thus, Thou art my Child, whom I have choſen, chap. 43. 20, 21. There God declares, He will make Waters in the Wilderneſs, and Rivers in the Deſarts, ποτίσαι τὸ γένος μου τὸ ἐκλεκτόν, to give Drink to my choſen Generation, my People whom I have choſen to ſhew forth my Praiſe, chap. 45. 4. There we read of Jacob my Servant, and Iſrael mine Elect, chap. 65. 9. and of a Mountain which his Elect ſhall inherit, and in which his Servants ſhall dwell.

In the Prophet Jeremy we find God is diſpleaſed with them who ſaid, The two Families, אשר בחר יהוה בהם, whom the Lord had choſen, he hath even caſt them off, Jer. 33. 24. The Prophet ſpeaks of the Day when the Lord choſe Iſrael, and lifted up his hand to the Seed of the Houſe of Jacob, Ezek. 20. 5. The Prophet Zechariah ſtiles God, The Lord who hath choſen Jeruſalem, Zech. 3. 2. And Daniel ſpeaks of a Time when οἱ ἐκλεκτοὶ αὐτοῦ, his Elect ſhould not be able to ſtand before their Enemies, Dan. 11. 15.

And to carry on this Phraſe even to the Times of the New Teſtament, in the Book of Eſther, we are told of a Time in which τὸ γένος ἐκλεκτόν, the Choſen Generation ſhould have periſhed, Eſt. 16. 21. i. e. in which the wicked Haman deſigned to cut off the Jews. In the Book of Eccleſiaſticus we are informed, that Joſhua was made great, ἐπὶ σωτηρίᾳ ἐκλεκτῶν αὐτοῦ, for ſaving the Elect of God, and taking vengeance on their Enemies that roſe up againſt them, Eccleſ. 46. 1. that he might ſet Iſrael in their Inheritance.

Thus have I traced this Phraſe throughout the whole Old Teſtament, and ſhewed, that it belongs not to particular Perſons, but to the whole Jewiſh Church and People in the general; to the Bad, as well as to the Good among them; to them to whom God threateneth the worſt of Evils, as well as them to whom he promiſed the greateſt Bleſſings.

When in the New Teſtament this Phraſe is applied to the Jews, it plainly ſignifies as many of them as were converted to the Chriſtian Faith; tho' afterwards too many of them fell off from it, or brought not forth thoſe Fruits of Righteouſneſs which Chriſtianity required, and is applied to them all in general, and without diſtinction. And it is highly reaſonable to conceive it ſhould be ſo; for the Apoſtle writing to that Nation, who had been ſtill accuſtomed to this Notion of the Word, and were all ſtiled the Elect, they muſt be ſuppoſed to uſe the words of the Old Teſtament in that ſenſe in which they always underſtood them: That the Apoſtle doth here ſo uſe the word, is evident from this Conſideration, That the Holy Nation, the peculiar People, the Royal Prieſthood, joined with it, are Expreſſions belonging primarily to that Nation, and from them derived to the Chriſtians. 2dly, That this Epiſtle is writ to the Elect, that is, the Strangers of the Diſperſions of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia, and

Bithynia, they all being ſtyled the Elect, i. e. ſuch as profeſſed Chriſtianity, and ſo were viſible Members of the Church of Chriſt; whereas too many of them were not ſo, according to that meaning of the word Elect, which makes it to import Men abſolutely deſigned for Eternal Happineſs, as this and the Second Epiſtle may inform us. 3dly, That the Second Epiſtle, ſent to the ſame Perſons, writes only to them who had obtained like precious Faith with us; and ſo informs us, that the Faithful, and Elect, are in St. Peter's Phraſe the ſame. And that this is the Notion of the Word in all the other Places of the New Teſtament, ſee proved in the Notes upon them; and that it is applied to whole Churches, and ſcarce ever to any individual Perſon, in that ſenſe in which it hath been ſo generally uſed by ſome late Divines.

Ver. 11. Ὡς παροίκους, As Strangers and Pilgrims.] They whoſe Citizenſhip is in Heaven, and whoſe Names are written in Heaven, Phil. 3. 20. Hebr. 12. 23. muſt be Pilgrims, and Strangers upon Earth. See Note on Heb. 11. 13. n

Ibid. Στρατεύονται, War againſt the Soul.] For whereas the natural Motion of that Spiritual Being is towards Spiritual and Heavenly Things, Theſe Luſts, ſaith OEcumenius, draw down, and captivate the Soul to ſenſual and worldly things: As therefore Strangers and Pilgrims are not wont to be affected much with the Objects which they ſee in their Travels; ſo neither ſhould we, who profeſs to be Pilgrims in this World, be much affected with ſenſual Objects.

Ver. 12. Καταλαλοῦσιν ὑμῶν, Speak evil of you as of evil Doers.] Here OEcumenius gives this Relation from Irenæus, Biſhop of Lyons, concerning the Martyrs, Sanctus and Blandina; That the Heathens apprehending the Servants of ſome Chriſtians, and compelling them to declare what evil they knew of them; thoſe Servants having heard from the Chriſtians that the Holy Sacrament was the Body and Blood of Chriſt, and thinking that it was τῷ ὄντι, verily and ſubſtantially his Fleſh and Blood, related this to the Enquirers, and they thinking ὡς αὐτόχρημα, that this was done in very deed by Chriſtians, told this to other Heathens, and compelled the Martyrs, Sanctus and Blandina, by Torments, to confeſs it; to which Blandina anſwer'd, How can they be guilty of ſuch things, who by Exerciſe (i. e. thro' Temperance) permit not themſelves to enjoy lawful Fleſh? o

Ibid. Ἐν ἡμέρᾳ ἐπισκοπῆς, In the day of Viſitation.] That is, when they afflict and perſecute you: So ἐπισκοπὴ and ἡμέρα ἐπισκοπῆς often ſignify in the Septuagint, Iſa. 10. 3. What will you do ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῆς ἐπισκοπῆς, in the day of Viſitation, when your Affliction ſhall come from far? Jerem. 6. 15. ἐν καιρῷ ἐπισκοπῆς, in the time of their Viſitation they ſhall periſh; and again, Chap. 10. 15. Wiſd. 3. 7. ἐν καιρῷ ἐπισκοπῆς, in the time of their Viſitation they ſhall ſhine, Eccleſ. 2. 14. Woe to them who have loſt Patience, what will they do, ὅταν ἐπισκέπτηται ὁ Κύριος, when the Lord viſits? And Chap. 18. 20. Before the Judgment examine thy ſelf, καὶ ἐν ὥρᾳ ἐπισκοπῆς, and in the hour of Viſitation thou ſhalt find Propitiation.

Ver. 14. Δι' αὐτοῦ, By him.] That is, by God, ſaith Eſthius, becauſe theſe Governors were not always ſent by Cæſar for theſe good Ends; but it is ſufficient that this was the general End of Puniſhment, &c. and therefore they, in Charity, muſt be ſuppoſed to be ſent by Kings and Emperors for thoſe Ends.

Ver. 16. Ὡς ἐλεύθεροι, As free, &c.] That the Gnoſticks pretended to any ſuch Liberty, as exempted them from Subjection to Superiors, I find not in Church-Hiſtory; but, that the Jews to whom St. Peter writes, and eſpecially the Zealots among them, were notorious for this Doctrine, and were practiſing it at the writing of this Epiſtle, is evident: For,

1*ſt*, They held themſelves obliged to own (d) God alone as their only Lord and Governor, in oppoſition to Cæſar, and all Kings which were not of their own Nation, and did not govern them by their own Laws, or his immediate Appointment.

2*dly*, They, many of them, rebelled againſt the Romans, and againſt the Governors ſent by them, upon this very pretence, That (e) they were a Free People, and ought to preſerve their Liberty. And thus they uſed their Liberty for a Cloak of Maliciouſneſs.

Ver. 18. Οἱ οἰκέται, Servants, be ſubject.] This alſo was a Leſſon needful for the Jews, becauſe the Eſſenes among them, ſay Philo and Joſephus, thought it againſt the Law of Nature to be Servants to any; and their Rabbins allowed not a Jew to be a Servant to an Heathen. See Note on 1 Tim. 6. 1, 2.

Ver. 19. Τοῦτο γὰρ χάρις.] This will procure the Divine Favour and Reward. So what is, ποία ὑμῖν χάρις; What thank have you? Luke 6. 32, 33. is, τίνα μισθὸν ἔχετε; What Reward have you? Matth. 5. 46. And in the following Verſe this Phraſe is render'd, This is acceptable.

Ver. 20. Note, 1*ſt*, From comparing this and the preceding Verſe, that to ſuffer, ver. 19. and to take our ſufferings patiently, ver. 20. in the Scripture-import is the ſame thing.

2*dly*, That to do that which is truly acceptable to God, is alſo matter of our Glory. See Note on 1 Corinth. 9. 6. Jer. 9. 24. Rom. 2. 7, 10.

Ver. 24. Ἀνήνεγκεν, Bare our Sins.] If theſe Words be truly render'd, he bare our Sins, 'tis certain that an innocent Perſon can only bear them by bearing the Puniſhment due to them. And that this is the proper Import of theſe Words, τὰς ἁμαρτίας ἡμῶν ἀνήνεγκεν, is evident both from the Prophet's Expoſition of them, when he ſaith of the ſame Perſon, αὐτὸς ἁμαρτίας πολλῶν ἀνήνεγκε, he bore the Sins of many, Iſa. 53. 12. and expounds this thus, διὰ τὰς ἀνομίας αὐτῶν παρεδόθη, he was delivered up to Death for their Iniquities; and from the uſual Import of the Phraſe in the Old Teſtament; as, when we read in the Book of Leviticus, Chap. 7. 18. He that eateth of the Peace-offering in the third Day, it ſhall not be favourably accepted, τὴν ἁμαρτίαν λήψεται, he ſhall bear his Iniquity. And again, Thou ſhalt not hate thy Brother in thy Heart, thou ſhalt in any wiſe reprove him, καὶ οὐ λήψῃ δι' αὐτὸν ἁμαρτίαν, and not bear Sin for him, Lev. 19. 17. And in the Book of Numbers thus, Your Children ſhall wander in the Wilderneſs forty Years, καὶ ἀνοίσουσι τὴν πορνείαν ὑμῶν, and ſhall bear your Whoredoms —— Ye ſhall bear your Iniquities forty Years, Numb. 14. 33, 34. When we hear the Prophet Jeremy complaining, Our Fathers have ſinned, and are not, uſabalnu; τὰ ἀνομήματα αὐτῶν ὑπέχομεν, and we have born their Iniquities, Lam. 5. 7. When we hear God ſaying to Ezekiel, Lie thou upon thy left ſide, and lay the Iniquity of the Houſe of Iſrael upon it, according to the number of the days that thou ſhalt lie upon it, λήψῃ τὰς ἀδικίας αὐτῶν, thou ſhalt bear their Iniquities, Ezek. 4. 4, 5, 6. When it is farther ſaid, The Soul that ſinneth it ſhall die; the Son, οὐ λήψεται, ſhall not bear the Iniquity of the Father, neither ſhall the Father bear the Iniquity of the Son, Ezek. 18. 20. When we read ſo often in the Law of Moſes; that ſuch Perſons have been guilty, (f) and ſhall bear their Iniquity, they ſhall die for it; and find ſo many Cautions there given to the Jews, that they offend not in ſuch a kind, (g) that they bear not iniquity and die; or, leſt they bear Iniquity and die; in all theſe Places, neither Socinians, nor any other Perſons, do fanſy any other Import of theſe Words, but that by bearing of Iniquity and Sin, is meant bearing the Puniſhment of Sin; and in theſe latter Places, being puniſhed with Death for it: When therefore the ſame Jews found it foretold of their Meſſiah, by their own Prophet, that he ſhould bear their Iniquity, that he ſhould bear the Sin of many: What could they underſtand by theſe Expreſſions, but that he was to ſuffer the Puniſhment, and bear upon him the Burden of their Sins? When the Apoſtle informs thoſe very Jews who were ſo well acquainted with the Import of this Phraſe, that Chriſt was once offered, or given up to Death to bear the Sins of many; and when St. Peter, writing to the ſame Jews, informs them, that he bare our Sins in his own Body on the Tree, how can we think otherwiſe, than that they both apprehended, and the Bleſſed Apoſtle did deſign to teach them, that he ſuffered this Death as the Puniſhment of their Iniquities? Let Mr. Le Clerc continue, if he pleaſe, to be confident, that it is not ſo much the Expiation of Sins, as the Mortification of them, that is here ſignified, whilſt we poor Mortals rather think our Sins muſt be mortified in us than on a Tree, and in our own Bodies than in Chriſt's, or in the Sufferings of his Body; and that 'tis not very good Senſe to ſay, he mortified our Sins, that we might die unto them.

aa Ver. 25. Theſe and the former Words are taken from Iſa. 53. 7. where the Words are, We as Sheep have gone aſtray, and the Lord hath laid on him the Iniquity of us all. Hence are both Jews and Gentiles repreſented as loſt Sheep, and Chriſt as the good Shepherd who goes after them, and brings them home upon his Shoulders. See Iſaiah 40. 11. Ezekiel 34. 23. Here then is a farther Confutation of the (h) Socinian Gloſs upon the former Verſe, viz. That Chriſt took away our Sins by his own Body Crucified upon the Croſs, procuring our Abſolution from them by his Sufferings; not that he underwent the puniſhment of our Tranſgreſſions, but becauſe his voluntary Death prevailed with God to give him Power to abſolve his Servants at the laſt, and to reward them with eternal Glory. For were this the whole Import of the Words, why is it added, in plain Alluſion to thoſe Emphatical Words of the Prophet Iſaiah, He bare our Sins, the Chaſtiſement of our Peace was upon him, and by his Stripes we are healed? Why is it ſo Emphatically noted, That he who did no Sin, v. 22. yet bare our Sins? Doth not this lead us to this Senſe, That he thus ſuffered not for his own, but for our Sins? Why is he ſaid to take away our ſins in his own Body? Doth not that ſeem to intimate, that the Puniſhment of our Sins was laid upon his Body? Why is he ſaid to do this upon the Tree? Muſt not that intimate, that what he did to take away our ſins was done upon the Croſs? Eſpecially if we conſider, that the Croſs was the Altar upon which he ſuffered, and that ἐπιφέρειν, ἀνενεγκεῖν ἐπὶ τὸ θυσιαστήριον, to (i) carry up upon the Altar, is the uſual Phraſe for offering the Sin-offering, or the Burnt-offering upon the Altar. And ſo the Import of this whole Sentence ſeems to be this; He bare, or took away, our Sins in his own Body offered upon the Altar for us. Moreover, if this be chiefly done after Chriſt's Reſurrection, and the great Day of Recompence, and only by Chriſt's Death, as it prevailed with God to give him Power then to abſolve us from our Sins; why doth the Author to the Hebrews make ſuch a plain Diſtinction betwixt Chriſt's bearing our Sins, and his Second Coming to give a final Abſolution from them, ſaying, Heb. 9. 27, 29. Chriſt was once offered to bear the Sins of many, and to them that look for him, he will appear a ſecond time, χωρὶς ἁμαρτίας, without a Sacrifice for Sin unto Salvation? Crellius allows that χωρὶς ἁμαρτίας ſignifies without a Sin-offering; and doth it not hence follow, that his Firſt Coming to bear our Sins, was his coming with a Sin-offering for them? Since then the Sin-offering ſtill ſuffered in the Sinner's ſtead, and bare the Puniſhment of his Iniquity; it follows, that he who came to be a Sin-offering for us, muſt come to ſuffer in our ſtead, and bear the Puniſhment of our Iniquities.

Laſtly, Admit the Words may be tranſlated thus, He took away our Sins, it is moſt reaſonable ſo to interpret them as this Phraſe is uſed in Scripture, when 'tis applied to the ſame purpoſe; now when it is there uſed of taking away Sin by a Sacrifice offered up to God for Sin, it always hath Relation to an Atonement made by the Sacrifice for that Iniquity; and that Sin-offering is ſaid to bear away the Iniquity, by taking it upon himſelf. So when 'tis ſaid that the Sin-offering is given, ἵνα ἀφέλητε τὴν ἁμαρτίαν τῆς συναγωγῆς, καὶ ἐξιλάσασθε περὶ αὐτῆς ἔναντι Κυρίου, to take away the Iniquity of the Congregation, it is there ſaid to do it, by making an Atonement for them before the Lord, Lev. 10. 17. So it is ſaid of the Scape-goat, That he ſhall bear away all their Iniquities; but then he muſt be preſented before the Lord, τοῦ ἐξιλάσασθαι ἐπ' αὐτοῦ, Eſpecially if we conſider, that he is ſpeaking to thoſe Jews to whom theſe Phraſes were familiar.

CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. [AND to proceed to the other Relations of Man and Wife; Likewiſe ye Wives, be in ſubjection to your own Husbands, that if any [ be ſuch as ] obey not the Word, they alſo without the Word, [ i. e. without attending to the other Demonſtrations of the Truth of it, ] may be won [ to the Faith, ] by the Converſation of the Wives:

2. Whilſt they behold your chaſte [a] Converſation coupled with Fear.

3. Whoſe Adorning, let it not be that outward Adorning of [b] plaiting the Hair, and of wearing of Gold [Chains,] or of putting on of [gorgeous] Apparel.

4. But let it be [that of] the hidden Man of the Heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the Ornament of a meek and quiet Spirit, which in the ſight of God is of great Price.

5. For after this manner in the old time the holy Women alſo who truſted in God, adorned themſelves, [ with Chaſtity and Subjection, ] being in ſubjection to their own Husbands.

6. Even as Sarah obeyed Abraham, [ in token of that ſubjection] calling him Lord: whoſe Daughters ye are as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any Amazement, [ i. e. And be not moved by your Fears to deny the Truth, as ſhe was, ἐφοβήθη γὰρ, for ſhe was afraid, Gen. 18. 15. ]

7. [c] Likewiſe, ye Husbands, dwell with them according to [the] Knowledge [ of your Chriſtian Duty, which requires you to love, and cleave to your Wives, forſaking all others, and to render them due Benevolence ] giving Honour [ or Conjugal Affection, ] to the Wife as to the weaker Veſſel, [ and ſo leſs able to contain, and more liable to Temptations, ] and as being Heirs together of the Grace of Life; that your Prayers be not hindered, [ as they muſt be, if you refuſe to cohabit with them. ]

8. Finally be ye all of one mind, [ minding the ſame things, ] having Compaſſion one of another, [ under all your Afflictions; ] love as Brethren, be pitiful, be courteous, [theſe being the effects of Love. ]

9. Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing, [ things contrary to Love, us ſhewing rancour in the Heart and Tongue, ] but contrariwiſe, Bleſſing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, { i. e. for this very end ] that you ſhould inherit a Bleſſing, [ and ſo by Bleſſing others, will imitate your gracious God, and ſhew how willing you are the ſame Mercies may be conferred on others. ]

10. For he that will love life [ i. e. who is deſirous of a quiet, pleaſant life, ] and [ would ] ſee good [ i. e. proſperous ] days, let him refrain his Tongue from evil [ ſpeaking, ſo that Men may refrain from ſpeaking Evil of him again,] and his Lips that they ſpeak no guile..

11. Let him eſchew evil, and do good; let him ſeek peace, and enſue it, [ that ſo Men may be diſpoſed to ſpeak uprightly, and do good to you, and live peaceably with you, and you may live under the Protection of Divine Providence. ]

12. For the Eyes of the Lord are over the Righteous, [to protect them from Evil,] and his Ears are open to their Prayers: but the Face of the Lord is againſt them that do evil, [ to return it upon their own heads. ]

13. And [ this Deportment doth alſo naturally tend to preſerve you from evil, for ] who is he that will [ be ſo unnatural and ungrateful, as to ] harm you, if ye be Followers of that which is good, [ and obliging to then? ]

14. But if [ it ſhould ſo happen, that notwithſtanding ] ye [ ſhould ] ſuffer for Righteouſneſs ſake, happy are ye; [ chap. 4. 14. ] and [ therefore ] [d] be not afraid of their Ter- d ror, [ i. e. of what they threaten, ] neither be ye troubled, ] for what they can inflict upon you. ]

15. But [e] ſanctify the Lord God in your e hearts: And be ready always to give an [f] an- f ſwer [ or account ] to every Man that asketh

you a Reaſon of the Hope that is in you, with Meekneſs and Fear.

16. Having [ or retaining ] a good Conſcience, that whereas they ſpeak evil of you, as of Evil-Doers, [ and conſequently repreſent your Faith as inſtigating you to Evil Practices, ] they may be aſhamed [ of ſuch Accuſations, ] when they falſely accuſe your good Converſation in [ the Faith of ] Chriſt.

17. [ This care of retaining a good Conſcience is neceſſary, that you may have Comfort in your Sufferings, and be conformed to Chriſt by them ; ] For it is better, if the Will of God be ſo, [ and he ſees fit to permit it, ] that you ſuffer for Well-doing, than for Evil-doing.

g 18. For Chriſt alſo hath once [g] ſuffered h for ſins, the [h] juſt for the unjuſt, that he i might [i] bring us to God ; being put to Death in the Fleſh, but quickened by the Spirit.

19. By which [ Spirit ] alſo, he went and k preached [k] to the Spirits in Priſon ;

20. Which ſometime were diſobedient, when once the long-ſuffering of God waited in the Days of Noah, while the Ark was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight Souls, were ſaved by water.

21. The like figure whereunto [ Gr. the Antitype of which Ark is that ] Baptiſm [ which ] doth alſo now ſave us, not [ merely as it is ] the putting away of the filth of the fleſh, but [ as it is ] the [l] anſwer [ or ſtipulation ] of a good Conſcience towards God ; [ and this Salvation it works for us, ] by [ virtue of ] [m] the Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt ;

22. Who is [ Gr. being ] gone into Heaven, and is on the Right-hand of God [ there interceding for us, and inveſted with all Power to give eternal Life to thoſe whom God hath given him, and who is able to ſave us to the uttermoſt who come unto God by him, Hebr. 7. 25. ] Angels, and Authorities, and Powers, being made ſubject to him, [ who therefore will uſe the good Angels as miniſtering Spirits ſent forth to miniſter to them who are Heirs of Salvation, Hebr. 1. 14. and will preſerve them from thoſe Authorities and Powers, and evil Spirits, which oppoſe and perſecute them, and ſeek their Ruin. ]

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 2. Τὴν ἐν φόβῳ ἁγνὴν ἀναστροφὴν ὑμῶν, your chaſte Converſation in fear.] i. e. That they obſerving that the Fear and Reverence of that God you ſerve, produceth in you all due ſubjection and obedience to them, great Chaſtity, and Freedom from all ſuſpicion of Luſt, great Meekneſs and quietneſs of Spirit in the Family, Sobriety in your Apparel, and Care of their Concerns, you may by theſe things commend to them, not only your own Perſons, but that Faith which produces in you theſe good Fruits.

b Ver. 3. Ἐμπλοκῆς τριχῶν, not the outward Adorning, &c. ] Theſe, in the Words of Clemens of Alexandria, (a) are, τὸ ἑταιρικὸν καλλώπισμα, the Ornaments of Whores ; and ſuch as demonſtrate, τὸ σοβαρὸν, καὶ θρυπτικὸν, καὶ ἀβροδίαιτον, their Arrogance, Softneſs, and Laſciviouſneſs ; the Plaiting of the Hair was, ſaith he, ( b ) a ſign of corrupt Women, καὶ γὰρ αἱ περιπλοκαὶ τριχῶν ἑταιρικαί. And they that uſe them, ſaith he, were ἑταιρικῶς κοσμούμενοι, attired like Whores. And in his third Book, and fourth Chapter, he ſaith, αἱ χρυσοφοροῦσαι γυναῖκες, the Women that wear Gold, plait their Hair, paint their Faces, have not the Image of God in the inward Man, but in Lieu of it, a fornicating and adulterous Soul. The ( c ) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions alſo forbid Women to wear τὴν ἐπιτηδευμένην ἐσθῆτα εἰς ἀπάτην, exquiſite Garments, or Garments fitted to deceive, or Gold Rings upon their Fingers, ὅτι ταῦτα πάντα ἑταιρισμοῦ τεκμήρια ὑπάρχει, becauſe all theſe things are Signs of Whoredom. And as for the wearing of Gold, ( d ) Jamblichus, in the Life of Pythagoras, ſaith, τὸ χρυσὸν ἐλευθέραν μηδεμίαν φορεῖν, μόνον δὲ τὰς ἑταίρας, that no Free Women wore Gold, but Whores only. The precious Apparel is the thing, which all the Comedians mention as the Attire which ſuch Women ſought after, and gloried in. Theſe things therefore, when they are uſed as ſuch Marks of Diſtinction, are abſolutely forbid chaſte Women : But when they ceaſe to be ſo, they may be worn by Chriſtian Women, provided they do it without Pride, or much Concern about them ; and ſtill remembering that Gravity in Apparel is ſtill more Honourable and becoming Chriſtian Matrons, and that the Ornaments of the Mind, which are not ſubject to Corruption, are much to be preferred before them.

Ver. 7. Οἱ ἄνδρες ὁμοίως, Likewiſe, ye Huſbands. ] I am very uncertain what is the true Senſe of theſe Words. The Reverend

Dr. Hammond interprets them thus: ‘ Let the Husbands in like manner live conjugally with their Wives, as Chriſtianity requires of them; giving them Maintenance, as Perſons leſs able to provide for themſelves, and conſidering that they are by God's Appointment, Co-partners with them of the good things of this Life; that ſo they may not be diſturbed in their Prayers by their Diſtractions and Solicitudes for this World.’ Which Interpretation I ſhould acquieſce in, could I find that the Phraſe Συγκληρονόμοι ζωῆς, or ζώσης, being Heirs together of the Grace of Life, was ever uſed, only with reſpect to the good things of this preſent Life: Or that ἐκκόπτεσθαι τὰς προσευχάς, ſignified only to be diſtracted in Prayers, and not rather to have them wholly hindered.

Others interpret them thus; Let the Huſbands live with their Wives as Chriſtianity requires, not irritating, or provoking them, Coloſſ. 4. 19. not deſpiſing their Company; but giving Honour to them as moſt needing it, and as conſidering that they are equal to them in reſpect of Spirituals; and that by your Diſcontents, Diſpleaſure againſt, and Separation from one another, your Prayers be not hindered.

Others, as in the Paraphraſe, refer this to Conjugal Relation, and to Conjugal Duties; as all the Ancients, who have ſpoken of theſe Words, interpret them. Oecumenius ſaith, he thinks they are to be interpreted, ἐπὶ τῆς γαμικῆς χρήσεως, of the Conjugal uſe of one another; and the Word συνοικεῖν ſeems to plead for this Senſe, as being ſo uſed by the Septuagint, Geneſ. 20. 3. Deut. 24. 1. 25. 5. Iſa. 62. 5. Eſdr. 1. 8, 70, 84, 92. but then I find not that the Word τιμὴ beareth any ſuch Senſe. Only to this it may be anſwered, That (d) Origen ſeems to point the Words thus; Let the Husband dwell with the Wife according to Knowledge, as being more infirm, giving Honour to them alſo, as being Heirs of the Grace of Life. And ſeeing συνοικέω ſignifies to marry, or contract Matrimony, the Words may be thus Paraphraſed: Likewiſe, ye Men, be ye joined in Marriage with the Women, as you find them endued with the Knowledge of Chriſtianity, they being the weaker Veſſels, and ſo more ſubject without this Knowledge to miſcarry: Giving Preference in your Choice, to ſuch as be Heirs together with you of the Grace of Life, that through difference in Religion your Prayers be not cut off.

Ver. 14. Τὸν φόβον αὐτῶν μὴ φοβηθῆτε, Fear not their Fear.] Theſe, and the following Words, Sanctify the Lord God in your Hearts, are plainly taken from Iſaiah, 8. 12. and they are there an Exhortation not to fear the Aſſyrians, nor to be diſmayed, as thoſe Jews were, who out of Fear were deſirous to confederate with them; and ſo accordingly they muſt here ſignify, that Chriſtians were not ſo to dread thoſe by whom they ſuffered for the ſake of Righteouſneſs, nor any that out of Fear conſpired with them to avoid Perſecution, as too many of the Jews did, Galat. 6. 12, 13. as to do any thing contrary to the Fear of God, or unbecoming their Profeſſion.

Ver. 15. Κύριον ἁγιάσατε, But ſanctify the Lord God in your Hearts.] This Phraſe in Scripture ſeems to import theſe things.

1. That we ſhould always have upon our Spirits ſuch an holy Fear and Reverence of God, as will prevail upon us to dread more his Diſpleaſure than any thing which we can ſuffer from the Hand of Man, Matth. 20. 28. and ſo enable us to ſtick cloſe to our Duty, and to endeavour to ſecure his Favour, whatſoever we may ſuffer for ſo doing. So, Iſai. 8. 12, 13. Fear not their Fear, but ſanctify the Lord of Hoſts himſelf; and let him be your Fear, and let him be your Dread: So, chap. 29. 23. They ſhall ſanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and ſhall fear the God of Iſrael.

2dly, To ſanctify the Lord God in our Hearts, is from the Heart to own, and to believe the Truth of all that God delivers by his Word and Promiſe: As when God ſaith to Moſes and Aaron, Becauſe ye believed me not to ſanctify me in the Eyes of the Children of Iſrael, therefore ye ſhall not bring this Congregation into the Land which I have given them, Numbers 20. 12. Hence the Apoſtle, having told the Chriſtians, he writeth to them of the Engagements God had made, that his Eyes ſhould be over the Righteous, and his Ears open to their Prayers, and minded them of the Hope that was in them, requires them thus to ſanctify the Lord God in their Hearts.

3*dly,* This Phraſe imports a firm Belief of his Almighty Power, which makes him able to protect his People againſt all their Enemies, and an Affiance in his Goodneſs, and eſpecial Providence towards them: Sanctify the Lord God in your Hearts, and he ſhall be for a Sanctuary, Iſaiah 8. 13. So, Ezekiel 36. 22, 23, 24.

4thly, To ſanctify the Lord, is to acknowledge and believe his Juſtice, and that he is a God who will be ſure to execute his Judgments on the Wicked, and more eſpecially upon the Perſecutors of his People. So when he executed his Judgments on Nadab and Abihu, Moſes declares, This is the thing the Lord had ſpoken, I will be ſanctified in

(d) Ὅτι δεῖ τὸν ἄνδρα συνοικεῖν τῇ γυναικὶ, ὡς ἀσθενεστέρῳ σκεύει ἀπονέμοντα τιμήν. Hom. 24. in Matth. To. 1. p. 355.

thoſe that come nigh me; So Numbers 20. 13. This is the Water of Meribah, becauſe the Children of Iſrael contended with the Lord, and he was ſanctified in them, by puniſhing their Rebellion, ſaith the Targum. So God declares he would be ſanctified upon Sidon, which had been to the Houſe of Iſrael a pricking Briar, and a grieving Thorn, Ezekiel 28. 24. And upon Gog, the great Enemy of Iſrael, chap. 38. 3. So the Rabbins ſay, That when God doth Judgment, he ſanctifies himſelf before his Creatures; according to theſe Words of the Prophet Iſaiah, The Lord of Hoſts ſhall be exalted in Judgment, and God that is Holy, ſhall be ſanctified in Righteouſneſs, Chap. 5. 16.

f Ibid. Πρὸς ἀπολογίαν.] This Apology for the Hope that was in them, ſeems rather ſuch as ſhould be made by Works, than Words; againſt them who accuſe the Profeſſors of it as Evil-doers, rather than againſt them who only doubt of the Truth of it.

g Ver. 18. Περὶ ἁμαρτιῶν ἔπαθη, hath ſuffered for Sins.] Here note, that Chriſt is not only ſaid to ſuffer for us, but to ſuffer for our Sins. Now was ever any Man ſaid to ſuffer for his own Sins, who did not ſuffer the Puniſhment of his Iniquity? Why therefore ſhould our Lord be ſaid to ſuffer for Sins, if he did not ſome way ſuffer the Puniſhment of our Iniquity? Again, is not the Sin-Offering in the Old Teſtament ſtiled above 60 times, τὸ περὶ ἁμαρτίας, and τὸ περὶ ἁμαρτιῶν, the Offering for Sin? When therefore the Oblation of our Lord is alſo called, τὸ περὶ ἁμαρτίας, an Offering for Sin, Rom. 8. 3. when he is ſaid to ſuffer περὶ ἁμαρτιῶν, for Sins, 2 Cor. 5. 21. what could the Jews, to whom the Apoſtle writes, conceive to be the proper Import of theſe Words, but that he ſuffered to make Atonement for their Sins, as did all their Sin-Offerings, by ſuffering in their ſtead, the Puniſhment of their Iniquity? See the Notes on Romans 8. 3. 2 Cor. 5. 21.

h Ibid. Ὁ δίκαιος ὑπὲρ ἀδίκων. The juſt for the unjuſt.] That is, ſaith (e) Schlictingius, That the unjuſt might not ſuffer Death, nor bear the Puniſhment of their Iniquities; for the Victim ſuffers leſt the Guilty ſhould be puniſhed.

i Ibid. Ἵνα προσαγάγῃ, That he might bring us to God.] This Phraſe, in all other places of the New Teſtament, where it is uſed with reſpect to Chriſt, imports his procuring to us Freedom of acceſs to God, who by our Sins were formerly excluded from him, and baniſhed from his gracious Preſence. By him we have, ſaith the Apoſtle Paul, προσαγωγὴν πρὸς τὸν πατέρα, Admiſſion to the Father, by him we do obtain παῤῥησίαν εἰς τὴν προσαγωγὴν, a freedom of acceſs to God with Confidence, Epheſ. 2. 18. 3. 12. This is obtained, ſaith the ſame Apoſtle, by virtue of his Blood; for we who ſometimes were afar off, are by the Blood of Chriſt brought nigh unto him: We are brought nigh to him, ſaith St. Peter here, by his ſuffering for our Sins. Muſt not then we who were excluded, and baniſhed from him by our Sins, be brought nigh to, and reconciled to him by the Blood of Chriſt, and by his Sufferings for us on the Croſs?

Ver. 19. Τοῖς ἐν φυλακῇ πνεύμασι, To the Spirits in Priſon.] Or, as other Copies read, πνεύματι, by which Spirit going, he preached to thoſe in Priſon. For Explication of which Words, Note,

1*ſt*, That by thoſe in Priſon we may underſtand the Gentile World in Bondage and Captivity to Sin and Satan, and held in the Chains of their own Luſts, and in the Bonds of their Iniquity. For by this Phraſe the Evangelical Prophet doth thrice expreſs the preaching of the Goſpel by our Lord Jeſus Chriſt: As in thoſe Words, I gave thee for a Covenant to the People, for a Light to the Gentiles, to open the blind Eyes, to bring ἐκ δεσμῶν δεδεμένους, καὶ ἐξ οἴκου φυλακῆς, the Priſoners out of Priſon, and them that ſit in Darkneſs out of the Priſon-Houſe, Iſaiah 42. 7. and again, I will give thee for a Light to the Gentiles, that thou mayſt be my Salvation to the Ends of the Earth, that thou mayſt ſay, τοῖς ἐν δεσμοῖς ἐξέλθετε, to the Priſoners, go forth, Chap. 49. 9. And a third time, The Spirit of the Lord is upon me to proclaim Liberty to the Captives, and the opening of the Priſon to thoſe that are bound. Chap. 61. 1, 2. To this effect are all theſe Places interpreted by St. Jerome, Theodoret, and Procopius upon Iſaiah, viz. of thoſe Gentiles who were bound in the Chain of their Sins, and captivated by Satan. Accordingly Lactantius, having cited the Words extant, chap. 42. 7. ſaith, Cum igitur nos antea tanquam cæci, & tanquam carcere ſtultitiæ incluſi, ſederemus in tenebris, ignorantes Deum & veritatem, illuminati ab eo ſumus, qui nos Teſtamento ſuo adoptavit & liberatos malis vinculis, atque in lucem ſapientiæ productos, in hæreditatem regni cæleſtis aſcivit, lib. 4. cap. 20. Accordingly (f) Philo doth often repreſent Men brought in Bondage to their Luſts, ὡς ἐν δεσμωτηρίῳ καθειργμένην ψυχὴν ἔχοντες, as Perſons whoſe Souls are ſhut up in a Priſon-Houſe; and thoſe who have overcome their Luſts and ſinful Pleaſures, (g) ὥσπερ ἐξ εἱρκτῆς προσεληλυθότων, καὶ δεσμοῖς οἷς ἐπεσφίγγοντο διαφειμένων, as Perſons who are come out of Priſon, and have put off their Chains: Adding, That God promiſeth Liberty to the Souls that ſeek to him for it, (h) οὐ μόνον λύσιν δεσμῶν καὶ ἔξοδον ἐκ τῆς περιφρουρουμένης εἱρκτῆς παρεχόμενος, not only affording them freedom from their Bonds, and an Exit from the Priſon in which they were kept; but giving them Proviſions for their Journey, and ſafe Conduct.

Now the Antediluvians, who lived about the time of Noah, were ἐν φυλακῇ, in Priſon, upon a double account: 1*ſt*, By reaſon of their Bondage to Sin; for then all Fleſh had corrupted their Way, their Wickedneſs was great upon the Earth, and every Imagination of their Heart was to do evil, and that continually, Gen. 6. 5, 6, 13. And (2*dly*,) they were in Priſon, or ἐν φυλακῇ, as having from God received the Sentence of Deſtruction, if they repented not within an Hundred and Twenty Years, according to theſe Words, My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with Man for that he is Fleſh, yet his Days ſhall be an Hundred and twenty Years, Geneſ. 6. 3. i. e. ſo long will I expect his Reformation before I bring the Flood upon them. Thus the long-ſuffering of God waited for them in the Days of Noah, expecting their Repentance, and keeping them, as it were, in Priſon for the Day of Slaughter, if they did not repent. During this Time, and before, God ſent unto them his Prophets, denouncing by his Spirit his Judgments againſt the Wicked; for to them Enoch, the ſeventh Prophet from Adam, propheſied ſaying, The Lord cometh with his Thouſands of Angels to do Judgment againſt all, and to reprove all the Ungodly concerning all their ungodly Works which they had wickedly committed, and concerning all their hard Speeches which ungodly Sinners had ſpoken againſt him, Jude 14, 15. And he ſent alſo Noah to them, a Preacher of Righteouſneſs, 1 Pet. 2. 5. who by preparing an Ark before them for his own Preſervation, in obedience to the Oracle delivered to him, condemned the Old World, Hebr. 11. 7. Thus did Chriſt by his Spirit preach to them in the Days of Noah: And therefore the Antediluvian Age, is even by the Jews ſtiled the Age of the Holy Ghoſt; according to thoſe Words, My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with Man; that is, ſay Ainſworth and the Biſhop of Ely, My Spirit in my Prophets, Enoch and Noah, ſhall not be always chiding and reproving, and thereby endeavouring to bring Men to Repentance, but ſhall proceed to puniſh them. Now this Puniſhment being the drowning of the Old World, their Spirits have been ever ſince kept in Priſon, or reſerved in Chains of Darkneſs, to the Judgment of the Great Day: For by the Conſent of the Jewiſh Nation, (i) The Generation of the Old World have no Portion in the World to come, neither ſhall they ſtand up in Judgment; for it is ſaid, My Spirit ſhall not always judge with Man. The Phraſe, 'My 'Spirit, ſaith Dr. Fuller, is never uſed of 'any other but the Spirit of God, and there'fore muſt here be interpreted of the ſame 'Spirit.

Now from that time to our Saviour's Advent, God ſent no Prophet to the whole Heathen World, no Perſon with Commiſſion to preach to all Nations, or teach the Goſpel to every Creature, but ſuffered them to walk in their own ways, Acts 14. 16. whence they are ſaid to have been diſobedient only once of Old-Time, in the Days of Noah.

Ver. 19. By which he preached to the Spirits in Priſon.] Hence Mr. Dodwel concludes, that our Saviour after his Death, did, in the Interval betwixt that and his Reſurrection, preach to the ſeparated Souls in Hades; but to this the Reverend Biſhop Pearſon anſwers.

Firſt, That thoſe Words cannot prove this Aſſertion, unleſs it were certain, that by the Word Spirit, we were to underſtand the Soul of Chriſt, whereas indeed the Spirit by which he is ſaid to Preach, was not the Soul of Chriſt, but that Spirit by which he was quickened; as is evident from the Connexion of the Words thus, He was quickened by that Spirit, ἐν ᾧ by which he went and preached to the Spirits in Priſon, that is, by the eternal Spirit of God, who is the Author of the Reſurrection.

Secondly, He adds, that the Perſons to whom he Preached by the Spirit, were only ſuch as were Diſobedient in the Days of Noah, while the Ark was preparing, v. 20. i. e. thoſe who were diſobedient before the Flood, as were the Antediluvians, all that time that the long ſufferance of God waited on them, and conſequently ſo long as God gave them time for Repentance, which was 120 Years, ſtriving then with them for that End by his Spirit in the Prophets Enoch and Noah, but adding that his Spirit ſhould not always ſtrive with them: In vain then, ſaith he, are we taught to underſtand St. Peter of the Promulgation of the Goſpel to the Jews or Gentiles then in Hades, ſince the Words ſo evidently relate to the long ſuffering of God to Men, then living in the Days of Noah.

Ver. 21. Ἐπερώτημα, The Anſwer of a good Conſcience.] Therefore, ſay the Anabaptiſts, Baptiſm cannot be ſalutary to thoſe Infants who cannot make this Anſwer of a good Conſcience. To this I anſwer, That St. Paul alſo ſaith, that the true Circumciſion before God, is not the outward Circumciſion of the Fleſh, but the internal Circumciſion of the Heart and Spirit, Romans 2. 29. But will any one hence Argue, That the Jewiſh Infants, for want of this, were not to be admitted into Covenant with God by Circumciſion? And yet the Argument is plainly parallel: The Anſwer of a good Conſcience is required that the Baptiſm may be ſalutary; therefore they only are to be Baptized who can make this Anſwer: And the inward Circumciſion of the Heart is required as the only acceptable Circumciſion in the ſight of God: Therefore they only are to be Circumciſed who have this inward Circumciſion of the Heart. The Jews did not admit Proſelytes to Circumciſion, without this Anſwer of a good Conſcience; but yet they admitted their Infants without any ſuch thing: Why therefore may we not allow the Chriſtian Church, in the Adminiſtration of Baptiſm, to obſerve the ſame Cuſtom in admitting the Children of their Proſelytes to Baptiſm, as they admitted them both to Circumciſion and Baptiſm?

CHAP. IV.

Verſe 1. FOraſmuch then as Chriſt hath ſuffered for us in the Fleſh, arm yourſelves likewiſe with the ſame mind, [or Reſolution, to be conformed to him in his Sufferings, as being buried with him in Baptiſm, Romans 6. 4. and ſo planted together with him in the likeneſs of his Death, ver. 5. the Old Man being crucified with him, that the Body of Sin might be aboliſhed, that henceforth we might not ſerve Sin;] for he that hath ſuffered in the Fleſh, hath ceaſed from Sin.

2. [Inſomuch] That he no longer ſhould live the reſt of his time in the fleſh, [in obedience] to the luſts of Men, [ignorant of the Truth, 1 Pet. 1. 14.] but to the Will of God, [Rom. 6. 10, 11.]

For the time paſt of our life may ſuffice us to have wrought the Will of the Gentiles, when we walked in Laſciviouſneſs, [fleſhly] Luſts, Exceſs of Wine, Revellings, Banquetings, a and [a] abominable Idolatries.

4. Wherein they think it ſtrange, [Gr. wonder,] that you run not with them to the ſame exceſs of Riot, ſpeaking evil of you.

5. Who ſhall give [an] account [of theſe Sins againſt Nature,] to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

6. For, for this cauſe was the Goſpel
b preached alſo [b] to them that are dead, [i. e. to the Gentile World, dead in treſpaſſes and ſins,] that they might be judged, [might judge, condemn and oppoſe their former life, led] according to Men, [not enlightened by the Goſpel,] in the Fleſh, but [and might] live according to God in the Spirit.

c 7. But the [c] end of all things [belonging to the Jewiſh State, mention'd, Matth. 24. 6. Mark 13. 7. Luke 21. 9.] is at hand: Be ye therefore ſober, and watch unto Prayer, [according to our Lord's Advice in that Caſe, Luke 21. 34, 36.]

8. And above all things have fervent Charity among yourſelves; for Charity ſhall cover the multitude of Sins, [which you may have been guilty of in the time of your Enmity to Chriſt, and his Servants; or thoſe manifold Infirmities you may have committed, in building Hay and Stubble on the Foundation, to your own great Hazard, 1 Cor. 3. 12, 15. Or, it covers the Sins of others, preventing them by Patience, not taking notice of them when committed, and concealing them from others: To this Senſe the Words of the Wiſe Man lead, Prov. 10. 12.]

9. Uſe Hoſpitality one to another without grudging, [or murmuring that you beſtow your Charity on them who are not of your Nation, or are not circumciſed, and obedient to the Law, as you think yourſelves obliged to be.]

10. As every Man hath received [d] the Gift d
[of the Spirit,] even ſo [let him] miniſter the ſame one to another, as [becomes] good Stewards of the manifold Grace of God [to do.]

11. If any Man ſpeak, [i. e. teach,] let him ſpeak as [he is instructed from] the Oracles of God; if any Man miniſter [as a Deacon.] let him do it as of the Ability that God giveth, that God in all things may be glorified through Jeſus Chriſt, to whom be praiſe and dominion [aſcribed] for ever and ever. Amen.

12. Beloved, think it not ſtrange concerning the fiery Trial which is [ come ] to try you, [ Gr. Wonder not at the burning that is among you, and is befallen you for Trial, ] as tho' ſome ſtrange [ and unexpected ] thing [ had ] happened to you; [ this being only that which was foretold by us, 1 Theſſ. 3. 4. to which you were appointed, and to which you were called, 1 Pet. 2. 21. ]

13. But rejoyce [ in it rather, ] inaſmuch
e as you are [ thus made ] [e] Partakers of [ Sufferings reſembling ] Chriſt's Sufferings; that [ ſo ] when his Glory ſhall be revealed, ye may, [ reſembling him then in Glory, as you do now in Sufferings, Rom. 8. 17. 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12, &c. ] be glad alſo with exceeding joy.

14. [ And ] if [ it ſo happen that ] ye be reproached for the Name of Chriſt, happy are f ye [ in ſuch Sufferings; ] for the [f] Spirit of Glory, and of God, reſts upon you; [ ſo that tho' ] on their part [ who are Unbelievers, ] he [ i. e. Chriſt ] is evil ſpoken of, but, [ Gr. yet ] on your part he is glorified.

15. But let [ eſpecial care be taken that ] none
g of you ſuffer [g] as a Murtherer, or as a Thief, or as an Evil doer, or as a Buſie-body in other Men's matters.

16. Yet if any Man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, [ i. e. only on that accoant, ] let him not be ah ſhamed, but let him [h] glorify God on this behalf.

17. For the time is come that Judgment muſt, [ according to our Lord's Prediction, ] Matth. 24. 21, 22. Mark 13. 13. Luke 21. 16, 17. ] begin at the Houſe of God: And if it firſt begin at us [ Believing Jews, ] what ſhall be the [i] end of them that obey not the Goſpel i of God?

18. And if [ ſome of ] the Righteous ſcarcely be ſaved, [ i. e. preſerved from this burning, v. 12. being ſaved, yet ſo as by Fire, 1 Cor. 3. 15. ] where ſhall the Ungodly and the Sinner appear? [ in ſafety from theſe dreadful Judgments which are coming on the Jewiſh Nation, Prov. 11. 31. ]

19. Wherefore [ ſeeing the Sufferings of Chriſtians then will be ſo little, in compariſon of thoſe which ſhall befal the Unbelievers, ver. 17, 18. ſeeing the Spirit of Glory and Power ſhall ſupport and comfort them under theſe Sufferings, v. 14. and Chriſt hath promiſed them Protection in that dreadful Day, and ſaid, He that endureth to the end, ſhall be ſaved, Matth. 24. 12, 13. ] let them that ſuffer according to the Will of God, commit the keeping of their Souls, [ i. e. their Lives, ] to him, in well-doing, as to a faithful Creator, [ who being their Creator, muſt be able to deliver them; and being faithful, will not ſuffer them to be tempted above what they are able, 1 Cor. 10. 13. ]

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Verſe 3. ᾽ Αθεμίτοις εἰδωλολατρείαις, Abominable Idolatries: ] I. e. In Idolatries joined with divers Abominations, ( i. e. with Drunkenneſs, Uncleanneſs, Unnatural Cruelties to their own Children, Homicide. )

Note here, That this is an Evidence, that this Epiſtle was directed not only to the Jewiſh Nation, but to the Gentile Converts.

b Ver. 6. For Explication of theſe Words, Note,

1*ſt*, That οἱ νεκροὶ, the Dead, in Scripture doth often ſignify, not thoſe who in a Natural Senſe are dead by Diſſolution of the Soul and Body, but thoſe who are Spiritually ſo, as being alienated from the Life of God, and dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, The Widow that liveth in Pleaſure, is dead whilſt ſhe liveth, 1 Tim. 5. 6. And Chriſt unto the Church of Sardis, Thou haſt a Name to live, and art dead, Rev. 3. 1. And when he ſpeaks to one of his Diſciples thus, Follow thou me, and let the Dead bury their Dead, Matth. 8. 22. This is a Phraſe ſo common with the Jews, that, as ( a ) Maimonides informs us, they proverbially ſay, Impii etiam viventes vocantur mortui, The Wicked are dead even while they are alive: For he, ſaith ( b ) Philo, who lives a Life of Sin, τέθνηκε τὸν εὐδαίμονα, is dead, as to a Life of Happineſs; his Soul is dead, and even buried in his Luſts and Paſſions. And becauſe the whole Gentile World lay more eſpecially under theſe moſt unhappy Circumſtances, whence the Apoſtle ſtiles them Sinners of the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 15. it was proverbially ſaid by the Jewiſh Doctors, Populi terrarum, i. e. Ethnici non vivunt, The Heathens do not live; and they in Scripture, are more peculiarly intended by that Phraſe. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith to the Epheſians and Coloſſians, Epheſ. 2. 1. Col. 2. 13. that they were νεκροὶ τοῖς ἁμαρτήμασι, dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins; and brings in God thus ſpeaking to the Gentiles, Awake thou that ſleepeſt, ariſe from the Dead, and Chriſt ſhall give thee Life, Eph. 5. 14.

2*dly*, The Ends for which this Goſpel was revealed to theſe Gentiles, thus Spiritually Dead, and buried in Senſuality, were theſe:

( a ) More Nevoch. lib. 1.

( b ) Leg. Alleg. l. 1. p. 45. quod deter. potior. p. 127.

1. Ἵνα κριθῶσι κατ' ἀνθρώπους σαρκὶ, That they might condemn, might ſtrive againſt, might mortify thoſe Senſual Deſires, and Carnal Appetites, which they indulged to whilſt they lived, κατ' ἀνθρώπους, as Natural Men, wanting the Knowledge of God's Will, and the Aſſiſtance of his Grace and Spirit. This I conceive to be the genuine Import of the Greek: For 1. The Word Fleſh, being here ſet in oppoſition to the Spirit, not of Man, but God, or at the leaſt to the renewed Spirit of Man, cannot be reaſonably thought to ſignify that fleſhly Body which we bear about us, but rather that ſinful Fleſh which luſts againſt the Spirit, Gal. 5. 17. that Law of our Members which wars againſt the Law of our Minds, Rom. 7. 23. that φρόνημα τῆς σαρκὸς, or fleſhly Wiſdom, which is not ſubject to the Law of God, Rom. 8. 7.

This being ſo, κριθῆναι τῇ σαρκὶ, cannot be truly rendered, to be condemned, judged, and puniſhed in the Fleſh, that is, the Body, but, to ſtrive with, to mortify, and ſubdue the Fleſh, with its Affections and Luſts; which is the common Import of the Word κριθῆναι, both in the Septuagint, and the New Teſtament: So, Job 9. 3. Ἐὰν βούληται κριθῆναι αὐτῷ, If he will contend with God, he cannot anſwer him one of a Thouſand. And, chap. 13. 19. Τίς ἐστιν ὁ κριθησόμενος, Who is he that Contendeth with me? Jer. 43. 26. Put me in remembrance, καὶ κριθῶμεν, and let us plead together, chap. 58. He is near that juſtifieth me; Τίς ὁ κρινόμενός μοὶ, Who is he that contendeth with me? And, chap. 66. 16. Ἐν τῷ πυρὶ κριθήσεται ὁ Κύριος, By Fire will the Lord plead with all Fleſh, Hoſ. 2. 22. Κρίθητε πρὸς τὴν μητέρα ὑμῶν, Κρίθητε, Plead with your Mother, plead. And, Micah 6. 1. Ariſe, Κρίθητε πρὸς τὰ ὄρη, Contend againſt the Mountains. So alſo, Matth. 5. 40. θέλοντί σοι κριθῆναι, is, To him that will contend with thee; and Jude v. 9. τῷ διαβόλῳ διακρινόμενος, is, Contending with the Devil. See alſo, Judg. 21. 22. Jer. 2. 9. And this, I think, ſufficient to juſtify the rendering theſe Words actively, without referring to Glaſſius's Canon, [l. 3. Tr. 3. Can. 24.] that Verbs Paſſive ſometimes ſignify actively.

Note, 3*dly*, That the Phraſe κατ' ἄνθρωπον, in the New Teſtament, doth always ſignifie to live, ſpeak, or act, after the manner of mere Natural Men, not yet acquainted with the Mind of God, or not aſſiſted by his Spirit: As in thoſe Paſſages of the Apoſtle Paul, Speak I theſe things, κατ' ἄνθρωπον, according to the Dictates of mere Human Wiſdom? Saith not the Law the ſame alſo? 1 Cor. 9. 8. My Doctrine is not, κατ' ἄνθρωπον, the Product of Man's Wiſdom, but, I received it from the Revelation of Chriſt Jeſus, Gal. 1. 11. Κατ' ἄνθρωπον λέγω, I ſpeak what Men would from the mere ſtrength of Reaſon argue, Rom. 3. 5. And again, Κατ' ἄνθρωπον λέγω, I ſpeak what is acknowledged among Men, that a Man's Teſtament is accounted ſacred, and no Man addeth to it, or taketh from it, Gal. 3. 15. If I have fought with Beaſts at Epheſus, κατ' ἄνθρωπον, after the Heathen manner, what advantageth it me, if the Dead riſe not? 1 Cor. 15. 32. And laſtly, Whereas there are Contentions among you, are you not carnal, and walk, κατ' ἄνθρωπον, as Natural Men; 1 Cor. 3. 3. not as Men acted by the Spirit?

So that κριθῆναι κατ' ἄνθρωπον σαρκὶ, is, to condemn their former Life led as Natural Men, or as mere Heathens in the Fleſh, or to ſtrive againſt that Fleſh which they indulged to in their Heathen State; and to live unto God in the Spirit, which is the ſecond End for which the Goſpel was preached unto the Gentiles, is, by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit, to live according to the Will and the Example of a Holy God.

To this Interpretation of this Text, the Context plainly ſeems to lead; for the Apoſtle's Argument runs thus: Chriſt having ſuffered for us in the Fleſh, it doth become us alſo, in a ſpiritual Senſe, to ſuffer in the Fleſh, by the Mortification of our Fleſhly Luſts; that though we ſtill live in the Fleſh, we may not henceforth live unto the Luſts of Men, but to the Will of God, v. 2. I ſay, the Chriſtians muſt no longer live after the Will of the Gentiles in Laſciviouſneſs, Luſts, &c. v. 3. for which things Heathens will be obnoxious to God's juſt Diſpleaſure, at the Great Day of their Accounts; ſince for this cauſe the Goſpel hath been preached unto them, that they might be engaged by it to condemn, and ſtrive againſt that Fleſhly Converſation, in which they lived formerly, according to the Luſts of Men, not yet acquainted with the Mind of God, and might henceforth live according to God in the Spirit.

Ibid. For this Cauſe was the Goſpel Preached to them that are Dead, that they being judged according to Men in the Fleſh, might live unto God in the Spirit.] That this Text can have no relation to the Preaching of the Apoſtles to the Dead Gentiles in Hades is evident.

Becauſe the Apoſtle ſaith this whilſt Saint Paul, Saint John, and himſelf were living, and ſpeaks of it as a thing already paſt, ſaying, εὐαγγελίσθη, the Goſpel hath been Preached to them, not that it ſhall be preached to them when dead.

Ver. 7. Τὸ τέλος ἤγγικε, The End of all things, is at Hand. This Phraſe, and the Advice upon it, ſo exactly parallel to what our Lord had ſpoken, will not ſuffer us to doubt that the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking, not of the End of the World, or of all Things in general, which was not then, and ſeems not yet to be at hand, but only of the End of the Jewiſh Church and State, mentioned in the Enquiry of the Apoſtles, thus, Tell us when, πάντα ταῦτα, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed? Mark 13. 14. And in our Saviour's Anſwer, thus, This Generation ſhall not paſs away, ἕως ἂν πάντα γένηται, till all things be fulfilled, Luke 21. 32. that is, πάντα ταῦτα, all theſe things, Matth. 24. 34. Mark 13. 30. And 'tis the Obſervation of Interpreters upon theſe words, τοῖς πᾶσι γέγονα τὰ πάντα, I became all things to all Men, 1 Cor. 9. 22. and, πάντα μοὶ ἔξεστιν, all things are lawful for me, chap. 10. 23. that the word πάντα muſt be reſtrained to the Subject Matter.

Ver. 10. Χάρισμα, The Gift.] That the Gift ſhould here ſignifie Wealth, I cannot think, for tho' χάρις ſometimes bears that ſenſe, yet χάρισμα is never uſed to ſignifie Wealth, but hath always relation to the Spiritual Gifts vouchſafed then to the Church of Chriſt. (2.) Becauſe the ſpeaking as the Oracles of God, ſeems plainly to be the ſame with propheſying according to the Analogy of Faith, mentioned, Rom. 12. 6. and the miniſtering here, with the διακονία there, both which are mentioned as Spiritual Gifts according to the Grace given to them: See Note there, and on the Helps mentioned, 1 Cor. 12. 27.

Ver. 13. Τοῖς τοῦ Χριστοῦ παθήμασιν, are Partakers of Chriſt's Sufferings.] Becauſe he looks upon the Sufferings of his Members, as his own, Acts 9. 4. Coloſ. 1. 14.

Ver. 14. Πνεῦμα τῆς δόξης, The Spirit of Glory; or as ſome Copies read, τῆς δόξης καὶ δυνάμεως, of Glory and Power,] Is doubtleſs, that Holy Spirit which attended the Preaching of the glorious Goſpel, and made it to be the miniſtration of the Spirit, ἐν δόξῃ, in Glory; and by partaking of which Spirit, we Chriſtians are ſaid to be transformed from Glory to Glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 8, 9, 18. and who is alſo ſtiled πνεῦμα δυνάμεως, the Spirit of Might, 2 Tim. 1. 7. and being promiſed and given to thoſe who ſuffered for Chriſt's ſake, to abide with them for ever, as their Comforter, and to help their Infirmities, Rom. 8. 26. 2 Tim. 1. 7, 8. muſt make them happy Sufferers; and being alſo that Spirit by which they were enabled to work many Miracles, and endued with extraordinary Gifts, Chriſt muſt be glorified by him, as he foretold he ſhould, John 16. 14.

Ver. 15. Ὡς φονεὺς, As a Murtherer, &c.] g Whoever reads Joſephus, will find there was the greateſt Reaſon to give theſe Cautions to the Jewiſh Nation, which then prodigiouſly abounded with Thieves, were continually employed in murthering not only Heathens, but their own Brethren; were κακοποιοὶ, or as ſome Copies read, κακοῦργοὶ, to ſuch an high degree, that he ſaith, they practiſed all manner of Injuſtice and Wickedneſs that was ever thought of, or committed; and ἀλλοτριοεπίσκοποι, Men who would have the Government of other Men's Conſciences, and over-rule their Actions, eſpecially the Zealots.

Ver. 16. Δοξαζέτω τὸν Θεόν, Let him glorifie h God:] I. e. Let him give Glory to God, who enables him thus patiently to ſuffer for his ſake; or, Let him be ſo careful to behave himſelf under his Sufferings, that he may glorifie God by them, in the Day of Viſitation, chap. 2. 12. which Day is now at hand.

Ver. 17. Τὸ τέλος, The End:] Foretold i by Chriſt, of the Unbelieving Jews. See Note on v. 7.

CHAP. V.

a Verſe 1. THE [a] Elders which are among you, I exhort, who am alſo an Elder, and a Witneſs of the Sufferings of Chriſt, and alſo [ſhall be] b [b] a Partaker of the Glory which ſhall be revealed:

2. Feed the Flock of God which is among you, taking [upon you] the overc ſight thereof, [c] not by conſtraint, but wild lingly; [d] not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind.

e 3. [e] Neither as being Lords over God's Heritage, but being Enſamples to the Flock.

4. And when the chief Shepherd ſhall appear, ye ſhall receive a Crown of Glory that fadeth not away, [and ſo receive a full and better Reward of your Labours, than others aim at.]

5. Likewiſe ye younger, ſubmit your ſelves unto the elder, [or, aged:] yea, all of you be ſubject one to another; [i. e. be as ready to do kind Offices to others, as if ye were ſubject to them; See Note on Phil. 2. 3.] and [f] be cloathed with Humility: For God f reſiſteth the Proud, and giveth Grace unto the Humble.

g 6. [g] Humble your ſelves therefore under the mighty Hand of God, [now coming upon you, chap. 4. 17.] that he may exalt you in due time.

7. Caſting all your care upon him, [and committing your ſelves to the conduct of his All-wiſe Providence, chap. 4. 19] for he careth for you.

8. Be ſober, be vigilant; becauſe your Adverſary the Devil, as a roaring Lion, walketh about, ſeeking whom he may devour; [and by his Perſecutions, tempt to an Apoſtacy from the Faith, 1 Theſ. 3. 5. Rev. 2. 10.]

9. Whom reſiſt ſtedfaſt in the Faith; knowing that the ſame Afflictions [which you now endure,] are accompliſhed in your Chriſtian Brethren that are in the World; [See James 4. 7.]

10. But [And] the God of all Grace, who hath called us to his Eternal Glory by Chriſt Jeſus, after that ye have ſuffered a while, make you perfect [in Patience,] ſtabliſh, ſtrengthen, ſettle you.

11. To him be Glory and Dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

12. By Silvanus a faithful Brother unto you ([h] as I ſuppoſe) I have written brief- h ly; exhorting and teſtifying, that this is the true Grace of God in which you [now] ſtand.

13. The Church that is at [Rome, figura- tively called] [i] Babylon, elected together with i you, ſaluteth you, and ſo doth Marcus my Son, [i. e. who as a Son with his Father, hath ſerved me in the Goſpel, Phil. 2. 22.]

14. Greet ye one another with a Kiſs of Charity. Peace be with all that are in Chriſt Jeſus. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. V.

a Verſe 1. Πρεσβυτέρους τοὺς ἐν ὑμῖν, The Elders that are among you:] That is, The Biſhops, ſaith Dr. Hammond here, and whereſoever the Word occurs in the New Teſtament; for the Order of Presbyters was not yet in being, but only afterwards appointed by St. John: For that the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking of Elders, not by Age, but Office, appeareth by his Exhortation directed to them, to feed the Flock committed to their charge, v. 2. But this Notion ſeems not well conſiſtent with what others have diſcourſed upon this Subject; For, 1ſt, They who make the Biſhop, Prieſt, or Elder, and Deacon, to be appointed, as anſwering to the High Prieſt, the Prieſt, and Levites, muſt ſuppoſe that all theſe three Orders were at firſt appointed, eſpecially in the Church of Jeruſalem, as being derived from their Platform. And ſo muſt all thoſe learned Men, who ſay the Church was modell'd after the manner of the Jewiſh Synagogue; for as to that, the Parallel muſt run between the chief of the Synagogue, the Elders, and their Miniſterial Officers, and the Biſhops, Prieſts, or Elders, and the Deacons: And if the middle Order had been wanting ſo long as is ſuppoſed, the Government of the Church would not have been formed after that Platform; which, as Epiphanius, * and the Jews inform us, had theſe ſeveral Offices in it. The ſame may be ſaid of thoſe who make the Elders or Presbyters to be anſwerable to the Seventy, appointed by Chriſt as inferiour Officers under the Apoſtles, and make this an Argument of an inequality betwixt Biſhops and Presbyters, eſtabliſhed in the Church by Chriſt.

2dly, Hence it muſt neceſſarily follow, that not only in the Times, but even in the Writings of the Apoſtles, the Names of Presbyters and Biſhops were ſo far confounded, that a Presbyter, in their Stile, did always ſignifie one that was properly a Biſhop; which yet the learned Biſhop Pearſon † ſeems not to allow.

3dly, This ſeems to make the Work and Office of a Biſhop too great to be diſcharged by a ſingle Perſon, eſpecially in ſuch great Churches as that of Jeruſalem, where there were many Myriads of Believing Jews, Acts 21. 20. For 'twas his Office, ſaith that Reverend Perſon, to be the Teacher of the whole Flock committed to him: Acts 20. 28. Ye that are Biſhops of the ſeveral Churches of Aſia, look to the Churches committed to your Truſt, to rule and order all the faithful Chriſtians under you; So the Paraphraſe. See the Paraphraſe and Note on Heb. 13. 7, 17. where he ſaith, That to Teach, Exhort, and Confirm, and impoſe Hands, were all the Biſhop's Office in Judæa. He was to exerciſe the whole Diſcipline of the Church, by hearing all the Eccleſiaſtical Cauſes, inflicting Cenſures, and receiving Penitents; (See the Paraphraſe and Note on Titus 3. 10.) He was to take the principal Care of the Poor, to receive, and diſtribute to them the Church's Stock; So here: The ſupreme Truſt and Charge of that, ſaith he, being always reſerved to the Apoſtles and Biſhops of the Church,

Note F. on 1 Cor. 12. 28. He was to Viſit the Sick, and pray with them; that being, ſaith he, one Branch of the Office of Biſhops; Note on James 5. 14. And how one Biſhop could perform all this to a Church conſiſting of many Myriads of Perſons, it is not eaſy to conceive. I therefore think it better to admit of the ordinary Acceptation of the Word Presbyter here; that is, to think they alſo may be included in the Term.

Ibid. Κοινωνὸς δόξης, And alſo a Partaker of the Glory which ſhall be revealed:] I. e. ſaith one, preſent at the Diſcourſe, concerning the Glory that ſhould be conſequent to his Death, the remarkable Deſtruction of his Crucifiers, and the Deliverance of his faithful Diſciples. But 1ſt, 'Tis certain, that the Scripture mentions nothing of any ſuch Diſcourſe; but only, that Moſes and Elias then ſpake of his Deceaſe which he was to accompliſh at Jeruſalem, Luke 9. 31. And tho' Peter was then preſent, he heard not a Word of that Diſcourſe; being then faſt aſleep, v. 32. This Glory therefore is doubtleſs the Glory which we ſhall enjoy at the Reſurrection, or the Redemption of our Bodies from Corruption, Rom. 8. 18, 23. ſtiled the Glory of God, Rom. 5. 2. the Glory we ſhall enjoy when Chriſt appears, Col. 3. 4. when our vile Bodies ſhall be made like unto Chriſt's glorious Body, Phil. 3. 21. and ſhall be raiſed up in Glory, 1 Cor. 15. 43. eternal Glory, v. 10. this being that we ſhall enjoy at the Revelation of Chriſt Jeſus, v. 4. 1 Pet. 1. 7, 13. chap. 4. 13. of this St. Peter was a Partaker then in the Promiſe, and in the Earneſt of it, the Firſt-Fruits of the Spirit.

c Ver. 2. Not by conſtraint, but willingly;] Μὴ ἀναγκαστῶς ἀλλ' ἑκουσίως.] Not as it were conſtrained to it by the dread of what you may ſuffer, the Woe impendent if you do not perform this Office; but voluntarily, and as a Free-Will-Offering to that God who hath loved you ſo much, and from a ready Mind to ſerve the Intereſts of Souls; as in thoſe Words of St. Paul, Ἀνάγκη, A Neceſſity is laid upon me, and Woe unto me, if I preach not the Goſpel; but if, ἑκὼν, willingly I do this, I have a Reward, 1 Cor. 9. 16, 17.

Ibid. Μηδὲ αἰσχροκερδῶς, Not for filthy Lucre.] As did the Falſe Apoſtles, and Judaizers, teaching things they ought not, for filthy Lucre's ſake, Tit. 1. 11. thinking Gain Godlineſs, 1 Tim. 6. 5.

e Ver. 3. Μηδ' ὡς κατακυριεύοντες τῶν κλήρων, Not as Lords over God's Heritage:] Or, as it might be rendered, of the Poſſeſſions of the Church. It was the Cuſtom then of many, to ſell their Heritages, and give the Money to the Governors, and Biſhops of the Church, to be diſtributed to the Uſe of poor Chriſtians; and theſe Inheritances and Moneys were ſtiled Κλῆροι, both the Scriptures, and the beſt Greek Authors, uſing it for a Patrimony, or Heritage obtained by Lot, as the Inheritance of the Jews was, Joſh. 12. 8. whence the word Κλῆρος is ſo often uſed in this ſenſe through the Books of Joſhua and Judges. And ſo the Biſhops, to whoſe Hands it was committed, are here required, not to act as if they were Lords, but only as Stewards of it; and ſo as to be Examples to others, of freedom from Avarice, and diligence in Relieving the Poor, Sick, and Needy. But ſeeing what is here κληρὸς, is in the ſame Sentence ſtiled τὸ ποίμνιον, the Flock of God, the common Interpretation of the Word for Heritage, ſeems to be eſtabliſhed by this latter Word.

Ver. 5. Ἐγκομβώσασθε, Be ye cloathed with Humility.] The Word hath two Significations, it ſignifies a Frock put over the reſt of our Cloaths, and ſo imports, that this Humility ſhould be viſible in us, above all other Chriſtian Vertues, in our whole Converſation, our Words, and Actions. 2dly, It ſignifies a Belt which girts about our Garments, and ſo imports, we ſhould tie it faſt unto us, and have thoſe Conſiderations always fixed upon our Spirits, which may ſtill keep us in an humble Frame of Soul. f

Ver. 6. Ταπεινώθητε.] I. e. Submit with Patience to the Chaſtiſements ſent by his powerful Hand upon you; that being truly ſenſible of the Divine Diſpleaſure, being afflicted, and mourning for thoſe Sins which brought theſe Evils down upon you, and turning unto him that ſmites you, he may draw nigh to you, and in due ſeaſon work for you a Deliverance from this afflicted State. (See this in the Place parallel to this, James 4. 7, 10.) g

Ver. 12. Ὡς νομίζω, As I ſuppoſe.] From theſe, and many like Expreſſions uſed in the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, it is evident, that the Divine Afflatus, by which the Holy Ghoſt aſſiſted them to write, did not dictate the very Words, but only preſided over them to preſerve them from Error in Writing, ſeeing the Holy Ghoſt could not ſay, As I ſuppoſe; Nor could St. Peter have uſed this Phraſe, if the Divine Illumination had influenced and inſtructed him in this Matter. h

Ver. 13. Ἡ ἐν Βαβυλῶνι, The Church in Babylon.] That Babylon is figuratively here put for Rome, is an Opinion ſo early delivered by (a) Papias, and which afterwards ſo generally obtained, (as we learn from Euſebius, (b) St. Jerom, and OEcumenius, on i this Place,) that I ſubſcribe to the Note at the end of this Epiſtle, that ἐγράφη ἀπὸ Ῥώμης, it was written from Rome, ſtiled alſo Babylon by the (c) Author of the Revelations, chap. 17th and the 18th. For the Apoſtle muſt, at the writing of it, be at Rome, figuratively, or at ſome City, properly called Babylon: Now as it is uncertain whether St. Peter ever was at Babylon in Chaldea, or in Egypt, and improbable that he ever made any conſiderable ſtay there; ſo is it very improbable he ſhould do it ſo near his End. At Rome and Antioch, where he confeſſedly reſided, Church-Hiſtory is copious in giving an Account of his Succeſſors in thoſe Sees: But who can ſhew any thing of this nature, with reference to either of theſe Babylons? As to the reaſon why Rome is covertly thus repreſented by the Name of Babylon. I cannot think, with OEcumenius, it was ſo ſtiled, διὰ τὸ ἐπιφανὲς, becauſe advanced to as great Eminency as Babylon ever had been; for then why ſhould St. Peter have diſguiſed the Matter? I rather think it was ſo ſtiled, either becauſe it did reſemble that City in its Idolatries, and Oppoſition to the Church of God; or becauſe it was to be deſtroyed for ever, as the Prophets had foretold of Babylon; which though the (d) Primitive Chriſtians did believe, it was their Wiſdom to conceal. Thus (e) St. Jerom ſaith, That the Prophet Jeremiah covertly ſpake of Babylon, under the Name of Seſack, that he might not incenſe the Babylonians againſt him, who beſieged Jeruſalem; and that the Apoſtle ſpeaks of the Roman Empire under that Name of τὸ κατέχον, that which letteth, that he might not provoke them to perſecute the Chriſtians for ſpeaking of the Roman Empire, which was by them eſteemed (f) Imperium ſine fine, or Eternal.

Second Epiſtle of St. PETER.

ΠΕ΄ΤΡΟΥ τοῦ Ἀποστόλου ἐπιστολὴ καθολικὴ δευτέρα, The Second Catholick Epiſtle of St. Peter.] That this Epiſtle alſo was written by the Apoſtle Peter, is evident beyond all Exception. (1.) From the Inſcription of it, in which the Writer ſtiles himſelf Simon Peter, a Servant and Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt; there being no other Apoſtle of that Name. Moreover, of this Apoſtle it is particularly noted in the Scripture, that he was Σίμων ὁ λεγόμενος Πέτρος, Simon called Peter, Matth. 4. 18. and 10. 2. Σίμων ὁ ἐπικαλούμενος Πέτρος, Simon which was ſirnamed Peter, Acts 10. 18. and 11. 13. He is ſtiled Simon Peter once by St. Luke, chap. 5. 8. and by St. John the Evangeliſt ſeventeen times, chap. 1. 41. and 6. 8, 68. and 13. 6, 9, 24, 36. and 18. 10, 15, 25. and 20. 2, 6. and 21. 2, 3, 7, 11, 15. Whereas Symeon Biſhop of Jeruſalem, to whom Grotius aſcribes the Writing of this Epiſtle, was neither Peter, nor Apoſtle. (2.) From a Concurrence of Circumſtances in it relating to St. Peter, and no other; as (1.) When he ſays, He ſhortly muſt put off this Tabernacle, even as our Lord Jeſus Chriſt had ſhewed him, chap. 1. 14. This well agrees to Simon Peter, to whom our Lord ſignified what Death he ſhould die, Joh. 21. 18, 19. And that this Death ſhould befal him before his coming to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, ver. 22. which was then at hand when St. Peter writ this. (See Note on 1 Pet. 4. 7.) 2dly, He adds, That he was with him in the holy Mount, when our Lord Jeſus was transfigured, and was an Eye witneſs of his Majeſty, and heard thoſe Words, This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleaſed, v. 16, 17, 18. which he could hear only then, no ſuch Words being ſpoken, John 12. 28. to which Grotius would refer this Paſſage. Now at our Lord's Transfiguration, beſides St. Peter, were only preſent the two Sons of Zebedee, James and John, neither of which were ever thought to be the Author of this Epiſtle. 3dly, This alſo may be gathered from theſe Words, chap. 3. 1, 2. This Second Epiſtle, Beloved, I write unto you; in which I ſtir up your ſincere Minds, by way of remembrance, ver. 2. That ye may be mindful of the Words which were ſpoken before by the holy Prophets, and of the Commandment of us the Apoſtles of the Lord and Saviour. Whence it is manifeſt, 1ſt, That this Epiſtle was Writ by an Apoſtle, and therefore not by Symeon Biſhop of Jeruſalem. 2dly, That it was Writ by an Apoſtle, who had before directed an Epiſtle to the ſame Perſons. Now though ſome of the Ancients doubted whether this Second Epiſtle were Canonical; yet (a) they all owned, that it bore his Name, and was aſcribed to him, and never, that we find, was aſcribed to any other Apoſtle: We therefore have juſt reaſon to conclude, according to the Title of it, that it was alſo the Epiſtle of Simon Peter the Apoſtle of our Lord, to whom both theſe Epiſtles expreſly are aſcribed by (b) Origen; who alſo adds, That Paul is called his Brother, by Peter the Apoſtle, which he is only in this Epiſtle. Being therefore Written by an Apoſtle aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven, 1 Pet. 1. 12. we cannot doubt of the Authority of this Epiſtle: For whereas Grotius, to avoid the ſtrength of this Argument, imagines that this Chapter contains a Second Epiſtle; and that the Firſt Epiſtle referred to, ended at the cloſe of the Second Chapter of that which is now called the Second Epiſtle; he not only doth this, without all Authority of any Ancient Verſions or Authors to countenance his Opinion; but againſt the Frame

As for the Time when this Epiſtle was Endited, I lay down this as certain, againſt Grotius, from what hath been diſcourſed already, that it could not be Written after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; for St. Peter here ſaith, That he was ſhortly to put off his Tabernacle, or, to die; whereas he was actually dead in the Fourteenth Year of Nero, that is, Three Years before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by Titus. But that it was written but a little before his Death, may juſtly be concluded from his Declaration, that he knew, either by Revelation, or by our Lord's Diſcourſe, that the Time of his Death (c) was ſuddenly to follow, or was nigh at hand.

Of the Perſons to whom it was Written, we are aſſured alſo from theſe Words, This Second Epiſtle, Beloved, I write unto you; they being a Demonſtration, that it was Written to the very ſame Perſons to whom the Firſt had been directed, viz. to the Converted Jews, diſperſed through Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia, and Bithynia, 1 Pet. 1. 1.

And laſtly, As for the Occaſion of his Writing, that plainly ſeems to have been double. 1ſt, To arm the Jews converted, againſt the Fiery Trial which was then come upon them; and againſt that Apoſtacy from the Faith, that turning away from the holy Commandment, chap. 2. 21. that falling from their own Stedfaſtneſs, chap. 3. 17. to which they of that Nation were ſo prone: And evident it is, that the chief Deſign of the Epiſtle to the Hebrews was to put a ſtop to it: And many Paſſages in all the Catholick Epiſtles, not excepting the 2d and 3d Epiſtles, of St. John, are evidently writ for the ſame Purpoſe; and to warn them of, and to preſerve them from the deſtructive Doctrines of thoſe Jewiſh Solifidians, who held it unneceſſary to add unto their Faith, Vertue. 2dly, To arm them againſt thoſe impure Nicolaitans and Simonians, who turned the Grace of God into Laſciviouſneſs: Of whom ſee the Notes on the 2d Chapter. And 3dly, Againſt thoſe Scoffers at the Promiſe of Chriſt's Coming, as if it were a Promiſe which never would be verified.

But then I am conſtrained to diſſent from the Opinion of the Reverend and Judicious Dr. Hammond, and Dr. Lightfoot, who conceive, that the Apoſtle doth not diſcourſe of our Lord's Coming to the General Judgment, in his 3d Chapter, but only of his Coming to execute his Judgments on the Jews, by the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem. For not to inſiſt upon this Conſideration, that this Opinion is wholly new, and contrary to the Judgment of all the Ancients, who own this Epiſtle, and have Occaſion to make mention of theſe Words, they all agreeing in this with OEcumenius, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh, ἐπὶ συντελείᾳ τοῦ αἰῶνος, of the End of the World; It is extremely evident.

1. From theſe very Words, ver. 7. But the Heavens and Earth which now are, by the ſame Word are kept in ſtore, reſerved to Fire againſt the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men. And, ver. 10. But the Day of the Lord will come as a Thief in the night, in the which the Heavens ſhall paſs away with a great noiſe, and the Elements ſhall melt with fervent Heat; the Earth alſo, and the Works that are therein, ſhall be burnt up. To interpret all theſe Words, only of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, is to turn them into Metaphor and Allegory; whereas St. Peter plainly ſays; That as the Old World was deſtroyed by Water, ſo ſhall the World that now is be deſtroyed by Fire. Here then, as one ſays truly, is no Room for Allegories, or Allegorical Expoſitions; for, as the Heavens and Earth were deſtroyed by Water, ſo are they to be deſtroyed by Fire: And if in the firſt place you underſtand the Natural Material World, you muſt alſo underſtand it in the ſecond; they are both Allegories, or neither.

2. Were the Apoſtle ſpeaking of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem which happened thirty ſeven Years after the Death of Chriſt, and was according to our Lord's Prediction, to fall out whilſt ſome of them whom he ſpake to were yet living, what need was there of ſaying, One Day with the Lord is as a thouſand Years, &c. when he was ſpeaking, it ſeems, of that which he knew was to happen before four Years were expired? And laſtly, The ſolemn Exhortation, Seeing then all theſe things ſhall be diſſolved, what manner of Perſons ought we to be, in all holy Converſations and Godlineſſes, looking for, and haſtening to the Coming of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, that we may be found of him without Spot, and blameleſs? This, I ſay, ſounds too high for the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, in which they of Pontus and Galatia could not be much concern'd; but 'tis an Exhortation very proper for thoſe who had the lively Idea of the Conflagration of the World, and the tremendous Judgment and Perdition of ungodly Men, then ſet before them.

There is I confeſs, a middle Opinion betwixt both theſe, which interprets the Words of St. Peter, in the 3d Chapter, of the Judgment of the Great Whore, or the Antichriſtian Church, mentioned, Rev. 17. 1. after which is to follow the New Heaven, and New Earth, promiſed to the Jews, and to be accompliſhed in the calling of them to the Chriſtian Faith, and the flowing in of all Nations to them. Concerning which, Note,

(c) Ταχινή ἐστιν, 2 Pet. 3. 14.

1ſt, That the Judgment, according to the Predictions both of the Prophets in the Old, and of St. John in the New Teſtament, is to be executed upon her by Fire. So, Dan. 7. 11. The Beaſt was ſlain, and his Body deſtroyed, and given to the burning Flame: And, ver. 26. The Judgment ſhall ſit, and they ſhall take away his Dominion, to conſume and to deſtroy it to the End. Accordingly, in the Judgment of the Whore, ſhe ſhall be utterly burnt with Fire; for ſtrong is the Lord that judgeth her, Rev. 17. Rev. 18. 8, 9, 10.

Note, 2dly, That it is uſual with the Prophets to repreſent God's Judgments on the Enemies of his Church and People, by the tragical Expreſſions of burning up the Earth, diſſolving the Heavens. Thus of the Deſtruction of Babylon, which Name was writ upon the Forehead of the Great Whore, God ſpeaks thus: Behold, the Day of the Lord cometh, cruel, and with fierce Wrath, to lay the Land deſolate; for the Stars of Heaven, and the Conſtellations, ſhall not give their Light, and the Sun ſhall be darkened in his going forth, and the Moon ſhall not give her Light; and I will make the Heavens to ſhake, [or, move away,] and the Earth ſhall remove out of its place, Iſai. 13. 9, 10, 13. The Indignation of the Lord againſt the Idumæans, is repreſented in theſe dreadful Words; The Mountains ſhall be melted with their Blood, and (d) all the Hoſt of Heaven ſhall be diſſolved, and the Heavens ſhall be rolled together as a Scroll, and all their Hoſt ſhall fall down as a Leaf falleth from the Vine, and as a falling Fig from the Fig-tree. Of the Deſtruction of Sennacherib and his People, God ſpeaketh thus: The Heavens ſhall vaniſh away like Smoke; the Earth ſhall wax old like a Garment, and they that dwell therein ſhall die in like manner, Iſai. 51. 6. See Deut. 32. 22. Jer. 4. 23, 24. Joel 2. 30. and 3. 15. Here then we ſee all the Expreſſions uſed in the 3d Chapter of St. Peter, uſed alſo by the Prophets, when they ſpeak of the Deſolation of a Nation and People, and eſpecially of the Enemies of the Church: Which is ſufficient to evince, that the Apoſtle being himſelf a Jew, and writing to thoſe Jews who were accuſtomed to theſe Expreſſions, might thus ſet forth the great Deſtruction of the Beaſt, mentioned Revelations 17th and the 18th; and by the New Heavens and New Earth, that Glorious State of the Church, which was to enſue by the Converſion of the Jewiſh Nation, and the flowing-in of all Nations to them.

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE Second Epiſtle of St. PETER.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. SImon Peter, a Servant and Apoſtle of Jeſus Chriſt, [writing] to them that have obtained like precious Faith a with us [a] through the Righteouſneſs of God, [by Faith, Rom. 1. 17] and [the Sufferings of] our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt;

2. [Wiſheth that] Grace and Peace [may] be multiplied to you, through the knowledge of God, and of Jeſus [Chriſt] our Lord.

3. According as [it hath been with us already; for] his Divine Power hath given to us all things that pertain to Life and godlineſs, [or, to the Life of godlineſs,] through the knowledge of him that hath called us to, b [Gr. by] [b] Glory, and Vertue.

c 4. [c] Whereby are given to us exceeding great and precious Promiſes, that by theſe d ye might be [d] Partakers of the Divine Nature; having eſcaped the corruption which is in the World through luſt.

e 5. [e] And beſides this, [Gr. Καὶ αὐτὸ τȣ̃το, And for this Cauſe,] giving all diligence, add to your Faith Vertue, [or, Courage in the Profeſſion of it, and Sincerity in the Practice of thoſe things this Faith requires,] and to Vertue [an exact] Knowledge [of your Duty;]

6. And to Knowledge, Temperance, [in carefully abſtaining from thoſe Senſual Affections, and diſorderly Paſſions, which obſtruct the Performance of your Duty,] and to Temperance, Patience [under all the Sufferings which may afright you from it,] and to Patience, Godlineſs, [that fear of God, which will reſtrain you from Sin: that Love of him, which will conſtrain you to your Duty; that Conformity of Will, which will cauſe your Mind to approve of, your Heart to affect, and chuſe what is according to his Will, and your whole Man to be exerciſing it ſelf to Godlineſs;]

7. And to Godlineſs Brotherly kindneſs, [i. e. fervent Love to Chriſtians, as being Children of our Heavenly Father, and Fellow Members of Chriſt's Body,] and to brotherly kindneſs, Charity [to all Men, as proceeding from the ſame Stock, having the ſame Nature, and being ſubject to the ſame Neceſſities:]

8. For if theſe things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye ſhall neither be [f] barren, [Gr. ſlothful,] nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

9. But [on the other hand,] he that lacketh theſe things is [g] blind, and cannot ſee far off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old Sins, [by that Baptiſm in which he being waſhed from the guilt of them, engaged to die to ſin, Rom. 6. 4.]

10. Wherefore,] being called to this Faith,] the rather, Brethren, give diligence, [Gr. give the more diligence, by practiſing theſe things,] [h] to make your Calling and Election ſure; [i. e. to ſecure to your ſelves the Bleſſings of Chriſtianity, to which God hath called you, and for which end he hath choſen you to be his People:] for if you do theſe things, you ſhall never fall, [or, miſcarry eternally;]

11. For ſo an entrance ſhall be miniſtered to you abundantly, [i] into the Everlaſting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

12. Where

12. Wherefore, I will not be negligent
k to put you always [k] in remembrance of these things, tho' you know them [before,] and be eſtabliſhed in the preſent Truth, [viz. That the Practice of theſe Chriſtian Virtues is neceſſary to the making your Calling and Election ſure, and to your Entrance into Chriſt's Heavenly Kingdom.]

13. Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this Tabernacle [of the Body,] to ſtir you up [to the performance of your Duty,] by putting you [ſtill] in remembrance [of theſe things.]

14. Knowing that ſhortly I muſt put off this my Tabernacle, [by Martyrdom, even as l our Lord Jeſus Chriſt [l] hath ſhewed me, [John 21. 20.]

[14. Moreover, I will endeavour, [by leaving theſe Epiſtles, deſign'd for that End,] that m you may be able, after my deceaſe, [m] to have theſe things always in remembrance.

16. For we have not followed cunningly deviſed Fables, when we made known to you the Power [given to our Lord Chriſt over all Fleſh, that he might give Eternal Life to them that believe, John 17. 2.] and [the] Coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, [to crown them with Glory ;] but were Eye-witneſſes of his Majeſty.

17. For he received from God the Father, Honour and Glory, when there came ſuch a Voice to him from the [n] excellent n Glory, This is my Beloved Son, in whom I am well-pleaſed.

18. And this Voice which came from Heaven we heard, when we were with him in the Holy Mount.

19. We have alſo [o] a more ſure Word of o Prophecy; whereunto you do well that ye take heed, as to a light that ſhineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the [p] day-ſtar ariſe in your hearts. p

20. Knowing this firſt, [as the foundation of all you learn from the Prophetick Writings,]
[q] that no Prophecy of the Scripture is of q any private Interpretation, [Gr. of their own Incitation, Motion, or the Suggeſtion of their own private Spirits.]

21. For Prophecy came not in old time by the will of Man; but holy Men of God ſpake as they were moved by the Holy Ghoſt.

Annotations on Chap. I.

Verſe 1. 'EN δικαιοσιώῃ τῦ Θεῦ, By the Righteouſneſs of God.] That this Phraſe ſignifies our Juſtification through Faith in the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt, the Meritorious Cauſe of it, ſee the Note on Rom. 1. 17. Or ſince the Hebrew Word Tzedakah in the Old, and the Greek δικαιοσύνη, both in the Old and New Teſtament do often ſignify Kindneſs, and Mercy, it may here alſo bear that ſenſe.

Ver. 3. Διὰ δόξης ϗ ἀρετῆς, By Glory and Virtue :] I. e. Who hath called us with a Glorious Calling, as being attended with the Glorious Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt ; by reaſon of which, the Revelation of the Goſpel is ſaid to be ἐν δόξῃ, or διὰ δόξης, in, and with Glory, 2 Cor. 3. 7, 11. And ſhewed his Power, Might, and Virtue, by the Miraculous Operations with which it was confirmed. For tho' Mr. le Clerc is poſitive, that ἀρετὴ no where ſignifies δύναμις, Power ; yet in Heſychius we read thus, ἀρετὴ θεία δύναμις, Virtue, i. e. Divine Power, ἡ κτ πόλεμον δύναμις, Strength for War, Fortitude, Dexterity in Wreſtling.

Ver. 4. Δι' ὧν, By which.] If the Reading of other Manuſcripts, δι' ὃν, obtain, the ſenſe runs plain and eaſy, thus, By whom thus calling you, are given great and precious Promiſes, Chriſt having brought Life and Immortality to light, 2 Tim. 1. 10. and eſtabliſhed the New Covenant in better Promiſes, Heb. 8. 6. But if we retain the Common Reading, δι' ὧν, by which, the Senſe ſeems to run thus; By which two the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt upon us, as the Earneſt of them, and his Miraculous Operations, as the Confirmation of them, and of that Goſpel which contains them, are given to us great and precious Promiſes ; or rather, By which God, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, mention'd, v. 1. and v. 3. are given great and precious Promiſes, they being the Promiſes made by God the Father, 2 Cor. 7. 1. And by the Son, 1 John 2. 25. And confirmed to us in and through Chriſt Jeſus, 2 Cor. 1. 20, 21.

Ibid. Θείας φύσεως κοινωνοὶ, Partakers of the d
Divine Nature.] Both (a) Philo and Joſephus repreſent them who had the Gift of Prophecy, as having τὴν ψυχὴν θειάζουσαν, a Soul inſpired by the Deity ; and by the Holy Spirit dwelling in them, made Divine. Thus (b) Joſephus ſaith of one Papius, renowned for his Wiſdom and Fore-knowledge of Things to come, that he did θείας μετεσχηκέναι φύσεως, partake of the Divine Nature.

(b) Contra Apion. p. 1052.

e Ver. 5. Καὶ αὐτὸ τοῦτο, And for this cauſe ; or, as other Manuſcripts read, Καὶ αὐτοὶ, So ye.] Eſthius here probably conjectures, that the ſenſe hitherto is pendent, thus ; As you have received from the Gift of God, all things neceſſary to Life and Godlineſs ; ſo do ye add, or, for this cauſe, add to your Faith, Virtue, &c.

f Ver. 8. Οὐκ ἀργοὺς, You will not be ſlothful,] Or negligent, in the Concerns of God's Glory, and your Soul's Welfare ; for Sloth proceeds from want of Faith, or Courage, or Love : Nor unfruitful, i. e. unprofitable to others ; for that proceeds from want of brotherly Kindneſs, or Charity.

g Ver. 9. Τυφλός ἐστι, He is blind,] For want of Knowledge, and blinded by his Paſſions and ſenſual Affections, and cannot ſee to the End and Deſign of Chriſtianity, and the Rewards of Faith and Patience ; nor conſiders he the Obligations which lie upon him, to depart from Iniquity. The word μυωπάζων following, is by our Tranſlators render'd, one that cannot ſee afar off ; agreeably to theſe words of Ariſtotle, they are ſaid, μυωπάζειν, who from their Birth are τὰ μὲν ἐγγὺς βλέποντες, τὰ δ' ἐξ ἀποστάσεως οὐχ ὁρῶντες, Men who can only ſee things near, not thoſe that are remote ; and it is ordinary to ſay, that ſuch a one is blind, as being comparatively ſo, and as to many things: And to this ſenſe the following words, they cannot look back to their Purgation of old, ſeem to lead ; tho' the great Bochart ſaith, the word here ſignifies, to cloſe the Eyes againſt the Light, Hieroz. l. 1. c. 4. p. 31, 32.

h Ver. 10. Βεβαίαν ὑμῶν κλῆσιν ποιεῖσθαι, To make your Calling and Election ſure.] Many Manuſcripts, and many of the Ancients, add, διὰ τῶν καλῶν ἔργων, by good Works : And this the Text ſeems to require ; for it immediately follows, if you do theſe things, you ſhall never fall ; plainly declaring, that the making of their Calling and Election ſure, depended on the doing thoſe Works of Virtue, Temperance, Patience, Godlineſs, brotherly Kindneſs, and Charity, (mention'd before,) and ſo was only a Conditional Election, upon their Perſeverance in a Life of Holineſs. And from the following Words, he that doth theſe things, ſhall never fall, it plainly ſeems to follow that even the Elect, by their neglect to do theſe things may fail of an Entrance into this heavenly Kingdom.

i Ver. 11. Εἰς τὴν αἰώνιον βασιλείαν, Into the Everlaſting Kingdom] As ζωὴ αἰώνιος is Everlaſting Life, Luke 10. 25. αἰώνιος κληρονομία, an Everlaſting Inheritance, Heb. 9. 15. αἰώνιοι σκηναὶ, Everlaſting Tabernacles, Luke 16. 9. οἰκία αἰώνιος, an Everlaſting Houſe, 2 Cor. 5. 1. δόξα αἰώνιος, Everlaſting Glory, 2 Tim. 2. 10. σωτηρία αἰώνιος, Everlaſting Salvation, Heb. 5. 9. So αἰώνιος βασιλεία is doubtleſs the Everlaſting Kingdom prepared for Chriſt's faithful Servants, and not his Vindictive Kingdom over the Jews ; nor yet the Kingdom of Saints, mention'd by Daniel, as never to give place to any other Kingdom, they to whom the Apoſtle writ, being to die long before the Coming of that Kingdom.

Ver. 12. Ἐν ὑπομνήσει, In Remembrance.] For could we be eſtabliſhed in the Belief of Heavenly Things, and have them ſtill in Remembrance, we ſhould not flag in the Performance of our Duty. Moreover from theſe Verſes, and from Chap. 3. it ſeems reaſonable to conceive, that they, who were ſo concerned to write thoſe things the Chriſtians had already heard, and in which they were eſtabliſhed, would not neglect to write whatever elſe was neceſſary to be known to Salvation.

Ver. 14. Ἐδήλωσέ μοι, Hath ſhewed me.] Declaring to him, in a Viſion, ſay (c) Hegeſippus, and (d) St. Ambroſe, That he muſt go again to Rome to be Crucified. Thus (e) St. Polycarp, in a Viſion, ſaw his Pillow, or Night-cap, burning with Fire, a little before he was conſumed by the Flames : And St. Cyprian, by a Viſion, was admoniſhed of his Death, and of the kind of Martyrdom he was to ſuffer. Pontius in Vitâ Cypr. Ed. Oxon. p. 7.

Ver. 15. Τὴν τούτων μνήμην ποιεῖσθαι, To make a Remembrance of theſe things.] St. Peter therefore was not of the Opinion, that Oral Tradition was a better way than Writing, to preſerve the Memory of theſe Things ; and that without Writing they might be able ſo to do. Accordingly (f) Ignatius, adviſing the Churches to ſtand faſt in the Tradition of the Apoſtles, thought it neceſſary, for the greater Security, to commit them to Writing. For, ſaith (g) Origen, That which is delivered only by Mouth, quickly vaniſheth, as having no Certainty.

Ver. 17. Ὑπὸ τῆς μεγαλοπρεποῦς δόξης, From the magnificent Glory.] Some conſidering, that in all the three Evangeliſts, the Transfiguration of our Lord is mention'd, after he had ſpoken of the Coming of the Son of Man in Glory, or in the Glory of the Father, think this Transfiguration was an Image of that glorious Kingdom he was to erect at the Calling of the Jews; and that St. Peter here refers to this, when he ſaith, We made known to you the Power, and Coming, or the Illuſtrious Coming of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; whence Moſes and Elias are here ſeen with him in Glory, and according to ſome Manuſcripts, are ſaid to ſpeak of the δόξα, i. e. his Glory, which was to be hereafter in Jeruſalem. But that Glory being not yet come, to what purpoſe ſhould the Apoſtle write to them of that Age, to give all diligence to obtain an Entrance into that Kingdom? Or why doth he ſo generally promiſe an Entrance into it, to them who were to die ſo long before, and were not at all, unleſs they died Martyrs, to enter into it? Nor was it to be an Everlaſting, but only a Millenary Kingdom. Wherefore, for Explication of the Words, obſerve concerning the Transfiguration of our Lord, (1.) That when he was transfigured, his Face did ſhine as the Sun, and his Garments were ſplendent, Matth. 17. 2. And this, ſaith Nazianzen, God did, τὸ μέλλον μυσταγωγῶν, ſhewing what he was to be hereafter, and as an Introduction to that Glory in which he was to ſhine at the Right Hand of Majeſty in the Heavens: For, to ſhine as the Sun, is a Phraſe expreſſing ſomething belonging to Celeſtial Majeſty, Matth. 13. 43. The white and ſplendid Garments, being alſo proper to Kings, and the Royal Miniſters of the Heavenly Court, Rev. 3. 4. And hence when Chriſt is repreſented as the Firſt-born from the Dead, and the Prince of the Kings of the Earth, to whom Power and Glory belonged, he appears in Splendour, as the Sun ſhining in his Power, Rev. 1. 14, 15. And this is the Majeſty of Chriſt, of which St. Peter, James, and John, were Eye-witneſſes on the Mount.

2dly, Of the Teſtimony given to him, obſerve, (1.) That it was, This is my Beloved Son; i. e. This is He who is Heir of all things, Heb. 1. 2. And is ſat down at the Right Hand of Majeſty and Glory, v. 3. And therefore this is made a Proof of our Lord's Reſurrection, and Exaltation to the Higheſt Glory, that the Father ſaid to him, Thou art my Son, this Day have I begotten thee. Acts 13. 33. Heb. 1. 5. and 5. 5. This is He to whom the Father hath given to have Life in himſelf, John 5. 26. And ſo to raiſe the Dead, v. 24. And give Eternal Life to them, John 17. 1, 2. Now all this being comprehended in this Teſtimony, ſhews the Truth of what St. Peter ſaid he had declared to them. Note (2dly,) That this Voice was given from the magnificent Glory, or Bright Cloud, which then appeared, and was the conſtant Symbol of the Divine Preſence; ſee Note on Phil. 2. 6. And ſo aſſured them, this Teſtimony was given by the God of Truth. Note (3dly,) That this Teſtimony is delivered in the very Words ſpoken of that Prophet which ſhould come after Moſes, viz. A Prophet will the Lord your God raiſe unto you, like to me, to him ſhall ye hearken, Deut. 18. 15. And ſo aſſured them, That this Beloved Son was that Prophet of whom Moſes ſpake. Note, Laſtly, That theſe Words were directed, not to Chriſt, but to thoſe that attended him, and bad them obſerve, That God the Father here owned him as his only Son in whom he is well-pleaſed, and as the only Prophet whom they ought to hearken to.

Ver. 19. βεβαιότερον τὸν προφητικὸν λόγον; A more ſure Word of Prophecy.] This is ſpoken in compariſon of the Apoſtle's Teſtimony of what he heard; which to the Jews was not ſo certain and convincing, as was the Record of their own Prophets: Whence the Apoſtles, both in diſputing with the Unbelieving Jews, and writing to the Believers among them, confirm their Doctrines from the Writings of the Old Teſtament.

Ibid. Καὶ φωσφόρος ἀνατείλῃ, &c.] And the Day-Star ariſe in your Hearts.] Some (conſidering that Balaam propheſies of the Meſſiah, as a Star that was to come out of Jacob; by which Star, ſay the three Targums, Bereſchith Rabba, R. Moſes Hadarſon, and R. Iſaac, is meant the Meſſiah, compared to a Star, becauſe of the Splendour of his Dominion and Kingdom, and who is ſtiled by St. John, ὁ ἀστὴρ λαμπρὸς, ὁ ὀρθεινὸς, the Bright and Morning-Star, Rev. 22. 16.) refer this to Chriſt's Second Coming to convert the Jews, and ſet up the Kingdom of the Saints, Dan. 7. 27. ſaying, That the Apoſtle compares the intermediate Time in which Antichriſt was to reign, to the Night, and Darkneſs, according as the Scripture uſeth to expreſs the Times of Ignorance, and Idolatry, Eph. 5. 8. 1 Theſſ. 5. 4. (See Note on Rom. 13. 12.) And the Time of Chriſt's Advent to call all Iſrael, and to bring in with them the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, to the Light diſſipating that Darkneſs; and doth here bid the Jewiſh Nation to attend to the Prophecies in the Old Teſtament, touching this glorious Time, till it ſhould be accompliſhed upon them. But the Apoſtle writes not here to the Unbelieving Jews, who are to be the only Subjects of that Calling, but to them who had obtained like-precious Faith with him. Moreover, that the Time from Writing this Epiſtle, to the Converſion of the Jews, which is not yet accompliſhed, ſhould be accounted as Darkneſs, or a Time in which the Light, or Day, appeared not, ſeems not ſuitable to that Expreſſion of St. Paul, The Night is far ſpent, and the Day is at hand. (See Note on Rom. 13. 12.) Nor could he bid thoſe of that Age to expect, till that Day-Star ſhould ariſe in their Hearts, which to this very Day is not yet riſen. It therefore ſeems plain to me from theſe Words, tho' Dr. Hammond, and others, would interpret them to another ſenſe, That the Apoſtle ſpeaketh this, concerning ſome other Light that was to enlighten and affect their Hearts, and give them full Aſſurance, that our Jeſus was the Son of God, the Prophet God had ſent into the World. Now this was done by the Internal Gifts and Illuminations of the Holy Spirit vouchſafed to Believers; by which, ſaith the Apoſtle Paul, The Teſtimony of Chriſt, or, which the Apoſtles gave of him, ἐβεβαιώθη ἐν ὑμῖν, was confirmed in, or upon them, 1 Cor. 1. 6. By which God did βεβαιοῦν ἡμᾶς σὺν ὑμῖν εἰς χριστὸν, confirm both the Apoſtles, and thoſe that believed in the Faith of Chriſt, 2 Cor. 1. 21, 22. and 5. 5. So that the Import of the Words ſeems to be this; Till you yourſelves have thoſe Prophetick Gifts, by which you may be able, from what you find in your ſelves, to know by the Spirit, that Jeſus is the Chriſt, the Son of God, 1 Cor. 12. 3. And have that Unction of the Holy Ghoſt, by which you know all things, 1 John 2. 27. And have alſo the Scriptures of the New Teſtament committed to you, which contain a more perfect Light, Rom. 13. 14. And are endited alſo by the Holy Spirit ſent down from Heaven, 1 Pet. 1. 12. Like to this, is that Expreſſion of (h) Philo, What Reaſon is in us, that is the Sun in the World, ἐπειδὴ φωσφορεῖ ἑκάτερος, both being unto us a Phoſphorus; the Sun giving Light to our Senſes, and Reaſon, Intellectual Rays to our Conceptions: And when, φῶς ἐπιλάμπει τὸ θεῖον, the Divine Light ſhines upon us, that of our Reaſon ſets; and when that ſets, this ariſeth, τοῦ δὲ προφητικοῦ γένους φιλεῖ τοῦτο συμβαίνειν, and ſo it was with the Prophets.

Ver. 20. Ἰδίας ἐπιλύσεως οὐ γίνεται, No Prophecy is of private Interpretation:] I. e. Prophecy comes not from the Prophet's own Suggeſtion, but from the Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt. That this is the true Senſe of theſe words, appears, (1ſt,) From the Apoſtle's own Interpretation; for, not to be of the Prophet's own Incitation, or Suggeſtion, v. 20. is, not to come by the Will of Man, v. 21. i. e. not by Human Reaſon, but by the Will of God, John 1. 13. (2dly,) From the Uſe of the Phraſe; for ἐπίλυσις, according to Phavorinus and Suidas, is ἔφοδος, Acceſſion, or Incitation, or Inſult; and the word ἰδία, added to it, muſt therefore ſignify, that Prophecy is not of private Impulſe, or Incitation: Whence the Expreſſion, uſed by the true Prophets, is generally this, ἐπῆλθεν ἐπ' ἐμὲ, the Spirit came upon me, Numb. 24. 2. 1 Sam. 10. 10. 2 Chron. 15. 1. and 24. 20. And, (3dly,) From the Nature of the Thing it ſelf, and the conſtant Opinion of the Jews about it; which was, as (i) Philo ſaith, That a Prophet ſpeaketh nothing of himſelf, but he is the Organ of God in what he ſpeaks, God ſpeaking in and by him. Whence, to ſpeak of himſelf, or, of his own Heart or Mind, is always made the Sign of a falſe Prophet, whom God had not ſent, Numb. 16. 28. and 22. 18. and 24. 13. Jer. 23. 16, 26. Ezek. 13. 17. Ridiculous therefore, and full of Ignorance, is the Inference of Eſthius hence, That the Reformed, and their Paſtors, muſt not interpret the Scriptures according to their own Senſe, or Judgments; which ſurely they may do, as well as he, or any other Romiſh Commentator, who have nothing but their own private Senſe, for many Interpretations of the Scriptures they diſcourſe upon.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. BUT there were falſe Prophets alſo among the People, [in the former Ages of the Jewiſh Church,] even as ab there ſhall be [hereafter] [a] falſe Teachers [b] among you, who privately ſhall bring in c [c] damnable Hereſies, [i. e. Doctrines tending to the Deſtruction of them that hold them, and] d even [d] denying the Lord that bought them, e and [ſhall] bring upon themſelves [e] ſwift Deſtruction.

f 2. [f] And many ſhall follow their pernicious Ways, by reaſon of whom the Way of Truth ſhall be evil ſpoken of.

g 3. And through [g] Covetouſneſs ſhall they with feigned Words make merchandiſe of h you, [h] whoſe Judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their Damnation ſlumbereth not.

4. For if God ſpared not the Angels that i ſinn'd, but caſt them down [i] to Hell, and delivered them to chains of darkneſs, to be reſerved unto Judgment;

k 5. [k] And ſpared not the Old World, but l ſaved [only] Noah [l] the eighth Perſon, a Preacher of Righteouſneſs, bringing in the Flood upon the World of the Ungodly;

6. And turning the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into Aſhes, condemned them with an Overthrow, making them an Example to thoſe that after ſhould live ungodly; [See Note on Jude, v. 7.]

7. And delivered juſt Lot, vexed with the filthy Converſation of the Wicked:

8. (For that righteous Man dwelling among them, in ſeeing and hearing [of them,]
vexed his righteous Soul from day to day with their unlawful Deeds.

m 9. [Then may we reſt aſſured, that] [m] the Lord knoweth how to deliver the Godly out of Temptation, [as he did Noah, and Lot,] n and to reſerve the Unjuſt [n] unto the Day of Judgment, to be puniſhed:

o 10. But chiefly them [o] who walk after the p fleſh, in the luſts of Uncleanneſs, and [p] deſpiſe Government: Preſumptuous are they, ſelf-willed, they are not afraid to ſpeak evil of Dignities.

11. Whereas Angels, which are greater in power and might [than evil Spirits,] bring not railing Accuſations againſt them before the Lord. [See Note on Jude, v. 9]

q 12. [q] But theſe, as natural Brute Beaſts, [Gr. as Irrational, Natural Living Creatures, rather than Men,] made to be taken and deſtroyed, [or, to raven, and deſtroy] ſpeak evil of the things they underſtand not, [i. e. of the Angelical Powers whom they blaſpheme, v. 10.]
and ſhall utterly periſh in their own Corruption.

13. And ſhall receive, [Gr. receiving, by this Deſtruction, v. 12.] the Reward of Unrighteouſneſs, as they that count it pleaſure to [r] riot in the day time: Spots they are, r and Blemiſhes, [ſ] ſporting themſelves with ſ their own Deceivings, whilſt [t] they feaſt t with you;

14. Having Eyes full of Adultery, that cannot ceaſe from Sin; beguiling unſtable Souls: An heart they have exerciſed with [u] covetous Practices; curſed Children: u

15. [x] Which have forſaken the right way, x and are gone aſtray, following the way of Balaam the Son of Boſor, who loved the wages of unrighteouſneſs: [And to obtain them, counſelled Balak to entice God's People to commit Fornication with the Midianites, Numb.
31. 16. Βαλαὰμ τοῦ Βόσορ; that is, ſaith Grotius, of the City of Boſor, as Pethor his City,
Numb. 22. 5. is called:]

16. But was rebuked for his Iniquity:
[For] the dumb Aſs ſpeaking with Man's Voice, forbad the madneſs of the [y] Prophet. y

17. Theſe are Wells, [Gr. Fountains] without Water, Clouds that are carried with a Tempeſt; [unprofitable for any good, as Fountains without Water; and pernicious as Tempeſts, which blaſt and root out all before them,] to whom the Miſt, [Gr. the Blackneſs] of Darkneſs is reſerved for ever.

18. For when they ſpeak great [z] ſwelling z Words of Vanity, they allure through the luſts of the Fleſh, through much Wantonneſs, [or, to Laſciviouſneſs,] thoſe who were clean eſcaped from them that live in Error.

19. Whilſt they promiſe them [aa] Liberty, aa they themſelves are the Servants of Corruption; for of whom a Man is overcome, of the ſame is he brought in Bondage.

20. [bb] For if after they have eſcaped the bb Pollutions of the World, through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, they are again entangled therein, and overcome;
the latter end is worſe with them
than the beginning:

21. For it had been better for them, not to have known the way of Righteouſneſs, than after they have known it, to turn from the holy Commandment delivered unto them; [Becauſe they ſin by Apoſtacy againſt the Light received, and with Ingratitude to the Author of it.]

22. But it is happened to them according to the true Proverb, [cc] The Dog is cc turned to his own vomit again, and the Sow that was waſhed, to her wallowing in the mire.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. Ψευδοδιδάσκαλοι, Falſe Teachers.] Concerning the Perſons chiefly concerned in this Chapter, and in the parallel Epiſtle of St. Jude, I find three Opinions.

1. That of Dr. Lightfoot, who thinks theſe Chapters ſpeak chiefly of the Jews, i. e. of the falſe Teachers of that Nation. The Second is,

2. That of the Ancients, who ſay expreſsly, Ἄρχεται ἐντεῦθεν τὸν περὶ τῆς Νικολαϊτῶν αἱρέσεως, He begins to ſpeak of the Hereſy of the Nicolaitans. So OEcumenius. The Third is,

3. That of the Reverend and Learned Dr. Hammond, and of the Ancients alſo; That the Apoſtles ſpeak theſe things, touching the Gnoſticks. And this Opinion ſeems not much to differ from the Second. For the Ancient Fathers ſay, The (a) Gnoſticks ſprang from the Nicolaitans, and borrow'd from them all their Filthineſs and Laſciviouſneſs. Moreover, the Apoſtle Peter ſpeaketh plainly of the falſe Teachers which were to be hereafter, for, v. 1, 2, 3. he ſpeaks ſtill in the Future Tenſe; tho' both St. Jude in his Epiſtle, and St. Peter, in the following words, do plainly intimate, that ſome of them were come already: So that in the Expoſition of this Chapter, and the Epiſtle of St. Jude, we have reaſon to take in thoſe Hereticks, who appeared after the Writing theſe Epiſtles.

Nevertheleſs, becauſe the falſe Apoſtles, and falſe Teachers of the Jewiſh Nation, and the Nicolaitans, were certainly then come, and we have expreſs and frequent mention of them in the Epiſtles of St. Paul, and in the Revelation of St. John, and becauſe St. Peter ſpeaks of them in the Plural Number; therefore I ſhall apply the words to all of them, giving the Preference to them in the Expoſition of theſe words, who are expreſsly mention'd in the Holy Scriptures.

b Ibid. Ἐν ὑμῖν ἔσονται ψευδοδιδάσκαλοι, There ſhall be falſe Teachers among you.] The Apoſtle, writing to the Jews, ſeems by theſe words to intimate, that theſe falſe Teachers ſhould be among the Jewiſh Converts, eſpecially, as being either Jews by Birth, or Proſelytes to that Religion, as was Nicolas of Antioch, Acts 6. 5. But then their entering in among the Jewiſh Converts, Jude v. 4. and being among them in their Feaſts of Charity, v. 12. their leaving the right way, 2 Pet. 2. 15. and their returning with the Dog to the Vomit, make it probable that they once profeſſed the Chriſtian Faith; tho' afterwards they revolted from it, or introduced ſuch Doctrines of Perdition, as fundamentally deſtroyed the Faith which they profeſſed.

c Ibid. Αἱρέσεις ἀπωλείας, Damnable Hereſies:] Such as tended to the preſent Deſtruction, and future Damnation of them who taught, and who believed them. Thus the Doctrine of the falſe Apoſtles, among the Jews, tended to the perverting of Souls, Acts 15. 24. To make Chriſt die in vain, Gal. 2. 21. And their Faith to profit them nothing, Gal. 5. 2. And Chriſt become of none effect unto them; they being by them fallen from Grace, v. 5. and become Enemies to the Croſs of Chriſt, Phil. 3. 18.

The Hereſy of the Nicolaitans, is ſtiled by (b) Epiphanius, An Hereſy which did ἑαυτοὺς καὶ τοὺς πειθομένους ἀπολλύειν, deſtroy them that taught, and them that believed it. Yea, Chriſt himſelf declares his hatred of it, Rev. 2. 15. And the ſame all the Fathers ſay of the Gnoſtick Hereſy.

d Ibid. Τὸν ἀγοράσαντα αὐτοὺς δεσπότην ἀρνούμενοις, Denying the Lord that bought them.] Chriſt being never ſtiled δεσπότης in the New Teſtament; and St. Jude diſtinguiſhing this δεσπότης, or Maſter, from our Lord, it ſeems moſt reaſonable to interpret this of God the Father, who is ſaid to have bought the Jews: Is he not thy Father, who hath bought thee? Deut. 22. 5. And the Chriſtians; Ye are bought with a Price, therefore glorify God with your Souls and Bodies, which are his, 1 Cor. 6. 20. Hence alſo it is truly obſerved by Eſthius, That Chriſt died for them that periſh, and bring Deſtruction upon themſelves.

e Ibid. Ταχινὴν ἀπώλειαν, Shall bring upon themſelves ſwift Deſtruction.] That the Apoſtatizing Jews did this, the Scripture every where informs us, and the Apoſtles frequently warn them of it. St. Paul doth it throughout the Epiſtle to the Hebrews, elſewhere ſpeaking of them as Men whoſe End is Deſtruction, Phil. 3. 19. On whom ſhould come ſwift Deſtruction, 1 Theſſ. 5. 3. they being appointed for Wrath, v. 9. St. James, as of Men fattened for a day of ſlaughter, chap. 5. 5. and that ſuddenly to come upon them, their Judge ſtanding at the door, v. 9. Chriſt alſo threatens to them that held the Doctrine of the Nicolaitans, That he would come againſt them ſwiftly, and fight againſt them with the ſword of his mouth, Rev. 2. 16. i. e. he would deſtroy them, Rev. 19. 15, 21. Accordingly Church-Hiſtory informs us, That they were extinct, (c) λόγου θᾶττον, in a very little time.

(b) Hær. 25. §. 4. p. 79.

But I find nothing of any ſuch remarkable or ſwift Deſtruction which befel the Gnoſticks, in Church-Hiſtory; not one word that any of them periſhed, at the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the Roman Army, tho' doubtleſs their Iniquities would find them out. We rather read in the Church-Hiſtory, that they were never perſecuted by the Heathen Emperors; this being the Obſervation of the Fathers, That the (d) Simonians, and the Menandrians, were never perſecuted by the Heathens, their fury being only poured out upon the Chriſtians. Nor could it probably be otherwiſe, ſeeing they made the Doctrine of the Croſs no part of their Religion; but held it lawful (e) to deny the Faith in Times of Perſecution, to avoid ſuffering for it, and counting Idolatry, in ſuch Caſes, a thing indifferent; whence, ſaith Origen, they were never perſecuted at all.

f Ver. 2. Καὶ πολλοὶ, And many ſhall follow, &c.] That the Judaizers much infeſted the Chriſtian Church, and perverted many in the Church of Corinth, Galatia, Epheſus, and Crete, we learn from St. Paul's Epiſtles; and that by reaſon of the Jewiſh Zealots, who deſpiſed Dominions, and ſpake evil of Dignities, the way of Truth was evil ſpoken of, from 1 Pet. 2. 12. Indeed, the Heathens ſeem to have made little or no diſtinction betwixt the Jews, and the Chriſtians that ſprang from them; but imputed all the Diſturbances they made, to Chriſt, or to the Chriſtians. Hence (f) Suetonius ſaith of Claudius, That Judæos impulſore Chriſto aſſiduè tumultuantes Româ expulit; "He expell'd the "Jews from Rome, as being frequently "tumultuous, through the Inſtigation of "Chriſt." Of the Nicolaitans, (g) Epiphanius ſaith, That great was the Deceit which they brought upon Mankind. And (h) Clemens Alexandrinus profeſſeth to write againſt them, and the Gnoſticks, to remove the Scandal which they, by their Doctrines, might bring upon Chriſtianity: As (i) Juſtin Martyr alſo hints. Yea, Clemens adds, That from theſe Men, who taught, (k) That Women ſhould be Common, aroſe the greateſt Blaſphemy againſt the Name of Chriſt, or Chriſtians.

Moreover, it is to be noted, That inſtead of ἀπωλείαις, many Copies read ἀσελγείαις, their Laſcivious Ways: Which Reading may be confirmed from St. Jude, who begins his Deſcription of the ſame Perſons, thus, They turn the Grace of God, εἰς ἀσέλγειαν, into Laſciviouſneſs. And this Character agrees, in ſome meaſure, to the falſe Teachers among the Jews, who taught Fornication and Uncleanneſs: See Note on 1 Cor. 6. 13. Eph. 5. 6. practiſed τὰ κρύπτα τῆς αἰσχύνης, the hidden things of ſhame, 2 Cor. 4. 2. And gloried in their ſhame, Phil. 3. 19. And whoſe Exhortation was ἐξ ἀκαθαρσίας, of Uncleanneſs, 1 Theſſ. 2. 3. And many of whoſe Followers were guilty of Uncleanneſs, Fornication, καὶ ἀσελγείας, and Laſciviouſneſs, 2 Cor. 12. 21. But this is more emphatically the Character of the Nicolaitans, and of the Gnoſticks, the Succeſſors of them: For they were, ſaith OEcumenius, περὶ μὲν δόγματος ἀσεβέστατοι, περὶ δὲ βίον ἀσελγέστατοι, moſt Ungodly in their Principles, and moſt Laſcivious in their Lives. Refert complexus, & permixtiones execrabiles, obſcœnóſque conjunctus, & quædam ex ipſis adhuc turpiora, ſaith (l) Tertullian; Yea, Things ſo exceeding filthy, that we bluſh to mention them, and therefore paſs them by. Πάνδημον Ἀφροδίτην κοινωνίαν μυστικὴν ἀναγορεύουσιν, ſaith (m) Clemens of Alexandria. Τὴν αἰσχρουργίαν ἅμα τοῖς ἄλλοις ἐπιτελεῖν τοὺς ἑαυτοῦ μαθητὰς ἐδίδαξεν, ſaith (n) Damaſcen. Hence (o) Pſeud-Ignatius ſtiles them ἀκαθάρτους Νικολαΐτας, immundiſſimos Nicolaitas, amatores libidinis; St. Auſtin, Sectam turpiſſimam: For, ſaith (p) Timotheus, οὐδεὶς τῶν ἄλλων αἱρεσιαρχῶν φαίνεται οὕτως αἴτιος πάσης βδελυκτῆς καὶ μυσερᾶς, καὶ ἀῤῥήτου πράξεως διδάσκαλος· Amongſt all the Maſters of Hereſy, none taught ſuch filthy and abominable Actions.

Ver. 3. Ἐν πλεονεξίᾳ, Through Covetouſneſs.] g If πλεονεξία ſhould here, and v. 14. ſignify Adultery, as 1 Theſſ. 4. 6. it ſeems to do: See Note there; and as Dr. Hammond thinks it doth here, there will be no difficulty in applying this to the Nicolaitans, as well as to the Gnosticks, and falſe Teachers among the Jews; the Note on the 2d Verſe ſhewing, that this emphatically belonged to them, and gave the Riſe to that impure Sect. But becauſe they are accuſed, v. 15. of following the way of Balaam, who loved the Wages of Unrighteouſneſs; and by St. Jude, v. 11. of running greedily after the Error of Balaam for Reward; I think it better to admit of that ſenſe which our Tranſlation giveth of the word, and then to apply it at once to the falſe Teachers among the Jews, and to the Nicolaitans: It ſeems highly probable, from the 6th, the 8th, and the 10th Chapters of the Firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians, that the Apoſtle is there diſcourſing againſt the Nicolaitans. Now of theſe falſe Teachers he ſaid, That they devoured the Corinthians, 2 Cor. 11. 20. St. Paul, in his Second Epiſtle to Timothy, chap. 3. 6. ſpeaks of a ſort of Men who crept into Houſes, leading captive ſilly Women laden with Sins, and led away with divers Luſts; a Character which perfectly agrees to the Nicolaitans: And ſpeaking to Titus of the ſame Perſons, he ſaith, chap. 1. 10, 11. They ſubverted whole Houſes, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's ſake. (q) Irenæus informs us of the Valentinians, That they would not impart their Myſteries to all, but to them only who were able to pay great Sums for them. Whenee the (r) Pſeud-Ignatius ſtiles them, Covetous of what belongs to others, and violent Lovers of Riches.

h Ibid. Οἷς τὸ κρίμα ἔκπαλαι οὐκ ἀργεῖ, Whoſe Judgment now of a long time lingereth not.] St. Jude, in the parallel Place, v. 4. ſaying, they were Men, οἱ πάλαι προγεγραμμένοι εἰς τοῦτο τὸ κρίμα, of old aſſigned to this condemnation, viz. by the Prophecy of Enoch; See the Note there: I think theſe words may be beſt render'd thus, To whom the Judgment pronounced of old lingereth not, it being a ſwift Deſtruction which the falſe Teachers among the Jews, and the Nicolaitans, brought upon themſelves: See Note on v. 1. of this Chapter. Note alſo, That their Damnation is, in the Greek, their Deſtruction.

Ver. 4. Ταρταρώσας, Caſting them down to Hell.] Tartarus, ſaith Phavorinus, is ἀὴρ ὑπόγαιος, καὶ ἀνήλιος, the ſubterreſtrial Air, where the Sun comes not. It ſignifies alſo, ſaith Suidas, τὸν περὶ τὰ νέφη τόπον, the Place in the Clouds, or in the Air: Hence τάρταρον ἠερόεντα, and ζόφον ἠερόεντα, in Homer, to intimate that Tartarus was the dark Air; as Crates, in Stephanus ſaith, Ὁ ᾅδης ὑπόγειος ἐστὶ τόπος σκοτεινὸς, Hades is a dark Place under the Earth; ſaith Porphyry, where Souls are tormented, ἐν ἀπεριφνεῖ σκότῳ, in utter Darkneſs. Apud Stob. Eccl. Ph. p. 133. Theſe Angels being therefore placed in the bright Regions of the Heavenly Light, and being now confined to the dark Air, (whence Satan is called the Prince of the Power of the Air) are ſaid to be caſt down into Tartarus. And this ſuits with the Opinion both of the Heathens and the Jews, who held, That the Air was full of Spirits, or Dæmons; (See Note on Eph. 2. 2.) but chiefly of the Ancient Fathers, according to thoſe words of Jerom, In his Comment on that Paſſage of St. Paul, againſt Spiritual Wickedneſs, ἐν τοῖς ἐπουρανίοις, in Cœleſtibus; that is, ſaith he, in the Air: (ſ) For this is the Opinion of all the Doctors, That the Air, which divides between the Earth and Heaven, is full of contrary Powers. He is ſtiled, The Prince of the Power of the Air, ſaith (t) OEcumenius, becauſe he is the Prince of the Evil Spirits that are in the Air; not as having Dominion, ſaith Theophylact, but only his Habitation there. That this was the Opinion of moſt of the Ancients, ſee Petavius de Angelis, l. 3. c. 4. Now hence it follows, That though the Devil and his Angels are at preſent for ever baniſhed from the Divine Preſence, and ſo do ſuffer the Puniſhment of Loſs now of the Beatifick Viſion; though they are, in the Language of Tertullian, Prædamnati ad Judicii diem, Condemned before-hand to the Tremendous Day; Prædeſtinati ſupplicio ſempiterno, Fore-ordained to Eternal Puniſhment, ſaith St. Auſtin; Reſervati in diem Judicii, Reſerved to the Day of Judgment, ſaith Origen, and St. Peter here; or kept in Chains of Darkneſs to that Day, ſaith St. Jude; and knowing and believing this, they cannot chuſe but tremble, and be filled with preſent Horror: Yet is the Doctrine of (u) Rupertus highly probable, That at preſent they are not ſuffering in the Infernal Flames, but have their Reſidence in the dark Air; whence, at the Day of Judgment, they ſhall be precipitated into the Fire prepared for the Devil and his Angels.

1. Becauſe this ſeems to have been the Opinion of all Antiquity, for five whole Centuries together, as appears not only from their Common Doctrine, mention'd before, That they at preſent had their Habitation in the Air, but alſo from their expreſs words, who ſpake ſtill in the future, of their Infernal Puniſhments, ſaying; as (x) Juſtin Mart. That they ſhall be puniſhed with Eternal Fire; for that they are now baniſhed by the Name of Jeſus, is an Indication of their future Puniſhment in Everlaſting Fire. This he confeſſeth, μηδέπω τοῦτο πρᾶξαι τὸν Θεόν, that God hath not yet done; but yet he ſaith, (y) Chriſt hath foretold, That he and his Angels ſhall be caſt into the Fire, and everlaſtingly tormented there. And (z) Tatianus ſaith of them, The Lord of all Things ſuffers them to expatiate, or inſult, till the Time of the Diſſolution of the World, and till the Judge comes. (a) Tertullian ſaith, That their deſperate Condition, on the account of their being condemned before, receives ſome Comfort from the Delay of their Puniſhment. (b) Minucius Felix ſaith, That he fore knowing, trembles at the Puniſhment appointed for him, and thoſe that worſhip him. (c) Lactantius, That at the Time of Judgment, this Prince, with his Miniſters, will be laid hold on, and condemned to Puniſhment.

2dly, This muſt be the Doctrine of thoſe Fathers, who held, That the Devil knew not that he ſhould be certainly condemned, till our Lord's Advent, and therefore durſt not before blaſpheme God; which was the Doctrine of (d) Juſtin Mart. (e) Irenæus, Euſebius, and (f) Epiphanius; or, as (g) OEcumenius interprets them, He did not know it manifeſtly, as being only obſcurely hinted by the Prophets; but when Chriſt coming, declared manifeſtly, That Everlaſting Fire was prepared for him and his Angels, he ceaſed not to practiſe his Wiles againſt his Saints. And this Doctrine they founded on the following Scriptures, viz.

1. That Queſtion which theſe Devils put to Chriſt, Art thou come to torment us before the time? Concluding hence, That not this preſent Age, but the future, was the Time when theſe Evil Spirits were to be puniſhed; as (h) Origen ſaith twice. They thought, ſaith Saint Jerom, Ad judicandos ſe veniſſe, That Chriſt was to come to judge them: ſaith Chryſoſtom, Οὐκ ἀνέμεινεν τὸν καιρὸν τῆς κολάσεως, That he would not ſtay till the Time of Puniſhment, i. e. the Day of Judgment. Hence Maldonate, upon the Place, admires at the great Conſent of the Ancients in this Opinion.

This, 2dly, They gathered from thoſe Words of Chriſt, Depart, ye Wicked, into the Fire prepared for the Devil and his Angels. Whence they concluded, with (i) St. Bernard, That the Sentence againſt them was determined, but was not yet paſs'd upon them; and that, Jam Diabolo ignis paratus, etſi nondum ille præcipitatus in ignem, The Fire was indeed prepared for the Devil, but he was not yet caſt into it; concluding, that was only to be done, (k) at the End of the World, at the Day of the Great Judgment, or in the World to come.

But 3dly, This they chiefly concluded from theſe Words of (l) St. Peter, and St Jude,

That they were reſerved unto the Day of Judgment, to be puniſhed. Nor is it eaſie to conceive a more natural Conſequence than this; They are reſerved unto the Day of Judgment to be puniſhed, therefore they are not yet puniſhed with the Fire prepared for the Devil and his Angels.

And laſtly, This they gathered from the Revelations of St. John, who often ſaith, (m) That the Old Serpent the Devil ſhall be caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, at the Day of Judgment: To which the frequent Sayings of St. Auſtin do refer.

Since then, To torment the Devils at our Saviour's Advent, was, To torment them before the time of Torment; ſeeing our Saviour when he ſhall paſs the final Sentence, will only amand the Wicked to the Fire prepared for, not actually tormenting then, the Devil and his Angels; ſeeing they only are reſerved in Chains of Darkneſs, to the Day of Judgment, to be puniſhed: And ſo the Sentence, and the Execution of it, is no more paſſed upon them, than upon the Priſoner that's kept in Chains for the Aſſizes. Seeing the Devil is only ſaid to be then (n) caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone, when the Judge ſat upon the Throne, and all Men were judged according to their Works; there ſeems ſufficient reaſon to aſſert, that even the Devils ſhall not be tormented in the Infernal Flames, until the Day of Judgment: And if not they, then much leſs Wicked Men.

k Ver. 5. οὐκ ἐφείσατο, And ſpared not the Old World.] This Inſtance agrees very exactly to thoſe Nicolaitans and Gnoſticks, who had corrupted their Ways; as they of the Old World did, by taking to them what Women they pleaſed to enjoy, as far as appears, without any Solemnity of Matrimony, Gen. 6. 2, 4. for it is only ſaid, That the Sons of God went in unto the Daughters of Men: Hence are theſe Giants ſaid to be, οἱ ἐπιπίπτοντες οἱ βίαιοι, Violent Men, who, by Force, invaded them: And alſo by Idolatry. See Ainſworth on Gen. 4. 26.

Ibid. Ὄγδοον, The Eighth Perſon,] One would think, from Adam; whereas indeed he rather was the Tenth from Adam, Gen. 5. and ſo it is the Eighth of them that were ſaved from the Deluge, 1 Pet. 3. 8. So Plutarch ſaith of Pelopidas, That he came, εἰς οἰκίαν δωδέκατος, unto his Houſe, with eleven more: And Polybius of Dioneſidorus, That, τρίτος ἀπενήξατο, he ſwam out with two more: ſo here, Noah was ſaved, with ſeven Perſons; ſo celebrated in Hiſtory, that the Hill where the Ark reſted, is call'd, The Hill of the Eighth, or Themanim; and a Village by it bears the ſame Name. See Dr. Hammond on the Place.

Ver. 9. οἶδε, The Lord knoweth.] God's n
Knowledge here includes his Power, and his Will: So, Pſalm 1. Whatſoever the Righteous doth, it ſhall proſper; for the Lord knoweth the way of the Righteous, v. 6. i. e. he is able and willing to make it proſper, Matth. 6. 31. Take no thought what you ſhall eat or drink, or wherewithal ye ſhall be cloathed; for your Heavenly Father knoweth you have need of all theſe things, v. 32.

Ibid. Εἰς ἡμέραν κρίσεως, To the Day of Judg- n
ment, to be puniſhed.] Note, That this is ſignally the Time when the Ungodly ſhall be puniſhed: 2dly, That the Evils which wicked Men ſuffer in this Life, will not exempt them from future Puniſhments in the World to come; even Sodom and Gomorrha muſt then ſuffer, Matth. 10. 15. and 11. 22.

Ibid. Καὶ κυριότητος καταφρονοῦντας, And p deſpiſe Government.] The Note of Eſthius on the Place is this; That we read not in Church-Hiſtory, that the Gnoſticks deſpiſed Governments, but rather flatter'd them. What Dr. Hammond ſaith, of their teaching Chriſtians to deſpiſe all Authority of Magiſtrates, or Maſters, is not proved by him; for he attempts not to prove, that they were κυριότητος καταφρονοῦντες, Deſpiſers of Government: And his Attempt to prove, that they taught Chriſtian Servants to deſpiſe their Maſters, from 1 Tim. 6. 2. hath been conſidered already. Nor do I find any thing of this nature charged upon the Nicolaitans. But then it may be noted, that κυριότητες καὶ δόξαι, Dominions, and Glories, in the New Teſtament, doth often ſignifie, the Angelical Powers; as when Chriſt is ſaid to be exalted, ὑπεράνω πάσης κυριότητος, above all Dominion, Epheſ. 1. 21. and when κυριότητες are mention'd among the Inviſible things of the Creation, Coloſ. 1. 16. Accordingly ſome of the (o) Fathers refer this to the Angelical Powers; and this they do, with great Probability: For, (1.) The Apoſtle Peter here aſſerts, That they blaſphemed, ἐν οἷς ἀγνοοῦσι, in things of which they had no knowledge: St. Jude, That they blaſphemed things that they knew not; which very well agrees with their bold Aſſertions touching the Angels; in which they did, as St. Paul ſaith, ἃ μὴ ἑώρακαν ἐμβατεύειν, intrude into theſe things they had not ſeen, Coloſ. 2. 18. but cannot ſo well be applied to Civil Dignities, of which theſe Hereticks muſt have ſufficient knowledge. (2.) The Apoſtle adds, That whereas theſe Men did not tremble to blaſpheme theſe Dignities, the Holy Angels, οὐ φέρουσι κατ' αὐτῶν βλάσφημον κρίσιν, durſt not uſe Railing, or Blaſphemous Words againſt them. Now they whom Michael, and his Good Angels, durſt not blaſpheme, were, ſaith St. Jude, the Devil and his Angels, who were in Scripture ſtiled the Principalities, and Powers, and Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, Eph. 6. 12. And therefore they whom theſe Hereticks blaſphemed, muſt alſo be Angelical Dignities.

But againſt this it is objected, That we read not in Church-Hiſtory, that the Hereſy of the Gnoſticks had any thing in it of particular Oppoſition or Defiance to the Angels; but on the contrary, the Æones, noting the Angels, make up a great part of their Divinity. Anſw. This ſeems a great Miſtake; for both (p) Irenæus and (q) Epiphanius averr, That when they practiſed their moſt vile Impurities, they invoked ſome of the Angels, to whom they did aſcribe that Work, ſaying, when they performed it, Ὁ δεῖνα Ἄγγελε, καταχρῶμαί σου τὸ ἔργον, ἡ δεῖνα ἐξουσία, σου τὴν πρᾶξιν, O Angel, I am doing thy Work, I am employ'd in thy Service, which ſure muſt be, to blaſpheme theſe Dignities.

Moreover, it is evident, That the Nicolaitans did alſo horribly blaſpheme them. For, (1.) They made the Angels to be the Off-ſpring of an obſcene and filthy Æon, as both (r) Tertullian and (ſ) Epiphanius inform us. (2.) They add, That the (t) Mother appears in a beautiful Form to Princes, and extracts their Seed from them with Pleaſure, that ſhe may recollect her Power, or Virtue, diſpers'd among many: And from this Hypotheſis, ſaith (u) Epiphanius, Nicolas brought the Myſtery of his Filthineſs into the World: They doing all their Villanies, I ſuppoſe in Imitation of her.

Ver. 12. This Verſe, in St. Jude, runs thus; But theſe ſpeak evil of the things they know not; but what they know naturally, as Brute-Beaſts, in theſe things they corrupt themſelves, v. 10. And therefore to make this Verſe parallel to it, it ſeems neceſſary to make the Conſtruction run thus; οὗτοι δὲ, But theſe Blaſphemers of Dignities, ἐν οἷς ἀγνοοῦσι βλασφημοῦντες, blaſpheming in Things of which they have no knowledge, ſhall periſh in their own Corruption; as do the Natural Brute-Beaſts, made to be taken, and deſtroy'd; to whom they are, in this Practice, of making all Women common alike; and whoſe Example they plead, in favour of their common Whoredoms (x): Eſpecially the Followers of (y) Carpocrates, and his Son Epiphanes, making the Marriage of one, a Violation of the Community ordained by God, and exemplified in other Living Creatures.

Ver. 13. Τὴν ἐν ἡμέρᾳ τρυφήν, Riot in the Day.] This is exactly true of the Nicolaitans (z), who practiſed their Impurities Day and Night; and held, That if a Man were not Laſcivious every Day, he could not be ſaved.

Ibid. Sporting themſelves in their own Deceits:] I. e. In thoſe Practices which were the Effects of their deceitful Principles. So that there ſeems no need of reading ἀγάπαις, their Love Feaſts; for they were the Feaſts of the Church, not of the Hereticks.

Ibid. Συνευωχούμενοι, When they feaſt with you.] Of theſe Feaſts, ſee Note on Jude, v. 12. And alſo Irenæus's Saying of Marcus, and other Hereticks, That εἰώθασιν ἐπὶ τοῖς δείπνοις τοῦ κλήρου οὗτοι πάντοτε παίζειν, they are always accuſtomed, in thoſe Suppers which they make, by Lot to play; or, as the Latin hath it, Sortibus ludere, to play by Lot: I ſuppoſe, what Women they ſhould commit Lewdneſs with, or who ſhould provide the Supper; which being ended, there followed, as (a) Juſtin Martyr hints, the putting out of the Candle, and their promiſcuous Luſts: He ſpeaking thus of the Marcionites ; and (b) Clemens Alexandrinus, of the Carpocratians.

x Ver. 15. This in St. Jude runs thus ; Πλάνῃ τοῦ Βαλαὰμ μισθοῦ ἐξεχύθησαν, They ran forth into the Error of the Reward of Balaam, i. e. the Error which the Children of Iſrael committed, through the Counſel which Balaam gave to Balak. To explain this, let it be noted ;

1ſt, That Balaam not only went with the Princes of Balak, but alſo had the Reward of his Divination ; for 'tis expreſly ſaid, Deut. 23. 4. Nehem. 13. 2. That the Ammonites and Moabites hired Balaam. Note, 2dly, That Balaam, for his Reward, gave Counſel to Balak, to entice the Children of Iſrael to Idolatry and Fornication: This is hinted in thoſe words, Come therefore, I will advertiſe thee, Numb. 24. 14. i. e. what to do to this People now, and what they will do to thee in the latter days; ſo the Chaldee Paraphraſt upon the Place : I will counſel thee what thou ſhalt do to this People, that thou mayſt make them to ſin ; ſo the Jeruſalem Targum. This Counſel, ſaith Joſephus, was, that Balaam told Balak, upon his Departure, that the only way to prevail upon this People, would be to draw them into ſin ; and to that purpoſe he counſell'd him to tempt them with their Beautiful Women : Theſe were firſt to entice the Iſraelites with their Beauty, and compliant Converſation, and when they had entangled their Affections, they were to conſent to their Embraces, upon Condition that the Iſraelites would forſake their own Law, and worſhip the God of the Moabites, Joſeph. Antiq. l. 4. c. 6. Note, 3dly, That this Counſel made them err in the matter of Peor; and ſo not only to commit Fornication with the Women of Midian, 1 Cor. 10. 8. but alſo to commit Idolatry. Now this Baal-Peor, ſaith St. Jerom, and other Criticks, was Priapus, who was worſhipped, by ſhewing of their Shame; to which theſe Words of the Prophet Hoſea may refer, They ſet up Altars to Baal-Peor, and ſeparated themſelves to that Shame, chap. 9. 10. And thoſe of Jeremiah, You have ſet up Altars to Shame, even Altars to burn Incenſe to Baal, Jer. 11. 13. And then, as ἐξεχύθησαν, they were diſperſed, or ran about after the Midianitiſh Women, anſwers to the Practice of thoſe Men who crept into Houſes, leading captive ſilly Women; ſo the Matter of Baal-Peor, anſwers exactly to the execrable Villanies theſe Men committed cum Membris Pudoris.

Moreover, this Paſſage ſeems to confirm that Expoſition, which refers what is here ſpoken, to the Nicolaitans. For St. John ſpeaks thus to the Church of Pergamus, I have a few things againſt thee, becauſe thou haſt there them that hold the Doctrine of Balaam ; who as he taught Balak to caſt a Stumbling-Block before the Children of Iſrael, to eat things ſacrificed to Idols, and to commit Fornication ; ſo haſt thou alſo them that hold the Doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which I hate. Now the Church-Hiſtory informs us, this was the Doctrine of the Nicolaitans, that (c) it was lawful to eat things offered to Idols, and to commit Fornication, as Irenæus, St. Auſtin, and others teach.

Ver. 16. The Prophet.] That Balaam was y indeed a Prophet of God, and well acquainted with his Revelations, the Hiſtory in the Book of Numbers will not ſuffer us to doubt ; for thoſe words, I cannot go beyond the Commandment of my God, to do good or evil, Numb. 22. 18. ſhew he was not unacquainted with the True God. See alſo, chap. 24. 4. Tho' after, through a covetous deſire of Gain, he uſed Enchantments ; the madneſs of the Prophet appeared in this, that hearing the Aſs ſpeak, which argued the miraculous Aſſiſtance of God enabling him ſo to do, he goes on in his mad Fury, and ſaith, He would kill him.

Ibid. Τὴν τοῦ προφήτου παραφρονίαν, The Madneſs of the Prophet.] The Jeruſalem Targum, and Ben Uziel on Numb. 22. 30. introduce the Aſs ſpeaking thus to Balaam, Wo to thee, Balaam, that art cheſer deyetta, mente captus, i. e. Mad.

Ver. 18. bb Ver. 20. From v. 18, 20, 21. it ſeemeth to be ſtrongly argued, That they who were once truly faithful, may totally and finally fall away. For, 1ſt, That the Perſons here mentioned were once truly faithful, ſeems evident from this, 1ſt, That they had once ὄντως, truly, and entirely eſcaped from them that live in Error, v. 18. Being not then entangled with, nor overcome by the Pollutions which are in the World, through Luſt, but having eſcaped them through the knowledge of Chriſt Jeſus: That they turned from the holy Commandment in which they formerly had walked: That they were once waſhed from that mire to which they returned, v. 22. All which cannot be truly ſaid of Hypocritical Profeſſors, who were ſtill in the Gall of Bitterneſs, and the Bond of Iniquity.

That theſe Men after fell away totally and finally, we learn from theſe Expreſſions, That they were again allured to Wantonneſs; That they were again entangled, and overcome by the Pollutions which were in the World through Luſt, and therefore brought in Bondage: That they turned from the holy Commandment delivered to them; yea, with the Dog to the Vomit, and the waſh'd Sow, to the wallowing in the Mire: And this ſo far, as that it had been better for them, not to have known the way of Righteouſneſs.

Ver. 22. ## CHAP. III.

Verſe 1. THE Second Epiſtle, Beloved, I now write unto you; in [both] a which I ſtir up your [a] pure Minds, by way of remembrance:

b 2. [b] That ye may be mindful of the words which were ſpoken before by the holy Prophets [of the Old Teſtament, Enoch, (Jude, v. 14.) and Daniel, chap. 12. 2. touching the Judgment of ungodly Men,] and of the Commandment of us the Apoſtles of our Lord and Saviour, [or, of the Commandment of the Apoſtles of our Lord and Saviour, as St. Jude, v. 17. that is, to expect patiently, and with unſhaken Faith, that Day, Heb. 10. 23, 35, 39. James 1. 6. and 5. 7, 11. 1 Pet. 1. 13. and 4. 1.]

3. Knowing this firſt, that [according to their Predictions,] there ſhall come in the c laſt days [c] Scoffers, walking after their own Luſts;

4. And ſaying, Where is the Promiſe of his Coming [to judge the World, and raiſe his
d faithful Servants from the Dead?] for [d] ſince the Fathers, [to whom theſe Promiſes were made,] fell aſleep, all things continue as [they were] from the beginning of the Creation.

e 5. For this they willingly are [e] ignorant of, [Gr. They that are of this mind, are ignorant,] that by the Word of God the Heavens were of old, and the Earth ſtanding out of the Water, [viz. Dry Land,] and in the Water, [viz. that part of it which is covered with the Sea.]

6. Whereby the World that then was, being overflowed with Water, periſhed.

7. But the Heavens and Earth which now are by the ſame Word are kept in ſtore, f [being] reſerved unto Fire, againſt [f] the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of Ungodly Men, [who, as the Antediluvians have been puniſhed by Water deſtroying the World then, ſhall be puniſhed with Fire deſtroying it again.]

8. But [for further Anſwer to this Queſtion,] Beloved, Be not ignorant of this one thing, g that one Day is with the Lord as a [g] thouſand Years, and a thouſand Years as one Day.

9. The Lord is not ſlack concerning his Promiſe, as ſome Men count ſlackneſs; [concluding thence, that he hath changed his Purpoſe, or will not perform it,] but is [in this] longh ſuffering to us-ward; [h] not [being] willing that any ſhould periſh, but that all ſhould come to repentance.

10. But [though it be thus deferred for a time, yet] the Day of the Lord will come as a thief in the Night, [i. e. ſuddenly and unexpectedly to them, Luke 21. 34. 1 Theſ. 5. 2. 3.] in the which the Heavens ſhall paſs away with a great Noiſe, and the Elements ſhall melt with fervent Heat; the Earth alſo, and the Works that are therein, ſhall be burnt up.

11. Seeing then that all theſe things ſhall be diſſolved, [by Fire deſigned to puniſh the Ungodly,] what manner of Perſons ought ye to be in all holy Converſation and Godlineſs?

12. Looking for, and haſting to [prepare for] the Coming of the Day of God, wherein the Heavens being on fire, ſhall be diſ-ſolved, and the Elements [i] ſhall melt with i fervent Heat.

13. Nevertheleſs, according to his Promiſe, we look for [καινοὺς δὲ οὐρανοὺς προσδοκῶμεν, we alſo do expect] [k] New Heavens, and a k New Earth, [l] in which dwelleth Righteouſ- l neſs.

14. Wherefore, Beloved, ſeeing that [m] ye m look for ſuch things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without ſpot, and blameleſs.

15. And account that the Long ſuffering of our Lord is [deſigned for the] Salvation [of you Jews;] even as our beloved Brother Paul alſo, according to the [Spirit of] Wiſdom given unto him, hath written unto you, [in theſe words, Rom. 2. 4. Deſpiſeſt thou the Riches of his Goodneſs and Long ſuffering, not knowing that the Goodneſs of God leadeth thee to Repentance? And more eſpecially in theſe, and ſo all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved, &c. Rom. 11. 26. For God hath concluded them all in Unbelief, that he might have Mercy upon all, v. 32: See the Preface to the Epiſtle to the Hebrews.]

16. [n] As alſo in all his Epiſtles, ſpeaking n in them of theſe things; [o] in which are o ſome things hard to be underſtood, which they that are unlearned, and unſtable, wreſt, as they do alſo the other Scriptures, to their own Deſtruction.

17. Ye therefore, Beloved, ſeeing ye know theſe things before, beware leſt ye alſo being led away with the Error of the [ſe] wicked [Scoffers,] fall from your own Stedfaſtneſs.

18. But [rather] [p] grow in Grace, and in p the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt: To him be Glory, both now and for ever. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Verſe 1. ΤΗ'Ν εἰλικρινῆ διάνοιαν ὑμῶν, Your ſincere Minds.] A ſincere deſire to know, and regard to the Truth, being once ſeated in the Mind and Heart, we ſhall readily embrace and firmly ſtand in the Truth delivered to us, b Ver. 2. That theſe Words ſhould relate to that notable Deſtruction of the Unbelieving Jews, foretold by Chriſt, ſeems not very probable; ſince the Believers are inſtructed to be mindful of theſe Commands, that they might be armed againſt the Scoffers, mention'd, v. 3. who ſaid, Where is the Promiſe of his Coming? Now that the Thing queſtioned by them, was, not our Lord's Coming to the Deſtruction of the Jews, but to the Judgment of the World, is evident; it being ſtiled emphatically, ἡμέρα κρίσεως, the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of Ungodly Men, v. 7, 10, 11, 12.

c Ver. 3. Since both St. Peter, and, as St. Jude tells us, the reſt of the Apoſtles were ſo careful to mind thoſe to whom they writ, or preached, of theſe Scoffers, we may conjecture that theſe Scoffers were then come; tho', in reſpect of the Prophecies concerning them, they were yet to come: Whence Jude ſaith of them, Theſe are they that ſeparate themſelves, &c. v. 8, 9.

Ibid. Ἐμπαῖκται, Scoffers.] St. Jude ſeems to teach us, That theſe Scoffers were the Hereticks mention'd in the former Chapter, viz. the Simonians, who being Samaritans, held ſtill their (a) old Hereſy, that there ſhould be no Reſurrection of the Fleſh; and therefore walked after their own Luſts: For theſe of whom (ſaith he) I have treated, and am ſpeaking, are they of whom the Apoſtles did forewarn you, v. 17, 18.

d Ver. 4. Ἀφ' ἧς, viz. ἡμέρας.] For from the Day that the Fathers, to whom this Promiſe of a Reſurrection, and an Heavenly Country, Heb. 11. 16. is ſuppoſed to be made, and who foretold this Judgment to come upon the Wicked, Jude 14. have ſlept, we ſee no ſuch thing verified to them; nothing anſwering their Predictions, but all Things continue as they were. That Ἀφ' ἧς, ſhould ſignifie, except that, I find no Inſtance or Example.

e Ver. 5. λανθάνει γὰρ αὐτοὺς.] That is, They conſider not God's Power in Making the World; which muſt enable him alſo to Deſtroy it, if he pleaſe; and that by his Word the Earth was ſeparated from the Waters which cover'd it, and gather'd into its Channels, ſo that the dry Land, which we call Earth, appeared; and that by theſe very Waters, deſcending partly from the Heavens, and partly from the Great Deep, Gen. 7. 11. the Earth was again overwhelmed, for the Sin of the Antediluvians, (eight Perſons being only preſerved,) ſo that thoſe wicked Men which then lived, periſhed in their Wickedneſs; and ſo the Prophecy of Enoch was remarkably fulfill'd upon them.

Ver. 7. Εἰς ἡμέραν κρίσεως, To the day of Judgment.] From theſe Words it ſeems to follow, f (1.) That the day of Judgment and Perdition of ungodly Men, and the Conflagration of the World, muſt be contemporary; and that therefore New Heavens and New Earth, in the literal ſenſe, muſt vainly be expected before the final Judgment of ungodly Men. (2dly,) That the ungodly are not to be judged, or puniſhed by Fire, before the Conflagration of the World: For the Heaven and Earth that now are, are to be burnt up with that very Fire by which the ungodly are to be deſtroyed, they being left in the midſt of thoſe Flames, whilſt the godly, being ſnatch'd up into the Air above the reach of them, ſhall be for ever with the Lord, 1 Theſ. 4. 16. For the wicked are reſerved unto the day of Judgment to be puniſhed, 2 Pet. 2. 9. That Fire in which they are to be tormented and deſtroyed, is reſerved unto the ſame day, Matth. 25. 41, 46. The fallen Angels, for whom the Fire is prepared, in which the Wicked ſhall be puniſhed, are reſerved to that day, 2 Pet. 2. 4. Jude 6. And laſtly, Sodom and Gomorrah, who periſhed by Fire and Brimſtone, are ſet forth ὡς δεῖγμα, as an Example of that Puniſhment the Wicked ſhall ſuffer at that great day of Retribution, 2 Pet. 2. 5. Jude 7. they are not therefore to be caſt into the Lake of Fire and Brimſtone before that day. Moreover, that the World was to be diſſolved by Fire, was the Opinion of Anaximander, Anaxiphanes, Anaxagoras, Archelaus, Diogenes, and Leucippus. Apud Stob. Eclog. Phyſ. p. 44.

Ver. 8. χίλια ἔτη, A thouſand Years.] That g is, Though God defer his Coming to this Judgment a thouſand Years or more, we muſt not think this long; for in reſpect of him whoſe Duration is eternal, and ſo who ever lives to make good his Promiſes and Threats, a thouſand years are as one day. In like manner (b) Zoſimus, in his Hiſtory, produces a Prediction from the Sibyls, or from one Phaellon, and then adds, Let none think that this Prophecy was of ſome other thing, becauſe it was fulfilled, μετὰ χρόνους οὐκ ὀλίγους, a long time after, πᾶς γὰρ χρόνος τῷ Θεῷ βραχὺς ἀεὶ τε ὄντι, καὶ ἐσομένῳ, for all time is ſhort to that God who ever is, and ever will be. Mr. Mede indeed ſaith, that theſe Words cannot be thus interpreted, becauſe the Queſtion is not, whether the time in which they expected the Coming of the Lord, were long in reſpect of God, but only in reſpect of us, and ſo he would have the Words interpreted thus, The Day of Judgment ſpoken of ſhall be a thouſand years. But (1.) The Text ſaith not, one day ſhall be a thouſand years, but is as a thouſand years, and that again not abſolutely, but only παρὰ Κυρίῳ, with reſpect to God. (2dly,) Here is no Queſtion mentioned touching the Length of Time, either with reſpect to God, or us, but only touching the Truth of God's Promiſe, ver. 4. And to this the Interpretation well agrees, that God's Promiſe may be true, and in his time fulfilled, though he who ever lives to make it good ſhould defer it a thouſand Years. And (3dly.) That this reſpects God's Promiſe, and not the Length of the Day of Judgment, is evident from the enſuing Words.

h Ver. 9. Μὴ βουλόμενος τινὰς ἀπολέσθαι, Not being willing that any ſhould periſh.] Note here, that when it is ſaid, God would have all Men come to Repentance, 'tis certain that this Will refers to all to whom the preaching of the Goſpel is vouchſafed, to all to whom in the times of Ignorance God winked at, for now he commandeth them all every where to repent, Acts 17. 30. When therefore it is ſaid, he is not willing any one ſhould periſh; he muſt be ſuppoſed to mean, he would have none to whom the Goſpel is vouchſafed, to periſh. Vain therefore here are the Deſcants of Eſtius upon this place, as V. G.

1ſt, When he ſays, God would have none to periſh, becauſe he gives to all ſome general means of Converſion to God, though they be not ſufficient for that end without thoſe ſpecial Aids he will not give them. For certain it is, that he who wills not the means neceſſary to bring them to Repentance, wills not that they ſhould come to Repentance. And he that determines to with-hold the Means, which being with-held they muſt periſh, wills they ſhould periſh.

2dly, When he reſtrains this to the Elect, ſaying, God is not willing any of them ſhould periſh; for the Words are too general to admit of this Reſtriction, for they run thus. 1ſt, He would have all to come to Repentance; he would not that any ſhould periſh. 2dly, He is here ſpeaking of the day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men, and gives this Reaſon why it is deferred, viz. becauſe God is long ſuffering, and would not any Man ſhould periſh. He therefore muſt in Reaſon be ſuppoſed to ſpeak of God's Long ſuffering in the general.

3dly, When he adds, He would not any Man ſhould periſh, becauſe he excites good Men to pray they may repent, and ſo not periſh. For if this Prayer be according to the Will of God then muſt it alſo be his Will they ſhould not periſh; If it be not, they cannot thus pray in Faith or with expectance to be heard, becauſe they know, according to his Doctrine, they do not pray according to his Will: Nor can God excite them thus to pray.

Ver. 12. Προσδοκῶντας καὶ σπεύδοντας τὴν παρουσίαν, and haſtening to the Coming.] Though πρὸς here may be taken from the foregoing Words, yet σπεύδω hath ſometimes an accuſative Caſe like this without it. As when Thucydides ſaith, σπεύδω τὴν ἡγεμονίαν, I haſten to the Government; and * Pindar μὴ βίον ἀθάνατον σπεῦδε, i. e. ἐπὶ βίον ἀθάνατον.

Ibid. Στοιχεῖα δὲ καυσούμενα, And the Elements being burnt, ſhall be diſſolved.] i That the Elements cannot be here taken in the common ſenſe, Mr. Mede proves well, becauſe one of them is that Fire which ſhall conſume theſe Elements; but, that they ſignify the Planets, he proves from the Teſtimonies of (c) Juſtin Martyr, (d) Theophilus of Antioch, of (e) Polycrates, and other Ancient Fathers. So ἐνέργεια στοιχείων is the Influence of the Stars, Wiſd. 7. 18. and στοιχεῖα ἐπουράνια, the Cœleſtial Signs or Conſtellations, as Valeſius proves (in his Notes upon theſe Words of (f) Polycrates Biſhop of Epheſus, κατὰ τὴν Ἀσίαν μεγάλα στοιχεῖα κεκοίμηνται, in Aſia great Lights are extinct,) out of Diogenes Laertius and Epiphanius; and ſince the Planetary Bodies are found to be as much Earth as that we tread on, and borrow all their Light from the Irradiations of the Sun; I think there is no need of thoſe Criticiſms which turn παρελεύσονται, they ſhall paſs away, into they ſhall be changed, and καυσούμενα λυθήσονται, they ſhall be diſſolved being burnt, into they ſhall be refined ; whereas if they be refined as Silver is by Fire, they muſt be diſſolved as that is. Nor ſee I any Reaſon why we ſhould prefer either an unuſual, or Metaphorical, before the proper Import of theſe Words.

Ver. 13. Καινοὺς οὐρανοὺς, New Heavens and new Earth ] That this cannot refer to the Millennium, ſuppoſed to be promiſed in the Revelations of St. John, appears, not only becauſe this Epiſtle was writ before the Revelations, which, ſaith ( g ) Irenæus, were ſeen ad finem Domitiani Imperii, about the end of the Reign of Domitian, whereas St. Peter ſuffered Martyrdom in the Reign of Nero; but alſo ( 1ſt, ) Becauſe the Millennium of St. John is peculiar to the Martyrs, and thoſe who have ſuffered for the Cauſe of Chriſt ; the New Heavens and Earth here mentioned, are the common Expectation of all Chriſtians, who upon this account are admoniſhed to be found of him without Spot, and unblameable in Peace, ver. 14. ( 2dly, ) I grant that the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking of the Deſtruction, not only of the Sublunary Heavens and Earth, but alſo of the Planetary Heavens, ver. 12. by Fire: But this Conceſſion is ſo far from doing any Service to the Hypotheſis of the Millennium of St. John, that it doth perfectly deſtroy it: for this Conflagration of the World is contemporary with the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men: And by that very Fire which conſumes the World, are they to periſh. See Note on ver. 7. So doth the Scripture conſtantly expreſs the Puniſhment of the Wicked, ſaying, That at the End of the World the Angels ſhall caſt them into a Furnace of Fire, Matthew 13. 28. And that Chriſt ſhall come in flaming Fire to take Vengeance on them, 2 Theſ. 1. 7, 8. Whereas the Millennium of St. John muſt be at an end before that Day: For after he had ſpoken of the Firſt Reſurrection, and the Concluſion of the Thouſand Years, in which they were to reign who were then raiſed, and of the Inſurrection of Gog and Magog againſt them; I ſay, after the Concluſion of thoſe Years, doth he introduce one ſitting on a great white Throne, and the dead both ſmall and great ſtanding before him, and being judged out of thoſe things which were written in the Book, according to their Works, Rev. 20. 13, 14.

I alſo grant, that after the Apoſtle had ſpoken of the Conflagration of the World, he hath theſe Words, We alſo do expect New Heavens and New Earth ; but then I add, that theſe Words are not to be rendered thus; Nevertheleſs, after this violent Diſſolution of the World, we expect new Heavens and new Earth, which are to ſucceed them : But rather, as Dr. More renders them, But before this Conflagration we expect them; or rather, but beſides this Conflagration, we expect new Heavens and new Earth. As if the Apoſtle ſhould have ſaid, I hitherto have anſwered this Queſtion of theſe Scoffers, by ſhewing what ſubſtantial Mutations have been, and will be brought upon the World by the Word of the Lord, and his coming to judge his People: This alſo I think fit to add in anſwer to them, That we Chriſtians expect the Coming of our Lord to make ſuch a Moral Change in the Affairs of the Church, as will amount to the new Creation of Heaven and Earth, promiſed to the Jews, Iſa. 65. 16, 17, 18. So that theſe Scoffers have no cauſe to doubt of our Lord's Coming in behalf of his faithful Servants, ſince he will come to raiſe his Church by his calling the Jewiſh Nation to the Faith, and ſo to ſuch a glorious State.

Nor is it to be wonder'd that the Apoſtle ſhould ſpeak of theſe two Things together in anſwer to that Queſtion, Where is the Promiſe of his coming? Seeing the Jews thought them connected, expecting theſe new Heavens and new Earth at the coming of the Meſſiah, and his coming at the end of the World, according to that Queſtion of the Diſciples to our Lord, When is the time of thy coming, and of the end of the World? Matth 24. 3. In the end of the World, ſaith R. Saadiah Gaon, there ſhall be to the Jews a World full of Joy and Exultation; ſo that their Heaven and Earth ſhall be as it were new, as it is ſaid, Iſa. 65. 17. See this more fully in Mr. Mede, p. 535, 536, 537.

Ibid. Κατὰ τὸ ἐπάγγελμα αὐτοῦ, According to his Promiſe. ] This cannot relate, as I have proved, to St. John's Diſcourſe of theſe New Heavens, &c. for this farther Reaſon, That he ſpeaks of them only as in Viſion, not by way of Promiſe ; it remains therefore, that the New Heaven and New Earth promiſed by Iſaiah, be the thing here referr'd to. Now theſe New Heavens and New Earth are manifeſtly promiſed to the Jewiſh Nation, to whom alſo the Apoſtle here writes; nor can they poſſibly admit of any other Senſe, or be primarily accompliſhed upon any other People: For God having ſaid by his Prophet, Behold I create New Heavens, and a New Earth, immediately adds, Be ye ( Jews ) glad, and rejoyce for ever in what I do create ; for behold, I create Jeruſalem, a Rejoycing, and her People, a Joy ; and I will rejoyce in Jeruſalem, and joy in my People. Now ſure this New Heaven and Earth promiſed to the Jews muſt be created before the Conflagration of the World, that is, before the Jews be burnt to Aſhes, they being not like to be converted afterward. St. John indeed ſpeaks of his New Heaven and Earth, after he had mentioned the Day of Judgment; but that he doth this by a Prolepſis, is evident from this Conſideration, that after his whole Diſcourſe of theſe New Heavens and Earth, the New Jeruſalem coming down from Heaven, and of the Bride, and the Lamb's Wife, i. e. the Jews converted then to Chriſt, follow theſe Words, Behold I come quickly, and my Reward is with me, to render to every one according to his Works, chap. 22. 13. which Words contain a Repetition of what was ſaid, chap. 20. 13. to ſhew that what was mentioned there, was not to be accompliſhed till after the appearance of the New Heavens and the New Earth.

m Ver. 14. Ταῦτα προσδοκῶντες, Expecting theſe things. Theſe Words directed to the Jews then living, ſeem to prove, that in ſome inferior Senſe this Promiſe of the New Heavens, &c. was to be made good in their times. For why ſhould he exhort them to this Diligence on the Account of what ſhould only happen One thouſand ſeven hundred Years after they were dead? For he plainly ſpeaks to them to whom St Paul had written, ver. 16. and therefore to the Jews of that preſent Age.

n Ver. 16. Ὡς καὶ ἐν πάσαις ταῖς ἐπιστολαῖς, As alſo in all his Epiſtles.] I do not think it neceſſary ſo to underſtand theſe Words, as if the Apoſtle were ſaid to have ſpoken in all his Epiſtles, that the long-ſuffering of God was deſigned for their Salvation; for I do not find any thing of that nature in many of them: He ſpeaks indeed generally of Chriſt's coming to Judgment in them, but that ſeems not pertinent to the Text. I therefore give the Senſe of the Words thus; As alſo, according to the ſame Wiſdom, he hath written in all his Epiſtles, ſpeaking in them of theſe things of which I am now diſcourſing, that is, of the Day of the Lord's coming, and of the Preparation we ſhould make for it.

Ibid. Ἐν οἷς, In which.] This cannot relate to the Epiſtles of St. Paul, becauſe the Word, being of the Neuter Gender, cannot agree with ἐπιστολαὶ, Epiſtles, which is of the Feminine; but to thoſe things of which St. Peter had been diſcourſing in this Chapter, and which were ſo wreſted by the unlearned and unſtable, that ſome of them thought long before the writing of this Epiſtle, That the Day of the Lord was inſtant, 2 Theſſ. 2. 2. and ſo became unſtable in the Faith, ver. 15. Some ſaid, The Reſurrection was paſt already, and thereby overthrew the Faith of ſome, 2 Tim. 2. 18. ſome wanting Patience to expect it longer, left the Aſſemblies of Chriſtians, Heb. 10. 25. And ſome queſtioned whether this Promiſe would be made good at all, as here, ver. 4, 9. The Reſurrection of the Fleſh being by ſome thought a thing abſurd, they holding that it was (h) incapable of Salvation; and the Reſurrection of the ſame Body being by ſome looked on as a thing impoſſible; and theſe ſeem to be the δυσνόητα here mentioned.

Ver. 18. Αὐξάνετε ἐν χάριτι, Grow in Grace.] That Grace ſignifies generally in the New Teſtament, the Favour of God to us; ſee Note on 2 Cor. 6. 1.

THE PREFACE TO THE

Firſt Epiſtle General of St. JOHN.

C*Oncerning the Author of this Epiſtle, all Ages have agreed that it was* St. John, the Apoſtle of our Lord and Saviour.

As for the Time when it was written, ſome both Ancient and Modern Writers think his Epiſtles to be the laſt of his Works, and therefore to have been written in the laſt Years of Domitian. But Dr. Hammond hath very well obſerved, that this Epiſtle muſt have been written ſome time before the great Deſtruction which befel the Jews, 1. Becauſe he ſpeaks of the laſt Hour as now at hand ; which that it muſt be underſtood of the laſt Times of the Jewiſh State, ſee Note on chap. 2. 18. 2. Becauſe he ſpeaks of the Antichriſt, chap. 2. 18. and the Falſe Prophets, chap. 4. 1. which were then among them, or come into the World ; ſuch as Chriſt tells us were to be the immediate Forerunners of that Deſtruction, Matth. 24. 24. declaring that they went out from them of Judea, v. 19.

3. It being written by an Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, it is not doubted but it was written to the Jews ; but that it was an Epiſtle to the Parthians, as (a) St. Auſtin, Poſſidonius in his Index, and Idacius contra Verim. aver, as I know nothing can be ſaid againſt it, but that it only is aſſerted by Authors of a later Date ; ſo if Parthia be taken for the whole Empire, as it was enlarged by the Arſacidæ, it is a farther Proof, not only that this Epiſtle was written to the Jews, who, ſaith (b) Joſephus, abounded in Babylon and Meſopotamia, and had there three famous Univerſities, one of them at Neerda mention'd by Joſephus ; but alſo, that many of the Ten Tribes were then converted, they being ſeated in Meſopotamia and Media ; for the Text ſaith, that they were carried away into Aſſyria, and placed in Halah and Habor by the River Gozan, and in the Cities of the Medes, 2 Kings 17. 6. and 18. 11. Now all theſe Places, ſaith the learned (c) Bochart, are to be found thereabouts ; and therefore St. John being an Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, may well be ſuppoſed to have written to them tho' perhaps he was never there ; as St. Paul writ ſome of his Epiſtles to Churches he had never ſeen.

Whence it was written, neither Scripture, nor any thing in Antiquity that I have met with, gives any ground for a Conjecture.

The Occaſion of it ſeems to be, 1. To arm the Jewiſh Converts againſt thoſe looſe and pernicious Doctrines which had obtain'd among the Jews, viz. that Solifidian Doctrine of being righteous by a Faith, that is not fruitful in good Works, or without doing Righteouſneſs, 1 John 2. 29. and 3, 7, 10. being Children of the Light without walking in the Light, Favourites of God without Obedience to his Laws, or Love to his Servants. 2dly, Againſt the Madneſs of their Zealots abounding every where among them, who thought their Zeal for God, and for his Laws, would atone for their Hatred of, and Murther of their Brethren, and for all the other Sins which, ſaith Joſephus, they did ſo greedily commit. See Note on Rom. 2. 1. and on

Ver. 24. and on James 1. 26. And 3dly, To preſerve them ſtedfaſt in the Truth, which they had heard from the beginning, againſt thoſe Deceivers, Antichriſts, and Falſe Prophets, which were then among them, chap. 2. 19, 26. Chap. 4. 1, 2, 3. and to continue them ſtedfaſt in the belief that Jeſus was the Chriſt the Son of God, chap. 5.

And here, becauſe that Queſtion hath made ſo great a Noiſe of late, Whether Salvation or Perdition depends upon believing or rejecting this one Propoſition, That Jeſus was the Meſſiah, as ſaith the Author of the Reaſonableneſs of Chriſtianity, pag. 43. adding, pag. 47. that all that was to be believed for Juſtification was no more but this ſingle Propoſition, That Jeſus of Nazareth was the Chriſt, or the Meſſiah; I ſhall endeavour briefly to ſtate and explain this Matter, and ſo give farther Light to thoſe Words of this Epiſtle, chap. 4. 2, 15. and chap. 5. 1, 5. which ſeem to ſay the ſame thing.

Whereas then this Author challenges all the Syſtematical Divines, pag. 192. to ſhew that there was any other Doctrine, upon their Aſſent to which, or Diſbelief of it, Men were pronounced Believers or Unbelievers, and accordingly received into the Church of Chriſt as Members of his Body, as far as mere Believing could make them ſo, or elſe kept out of it: This I ſhall undertake to ſhew,

1. From the expreſs Words of Chriſt, who requires of all his Diſciples, in order to their admiſſion into the Church by Baptiſm, Faith in the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, Matt. 28. 19. ſaying, He that believeth (this) and is baptized, ſhall be ſaved; He that believeth not, ſhall be damn'd, Mark 16. 16. He adds with an Aſſeveration, Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, except you eat the Fleſh of the Son of Man, and drink his Blood, you have no Life in you, John 6. 53. clearly declaring the neceſſity of Faith in his Body given, and his Blood ſhed for the Remiſſion of Sins; to Juſtification and Salvation; we being juſtified by his Blood, and through Faith in his Blood, Romans 3. 25. and 5. 9.

2. From the plain Declarations of St. Paul, who among the firſt things he preach'd to the Corinthians, as things by the belief of which they ſhould be ſaved, mentions three Articles; firſt of all, That Chriſt died for our Sins according to the Scriptures, 1 Corinth. 15. 1, 2, 3, 4. 2. That he was buried, And 3. That he roſe from the dead. In the ſame Chapter he plainly aſſerts the Neceſſity of the believing the Reſurrection of the Body, verſe 19. and 32. Among the Foundations and firſt Principles of the Doctrine of Chriſt, from which all Chriſtians were to go on to Perfection, he reckons the Doctrines of Repentance, of Faith towards God, of Baptiſm, of laying on of Hands, (for the receiving of the Holy Ghoſt,) of the Reſurrection of the Dead, and of eternal Judgment, Hebr. 6. 1, 2. Theſe therefore were then neceſſary to be believed by all Chriſtians. The Doctrine of the Sufficiency of Faith in Chriſt's Death for Juſtification, without the Works of the Law, is by the ſame Apoſtle declared to be ſo neceſſary, that he ſaith of them who gainſay'd it, Chriſt is become of no effect to you, ye are fallen from Grace, Galat. 5. 2, 4.

Moreover, it will be eaſy to account for the Practice of our Lord, and his Apoſtles, who inſiſt ſo much upon, and lay ſo great ſtreſs upon this one Article, if we conſider who they preached to, and how much was contained in, or neceſſarily depended upon the cordial Belief of this one Article.

1. Then, our Lord and his Apoſtles whilſt he was on Earth, preached only to the Jews, Matth. 10. 6. that is, to them to whom pertained the Adoption, the Glory, the Covenants, the Giving of the Law, the Service of God, and the Promiſes, Romans 9. 4. and to whom were committed the Oracles of God, Romans 3. 2. i. e. thoſe Scriptures which were able to make them wiſe to Salvation, with faith in Chriſt Jeſus, 2 Timothy 3. 5. i. e. If they, to the belief of them, added Faith in Chriſt, they teaching them the Knowledge of the true God, and the Way in which He would be worſhipped, and ſhewing them what was good, and what the Lord required of them. They alſo were writ by, and made frequent mention of the Spirit of God, of the New Covenant God would eſtabliſh with them, of the Sufferings of Chriſt, and of the Glory that ſhould follow, 1 Peter 1. 11. of his Prophetical, Prieſtly, and his Kingly Office, of an Emanuel that ſhould be born to them, whoſe Name ſhould be called Wonderful, Counſellor, the mighty God, the everlaſting Father, the Prince of Peace, Iſaiah, 7. 1 14. and 9, 6. It is not therefore to be wonder'd that whilſt our Saviour was on Earth he only call'd them to Repentance, and Faith in the promiſed Meſſiah.

Moreover, St. Paul's Sermon, Acts 13. was preached to the Children of the Stock of Abraham, verſe 26. and yet he preached to them not only that Jeſus was the Chriſt, but alſo that He died, and roſe again, and that Remiſſion of Sins was to be obtain'd through his Name; and that by him all that believed were to be juſtified from all thoſe things from which they could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, verſe 38, 39. And though we find him once Diſputing in the School of one Tyrannus, we ſeldom find him preach any where but in a Jewiſh Synagogue. Others alſo preach'd to the ſame Perſons; for they that were diſperſed upon the Perſecution of St. Stephen, preached to the Jews only, Acts 11. 19.

We have, in the whole Acts of the Apoſtles, mention only of four Perſons who were not Jews by birth, to whom the Goſpel was thus preached; one of theſe was the Eunuch, who was before a Worſhipper of God, and, as is probably conjectured, of the Jews Religion ; and therefore came up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip. St. Paul preacheth to Lydia in a Jewiſh Synagogue, Acts 16. 13, 14. and ſhe was alſo one that worſhip'd God, and ſo in all probability of the Jews Religion. The Centurion to whom St. Peter preach'd was one that feared God, wrought Righteouſneſs, was much in Prayer and Alms ; and yet St. Peter, before his Baptiſm, preaches to him and his Friends, of the Word that God ſent to the Children of Iſrael, preaching Peace by Jeſus Chriſt ; declaring how he was anointed by God with the Holy Ghoſt, healed all that were oppreſſed of the Devil, ſuffered and roſe again, that he was made Lord of all things, that he was ordain'd of God to be the Judge of the Quick and the Dead, and that through his Name whoſoever believed in him ſhould receive Remiſſion of Sins, Acts 10. 36, 43. The only Heathen Family that St. Paul admits to Baptiſm, is the Jaylor's ; and he firſt preaches to them the Word of the Lord, Acts 16. 32. i. e. ſay even the Socinians, he ſummarily expounded to them (d) who this Jeſus, this Son of God, was, what Miracles he did, how he was Crucified by the Jews, rais'd up again by God, taken up into Heaven, made Lord of all things ; what Promiſes he had made, what Precepts he enjoin'd. I know this Author ſaith, that Preaching the Word was only Preaching that Jeſus was the Meſſiah ; but the Scriptures cited by him do not ſay ſo : For the Word mentioned, Acts 10. 37. is the whole Word which God ſent to the Children of Iſrael, preaching Peace by Jeſus Chriſt. It is the Word of the Goſpel, Acts 15. 7. It contains the whole Miniſtry of the Goſpel, Acts 6. 4. All the Counſel of God, being the Word of his Grace which was able to build them up, and give them an Inheritance among them who were ſanctified through faith in Chriſt, Acts 20. 27, 32. It cannot therefore be concluded from the Preaching of our Lord, or his Apoſtles, that they thought nothing more was neceſſary to be believ'd by Chriſtians ſaving this one Article, that Jeſus was the Chriſt.

2dly, The Belief of this Propoſition, that Chriſt is the Meſſiah, and the Son of God, may well be repreſented as the chief initiating Article of Chriſtian Faith, ; becauſe where it is heartily profeſs'd, it carries with it a Profeſſion of believing all Chriſt's Sayings, and of obeying all his Precepts : And where it cordially is embraced, it produceth both this Faith and Practice. That Jeſus is the Chriſt, as it is the principal Article of pure Faith, the moſt peculiar Doctrine of our Religion, as it ſtands oppoſed to that of Judaiſm ; ſo doth it virtually comprehend all other Doctrines of moment in it, regarding either Faith or Practice. For to believe him to be the Chriſt, is to beleive him to be a Prophet ſent from God to teach the way of Life unto us, John 3. 3. even that Prophet which was to come into the World. Hence Chriſt applies theſe Words to himſelf, The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; becauſe he hath anointed me to Preach the Goſpel, &c. Luke 4. 18. Now ſure we are obliged to embrace as Truth whatſoever was taught by ſuch a Prophet, and to obey all his Precepts upon pain of Deſtruction ; for Whoſoever will not hear this Prophet, ſhall be deſtroyed from the People, Acts 3. 23.

Again, To believe him to be the Chriſt, is to believe him to be the Son of God, according to that Profeſſion of St. Peter, Thou art Chriſt the Son of the living God, Matth. 16. 16. and the Enquiry of the High-Prieſt, Art thou the Chriſt, the Son of God ? Matth. 26. 63. Now this lays an Obligation upon us to Hear, that is, Obey him ; according to thoſe Words of God, This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleaſed, hear him, Matth. 17. 5. 'Tis alſo to believe him to be our Lord and King, according to thoſe Words of the Angel, To you is born a Saviour, who is Chriſt the Lord, Luke 2. 11. and of Nathanael, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Iſrael. Now this Relation calls for Obedience : For why, ſaith our Saviour, call you me Lord, Lord, and do not the things that I ſay ? Luke 6.46. and that on Penalty of Ruin from him, when he ſhall ſay, Bring theſe mine Enemies, who would not I ſhould reign over them, and ſlay them before me, Luke 19. 27. 'Twas alſo Jeſus who was called Chriſt, even that Jeſus who was to ſave his People from their Sins, and a Saviour to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins, Matthew 1. 21. Now upon ſuch a King, and ſuch a Saviour, we may ſecurely rely for the obtainment of all the Bleſſings and Rewards which he hath promiſed to the Obedient. Hence we may learn, that it was highly reaſonable, that the Apoſtles ſhould begin their Preaching with proving and perſuading this Doctrine ; that they ſhould give ſuch great Commendations, annex ſuch excellent Privileges, offer ſuch high Rewards to the hearty Belief of ſuch a comprehenſive Article, and ſhould admit them to Baptiſm who profeſs'd it ; ſince by that Baptiſm, ſaith this Author, pag. 196, 197. they own'd themſelves the Subjects of this Jeſus whom they believed to be their Meſſiah, (i. e. The Prophet ſent from God to teach them,) and received him for their Lord and King ; and this was the ſolemn viſible Act whereby they who believed him to be the Meſſiah, receiv'd him as their King, and profeſs'd Obedience to him, and ſo were admitted as Subjects into his Kingdom. For as every one who was circumciſed became a Debtor to obey the whole Law of Moſes, Gal. 5. 3. and therefore to believe it; ſo every Perſon baptized being of Age, doth by that very Baptiſm profeſs to believe all the Doctrines, and obey the Precepts of the Holy Jeſus, into whoſe Name he is baptized. And therefore though St. John here ſays, He that confeſſeth that Jeſus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God, chap. 4. 15. and Every one that believeth that Jeſus is the Chriſt, is born of God, chap. 5. 1. Yet he requires of the ſame Perſons, in order to the ſame Ends, that they ſhould walk in the Truth of the Goſpel, in Conformity to the Example of Chriſt, and to the Love of God, and in Obedience to his Commands; and adds, that he that is born of God ſinneth not, neither can ſin; clearly inſinuating, that this Propoſition, when cordially embraced, will produce a Faith and Practice anſwerable to it in our Lives.

CHAP. I.

Verſe 1. THat which was [a] from the beginning, [ of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, that ] which we have heard, which [b] we have ſeen [ i. e. diſcerned, as clearly as if we had ſeen it ] with our Eyes, [ that ] which we have looked upon, and our hands have [ as it were ] handled of the Word of Life, [ declare we to you. ]

2. Nor have ye the leaſt reaſon to ſuſpect our Teſtimony, either of this Life, or the Author, and Procurer of it: ] For the Life [ we ſpeak of ] was manifeſted [ in the Author, and the Promiſe of it, ] and we have ſeen [ or known, ] and bear witneſs [ to it, ] and ſhew unto you [c] that eternal Life which was with the Father, and was manifeſted unto us.

3. That which we have ſeen and heard [ of this Word of Life, ] declare we to you, that ye alſo may have[d] fellowſhip with us [ in the ſame Life: ] and truly our Fellowſhip is [e] with the Father, and with his Son Jeſus Chriſt.

4. And theſe things write we unto you that your Joy may be full, i. e. [ that believing this eternal Life, you may rejoyce with joy unſpeakable, and full of glory, 1 Pet. 1. 8, 9. For which cauſe you muſt carefully attend to another Meſſage He hath ſent by us. ]

5. This then [ and this ] is the Meſſage which we have heard of him, [ i. e. From God by Jeſus Chriſt, ] and declare unto you, that God is Light, [ a pure and ſpotleſs Spirit, ] and in him is no Darkneſs at all: [ Nothing of Impurity or Iniquity in his Commands, which are all Holy, Rom. 7. 12. Or in his Actions, as in the Heathen Deities, He being Holy in all his Works. ]

6. [ And therefore ] If we ſay that we have fellowſhip with him, and walk in darkneſs, we ly, and do not [ ſpeak ] the Truth.

7. But if we walk in the light, [f] as he is f in the light, [ endeavouring to be Holy, as He is Holy, ] we have [g] fellowſhip one with another g and the [h] blood of Jeſus Chriſt his Son h cleanſeth us from all [ thoſe ] ſins [ which ] might obſtruct our Communion with this Holy God, and our Attainment of the Life thus manifeſted to us. ]

8. [ And of this Expiation we have all need, for ] [i] If we ſay that we have no ſin, [ to be i thus cleanſed from, ] we deceive ourſelves, and the Truth is not in us; [ For in many things we offend all, Jam. 3. 2. And therefore are required to pray daily for the remiſſion of our ſins, and have even after our Regeneration need of this Advocate for the Propitiation of our Sins, chap. 2. 1, 2. See 1 Kings 8. 46. Eccleſ. 7. 21. ]

9. [ But ] If we confeſs [ theſe ] our ſins, he [ who hath made this New Covenant in the Blood of Chriſt, that he will be merciful to our Iniquities, Heb. 8. 8. ] is faithful [ to his Promiſe, ] and juſt to forgive us our ſins, [ upon the Satisfaction made to his Juſtice by the Death of Chriſt, ] and to cleanſe us from all unrighteouſneſs.

10. [ But ] If we [ continue to ] ſay that we have not ſinned, [ and therefore do not need this Expiation through the Blood of Chriſt,] we make him a Lyar, [ who hath declared, both in the Old and New Teſtament, That all have ſinned, and fallen ſhort of the Glory of God, Rom. 1. 23. ] and his Word is not in us.

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Verſe 1. Ὃ Ἦν ἀπ' ἀρχῆς. ] This I here render, From the beginning of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation; becauſe I find that is the conſtant Import of the Phraſe in this Epiſtle, and elſewhere, where it relates to what Chriſtians had heard, and ſeen, as here. In this Senſe is, That which you have heard, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, from the beginning, uſed ſix times by our Apoſtle in theſe Epiſtles; viz. 1 Epiſt. chap. 2. 7. 24. twice; chap. 3. 11. Ep. 2. v. 6. So, The Commandment which we have received, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, from the beginning, 1 Ep. 2. 7. 2 Ep. v. 5. doth neceſſarily import it's being Chriſt's New Commandment of Love. So, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς αὐτόπται, are thoſe who from the beginning of Chriſt's Preaching were Witneſſes of what he ſaid, and did, Luke 1. 2. And in this Senſe Chriſt ſaith to his Diſciples, You have been with me, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, from the beginning, John 15. 27. Acts 1. 21.

b Ibid. Ὃ ἑωράκαμεν, Which we have ſeen : ] That is, in Scripture Phraſe, ſaid to be ſeen, and look'd upon, which is as truly known and diſcerned by us, as if we had ſeen it. So the Jews are ſaid to do the things which they have ſeen with their Father, John 8. 38. and to have ſeen the End of the Lord's dealing with Job, James 5. 11. So we are ſaid to ſee God, or not to ſee him, 1 John 3. 6. Ep. 3. 11. To ſee the Life here, ver. 2. So alſo, ψυλαφᾷν, when applied to Spiritual Things, is not to touch with the Hand, but to apprehend with the Mind, Acts 17. 27. I confeſs, all theſe things are more properly true of the Word made Fleſh; of whom the Apoſtles declared what they had heard from him, and ſeen of him, who ſaw his Glory, John 1. 14. and what one of them had touched. But then the λόγος agreeing only to the Divine Nature, a Metaphorical Senſe muſt be allowed, in ſeeing and handling that.

c Ver. 2. τὴν ζωὴν τὴν αἰώνιον, ἥτις ἦν πρὸς τὸν πατέρα, That Eternal Life which was with the Father. ] Thus of our Eternal Life, the Apoſtle ſaith, it is hid with Chriſt in God, Col. 3. 3. And of the Evangelical Diſpenſation, That before the Revelation of it by Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, it was a Myſtery hid in God, Eph. 3. 9. But this alſo may be applied to the Divine Λόγος, ſtiled by this Apoſtle, Life Eternal, chap. 5. 20. who was in the Boſom of the Father, and was manifeſted to us, John 1. 18. Yet two things ſeem to favour the firſt Interpretation.

1ſt, That the Phraſe here uſed, being not, ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν, He ſubſiſted in the beginning of all things; but only, ἀπ' ἀρχῆς ἦν, he was from the beginning: This Phraſe excludes not his Creation, as the other ſeems to do; and, as I have obſerved, it chiefly is applied by this Apoſtle, to the beginning of the Goſpel-Diſpenſation.

2dly, That tho' ὁ λόγος and ζωὴ, abſolutely put, are ſpoken of Chriſt; yet ὁ λόγος τῆς ζωῆς, is never uſed concerning the Perſon of Chriſt, but is expreſsly uſed of that Word by which Eternal Life is manifeſted; as when we are bid to hold faſt, λόγον ζωῆς, the Word of Life, Phil. 2. 16. and when the Apoſtles are bid to teach, τὰ ῥήματα τῆς ζωῆς, the Words of this Life, Acts 5. 20. See Acts 13. 26.

d Ver. 3. Κοινωνίαν μεθ' ἡμῶν, Fellowſhip with us.] It doth not follow hence, as Eſthius imagines, That no man can have Fellowſhip with God, who hath not Fellowſhip with the Church, ( tho' that be doubtleſs true of Fellowſhip with the Inviſible Church, united to Chriſt by the Spirit, and ſo made an Habitation of God through the Spirit and of Fellowſhip in Doctrine, and Communion with the Church of the Apoſtles : ) For as like precious Faith with us, is only ſuch Faith as we have, 2 Pet. 2. 1. ſo here, Fellowſhip with us, is only ſuch Fellowſhip as we have.

Ibid. Μετὰ τοῦ Πατρὸς, With the Father. ] We being Heirs of God, Joint Heirs with Chriſt, Rom. 8. 17. and being united to, and having Communion with the Father and the Son, by the Spirit of both dwelling in us, John 14. 21, 23. Eph. 2. 21, 22. Rom. 8. 9, 11. And he being to us the Earneſt of this Life, 2 Cor. 1. 22. and 5. 5. Eph. 1. 13, 14. who Seals us up to the Day of Redemption, Eph. 4. 30.

f Ver. 7. Ὡς αὐτός ἐστιν ἐν τῷ φωτὶ, As he is in the Light. ] That this Metaphor of Light, relates not to the Knowledge or the Felicity, but to the Purity of the Divine Nature, appears, ( 1ſt, ) From the Injunction, to walk in the Light, as He is in the Light; for we are not any where bid to reſemble God in Knowledge, or in Happineſs, but we are commanded to be Holy as he is Holy. ( 2dly, ) From the Darkneſs ſet in oppoſition to it; which doth not refer ſo much to the Ignorance of Men, as to the Vices they practiſed in a State of Ignorance. See Note on Rom. 13. 12.

g Ibid. Κοινωνίαν ἔχομεν μετ' ἀλλήλων, We have Communion with one another. ] Some Manuſcripts read, μετ' αὐτοῦ, with him ; which either is the true Reading, or gives the true Senſe of the other Reading ; i. e. We have Communion with God, and he with us ; as is evident from ver. 6. Moreover, the Apoſtle had ſaid nothing before, of our Communion with one another, but only, of our Fellowſhip with God, ver. 6. with the Father, and the Son, ver. 3. which makes it reaſonable to refer the Words to that Communion, of which the Apoſtle ſo often ſpeaketh in this Epiſtle. See chap. 2. 5, 6, 24. chap. 3. 24. and chap. 4. 13. Notwithſtanding, it is true, that then we have Communion with one another, by virtue of that Holy Spirit which enlightens us, and enables us to walk in the Light.

h Ibid. Τὸ αἷμα Χριστοῦ, The Blood of Chriſt cleanſeth us from all Sin. ] This cannot well relate to that Effect of the Blood of Chriſt, which we call Juſtification by Faith in his Blood, or the Remiſſion of our paſt Sins, by virtue of our Faith in Chriſt dying for us ; for that follows immediately upon our Faith, and cannot require that an Habit of Purity, or of walking in the Light, ſhould precede it : It therefore ſeemeth to refer to thoſe ſinful Infirmities and Defects, which, in this State of Imperfection, cleave to our beſt Actions, and even good Men are ſtill ſubject to, and which do not deprive us of the Divine Favour, or of an Enterance into that New Jeruſalem, into which nothing enters that is polluted, or unclean ; becauſe in this New Covenant of Grace, eſtabliſh'd in the Death of Chriſt, his Blood doth cleanſe all faithful and ſincere Chriſtians, from the Guilt of them.

Ver. 8. The Blood of Chriſt his Son cleanſeth us from all Sin. ] Here note that theſe Words confute the Quakers, who hold that thoſe who are in the Light, are guilty of no Sin ; for were this ſo, they could be cleanſed from none by the Blood of Jeſus ; ſee the Text defended, Examen Millii.

i Ibid. & Ver. 10. The Queſtion is, Of whom the Apoſtle ſpeaketh here, Whether of ſincere Chriſtians, after their Converſion to the Chriſtian Faith, or only of them conſidered before they entered on that State. That Saint John here ſpeaks only of the latter, is argued from theſe Conſiderations :

1. That the Apoſtle doth plainly teach the contrary to the firſt Expoſition, by ſaying, He that is born of God, ſinneth not, chap. 3. 9. and 5. 18 But to this I ſhall return an Anſwer in the Comment on thoſe Places.

2*dly*, That the Words run, in the Præterperfect Tenſe, If we ſay, ὅτι ἡμαρτήκαμεν, we have not ſinned ; whereas ſome ſingle Acts of leſſer Sins they were then ſtill ſubject to, to whom he ſpeaks.

Anſw. True ; and therefore he adviſeth them to confeſs them, that they might obtain Forgiveneſs of them : Now Confeſſion of them muſt be after they have been committed.

3*dly*, Becauſe this Phraſe, ἁμαρτίαν ἔχειν, to have Sin, is ſtill uſed of ſuch Sins as will condemn us at the laſt, John 9. 41. and 15. 22, 24. and 19. 11.

Anſw. The Text cited from chap. 19. 11. is impertinent ; the other two may be taken abſolutely, as to the Matter ſpoken of : i. e. They had been guilty of no Sin of Infidelity, if Chriſt had not come to them, or if he had not proved his Miſſion, chap. 15. 22, 24. or if they had wanted Means to diſcern the Truth, chap. 9. 41. Nor would their Sin of Infidelity have been condemning, had they confeſſed it, and forſaken it.

Since then the Apoſtle was ſpeaking, ver. 7. of them who walked in the Light, who had Communion with God, and who were cleanſed from the Guilt of Sin : And, ver. 8. goes on to add, If we ſay we have no Sin ; it ſeems more probable, that he ſpeaks there at leaſt of the ſame Perſons.

Note alſo, That ſome of the ( a ) Jews profeſſed to be ἀναμάρτητοι πρὸς Θεὸν, καὶ μηδεμιᾶς μετάσχοντες, ſupply ἁμαρτίας, free from all Sins and Offences againſt God ; and of ſuch may the laſt Verſe be interpreted : They varying in this, from the Doctrine of other Jews ; for ( b ) Maimonides truly ſaith, Nullus homo dari poteſt qui non peccet, vel ignoranter in dogmate & ſententia aliqua amplectenda, aut qualitate eligenda quæ non eligenda eſt, vel ob Iræ, aliorúmque affectuum, vehementiam & prædominationem.

CHAP. II.

Verſe 1. MY little Children, theſe things, [concerning the neceſſity of walking in the Light, and putting-off the Deeds of Darkneſs,] write I unto you, that ye ſin not, [i. e. that ye live not in any courſe of ſin:] And a [a] if any Man, [through the Infirmity of the Fleſh, be overtaken with a] Sin, we [Chriſtians] have an Advocate with the Father, Jeſus Chriſt the Righteous, [the Juſt One, in whom was no Sin, 1 Pet. 3. 18.]

b 2. And [b] he is the Propitiation for our c Sins; and not for ours only, but [c] alſo for the Sins of the whole World.

d 3. [d] And hereby, [Gr. in this] we do know that we know, [Gr. have known] him, [truly and acceptably,] if we keep his Commandments.

4. He that ſaith, I [have] know- [n] him, and keepeth not his Commandments, is a Lyar, and the Truth is not in him: [He is a falſe Pretender to the knowledge of God; for ſuch Perſons do in Words profeſs to know God, but in Works they deny him, being diſobedient, Tit. 1. 16. They likewiſe know not Jeſus Chriſt according to the Truth, Eph. 4. 21.]

5. But whoſo keepeth his Word, in him
e verily is the [e] Love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him.

f 6. [f] He that ſaith he abideth in him, [in Chriſt, by the Spirit,] ought himſelf alſo ſo to walk, even as he walked.

g 7. Brethren, I write [g] no new Commandment unto you, [when I thus call upon you to walk in the Light, as he is in the Light, or to walk as Chriſt walked,] but an old Commandment which you had from the Beginning [of Chriſt's Preaching,] John 3. 21. and 8. 12. and 12. 35. See Note on chap. 1. ver. 1.] The Old Commandment is the Word which ye have heard from the Beginning.

h 8. [h] Again, a New Commandment I write unto you; which thing is true in him, [who is the Author of it; for no ſuch Light ever came into the World before, and no ſuch Love was manifeſted to the World before,] and in you, [who before were Darkneſs, but are now Light in the Lord, Eph. 5. 8. Children of the Light, and of the Day, 1 Theſſ. 5. 5. and to whom, not long ago, the Light appeared, 2 Cor. 4. 6. and who are taught of God to love one another, 1 Theſſ. 4. 9.] becauſe [by your late receiving the Goſpel,] the [former] darkneſs [you were in] is paſt, and the True Light now ſhineth [in, and upon you: Wherefore the Night of Ignorance and Darkneſs being far ſpent, and the Day being nigh at hand, and ſhining more and more upon you, you are obliged to put off the Works of Darkneſs, and to put on the Armour of Light, Rom. 13. 12.] Or thus; Again, [being now to ſpeak to you of Chriſtian Love,] a New Commandment I write unto you, which thing is true in him; [for thus he ſpeaks, A New Commandment I give unto you, That you love one another, as I have loved you, John 13. 34.] and in you: Becauſe [it ſhews] the Darkneſs [you were in whilſt Jews, bearing Affection only to them of your own Nation and Religion,] is paſt, and the true Light [of the Goſpel] now ſhineth [upon you.]

9. He that ſaith he is in the Light, [that he lives under the Influences of the Light of the Goſpel, and walks according to it,] and [yet] hateth his Brother, [wiſhing ill to him, and, from that Diſaffection doing ill Offices to him,] is, [whatever he profeſſes to the contrary,] in Darkneſs, even until now. [But,]

10. He that loveth his Brother, [as Chriſt loved us, being willing to do him all kind Offices which he is able, from Love to God, and as a fellow Member of Chriſt's Body,] abideth in the Light, and there is [i] no occaſion of ſtum- i bling, [Gr. no ſcandal] in him.

11. But he that hateth his Brother, [k] is k in Darkneſs, and walketh in Darkneſs, and knoweth not whither [the Way leads in which] he goeth, becauſe that Darkneſs hath blinded his Eyes, [John 12. 35.]

12. [l] I write unto you, little Children, l
becauſe your Sins are forgiven you for his Name's ſake.

13. I write unto you, Fathers, becauſe ye have known him that is from the Beginning. I write unto you, Young Men, becauſe ye have overcome the Wicked One. I write unto you, Little Children, becauſe ye have known the Father.

14. I have written unto you, Fathers, becauſe you have known him that is from the Beginning. I have written unto you, Young Men, becauſe ye are ſtrong, and the Word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the Wicked One.

15. Love not the World, [i. e. neither the Men of the World who will not own you, but hate, and perſecute you, chap. 3. 1, 13. and who live in Wickedneſs, chap. 5. 19. love them not, ſo as to be conformed to their Manners, Rom. 12. 2.] neither the Things that are in the World, [the Pleaſures, Honours, or Enjoyments of it, ſo as to cleave to them, Matth. 6. 24. or to be unwilling to part with them for Chriſt's ſake, and to ſecure the favour of God, Matth. 19. 28.] If any Man [thus] loveth the World, the love of the Father is not in him; [for ſeeing God is to be loved above all, he loves him not at all truly, who cleaves to any other thing in oppoſition to him, or hazards his favour to ſecure it. ]

16. For all that is in [ vogue, or eſteem with the Men of ] the World, the Luſt of the Fleſh, [ all voluptuous Enjoyments which tend to Senſuality, and Intemperance, and making Proviſion for the Fleſh, ] and the Luſt of the Eyes, [ the deſire of Gold, Silver, ſtately Houſes, rich Furniture, fair Gardens, which tend to gratify the Eye, ] and the Pride of Life, [ the deſire of Places of Dignity, high Titles, all the Honour, Glory, and Splendour of the World, which tends to gratify our Pride, ] is not of the Father, [ they are not Deſires excited by him, nor is it according to his Will, that we ſhould ſet our Hearts upon them, ] but is [ the Deſire ] of [ the Men of ] the World, [ whoſe chief Concern is to gratify theſe Senſual Appetites. ]

17. And the World paſſeth away, and the [things which miniſter to the ] Luſts thereof; but he that doth the Will of God, abideth for ever.

18. Little Children, it is the laſt Time, [ or Hour of the Jewiſh Oeconomy ; ] and as ye m have heard that [m] Antichriſt ſhall [ ſhortly ] come, [ ſo ] even now are there many Antichriſts, [ i. e. Oppoſers of Chriſt, and Deniers of him to be the Chriſt, ver. 22. ] whereby we [ may ] know that it is the laſt time.

n 19. [n] They went out from us, [ Chriſtians of Judea, Acts 15. 1. and from us the Apoſtles, Acts 15. 24. ] but they were not of us, [ but were falſe Brethren, Gal. 2. 4. and falſe Apoſtles, 2 Cor. 11. 13. ] For if they had been of us, [ conſpiring with us the Apoſtles and true Churches of Chriſt, in the Doctrine and Truth of the Goſpel, ] they would, no doubt, have, [ Gr. μεμενήκεισαν ἄν, they might have ſtill ] continued with us, [preaching that Doctrine which we teach ; ] but [ they went out from us, ] that they might be o made manifeſt [o] that they were not all, [ Gr. that they all were not ] of us.

p 20. But ye have an Unction [p] from the q Holy One, [q] and ye know all things: [ Ye to whom I write; which ſhews, he ſpeaks not of the Chriſtians of all Ages in general, but of them in particular. ]

21. I have not written to you, becauſe you know not the Truth; ] I. e. to inſtruct you as Perſons ignorant of it: ] But becauſe ye know it, and that no Lye, [ utter'd by theſe Antichriſts and Falſe Prophets, ] is of, [ or, hath any Communion with ] the Truth [ of the Goſpel. ]

22. Who is a Lyar, but he who denieth that Jeſus is the Chriſt? [ i. e. who ſo emphatically deſerves that Title, ſeeing ] he is Antichriſt, [ by way of Eminency, ] [r] who denieth r the Father and the Son.

23. [ And let not the Jewiſh Antichriſts pretend, this belongs not to them who know the Father; for ] whoſoever denieth the Son [ of God, ] the ſame hath not [ the true knowledge of the Father.

24. Let that [ Doctrine ] therefore abide in you, which you have heard from the Beginning [ preached to you; for ] if that which you have heard from the Beginning, ſhall remain, [ and bring forth its due Fruits ] in you, ye ſhall continue in the Son, and in the Father, [ united to them by the Spirit; who alſo will inſtruct you in the ſaving Knowledge of them both, John 14. 23. and 6. 56. ]

25. [s] And this is the Promiſe which he s hath promiſed us, [ who thus remain in him, viz. ] Eternal Life.

26. Theſe things have I written concerning them that deceive you, [ i. e. who endeavour ſo to do. ]

27. [t] But [ this not out of abſolute neceſſity, t as if through Ignorance you could not otherwiſe be preſerved from their Seductions, ver. 2. For ] the Anointing which ye have received of him, [ who is your Head, ] abideth in, [ or, among ] you, and [ ſo ] you need not that any Man [ ſhould ] teach you: But as the ſame Anointing, [ i. e. Spirit of Wiſdom and Knowledge ] teacheth you all things [ neceſſary, ] and [ for it ] is truth, and is no lye, and even as it hath taught you, ye ſhall abide in him.

28. And now, ϗ νῦν, now therefore, ] Little Children, abide in him, [ in the Profeſſion and Practice of what he hath taught you; ] that when he ſhall appear, we may have confidence [ of the Life promiſed to them that do ſo, ver. 25. ] and [ may ] not be aſhamed before him, [ Gr. may not be put to ſhame by him, or, go aſhamed from him, ] at his Coming [ to Judgment, chap. 4. 17. as being judged by him unworthy of this Life; as we ſhall not be, if we be found doing Righteouſneſs; for. ]

29. If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doth righteouſneſs is born of him; [ as being born again of the Spirit derived from him, and ſo become a Son of God, and an Heir of Life, Rom. 8. 14, 17. and by this Spirit ſealed up unto the Day of Redemption, Eph. 4. 30. ]

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Verſe 1. ἘA'N τις ἁμάρτῃ, And if any Man ſin.] Tho' this is not to be interpreted of Sins of Infirmity only; yet ſince the Apoſtle is here ſpeaking of his Little Children, whoſe paſt Sins were already forgiven them, for his Name's ſake, ver. 12, 16. and the Apoſtle would not encourage them in Wilful, or Habitual Sins, I think, as it relates to them, it chiefly is to be referred to thoſe Sins of Ignorance, Weakneſs, and Infirmity, which will be pardoned by the Tenour of the New Covenant, through Chriſt's Interceſſion.

b Ver. 2. Ἱλασμός ἐστι περὶ τῶν ἁμαρτιῶν ἡμῶν, He is the Propitiation for our Sins.] In the Old Teſtament, the Sin-Offering which made Atonement for a Treſpaſs, that it might be forgiven, is called, κριὸς ἱλασμοῦ, the Ram of Atonement, Lev. 6. 6, 7. Numb. 5. 8. And that which in the Law is φέρειν, or προσάγειν τὸ περὶ ἁμαρτίας, To bring an Offering for Sin, is in Ezekiel, προσφέρειν ἱλασμὸν, To bring an Atonement, or Propitiation, Ezek. 44, 27. When therefore it is ſaid here of Jeſus Chriſt, That he is ἱλασμὸς, the Propitiation for our Sins; and chap. 4. 10. That God ſent him into the World, to be, ἱλασμὸν, the Propitiation for our Sins; have we not reaſon to conclude, he was ſo our Propitiation, as were all the Sin-Offerings of the Jews for them; viz. by Suffering in our ſtead, to make Atonement for our Sins, and ſo to render God propitious to us, in the forgiveneſs of them? Moreover, Why is he ſtiled Jeſus Chriſt the Juſt, or Righteous, who made Propitiation for our Sins, if he intended not to intimate, That the Juſt ſuffered in ſtead of the Unjuſt, to make Atonement for their Sins? To this Crellius replies, That Δίκαιος ſhould be rendered, not the Juſt, but the Faithful.

Anſw. This is to ſay, It muſt here ſignify, not what it ordinarily and truly ſignifies, but what it both improperly and rarely ſignifies; and when it is aſcribed to Chriſt, as here it is, it never ſignifies: For it is aſcribed to him elſewhere ten times in the New Teſtament, Matth. 27. 24. Luke 23. 47. Acts 3. 14. and 7. 52. and 22. 14. 2 Tim. 4. 8. 1 Pet. 3. 18. Rev. 16. 5. and in thoſe Places it doth always ſignify that Juſt, or Righteous Perſon; yea, in this very Chapter, and the next, it is twice ſpoken of him, firſt in theſe Words, ver. 29. If ye know that he is Righteous, ye know that every one that doth Righteouſneſs is born of him. And, chap. 3. 7. He that doth Righteouſneſs is Righteous, even as He is Righteous: Where it is evident, that it retains its proper Senſe. Why therefore, in the Place conteſted, ſhould it import that, which when it is applied to Chriſt, it never ſignifies?

Object. And whereas Crellius objects, That the Apoſtle ſpeaks of Chriſt here, as of our Advocate in Heaven, where he doth not ſatisfy God, or ſuffer any Puniſhment on our Account.

Anſw. I anſwer, That ſeeing Chriſt there intercedes, by Virtue of his Blood ſhed to ſatisfy for our Offences, and of the Death he ſuffered as the Puniſhment of our Iniquities: The Parallel runs clearly thus; That as the Sacrifices of the Old Teſtament were ſlain, and the Blood ſhed, before it was brought to the Mercy-Seat, and yet the High-Prieſt made Atonement with it, when, at his Enterance into the Holy Place, he offered up that Blood to God, in his peculiar Preſence; ſo tho' our Lord was ſlain, and ſhed his Blood on Earth, yet may he make Atonement in the Preſence of God with it, by Virtue of the Sufferings he endured when his Blood was ſhed.

Ibid. Περὶ ὅλου τοῦ κόσμου, For the Sins of the whole World:] I. e. Of all Men in general. c For when he ſaith, He is the Propitiation for our Sins, ſure he intends this Comfort to all them to whom he ſpeaks, and means not, that Chriſt was the Propitiation for ſome of their Sins only; for this would have left them all in doubt, whether this Advocate, and this Propitiation, did belong to them, but would have comforted none of them. When then he adds, He is the Propitiation, not for our Sins only, but for the Sins of the whole World, he in like manner muſt extend this Phraſe to all Men in the World.

Again, When he ſaith, He is the Propitiation for our Sins; he doth not mean, that he was ſo ſufficiently, but not intentionally: For what Comfort would that afford them, that his Death was ſufficient to procure the Pardon of their Sins, had God deſigned it for that End, unleſs they alſo knew that he intended it for their Propitiation? When therefore he proceeds to ſay, And not for ours only, but for the Sins of the whole World; he muſt mean alſo, that he was the Propitiation for their Sins, not only ſufficiently, but alſo, in his gracious Intention. And indeed, otherwiſe, it might as properly have been ſaid of the Fallen Angels, or the whole Hoſt of Devils, He is the Propitiation for their their Sins, as for the Sins of thoſe who are not elected; ſeeing, had God deſigned it for that End, Chriſt's Death, by reaſon of its intrinſick Value, might have been ſufficient to procure Atonement for the Sins of Fallen Angels. Laſtly, The Import of theſe Words cannot be only this, He died, or is the Propitiation for the Sins of the Elect throughout the World. For, (1.) The whole World, in Scripture, never ſignifies the Elect only, in oppoſition to the Wicked in the whole World; but in this very Epiſtle, and in theſe Words, We know that we are of God, and that the whole World lies in Wickedneſs, chap. 5. 19. it plainly ſignifies, the Wicked of the World, in oppoſition to the faithful Chriſtians. (2*dly,*) Would it not be ſtrange, and alien from the Mind of Scripture, to ſay, The whole World is elected to Salvation; The whole World ſhall be juſtified by Chriſt, and ſanctified by his Spirit dwelling in them, and obtain an happy Reſurrection: And yet all this muſt be true of the whole World of the Elect? Why therefore are none of theſe Things equally affirmed of the whole World, as well as that Chriſt died, and is the Propitiation for the Sins of the whole World, if they be Words of equal Latitude, and Truth? Theſe Arguments are as ſtrong againſt the Expoſition of others, who ſay, The Apoſtle means, not only for the Sins of the Jews, but alſo of the Gentiles.

Ibid. If we ſin we have an Advocate with the Father, and he is the Propitiation for our Sins.] Moreover this being ſpoken by this Apoſtle to his little Children, whoſe paſt Sins were already forgiven, v. 12. muſt relate to their future Sins, to which they might be afterwards obnoxious, and therefore muſt ſuppoſe them ſtill ſubject to Sins of Infirmity.

d Ver. 3. It is a Rule in Divinity, That Verba notitiæ denotant affectum, adde & effectum: i. e. 'That when the Knowledge of God, 'or Chriſt, is put abſolutely, it ſignifies a 'Knowledge which is fruitful in Love; 'and Obedience, as the Effect of that Love 'and Knowledge.' Whence they who diſobey him, are ſtill, in Scripture, ſaid, not to know God, 1 Sam. 2. 12. Hoſ. 5. 14. Jer. 2. 8. and 9. 3. Tit. 1. 16. and here, ver. 4. And they that do what is acceptable and delightful to him, are ſaid to know him, Jer. 22. 15, 16. and 24. 7. and 31. 33, 34. Hoſ. 2. 19, 20. John 10. 4. Eph. 3. 19.

Moreover, 'tis obſervable, That many of the Jews had an Apprehenſion, That their Knowledge and Belief of the True God, would be ſufficient for their Juſtification, and Acceptance with him: Whence they are repreſented, as boaſting in God, and in the Knowledge of his Will, Rom. 2. 17, 18. And expecting Juſtification on this Account, That they believed there was One God, James 2. 19. And this might cauſe the Apoſtle to be ſo diligent in teaching them, That the true Knowledge of God, conſiſted in keeping his Commandments.

Ver. 5. Ἡ ἀγάπη τοῦ Θεοῦ, The Love of God e perfected.] The Love of God here, may ſignify either God's Love to us; as when 'tis ſaid, Who ſhall ſeparate us from the Love of God which is (ſhewed to us) in Chriſt Jeſus? Rom. 8. 39. And, That the Love of God is ſhed abroad in our Hearts, through the Spirit that he hath given us, Rom. 5. 5. See Jude, ver. 21. And then this Love is perfected in us, by that Aſſurance the Holy Spirit giveth of it, and that humble Confidence we have of it, becauſe we keep his Commandments, chap. 3. 21, 22. So the Apoſtle ſeems to interpret this Perfection in Love, chap. 4. 16, 17, 18. Or, (2*dly,*) This Love may ſignify, our Love to God and Chriſt; as when Chriſt upbraids the Phariſees with the want of the Love of God, Luke 11. 42. and ſaith to the Jews, I know that you have not the Love of God in you, John 5. 42. And when Chriſt ſaith He that hath my Commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me, ſhall be loved of my Father, John 14. 21. And, ver. 23. If any Man love me, he will keep my Word; and my Father will love him, and we will come to him, and take up our Abode with him. And this Love is perfected in us, by keeping his Commandments; becauſe that ſhews, we are fully inſtructed in the Nature of that Love, which is one Senſe of Perfection. See Note on 1 Cor. 2. 6. And it engages us to the ſincere Performance of our whole Duty to God, which is another Senſe of the Word Perfection: And hereby we know that we are in him, even by this Spirit, by which God abideth in us, chap. 3. 24. and who ſheds abroad the Senſe of the Divine Love in our Hearts.

Note alſo, That hence we may paſs a certain Eſtimate of neceſſary and fundamental Doctrines; for if they be ſuch as are neceſſary to the Love of God to us, or to that Love of ours to him, which conſiſts in keeping his Commandments, they are Doctrines truly neceſſary to Salvation: If not, they cannot be ſo; becauſe we may truly love God, and abide in his Love, without the Knowledge of them.

Ver. 6. For ſeeing we abide in God the f Father and the Son, only by the Communion of the Spirit, chap. 3. 24. and 4. 13. whence he that is in Chriſt, is one Spirit with him, 1 Cor. 6. 17. and he that hath not the Spirit of Chriſt, is none of his, Rom. 8. 9. We that are animated with the ſame Spirit that was in Chriſt, as we are enabled, ſo alſo are we thereby engaged to walk after his Example, or, to walk in the Light, as he is in the Light, chap. 1. 7.

Ver. 7. Οὐκ ἐντολὴν καινὴν, No New Com- g mandment.] Moſt Interpreters conceive, this relates to the Commandment of Chriſtian Love,

Love, that being the Commandment which they are ſaid to have heard from the Beginning, chap. 3. 11. and ſaid to be, on that Account, no new Commandment, Eph. 2. 5. and yet being ſtiled by Chriſt, A New Commandment, John 13. 34. Nor are the Arguments of Epiſcopius againſt this Expoſition cogent: For whereas,

Object. 1. He objects, That theſe Words ſeem to be ſpoken, to remove the Thought of ſome, That he was propounding a New Doctrine which they had not learned; whereas no Man who was acquainted with the Law of Moſes, or even with that of Nature, could think the Law of Charity was new.

Anſw. I anſwer, It is not the Law of Charity in general, which our Lord, and his Apoſtles, ſtile a New Commandment; but that, of loving one another, as he had loved us, John 13. 34, 35. And this might juſtly be looked on as a New Commandment; it being a Commandment of laying down our Lives for the Brethren, chap. 3. 16. and therefore a Commandment not contained in the Law of Nature, nor in that of Moſes.

Object. 2. Whereas he adds, That theſe Words, I write unto you, ſeem to reſpect not any thing that was to follow, but which was ſaid before; and to contain this Senſe, When I write this to you, I write nothing New.

Anſw. I anſwer, That it may be ſo; for having told us, That he that ſaith he abideth in Chriſt, ought alſo to walk as he walketh; he may well be conceived to have an eſpecial Eye to the Great Example of Love Chriſt ſhewed to Mankind, both in his Life and Death. Yet in his Expoſition given in the Paraphraſe, ſeems alſo very probable, by reaſon of the following Words, Becauſe the Darkneſs is paſt, and the true Light now ſhineth; and therefore I ſhall have reſpect to both.

Ver. 8. The Ceremonials of the Law, are ſometimes call'd a Shadow, but never Darkneſs; and tho' the Alexandrian Manuſcript reads σκιὰ, a Shadow; yet becauſe all other Copies read σκοτία, Darkneſs, and the following Words, ver. 9, and 11. ſhew that this is the true Reading, and becauſe it is ſo eaſy in ſhort-Writing, to miſtake σκοτία, for σκιὰ, the Interpretation of theſe Words, which depends upon that Reading, cannot be relied on.

i Ver. 10. Σκάνδαλον ἐν αὐτῷ οὐκ ἔστιν, i. e. There is nothing at which he will fall, or ſtumble.] So Pſalm 119. 156. Great Peace have they that love thy Law, καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν αὐτοῖς σκάνδαλον, and they have no Stumbling-Block. The Labour of Love they muſt undergo; the Evils they may be expoſed to, will not hinder them from doing the Duty they owe to God, and to their Brother, for his ſake; but they go on ſecurely and cheerfully in it; for perfect Love caſts out Fear, chap. 4. 18.

Ver. 11. Ἐν τῇ σκοτίᾳ ἐστὶν, Is in Darkneſs.] k I. e. He lives in great Ignorance of his Duty, and of the Way to Life, as not guiding his Actions by that Light of the Goſpel which hath appeared unto him.

Ver. 12, 13, 14. Note, That theſe Words l may either relate to the foregoing; and then they are to be interpreted, as Motives to walk in the Light, and as Chriſt walked, and in particular to walk in Chriſtian Love, thus; I have written to you, Children, touching this Love, and walking in the Light, and after Chriſt's Example, becauſe your Sins have been forgiven, for his Name's ſake; and ſo, in Gratitude to him who hath procured the Pardon of them, you ought to walk as he walked, and to love the Brethren: Ye alſo have known the Father, and had Experience of his Love to you, and therefore ſtand obliged to imitate his Love to you, and to walk in the Light, that you may ſtill have Fellowſhip with him.

I have written to you, Fathers, becauſe ye have known him who was from the Beginning, i. e. Chriſt Jeſus, and ſo know how to walk by his Example, and to imitate his Obedience to the Father, and his Love to Mankind.

I have written to you, Young Men, becauſe ye are ſtrong,] by virtue of the Word of God abiding in you; and by the Sword of the Spirit, and Shield of Faith, have been enabled ſucceſsfully to combat and overcome that Wicked One, who tempts you to the Deeds of Darkneſs, and to Hatred of the Brethren, chap. 3. 10.

If they relate to the Words following, they muſt be an Exhortation to Little Children, to take off their Affections from the World, and place them upon God, and Chriſt, on the account of the Love and Mercy ſhew'd to them, by God the Father through Chriſt. To the Fathers ſo to do, becauſe they have known Chriſt, how dead he was to the World, and how he deſpiſed the Pleaſures, Honours, and Enjoyments of it. To the Young Men ſo to do, becauſe they had overcome the Wicked One, all whoſe Temptations ariſe from ſome Allurements, or Affrightments of the World. Or, laſtly, The Words may be extended to all he ſaith to them in this whole Epiſtle; and then both Expoſitions may take place.

Ver. 18. Ὁ Ἀντίχριστος ἔρχεται, Antichriſt m cometh:] To wit, then, in the laſt Hour. And this being repreſented, as the Character by which they might know that the Laſt Hour was now come, 'tis manifeſt, That the Laſt

Hour cannot ſignify the End of the World, or include the Times of the Laſt Judgment; but muſt be reſtrained to the Laſt Times of the Jewiſh State, which only were then inſtant, or at hand.

2*dly*, The ὁ Ἀντίχριστος, Antichriſt, then in being, if it refer to any Nation, muſt be the Nation of the Unbelieving Jews, perſecuting and oppoſing Chriſtianity with their whole Might, and denying Jeſus to be the Chriſt, or Promiſed Meſſiah; and then the many Antichriſts here mentioned, may be the Falſe Prophets, and Deceitful Workers, who transformed themſelves into the Apoſtles of Chriſt; 2 Cor. 11. 13, 14, 15. who preached Chriſt not ſincerely, but out of Contention, Phil. 1. 15. who as Jannes and Jambres withſtood Moſes, ſo alſo did reſiſt the Truth, 2 Tim. 3. 8. who were Men of corrupt Minds, and deſtitute of the Truth, 1 Tim. 6. 5.

n Ver. 19. Ἐξ ἡμῶν ἐξῆλθον, They went out from us,] Of Judæa. For ſome κατελθόντες ἀπὸ τῆς Ἰουδαίας, going out from Judæa, taught the Brethren, That except they were Circumciſed after the manner of Moſes, they could not be ſaved, Acts 15. 1. and from the Apoſtles; for ſo they ſpeak, We have heard, that τινὲς ἐξ ἡμῶν ἐξελθόντες, ſome going out from us, have troubled you with Words perverting your Souls, ſaying, That ye ought to be Circumciſed, and to keep the Law, ver. 24. The Perſons who taught theſe Doctrines, are ſtiled, ψευδάδελφοι, Falſe Brethren, Gal. 2. 4. ψευδαπόστολοι, Falſe Apoſtles, Deceitful Workers, Miniſters of Satan, 2 Cor. 11. 13, 15. Dogs, evil Workers, the Conciſion, Phil. 3. 2. their Doctrine tended to the Subverſion of Souls, Acts 15. 24. to the corrupting and turning the Minds of Men from the Simplicity of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 3. to hinder the Truth of the Goſpel from continuing with them, Gal. 2. 5. to make Chriſt die in vain, ver. 21. to cauſe Chriſtians to fall from Grace, ſo that Chriſt ſhould profit them nothing, Gal. 5. 2. 4. So that they were Falſe Prophets, Falſe Apoſtles, and Antichriſts, in the worſt of Senſes; and by going out from the Apoſtles, and Churches of Judæa, to preach this deſtructive Doctrine to the Gentiles, which both the whole Church of Judæa, and the Apoſtles aſſembled for that purpoſe, flatly diſown'd and cenſured; it ſufficiently appeared, that all the Preachers of theſe Doctrines, ſo oppoſite to Chriſtianity, and deſtructive of it, were not of them. Theſe therefore, doubtleſs, were ſome of thoſe many Antichriſts which the Apoſtle ſpeaks of here, as Writing to the Jews; and they alſo divided, and ſeparated themſelves from the Church, and became Hereticks under the Name of Cerinthians, Nazarens, and Ebionites. (a) Cerinthus ſpread his Hereſy in Aſia, the Province of St. John, ſaith Theodoret, and was (b) Contemporary with the Apoſtles: Whence the (c) Church deſired him to write againſt Cerinthus, and the Ebionites: And (d) St. John left the Bath, becauſe Cerinthus the Enemy of Truth was in it. Moreover, theſe Words, They were not of us, cannot be interpreted of the Elect, but of the Church in general; for, from them they went out, and with them might have remained; not from the Elect, who are not viſible, nor could they have remained with the Church of the Elect, who were never of them. (2*dly*,) Their going out from them for a Seaſon, was no certain Argument they were not of the Elect; ſince 'tis confeſſed, they may fall totally, tho' not finally.

Ibid. Ὅτι οὐκ εἰσὶ πάντες, That they all were not of us.] So, v. 21. Πᾶν ψεῦδος οὐκ, No Lye is of the Truth: Οὐκ ἂν ἐσώθη πᾶσα σάρξ, No Fleſh ſhould be ſaved, Matth. 24. 22. Οὐ δικαιωθήσεται πᾶσα σάρξ, No Fleſh ſhall be juſtified, Rom. 3. 20. See Gen. 4. 15. Pſal. 143. 2. Luke 1. 37. Hab. 2. 9. o Ver. 20. Ἀπὸ τοῦ ἁγίου, From the Holy One:] p I. e. From Jeſus Chriſt, emphatically ſo called, Acts 3. 14. Apoc. 3. 7. But then that Unction is the Holy Spirit which he hath given to them that believe. For he being anointed with the Oil of Gladneſs above his Fellows. Pſal. 45. 7. anointed by God with the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 10. 38. this Grace is given to Chriſtians, according to the meaſure of the Gift of Chriſt, Eph. 4. 7. And we all beholding, as in a Glaſs, the Glory of the Lord, are changed into the ſame likeneſs, as by the Spirit of the Lord, 2 Cor. 3. 18. See the Note there.

Ibid. Καὶ οἴδατε πάντα, And ye know all q things,] Belonging to the Saving Truths of the Goſpel, he being promiſed to teach them all things, John 14. 26. and to lead them into all Truth, John 16. 13. So (e) Oecumenius; You have received in Baptiſm the Unction of the Holy Spirit, who leads you into all Truth.

nieth the Father ; or, Hath not the Father.] To deny the Father here, is not, to deny him to be the True God, as the Heathens did; but, (1.) To deny the Truth of his Teſtimony : For, He that believeth not the Teſtimony which God hath given to his Son, hath made him a Lyar, chap. 5. 10. whereas he that receives his Teſtimony, hath ſet to his Seal that God is true, John 3. 33. (2.) To deny the Doctrine of the Father, or that Doctrine which proceedeth from him; for, He whom God hath ſent ſpeaketh the Words of God, John 3. 34. Whence it is evident, that he who denieth the Son, cannot thus retain the true Knowledge of the Father, becauſe no Man hath ſeen God at any time ; the only begotten Son who is in the Boſom of the Father, he hath declared him, John 1. 18. He only hath done it; for no Man knoweth the Father but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him, Matth. 11. 27. By him only can we come acceptably to the Father, ſo as to have Life; for, he is the Way, the Truth, and the Life, John 14. 6. And by him only are we taught how to worſhip the Father in Spirit, and in Truth, John 4. 23, 24. Hence Chriſt ſo often tells the Jews, they therefore wanted the true Knowledge of the Father, becauſe they knew not him, ſaying : Ye neither know me, nor my Father; if ye had known me, ye would have known the Father alſo, John 8. 19. and 55. 14. 7. and theſe things will they do unto you, becauſe they have not known the Father, nor me, John 16. 3.

Ibid. The Quakers and other Sectaries hence argue againſt the Neceſſity of the Miniſterial Function, or any Teachers of the Word, it being here ſaid, You need not that any teach you, &c. And others ſay, This ſeems to make all Scripture, and all that the Apoſtle writ to them, needleſs. But for Anſwer to this Objection, I ſay,

1. That it muſt be granted that in thoſe times of the Effuſion of the Spirit, and his miraculous Gifts upon Believers, this Unction was promiſed to teach them all things neceſſary, who had then no other Rule of knowing what was ſo, but by the teaching of the Apoſtles and Prophets then among them, acted by this Spirit, and teaching in their Aſſemblies, and doing other publick Offices by this Afflatus, and by the Spirit of Wiſdom and Instruction then imparted to them ; and hereby they were enabled to diſtinguiſh betwixt Pretenders to the Spirit, and thoſe who were really acted by him, (See Note on Chap. 4. 1, 2, 3.) and to know they dwelt in Chriſt, becauſe he had thus given them of his Spirit, John 3. 24. 4. 13. which things do certainly imply, that they who then had the Spirit, could certainly know they had it, and make an Argument of it to try the Doctrines and Spirits of others, and much more in themſelves; but now theſe ſenſible Indications, and extraordinary Gifts, of the Spirit, are long ſince ceaſed, and therefore now they are to be directed by thoſe Writings which were indited for their perpetual uſe, by Men aſſiſted with that Spirit, who led them into all Truth : And ſurely if in thoſe Times, when the Gifts of the Spirit were ſo generally vouchſafed, they were yet taught by Apoſtles, Prophets, Evangeliſts, Paſtors, and Doctors, aſſiſted by the Spirit for that Work ; 'tis reaſonable to believe that, now theſe Gifts are ceaſed, Believers ſhould be yet inſtructed by Paſtors, and Doctors, aſſiſted by the Scriptures indited by theſe Spiritual Men. And therefore,
